King appointed to key committees

AUSTIN — Texas House Speaker Joe Straus (R-San Antonio) released committee assignments for the 84th Legislature last Wednesday, and State Rep. Ken King (R-Canadian) issued the following statement regarding the committees he will be serving on.

"I am honored that the Speaker and leadership have the faith and confidence to appoint me to these key committees. I believe that these appointments put me in a position to continue to fight for rural Texas and House District 88."

Local history to be discussed Friday

Local history buffs are again invited to a discussion at the Burton Memorial Library, this time on Friday, Feb. 13, at 5:30 p.m.

The first meeting on Monday went very well, and those interested in the topic are encouraged to turn out Friday afternoon.

Longtime Clarendon businessman Bill Stavenhagen stands at the counter of his RadioShack franchise Monday afternoon. Stavenhagen said this week he plans to close his store after 27 years in business.

Stavenhagen Video shutting down

Clarendon's main street will have one fewer businesses in a short time after Stavenhagen Video owner Bill Stavenhagen announced this week that he will soon be closing his doors.

The local RadioShack franchise was not among the 1,700 company-owned stores being shuttered by the electronics giant this year, but Stavenhagen said franchises like his may soon feel the impact of the national chain's financial struggle.

"If they cut us [franchises] loose, we'll have two problems," Stavenhagen said. "We'll lose name recognition, and we would have to find a new supplier or multiple suppliers."

After 27 years, Stavenhagen says he has no complaints about his relationship with RadioShack. Instead, he says the Internet was ultimately the demise of his store with Netflix cutting into the video rental business and shoppers saving money online.

"The Internet killed us," he said. "I never thought it would happen. At Christmas everyone goes online to beat the crowds. That hurts Amarillo stores, but it really hurts local businesses."

Stavenhagen said some people may not realize how lucky they have been to have had a RadioShack in Clarendon for so long, but he also said he can't blame people for wanting to save money.

Stavenhagen returned to Clarendon 34 years ago to lay carpet and to partner with his brother, Mac, in Stavenhagen Furniture before opening a RadioShack franchise on Kearney Street in 1988. He later merged his store with the Clarendon Outpost for 9½ years before returning downtown.

He said he truly appreciates the customers he has through the years.

"It's been a good run. I haven't gotten rich, but I made a living for 34 years," he said. "Clarendon is a nice place to raise a family, to live, and to retire. I want to thank my customers for their support over the years."

Stavenhagen Video will hold a going out of business sale in the near future. After that, Stavenhagen says he plans to retire.

"It's a new chapter in my life, and I'm kind of excited about it," he said.

District court hears two pleas in local cases

The District Court heard two pleas when it met in Clarendon on Monday, January 26.

District Attorney Luke Inman, assisted by Greg Buckley, prosecuted the cases for the State of Texas with the Honorable Judge Stuart Messer presiding.

Joseph Marvin Shadle was placed on probation for a period of two years for the Class A Misdemeanor offense of assault. Shadle pleaded guilty and was placed on deferred adjudication for the offense. Shadle, 34-year-old resident of Clarendon, was arrested in Donley County for the offense that took place January 8, 2014 by Donley County Deputy Sonny Marasco. Shadle was indicted by a Donley County Grand Jury on June 25, 2014.

Pursuant to the plea agreement, Shadle was required to pay a fine of $2,000 to Donley County, $398 in court costs, and successfully complete 100 hours of community service. If Shadle violates probation, he could face up to one year in the Donley County Jail.

Justin Lane Rose was placed on probation for a period of three years for the third degree felony offense of possession of marijuana. Rose pleaded guilty and was placed on deferred adjudication for the offense.

Rose, 26-year-old resident of Dallas, was arrested in Donley County for the offense that took place December 30, 2013 by DPS

Trooper Max Honesto. Rose was indicted by a Donley County Grand Jury on November 13, 2014.

Pursuant to the plea agreement, Rose was required to pay a fine of $3,000 to Donley County, $458 in court costs, $180 restitution, and successfully complete 200 hours of community service.

If Rose violates the term of his probation, he could face up to 10 years in the Institutional Division of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

County okays new security

Security will soon be upgraded and modernized at the Donley County Courthouse following Monday's meeting of the Commissioners' Court.

County Judge John Howard said the court discussed the 12-year-old security system, which the judge said "is beyond its service life."

Commissioners approved Panhandle CyberMedics' proposal for installing a new system at a cost of $21,390. Funds for this project will come from the Courthouse Security fund, and Howard said the new system should be in place soon.

In other county business, the court approved resolutions in support of positions held by the County Judges & Commissioners Association. One resolution opposes unfunded mandates from the state to the counties, and another opposes efforts to place appraisal and revenue caps on local governments.

CC spring enrollment down 4.4%

Clarendon College reports spring enrollment is down slightly following the 12th day of class last Wednesday, February 4, but contact hours, which determine CC's state funding, were up slightly.

CC President Robert Riza said the strong economy in Gray County impacts the college's Pampa Center with more students going into the workforce than pursuing education.

Contact hours for this semester were reported at 260,808, up two percent from spring 2014. Riza said Clarendon is one of seven community colleges across the state to experience growth in contact hours.

"The downturn in oil and gas didn't happen strong enough or soon enough to impact our enrollment," Riza said and noted that the college is also living with a declining population in its rural service area.

Total enrollment this spring is 1,070, which is down 4.4 percent compared to 1,119 at this point last year. The home campus reports the biggest enrollment with 321 students, up 9.9 percent from last spring. The Pampa Center has a headcount of 210, down from 317 last year.

The Childress Center reports 50 students, which is up from 44 last year; and the Amarillo Cosmetology Center has 55 students this spring compared to 33 last year.

"We have 75 commuters in Clarendon and the second highest dorm count in recent times," Riza said.

The president said the increase in contact hours is the result of increased attention to career and technical training programs.

Riza said the college will launch its Industrial Technology Program in the second eight weeks of this semester, but those numbers won't impact spring reporting to the state.

Chamber banquet sells out

Clarendon Chamber of Commerce officials reported Tuesday that tickets for this week's Awards Banquet have sold out, and a full house is expected in the Bairfield Activity Center Thursday evening.

No tickets will be sold at the door for the event, which features a reception and silent auction at 6 p.m. followed by the banquet, entertainment, and awards at 7 p.m.

Several table sponsors will be competing to see who has the best decorations reflecting their business and featuring the Valentine's banquet theme of "Clarendon: Sweetheart of the Panhandle."

Dr. Don Newbury will be the headline entertainment, and the Chamber will honor three of Donley County's top citizens with the Saints' Roost Award and Man and Woman of the Year and also recognize outstanding youth from Clarendon and Hedley high schools.

Newbury, the former president of Western Texas College in Snyder and Howard Payne University in Brownwood, is an acclaimed speaker and noted writer with his column, The Idle American, appearing in about 150 Texas newspapers, including the Enterprise. He has addressed more than 250 annual Chamber of Commerce banquets across the United States and conducts seminars to stimulate community pride, and speaks for chamber boards at planning retreats.

Two hundred people are expected to attend Thursday's banquet.

Libertarianism on the verge of breaking out

By David Boaz, Cato Institute

Rand Paul's leadership in the Senate – on the budget, regulation, privacy, criminal justice, and foreign policy – and his likely presidential campaign are generating new attention for libertarian ideas.

The growth of the libertarian movement is a product of two factors: the spread of libertarian ideas and sentiments, and the expansion of government during the Bush and Obama administrations, particularly the civil liberties abuses after 9/11 and the bailouts and out-of-control spending after the financial crisis. As one journalist noted in 2009, "The Obama administration brought with it ambitions of a resurgence of FDR and LBJ's active-state liberalism. And with it, Obama has revived the enduring American challenge to the state."

That libertarian revival manifested itself in several ways. Sales of books like Atlas Shrugged and The Road to Serfdom soared. "Tea party" rallies against taxes, debt, bailouts, and Obamacare drew a million or more people to hundreds of protests. "Crony capitalism" became a target for people across the political spectrum. Marijuana legalization and marriage equality made rapid progress. More people than ever told Gallup in 2013 that the federal government has too much power.

In studies that David Kirby and I have published at the Cato Institute on "the libertarian vote," we have found that only 2 to 4 percent of Americans say that they're libertarian when asked. But 15 to 20 percent – 30 to 40 million Americans – hold libertarian views on a range of questions. The latest Gallup Governance Survey finds 24 percent of respondents falling into the libertarian quadrant, matching the number of conservatives and liberals and up from 17 percent in 2004 and 23 percent in 2008. And when asked in a Zogby poll if they would define themselves as "fiscally conservative and socially liberal, also known as libertarian," fully 44 percent of respondents – 100 million Americans – accept the label. Those voters are not locked into either party, and politicians trying to attract the elusive "swing vote" should take a look at those who lean libertarian.

In two presidential campaigns, Rep. Ron Paul (R-TX) attracted hundreds of thousands of followers to his combination of antiwar, anti-spending, and sound-money ("End the Fed") ideas, and showed them that these views were "libertarian." Two national student organizations Students for Liberty and Young Americans for Liberty now take libertarian ideas to thousands of college campuses in the United States and well beyond.

Now his son, Rand Paul (R-KY), is generating headlines about the GOP's libertarian wing and questions about libertarian ideas.

In the past week alone Paul has joined Sen. Patrick Leahy (D-VT) to introduce legislation designed to limit the use of mandatory minimum sentencing laws, introduced along with Sen. Barbara Boxer (D-CA) a bill to encourage companies to "repatriate" overseas cash, proposed to audit the Federal Reserve, and found himself in the crosshairs when he questioned the need for compulsory vaccination laws.

Libertarianism, a belief in what Adam Smith called "the obvious and simple system of natural liberty," is the core philosophy of America. The first colonists fled aristocratic Europe to find religious liberty, individualism, and economic opportunity. They declared their belief in life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. American history has been a struggle between liberty and power, between those who wanted to defend and extend the liberties guaranteed in the Constitution and those who wanted to make the United States more like the countries our ancestors left, with powerful and paternalistic government. Throughout our history, libertarian sentiments have been rekindled when the federal government has grown beyond what Americans will tolerate—such as the past few years.

Today, libertarians support policies based on these same principles – lower taxes, less regulation, protection of civil liberties, personal freedom, and a foreign policy based on a strong national defense and avoidance of foreign wars. In recent years libertarians have led the way in supporting marijuana legalization, gay marriage, gun rights, school choice, and restrictions on NSA surveillance of Americans, and in opposing policies ranging from Obamacare and Wall Street bailouts to the Iraq war.

Whether or not Rand Paul wins the presidency, one result of his campaign will be to help those tens of millions of libertarian-leaning Americans to discover that their political attitudes have a name, which will make for a stronger and more influential political faction.

In my book The Libertarian Mind I argue that the simple, timeless principles of the American Revolution—individual liberty, limited government, and free markets—are even more important in this world of instant communication, global markets, and unprecedented access to information than Jefferson or Madison could have imagined. Libertarianism is the framework for a future of freedom, growth, and progress, and it may be on the verge of a political breakout.

David Boaz is executive vice president of the Cato Institute and author of The Libertarian Mind.

Uncle Mort gets stuck in reverse

I guess it's a good thing that OSHA introduced horn-blowing safety signals for vehicles in "back-up" mode earlier. Otherwise, my 102-year-old Uncle Mort might not yet be reduced to driving his gas-saving golf cart.

Had he been in the work force a half-century earlier, he'd have hired out to drive trucks if only to stay in reverse gear. He would have delighted in counting the number of people, pets and other creatures scurrying to get out of the way.

Clearly, he's an "other side of the news" kind of guy, drawn to items most Americans classify as minutia. For them, they'd be at the bottom of radar screens – if shown at all – or in fine print the size used mostly by guarantors that put the chill on "come-on" ad headlines. Or akin to the "muffled mentions" whispered by scalawags peddling fraudulent telephone offers to senior citizens. Whatever. Taking multiple salt grains is warranted before considering Mort's dissection of Super Bowl XLIX. As usual, he has more questions than answers....

"How long will Disney cling to the 'we're-going-to-Disneyland' campaigns?" Mort asks. He says the ad has become tiring after two decades of such advertising.

He thinks the Disney brass were "laying low" this year, figuring if nurses had been sent to administer measles inoculations in the end zone, it might have been a dead giveaway that the California measles outbreak started at Disneyland.

Mort plans to send a sympathy card to ESPN, which scrapped its Knicks/Lakers NBA game from national broadcast opposite the Super Bowl. He claims ESPN waved a white flag of surrender in the TV rating wars....

"Can you believe ESPN chose to run a celebrity bowling tournament that occurred nearly a month ago against SB XLIX?" he asked.

He thinks a blank screen might have attracted as many viewers. Further, he chided ESPN for crediting the winning bowler for his "astounding ability to knock down multiple pins at once." Huh, or maybe duh?

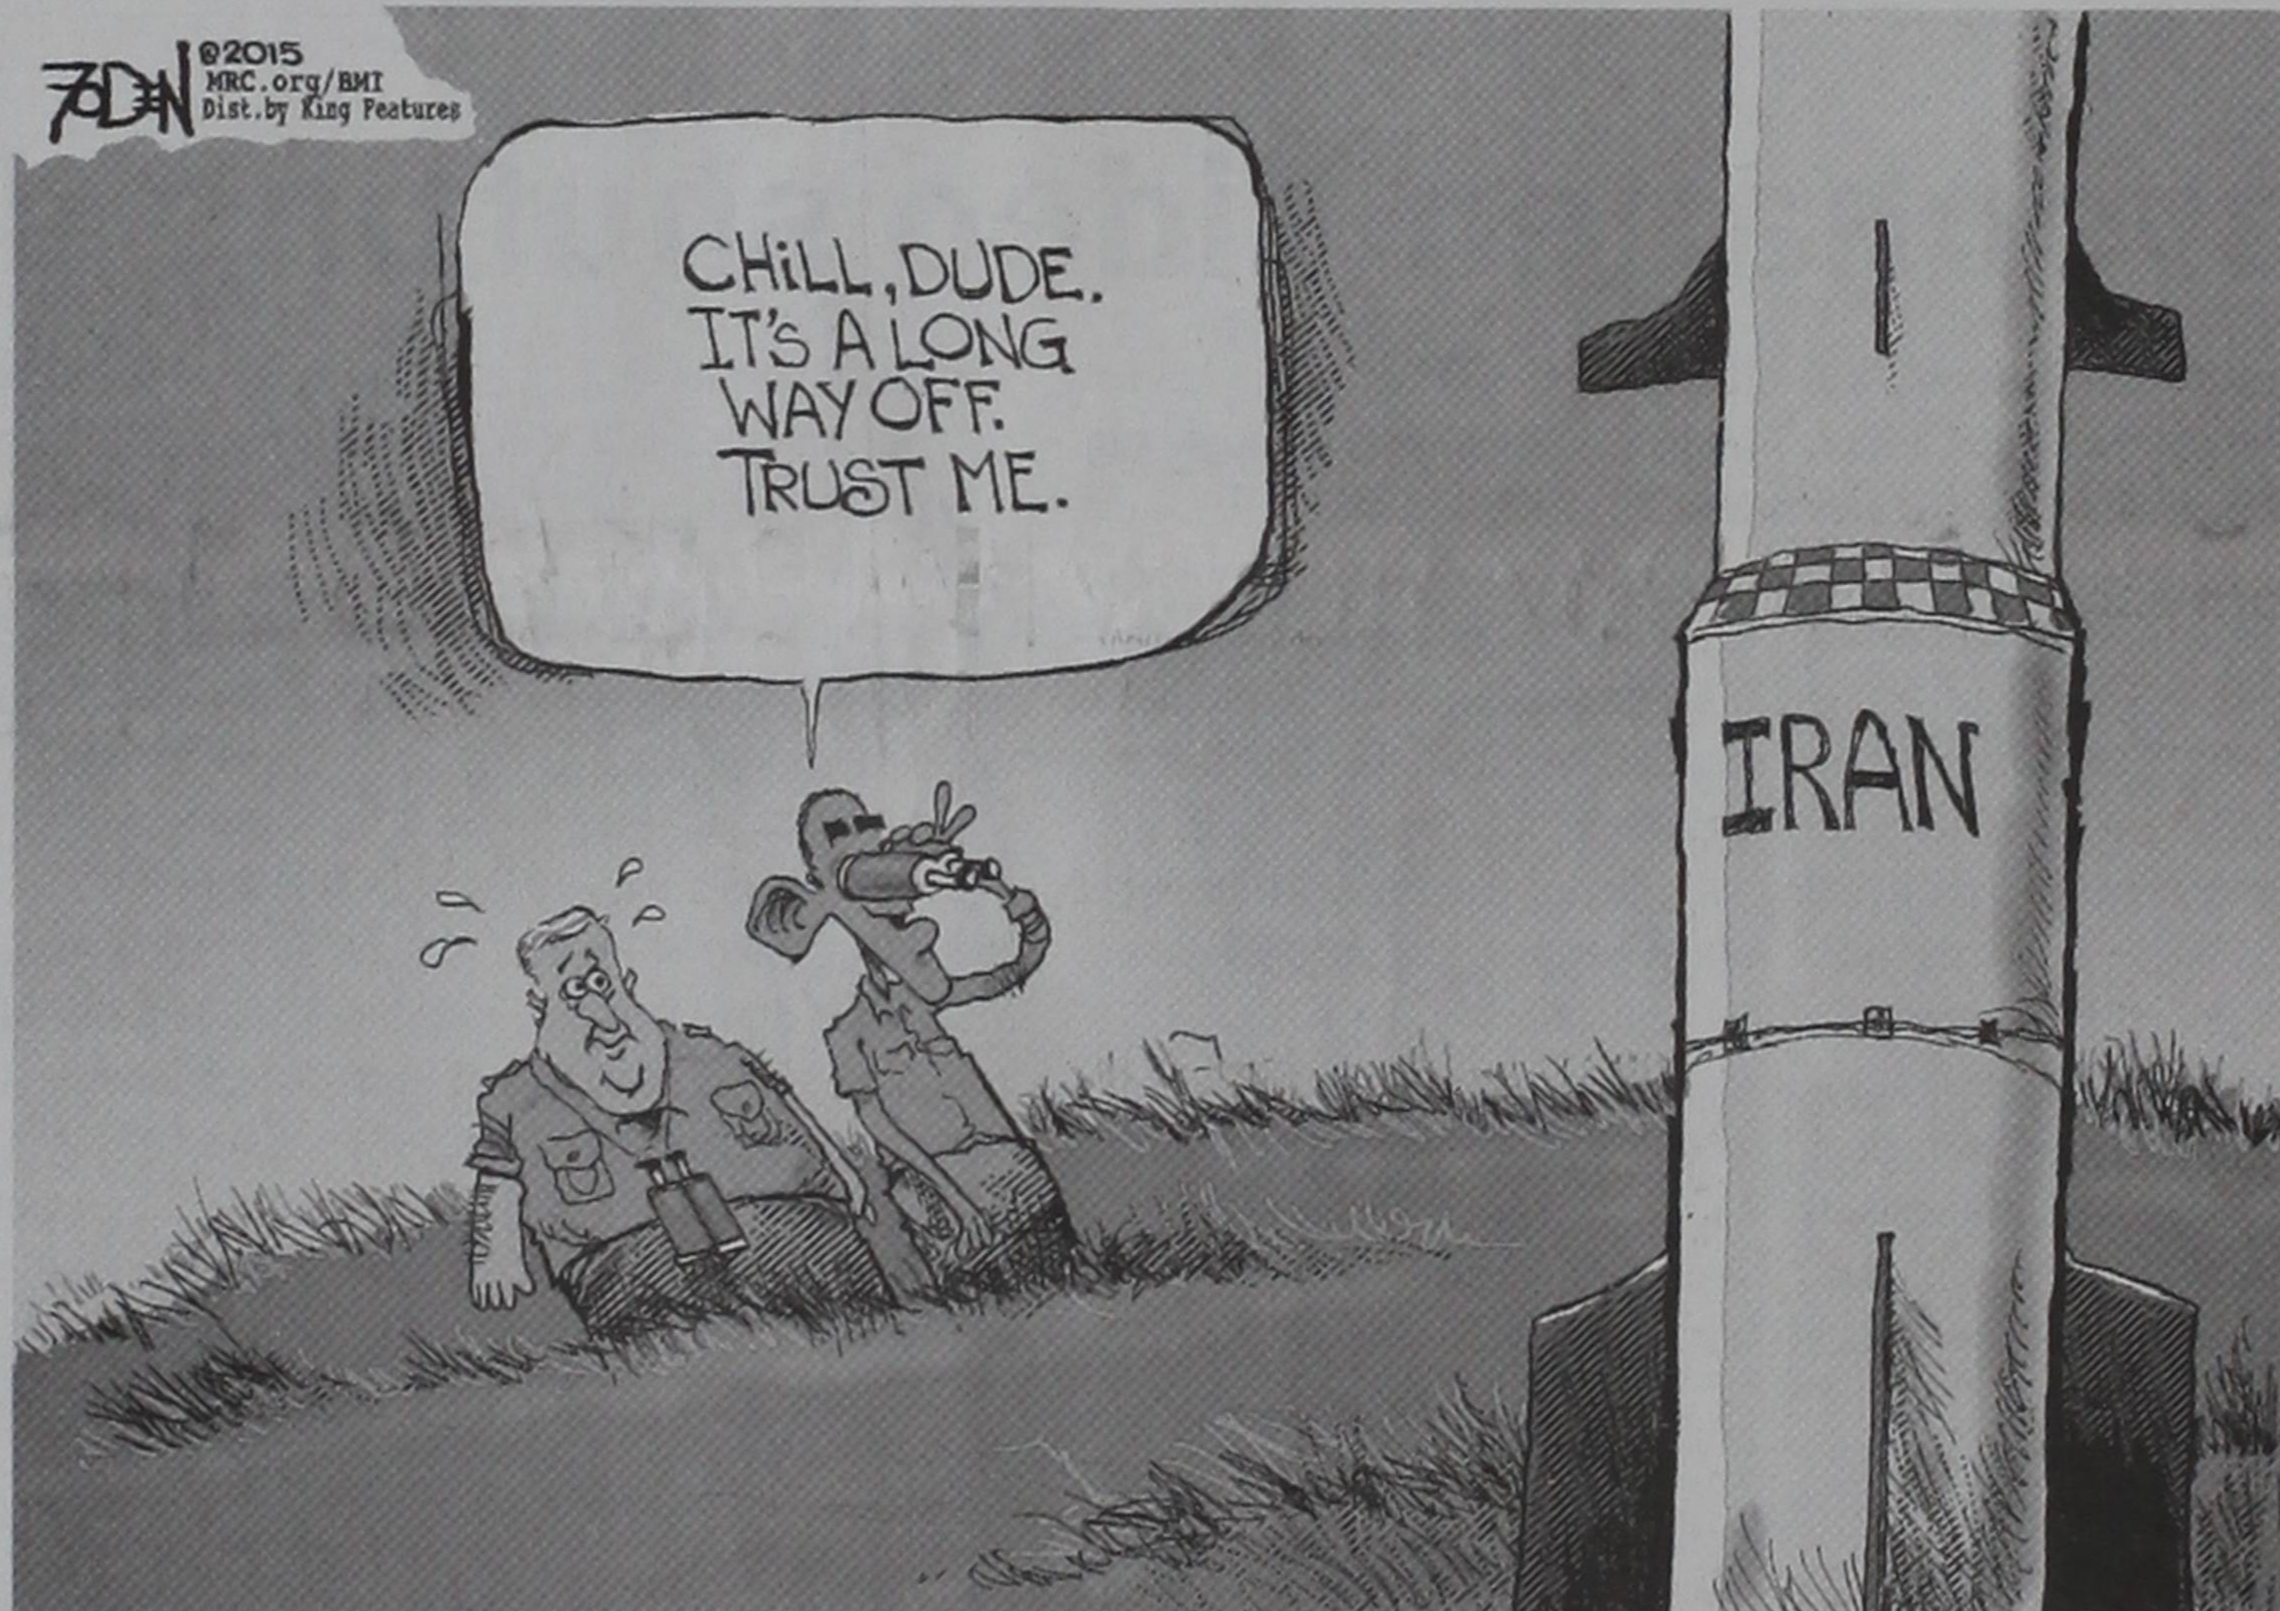

With the mundane "how-does-it-feel" questions fielded by the winning New England Patriots, ESPN may be on to something. Overwhelmed by so many stories about deflated footballs, many viewers were "winded" long before the kick-off.

"If bowling tournaments catch on, the NBA may be the league most damaged," Mort believes. "Up the way, ESPN may be 'basketballing' for dollars instead of bowling for 'em'...."

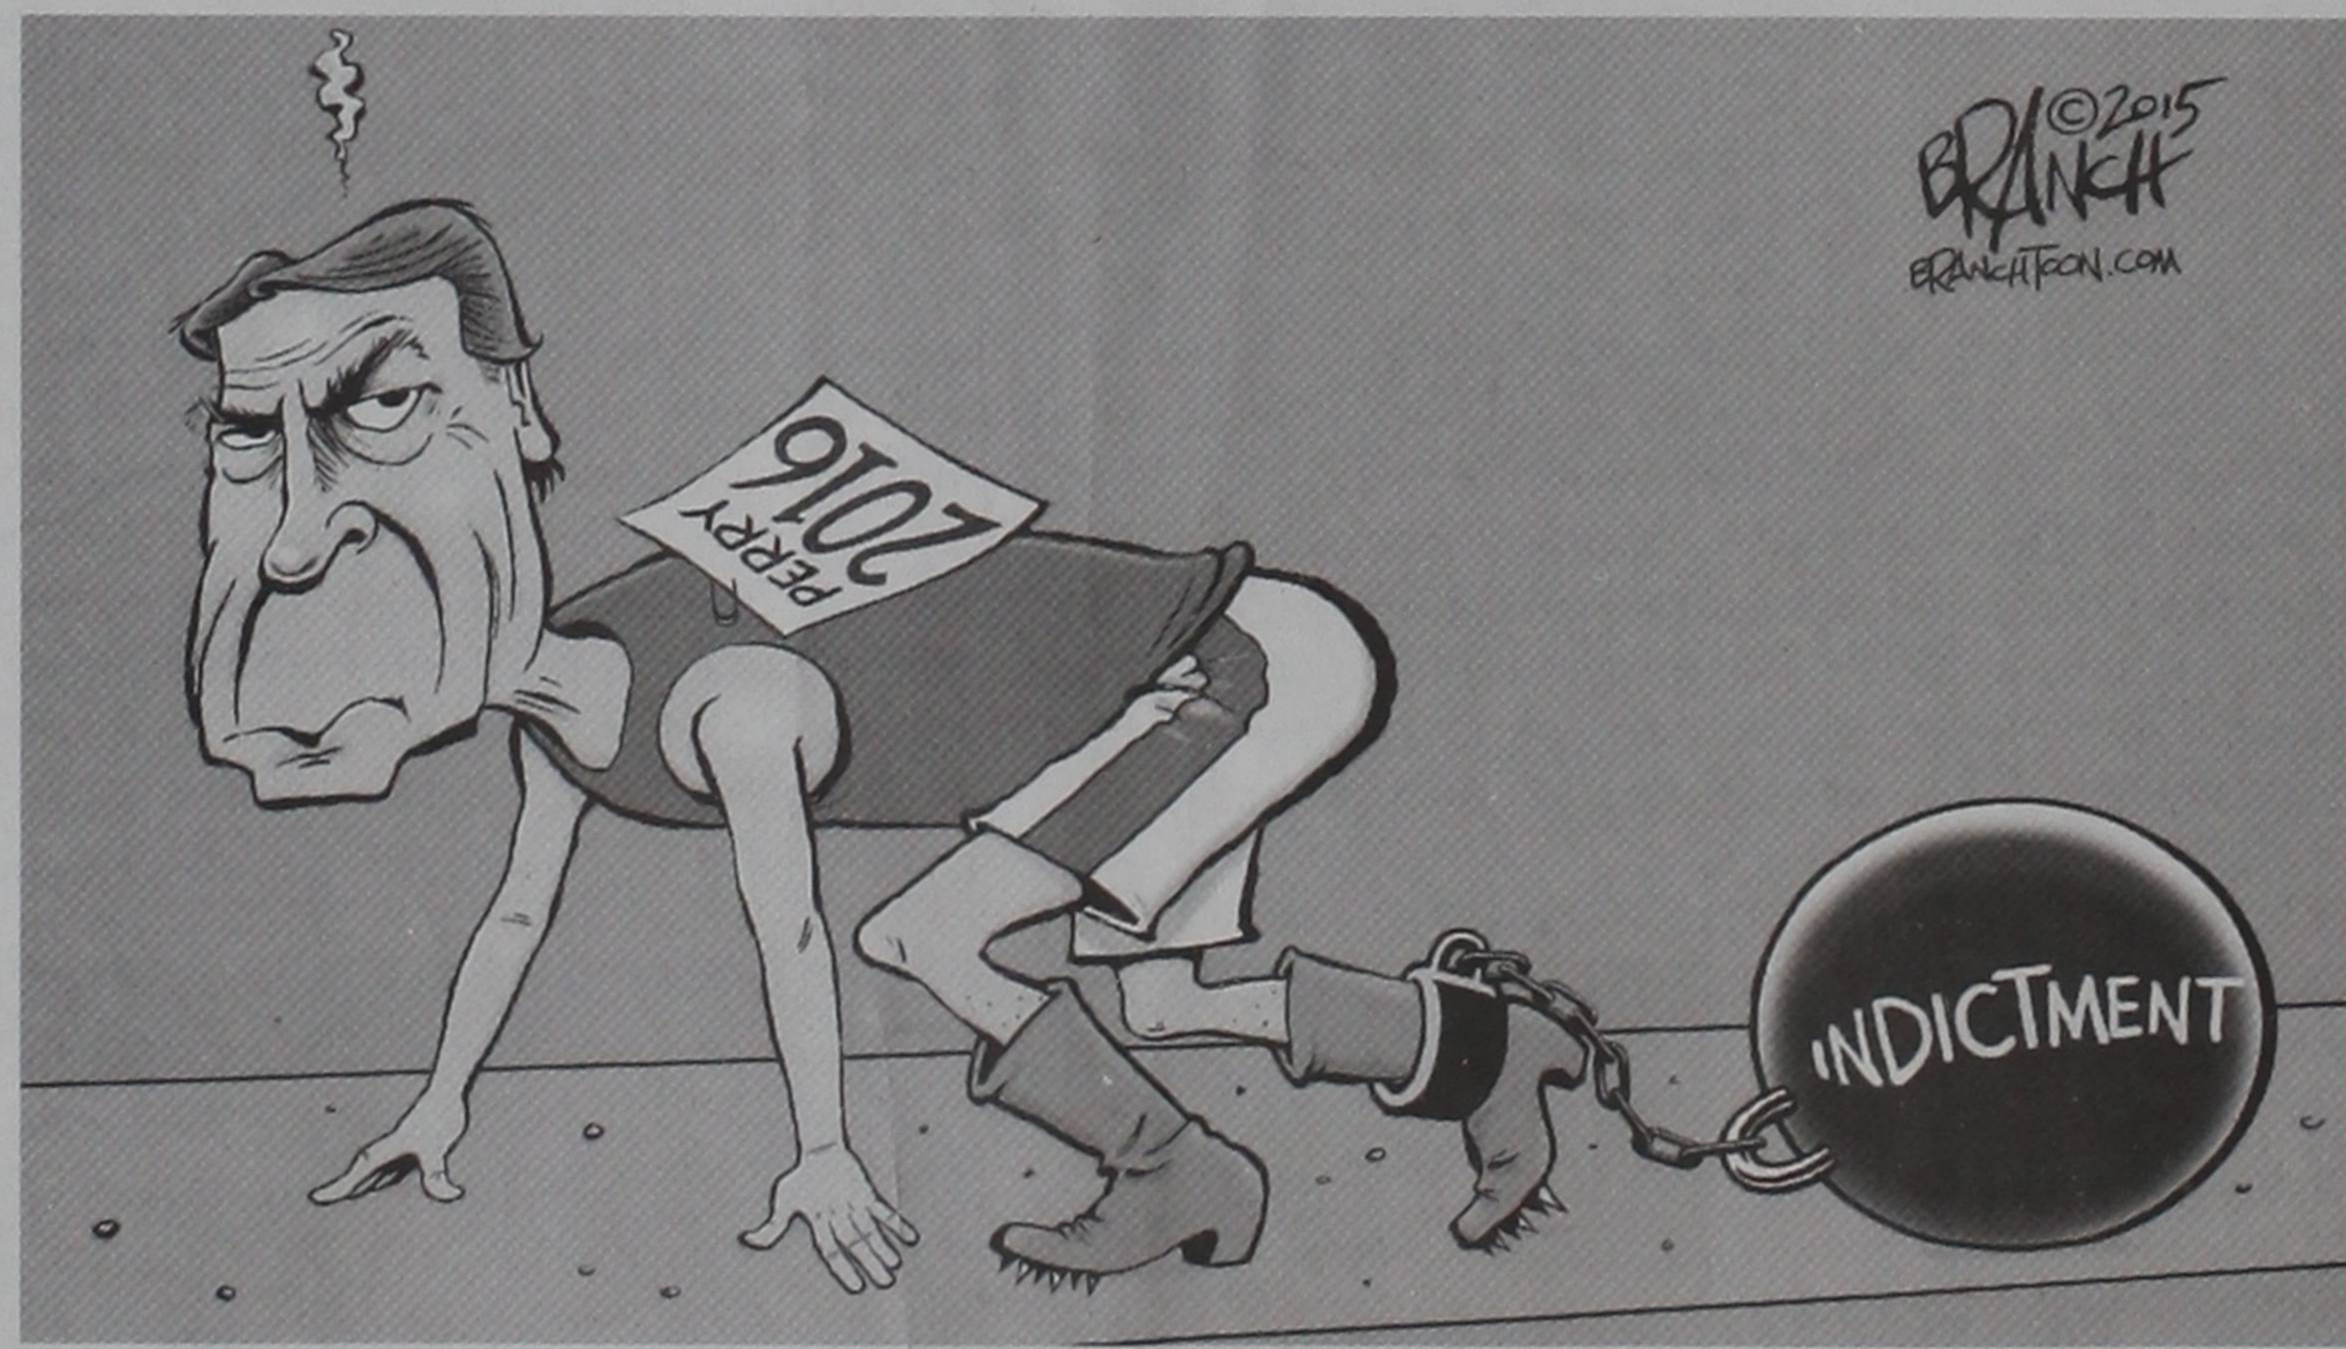

Reference to "winded" brings to mind light moments and heavy "brunching" that precede the "get serious" part of our weekly Sunday school lesson. Members are allowed to "say their piece," even when such verbosity invites – as Uncle Mort would say – "bona fide heckling." (It's true that Wayne West is "steady and studied" in teaching the lesson, and cousin Ray West coaxes the musical best from a class with few members who'd ever enter singing com-

BIRD WATCHING WITH BiBi and BARACK.

Reader: To hell with the idea of hell?

It seems natural that Saint's Roost would consider theology important. Concerning one matter of theology, most of us – like many Americans who have been influenced by Christianity – likely view hell as a large fiery abyss full of demons and the devil, a place where the wicked will forever be tortured.

To be honest, that view is basically what the Church has believed for about 1,400 years. That is, hell is a place of eternal conscious torment. But is this view Biblical?

A recent article in the New York Times, "Tormented in the Afterlife, but Not Forever: Conditionalism Gains Ground," reveals that a growing number of Evangelicals will answer the question with a resounding, "No." Rather, they argue for Conditionalism and Annihilationism, which refer to two sides of the same coin. This view, backed by well-developed historical, philosophical, and Biblical arguments, claims the human soul is not inherently immortal (Conditionalism), and the wicked will suffer the ultimate capital punishment, where both body and soul will cease to exist (Annihilationism).

"Eternal punishment," then, refers to capital punishment by him who "can destroy both body and soul in hell," a punishment that lasts forever and is therefore an eternal punishment (Matthew 25:46; 10:28). Several prominent Church Fathers held this view. In the early 1800s to early 1900s, this view was becoming so dominant that some in the church believed hell as a place of eternal conscious torment would become the minority view.

Of recent an ever growing number of respected evangelical scholars and lay persons have taken up this view, most famous of whom is the late John Stott, considered by Time Magazine in 2005 as among the 100 most influential people in the world.

Yet, it is likely that most of you have never heard of Conditionalism and Annihilationism despite it having been around in the Church since the first century. Saints of Saint's Roost, like so many others, may you join together and rethink hell.

Several decades ago, my ever-frugal uncle hoped his doctor had made a mistake. Holding up X-rays to prove the accuracy of his diagnosis, the physician said Mort needed surgery.

Mort's response, of course, was to determine the estimated cost. The doc figured it would be "roughly" $2,000. Rather than ask what the charge would be "smoothly," my uncle wanted to know the charge for "re-touching X-rays."

That Mort! Now he's wondering if his queasiness following the Super Bowl was the result of ingesting too many sausage balls – whatever their "inflation" – mere hours before Groundhog Day....

Spring election sign-ups continue

Two incumbents and one challenger have filed to run for offices with the City of Clarendon as sign-ups continue for spring elections.

Mayor Larry Hicks and Alderman Sandy Skelton have both signed on to run for office again, and they are joined by local radio personality Britton Hall running for alderman.

Of the five other local governments holding elections this year, only Clarendon ISD and the City of Howardwick reported any sign-ups as of Tuesday afternoon. Wayne Hardin is seeking re-election to the school board, and Mike Rowland is running for re-election as mayor of Howardwick.

Filing for ballot places began Wednesday, January 28, at the cities of Clarendon, Hedley, and Howardwick; the Clarendon and Hedley school districts; and the Donley County Hospital District.

The City of Clarendon has the mayor's position and two seats on the Board of Aldermen up for election this year. Those jobs are two-year terms and are currently held by Mayor Hicks and Aldermen Skelton and Doug Kidd.

Howardwick has its mayor and two aldermen's positions up for election for two-year terms. Those are now held by Mayor Rowland and Aldermen Jim Cockerham and Gail Leathers.

Two positions are up on the Clarendon ISD Board of Trustees. The three-year terms of Hardin and Wes Hatley are expiring.

Hedley has three two-year positions up on its Board of Aldermen, seats that are currently held by Aldermen Tonya Metcalf, Kathy Spier, and Dusty Wilkinson.

Hedley ISD also has two three-year terms on its board available for election. Dana Bell's term is up, and there is an open seat available that was formerly held by Mark Howard.

Three seats are up on the board of the Donley County Hospital District. Those two-year terms are currently held by Wayne Tubbs (Place One), Carey Wann (Place Two), and Melinda McAnear (Place 3).

All local boards are elected on an at-large system, although hospital board members do have to run for a specific place on the board. Applications and more information are available at each entity's administrative office. Filing continues through February 27, 2015. This year's elections will be held on May 9.

Pioneer life as seen through one settlers' eyes

As I continue researching the history of Howardwick, I must warn you: this can become an addiction.

You will understand what I mean when your family begins demanding supper, you look around and realize the evening news is on but you are still in your pajamas at the computer with your head reeling, surrounded by stacks of books and notes. Oh, but what fun!

As a recap: In 1852 Army Captain Randolph Marcy led an expedition across the Panhandle and supposedly announced it was "unfit for manor beast." Mitchell's Atlas of 1873 described the Panhandle as "a sterile table without water, grass, or trees." The Kiowa and Comanche Indians made it their home, buffalo roamed in great herds. In 1891-1892 the first fossils were found by W.F. Cummins. Many expeditions followed looking for old bones and they found them; three-toed horses, reptiles, camels, mastodons and many more. In 1941 at a meeting of paleontologists it was decided to name all fossils and fossil beds of like description "Clarendonian." Unfit land for man or beast indeed!

In about 1873, buffalo hunters had invaded as far as the headwaters of Palo Duro Creek, leaving bones strewn across the plains to be picked up and sold to the government for fertilizer. Between 1870-1874, the soldiers came to the Panhandle with the intent to force all Indians onto the reservations. By the end of 1874, General Nelson Miles and General Randal Mackenzie had burned all the Indian villages, killed their horses, and captured or destroyed their supplies. This was the end of the Indian wars in the Panhandle and opened the land for settlers.

The year 1876 saw the first settler in Donley County, Charles Goodnight, his wife Mary Ann Dyer and the cowboys on the JA ranch in Palo Duro Canyon.

The little colony of Clarendon was established in 1878 by Methodist minister L.H. Carhart where Carroll Creek meets the Salt Fork of the Red River. Carhart named it Clarendon probably after his wife, but Clara didn't stay on the frontier to see her namesake grow, she went back to civilization.

The colony was called "Saints' Roost" because it was dry, no liquor allowed with all deeds for property contained a clause forbidding the use of liquor. This led to many jokes but The Amarillo Daily News said, "The settlers of 'Saints' Roost aren't sissies because they prefer schools to saloons and shootin'." The first settlers of Saints' Roost were well educated, and the first wooden house in Old Clarendon was a one room house to be used as a school and church (Methodist, of course). Many of these settlers brought their prized possessions with them, some had pianos in their adobe brick homes. No servants came with the settlers, the women soon learned to cook and do their own laundry.

From my stack of books and notes I found a letter in "Donley County History 1879-1990" entitled "Pioneer Days by Early Resident". It is addressed to Editor Clarendon News and portions follow:

"My husband, James H. Parks went into Old Clarendon with L.H. Carhart's colony in March 1878. Carhart had been in there once before and located his land. Mr. Parks did Carhart's surveying work for the magnificent sum of fifteen dollars a month and board. At the same time had enough time to try and find new business for himself from newcomers passing through this Panhandle country in search of cattle ranges.

"As time went on he saw he could support a wife in the vast wilderness, so he came to Danville, Ill., and we were married on Nov. 3, 1879. We left Sherman, Texas, Nov. 20, 1879 for our Panhandle home, and were on the road fifteen days there. We were all loaded up in long, light, spring wagon, lots of bedding and lots to eat. There was no other way to get there, no roads, just a compass and natural observations. Besides, this was our wedding trip, and we were young, strong and well and very happy. We left Sherman on Nov. 20th, a cold cheerless morning, the second day was worse, so cold but we had the Panhandle to develop so on we drove. The third day the norther was so cold, we tied our wagon to mesquite roots, the next day found us safe and on we drove.

"My college education did not include biscuit making, but we came to a fine spring this morning, lots of mesquite roots for fuel, so I made biscuits. They were a hard product, would keep in any climate. I made a flour sack full of them, we had some when we got to Clarendon. I learned to make biscuits and cook well. This trip was so full of good (but oh so cold) times, and made on nearly nothing.

There were five women, seven kids and about a dozen men in Clarendon at this time. In the little church built by L.H. Carhart we always sang at every service "I've Reached a Land of Corn and Wine, all it's Riches Freely Mine." This we made literally true by digging in and digging out by our own efforts the corn and wine as our reward.

"To settle up the Panhandle was not always a bed of roses life, but we kept a stiff upper lip, never told the outside world what we lacked, as we knew we could dig it out in time. So we all did. Making it more cheerful for those of you who followed us into the then trackless cattle country. We saw the Panhandle country develop from sand dunes and prairie dogs into a magnificent country. God's own country. I always remember the happy times I spent in the Panhandle of Texas." - Mrs. Vasha W. Parks.

Mrs. Parks has much more to say about living in Clarendon, but I cannot include more because of space. I think she would be a fun person to know. More next week.

Advice to follow after a data breach

Hi, gang! Well it looks like someone has gotten a lot of medical insurance information. Anthem Insurance is Latest Corporation to be hacked. I checked, and Blue Cross/Blue Shield is included. I'm not sure at this writing if Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Texas is included. I did call Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Texas and they advised that they were a different company and were not included. They did suggest not to open any emails or provide any information from all insurance companies without checking with the company first.

Advice on What to Do After a Breach: Tens of millions of Americans could be victims of the latest corporate data breach, this one at Anthem Insurance. Unknown hackers apparently stole personal identifying information (PII) from current and former Anthem customers, including names, addresses, Social Security numbers, dates of birth and other information that can be used for identity theft.

Anthem has set up a separate website with information on the breach, but Better Business Bureau recommends that consumers always go to a company's main website first and follow links from there. (<https://www.anthem.com/health-insurance/home/overview>) Scammers often take advantage of data breaches and subsequent confusion to set up spoof websites and send phishing emails.

BBB offers the following suggestions for consumers concerned that their PII has been stolen (also available at bbb.org/breach): Do not take a "wait and see" approach as you may have done with breaches involving credit card data. You must act quickly. Breaches involving Social Security numbers have the potential to be far more detrimental to victims, and the damage can be difficult to repair. Consider taking a preemptive strike by freezing your credit reports. This will not impact existing credit cards and financial accounts, but will create a roadblock for thieves seeking to create fraudulent accounts using your personal information.

At a minimum, if you know your Social Security number has been compromised, place a fraud alert on your credit reports. While less effective than a freeze, this will provide an extra layer of protection. Go to <http://www.bbb.org/blog/2013/10/how-to-freeze-out-identity-theft/> to learn more about security freezes and fraud alerts. <http://www.bbb.org/blog/2013/10/how-to-freeze-out-identity-theft/>. Take advantage of the free credit monitoring services Anthem will be offering to breach victims. While this is not a preventative measure, this will alert you to new accounts or inquiries using your Social Security number so that you can act quickly to repair the damage. Vigilance is key.

bob's whittlin'
by bob watson

Regularly check your credit reports at <http://www.bbb.org/blog/2013/10/how-to-freeze-out-identity-theft/> for unauthorized charges or other signs of fraud. (NOTE: This is the only free credit report option authorized by the Federal Trade Commission.) For more information and complete step-by-step guidance on repairing the damage caused by identity theft, visit the FTC's identity theft resources (<http://www.consumer.ftc.gov/features/feature-0014-identity-theft>).

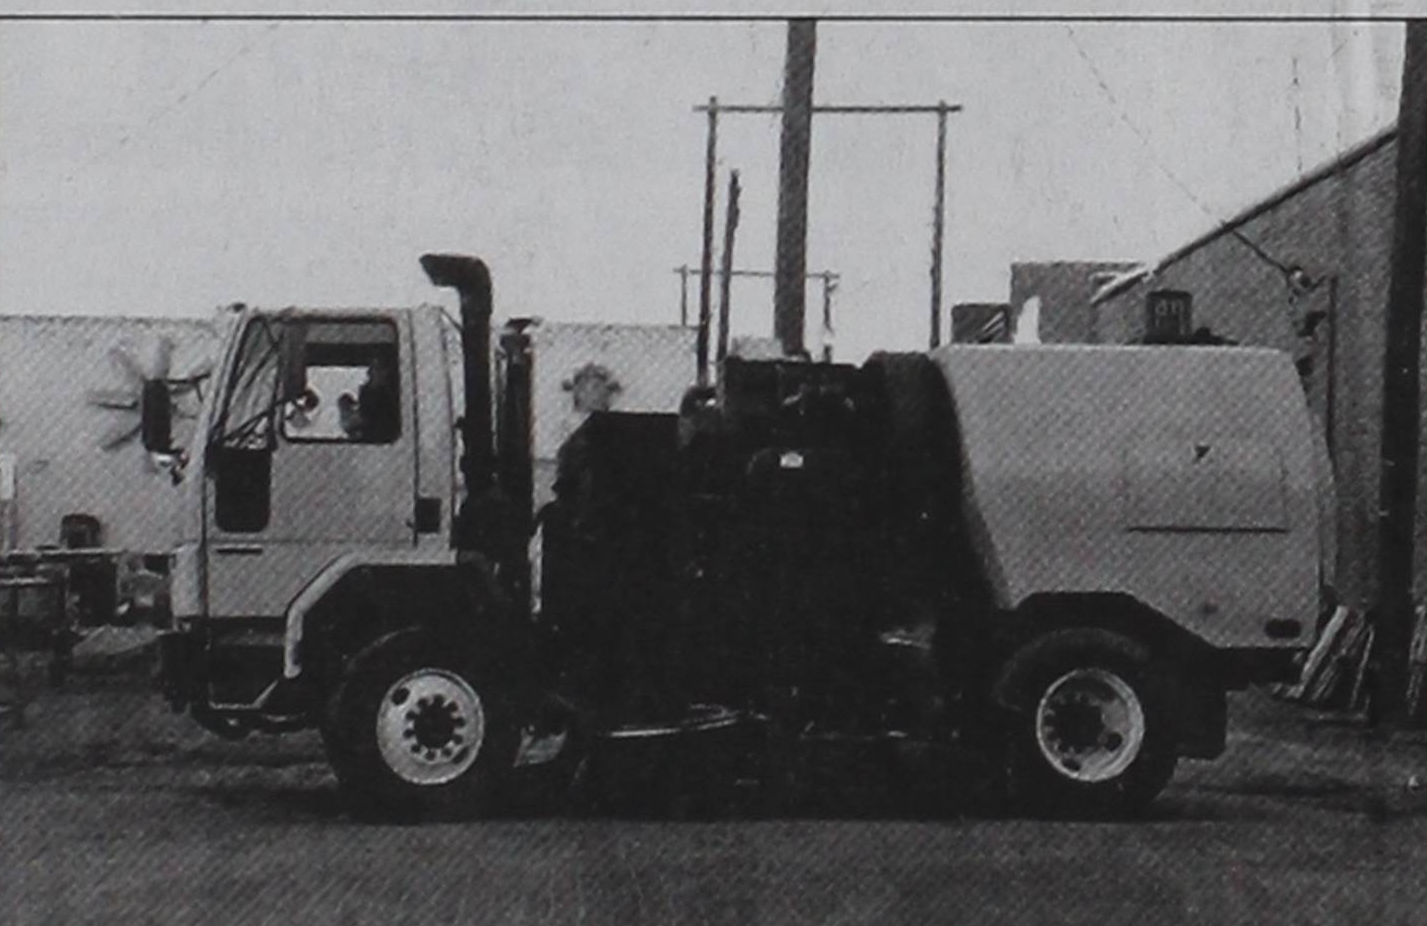

Stay safe and be careful out there.

The City of Clarendon's new street sweeper makes a swipe down Third Street Monday evening. ENTERPRISE PHOTO / BEN ESTLACK

City gets new street sweeper

This Monday, I saw the new street sweeper. It was going around Kearney Street, and we were backing out from the Enterprise and my mom looked in her rear view mirror. I asked her if we could go to the City Barn to see the new street sweeper, and she said that it was right behind us, and we turned around.

I got a few pictures of it on my mom's phone. It was dusting one side of the street; and whenever it got to the corner, it turned. As it started to suck up a lot of dirt, it made this huge dust ball. It sucks up all the dirt and washes the street so there's no trash and dirt on it. Once they are done, they can go dump the leaves and trash.

Last Saturday, me and Robert, Henry, Nathan, Daniel, Haughton, Damon, and Aiden went to the Cub Scout BB Shoot-out in Amarillo. We got to shoot BB guns standing up, on our knee, and on our belly. We got to shoot at targets, and I hit the bull's eye and got in the center black several times. It was really fun.

Lady Colts lose championship by one point

The seventh grade Lady Colts stayed strong the entire tournament, but fell one point short in the championship game against Spearman. They lost the battle 21-22.

Spearman held the slight edge the entire game, but the Lady Colts were never more than three points behind at any point. They only trailed by one point going into the final six minutes, but they were unable to finish with the advantage. Mattee Johnson led the ladies with nine and Kira Weatheron had eight. Darcie Hunsaker and Madi Gay each finished with two points.

The Lady Colts earned the right to advance to the championship game by defeating Canadian 26-21 in the first game of the tournament. It was a big win for the seventh grade squad. The Lady Colts took control early in the game, but only led by one point at the break.

However, a big third quarter offensively, allowed the ladies to refocus on the task at hand and get the five-point win. Weatheron finished in double figures with 11 and Johnson added eight. Gay put in four, Raynee Newsome had two, and Hunsaker added one.

Earlier in the week, the ladies outlasted the Lady Skyrockets from Wellington and earned a 27-24 win at home. The Lady Colts struggled in the first half of play as they had trouble stopping the offensive surge of the Lady Rockets. They trailed by five at the end of the first quarter but made up ground before the break.

Clarendon put together a big scoring drive in the third period of play and held a four-point lead going into the final six minutes. Weatheron hit a hot streak and put in 15 and Johnson added six. Gay had three, Braylee Shields put in two, and Newsome had one. The ladies shot 50 percent from the free throw line to aid them in the win.

The seventh grade Lady Colts played hard, but could never get anything going on offense in the first game. They fell to Canadian 7-46. The Lady Wildcats used their press in the first half of the game, which stifled anything the Lady Colts tried. They were never able to recover from the pressure. Sandra Smith put in five points and Jenci Hernandez added two. The Lady Colts went up against Spearman in the second game and were defeated 24-31. This was a better game for the ladies both ends of the court as they hustled hard the entire game. They were tough defensively in the second quarter and held their opponent to only one point while taking a one-point lead into the break. But the second half belonged to Spearman and they ladies suffered the seven-point loss. Smith led the Lady Colts with 18 points, Emily Johnson had four, and Ellis put in two.

On Monday, the Lady Colts went up against a tough Wellington team at home as lost 5-34. Everything the ladies tried, the Lady Rockets were able to shut down. Despite working hard, the Lady Colts were defeated. Ellis had three and Smith put in two.

Eighth grade Colts finish season as champions

The eighth grade Colts competed in a basketball tournament in Canadian over the weekend and brought home the championship trophy to end their eighth grade season. The Colts defeated Perryton and Canadian to earn first place.

The Colts squeezed by Perryton in the first round 29-24. After a slow start, the Colts took control of the game and the scoreboard in the second half to come from behind to get the win. They were able to hold Perryton to only eight points in the second half while they more than doubled their first half score. Bear Smith and Isaac Dunham finished in double figures with 11 and 10 respectively, and Preston Elam helped with eight.

In the second game the Colts rolled the host team 47-31. Clarendon led the entire game as they dominated on both ends of the court. Noab Elam exploded offensively and led the Colts on the board with 13 points.

Smith and Dunham were strong as well putting in 10 points each, and Noab Elam helped with eight. Gavin Word added four, and Caton Grahn had two.

On Monday, the Colts finished their regular season with a tough loss to a good Wellington team at 29-50. They struggled to find any rhythm in the game offensively and were not able to stop the Rockets on the scoreboard. Dunham had eight, Smith put in seven and N. Elam had six. P. Elam put in five points, Grahn had two, and Ryan Ward put in a free throw.

The seventh grade played hard, but ran into trouble in the tournament and their last regular season game. They took on Perryton in the first game of the tourney and lost 20-33. The Colts trailed by 13 points after the first half of play, and could never close the gap in the following minutes of the game.

Offensively, the Colts were able to put points on the board, but could not stop them with their defensive effort. Jamal Butler put in 14, Clay Ward had three, Phillip Monds added two, and Trent Smith finished with one. They took on a tough Canadian team in the next game and were defeated 11-49. The Colts could never find their offense in the game and a slow shooting first half set the tempo of the game. Butler put in six, Smith and Zane Sneathen had two, and Ward put in one.

Earlier in the week, the Colts fell short against Wellington in their last game of the regular season and lost 22-45. Again, the Colts struggled to get points on the board and were hindered on defense. Butler had 12 and Ward put in four. Smith, Sneathen, and Kenny Overstreet each had two points in the game.

CHS students compete in bridge contest

By Bruce Howard, CHS

Physics students at Clarendon High School competed against one another to see who could build the strongest balsa wood bridge recently.

Bridges were made only of balsa wood and glue, and spanned an open space of 20 cm between two desktops. This year's winner was Marissa Jaramillo, a junior at CHS. Her bridge had a mass of 30.42 grams (1.07 ounce) but held a remarkable 102 pounds of weight before collapsing. The weight held was 1528 times the weight of the bridge.

Other students did a fine job as well. Cooper Bilbrey and Chesson

Sims came in 2nd in the contest, with Chrislyn Durham-Farris and Skyler White placing 3rd and Shelby Baxter and Damara Brown coming in 4th.

Students are often amazed at the amount of weight the bridges hold because they are so light and the balsa wood is so weak before construction begins. But students use some simple engineering techniques and produce strong sturdy structures.

Weights are placed in a bucket attached to a piece of plywood laying across the "roadbed" of the bridge until the bridge fails.

Next six weeks students will make balsa wood towers to hold weight.

Morris first place in powerlifting meet

By Sandy Anderberg

Several Bronco and Lady Bronco powerlifters competed in the powerlifting meet in Dalhart last Saturday.

Lifter Chelsea Morris lifted her way to first place in the 198 pound class with a lift total of 720 pounds. Emily Thompson lifted a total of 450 pounds in the 148-pound class, which was good enough for second place. The Lady Broncos finished seventh out of 14 teams in the meet.

Nathan Shadle finished second in the 114-pound class with a lift total of 575 pounds, and Ray Jaramillo was eighth in the 132-pound class with a lift total of 750 pounds.

Joseph Jaramillo was second in the 148-pound class with a weight total of 955 pounds, and Clint Franks finished 13th in that same class with a total of 780 pounds. Nick Shadle also lifted in this weight class and finished 14th with a lift total of 750 pounds. Justin Christopher competed in the 220-pound class as did Jack Moore. Christopher was 11th with a lift total of 785 pounds, and Moore was 17th at 750 pounds. The Broncos were seventh out of 16 teams.

"This meet was a good meet for the athletes," coach Johnny Nino said. "They are competing well and gaining confidence. They improved on weight totals and several lifters have a chance to move on to the regional meet."

CC Livestock Judgers earn top 10 placing

The Clarendon College Livestock Judging team placed 10th at the Fort Worth Stock Show this past Friday. Fifty-five teams competed in the Junior Intercollegiate judging contest.

The team consisted of Austin Adams, Lane Harington, Kobie Jordan, John Pigg and Shannon Reeves. This team placed 3rd in cattle (only 2 points away from the first place team), 6th in horse, 10th in swine and 5th in reasons.

The Fort Worth contest is the only contest where the teams judge horses and as a result the CC team had a bit of a crash course in preparation. Despite their limited experience in this division, Shannon Reeves managed to score a 49 (out of 50) in his horse reasons.

In the Charolais heifers, Austin Adams scored a 49 and Lane Harington scored a 50 point set.

Judging individually were Haley Kinney, Jessica Humphrey, Kaci Drummond and Courtney Wingate. Kacy Drummond placed 21st out of the 104 individual contestants.

Drugs in the News
New Medication for Alzheimer's
A new combination medication called Namzaric (memantine/donepezil) has received FDA approval for moderate to severe dementia. This is a fixed-dose combination, which means it contains more than one active drug ingredient. Seventy percent of those who took Namenda XR (memantine) were taking an acetylcholinesterase inhibitor such as Aricept (donepezil). Research shows that combination therapy with these two medications yields a greater improvement in function and cognition versus using Aricept alone. A key advantage to using Namzaric is the decrease in the number of tablets and capsules that must be taken. Another advantage is that those who have problems swallowing can open the capsule and sprinkle the contents on their food.
Alzheimer's is a type of dementia that causes memory loss and mental decline. An imbalance of acetylcholine and glutamate in the brain occurs. Memantine inhibits excess glutamate from reaching brain receptors, while donepezil blocks an enzyme that breaks down acetylcholine. Memantine and donepezil have been shown, however, to improve quality of life and slow the disorder's progression.

Lady Broncos breeze past Memphis, fall to Shamrock

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Broncos traveled to Memphis last Tuesday night to take on the Memphis Lady Cyclones; and after four eight-minute quarters, the Lady Broncos walked away with a huge 52-41 win.

After finishing the first quarter of play, the Lady Broncos trailed by three points, but closed the gap in the second eight minutes. They were able to back on track as they executed their offense game.

After the break, the Lady Broncos were able to control the tempo of the game and also the scoreboard to take over the lead and the momentum. Taylor DeGrate hit two big three-pointers in the final half to spark the ladies and Taylor Gaines made good on several field goals. All the Lady Broncos contributed to the win, and they shot 59 percent from the bonus line.

DeGrate led the ladies with 19 and Gaines had 18. Allyson Grahn put in nine, Carlee Johnson had four, and Hannah Howard put in two.

On Friday night, the Lady Broncos traveled to Shamrock and were defeated by two points at 53-51. They played hard in the game but could not hold on to the lead.

Shamrock took the early lead, but a good offensive surge in the second quarter allowed the ladies to get back up on top. They were able to hold that lead until the final period. Grahn was on target from the three-point arc as she nailed five three-pointers. She finished with 18 points. DeGrate added 16 and Johnson put in nine, which included two three-pointers. Gaines had four, Hannah Hommel and Briley Chadwick had two each.

Broncos edge out Shamrock in District game

By Sandy Anderberg

The Clarendon Broncos traveled to Shamrock Friday and came home with a 36-35 win over the Irish.

The Broncos led 11-0 in the first quarter of play but allowed the Irish to get back in the game before the break.

The second half of the game was tight, but the Broncos held on to get the win.

"I was very pleased with our effort," head coach Brandt Lockhart said. "We did a good job of getting the win in the last few minutes and it was Shamrock's first loss of the season at home. With the win, the Broncos clinched a playoff berth."

Chance Lockhart put in 11 points in the game and was the top rebounder with eight. He also had four steals in the game. Charles Mason had seven points, and Bryce Grahn put in six. Mason also grabbed seven rebounds. Junior Cenicerros finished with five points and Colt Wood had three. Wood had two steals and took two charges on the night.

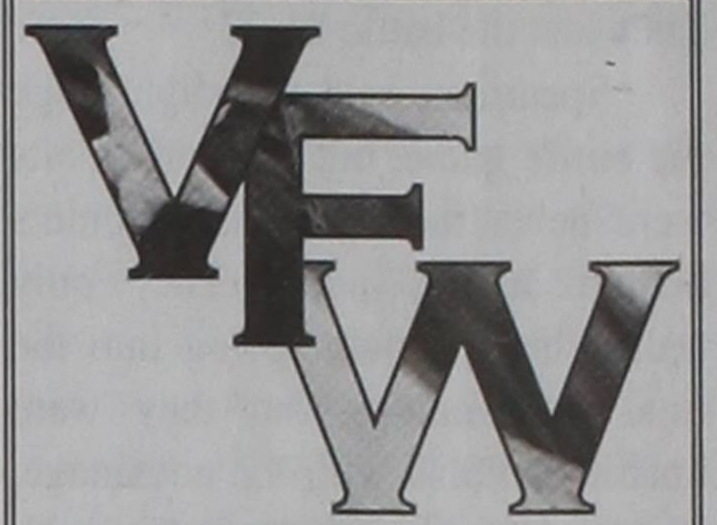

Earlier in the week, the Broncos traveled to Memphis to take on the Cyclones in a district match up. Despite playing hard, the Broncos were defeated, 47-70. The Broncos only trailed the Cyclones by three after the first quarter of play, but were outscored in the next period by 12 points. The third quarter of play was as devastating as the second was and the Broncos could not recover.

"You know what they say; 'It is hard to play a good team three times,'" Lockhart said. "We did not shoot the ball well and Memphis outplayed us on all phases of the game."

Wood finished with 16 points to lead the Broncos on the board, six rebounds and two steals, and Mason had 14 points. Chesson Sims put in five points, and Grahn had six. Grahn also had three assists. Cenicerros had three, McCampbell had three, and Taylon Knorpp had two. Lockhart had six rebounds and three steals.

Lady Bronco JV grab two wins

The Lady Bronco junior varsity team slammed Memphis on Tuesday by the score of 48-15.

The Lady Broncos totally dominated the Lady Cyclones the entire game with their intense offense and solid defense. Clarendon held their opponent to single digits until the last seven minutes of the game.

Briley Chadwick had a big game with 17 points that included three three-pointers, and Sterling King and Damara Brown each put in eight. Berkeley Alexander dominated inside with seven points, and Shaelyn Owitti and Sarah Williams each had four.

The ladies took on Shamrock Friday and added to their win column with a 45-33 rout over the Lady Irish. The Lady Broncos were able to play solid basketball on both ends of the court and stayed focused the entire game. The ladies took control early and led by 12 points at the break. The teams played the second half evenly, but the Lady Broncos' lead in the first half was enough to get them the win.

"The ladies did a great job in both games," coach Kasey Bell said. "They are working very hard and are staying focused."

Alexander was strong inside and finished with 16 points, and King added 11. Owitti put in 8, Williams had 6, and Amelia Weatheron each put in two, and Allyson Hogan helped with one.

Bronco JV drops two games last week

The Clarendon Bronco junior varsity met up against two tough teams last week as they wind down their district schedule. They traveled to Memphis Tuesday night and were defeated 50-57 in a close game.

Memphis led in the first half of the game as the Broncos struggled somewhat. After the break, the Broncos were able to fight back to come within one point of the Cyclones. But Memphis hit three big three-pointers in the fourth quarter that sealed the win for them.

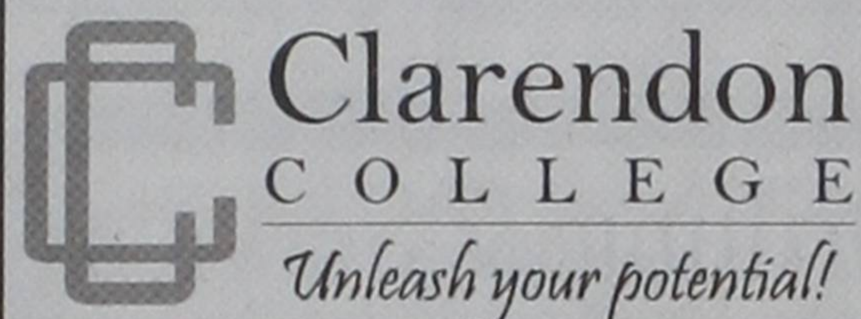

Three Broncos finished in double figures with Steven Johnson and Marshal Johnson each putting in 14 and Keandre Cortez helping with 10. Clay Koetting had seven, Kendrick Addington had three, and Eastin Goodpasture put in two.

On Friday, the Broncos traveled to Shamrock and were narrowly defeated by one point at 42-43.

The Broncos showed great determination in after being down early in the game, were able to come back within four points at the end of the third quarter. But time ran out and the Broncos lost by one.

"The JV was a little short-handed, against a scrappy Shamrock bunch," coach Alton Gaines said. "We just dug ourselves into a big hole to start the game off. The boys fought to the very end but we came up one point short. I'm just so proud of this JV squad. They've had so much to overcome this season, and haven't missed a beat. Thank you for your hard work and dedication to the team."

Cortez led the Broncos on the board with 13 and S. Johnson added nine. Koetting had eight, Addington put in six, and Goodpasture and Phillip Mondos each had two.
