HAS BUT ONE MOTTO.

'PUBLIC SERVANTS SHALL SERVE
THE PUBLIC ONLY.'

Declaration of Principles Presented at the Banquet and Adopted
Amidst Uproarious
Applause.

Dallas, Texas, June 14.—Men from all parts of Texas attended a meeting in the council chambers of the City Hall today and inaugurated a movement which they declare will be persistent and untiring. Its one motto, "Public servants shall serve the public only." They declare that they will support for office no man who will not agree to this pronouncement. Further than the declaration of principles by the several speakers called on, there was no formal action at this meeting. But a large committee was named to draft resolutions which were proposed at the banquet in the evening. The report of the committee at the banquet was received with prolonged cheering and was passed without a dissenting voice.

There were one hundred or more at the meeting of the afternoon, a gathering proposed after noon and begun at 2:30 o'clock. The chairman of the meeting was Alvin Owsley of Denton. The speakers were heard in short addresses.

B. T. Hobbs of Brookhaven, Miss., a neighbor of Senator Bailey and a collegemate, president of the Mississippi Press Association and editor of the Leader, was given an ovation. Mayor D. E. Patterson of Belton, Judge G. B. Gerald of Waco and a number of legislators present spoke. They declared that it is time to act and act positively and with insistence.

The committee named at the meeting made the following report, which was adopted with scenes of uproarious enthusiasm:

To Hon. M. M. Crane, Chairman—Your committee desires to report the following resolutions:

1. We hold that honesty is the essential qualification of a public official.

2. We deny the right of United Senators or members of Congress whose chief duty is to protect us against the exactions of monopolies and public service corporations, to accept service at the hand of such monopolies, trusts or public service corporations or their known representatives while in our employ.

3. We deny the right of any United States Senator or member of Congress to attempt to dictate to the people of Texas who shall fill the other offices within the gift of the people, or who shall constitute the representatives from the Democratic party in either the State or National Convention.

4. We adhere to the time-honored Democratic doctrine that the improvement of our inland waterways by the National Government has the greatest tendency to relieve the people of the oppression of railway monopolies, and specifically indorse such improvements as have been recommended by the Government engineers.

5. We heartily indorse the action of the minority of the Thirtieth Legislature in their courageous and manly efforts to prevent the return of J. W. Bailey to the United States Senate because of his conceded questionable relations with the Standard Oil Company and its allied interests.

6. We applaud the courageous, manly and successful efforts of our Attorney General, R. V. Davidson, in the prosecution of that odious monopoly, the Waters Pierce Oil company, and we accept the verdict recently given at Austin as a reversal of the wrong and fraud perpetrated upon the people of Texas by the re-admission of the Waters Pierce Oil Company into the State in the year 1900; and we commend the Attorney General for his avowed purpose to prosecute all trusts and monopolies until the people and the commerce of Texas shall be freed from their baneful and pernicious influences.

7. We deplore the condition of affairs existing in our State, which allows an individual, rather than a principle, to become an issue among our people.

8. We resent the threats so often made and repeated that no man shall be elected to any office in Texas who denounced the admitted and confessed practices of Senator Bailey in connection with the Waters Pierce Oil Company and other corporate interests and opposed the re-election of Senator Bailey to the United States Senate, and we here and now announce our fixed purpose to continue this opposition until such service is discredited and abandoned, and until the ancient and honorable ideals of the Democratic party, as exemplified by Jefferson, Jackson, Houston and Reagan, are restored. We are not the advocates of any man or set of men, local, State or National, but stand simply for the principles here announced, and will support no man for office who opposes or antagonizes them.

W. L. Crawford, Dallas, chairman; W. L. Grogan, Taylor County; W. O. Davis, Cook County; A. L. Camp, Midland County; H. S. Moran, Parker County; A. C. Carnes, Dallas County; C. M. Smithdeal, Hill County; Brownlee Ferguson, Ellis County; Thomas Bell, McCulloch County; H. F. Ring, Harris County; D. E. Patterson, Bell County; M. E. Foster, Harris County.

Pistol Theft at Palestine.

Palestine, Tex., June 17.—The store of the Palestine Hardware Company was entered last night by robbers, who took five revolvers, valued at about $100, from a showcase, and made good their escape. Nothing else in the store was taken. The thieves entered the store through a side door, cutting a heavy wire screen which was being used temporarily in the place of glass in the door. The officers are at work on the case, but as yet no clew has been located.

JAIL BREAK AT GROVETON.

H. O. Park, Serving Time for Violating Local Option Law, and a Negro Got Away.

Groveton, Tex., June 17.—H. O. Park, recently acquitted in the District Court of Anderson County on the charge of murdering Detective F. R. Meyer, broke out of the county jail here last night and made good his escape. He was serving a sentence of 200 days in jail and a fine of $1,000 for violation of local option law in this county. He was confined in a steel cage under triple lock. One lock was cut with a file. The second was broken with a wooden beam used as a lever. The outer door of the jail was not broken, but a breach was made in the brick wall of the jail from the second story and Park and a negro, the only other prisoner, seem to have crawled through that and let themselves to the ground by means of blankets in the jail. Sheriff Kirkwood offers $100 reward for the arrest of H. O. Park and $25 for the arrest of negro, Austin Jackson.

Park is 23 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches high, weight about 160 pounds, complexion light, eyes blue, badly crippled in right foot.

STATE ROAD EXTENSION.

Surveys to Both Crockett and Palestine are Being Made.

Austin, Texas, June 12.—Superintendent of Penitentiaries Capt. J. A. Herring was here in attendance on the meeting of the State Penitentiary Board, and states that nothing definite has been agreed upon for the extension of the State road from Rusk to a connection with the International & Great Northern. He says the surveys are being made between the end of the State Railroad and Palestine, and end of line and Crockett, both places striving for the extension.

It is estimated that it is about eighteen miles from end of line to Palestine, and twenty-three or twenty-four miles to Crockett. The surveys will show the practicability and economy of the routes to the places, and the selection will be made accordingly.

Capt. Herring stated that 15,000 cross ties have been finished and some bridge timber. He also stated that the work of overhauling the line between Rusk and its present terminus was completed today, and placed in first-class condition in readiness for the extension. It is thirteen miles in length and runs to a timber forest, from which the ties and bridge timbers are being secured for the remainder of the extension.

A Happy Mother

will see that her baby is properly cared for—to do this a good purgative is necessary. Many babies suffer from worms and their mothers don't know it—if your baby is feverish and don't sleep at nights, it is troubled with worms. White's Cream Vermifuge will clean out these worms in a mild, pleasant way. Once tried always used. Give it a trial. Price 25 cents. Sold by Murchison & Beasley.

RIVAL OF STANDARD.

Barnsdall Oil Company of Pittsburg Formed With $10,000,000.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 17.—The incorporation of the Barnsdall Oil Company, a $10,000,000 concern, under the laws of Delaware today caused a slight ripple in Pittsburg, where all those interested have their headquarters. Theodore N. Barnsdall, head of the new concern, which will fight the Standard in the West, is one of the biggest independent oil men in the country, being largely interested in gas and oil in Kansas, Indian Territory and Texas, and the Barnsdall Company, it is learned tonight, will mean the consolidation of all the small companies of the West and Southwest. It will be a Barnsdall affair from first to last, as W. B. Clingman, H. B. Kestor and J. T. Furlong, who appear as the incorporators at Dover, are employees of the Barnsdall Company at Pittsburg.

Barnsdall in his time has swung more big deals than any man in Pittsburg, his deals in the last fifteen years aggregating $100,000,000. He is in St. Louis completing some arrangements for furthering his oil deal.

DISTRICT CLERK'S HOME BURNED.

Threats Had Been Made and Incendiarism Is Suspected.

Groveton, Tex., June 17.—The dwelling and its contents of Wirt N. Wood, District Clerk of Trinity County, were destroyed by fire at 3:30 p. m. today. Mr. Wood was at the court house and his wife and two little girls were at a neighbor's about two blocks from their home. The loss amounts to about $2,500, with $2,000 insurance in the Phoenix Assurance Company of London.

Mr. Wood has been an active member of the Groveton Law and Order League and was a State witness in the Park and Winslow cases. Threats were made against him at Palestine and repeated here yesterday, giving apparent cause for the suspicion which exists that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Had a Trouserless Home.

Beeville Picayune.

An old woman from the country bought three boxes of matches from her grocer in town. It rained when she was going home, and the matches became so damp that not one of them would strike. On the following Saturday she took the matches back to the grocer, and upbraided him for selling such useless stuff. The grocer took out one or two, and struck them quite easily on the leg of his trousers, for by this time the matches had become perfectly dry. But the old woman did not think of this explanation, and exclaimed: "Tut, tut! that's not good enough for me. I can't tramp six miles to your trousers every time I want to strike a match. Give me three boxes of a kind that I can light at home."

Grumbling a Bad Habit.

Liberty Vindicator.

Grumbling is a habit that is readily acquired and harder to cure than a skin disease. It is proper and necessary and sensible for every man to have some thought of the morrow and to plan for his own and his family's future welfare, but it is both useless and senseless for him to worry over the outcome and fret himself into mental invalidism over that which he has no power to influence. Whether the next week will be wet or dry, whether the crops will be bountiful or scant, is something that no man can know in advance, and, after having done all that thrift and industry suggest, he is sane and sensible who trusts providence or nature to do its part and refuses to trouble the atmosphere with complaints.

In the Honeymoon.

Hallettsville Herald.

We can figure out how that old saying that two can live as cheaply as one originated. It's all a mistake of course, but it was started honestly and sincerely. You see, when a young couple marries, the girl is provided with a trousseau that keeps her in clothes fully a year, while a man, who has been courting, has a trunk or two full of good clothing. Obviously few purchases of this character have to be made for a twelve months, and this is usually one of the heaviest expenses. But at the end of that period both have to purchase anew and usually there is another to provide for. Then is the time dimes have to do the duty of dollars and the young man cuts a swamp elm club and goes on a still hunt for the reptile that said two could live as cheap as one.

Japs Replaced the Negroes.

Reaumont, Texas, June 17.—A small crowd of Japanese arrived in the city this morning from the Pacific coast to work in this section. Part of them were taken to the mill of the Miller-Vidor Lumber company at Texla and the others were taken to rice farms in the southern edge of the county owned by Japanese. The men are rapidly replacing negroes and other workers in the mills and are said to be excellent workers. They receive the same scale of wages as the other workmen.

Boy Dies of Hydrophobia.

From Palestine Daily.

A little negro boy, about five years old, named Lee Swanson, died last night of hydrophobia. The family live a few miles in the country, and a short time ago a pet dog bit three of the children, and last night one of the boys died. We understand the others will be taken to the Pasteur Institute at Austin.

There are Few people who know how to take care of themselves—the majority do not. The liver is a most important organ in the body. V. C. Simpkins, Alba, Texas writes: "I have used Herbine for chills and fever and find it the best medicine I ever used. I would not be without it. It is as good for children as it is for grown-up people, and I recommend it. It is fine for influenza, grippe. Sold by Murchison & Beasley."

ARTEMUS WARD'S FUN.

How the Humorist Used to Win Laughs in His Lectures.

However much the audience might laugh, even to a tumult of merriment lasting a minute or two or perhaps longer, Artemus Ward stood with the gravest mien and unmoved face. He could not help laughing while writing or planning a good thing, but no necromancer was ever more self-poised when he stood before his audience.

The greatest fun of the whole was the manipulation of the panorama itself. Things would go wrong every now and then, and the audience would fairly scream with laughter, supposing it was a mistake, while as a matter of fact Artemus was always at the bottom of it all.

For instance, the prairie fire would go down at the wrong time and then break out again when the scene it was to illustrate had wholly passed, or the sick looking moon would refuse to stay down in the midst, while the lecturer was apparently almost overcome with vexation and despair. Then the wrong music would be played, and the house would break out into roars of laughter, as when he touched upon one really pathetic recital and the piano ground out "Poor Mary Ann."

In the midst of a really instructive talk on the Mormon question or a truly impressive description of the mountain scenery around Salt Lake he would stop as if a sudden feeling of distress had come over him which must be explained, and, pointing to an absurd animal in the foreground of a picture, he would tell the audience how he had always tried to keep faith with them, but mistakes must sometimes occur.

"I have always spoken of this animal as a buffalo and have always supposed he was a buffalo, but this morning my artist came to me and said, 'Mr. Ward, I can conceal it from you no longer; that is a horse!'" The effect was simply indescribable.

When quiet came again, he would seemingly become wholly lost to everything around him as he described some absorbing and thrilling incident, turning it into ridicule the next minute by the innocent and apparently merely incidental remark, "I did not see this myself, but I had it from a man just as reliable as I am."—Enoch Knight in Putnam's.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

If you must be frank, be frank with yourself.

Every defeat develops a lot of new excuses.

Most men are optimistic as long as things are coming their way.

Pleasing people is like laughing. It has to be done without an effort to be effective.

The most sincere person in the world does not mean it when he says, "I don't care."

Some people get credit for being patient when the fact is they are merely afraid to talk back.

Some people who never recognize a rebuff notice the slightest hint that can be construed as an invitation.

Down at the bottom of their hearts most people believe a little in fortune telling and spiritualism and the mysterious generally.—Atchison Globe.

Mine Preserved Bodies.

A curious story illustrative of the preservative properties of carbonic acid gas, or "choke damp," comes from China. In the province of Nanhwei a party of miners opened an ancient shaft where, according to the official records, a terrible catastrophe had occurred 400 years ago. When the miners entered they came upon the bodies of 170 miners who had perished in the mine, lying where they had been overtaken by the deadly gas four centuries back. The corpses to the eye were as though of yesterday, quite fresh looking and not decayed in any way. The faces were like those of men who had just died. On an attempt being made to move them outside for burial they one and all crumbled away, leaving nothing but a pile of dust and the remnants of the stronger parts of their clothing.

Lalande and Neptune.

The astronomer Lalande narrowly escaped being made famous by a discovery. He accidentally struck Neptune with his glass on May 8, 1785, but supposed it was a star. He put it down in his notebook as a star and recorded its exact situation. Two days later he struck it once more and made a record of it. But when he looked over his notes he found he had it down as being in two different places, and as a star cannot move in forty-eight hours he supposed he had made a mistake in one of his notes. If he had used his mind a little less mechanically, he easily might have been a Columbus.

Postage Stamps.

It is often desired to separate postage stamps that are stuck together without destroying the gum. This can be done by dipping the stamps in water for a few seconds only, shaking off the excess of water and heating with a match as much as possible without burning. The heat expands the water between the stamps and separates them, so that they can be easily pulled apart and are ready for use.

MAN NOT BORN TO READ.

That is the Reason He is Compelled to Wear Glasses.

Many of the commonest physical defects of civilized man are due to an imperfect adaptation of his body to new conditions of life. Nearsightedness is an example.

C. W. Saleeby, the English writer on scientific subjects, says that all the talk about the degeneration of the human eye is "undiluted nonsense." The truth is that "man was not born to read." An instrument made for seeing long distances is forced to accommodate itself to little marks and signs on a piece of paper. Says Dr. Saleeby, "The eye which we have inherited from our ancestors is one that is used without effort at long range, merely containing within it an apparatus enabling it at the cost of nervous and muscular effort to be used at short range."

The general need of glasses arises from the necessity in modern life of the use of the eyes at short distances. If the eye were naturally focused upon near objects the advantage, as Dr. Saleeby admits, would be great. However, he continues, "If one started to make a list of the bodily characters of man which the amazing development of his intelligence has rendered more or less appropriate to his needs than originally one would require a volume."

GAY FUNERAL RITES.

Curious Ceremonies That Accompany Cremation in Siam.

The funerals of young unmarried ladies in Brazil are gressomously gay, so to speak. The color of the coffin is bright scarlet, and bright scarlet, too, are the hearse, the livery of the driver, the harness and the plumes that nod on the heads of the horses.

But for a gay funeral we must go to the cremation of the dead in Siam. When the body is that of a prince the proceedings are most elaborate. Gold carriages galore abound, and the pyre is ultimately lighted by the king himself with candles which have been ignited at the sacred lamps in the temples of his palace, which burn night and day. The lighting of the funeral pyre is followed up with sports and the lotus dance. The king promotes the mirth by tossing limes to the people, by whom they are eagerly fought for, as inserted in each are current coins of the realm. Darkness having at length fallen over the land, fireworks and gay illuminations conclude these curious funeral rites.

The Word Etiquette.

The very high sounding word etiquette had a very humble origin, for etiquette meant simply a label. It received its present signification from the fact that a Scotch gardener who laid out the grounds at Versailles for Louis XIV. was much annoyed at the courtiers walking over his newly made paths and at length had labels placed to indicate where they might pass. At first these labels were not attended to, but a hint from high quarters that in future the walks of the courtiers must be within the "etiquettes" or labels was promptly attended to. To keep within the etiquettes became the correct thing. The meaning of the phrase was afterward widened.

The Pygmy Cattle of Samoa.

The Samoan islands are the natural habitat of the most diminutive species of variety of the genus bos now known to the naturalist. The average weight of the males of these hillpitan cattle seldom exceeds 200 pounds, the average being not greater than 150 pounds. The females usually average about a hundred pounds larger and are very "stocky" built, seldom being taller than a Merino sheep. These dwarf cattle are nearly all of the same color—reddish mouse color, marked with white. They have very large heads as compared with their bodies, and their horns are of exceptional length.

The Sky and the Weather.

Whether clear or cloudy, a rosy sunset presages fine weather; a sickly looking, greenish hue, wind and rain; a dark, or Indian, red, rain; a red sky in the morning, bad weather or much wind, perhaps rain; a gray sky in the morning, fine weather; a high dawn, wind; a low dawn, fair weather. Remarkable clearness of atmosphere near the horizon, distant objects, such as hills, unusually visible or raised by refraction and what is called a good "hearing day," may be mentioned among signs of wet, if not wind.

When Butte Was A Barren Desert.

For five weeks last winter the city of Butte, Mont., was a barren desert. It was the driest place on earth. The water supply was all right, but owing to a strike all the newspapers were suspended.

Butte's experience proved that in this day and age the local newspaper is a public necessity. Nobody knew what was happening. False rumors spread like bad butter. Fake stories about citizens circulated by word of mouth until several duels almost resulted. There were no newspapers to tell the truth about things.

Business suffered worst of all. Merchants tried handbills, which didn't fill the bill. They worked the billboard overtime, but only bored the public. The people cried for newspapers as babies cry for—(See ad.)

For once in the history of the world it was demonstrated beyond peradventure that a town without a live newspaper is a dead one. Stores could not do business without properly advertising their wares, and they could not advertise properly without newspaper space.

Butte merchants are now advertising to make up for lost time. Business men who didn't think much of advertising before have learned its value and are using newspaper space.

The experience of Butte carries a lesson for every other town—this one, for instance:

ADVERTISING PAYS ITS OWN WAY.

The Left Hand.

It is strange that so strong a prejudice against the left hand has lived and increased for centuries when there is no natural or physiological reason for it. Examination of the skeleton of a person who was strong, healthy and well formed in life shows that the bones of the left hand and arm are just as large and capable as those of the right. The study of physiology shows, too, that the muscles and ligaments and cartilages that fastened that person's arms to his body and gave them the power of motion were made to do their work just as well on one side of the body as on the other. If the left side was the weaker, it was because of the failure to exercise it as freely as the other.—Scrap Book.

Lamb's Unkind Thrust.

Charles Lamb, than whom no gentler or kinder hearted wit ever breathed, at times found it impossible to restrain himself from the personal, as, for instance, when he covered a friend with shame at a whist party by blurted out:

"Gad, James, if-if dirt were t-trumps, what a hand you would have!"

The Truth About Gossip.

"Br'er Jenkins, he say dat we ought not to gossip ar' dat we ought not to remark on each odder's frailties; but, my lan', dat's what keeps de world straight. Hit's de fear of our neighbors' tongue dat keeps most of us in de stockade. Hit's gossip dat's de real perlice of de world."—Dorothy Dix in New York American.

What We Really Need.

Each of us in our own small organ-ism possesses a germ or whatever you like to call it which, properly developed, should eventually lead us to the realization of all our ambitions. All that is wanted are energy and concentration.—London Ladies' Field.

Plenty of Practice.

"I met your friend Dudley today." "Yes?" "I haven't seen him for a long time. I suppose he stutters as badly as ever?" "Oh, no! He's quite an adept at it now."—Philadelphia Press.

The idle always have half a mind to do something.

Lord Erskine.

From midshipman to lord chancellor is a very far cry. Lord Erskine, however, whom Lord Campbell once described as the greatest advocate of ancient or modern times, did not find much difficulty in reaching the Wool-sack, although he started life as a "middy" and did not settle down to study law until he was twenty-five years of age. His defense of Captain Baillie, prosecuted for his exposures of gross abuses at the admiralty, raised him from an obscure lawyer to a foremost position at the bar, and thirty briefs were offered him before he left the court. From that time until he became chancellor in 1806 his career was marked by a long list of successes.—London Standard.

To Make Your Hair Curl.

A curious recipe for making the hair curl "naturally" is given in an ancient household notebook and is as follows: "In the early spring, when the sap of the wild grapevine begins to flow, take a bottle to the woods and tie it under an incision made in the vine, through which the sap may drip, and leave it there till it is filled. The same subtle chemistry which curls the tendrils of the vine will act upon the hair and twist it into softer rings than the ubiquitous hot iron or any of the patent curlers of the day. The sap should be allowed to ferment all it will before it is corked. When ready for use it should be rubbed into the hair with a soft sponge."

Saved by Ghouls.

Misson in his "Medical Anecdotes" tells of a woman, the wife of a consul, who was buried alive in Cologne in 1571. She was dressed for the tomb in gay attire, with jewels, as on her wedding day. Robbers came at night and were taking the rings from her damp and swollen fingers when she suddenly sat bolt upright, stared at them and smiled. They fled in terror, and the lady rose and walked home, where she was received at first with fear, afterward with great joy. She lived many years afterward in perfect health.

RECIPES RECOMMENDED BY GOOD COOKS.

Fruit Punch a Pleasant Mixture for Warm Afternoons—Utilizing Left-Over Meat—To Revive Crispness of Cereals.

Fruit Punch.—One-half can grated pineapple, one-half dozen oranges, one-half dozen lemons; strain the juice of the oranges and lemons, add the pineapple; sweeten to taste. Ice to chill, then pour into a punch bowl and serve in glasses.

Left-Over Dish.—Use a cupful of cold meat (boiled is better than roasted or fried) and some broth or gravy. Cut the meat in dices; place in the broth on the stove to heat. Take flour, shortening, and baking powder, as for rich biscuit; mix and roll out, cutting into rounds rather thinner than for biscuit. Cut out the center of every other round (use a napkin ring for this), moisten the top of a whole one with a little water, and place one of the rings upon it, fill with the hot meat and set in a hot oven to bake. Reserve a portion of the gravy to pour over them when done. If you have no gravy to begin with, put the meat on to boil a few minutes in water, well seasoned with pepper and salt, with a small spoonful of butter; then thicken slightly before dipping into the little patties. If carefully and daintily baked these are attractive and appetizing.

Make Cereals Crisp.—When cereals lose their crispness put them on the radiator in the original paper package for an hour or so. The heat is sufficient to make them as crisp as when fresh, and saves gas necessary for heating the oven. The flavor is not injured if the packages are left on the radiator over night, but improved by the gentle heat. Crackers that have lost their freshness also can be made crisp and delicious in this simple way.

Bread in Hash.—A few pieces of bread chopped with the meat and potatoes in making hash lends a pleasing variety.

Boston Madelines.—One and one-half tumblers of sugar, one and one-half tumblers of flour, one-half tumbler cornstarch, one-half tumbler butter, three-fourths tumbler milk, yolks of eight or nine eggs, two teaspoons baking powder. Flavor with orange extract. Bake in deep patty tins. Make frosting from yolks of two eggs with sugar, beaten, into which add grated orange peel.

Put Veal in Dripping Pan.—Instead of frying your breaded veal chops in the ordinary way, put them in a dripping pan, with a little lard or butter, and bake in the oven.

Brown Sauce.

Two ounces of butter, two pounds of beef, two onions, a quarter of a pound of lean bacon, two cloves, one bay leaf, pepper, salt and two quarts of water.

Put two ounces of butter in the bottom of a stewpan, with the bacon cut into small bits and the beef into very thin slices, with two small onions, a little pepper, salt, cloves, bay leaf and a little water, just enough to keep it from burning; stir over the fire for ten or 12 minutes, then let it simmer until it looks brown and rich; fill up the stewpan with two quarts of water and when boiling draw it to the side of the range, skim off all the fat and allow to simmer slowly for an hour and a half.

To Protect Linings.

When you get that new coat with the fancy lining which is sure to wear shabby at the bottom before the rest of the lining is at all worn, get ribbon to match the outside material in color and make a facing of it. It is easily replaced when it becomes shabby; or one can have the facing match the lining.

Strawberry Nectar.

To one quart of mashed strawberries, add the juice of one lemon, two tablespoons of orange juice, and three pints of water. Let it stand three hours; then strain upon three-quarters of a pound of powdered sugar and stir until dissolved. Serve ice cold.

No Right to Wear Them.

fused to allow the girls to wear caps and gowns, which he says are wholly wrong in schools below the college rank.

Canning Cherries Without Cooking

Wash, stem, and pit the cherries. Place in a stone or porcelain lined jar; cover the fruit with good vinegar, and let stand over night. Then take up handfuls, gently squeezing out the vinegar, and mix well with granulated sugar, pint for pint of cherries and sugar. Fill into self-sealing jars. Next day turn each jar to stand bottom side up. Reverse the position of the jars daily twice more finally putting them away in a cool place.

Forgetting Something.

When the train that conveyed President Roosevelt through Virginia on his last trip south stopped at Charlottesville, a negro approached the president's car and passed aboard a big basketful of fine fruit, to which was attached the card of a prominent grower.

In course of time the orchardist received a letter of acknowledgment from the White House expressing the president's appreciation of the gift, and complimenting the donor upon his fruit. The recipient of the letter was, of course, greatly pleased, and, feeling sure that his head gardener would be much interested in the letter, he read it to him. The dandy who served in the capacity mentioned listened gravely, but his only comment was:

"He doan' say nothin' 'bout sendin' back de basket, do he?"—Success Magazine.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Quaker Wit.

A Quaker riding in a carriage with a fashionable woman decked with a profusion of jewelry, as a substitute, perhaps, for her scantiness of clothes, heard her complaining of the cold. Shivering in her lace bonnet and shawl, she exclaimed, "What shall I do to get warm?"

"I really don't know," replied the Quaker solemnly, "unless thou put on another breastpin."—Sunday Magazine.

A gentleman purchased at a post office a large quantity of stamped envelopes, newspaper wrappers and other postal requisites.

Finding them somewhat difficult to carry, he asked one of the counter clerks if he could supply him with a small quantity of string.

"We are not permitted by the department to supply string," was the reply.

"Then give me a bit of red tape," was the sarcastic retort.

The string was supplied.

The farmer was attracted by the Celt's frank, cheery manner, and, while he was not in need of help, he asked, after a pause:

RHEUMATISM CAN NOT BE RUBBED AWAY

It is perfectly natural to rub the spot that hurts, and when the muscles, nerves, joints and bones are throbbing and twitching with the pains of Rheumatism the sufferer is apt to turn to the liniment bottle, or some other external application, in an effort to get relief from the disease, by producing counter-irritation on the flesh. Such treatment will quiet the pain temporarily, but can have no direct curative effect on the real disease because it does not reach the blood, where the cause is located. Rheumatism is more than skin deep—it is rooted and grounded in the blood and can only be reached by constitutional treatment—IT CANNOT BE RUBBED AWAY. Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought about by the accumulation in the system of refuse matter which the natural avenues of bodily waste, the Bowels and Kidneys, have failed to carry off. This refuse matter, coming in contact with the different acids of the body, forms uric acid which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and Rheumatism gets possession of the system. The aches and pains are only symptoms, and though they may be scattered or relieved for a time by some treatment, they will reappear at the first exposure to cold or dampness, or after an attack of indigestion or other irregularity. Rheumatism can never be permanently cured while the circulation remains saturated with irritating, pain-producing uric acid poison. The disease will shift from muscle to muscle or joint to joint, settling on the nerves, causing inflammation and swelling and such terrible pains that the nervous system is often shattered, the health undermined, and perhaps the patient becomes deformed and crippled for life. S. S. S. thoroughly cleanses the blood and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and expelling all foreign matter from the system. It warms and invigorates the blood so that instead of a weak, sour stream, constantly depositing acrid and corrosive matter in the muscles, nerves, joints and bones, the body is fed and nourished by rich, health-sustaining blood which completely and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. is composed of both purifying and tonic properties—just what is needed in every case of Rheumatism. It contains no potash, alkali or other mineral ingredient, but is made entirely of purifying, healing extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks. If you are suffering from Rheumatism do not waste valuable time trying to rub a blood disease away, but begin the use of S. S. S. and write us about your case and our physicians will give you any information or advice desired free of charge and will send our special treatise on Rheumatism.

COL. WREFORD KILLED.

PROMINENT BROWNSVILLE MAN SHOT.

THORNHAM ADMITTED KILAING

Stepson of Capt. Kelly Surrendered to First Policeman He Met—Kellys Had Been Criticised.

Brownsville, Tex.: Riddled with buckshot Col. S. P. Wreford of this city staggered into the yard of his son-in-law, M. Belsiero, at 6:40 o'clock Friday morning, and sank down upon the stoop, where he died a few minutes later. He had received the full charge of a double-barrel shotgun loaded with buckshot and fired by Jesse Thornham, stepson of Capt. William Kelly, who is president of the First National Bank of this city. Col. Wreford had just crossed the river from Matamoros and was passing up Levee street on his way to his office on Elizabeth street, according to statements made by eye witnesses. When he was opposite the door of Capt. Kelly's office, Thornham stepped to the door and fired point blank at close range. It is thought this was the shot that shattered the left arm, a second shot in quick succession entered the left side of the abdomen, tearing a ghastly hole, some of the shot passing entirely through the body, while others lodged just beneath the cuticle on the right side, to be later extracted by the surgeon at the suggestion of the coroner. The wounded man did not fall, but walked about thirty steps to the house of his son-in-law, as stated above.

Two eye witnesses of the shooting, Dr. L. F. Layton, local county and city physician, and Dr. B. G. Blackwell of San Bernardino, Cal., were driving down the street and hastened after the wounded man and gave him every possible attention. Col. Wreford said in Spanish to Dr. Layton, "Doctor, Jesse Thornham shot me," and to Dr. Blackwell, "I want my deposition taken, I am dying." Dr. Blackwell replied, "I will take it. What do you wish to say?" The answer was, "Jesse Thornham shot me. Jesse Thornham has killed me."

The difficulty leading to this deplorable tragedy is said to have originated over certain testimony reflecting upon the character of the deceased before the senate investigating committee by Capt. Wm. Kelly. Col. Wreford issued a circular letter and distributed it in town Thursday in which he characterized the statements made by Mr. Kelly as unworthy of credit.

AIKEN IS PARDONED.

Crime Charged Against Him Was a Result of the Wild Days.

Cameron, Tex.: The surrender of John Aiken, a convict from Milam county and fugitive from justice for twenty-four years, who was pardoned Thursday, brings vividly to mind to some of the citizens of Cameron and Milam county one of the celebrated criminal cases of the early '70s.

Now, after twenty-four years, he returns and surrenders to the Governor of Texas and prays for a pardon. He has prominent friends, and he tells the Governor he is prepared to show that in all the twenty-four years he has been a good citizen, true to his family, his duty and the law, and the universal expression here is that the Governor did right to pardon him and restore him to citizenship.

Aiken was only 18 years old at the time of the unfortunate affair; the evidence was more or less circumstantial. Aiken was drinking and did not know the passenger killed, so there can be no pretense of malice. He shows the spirit of true manhood in his escape and desire for freedom, and now his desire to remove the blot from his name and give it to his children untarnished.

Two Men Fell 80 Feet.

He suffered a fracture of the right upper arm and was badly bruised about the body. At St. Paul's Sanitarium it was stated that unless there are internal injuries he will recover.

FIGHT BLACK HAND

NEW ORLEANS ITALIANS ORGANIZE TO COMBAT IT.

COMMITTEE HAS BEEN APPOINTED

Will Work with Police to Prevent Repetition of Former Italian Disorders.

New Orleans, La.—Official cognizance that a dangerous black hand organization exists in New Orleans was taken by the Progressive Union, the most influential commercial body in the city, comprising a membership of nearly 2,000 business men. President Godchaux of the union issued a call to members to attend a mass meeting which had been called by the wealthy New Orleans Italians in protest against the black hand. This call was precipitated by the supposed kidnaping of 8-year-old Walter Lamana last Saturday night and the subsequent demand for $5,000 ransom from his father, a well-to-do Italian undertaker. Mr. Lamana went to Kenner, La., ostensibly to pay the ransom money and obtain his boy. He returned alone.

President Godchaux said that no home in New Orleans would be safe if outrages recently perpetrated here, presumably by the black hand, were not stopped. He appointed a committee to work with the police and Italians.

Several years ago New Orleans was the scene of such serious Italian disorders that it is proposed to run no risk of their recurrence. Recently several minor acts of violence have led to a suspicion that a black hand or some similar society is reviving activity.

TROOPS TAKE TO THE SHIPS

American Leader of Revolution Is Among Those Who Are Captured.

San Salvador.—A force of Nicaraguans landed at Acajutla, and at once made their way to the town of Sonsonata, where they plundered the custom house and stole $20,000 from the local agency of the Bank of Salvador. Salvadorean troops then appeared and defeated the invaders, who fled precipitately back to Acajutla, where they re-embarked upon some vessels flying the Nicaraguan flag, and made their way out of the harbor.

The battle was fought near the town of Sonsonata, which is well garrisoned, and is about twelve miles from Acajutla, on the Salvadorean railroad, which connects the ports of Acajutla with the capital of the republic. As soon as the invading force entered the harbor they easily took possession of the town, which was poorly defended. They then seized a train and swiftly moved on to Sonsonata.

Salvador Mobilizes Army. Meanwhile President Figueroa had heard of the capture of the town and ordered an immediate mobilization of the Salvadorean army. A number of troops were rushed by the train from the capital to Sonsonata. During the night the invaders surrounded the town, attacking this morning with the result above stated.

An intimate friend of President Figueroa declares that while this latest movement has been checked it has not been crushed, for every one in the country realizes it is but the forerunner of a well-thought-out plan, the ultimate aim of which is the seating in the presidential chair of a man of President Zelaya's choice. Within a few days, it is believed, President Figueroa will have to divide his forces in three bodies.

Americans Fight for Zelaya.

TWO RIVAL FLOOR COVERINGS.

Linoleum and Oilcloth Must Not Be Treated Alike.

Linoleum is made with a mixture of powdered cork, linseed oil, resin and a pigment pressed on burlap between heated rollers. The patterns are painted on it and it is then varnished.

Oilcloth is made by applying several layers of coarse paint to burlap or coarse canvas finishing with finer paint, then painting on the pattern and finally varnishing. It can easily be seen that these cloths, finished as they are with varnish and paint, should not be washed with strong soaps or alkalis, and that a careful oiling now and then will surely be beneficial.

Oilcloths may be kept bright for years if properly varnished each season.

The oilcloths should never be scrubbed with a brush, but after being first swept should be cleansed with a large soft cloth and cold or lukewarm water, in which has been dissolved a little borax, dip a flannel cloth in milk and with this wipe the oilcloth. Linoleum may be brightened with a little glue water.

Melt a little ordinary glue in water apply it with a flannel cloth. The linoleum should be clean and dry before rubbing it with the glue water.

GLASS NEEDS TENDER CARE.

Careful Washing and Drying is Absolutely Indispensable.

There is nothing that repays one more for careful washing and drying than glass. First, one must have a basin of warm water, softened with dissolved soap which makes a very good lather. The water must not be too hot, or it will break the glass. Have a basin of clear water to rinse the glass in after washing it, and if a very fine polish be desired on it have a third basin of cold water with a little ammonia in it.

Wash each article separately, rinse it well and dry with a soft glass cloth which should be made of linen, or tiny fluffy particles will stick to the glass and spoil its bright appearance.

When it is washed and dried polish with a leather kept only for the purpose, or with a silk handkerchief or with some soft tissue paper.

For cut glass, if the pattern be at all deep, when washing it use a soft brush with a little soap rubbed on it so that all the crevices of the pattern are thoroughly cleansed. Rinse in clean water and a little household ammonia.

How to Make Paprika Schnitz.

Slices from leg of veal of medium thickness, cut into pieces, say three by four inches—or any size to suit. Salt and pepper the pieces; roll in flour fry light brown on both sides. Have your fat hot before putting the meat in to fry. In frying veal it is nice to put a little butter with your frying fat. When brown cover with water (hot), add a small onion, a few slices of lemon, a bay leaf, a sprig of parsley, a dessertspoonful of vinegar and several good shakes of paprika. Cover, and let all boil till the meat is tender. If the gravy boils down too much, add a little more water and let it cook until there is just enough gravy. Serve on a hot platter with the gravy strained over the meat. It is a good plan to taste the gravy, while boiling, for salt, etc.

A half hour will do for this.

Mocha Cake.

Six eggs, two cups bar (fruit) sugar one-half cup lukewarm water, two cups flour, one heaping teaspoon baking powder. Cream yolks and sugar together, add water, then flour and baking powder, then the whites beat en thoroughly. Bake in moderate oven.

Icing for above cake.—One-half cup butter, creamed. Add all the icing-sugar it will take in one tablespoon cream, one teaspoon vanilla, one and one-half pounds almonds, blanched dried and browned in oven, then roll nuts. Cut cake in small squares spread with icing and roll in nuts.

Mock Bisque Soup.

One-half can of tomatoes, warm on quart of milk, then add the tomatoes one-half cup butter, one tablespoon cornstarch (dissolve cornstarch into a little of the cold milk before adding it to the hot milk), one teaspoon salt one-half teaspoon pepper. Serve with croutons. Croutons are made by cutting your bread into little cubes about one-half inch square and fried in butter until brown.

One pint lukewarm water, one-half cake compressed yeast, one table spoon salt, two tablespoons brown sugar, white flour to make a thick sponge. Set at night. In morning add one-half cup molasses, one-half teaspoon soda, one-half cup seeded raisins. Stir in unsifted graham flour until thick enough to drop off spoon in large lumps. Put in pans, and when light bake slowly 30 to 40 minutes. This makes two good sized loaves. Do not put too much in one pan. It is better if loaves are not thick.

J. OGDEN ARMOUR ONE OF AMERICA'S KINGS OF FINANCE

Multimillionaire Works Harder and Has More Hours of Business Than Any of His More Than 20,000 Employees—Has No Time for "Society"—His Home and "The Game" Take Up His Whole Life.

Chicago.—By virtue of his millions, his diversified financial and commercial interests, his methods, and his means to business ends, J. Ogden Armour is one of the accredited great captains of industry of Chicago.

But when you seek to discover of his friends the social side of the man, they are not certain even of its existence.

Ask Mr. Armour himself and he regards the subject as not at all worthy of discussion in business hours.

And J. Ogden Armour has more business hours in the course of the calendar year than has any other millionaire in the western metropolis. He eats his luncheon in his private office in the general offices in La Salle street; sends out for it somewhere and satisfies his hunger with the least possible loss of time. When the day's work is done he starts home in his automobile, just within the speed limits of the ordinances, for a seven o'clock dinner.

Responsible for a day's work as the head of Armour & Co., with its payroll of 20,000 men, looking to his own private interests in half a dozen lines of investment, meeting in one way or another the multitudinous calls that come from a great world to the desk of the millionaire.

Home and "The Game."

Home—and "the game" of business, measured by tens of thousands of miles and tens of millions of money—would you ask more of flesh and blood? "The game" is at once the man's diversion and his toll; home is compass the estate. The chief material in construction of the house will be marble.

His Best Beloved.

Some one may find food for thought on compensations in the fact that Mr. Armour's family consists of only wife and daughter.

All the world has heard of this little daughter, now 11 years old—the little Lolita Armour, weighing three pounds at her birth—nursling of the incubator, with the little life hanging by a thread—finally the active child with the handicap of a dislocated hip, to become the patient of a world-famed surgeon, and, restored to health and strength, stand as one of the marvels of twentieth century surgery.

But this little daughter is the light of the Armour household. She is legion in the affections of the father. The brusqueness of business speech softens in her presence. The man in the business office becomes the father in the home. And the transformation is complete.

Of Few Words in Business.

There are men high in the employ of Armour & Co. who never have seen this man of the home environment. Thousands would not recognize him in the position. To thousands of these he is a man to stand in awe of—to fear, even.

Ogden Armour in business is the man of the fewest words. In utterance he is of the steel trap speech. His "yes" or "no" is not to be anticipated. They spring out of his set fixed inscrutability like the crack of a

One of these men for years had been a traveling auditor of the businesses of the Armour branch houses, scattered over one of the great sections of the west. In this organization of the Armour business each branch house has its own manager. Each of ten or 12 houses comes under the supervision of a superintendent, and about the same number is in the territory of a traveling auditor.

The poultry business of Armour & Co. is not one of the money making ventures of the company. Armour, in his touring of the country in which his plants are located, always has an eye to the records of this poultry business. Occasionally the manager of a particular plant overstocks in Most men will admit that it isn't a pleasant experience to go to one's office expecting to find an employe there and who for any reason has not yet shown up. In the height of the baseball season it requires an unusually good American to accept any kind of excuse for the absence.

But when a man who never had any time for society himself finds himself in such a position of cooling his heels because of an employe who has had entirely too much time for that particular thing—

Well, it is exasperating, to say the least.

Downfall of Cashier.

The cashier came at last, wearing poultry. He may buy 10,000 pounds of fowls when the market proves to justify only 5,000 pounds. There is a consequent loss of two to five cents a pound on the stock.

Manager "Called Down."

The house may be 500 or 1,000 miles out of Chicago. The manager, counting upon the distance from the home office and the possibility of the head of a great concern scarcely knowing of the poultry department of that particular branch, receives the personal call of the corporation's head in sublime optimism.

Brusque but pleasant interchange of conventional greetings lead up to the business talk. The weather may be touched upon. The health of the manager may be inquired after. No words are wasted, however. Suddenly, like the explosion of a shotgun, the head of Armour & Co. touches upon business.

"That overstocking in poultry just before Thanksgiving, Mr. Jones. It wasn't a good business move. Loss of five cents a pound on 5,000 pounds of 'soft' stock. It mustn't occur again."

The manager stammers a little. He has an excuse, perhaps, and the excuse is listened to respectfully. Talk may drift away from the subject a little. Then, as suddenly and unexpectedly, the head of Armour & Co. comes back to the topic from a new angle. It is an explosive recurrence, but in the inevitable low, even tones of the dictator. It is disconcerting to the degree that it is unexpected—and a disconcerted employe is regarded as one of the inspirations of Ogden Armour. Before he is done with the department head he may have come back three or four times to the unpleasant subject. But when he has gone the manager has the lesson of his mistaken judgment firmly impressed upon his mind. He will not offend again.

Close Supervision Necessary.

That such a lesson may be worth while is suggested in the fact that there are about 350 of these branch houses throughout the country. Three hundred and fifty manager are necessary for their conduct, and 35 superintendents and as many traveling auditors overlook the business of these houses between the Armour head and the myriad details of buying and selling.

The possibility of $200 loss in each of 350 branches is an item, even in a business which nets $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 in a year.

There is a story extant in which just one man did resent the Armour finding.

He was the cashier of the Boston branch of the business, and he drew one of the big salaries on the Armour rolls. One day, unexpectedly as usual, Armour entered the Boston office a quarter of an hour ahead of the cashier.

the patent leathers, the gloves, the silk hat, tie, and a few other of the evidences of a night in the company of dressy friends. He bowed to the head of the Armour business, who had been filling in the time looking through an office ledger.

It was a nice morning, according to the Armour weather report, apropos of the cashier's silence.

The cashier admitted that in his chief's meteorological observation the chief had beaten the weather bureau by ten degrees.

Mr. Armour had been waiting for some time, he said.

The cashier hadn't a doubt of it. The ease, and composure, and painstaking care with which the cashier laid aside overcoat, hat, and gloves were a little irritating at best. Just when the cashier was removing his gloves, careful of the wrinkles, the head of Armour's brought a hand down upon the open ledger.

"Mr. Jones, that's a ——— bad example of bookkeeping. If I know anything about what a set of books should be!"

"Mr. Armour," and the cashier shook the desk with the force of his clinched fist, "that's a ——— creditable ledger, and I know what I'm talking about!"

But knowing or not knowing the Boston branch had a new cashier within a week or two. Which was no surprise to the cashier, either.

Enemies are Many.

J. Ogden Armour is 44 years old. He has made enemies—bitter ones—in his time; men who have fought him at "the game," and nursed defeat in vengeance. They have fought him fairly and unfairly.

They have called him the head and shoulders of the "beef trust;" he is credited—or discredited—as the "leather trust;" he owns 50,000 shares in one great railroad in the central west, huge blocks of stock in other lines reaching to the Atlantic and to the Pacific; owner of lines of huge elevators that have strangled competition; owner of street railway stocks; arbiter in the destinies of almost countless aggregations of capital; defendant of the privately owned refrigerator lines, and pleading innocence in the matter of huge rebates that have been in violation of federal law. Only a few years ago he was a sick man, prostrated by the publicity which came of his aggressiveness in "the game."

But he is a millionaire many times. He has power, which is compensation in "the game." Who would not have it if he could? He gets up at six o'clock in the morning and goes to work at seven. He has few friends that are intimates in the sense that men have friends, tried and true. He has one child, who sees less of him, perhaps, than most children see of their fathers who are day laborers.

Yet this is success. Who disputes it?

Text Somewhat Apropos.

The Rev. J. B. Hammill, the eloquent preacher of the Hanson Place Methodist Episcopal church, Brooklyn, was preaching at Sayville, L. I., from the text "Look well to your foundations." After repeating the text he leaned heavily on the pulpit desk, which gave way and plunged over the altar rail, nearly hitting the laymen in the front seat and scattering the Bible and the preacher's notes among the holders of the pews. The aged preacher barely escaped a tumble over the altar with the heavy desk.

PURIFIED LIFE INSURANCE.

Benefits from New Law, Which Remains Substantially Unchanged.

Through the influence of Gov. Hughes, the New York Legislature decided to make no radical changes in the new insurance law. It was pointed out by Gov. Hughes that the New York law has already accomplished widespread reforms, with proportionate benefits to policyholders, and that it should be given a thorough trial before any amendments were seriously considered. It is estimated that the cost of the mismanagement of the past did not average more than 20 cents to each policyholder, while the benefits to present and future policyholders will amount to many times more and be cumulative besides. The speed craze of the big companies and the excessive cost of securing new business was the most extravagant evil of the old managements. Under the new regime the cost of new business has already been greatly reduced, along with other economies.

The showing made by the Equitable Life Assurance Society in its report for 1906 was a strong argument against meddling with the new law. In the Equitable alone there was a saving of over $2,000,000 in expenses, besides an increase in the income from the Society's assets amounting to as much more. The ratios of the Equitable's total expenses to its total income was 19.42% in 1904, 17.38% in 1905, and only 14.48% in 1906. The dividends paid to Equitable policyholders in 1906 amounted to $7,289,734, which was an increase of more than 9% over 1905.

While the Equitable made a better showing than any other big company, all reported radical economies and under such conditions the Legislature wisely decided to leave the law substantially as it stands.

SYMPATHY FOR THE FISH.

Upton Sinclair's Amazing Parable on Charity of the Rich.

Upton Sinclair, in an address before a body of Chicago Socialists, said of charity:

"The average charity, the charity of the rich, seems rather futile to me. The rich oppress the poor enormously, then they help them slightly. It is like the young lady angler.

"Why," said a man to this young lady, 'do you always carry a bottle of liniment with you on your fishing excursions?'

She sighed. "I am sorry," she said plaintively, "for the poor little fish. And so, when I take one off the hook, I always rub its cut mouth with some liniment."

The Lie According to Mr. Dooley.

"A lie may be as simple as th' thruth. Th' fact iv th' matter is th' th' rale thruth is niver simple. What we call thruth an' pass around fr'm hand to hand is on'y a kind iv a currency that we use fr' convenience. There are a good many counterfeiters an' a lot iv th' counterfeiters mus' be in circulation. I haven't anny question that I take in many iv thim over me intellection bar ivry day, an' pass out not a few. Some iv th' counterfeiters has as much preclous metal in thim as th' rale goods, on'y they don't bear th' government stamp."—From Dissertations by Mr. Dooley.

WENT TO TEA

And It Wound Her Bobbin.

Tea drinking frequently affects people as badly as coffee. A lady in Salisbury, Md., says that she was compelled to abandon the use of coffee a good many years ago, because it threatened to ruin her health and that she went over to tea drinking, but finally, she had dyspepsia so bad that she had lost twenty-five pounds and no food seemed to agree with her.

She further says: "As this time I was induced to take up the famous food drink, Postum, and was so much pleased with the results that I have never been without it since. I commenced to improve at once, regained my twenty-five pounds of flesh and went some beyond my usual weight."

"I know Postum to be good, pure, and healthful, and there never was an article, and never will be, I believe, that does so surely take the place of coffee, as Postum Food Coffee. The beauty of it all is that it is satisfying and wonderfully nourishing. I feel as if I could not sing its praises too loud." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pgs. "There's a Reason."

the atmosphere and the physical embodiment of his recuperative necessities. For him there can be no social world, writes Hollis W. Field, in the Chicago Tribune.

Home? Why, J. Ogden Armour is spending a million dollars on a summer home to the west of Lake Forest, its basement walls measuring 150 by 500 feet! There are 800 acres in the estate, costing $200 to $500 an acre, and for months a construction gang that would affect the pay rolls of a great railroad has been at work digging, ditching and leveling for the landscape gardener.

Lakes will be formed where only swamps existed before. Five lines of railway, one of which Mr. Armour is heavily interested in, will be shut off by a great embankment 25 feet in height and half a mile in length. A driveway ten miles in length will enrife. And, once spoken, they are irrevocable.

In J. Ogden Armour the man associated with him in the business of Armour & Co. finds in this head of the concern the master of details. In the famous hearing of the beef trust before the federal court in Chicago, there is the Armour testimony that in the matter of rebates of $700,000 or so, Armour considered this a detail—a mere something which had been delegated to a Mr. Armstrong of the concern.

Master of Details.

One may find stories among former Armour employes, told not with a view to contrast with this testimony but with due recognition of the man's capacity and mastery of the routine of a great business, which are in conflict.

Willing to Reason.
"Of course," declared the pretty widow, "I am inconsolable."
"Naturally."
"However, as you know, I was never a fanatic on any point."

PROPER WAY TO WASH CHINA.

Delicate Material Should Have the Most Careful Handling.

The proper way to wash delicate china is to have two bowls, one with warm, soapy water, the other filled with cold water to rinse them in. Take the cups and saucers one by one and wash them in the warm, soapy water, rinse well in the cold water, then let them drain on a board or tray.

Dry the china with a soft linen glass cloth to give it a good polish. For cups, saucers, and dainty plates washing soda is rarely needed in the water, and if there should be much gilt in the pattern of the china it should never be used, as soda has a most injurious effect on gilt, causing it to rub off altogether.

Supposing the cups are stained by cold tea or coffee being left in them, after pouring it away rub the inside of the cup with a little salt, and when washed afterward the stain will disappear.

There ought to be a china cupboard in every house in which to keep the china and glass.

It should be fitted with shelves, and there should also be small hooks placed along the edge of each shelf on which to hang cups and cream pitchers.

HINTS FOR THE HOME.

Little Things it Will Be Well to Bear in Mind.

To perfume underlinen put a lump of orris root into the boiler on washing days. The clothes will be deliciously fragrant even after ironing.

To clean a copper kettle, cut a lemon in half, dip it in salt, and rub the kettle with it. The kettle should afterward be carefully rinsed in cold water, and given a final polish with a clean, soft cloth.

If chiffon ties and veils are merely tossed and crushed without being soiled, they can be made fresh if laid under a damp cloth and an iron applied.

If dirty, they may often be washed, but this process must be carried out speedily with a warm, soapy lather.

Squeeze dry, but do not wring. Squeeze and swish through the water, but do not rub.

Gently press and shake in place.

If starch is required, gum water and rice water are the only reliable stiffeners. One is made by adding a few drops of gum to warm water, the other by straining the water off boiled rice.

Strawberry Charlotte Russe.

Line the bottom of a plain square mold with white paper and the sides with split lady fingers. Next soak one ounce of gelatine with half pint of cold water. When soft, place this over the fire until dissolved. In the meantime, press a quart of fresh strawberries through a sieve and add one cup of powdered sugar. When the gelatine is cold, mix it with the berries and sugar, and add one pint of whipped cream sweetened to taste. Pour this mixture into the mold and place on ice. Eat very cold with delicious cakes.

Golden Orange Cake.

Cream one-fourth cup of butter, add one-half cup of sugar; slowly and continue beating, says a writer in Good-housekeeping. Add the yolks of five eggs, beaten until thick and lemon colored, and one teaspoonful of orange extract. Mix and sift seven-eighths cups of pastry flour with one and one-half teaspoons of baking powder, and add alternately with one-fourth cup of milk to the first mixture. Bake in a buttered and floured tin.

How to Wash the Jabot.

For doing up the dainty jabots with their fan plaits baste the plaits in place before washing and dip into strong warm suds. If this is not enough, scour a little with soft brush while lying flat on a marble.

Coffee Bags.

Get one yard of cheesecloth, fold to make it double, then sew in squares to make little bags to put your coffee in. Every morning take a fresh one, and this keeps the coffee pot nice and clean, your coffee always nice and clear, ready to serve at once.

Meeschaum Pipe Material.

Scarcity of raw material is causing serious difficulties in the meeschaum pipe and cigar-holder industry in Germany and Austria. Asia Minor is one of the chief sources of supply.

Frozen Strawberries.

Mash a quart of berries and add a syrup made by boiling a cup of sugar with half a pint of water for five minutes. Put in the juice of a lemon and strain. Freeze solid and pack into a mold; turn out and garnish with whole berries.—Harper's Bazar.

Sew Short to Long Gloves.

To sew short silk gloves to long gloves with fingers worn out, cut off lower part of long gloves, rip machine stitching on short gloves, and sew both together in seam.

SUFFERED TORTURES.

Racked with Pain, Day and Night, for Years.

Wm. H. Walter, engineer, of Chatsworth, Ills., writes: "Kidney disease was lurking in my system for years. I had torturing pain in the side and back and the urine was dark and full of sediment. I was racked with pain day and night, could not sleep or eat well, and finally became crippled and bent over with rheumatism. Doan's Kidney Pills brought quick relief, and in time, cured me. Though I lost 40 pounds, I now weigh 200, more than ever before."

GOOD IDEA FOR MATCHES.

Double Enders Popular Among Smokers in Mexico.

"Mexico may be behind us in some things, but she has us lashed to the wheel when it comes to making matches," said a man just in from the land of the Montezumas as he handed out a wax lucifer with a head on each end.

"I saw nothing but double ended matches while I was away, and I can tell you that they save one's record with the Recording Angel. If you dig down in your pocket and find one match the chances are that you are sure of a light, because if one end goes out the other is left. These old time matches, just revived, that splutter brilliant sparks may be all right when it comes to pleasing the baby, but the fellow who puts on the market a double ended match will find a ready demand."

BLACK, ITCHING SPOTS ON FACE.

Physician Called It Eczema in Worst Form—Patient Despaired of Cure—Cuticura Remedies Cured Her.

"About four years ago I was afflicted with black spots all over my face and a few covering my body, which produced a severe itching irritation, and which caused me a great deal of suffering, to such an extent that I was forced to call in two of the leading physicians of ——. After a thorough examination of the dreaded complaint they announced it to be skin eczema in the worst form. Their treatment did me no good. Finally I became despondent and decided to discontinue their services. My husband purchased a single set of the Cuticura Remedies, which entirely stopped the breaking out. I continued the use of the Cuticura Remedies for six months, and after that every spotch was entirely gone. I have not felt a symptom of the eczema since, which was three years ago. Mrs. Lizzie E. Sledge, 540 Jones Ave., Selma, Ala., Oct. 28, 1905."

Lord Curzon was not slow in discovering what was expected of the head of an up-to-date university. His first act as chancellor of Oxford was to make an appeal for a million or so for the "urgent needs" of the institution.

The Eternal Woman.

A Poke at Her.

Miss Knox—I don't like her. She's forever talking about herself.

Miss Wise (pointedly)—Well, that's better than talking about some one else.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Whew!

"Really—er—I'm afraid you overheard what I—er—said about you," stammered the gossip who had been caught redhanded. "Perhaps I—er—was a bit too severe."

"Oh, no," replied the other woman, "you weren't nearly as severe as you would have been if you knew what I think of you."

Do You Itch?

If so, you know the sensation is not an agreeable one, and hard to cure unless the proper remedy is used.

WORKING WOMEN, WHAT THEY SHOULD KNOW

MRS. SADIE ABBOTT

MRS. PREE MCKITTRICK

Women for the most part spend their lives at home, and it is these women who are willing and ambitious that their homes shall be kept neat and pretty, their children well dressed and tidy, who do their own cooking, sweeping, dusting and often washing, ironing and sewing for the entire family, who call for our sympathy.

Truly the work of such a woman is "never done" and is it any wonder that she breaks down at the end of a few years, the back begins to ache, there is a displacement, inflammation or ulceration of the abdominal organs, a female weakness is brought on, and the struggle of that wife and mother to continue her duties is pitiful.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, is the exact medicine a woman needs whose strength is overtaxed. It keeps the feminine organs in a strong and healthy condition. In preparing for childbirth and recuperating therefrom it is most efficient. It carries a woman safely through the change of life and in making her strong and well assists her to be a good wife and mother.

Mrs. Sadie Abbott, of Jeannette, Pa., writes:

"I suffered severely with pain every month and also a pain in my left side. My doctor prescribed for me but did me no good; a friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I wrote you in regard to my condition. I followed your advice and am a perfectly well woman. The pains have all disappeared and I cannot recommend your medicine too highly."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

Mrs. Pree McKittrick, of La Farge, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "For six years I suffered from female weakness. I was so irregular that I would go from three weeks to six months, so I thought I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. "Now I am once more well and can do my work without a pain. Any one who wishes, can write to me and I will answer all letters gladly."

Women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of female ills. Every suffering woman in the United States is asked to accept the following invitation. It is free, will bring you health and may save your life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of her vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your ease. Her advice is free and always helpful.

A special train, said to have on board Mr. Clay A. Pierce of St. Louis, son of H. C. Pierce of the Waters Pierce Oil company, passed through Crockett at an early hour Sunday morning en route from Hot Springs to Houston. The special returned attached to the rear of the regular passenger train Monday morning, but had no one on board but the negro porter in charge of the car. The porter told some of the passengers on board the train that the car was chartered at Hot Springs by Mr. Pierce and run to Houston as a special train, but that Mr. Pierce had returned to Hot Springs on one of the regular passenger trains, which it is presumed he did to avoid publicity. The supposition is that an important engagement bearing on the forfeiture and fine of his company took the oil magnate to Houston.

is now merely a memory of the past. Ballard's Snow Liniment is the family liniment of the twentieth century. A positive cure for rheumatism, burns, cuts, sprains, neuralgia, etc. Mr. C. H. Will Be In Lovelady

I will be in Lovelady Monday, June 24, for a few days. Those desiring to have their eyes fitted will find me at Dr. Skipper's office.

A. H. ROSENTHAL,
OPTICIAN.

Crockett Socially.

Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 7:30, the friends of Mrs. Allen Newton and Mrs. O. Farris enjoyed a delightful hospitality, at the pleasant home of the former, for the benefit of the Woman's Home Mission Society of the Methodist church.

Despite the intense heat of a June afternoon there were quite a number who called. On the north veranda the punch bowl, surrounded by clusters of blossoms, with a back-ground of trellised rose vines, was placed. Here, Miss Bettie Davis graciously served the delicious beverage. At the entrance to the hall one was greeted by the charming hostesses, with extreme cordiality. Sweet strains of music were wafted from the rear of this entrance, contributed by Miss Mary Langston at the piano and Messrs Collins and Brightman on the violin and cello, respectively. These musicians have frequently contributed their services on previous occasions, but this occasion transcended all their former efforts.

Cut flowers adorned the parlor with tapers shedding a soft light over a compaigne of merry guests. Ferns were placed on the west verandah; a pleasing effect being obtained.

Free will offerings were generously donated by each individual present, at the dining room door. In this chamber the artistic ability of the hostesses found fullest vent. From the ceiling broad ribbons, pink and green, reached to the four corners of the table. The board being massed with boutonnières of fresh flowers, which were pinned on each guest after being served to a delicious ice and cake.

During the afternoon a musical program was rendered in a manner characterizing the superior musical ability of our home talent. Solos by Mrs. A. H. Wootters, Mrs. John LeGory, Miss Ethel Wootters and Mrs. Decuir, were very much enjoyed. Mrs. Newton and Mrs. Farris made most gracious hostesses. They were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Downes, Miss Viola Valentine, Mrs. Kent and others. D.

Louis J. Kruger, ex-champion long distance foot racer of Germany and Holland, writes, Oct. 27, 1901: "During my training of eight weeks foot races at Salt Lake City, in April last, I used Ballard's Snow Liniment to my greatest satisfaction. Therefore, I highly recommend Ballard's Snow Liniment to all who are troubled with sprains, bruises or rheumatism." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Murchison & Beasley.

Crockett stands a good chance of getting the state road if she will only keep her eyes open and act at the proper time. The matter will likely be presented to our people at any time now, and they should be ready to act and to act promptly, liberally and wisely.

The hot weather makes it absolutely necessary that all premises, whether in the residence or business districts, should be kept as clean as a new pin. It may mean the saving of a doctor's bill and perhaps the life of some loved one. If you have not cleaned up, now is the time to do so.

The trial of the Waters Pierce Company at Austin showed that Attorney General Davidson and his assistants had done their work well. The Attorney General is not wordy or boastful, but he makes things move. He had to encounter some of the strongest opposition in this case, but he won out.—Rusk County News.

The street and sidewalk improvements now going on in Crockett is the pride of every citizen of the town. The time when it took a step-ladder and a lantern for one to get about Crockett at night on foot is being relegated to the things of the past. But let us not forget to clean up our premises while these things are going on.

If Crockett can get the state road under the present appropriation the next legislature will likely make an appropriation to connect the two penitentiaries by extending the road to Huntsville. In that event the rich farming lands of the Weldon section would be brought many miles nearer to Crockett as a market and much trade would be brought here that now goes to Trinity and Madisonville. Crockett should ever be on the alert in regard to this new road.

As to the St. Louis special telling about Hicks' new spot on the sun, neither Hicks nor any one else predicted the Galveston tidal wave. Of all the alleged prophets who claimed after the 1900 storm that they predicted the storm not one could make good his claim. One fellow did show up an old almanac in which a storm was predicted, but there was a redeeming adverb when it came to time qualification, and as to range, why anywhere on the Atlantic coast or in the Gulf would do. That's no prediction. It is just about as sensible to worry over the coming of Judgment Day as over Hick's latest sun spot. Man doesn't control in either case. Then go along, do your duty and don't worry about sun spots. When it comes to the 1900 storm, the most accurate prognostication was made by the Government Weather Bureau.—Galveston News.

The state road from Rusk to Crockett would open up a fine trade territory contiguous to Crockett. Trade that now goes to Alto would be brought to Crockett, and if not to Crockett, then to Augusta, thus keeping Houston county trade in Houston county. It would divert Augusta, Percilla and Weches trade to Crockett that now goes elsewhere. It would give our merchants the benefits of a railroad mail and express line to the northeastern part of the county, which they do not now enjoy. Another express company would probably be operated over the new road with an up-town office at Crockett, which would force the Pacific express company to establish an up-town office. The road itself would add much taxable wealth to the county. All lands along the road would enhance in value, for the nearer a railroad station the more valuable a farm is. This applies as well to timber lands. The tax the new road would pay to the county would be considerable. These are only some of the benefits to be derived from the extension to Crockett of the state road. Every man living in Crockett and from Crockett to the end of the road should aid in securing the extension.

Any one keeping posted as to the acts and conduct of the Texas railroad commission can see that the majority of the commission, composed of Mayfield and Colquitt, are doing whatever they can to discredit and to ultimately oust Judge L. J. Storey as a railroad commissioner. Judge Storey is the oldest member of the commission and is entitled to more consideration at the hands of its members than he is getting. Judge Storey was formerly the chairman of the commission by reason of his being its senior member. The two younger members wanted to depose him and so Colquitt nominated Mayfield for the chairmanship. Mayfield could not second his own nomination, but Judge Storey, with that true gentlemanly instinct characteristic of the men of his school, promptly seconded Colquitt's nomination of Mayfield. It was then put to a vote, Mayfield voting for Storey, and Colquitt and Storey voting, as a matter of course, for Mayfield. Thus Judge Storey was deposed as chairman of the commission. Those who have kept up with the trend of events since can see that the efforts of the majority of the commission are to ultimately defeat and oust Judge Storey. The majority of the commission is only making itself obnoxious in the eyes of the reading public, which is keeping itself informed as to true conditions.

A Typical Senator of the South.

The Grand Old Man of Alabama, one of the grandest old men of his day and generation, has passed to his reward in another world. He leaves no millions to his heirs, but he leaves to his State, to the Nation and to the world a rich heritage that none but the vulgar and the base would attempt to measure in dollars and cents. Those who honored, trusted and loved him can look upon their dead as a faithful servant, who, during his long life never even attempted to serve two masters; as a man who always took into his full confidence the people who honored and trusted him, a man known of all men for his singleness of face and singleness of heart.

He was a typical Southern Senator of the old school—able, courageous, frank, honest, patriotic and true. His honesty and fidelity are today a good rallying cry for the Democracy of the Nation. His high character is a timely lesson for the school children, and his name is a fitting text for any pulpit in the South. May the time never come when the example and life of such a man shall be looked upon lightly by the Democratic people of the South.

In ability and equipment Senator Morgan was the peer of any other Senator; but the greater fact of his long life is that he has never brought, for even an instant, scandal or reproach upon his office, or upon the State that has trusted him; and has always brought to his people both respect and honor at home and abroad.

Every honest, patriotic American has ample cause to be proud of the heritage left to the Nation by this typical Southern Senator, and the people of the South have special reasons for honoring and revering the name and memory of the man who has maintained fully the best traditions of a proud people who have, from the first, held high character and patriotic devotion to country above the baser temptations and allurements of human life.—Galveston News.

Some Lovelady Items.

CROCKETT COURIER:
News items are rather scarce in our little town the past week. Pretty well all the young people are home on a vacation from school and judging from the way they seem to be enjoying themselves we would think the old saying true—"there is no place like home."

Miss Nannie Brietling, of Crockett, entertained the Lovelady Book Club one evening last week and all report a splendid time and rejoice in the fact that Miss Nannie is a member of the club.

Mr. Bishop, who taught in our school 1904-05, visited Lovelady last Sunday.

Prof. Mangum is in Austin rubbing up a little before assuming the duties of county superintendent.

Willie Hayne, eldest son of Dr. W. B. Collins, is taking a summer course at the Capitol City.

Dr. Clute Rayburn left Saturday night for Lufkin where he has accepted a position for the summer. Don't ask me who is sad.

Mrs. J. P. O'Keefe returned home Sunday from San Antonio accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Ollie Wyatt, who will remain in our little city a while visiting home folks and friends.

We understand the Baptists of Lovelady are contemplating the taking of a trip around the world in the near future. I certainly pity them when they land in Russia if they haven't an interpreter with them.

We learn as we live. Have just found out that the post office building can be used for other purposes than handing out letters, when on last Saturday, without the sweet strains of a wedding march, a colored couple marched into the office where Squire Payne in a few well chosen words pronounced them man and wife. Of course, the office suspended official business for the time being which caused quite a flurry on the outside and from the expressions of their faces they must have thought Judge Payne was passing the death sentence on some one.

Howard Alexander came in Saturday night from Austin where he has been attending the University.

All the young folks who have been attending school from home are now at home except Miss Ella Mainer who, we learn, will be home soon.

Misses Grace Broderic and Ethel Smith returned last week to their homes in Huntsville after spending a week with the family of Mr. C. C. Murray of our city.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Cochran of Livingston, father and mother of our townsmen, W. B. and N. J.

Arrested for Criminal Assault.

Fred Williams and Andrew Watson, two negroes, have been arrested by Sheriff Lacy and placed in the county jail on a charge of criminal assault. The crime is alleged to have been committed on a white woman named Caroline Blake, the wife of a man about 65 years of age. Mrs. Blake is about 20 years of age. She is a very ignorant woman and is said to be partly demented. She lived with her husband on Mac Hale's farm south of town, and the two negroes also lived on this farm. The negroes will have an examining trial next Tuesday.

$3,500,000 Bond Signed by Kirby.

Austin, Tex., June 15.—John H. Kirby, the well known lumber man, today signed a bond for $3,500,000 on behalf of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, which was yesterday placed in the hands of a receiver by Judge Brooks of the state district court, and which had previously been fined something over $1,250,000 in fines and court costs.
