A sign of the times...

A new "sign of the times" was put up Tuesday, commemorating Muleshoe's historic past, the achievements of the present, and its dreams for the future. Five Area employees Joseph Crandell and Joey Hargrove (not pictured) were busy Monday installing the sign for the Muleshoe Heritage Center's entrance off W. American Blvd. The property, which was the former location of Sain Irrigation, was purchased by the Muleshoe Heritage Foundation with funds donated by Ray and Donna West of Midland.

Commissioners' court, city proclaim Aug. 14 as Ray, Donna West Day

By Larry Thornton
Managing Editor

The Bailey County Commissioners' Court joined with the City of Muleshoe Monday, approving proclamations designating Tuesday, Aug. 14, as Ray and Donna West Day.

The Wests, who live in Midland, have been giving to the communities that nurtured them in their early years.

Theron "Ray" West graduated in 1954 from Muleshoe High School before moving away to attend the University of Oklahoma to become an engineer, he returned to Muleshoe in February 2007 to present the SPC Muleshoe Center with a $100,000 check for nursing scholarships.

This action, along with the West's donation of $100,000 used to purchase the property formerly owned by Sain Irrigation, at the entrance to the Muleshoe Heritage Center on American Blvd., was the basis for Monday's proclamations, and various receptions and gatherings at the Heritage Center and the Oneita Wagnon Senior Citizen's Center.

In other business Monday, the commissioners' court:

- Set the proposed tax rate for FY2008 at .6833, which totals the Farm to Market Road fund of .0984, the general fund of .4741, policy that would cap holiday hours personnel were allowed to accumulate at 30.

County Treasurer Shonda Black indicated that the primary problem arose from employees of the Sheriff's Department who aren't able to take holidays off and tend to accumulate the hours.

The employee would apparently receive pay for the hours that exceed the cap.

The court also discussed the issue of "comp" time, which has previously been addressed during the budget process, at which time the judge estimated it would take about $51,000 to get reduce or eliminate the comp time that is currently on the books.

"I would like to see it go hourly, and we pay for the overtime earned," the judge said.

Black agreed, noting that the Texas Association of Counties recommends that counties eliminate the use of comp time.

- Received departmental reports, including a report from the Bailey County EMS which noted collections for the past month were $22,053, and the amount billed for ambulance services was $50,043.

Judge Sherri Harrison said she expected the EMS collections to increase as a contract with a new collection company had been signed recently.

- Approved the minutes from the July 9 regular meeting, and July 23 special meeting, and the Aug. 3 special meeting.

- Approved the June 2007 County Treasurer's report, and received the July 2007 treasurer's report.

- Briefly discussed the effectiveness of the no truck parking signs at the Bailey County Coliseum.

- Approved payment of county bills.

- Approved in-county travel forms.

- Reviewed the county's 911 road maps.

New "no parking" signs are in place at the coliseum.

and the county's debt service — also known as the interest and sinking fund — at .1108.

Public hearings on the proposed tax rate will be held on Aug. 23, at 6 p.m., and Aug. 27, at 10:30 a.m.

- Discussed changes to the county's employee pay

MISD approves 'goods in transit' resolution

By Larry Thornton
Managing Editor

Muleshoe Independent School District followed the lead of the City of Muleshoe and the Muleshoe Area Hospital District during its regular meeting Monday, approving a resolution that continues taxing "Goods in Transit."

Monday's action came after a presentation from Kay Elliott of the Bailey County Appraisal District concerning state legislation that set an automatic exemption in place and would have reduced the school district's tax revenue.

Initially passed as "economic development" legislation, the bill prohibits public entities from taxing commodities and materials intended for various manufacturing processes temporarily stored within the entities' jurisdiction.

However, because the loss of tax revenue from property that had been previously taxed, the state legislation allowed entities with a populations less than 650,000 to block the exemption.

"There are some things that are being stored that could get an exemption if the resolution isn't passed," Superintendent Gene Sheets said.

Elliott said the enabling legislation started out as a "bracket bill" that only affected a few counties, but there were some changes made which affected the entire state.

Vandevender was speaking to the council at the request of Mayor Pro-Tem Earl Behrends, who expressed an interest in the cooperative's efforts at last month's regular meeting.

Vandevender said Five Area was "very excited" proof' our city," Vandevender said.

Although the cooperative's copper telephone lines are still working, he said, the decision was made to update the lines in Muleshoe based at least in part on the potential for future services such as

What's real about reality television?

Sometimes, I wonder if life doesn't reflect television more than television reflects life.

After all, how do you confine a group of strangers in a house, give them a set of rules that emphasizes any relationships they develop are merely part of a game, and call it "reality television?"

A recent news story indicated that the number of plastic surgery procedures were up because of "makeover" reality shows, which raises a question as to how "real" is the reality program when its purpose is to replace reality with plastic?

I'm reminded of a comedian's comments about her own trips to the "facial physician" in which she suggested something to the effect that so much of her skin had been pulled up, cropped off, and sewed up, that when she accidentally sneezed the person next to her was in danger of being covered in belly button lint.

The other evening, I sat down in the living room to watch a little television with my daughter when I realized I had left my glasses across the room, and asked her to hand them to me.

To a large degree as my view of the world has become clearer over the years, my vision for all the area past the end of my fingertips has become fuzzier.

Anyway, as my daughter retrieved my spectacles — that translates as "eyeglasses" to the youngsters who haven't ever encountered somebody wearing black plastic frames taped together at the nosepiece — I realized that she was watching a reality show.

"Never mind," I said, "I'd prefer not seeing this show too clearly."

Can you imagine what the future will hold for us if the current trend of television programming continues?

• Big Brother 12.5 — On tonight's show, one of the house members learns that his campaign for Congress is at a standstill because his apology for actions taken as the temporary team leader irritated voters clear across the nation from the state he hopes to represent in the U.S. House of Representatives.

• Survivor 1,106 — On tonight's show, the contestants learn that it doesn't matter who wins what, angers whom, or gets bitten by how many lethal insects.

The tsunami that formed after this morning's earthquake 1,000 miles away is going to not only make the day's competition tougher than expected, but is headed to their island faster than the camera crews' helicopters can warm up.

And tonight, we have the first episode of The Ugly Duckling, a spinoff of the hit television reality show The Swan.

Originally marketed as The Swan: Bloopers and Blunders, the show will highlight the various "Oops" and "Oh ohs" that occurred when the targeted female participant ended up looking like a cross between Carl Mulden and Jack Klugman on a bad nose hair day.

A Lesson in Humility by Max Lucado

Jesus...made Himself of no reputation...He humbled Himself and became obedient to the point of death, even the death of the cross. (Philippians 2:5, 7-8)

Deflating inflated egos is so important to God that he offers to help.

He helped me. I recently spent a week on a book tour. We saw long lines and crowded stores. One person after another complemented me. For three days I bathed in the river of praise. I began to believe the accolades. All these people can't be wrong. I must be God's gift to readers. My chest puffed so much I could hardly see where to autograph the books. Why, had I been born two thousand years earlier, we might read the gospels of Matthew, Max, Luke, and John. About the time I wondered if the Bible needed another epistle, God shot an arrow of humility in my direction.

We were running late for an evening book signing, late because the afternoon signing had seen such long lines. We expected the same at the next store. Concerned, we phoned ahead. "We are running behind. Tell all the people we'll arrive soon."

"No need to hurry," the store manager assured.

"What about the people?"

"Neither one seems to be in a hurry,"

Neither one?

By the time we reached the store, thankfully, the crowd of two people had tripled to six. We had scheduled two hours for the signing; I needed ten minutes.

Self-conscious about sitting alone at the table, I peppered the last person with questions. We talked about her parents, school, Social Security number, favorite birthday party. Against my pleadings, she had to go. So I sat alone at the table. Big stack of Lucado books, no one in line.

I asked the store manager, "Did you advertise?"

"We did. More than usual." She walked off.

The next time she passed I asked, "Had other signings?"

"Yes, usually we have a great response," and kept going.

I signed all the books at my table. I signed all the Lucado books on the shelves. I signed Tom Clancy and John Grisham books. Finally a customer came to the table. "You write books?" he asked, picking up the new one.

"I do. Want me to sign it?"

"No thanks," he answered and left.

God hit his target. Lest I forget, my daily reading the next morning had this passage: "Do not be wise in your own eyes" (Prov. 3:7).

When you're full of yourself, God can't fill you.

But when you empty yourself, God has a useful vessel.

From Cure for the Common Life (Copyright W Publishing Group, 2006) Max Lucado

TCE offering food safety program

Eating out has never been more popular. Almost half of the money we spend on food is spent away from home.

Each year, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention estimate that approximately one in four Americans will get sick from eating contaminated food at home or at food service establishments.

Texas Cooperative Extension, Bailey, Cochran, and Hockley Counties are offering training to reduce the number of illnesses.

The food manager certification training program, called "Food Safety: It's Our Business" seeks to reduce the risk of foodborne illness.

By taking the course, food service managers can receive the latest information on personal hygiene, how to use thermometers, how to store food safely, how to prepare and serve food properly and how to keep the food preparation areas clean and sanitized.

Participants can fulfill requirements for food manager certification if they pass the certification exam offered at the end of the course.

The training session will be offered for $89 on Sept. 13-14, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Morton Activity Building, 200 B. West Taylor, in Morton.

The cost includes training materials and the State food manager certification examination. Deadline for registration is Sept. 6.

For more information contact Mandi Seaton, Bailey County extension agent – Family and Consumer Sciences, 306 West Second, Muleshoe, TX 79347, or call 806-272-4583.

"It's not a new tax, it's a new exemption," Elliott said. She also pointed out that while the State of Texas makes up the monies Muleshoe ISD doesn't receive as a result of the school district's homestead exemptions, the state won't make the funds the district loses as a result of its failure to approve the resolution.

"My biggest concern is that we don't take away an exemption that was already there," board member Bruce Barrett said.

"We want to continue taxing things that we were previously taxing," the superintendent said prior to receiving the board's approval on the agenda item.

In another tax-related issue, the school board adopted a proposed tax rate of $1.04 for maintenance and operations and 24 cents for debt service, for a total of $1.28 per hundred dollars taxable valuation.

Sheets noted that the amount is a 39 cent decrease from last year's rate.

McNeill also explained that new legislation requires the school district to adopt and publish its debt service tax rate prior to adopting its budget for the upcoming year.

In other business, the school board:

- Received a report concerning the school district's construction and remodeling projects.

Maintenance Supervisor Sam Whalen said asbestos abatement is under way at the Watson Junior High, noting that more asbestos had been located at the junior high than at Dillman.

Specifically referring to the soffit material on the part of the junior high's main building and a couple of the classrooms that are being remodeled.

He added that the abatement effort will be completed before school starts.

Sheets noted during his facility update that the district was considering moving the ISS and AEP students into the portable buildings that had been moved between the cafeteria and the bus barn.

Board member Cindy Purdy asked about scheduling tours of the facilities currently being worked on at some later date.

• Received a report on the district's finances from business manager Trae McNeill.

She noted that she working on a "campus by campus" expenditure spreadsheet that will show how the bond monies are being expended.

McNeill also said that the district's construction management at risk firm, Lee Lewis, will also be providing the board with a sheet detailing ongoing project expenses.

- Postponed action on the CM@R for the second phase of the construction program and Watson Junior High.

• Approved a new non-certified staff salary schedule as well as a $5,000 stipend for the district's maintenance supervisor during the construction years.

"Sam (Whalen) has taken on quite a load," Sheets said, telling the school board that the maintenance supervisor has been instrumental in making sure the district's construction projects are being done right, as well as continuing his other day-to-day responsibilities. "He's invaluable," Sheets said.

The school board also approved changes to the district's substitute pay rate.

• Approved changes to the district's certified personnel pay schedule, that will include a one-time payment of approximately $300 on top of the personnel's contract amount.

• Approved changes to the school district calendar due to changes in TAKS testing dates.

• Approved board member Daniel Guzman as the MISD delegate to the Texas Association of School Board's convention. Board member Nick Bamert, who wasn't in attendance at Monday's meeting, was approved as the alternate delegate.

• Approved a property and casualty insurance renewal with TASB Risk Management at a cost of $56,209.45, after a $2,838.55 rebate.

"I say we take it before they change their minds," said Sheets.

Purdy, who serves on the TASB Risk Management board, abstained from voting.

• Approved insurance for MISD students with Joe Caddell Insurance Services, at a premium of $42,461.

"Since we've had them we haven't had any complaints," McNeill said.

• Approved the purchase of a new "Sport Court" floor for the gymnasium at Dillman Elementary at a cost of $18,520.

Sheets said the school board had talked about doing something with the gym floor for several years, and noted that since Lee

Lewis had saved the school district about $20,000, it made sense to use those funds to cover Dillman's gym floor.

• Took no action on the "Religious Viewpoints Antidiscrimination Act" that had been passed by the Texas legislature.

Sheets explained that the school district needed to study the issue more as there were apparent interpretation problems over the enabling legislation, but added that the school district was required to adopt policy regarding it prior to the start of the school year.

A Chance To Tell the Stories Of People of Faith

In a little over a week, my wife and I are heading "across the pond" to Africa for three weeks with our sons and the other missionaries at Mbale, Uganda.

My oldest brother and his family served as missionaries in Malawi, Africa, for twenty years. We've had up to three sons in Africa since August of 2004. Two, now. Yes, they've made trips back this way, but I'll be teaching about in Uganda comes to well over 150 pages), I can hardly believe there was ever a time when folks were serious enough about learning about their roots to sit still for that much material. (I can believe Third World Christians would be happy to listen to such for hours on end. They'd walk for miles to hear it—even from an obviously cut-rate teacher like me. But I am utterly astounded that American Christians did. I was offering no credit. I hope the Lord gave them extra credit for their patience!) I tried to tell the stories about the people whose lives adorn the pages of Christian history—that's what makes it come alive—but I still can't believe they sat still for it.

It's a shame we don't. My old church history professor at Abilene Christian University was an amazing man, Dr. Lemoine Lewis. He earned his doctorate from Harvard and taught at ACU for decades. My mother was one of his student-graders when she was there, and I was born when she was 42!

Dr. Lewis used to say that all Christians would be blessed to have four books, in this order: 1) The Bible; 2) a concordance; 3) a copy of Eusebius' Ecclesiastical History; and 4) a copy of The Apostolic Fathers.

Alas, it will never happen. But it would be good for us! It would save us a lot of time. So much ground we think is new has been covered centuries ago. Knowing about it would help us not to waste time reinventing wheels and re-fussing old fuses about how to install them. Hmm. Being able to fuss new fuses would be quite a luxury.

Christ's people really do have an amazing heritage, and I'm thankful for that.

we've never been able to head that way. It's time!

I've been asked by my nephew there who directs the Messiah Theological Institute, to spend a few days out in a nearby village teaching a course on church history. Their students, he says, are always clamoring for church history courses. They love to learn about the rich heritage of their faith. Fascinated by church history myself, I'm excited about getting to teach.

Trying to cut the scope of my teaching down to a manageable size, I've decided that we'll focus on the Period of the Persecuted Church, which spans from A.D. 98 (the death of the Apostle John) to A.D. 313 (Emperor Constantine's Edict legalizing Christianity). Some twenty-three years ago, I first put together a course on church history to share on Sunday evenings with the long-suffering folks at our first "solo" church in Odessa, Texas.

"It's not a new tax, it's a new exemption," Elliott said. She also pointed out that while the State of Texas makes up the monies Muleshoe ISD doesn't receive as a result of the school district's homestead exemptions, the state won't make the funds the district loses as a result of its failure to approve the resolution.

"My biggest concern is that we don't take away an exemption that was already there," board member Bruce Barrett said.

"We want to continue taxing things that we were previously taxing," the superintendent said prior to receiving the board's approval on the agenda item.

In another tax-related issue, the school board adopted a proposed tax rate of $1.04 for maintenance and operations and 24 cents for debt service, for a total of $1.28 per hundred dollars taxable valuation.

Sheets noted that the amount is a 39 cent decrease from last year's rate.

McNeill also explained that new legislation requires the school district to adopt and publish its debt service tax rate prior to adopting its budget for the upcoming year.

In other business, the school board:

- Received a report concerning the school district's construction and remodeling projects.

Maintenance Supervisor Sam Whalen said asbestos abatement is under way at the Watson Junior High, noting that more asbestos had been located at the junior high than at Dillman.

Specifically referring to the soffit material on the part of the junior high's main building and a couple of the classrooms that are being remodeled.

He added that the abatement effort will be completed before school starts.

Sheets noted during his facility update that the district was considering moving the ISS and AEP students into the portable buildings that had been moved between the cafeteria and the bus barn.

Board member Cindy Purdy asked about scheduling tours of the facilities currently being worked on at some later date.

• Received a report on the district's finances from business manager Trae McNeill.

She noted that she working on a "campus by campus" expenditure spreadsheet that will show how the bond monies are being expended.

McNeill also said that the district's construction management at risk firm, Lee Lewis, will also be providing the board with a sheet detailing ongoing project expenses.

• Postponed action on the CM@R for the second phase of the construction program and Watson Junior High.

• Approved a new non-certified staff salary schedule as well as a $5,000 stipend for the district's maintenance supervisor during the construction years.

"Sam (Whalen) has taken on quite a load," Sheets said, telling the school board that the maintenance supervisor has been instrumental in making sure the district's construction projects are being done right, as well as continuing his other day-to-day responsibilities. "He's invaluable," Sheets said.

The school board also approved changes to the district's substitute pay rate.

• Approved changes to the district's certified personnel pay schedule, that will include a one-time payment of approximately $300 on top of the personnel's contract amount.

• Approved changes to the school district calendar due to changes in TAKS testing dates.

• Approved board member Daniel Guzman as the MISD delegate to the Texas Association of School Board's convention. Board member Nick Bamert, who wasn't in attendance at Monday's meeting, was approved as the alternate delegate.

• Approved a property and casualty insurance renewal with TASB Risk Management at a cost of $56,209.45, after a $2,838.55 rebate.

"I say we take it before they change their minds," said Sheets.

Purdy, who serves on the TASB Risk Management board, abstained from voting.

• Approved insurance for MISD students with Joe Caddell Insurance Services, at a premium of $42,461.

"Since we've had them we haven't had any complaints," McNeill said.

• Approved the purchase of a new "Sport Court" floor for the gymnasium at Dillman Elementary at a cost of $18,520.

Sheets said the school board had talked about doing something with the gym floor for several years, and noted that since Lee

Lewis had saved the school district about $20,000, it made sense to use those funds to cover Dillman's gym floor.

• Took no action on the "Religious Viewpoints Antidiscrimination Act" that had been passed by the Texas legislature.

Sheets explained that the school district needed to study the issue more as there were apparent interpretation problems over the enabling legislation, but added that the school district was required to adopt policy regarding it prior to the start of the school year.

School Then and Now!

Teachers used to like to get apples!  Why do we have to go to school? Some kids just don't get it! One new student in a kindergarten class thought that he was only going to attend school for one day. He didn't understand why he had to go back to school every day!

Well, you and I know it takes many lessons and a lot of work to learn to read and write. Teachers try to bring out the best of their students' talents and to encourage their love of learning. Lessons are planned to give us the skills we will need to run a household and to help lead our communities. A good education for all of our people can keep our nation strong.

Did you know that many years ago:

- housewives taught young children ABCs and some religion in their kitchens for a small fee? These were called "_____ Schools."
- teachers in schoolhouses were almost always men and were called _____?
- _____ working hard just to survive had to teach their children at home?
- _____ was very expensive and scarce?
- students used a flat, wooden board with a handle called a _____? A paper with a lesson was placed on it.

1. paper tutors
 2. girls walk
 3. hornbook
 4. Dame quill
 5. rebuses
 6. parents
 7. schoolmasters

Can you find and circle at least six words that begin with "ch" as in the word "child?"

Many years ago it was hard to get a good education. People had to work long days just to survive. Rich people could hire tutors for their children at home or send them to craftsmen to learn a skill and be educated. Soon, people realized that the country was changing and that it needed people who could lead and do many kinds of jobs. Laws were passed that required all children to go to school so they would have the chance for a good education.

- rich families hired _____ to teach in their homes?
- some students had to _____ many miles in all kinds of weather to get to school?
- _____ often stayed home to learn skills for running a household: sewing, cooking, the alphabet, etc?
- students were lucky to have charcoal or _____ pens to write with?
- one way to teach reading was by using pictures in stories, called _____?

Then...or Now?

Schooling has changed throughout the years. Reading, writing and arithmetic are still the basis for a good education! But, demands on teachers, ways to teach and subjects taught are different. Computer classes anyone?

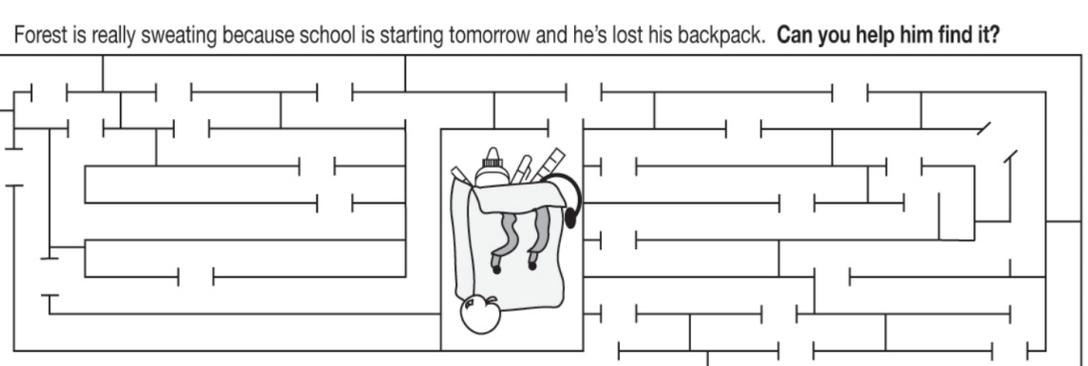

How are things different in our schools today? Draw a ring around 10 things we have or do NOW!

one room school	spankings for bad behavior!	media libraries	computers	pump for water desks and chairs	teacher stays with families	hornbooks and benches	P.T.A.	paper scarce very few books	teachers continue their own studies at college	total silence most of the time	teacher paid with food or wood	students visit from other countries gym classes	wood for heat	educational T.V.	every child goes to school
		no blackboards	special programs for the disabled

Sweating School! Forest is really sweating because school is starting tomorrow and he's lost his backpack. Can you help him find it?

Oh, no! Where did I leave it?

Extension agent talks about aging well in West Texas

Submitted by Mandi Seaton, Bailey CEA-FCS

Health

When we think of the word "age," the most common thought is the number of years lived.

However, as Americans continue to live longer, we also must think about how well we are living — how successfully we are aging.

Physical, mental, and emotional health are all interrelated and must be considered when discussing successful aging.

The first step to successful aging is to remain as physically healthy as possible for as long as possible.

Mary Herridge, a Gerontologist and Hill County extension agent, points out that poor health is not a consequence of aging and being healthy is not just the absence of disease.

"A chronic illness may be considered unhealthy but, if managed properly, the person suffering from that illness may be able to lead a normal, healthy life," she said.

A healthy lifestyle may have a positive impact on a person at any age. Proper diet, exercise and preventive healthcare are three primary means to maintaining your physical health.

Successful aging is also tied very heavily to a person's mental health. Just as with physical health, decline in mental health is not a consequence of growing older.

"Many clinicians and family members attribute an altered mental state to someone's age rather than recognizing symptoms of a disease and seeking treatment for it," said Andy Crocker, gerontology health specialist with Texas Cooperative Extension.

Something as simple as the wrong prescription in a pair of glasses may cause disorientation and then may be confused with dementia.

Crocker recommends keeping the mind active through stimulating activity such as reading or word games or even talking with friends and neighbors about a current news event.

Emotional and spiritual well-being is key to any discussion regarding healthy aging. Social interaction is an important part of emotional health. Whether it's through volunteerism or a group of friends who meet on a regular basis, staying involved in society gives a sense of purpose: a reason to get out of bed in the morning and to stay both mentally and physically healthy.

Americans are still searching for the fabled "Fountain of Youth" and until someone finds it, we must try to do what we can to age well.

Texas Cooperative Extension — Bailey County, Aging Services of Bailey County, and Park View Nursing Care Center are hosting an Elder Care Conference called Aging Well in West Texas, on Saturday, Sept. 15, from 8:30 a.m. — 1 p.m. at the Bailey County Coliseum.

Speakers include Ken Horne, Dr. Victor Gutierrez, and Roy Puento.

Topics to be covered are End of Life Issues, Mental Health and Dementia, and

PUBLIC NOTICE

Bailey County ("County") hereby gives notice under Chapter 2007 of the Texas Government Code ("Chapter 2007"), that the County adopted a Takings Impact Assessment at the July 9, 2007 public meeting of the Bailey County Commissioners Court regarding the following proposed governmental action: the proposed final adoption of the Bailey County Road Map, pursuant to the Bailey County Road Map Project ("project"), which shall clarify the existence of a public interest in county roads pursuant to Chapter 258 of the Texas Transportation Code ("Chapter 258"). The County proposes to adopt a final Bailey County Road Map under Chapter 258, after compliance with all notice and opportunity for protest procedures required by law. Pursuant to Chapter 258, the project will provide conclusive evidence of the existence of a public right of access over the County's roads included on the final, adopted map, and the County's right to expend public money to maintain said roads. The Takings Impact Assessment may be inspected at the Office of the County Judge, Bailey County, Texas, Bailey County Courthouse, 300 South 1st Street, Muleshoe, Texas 79347.

The County has made the following determinations in the Takings Impact Assessment regarding the project: (a) under Chapter 2007, the County is a covered governmental entity and the proposed action is a covered governmental action; (b) the interest in real property being clarified by the project is the public's existing right of access over the roads to be included on the final, adopted Bailey County Road Map; (c) any interest being clarified by the project or the final adoption of the Bailey County Road Map is an existing public interest, and no new public interests are purported to be created or established, or transferred to the County by the project; (d) no new burdens or restrictions are imposed or created by the project with respect to any private real property; and (e) no taking of private real property or rights in private real property, as defined by the Chapter 2007, will occur as a result of the project or by the final adoption of the Bailey County Road Map. Therefore, a "No Private Real Property Impact Determination" was made by the County regarding the covered governmental action under Chapter 2007. A copy of the full Takings Impact Assessment regarding the project may be obtained from Sherri Harrison, County Judge, Bailey County, Texas, Bailey County Courthouse, 300 South 1st Street, Muleshoe, Texas 79347. Lamplight By Larry Thornton

"Here I am! I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will come in and eat with him, and he with me." — Rev. 3:20, NIV

Have you ever gone to someone's house and knocked on the door, but they never came to answer it?

You know they are in there... maybe the television is on, or you can hear a radio, maybe you even noticed the telltale movement of a curtain as someone peeked out... but they don't answer the door.

Now, I admit that the majority of times I've encountered this, I been in possession of a document that ordered me to present a certain person's body before the court, but it isn't something limited to law enforcement officers or kids named "Erkel."

Many people remain lost, and doomed to the pits of hell, because they never answer the door when God knocks. But before we tell them "shame, shame," we need to remember that there are also a lot of Christians who think of salvation as just an inoculation against hellfire rather than a relationship with God.

Maybe you can look back this past week on your daily life and can remember a time when God knocked, but you didn't answer the door.

God continues to stand outside the door, wanting to come in and have fellowship with us. But we have to open the door, he will never push it open... he will never break it down.

While the apostle John was in exile on the Island of Patmos, God gave him a vision which he recorded, and which we call the Book of Revelation. In the early chapters of that book, John wrote about seven churches to whom Christ wrote, addressing many of the problems that continue to trouble his church.

One of those churches was at Laodicea, and as we've already read, God says he's standing at the door knocking... but this isn't a picture of a sinner in need of salvation, the Bible clearly shows that in these scriptures the people on the other side of the door are Christians.

Why don't people answer the door?

In many cases, they don't hear him knock. They may be too busy, wrapped up with their lives, that they are too busy to be concerned about God's purpose for their lives.

Maybe they're too deaf. Their hearts have hardened to God's voice and his message. A child with dirty ears may have trouble hearing a parent, but a Christian with a hardened heart has trouble hearing God.

Maybe they're just unwilling to respond. Some people hear God's knock, but still don't answer the door because they're unwilling to commit all of their lives to Christ.

Or, maybe they just don't care enough to respond. This, after all, was the reason for Christ's letter to Laodicea. He was saying they were just going through the motions.

They were more interested in ritual and religion than they were in a relationship with God.

They might have been meeting, but they weren't truly worshipping.

Luke 9:62, NIV, says, Jesus replied, "No one who puts his hand to the plow and looks back is fit for service in the kingdom of God."

If such is the case of someone who sets other priorities above God, how do you think he feels about someone who even won't walk across a room, open a door, and invite him in?

City council receives report

Vandevender also noted that the batteries that are being installed inside local residence as part of the project would assure residents that in the event of a power outage residence's would still have "life line" services.

"You'll always have 911 on it," he said.

"It's the best thing we can do for our service area," Vandevender said.

And when asked how the company would be recouping its costs by Behrends, Vandevender assured the council that the funding came through a process that wouldn't directly impact local telephone customers.

Work in Muleshoe should be completed next summer, he said.

In unrelated business, the city council adopted a proposed tax rate of .6550, that is expected to raise $65,693, or 9.08 percent more than last year's budget, of which $9,456.70 will be raised from new property.

According to City Manager David Brunson, the rate for the current year was .6603, and the effective rate is .6072.

Although there is an increase in revenue from last year, there would actually be a decrease in the city's tax rate.

"The tax revenue increase will be a small portion of the total budget, he said.
