NOW THE HARDWOOD LUMBER COMPANY

Most Important Enterprise—
How It Works Out—No More Dull Days.

A corporation with a capital of $15,000 was organized in Crockett last week, under the name of the Crockett Hardwood Lumber Company, that is expected will prove of exceptional value to this city and tributary territory. In fact the whole of Houston county will feel the beneficial effects of its activities. The purpose of this enterprise is to provide a cash market for all of the hardwood lumber this section possesses, and at prices so much better than has heretofore been offered as will result in bringing a large amount of outside money into our midst in a manner that will directly benefit every one. This sounds like a rather broad statement, but we have the facts from other localities where these industries have been established to warrant such assertions.

It is a statistical fact that seventy-five per cent of the hardwood lumber required for wagons and agricultural implements must hereafter come from east Texas, and it also known that Houston county has as much of this kind of timber standing as any county in this section of the state. It is also a matter of common knowledge that this timber prepared for this purpose brings a much better price than has heretofore prevailed for any purpose, and that prices are steadily growing better. Another important fact that makes this project so attractive to the owners of this kind of timber land is that a market is provided for practically all varieties of what is termed hardwood, thus enabling a farmer to clear his land ready for cultivation and sell every bit of it at these profitable figures. The list of timber that is included in these operations takes all kinds of oak, elm, ash, hickory, beach and maple. The specifications cover such a wide range of sizes that the small timber that has heretofore been considered of little or no value can be profitably used. Some idea of the practical value to the farmer, who has more or less timber to spare, is the fact that it is not unusual for a farmer, without any help, to cut a load and haul it to town daily that will bring him returns of from eight to fifteen dollars. Many farmers are doing this very thing right here at Ratcliff, and if you asked them what that little saw mill plant is doing for that neighborhood they will tell you it is the greatest thing that ever happened, that more money is being placed in circulation than ever before in the history of that section.

Those best qualified, from actual connection with similar plants in various sections of the state, have repeatedly made the statement, since this enterprise has been under consideration here, that when the plant is in full operation there will never be another dull day in Crockett. That would be quite a change from the usual order of things which means five dull days a week ordinarily. Now let's see how these optimistic individuals figure out such wonderfully attractive possibilities: On the basis of what is happening at Ratcliff, it is estimated that, when in full motion, 150 to 300 wagon loads of this material will be hauled into Crockett daily, and that an average of ten dollars will be paid in cash for each load. It is further contended that two hundred loads daily will be a fair estimate of the average. One don't need a pencil to figure what a tremendous amount of prosperity such a condition would bring to our doors.

The subscribers to the capital stock of this new industry include thirty of the most prominent and progressive merchants and professional men of our town and the company is officered as follows: D. A. Nunn, president; J. S. Cook, vice president; H. F. Moore, treasurer, and H. A. Fisher, secretary. Active steps have already been taken toward finding a suitable location for the plant, procuring the necessary machinery, etc. It is expected that next week's issue of the Courier will contain definite information that will enable the farmer to begin getting out the material. Just think how this inrush of new money will enable our farmers to extend their dairy operations! The immediate future never looked more promising than at this very moment.

H. A. Fisher, Secretary.

Leaders Profess to See Well Defined Reactionary Move.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Labor Day finds organized workers facing what they believe to be two vital issues. The first is the national election, in which workers are being urged to work for the election of friends and the defeat of enemies. Leaders profess to see a well-defined reactionary movement, which, it is asserted, would suppress the rights of labor should its proponents be placed in office.

The second is what labor sees as a deliberate attempt on the part of those who oppose it to undermine organization, utilizing every possible means to destroy labor's solidarity.

Spokesmen for the American Federation of Labor, whose headquarters are here, declare they look to the future with confidence, although they expect no pause in the industrial struggle. Membership in the federation is greater than at any time in its history. Insurgent movements—boring from within—have been quashed, and the recognized leaders are in the ascendancy after numerous covert and open attacks on their policies. Satisfactory progress is claimed for the nonpartisan political campaign. Defeat is predicted for the purported organized attempt to break down the trade union movement.

Gen. Obregon Elected President of Mexico.

Mexico City, Sept. 5.—The election of General Alvaro Obregon as president of Mexico is generally conceded as a result of the voting throughout the republic Sunday. Complete returns may not be received for several days.

Election day passed peacefully in Mexico City and nearby towns. Late Sunday afternoon no reports of trouble had been received from any part of the republic.

The vote was light and Dominguez made a poor showing. Workingmen and farm hands polled a majority of the votes, few business men going to the polls.

Apparatus has been invented that records the speed made by a locomotive at each point in a run, where it stops and how long and where it is reversed.

DEB HALE NOMINEE RESULT DECLARED

At the meeting of the Houston county democratic executive committee Friday afternoon, Deb Hale, who had received the second highest number of votes in the first primary election, was declared the nominee. Owing to the death of Preston Lively, who was declared the nominee following the first primary, the county executive committee was empowered by the Terrell election law to nominate Mr. Lively's successor as the nominee. Mr. Hale's name will appear on the democratic ticket in the general election.

The official vote in the second democratic primary was declared to be as follows:

Appreciation of Services.

"The Commander in Chief has noted in this Division, a special pride of service and a high state of morale never broken by hardship nor battle."—G. O. 201, G. H. Q., 1918.

Headquarters First Division, Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky., March 28, 1920.
From Major General C. P.

Summerall, Commanding First Division, Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky. To Sergeant George L. Keene, Co. K, 28th Infantry. Subject: Appreciation of services.

1. In view of your approaching separation from the service by reason of being furloughed to the reserve, I desire to communicate to you my appreciation and my commendation of the manner in which you have acquitted yourself during your period of active duty with this Division.

2. The First Division came into existence soon after our country entered the World War. Beginning in Lorraine, it served with honor in the sectors of Lorraine and Picardy and in the great offensives of Soissons, St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne, ending upon the heights overlooking Sedan. The cheerful acceptance of hardships, the soldierly bearing, and the high courage displayed by its soldiers on every field and under every condition, were the foundations of the Division's successes.

3. For nearly a year the Division occupied German soil. The self-restraint and the forbearance of its members will ever be an example of humane occupation among a hostile people.

4. From the time that you became a member of the Division you contributed, according to your ability and your opportunities, to its achievements and its reputation. Just as you have been a part of it, so it has been a part of your personality and your character. You may well feel a conscious pride in your service and you will be remembered with sincere appreciation and friendship by the officers and soldiers who were your comrades.

5. My good wishes and my abiding interest will accompany you in your future career and I commend you, as highly deserving, to anyone whose consideration may be useful to you.

C. P. Summerall,
Major General, U. S. A.

JUST A WORD WITH OUR SUBSCRIBERS

Farmers report good cotton crops in some sections, but reports from other sections are most unfavorable. We hear of some fields that will make practically nothing on account of boll weevil depredations.

The Courier has one less subscription renewal to report this week than last. Either the weather has been unfavorable or the people are too busy gathering their crops. But the list is not a bad one and we hope that it will grow from now on.

Among the number calling to renew or sending in their renewals and subscriptions since last issue are the following:

J. C. Scarborough, Austwell, Texas.
B. E. Goodrum, Ashwood, Texas.
John A. Robinson, Mereta, Texas.
Doc Robinson, Weldon.

COX STOPS HECKLER BY STANDING FIRM

Irish Question is Bumped Into in Midst of League Discussion.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 6.—Self-determination for Ireland and other countries controlled by the British empire was advocated by Governor James M. Cox Monday in reply to a heckler, who demanded where the democratic candidate stood on the Irish question.

The governor bumped into the Irish problem in the midst of a discussion of the league of nations before an audience in St. Paul. An Irish sympathizer rose in the audience and bluntly asked:

"Will you recognize the Irish people if you are elected?"

A policeman moved down the aisle and started to eject the man.

"Let him alone, officer," shouted the governor. "This is a country of free speech, and I want to answer his question."

Favors Self-Determination.

"There is no feature of the league of nations more impressively plain than that of self-determination. That was the major one of the 14 points. The provision in article 10 against external aggression is for the purpose of protecting small nations from the bullying tactics of stronger ones.

"Now, then, answering your question, I am in favor of the application of the principle of self-determination to China, Persia, Turkey and Ireland."

The crowd cheered heartily and the heckler appeared to be satisfied with the governor's answer.

Governor Cox visited the Minnesota State fair and, with the aid of a voice magnifier, addressed a crowd of nearly 100,000 people. As an added attraction, he also entertained the crowd by displaying his ability as a jockey. He climbed into a sulky and drove a fast heat behind Peter Nash, a pacing horse with a mark of 2:01½.

The governor devoted most of the morning to strolling around the fair grounds examining the exhibits. Several times he made five-minute speeches. In his rambles around the grounds he met Chief John Winklerede of the Chippewa Indian tribe, who says he is 133 years of age. The governor talked with him through an interpreter. The chief wished him success.

"When I was a boy," said the chief, "George Washington was president of the United States."

Governor Cox Monday issued another blast at Will Hays, chairman of the republican national committee. In a formal statement published Monday morning, he said:

"If Mr. Hays is not getting all the money he wanted, which would again define the difference between the tentative quota and the real quota, perhaps the explanation is found in the fact that corporations that were sending checks in violation of the law have stopped it. If Mr. Hays can show where quotas were reduced, the opportunity will be afforded him under cross-examination.

"Mr. Hays says that the quotas are constantly changing. That is true, but isn't it also true that they were changing upward rather than downward?"

Prevailing Drug Prices Are High

Chemicals and rare drugs were among the first articles to be advanced during the war—and to date the increases have not relaxed.

But, regardless of price, when you want drugs you want the best—and it should also be worth something to know that you get what you pay for. You can always be sure of quality when we supply your drugs and medicines.

And—we buy drug sundries and other goods just as carefully as we do drugs and sell them at fair prices.

Provisional President Delivers
Message to Twenty-ninth Legislature.

Mexico City, Sept. 1.—Provisional President de La Huerta tonight delivered his message to the twenty-ninth legislature, which was installed Tuesday night.

The message treated briefly the recent movement which resulted in the downfall of the Carranza government and also the aims of the present administration.

New legislation suggested for enactment includes increasing the responsibility of the president and the ministry and the adding to the list of impeachable offenses misappropriation of national funds.

Other legislation requested includes the formation of a department of labor and Sunday rest for workmen. The reallocation of land throughout the republic and votes for women also were suggested. The status of the petroleum legislation controversy was treated in general terms.

General Manuel Garcia Vigil, leader of the liberal constitutional party, was elected president of the chamber of deputies and Carlos B. Zetina president of the senate. General Vigil is one of the strongest supporters of General Alvaro Obregon, candidate for the presidency in the republican elections which are to be held next Sunday. Alfredo Robles Dominguez is the national republican candidate.

SUPREME COURT DECIDE SUFFRAGE

Whether Women's Right to Vote is Legal Depends on High Tribunal.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Whether the women's newly-won right to vote is legal or not will remain in doubt until the United States supreme court decides the question.

This situation became more apparent today, following the action of the Tennessee house in reversing itself. Whatever the outcome in Tennessee, Secretary Colby intends to "stand pat" on his action of issuing the suffrage proclamation, at least until ordered otherwise by the supreme court. This definite assurance was given at the state department.

Meanwhile, there looms ahead the sinister question of the effect of the disputed ratification of the nineteenth amendment on the national election.

If the supreme court, which convenes October 4, can settle the question before the November election, there will be no trouble in connection with the effect of possible illegal votes on the election. On the other hand, usual legal delays might make such early action impossible.

Up to Supreme Court.

All roads of settlement lead to the supreme court with one possible exception. That is ratification by another state. The fact that a special session has been called in Connecticut for September 14 makes this more than a possibility. With legal action by Connecticut the battle over Tennessee would become an academic one.

The different ways by which the suffrage question may come to the supreme court are:

By the suit now before the court of appeals seeking to make the proclamation of the nineteenth amendment invalid.

By appeal from the suit attacking the constitutionality of Tennessee ratification now pending in the Tennessee supreme court.

But a suit to secure a writ of mandamus to force Governor Roberts to withdraw the state's ratification.

Secretary Colby is not expected to act on any possible order until the supreme court has decided on it.

Suffrage Suit Probable.

By a suit started by suffragists, which is possible if any state refuses women the right to register to vote. At the national woman's party headquarters today this was considered probable.

Secretary Colby would have a precedent for refusing to withdraw ratification in the action of the secretary of state when New York tried to withdraw ratification of the fifteenth amendment. This case was different, as there was no question of illegality of the legislative action—the legislature acted and then later changed its mind.

It was pointed out at the state department that the act of Mr. Colby in issuing the suffrage proclamation was a ministerial duty and not judicial.

Department Would Pass Responsibility to Other Parties.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Responsibility of termination of the commercial treaties between the United States and more than a score of foreign nations, in conformity with requirements of the shipping act, probably will be placed squarely upon the other parties to the treaties by the state department.

In other words, it will be left to the other governments to say whether they are content to accept the terms of the act and acknowledge the right of congress to discriminate against their shipping without entirely canceling existing treaties.

The state department, it was said today, soon will make public an announcement of its policy. It may be some time, however, before the foreign governments are heard from and then it will be necessary for the department to date back notices, if such are required.

Moonshiners Deliver Stills at Revival "to Serve God."

Chattonooga, Tenn., Sept. 1.—A revival at Straight Fork Church, in Scott County, has resulted in at least four moonshiners giving up the manufacture of "white lightning." Four stills were found in the church yesterday, left there by their owners with a note addressed to "brother moonshiners," urging them to "follow our example, stack arms, deliver up your stills and serve God."

SUFFRAGE ACTION WILL NOW STAND

House Declines to Declare Illegal
Action Against Ratification.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 4.—The house of representatives of the Tennessee legislature at the final session of the special session today defeated the bill to require women to pay a poll tax, 41 to 34, and refused to allow spread upon its journal a motion by T. K. Riddick, suffrage floor leader, to have the house declare illegal its action of last Tuesday in expunging from the journal its previous action in ratifying the suffrage amendment.

Several amendments designed to destroy the effect of the poll tax bill were offered before the complete bill was rejected. The principal objection offered was that women may vote in the November election without poll tax and that the question of the legality of the nineteenth amendment will be decided before the regular session of the legislature in January.

In offering his motion, Mr. Riddick contended a two-thirds majority of the members present was necessary to expunge a record from the journal, whereas the action had been taken by a bare majority vote. He was overruled by Speaker Walker on the ground that the motion had not been made at the time of action by the house.

Mr. Riddick then entered protest that he had been denied the rights of a citizen, granted under the state constitution, in not having his motion and protest entered upon the journal.

Both houses of the legislature adjourned tonight after they had passed over the veto of Governor Roberts the appropriation bill, which, among other things, gave to each member $100 extra for expenses incurred in remaining longer than the twenty days of the special session.

MEN, TOO, MAY VOTE SAYS M'GREGOR

American Candidate Declares
19th Amendment Grants
No Discrimination.

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 3.—The nineteenth amendment to the federal constitution effectively repeals section 2 of article 6 of the Texas constitution, and permits both men and women to vote in the coming November elections without a poll tax, according to former Senator T. H. McGregor, American party candidate for governor, here Friday.

McGregor says he has the question investigated and that able attorneys have informed him that if the women are entitled to vote in the November elections without a poll tax receipt, so are the men.

He intimated that his party would test the question in the coming elections.

McGregor said that "the federal constitution specifies that no State shall discriminate as between sex and that to deny the men a right to vote without a poll tax, and grant such right to women, would be a discrimination. He said that the statement being made by some that women will vote without a poll on the same principle that men attaining 21 years of age vote, is erroneous, and is merely stated as an illustration. If his contention is correct thousands of voters will be added to the eligible lists in November.

EVIDENCE GIVEN INVESTIGATORS

Data in Support of Charges of Corruption Ready for Presentation.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 1.—E. H. Moore of Youngstown, Ohio, pre-convention manager for Governor Cox, will leave for Chicago tonight as the personal representative of the democratic presidential nominee to be ready to present to the senate subcommittee investigating campaign expenditures data in support of the governor's charge that the republican committee is collecting a campaign fund of $15,000,000.

This announcement was made tonight by both Mr. Moore and Governor Cox, after an all-day conference participated in by the nominee, Mr. Moore and Senator Atlee Pomerene, democratic member of the investigating committee.

Whether he testifies before the committee, Mr. Moore said, is up to the committee itself. He stated that in case the committee did not see fit to call him, the evidence which he expects to take with him will be there in readiness. He added, however, that it probably will find its way before the committee in some manner.

Hints at Separate Fund.

Commenting upon the papers which the governor turned over to him today, and those which had come to him direct, Mr. Moore declared that "if Treasurer Upham is telling the truth, there is an entirely separate fund and we are going to find it."

Mr. Moore declared that if the men to be called in the investigation "deny or refuse to produce" evidence which he said will substantiate the governor's charges, he will present the evidence himself. He also declared that if those witnesses do not produce the evidence he intends to call the matter to the attention of the department of justice.

"If the republican party were indicted I would stake my reputation as a lawyer that the leaders would be convicted by a republican jury just the same as Newberry was convicted by a republican jury in Michigan," Mr. Moore asserted.

In Possession of Facts.

Mr. Moore said he expected evidence to substantiate the governor's charges to come from the "paid district representatives" of the national committee, in charge of collection of funds in their respective districts, and also from the "unpaid state chairmen." He declared they were in possession of the facts.

Commenting upon the investigation and its progress, Mr. Moore asserted that charges have been made and denied, but that "the committee has not had the information to conduct a thorough cross-examination of Chairman Hays and others." He intimated that the material which he is taking to Chicago in the form of documents and otherwise will furnish this information. He said that he probably will insist that both Chairman Hays and Treasurer Upham be recalled for cross-examination.

CHAIRMAN SCORED AS A FALSIFIER

Hays' Denial is Deliberately Perpetrated Falsehood, Cox Charges.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 4.—Governor James M. Cox today charged that Will H. Hays, republican national chairman, had deliberately perpetrated a falsehood under oath in Chicago in the senate committee's investigation of republican contributions.

Governor Cox's charge, the culmination of bitter partisan controversy of campaign financing, was delivered at the state fair grounds this afternoon during one of the seven speeches the democratic nominee made during the day's tour of Wisconsin.

Existence of the alleged republican "quota" of $8,145,000 for fifty-one big cities, charged by Governor Cox last Friday at Pittsburg, was the basis of today's assertion by the governor.

"Mr. Hays has denied that there is any quota," said the governor.

"I charge that there is a quota. I charge furthermore that Mr. Hays deliberately perpetrated a falsehood under oath at Chicago when he said there was not a quota."

Charge Causes Confusion.

Governor Cox followed this declaration with an assertion that a conference arranged today at Marion, Ohio, by Senator Harding, his republican opponent, with members of the republican ways and means, or finance committee, had been postponed, because, the governor declared, he had "exposed this plot to buy the presidency of the United States."

Few in the fair grounds audience heard the governor's charge against the republican leader because of confusion at the conclusion of the candidate's address when he launched his bolt.

The republican war chest and the league of nations formed the major part of nearly all of Governor Cox's addresses here today.

The governor discussed labor problems and the league with an audience of laboring men shortly after his arrival, then made his fair grounds speech, rested a few hours at the Milwaukee Athletic Club, held an informal reception at the City Press Club and received a democratic women's delegation at a dinner and spoke at a banquet. He closed his visit here tonight with a public address at Plankinton Hall auditorium and a fraternal address to brother Elks here for a carnival.

The governor left here late tonight for Chicago, where he will rest over Sunday and on Monday visit the Twin Cities and make several addresses, including one at the Minnesota State Fair.

SALESMEN'S ETHICS.

This is a subject that could be dealt with at great length, for it does not stop at the salesman alone, but involves the firm he represents and the people behind the firm. It would not be possible for a salesman to put over an unethical deal time after time, unless his house or firm backed him up in it, for they would be morally responsible, and held so by their customer and competitor.

Rev. Wm. R. Hay, in making an address recently to the Salesmanship Club, stated that what was needed in the business world was "common honesty;" these two words will define Salesmen's Ethics. If a salesman is honest with himself, his house and his customer, and follows the laws of God, his ethics will take care of themselves. A salesman that cheats will be able to put it over and make sales for a time, but the end will come sooner or later, just the same as a man may steal and enjoy the fruits of his stealings for a time, but in the end he pays for it all.

The Whitaker Paper Co. recently wrote a number of business firms and asked what they expected of salesmen, and the answers without an exception were Honesty. They asked no questions, so there was nothing to lead to this answer. A firm can beware of a salesman that is constantly trying to put something over on the customer, for if he will be dishonest to his customer, will be dishonest to the firm he represents. I once knew a salesman that outsold me two to one for a time, but when the end came he had bought his business with booze and got to a point where he had to get out of town.

There was another salesman that talked to me about a certain job that was being let, and found out my price, and then went to this customer and deliberately cut my price. The continuance of this method and lack of ethics has put him out of the "printing game."

There was another salesman that continuously took work for less than it was worth, and knew it—he and his house are now out of business.

I know of another that did this same thing and he is out of the business; the firm still remains.

I know a salesman that had the habit of getting the order at any cost, or on any promise, and he is out of the business.—The Typothetae.

WOMEN OF TEXAS NOW TO BALLOT

Poll Tax Receipt Unnecessary Except at Primaries, Attorney General Says.

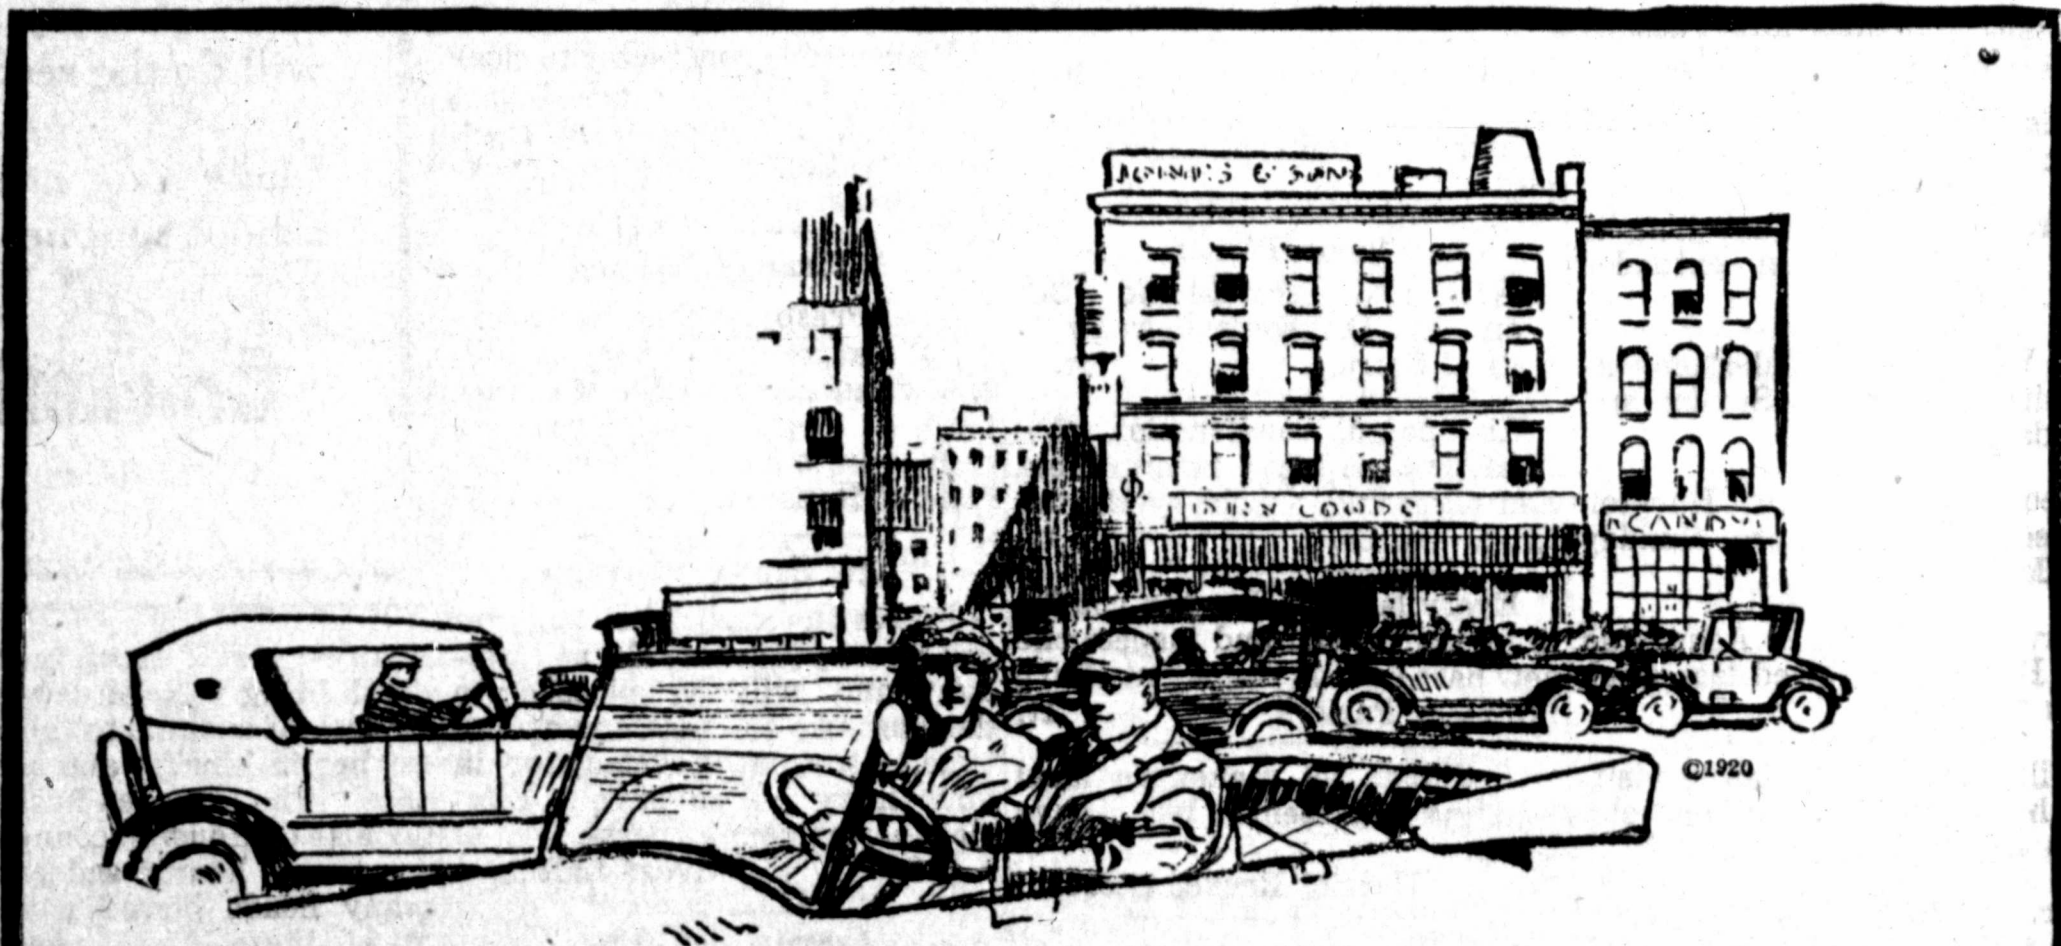

Austin, Texas, Sept. 1.—Under the new suffrage amendment to the constitution of the United States, women of Texas are entitled to vote in elections. This is the effect of a ruling made by telegraph today by Assistant Attorney General C. L. Stone, addressed to County Judge Henry

D. Nelson of Cass County. The message read:

"In view of amended United States constitution, all women who are otherwise qualified voters at your bond election are entitled to vote and are not required to have a poll tax receipt nor to have paid poll tax. Women are required to have poll tax receipts only at primary elections."

His ruling is given as a result of the official pronouncement by Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby that the nineteenth amendment had been ratified. What effect yesterday's reconsideration by the Tennessee house will have is not known.

Everything speeded up—made easier. Nearly every business man depending on the automobile to transport himself and his products.

That is one reason, perhaps, why more attention is being paid to tires—why tire costs are being figured closer and people are beginning to look for better tires.

We believe that people are entitled to better tires—the best they can get.

And you can't beat it.

A Crockett colored boy was arrested and locked up overnight last week on a burglary charge. When he returned for his clothes the shop was locked and the proprietor gone. With the license in his pocket and his clothes on the inside he decided to make a forceable entrance. He got his clothes, but got arrested and locked up without getting married that night. Getting bail the next morning, all was well that ended well.

A colored girl was arrested Friday on a theft charge. Some money had been lost and the officers heard that the girl had found some money which she refused to give up. Alto Population Placed at 1,081.

According to the Census Bureau, the town of Alto has 1,081 people.

Like all other towns whose population has been announced, the citizenship of Alto are stoutly maintaining that there are more people here than were given credit for, but there is one thing above the figures that should be taken into consideration, and that this census did not take in the population of the Blount Decker mill force, who, practically speaking, live right in town, as the mill and mill folks are just on the outside of the city limits.

The census bureau announced the population of Cherokee county as 37,633, against 29,038 in 1910.

In addition to the above figures the population of Alto, Jacksonville and Rusk are given as follows:

Alto, 1,081; Jacksonville, 3,723; Rusk, 2,348.—Alto Herald.

Cut your cotton acreage next year by sowing a record-breaking grain crop this fall. Don't just talk about "cutting down acreage"—a negative sort of program. Tell everybody to cut his cotton acreage by sowing more wheat, oats and rye, and by sowing more clover to enrich the land for corn next year. This is the only sensible way to reduce acreage.

Mr. J. A. Todd, the distinguished English authority, who came to Montgomery at President Wannamaker's request, sized up the present world-situation somewhat as follows: (1) The world will need every bale of cotton that is produced this year. There is no real overproduction. (2) Right now, however, there is practically no movement of cotton goods, a wholly abnormal temporary dullness in the business of cotton manufacturers, and of course they are not offering normal prices for cotton. Present prices are only fictitious prices based on a temporarily demoralized market.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT.

How would you like to journey to the nearest city for a pound of sugar, or a yard of muslin, or a spool of thread, or a smoke? And how would you like to make the trip when you need a prescription filled in a hurry, with death running you a race?

You would make some noise if forced to such an extremity—and then more noise.

You would say—and justly so—that a town in which you can not buy a pound of sugar, or a yard of muslin, or a spool of thread, or a smoke, or even get a prescription filled, is a mighty poor excuse for a town and not worth living in.

Yet our merchants can only afford to keep these things for your convenience as long as you buy other things from them.

It is not doing this town any good to buy the little things here and then chase off to a city or send to a catalogue house when you want something on which the merchant has a chance to make a dollar.

Neither is it doing you any good, for the prosperity of each citizen is dependent to a large extent upon the prosperity of the community as a whole.

We are not telling you something you do not know.

We are simply refreshing your memory in hopes the time may come when our people will conclude that a town that is worth living in is worth trading in.

That's all.

SAYS THE DAY OF CHEAP NEWSPRINT HAS GONE.

Every indication points to still higher prices for print paper in the near future. As soon as the large manufacturers know completely the demands of their old customers for 1920 and can size up these requirements with possible production the spot market will begin a new activity which, once started at the top, as it is likely to be, is not likely to show recession in some time.

R. S. Kellogg of the News Print Service Bureau, speaking recently at a meeting of publishers, said the day of cheap print paper has gone forever.

"The labor cost per ton of paper manufactured is now nearly three times what it was in 1913," he said. "The cost of wood per cord is about two and one-half times what it was seven years ago, and the cost of paper making machines has increased in equal amount. Coal is costing the mills from two to three times what it did in 1913, and it takes a ton of coal for every ton of news print manufactured."

"There is no reason to think there will be any decrease in these costs any time in the future. In the last analysis the problem of the paper supply is the problem of the timber supply, for the manufacture of paper is but one of the many methods of forest utilization, and the total demand for timber for other purposes exceeds many times that for the manufacture of paper."

Assistance for Farmers in Holding Cotton Urged.

Columbus, S. C., Sept. 5.—Former Governor Richard Manning, who has just returned to this city from Montgomery, Ala., where he attended the American Cotton association's conference, declared Sunday night the press reports of Friday's session of the convention placed an erroneous interpretation on the address of Judge W. T. Ramsey, governor of the Eleventh district reserve bank.

The reports conveyed an impression almost the reverse of the facts, the former governor declared, in saying Judge Ramsey "deplored the action fixing the price of cotton at 40 cents, declaring it could not be achieved," and "brought a note of pessimism into the conviction by declaring the farmer must practice strict economy and prepare for hard times."

There was no note of pessimism in Judge Ramsey's address, Mr. Manning said. On the contrary, the speaker heartily commended the action of the cotton convention and urged that every reasonable assistance be given the farmers to enable them to hold their cotton off the market when the selling meant loss.

CARS ARE BURNED BY THE STRIKERS

Other Instances of Violence and Sabotage Mark Trolley Strike.

New York, Sept. 4.—Three fresh instances of violence and sabotage marked the progress of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit strike today. An incendiary fire in the Ridgewood car barns that destroyed two surface cars and badly damaged three others was laid to the "bolshhevik element" among the strikers.

An attempt to wreck a West End line train was frustrated by the discovery of a heavy iron bar inserted in the subway tracks near a Bay Fiftieth street curve.

Greased rails on the Smith street surface lines, between Sixth and Eighth avenues on Ninth street, were also discovered in time to avert a disaster.

A burning brand hurled over the wall of the yards set fire to the five cars at Ridgewood and menaced a hundred others in the depot. Two hundred strikebreakers were routed from their banks in the yards. They moved the other cars in the yards out of danger.

One of the strikers is believed to have started the fire at Ridgewood. An alarm was turned in by Policeman George Colp of the Wilson avenue station. Soon after the strikebreakers were awakened and began thronging to the yards to fight the blaze. A bucket brigade was formed by the men who held the flames in check until the fire department and the company's own fire force arrived.

surrounding the blaze is being made by Fire Marshal Thomas Brophy.

Rioting began shortly after the fire started. Strikers and many of their sympathizers collected outside the barns. Whenever a strikebreaker showed himself bricks and other missiles were thrown at him.

A riot call was sent in to the Glendale, Wilson and Vernon avenue stations, bringing 250 policemen. Three shots were fired by the police in dispersing the crowd.

Jammed between the running rail and guard rail of the West End subway tracks, 400 yards east of the Bay Fiftieth street station, a track employee of the company discovered a bar of iron eighteen inches long and weighing sixty pounds. A splicing plate joining the tracks together was found to be loose. The position of the bar indicated an attempt had been made to wedge it between the rails in such a manner as to throw from the tracks any passing train as it rounded the curve at this point. Shortly after the discovery of the piece of iron a train loaded with policemen had gone over the line for strike duty at Coney Island. The finding of the loose fish or splice plate by one of the track walkers led to the investigation and discovery of the iron bar.

Attack on Police.

When found the bar bore deep cuts and slashes, as though the flanges of the wheels of the train had pushed it to one side and in that way thwarted the intention of those who had placed it there. Such an iron piece could not have lodged itself as it did by falling, the trackmen said. The haste and carelessness with which the work was done resulted in its failure to wreck the police-laden train as it rounded the curve, they assert.

The crews of early morning cars discovered the rails on Ninth street on the Smith street line greased for a distance of two blocks between Sixth and Eighth avenues.
