Junior Class Will Sponsor Local Movie

On Saturday, September 30, the Muleshoe High School junior class will sponsor a movie at the XIT Drive In Theatre.

Featured will be "Grand Theft Auto," starring Ron Howard. A junior class member said, "This is the best junior class Muleshoe High School ever had or ever will see, so you know it will be a good movie."

Tickets are available from any member of the junior class for only $2 each and the class members will also serve as car hops during the movie.

Proceeds from the movie will be used by the junior class for class projects.

Bailey County. Testimony by law enforcement officers last week was followed by testimony by several of the persons indicted on the charge.

Court was started late Tuesday after it was reported that two of the defendants were involved in a minor vehicle accident enroute to the trial.

On the witness stand most of Monday was Deborah L. Jackson, also one of the defendants in the case. Other defendants testifying this week included Mikki Avery Ellis, Cl-Cont. page 6, Col. 5

New Civic Center, Coliseum Dedicated

Sunday afternoon, a slow, steady rain failed to dampen the spirits of more than 250 people who visited the new Bailey County Civic Center and Coliseum for the dedication and open house.

Dr. Gleason told the group, "This is a dream come true. We knew it would be built, but we didn't know when or where when we had our first informal meeting in June, 1973."

Persons who had not previously seen the facility expressed their pleasure with the adequate facility which features a large, open lobby, with concession stand and ticket office; two offices for the and Agriculture and by Bailey County Judge Glen Williams.

30 Teachers Will Attend Area Meeting

Thirty teachers from the Muleshoe School system have pre-registered for the Reading Conference on September 29-30 in Lubbock.

Local school personnel explained that the reading conference is sponsored by the Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading.

Addresses will be given by Dr. William Harmer and Dr. William Kottmeyer, both recognized for outstanding contributions to the field of reading.

Area teachers will register Friday afternoon from 3:30 to 4 p.m. and view the exhibits in the Coronado cafeteria area before the session and during the break.

During a meeting Monday night of the Fine Arts Booster Club, plans got underway for the annual Halloween Carnival.

Workouts are being conducted at 214 East Ave. D and boys are welcome to come by and sign up for the program, he added.

Howard is being assisted by Jerry Helton, another coach and Javier Cruz, who is manager of the local Golden Gloves.

Boxers practice, under supervision, every day except Wednesday and Sunday. Howard said all boys are welcome to participate in the Golden Gloves program.

Karrie Been, Kim Farmer win top horse show awards

"If you're going to win, there's got to be a sacrifice," stated Rev. H.D. Hunter, special guest speaker at the Six County Horse Show Association annual awards banquet in Muleshoe, Saturday night.

He said, taking a quote from the Book of Proverbs, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

The speaker told the youth that it is important to Think Right; Think Positive; Take a Wholesome Outlook Upon Life; Don't Look at the Negative Side and Don't Go Around in Self Pity.

Telling some of his own experiences during the past 16 years showing horses, he concluded, "Have A Sense of Humor. And, have goals, shoot for the stars, and try to be the best in whatever you're involved in."

Special awards were presented Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cluck, from Dimmitt, who helped organize the Six County Horse Association, and who are now moving to Oklahoma.

Oldham Counties attended the banquet in the Muleshoe High School cafeteria.

Earl Richards Wins Third Week Contest

If it is true that 'third time charmed' then that is just what happened this week with the weekly Merchant's Football Contest. Finally, a male has come up with a first place win. Even the two top wins.

Earl Richards really put on his thinking cap and came up with all but one of the winners in the 10 listed on the contest for the past week.

Also, the second place winner, J.K. Adams, missed only one game, and it happened to be the same game that Richards missed. But, he was a total of 43 points away on the tiebreaker scores, just enough to put him in second place for the week.

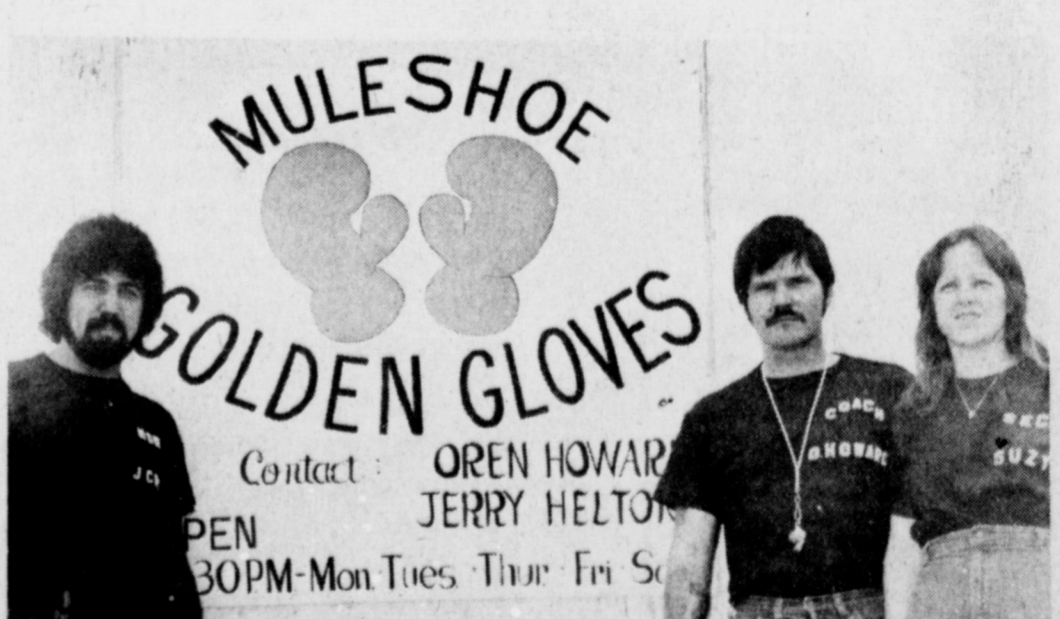

In third place was Judy Brockman, the wife of last week's second place winner, Phil Brockman. She was among a whole host of folks who missed two Cont. page 6, Col. 3

Texas People Face Caterpillar Peril

As if fire ants and killer bees were not enough to worry about, Texans also may have to cope with an onslaught of poisonous caterpillars.

The fuzzy beige, gray or reddish brown caterpillars called tree asp usually appear in the spring and September through November, the Texas Medical Association says. But the Southeast Texas Poison Control Center in Galveston already was getting reports of stings as early as July. To make matters worse, another authority says large numbers of the caterpillars appear every four or five years. This year may be prime time for the fuzzy pests, especially considering that 1978 falls into an approximate five year cycle that includes 1923 and 1958. In 1923, San Antonio schools closed because so many tree asp were on the grounds. In 1958, more than 2,000 victims, an unusually high number, were treated by some doctors in Southeast Texas.

Funeral Held

Here Wednesday

Funeral services were held yesterday, Wednesday, for Mamie Marie Miller, 84, at 2 p.m. in the Chapel of the Chimes with Rev. E.K. Shepherd, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Wilson, officiating. Interment was held in the Muleshoe Cemetery by Singleton-Ellis Funeral Services.

Mrs. Miller was a member of the First Baptist Church of Muleshoe. She was a resident of Muleshoe since 1947. She came here from Quail, Texas. She was born January 28, 1894 in Cooper, Texas.

Mrs. Miller died September 25, at 12 p.m. at the Muleshoe Nursing Home. Her husband, James Preston, preceded her in death in 1960.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Fred O'Hair of Bovina; three sisters, Mrs. Lillian Hill and Mrs. Kate Quarrels, both of Sacramento, Calif., and Mrs. Falba Hurst, of Orville, Calif.; two brothers, William Small of Bel Gardena, Calif. and Carl Small of Livingston, N.M.; four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

long its back. Usually there is a sharp pain almost immediately after the sting, followed by some swelling and redness at the sting site. Pain can radiate to a fairly large area within about 10 min. and can last several hours. Some patients also have nausea and vomiting. Case reports show that most symptoms usually go away within about a day although some pain, redness and swelling may last longer. If symptoms are severe or if someone is allergic to insect stings, the individual should go to a physician or emergency room. Home treatment to reduce pain includes applying an ice pack over the sting site and also applying a gauze bandage soaked in one part household liquid bleach and nine parts water. Taking antihistamines and pain medicine also may help.

It is easy to come in contact with tree asp since they eat a wide variety of plants, and can show up almost anywhere, including fences, sidewalks and other places where humans could be stung easily. They appear all over Texas but are most common in the region south and east of Dallas. The caterpillar's range also covers Oklahoma, most Southern states and Maryland.

The True Sportsman Practices Gun Safety

Once again, during this fall and winter season, Americans will take to the open country to enjoy the ancient sport of hunting. Most of these hunters are sportsmen in the truest sense. Unfortunately, many others are inexperienced and reckless with deadly weapons.

The true sportsman gladly teaches the younger generation the responsibilities of gun ownership. He cooperates with all wild life and law enforcement agencies. He respects the rights of property owners. And, most importantly, he is far less likely to become just another statistic by the end of the hunting season.

The statistics are discouraging according to the National Safety Council. More than 1,000 persons are killed in the field every year. Many of these accidents could have been prevented had hunters followed the 10 Rules of Gun Safety. The true sportsman follows them religiously, they are:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.
2. Guns carried into camp or home, or when otherwise not in use, must always be unloaded. Unattended guns should always be unloaded.
3. Always be sure barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

4. Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble. Keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.
5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.
7. Wear a safe color. The best color is daylight fluorescent orange.
8. Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun.
9. Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or at the surface of water.
10. Avoid alcoholic drinks before or during shooting.

The true sportsman knows that a hunter's obligation to handle his gun safely at all times does not stop when he returns from a hunting trip. In fact, the National Safety Council reports that an excess of 1,400 firearm-related fatalities occur every year away from the hunting field. Most of these accidents occur in or about the home.

The household of a true sportsman is safe because he has taught all members gun-handling procedures and respect for all firearms.

Razorbacks Favored Over Undefeated Tulsa

The Panthers of Pittsburgh haven't exactly been able to loaf through their first two games. In fact, they got more than they bargained for last week against Temple—a tremendous scare. They beat Tulane in their opener, 24-6, and came back to down the tough Owls, 20-12. Now Pitt comes up against one of the prides of the Atlantic Coast Conference, the Tar Heels of North Carolina. The two have only met once on the football field and North Carolina was the winner. The Tar Heels nipped East Carolina, 14-10, in their first game, and were edged by Maryland last week, 21-20. So, in a home game for the Panthers, they're favored over North Carolina by just five points.

And having blown by one opponent and unimpressively beaten a second, the powerful Arkansas Razorbacks prepare to destroy a third. In fact, it appears that Arkansas won't be tested until the third Saturday in October, their fifth game, when they challenge Texas. This Saturday the Hogs are top heavy favorites over undefeated Tulsa. The spread will be about 30 points.

In January of 1962, U.C.L.A. lost the Rose Bowl game to Minnesota, 21-3. In 1977, the Bruins, in quite an upset, were up-ended once more by Minnesota, 27-13. So, the Uclans haven't beaten Minnesota in the last 16 years! (Only a died-in-the-wool Gopher fan could dig up a statement like that!) However, it looks as though Minnesota's victory "string" will come to an end this week. U.C.L.A. hosts the Gophers and will probably beat 'em by 11 points.

Our picking percentage for the first three weeks of the season (through Sept. 16th) stands at .752. There were 324 smiles and 107 big frowns.

There are two particularly potential block-busters Saturday. Duke invades Ann Arbor to do battle with Michigan, and Oklahoma entertains Missouri in a Big Eight confrontation. The Blue Devils have never beaten the Wolverines, while the Sooners hold about a two to one edge over the Tigers in nearly 70 meetings. Michigan, Duke and Oklahoma are all unbeaten, while Missouri was beaten by Alabama. The verdicts: Oklahoma will win by ten... Michigan will win by four-teen.

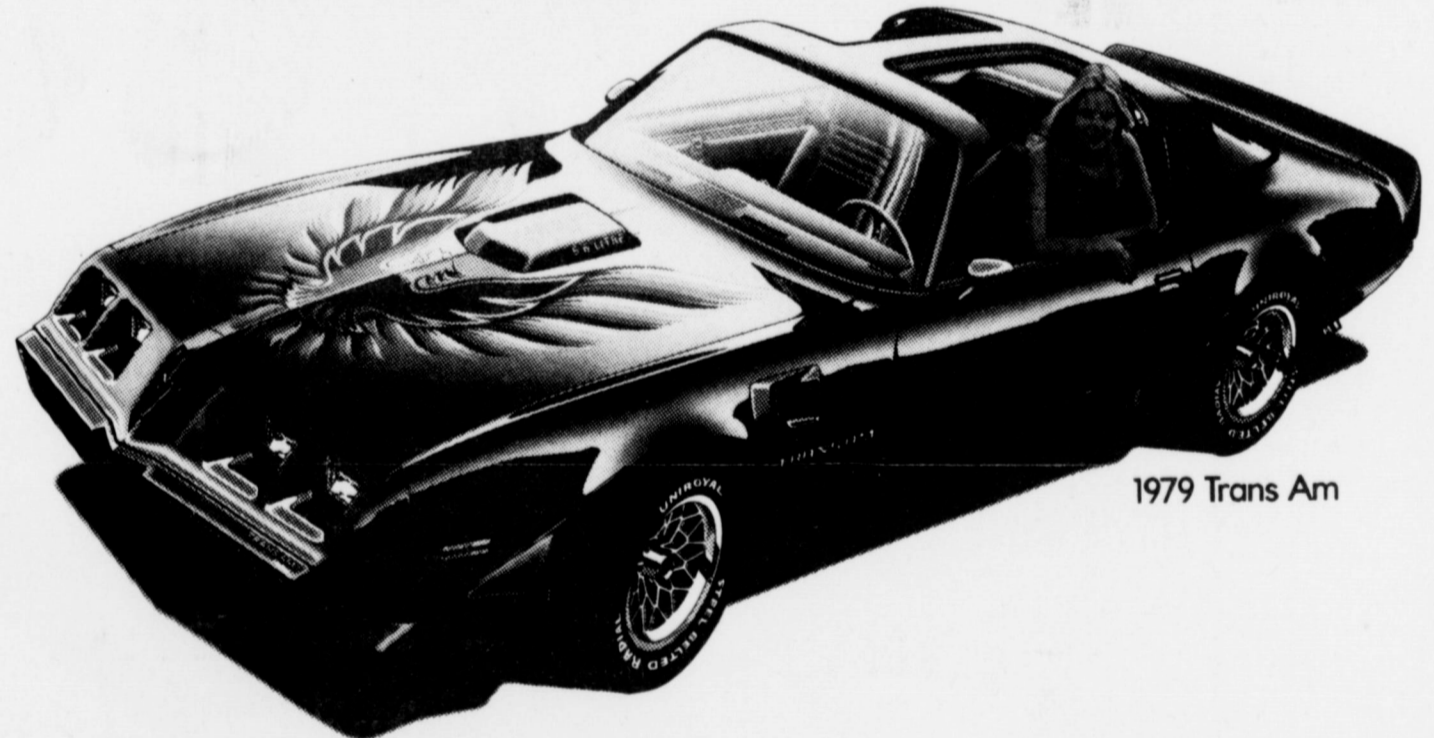

Nothing is drudgery to one who is interested and happy in the work at hand.

Old-fashioned cooking is still very much in fashion.

She is three years old so I thought I would write and find out what you think about it.
Mom—Neb.

Answer:
A child of three is usually happier in a nursery school but it depends on what kind of school each one is and who is in charge of it.

games, but she happened to be closest to the tiebreaker score, an in fact, for the first time in recent history, guessed the Michigan-Notre Dame, 28-14 score, exactly. Had she scored closer on the Texas Tech-Arizona game, she would have raved had some close scores.

Real close was Ina Dennis, who was the third place winner 1st week. She missed only two games, but was a total of 23 points off on the tiebreaker scores.

Jumping out to 30 points or more away on the combined tiebreakers, and missing two games for the week were Ricky King, Mary Sweatman, Hugh Young, Elaine Koddam, Terry Pollard, Wlter Bonness, Richard Egeking, Danny Seales, Dwain Wheat and Robe Brandon.

With no one coming up so far with more than one win, and the season still very young, there are no predictions as to who will come up finally with the two tickets to the Cotton Bowl on January 1 along with a $50 expense check.

Be sure to get your entry in. There was one entry this week that did not have predicted scores for the tiebreakers. Don't forget it, put the predicted scores on the lines indicated.

The Fine Arts Booster Club said that as they are promoting a safe and sane Halloween, they urge parents to let their children out of the cars at the doors on the night of the carnival.

Elizabeth Black reported that the painting to be given away during the carnival is completed and tickets are available from Muleshoe High School art students at 50 cents each.

The painting, without the frame, is valued at $225 and the FA Boosters will have the painting framed for the winner.

It was also reported during the FA meeting that since the Fine Arts Boosters are operating two concessions this year at football games, more workers are needed. It was explained that some workers may be called to work at least twice, as 25 workers are needed for each game.

Charles Faulkner, band director, reported on the annual magazine and newspaper subscription sale. He asked persons who wish to subscribe or renew their subscriptions to please call the band hall at 272-3020 if they are not contacted.

Additional information will be available from Tom Jinks at 282-3911.

GSA--Special Prosecutor Needed

Republicans have a valid point when they say President Carter should have named an independent, special prosecutor to end widespread corruption in the General Services Administration and weed out the guilty.

With the Justice Department and GSA head Jay Solomon squabbling, corrective action was necessary. If Charles Kirbo, the President's friend, can end this squabbling (and one tends to favor the Justice Department's primacy; its people have fewer conflicting interests) that will be a significant achievement.

But the course of action which would reassure the American people is appointment of a special prosecutor, who would not favor Democrats or Republicans and who would include Solomon in the investigation. It's not sound policy to have Administrator Solomon, who has been at the head of a corrupt agency for almost two years, running his own investigation. When Solomon is also fighting the Justice Department and its investigation, the situation raises further doubts.

Kirbo's appointment as an overseer was nevertheless a positive step. His relationship with the President and Attorney General Griffin Bell counts for much. But all are staunch Democrats and the surest way to have all treated the same is to have a special investigator in charge, as with Watergate.

Dangerous Precedent

Congress recently hastily proposed another constitutional amendment. Some of the motivation was political. It would grant the District of Columbia representation in the U.S. House according to population.

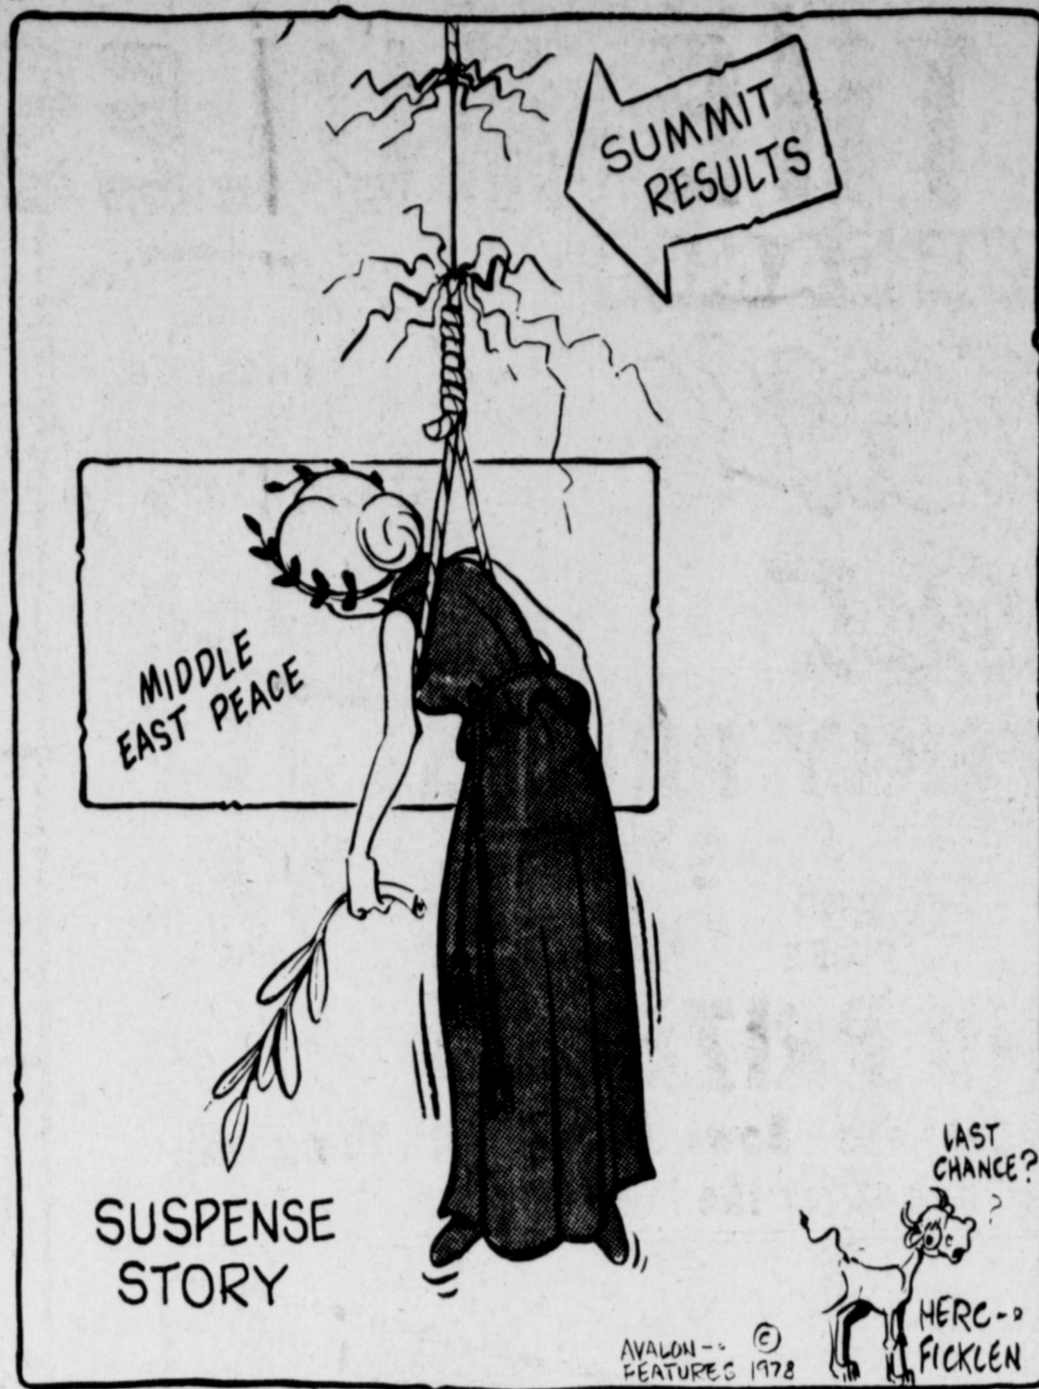

It would also do three other things--each highly questionable: give D.C. two Senators as if it were a state, which it is not; give it participation in the electoral college as if it were a state, which it is not; and give it a constitutional amendment ratification power, as if it were a state, which it is not.

What's wrong with these three parts of the amendment, hurried through Congress as a political gesture to blacks? Is this really a racial issue, as many proponents of the amendment are claiming?

The founders of this nation decreed that the federal capital would not be a state. They established three kinds of entities--states, territories and the federal capital. And the founding fathers made a clear distinction that Senators represented states, not people.

To make the District of Columbia a state would be unwise for several reasons. It has no rural constituency. It also has a city council (under home rule recently granted) which is regulated and financed by Congress, as an agent. Should Congress and the states be financing another "state" which Congress also regulates? Obviously not.

The District is not a sovereign state, can't ever really be a state, nor should it be, and the federal capital should always be regulated by Congress, since it is owned by the fifty states, as the site of the national government. For these and other reasons the recently proposed constitutional amendment is not likely to be ratified by the required number of states.

WASHINGTON NOTES

POSTAL WORKER OFFER

A special mediator has awarded 500,000 postal workers unlimited cost of living increases, a key job security clause for current employees and slightly higher salaries than previously negotiated with the Postal Service.

PERSONAL INCOME UP

The personal income of Americans rose 0.5 percent in August for the slowest rate of increase since January, the government reported. Those gains probably were gobbled up by inflation.

CASTRO & JFK

The House assassinations committee, in a cautiously worded statement, said it had been told there may be some support for a report that Fidel Castro knew in advance of an assassination threat against President John F. Kennedy.

CARTER'S APPEAL

President Carter appealed to moderates in the Arab world to aid Egypt and Israel in the hazardous task of turning the Camp David "framework for peace" into "one of the bright moments in human history."

BALANCE THE BUDGET

The House voted overwhelmingly to amend an International Monetary Fund bill to mandate a balanced federal budget by fiscal 1981.

ON KOREAN-ETHICS

The 19-month-old investigation into alleged Korean influence-buying on Capitol Hill is nearing an end, and action on four congressmen named in the case is expected before Congress breaks for the November elections.

ON ANTI-INFLATION

Administration sources report that President Carter may soon unveil a revised anti-inflation program involving voluntary wage-price guidelines. The inflation rate this year has been in the range of 10 percent.

VOLKSWAGEN TOPS

With a top performance of 41 miles per gallon, the diesel-powered Volkswagen Rabbit provides the best fuel economy of any automobile sold in the United States, the Environmental Protection Agency announced.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN--November 7 voters will go to the polls to elect those who will administer their local and state governments. Voters will also be faced with another important choice--that of approving or rejecting proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

Amendment No. 2 proposes to amend Article III, Section 52 of the Texas Constitution which prohibits local governments from lending their credit to assist private entities. Texas is among approximately 10 states that prohibit local governments financing of industrial facilities. The proposed amendment would add a section to Article III permitting political subdivisions to issue revenue bonds "to develop employment opportunities." Enabling legislation contingent on the adoption of the amendment would restrict participation to counties and cities.

Funds for the acquisition and construction of facilities would be raised by revenue bonds to be sold or leased to a private entity and use the resulting revenue to repay the bonds. No other funds could be used for bond retirement. The facilities would not be exempt from property taxes unless they were "used exclusively by the political subdivision."

Proponents of the amendment point to experience in other states as showing the use of industrial development bonds to be a valuable means of attracting new business and thus improving local economies. They also point out that adoption of the proposed amendment would make Texas communities competitive with those in other states.

By insuring that facilities financed under the program will be subject to property taxes while used by private firms, proponents point out that the amendment could help spread the property tax burden among a greater number of taxpayers.

Opponents say that public funds and public credit should be used only for public purposes.

TOWER TALKS

by U.S. Senator for Texas JOHN TOWER

Citizens Commission to Solve Red Tape

WASHINGTON--Nothing in this life is certain, Ben Franklin reminded us, but death and taxes. If Ben could observe Washington today, he probably would add a corollary: in the Federal city, nothing is certain but red tape.

Ask most Texans who have dealt with Washington, and you'll likely be told generating red tape is Washington's strongest suit. It's the one thing bureaucrats are good at.

Dr. Franklin might also point out that relying on the bureaucrats to put an end to bureaucracy would be just about as useful as an admonition to the fox that unless he guards the chicken coop, chickens will delight the palate of would-be varmints.

Nothing seems more certain than that real reform of the bureaucracy must come from outside to be meaningful. A hard-nosed assessment by individuals who have nothing at stake and who seek nothing more than better government might be the only answer to a nationwide chorus of complaint about ensnaring bureaucracy and overregulation.

There is no time like the present. That is why a bill I have introduced would create a "Citizens Commission on Economic Regulatory Oversight." Its mission would be clear: review Federal economic regulatory agencies and laws and recommend to Congress the elimination of those agencies, laws, and regulations responsible for the duplication, cost and paperwork burden for everyone from the businessman to the taxpayer.

How would this commission be different from every other commission? Very simply: it would be comprised of distinguished and impartial citizens from outside government who would go straight to the people to find answers necessary to put a stop to excessive regulation and bureaucracy.

The Commission would be required to conduct town meetings in communities all across the country to hear what citizens have to say about the problems. In addition, a nationwide "hotline" would be established so that citizens with complaints could register them with the Commission.

The Commission would file a tentative report to the Congress within one year's time and a final set of recommendations after 18 months to assure that the recommendations result in action.

The Commission, totaling 12 members, would be appointed by the President and by the majority and minority leaders of the House and Senate.

There has been practically no end to commissions and various task forces in the past which have sought to reform the "unanswerable bureaucracy." The real difference is none until now has had the mandate to draw up a laundry list of laws and agencies to be eliminated.

The Commission would focus on: whether and to what extent regulations which have been in effect for five years or more have accomplished their goal; which agencies, because of changed conditions or because they have achieved their goals, are no longer needed; which agencies and regulations need fine tuning to be effective; and whether the nation's tax laws--through incentive or penalty--might be better than strict reliance on rules, regulations and standards in the pursuit of a regulatory objective.

Red tape need not be a certainty. The Citizens' Commission could be the proof of the pudding.

"Talk Back" Television Now On Campus

The experimental "talk-back" television system had its debut recently as the Portales and Roswell campuses of Eastern New Mexico University tested their linkage via microwave connection.

The Instructional Television Fixed Service (ITFS) and KENW-TV in Portales made it possible for Roswell Students to "attend" upper division courses being conducted on the Portales campus.

Additional courses are being planned for the spring. "The method of teaching to a camera as well as to other students poses a problem," says Dr. E. Debs Smith, professor in English. "I have to write in blocks on the board so the camera can pick up everything. I also have to learn to look at the camera just as if it were another student." One camera focuses on the instructor while the other concentrates on visual aids. Since "Talk-back" television is still in the experimental stage in New Mexico, KENW will be busy keeping various statistics on the system. The expense of the operation, including pay going to the students who act as directors, will be monitored, as well as the number of additional students benefiting from the program. "Talk-back" television may open many new doors in the field on interconnecting university campuses throughout New Mexico and the United States.

Rooms on both campuses are equipped with monitors and microphones permitting the Roswell students to converse readily with the instructor. The Portales classroom is additionally equipped with two television cameras mounted on the ceiling. The actual television signal travels from the classroom to KENW-TV through the campus cable system. From their the signal travels to Elida, then to Caprock and finally to the satellite receiving dish at the Roswell campus.

Clyde Powell, director of ITFS, estimates the cost of the equipment and its installation at more than $100,000 but says the cost of the day to day operation will be minimal. Students are being trained to direct the classroom sessions and must be on duty at all times to man the cameras and turn the microphones on and off when necessary.

It is the first such program in the state and the ENMU Clovis branch will eventually be added to the linkage system.

Five courses are being offered this fall, giving Roswell students the chance to receive resident credit for courses not offered at their branch.

Elderly Myths False

Myths may have no place in modern society, but they continue to swirl around the elderly, and one office at Texas Tech University is making a concentrated effort to dispel them.

Dr. Paul A. Knipping, acting director of the university's center on Aging, terms as "nonsense" the idea that all older people are very much alike, and he cited research to indicate there are other common misconceptions.

It is not true, he said, that the ability to learn new information diminishes with age; that, while people over 65 may experience some "health condition", they are limited in daily activities; that there is a steady rate of deterioration with each passing year; that psychiatric impairment is greater than that for younger people; that older people are sexually inactive, isolated, unproductive and rigid in their attitudes; or that older people have adequate incomes.

One-third of all the aged in the United States are plagued by poverty, he said. Three-fourths say they are not lonely. "Psychiatric impairment of older people is no greater than that for younger persons," he said. "However, for young persons severe psychological problems are usually treated, and for older persons these same problems are considered 'par for the aging course', which suggests a sort of benign neglect."

As for the myth about unproductiveness, Knipping listed several of the world's greatest humans as among those who made strong contributions in old age.

On his list are Chaucer, Goethe, Leonardo Da Vinci, Charles DeGaulle, Martha Graham, Agatha Christie, Rachel Carson, Maurice Chevalier, Madame Currie, Robert Frost, the Mayo brothers, Pope John XXIII, Margaret Mead, Grandma Moses, Duke Ellington and Louis Armstrong.

"Despite the evidence," Knipping said, "public attitude has supported the notion of lower expectations and diminished standards of performance for everyone over 65. Society persists in perpetuating myths concerning the aged, and this is likely to contribute to a growing dissension as we emerge from a youth-oriented to a maturing society."

At Texas Tech University, as to other institutions, Knipping said, there is a growing interest in studies related to gerontology. Research and courses are available now in the College of Arts and Sciences in the departments of Sociology, Psychology and Political Science; Home Economics in the departments of Food and Nutrition, Home and Family Life and Clothing and Textiles; and in the College of Education; in the Division of Continuing Education, the School of Law and the School of Medicine, Department of Family Practice.

Knipping is a member of the faculty in Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

He explains that the center seeks input from faculty, students and others interested in meeting the growing need for better understanding of the problems associated with aging.

For more information contact Dr. Knipping, Room 60, Holden Hall, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas 79409 or call 806-742-2410.

View From The Plains by J.D. Peer I&E Field Officer

DOVES & VIOLATIONS SPOTTY

Most traditional areas in northwest Texas are reporting few doves, but seven Louisiana hunters found a hot spot in Jones county and an even hotter judge in Taylor county.

A plea of guilty was entered by each out-of-state hunter for over the possession limit of mourning doves and a fine of $414 per hunter was assessed by the judge after Curtis Jones, warden supervisor, had completed his investigations.

A call from Zane Williams, lake patrolman, prompted the investigation of the Louisiana hunters after Williams had stopped their vehicle which had no license plate displayed. Williams became suspicious when out-of-state hunters told of dove hunting in Jones county and that they were headed home. Williams contacted Warden Jones who found 456 dove iced down in a chest in the vehicle.

Jones obtained assistance from Dale Evans, another Texas game warden nearby and the men were escorted to the judge where the fines totaled $2898 before the Louisiana men could continue their trip back home.

CRANE PERMITS AVAILABLE

The 1978-79 hunting season on sandhill cranes has been set for Oct. 31 through Jan. 31, 1979 in Zone A and Dec. 5 through Jan. 31, 1979 in Zone B and each crane hunter, regardless of license requirements, will be required a crane permit.

The free permit printed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and issued by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, will be available only from the P&WD office in Austin.

Requests for each crane permit must include the applicant's name, current mailing address and county of residence. One person may apply for other persons as long as the required information is included for each hunter. Applicants must write TP?WD, Wildlife Division, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Tx. 78744.

Crane hunters should pickup a new copy of the 1978-79 Texas Migratory Game Birds Hunting regulations which lists the counties and the two zones for crane hunting.

A duck stamp is NOT required for sandhill crane hunting. If the hunter wants to bag waterfowl such as ducks and geese, however, a federal migratory waterfowl stamp must be in his possession signed by the hunter.

Persons sending for their crane permits should check hunting license regulations before going afield as age and county hunted will determine the necessity of a license.

BOW HUNTING A CHALLENGING SPORT

Drought and flood have had their affect on wildlife this summer and archery hunters will have to utilize all their hunting skills as the bow and arrow deer season opens statewide Oct. 1. The archery season will continue through Oct. 16 in the Panhandle and Oct. 31 for most of the remainder of Texas except for mule deer hunters in a few counties. A nine-day season will be held in the Trans-Pecos district of far West Texas from Oct. 1-9. Several West Texas counties have been closed to deer hunting including archery and sportsmen should check the new 1978-79 Texas Hunting &

Sport Fishing Guide for detailed county information. Bow hunters will again be required to use equipment that meets the state regulations. The bow must be capable of shooting a hunting arrow equipped with a broadhead hunting point for a distance of 130 yards while taking game animals and game birds. The broadhead hunting point must be at least seven eights inches (7/8) in width and not more than one and one-half inches in width. Arrows must be marked with the name and address of the user in some non-water-soluble medium. The arrows cannot be poisoned, drugged, or explosive. Crossbows are not legal for taking game animals and game birds at any time in regulatory counties or during archery-only seasons in non-regulatory counties. All persons who hunt wild deer, bear, turkey, or javelina during any open archery season in which long bows and arrows may be used are required to purchase a $3.25 Texas archery stamp in addition to other hunting license requirements. The archery stamp must be signed by the person using the stamp. Part of the money from the sales of archery stamps is designated for wildlife management and research as bow hunters help pay their way.

PRONGHORN PERMITS ISSUED
The overall outlook for antelope is "average" as the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department issued a total of 1322 permits to the landowners with huntable populations of antelope on their property. 865 permits were issued in the Trans-Pecos, 21 in the Possum Kingdom and 436 in the Panhandle. Last year, 700 permits were issued in the Trans-Pecos with 408 pronghorns bagged by hunters. The state-wide season is Sept. 30-Oct. 8 and hunters must obtain the permit from the landowner prior to hunting antelope. Lists of permit holders are located at most of the P&WD offices in West Texas. Hunters can also call the local Texas game warden for information on available permits in his district. Only buck antelope will be legal during the nine-day season.
