An Old Citizen Speaks his Mind.

Editor San Antonio Express

I desire to call the attention of your pat-rons to some of the ordinances of this city which, I think, are opressive, to wit: The oow ordinance for one.

On avenue C and Sixth and S. venth streets, over three-quarters of a mile from Main Plaza, all the inhabitants of that part of the city, aspport their families by the sweat of their faces, or in other words, are hewers of wood and drawers of water. An old gentleman named Glover, a stran ger, residing at Mr. Sam. Maverick's place at the river above the Alamo fulls, at feast two blocks entaids of the limits of

Then my neighbor, on the corner of Seventh street and Avenue C had to pay $14 for his two cows and two yearlings. But the City Fathers say in their actions, "all right," he is nothing but a stone

The excuse for this oppressive ordinance is, that it interferes with the vehicles that run in the street. Now, allow me to inform you that Arenue C, between my toose and Mr. Pitts, has bushes six feet high growing in said at each in part of the city pays taxes as promptly as any other part of the city. promptly as any other part of the city, and then we give in our property at its

We have no objection to the cow ord; M. A. Durler, M. We have no objection to the cow ord; Desire the course of the streets where the cows become a unisance. From what I can learn, the trouble is this:

The citizens neglect or fall to keep their gates closed; or the cows have get so penalt that they have learned to open the gates closed; or the cows have got so emart that they have harried to open the gates, and they destroy the abrubbery. Now, they have never opened my gate, neither have they hurt my trees on the street this year. But they I forgot that it is measured largely to assume that a laboring man has any rights in this city or cleave here.

I think the whole matter sums up in this, that the direction of the handson of the land of the streets clear of cowe where vehicles arely go. I would suggest to the Himor able Mayor and aldermen to create a new Propriofice in the city, to wit? that of gate Texas. shutter. That will be already alleaper for whutter. That will be a nuch allower for the city, as retrenchment is the watchword in their present administration, as most of the aldermen chain it to be.

I am estimate that retronchment is the agony from the first of the rente received from the market houses, particularly the one on the West side of the riter, as I have been informed that the income is between $8,000 to $10,000 a year.

That market house was created under Col. 8 weet as mayor, in 1859, and cost the city about $16,000. That year I happened to be elected Chief of Police, Market Mast-

Well, why not? I am informed that live pay themselves live deligres at each and every meeting; say they need four times a month, that is $20 a piece.

There is an allow and live and this city. There is an allow to order.

There is another ordinance of this city to which I will call public attention. Jie not know the same of said ordinance, but suffice it to say that in the last four or five weeks there has been a sories of course instituted against Keepers of houses of prostitution. The city authorities were careful to arrest all the small fry, and put them therough is double quick time; but they deemed it expedient not to deal with those that public collinous are the ring loaders in violating and divinance. THANKS.—The proprietors of the EXPRESS return their hearty thanks to a generous public, and to the people of this city especially, for the very liberal, the unexpectedly large, patronage given them during the hest week of their new journalistic career. They will strive hard to vindicate the confidence thus reposed in them by a course of unswerving honesty, of invariable courtesy, of devotion to the highest staste, and by strict and laborious attention to their editorial and business duties.

THE BENEFIT IS YOURS .- A fine journal adds millions to the wealth of a city-and country, and rarely enriches its conductors.

The papers of Texas have made its fortune. They have built its cities, railroads and manufactories; brought in its immigration and capital; quadrupled the price of its fands; built up its commerce; established its telegraph and steamship lines; built its churches and schools, and brought its society from chaos to order.

The benefit of making the Express a fine journal will fall to San Antonio and Western Texas, Build it up at once.

Sankey, the Singer. Ira D. Sankey, the singing evangelist, returned to his old home at New Castle, Pa., last week, and on Sunday last was tendered a religious reception at the Opera House, the exercises being of an entirely undenominational character, An address of welcome was delivered by Cyrus Clarke, Esq., an older in the First Methodist Church, and a cousin of the evangelist.
