Dr. J. J. Clarke came in from Plaquemine, Louisiana, Thursday. The doctor has been away some weeks and is glad to get back. Mrs. Clarke will return in a month or so, when she and the new arrival feel able to stand the journey. "Is it a boy or a child?" the doctor was asked. "Tis nayther, its a girl," replied the D. D. We take the following from the minutes of the meeting of Artesia Club which was held Monday night:

The election of officers resulted in the selection of A. C. Keinath for Secretary and Frank Newkirk treasurer. Directors are: E. B. Kemp for three years; H. W. Hamilton (hold over), E. C. Higgins (hold over). Directors (two years) S. W. Gilbert, J. B. Atkeson, O. H. Ragsdale (hold over). Directors (one year) D. L. Newkirk, R. Gessler, E. E. McNatt.

"Mr. Whelan made some interesting suggestions regarding the result to Artesia of the new bridge over the Pecos and the need of stock yards at this point and a motion was made and carried that the matter be referred to the railroad committee of the club, said committee to be appointed at next meeting of directors.

"Mr. E. B. Kemp had some practical suggestions regarding the amount of acreage in and around Artesia and it was agreed that the matter be referred to the advertising committee as appointed by the directors at their next meeting.

"The question of the Hope reservoir was brought up and quite generally discussed and it was the sense of the meeting that all data possible should be collected and that the matter should be continually kept before the people."

The directors of the club met Thursday night and appointed H. W. Hamilton, president; E. B. Kemp, 1st vice president and E. C. Higgins 2nd vice president. Several committees were also appointed.

They are thoroughly conversant with the land business and they will succeed.

Walter Weems at Rest

Walter Weems died at his home in Newtonia, Mo., Sept. 1, at 4 o'clock p. m. Walter was once a resident of Artesia, having come here on account of failing health, but not recovering he returned to his old Missouri home to spend his last days with his loved ones. He was a young man of great promise, with unusual intellectual powers, sweet spirited and well qualified to accomplish great good in the world; so it is hard to understand why one so useful and promising should be taken. But the Lord's ways are not our ways; they are deep and past finding out; so we have only to cleave unto him and his promises, as he knows and directs all things for the best.

Walter Weems leaves a father, mother, two brothers and one sister, with many relatives and friends in Missouri, and many friends in Artesia and other places where he has resided, to mourn his loss.

We say "goodby, but not forever" for he is waiting to greet the faithful on the other shore.

RAISE BIG CROPS

This Year's Crops Up To Highest Pecos Valley Standard

GREAT OATS AND ALFALFA

A number of statements and affidavits have been collected relative to present year's crops. W. C. McBride of the threshing firm of McBride & Co. shows that the average yield of oats for the year was about fifty bushels an acre. In regard to alfalfa seed he threshed one acre that yielded $72.90.

A. L. Scheider who is managing the alfalfa field on the M. A. Olden farm and who is in partnership with Mr. Olden, testifies that the crop of hay this year will yield over $70 an acre for a field of over sixty acres.

E. Robin cut a fourth crop of alfalfa August 6 and is ready to cut another now. He sold the four crops for more than $60 an acre. Dr. E. P. McCormick has a thirteen acre field a crop of seed from which yielded over $18 an acre. Up to date his crops of hay and seed were worth $1115.55 for this year.

J. B. Cecil, manager of the C. A. P. Land & Cattle Co. had oats that yielded sixtyeight an acre and weighed 44 pounds a bushel while George Kline had thirty-five acres of oats that yielded an average of seventyfive bushels an acre.

Marshall G. W. was on resignation and left for Silver City Tuesday. The Artesia policeman has as little excitement as the Vice President and while Wilson was not exactly a Teddy the enigma begun to tell on him so he resigned.

Dr. J. B. Hall of the Kirby instrument Co of Dallas was here this week. He is a brother-in-law of Judge A. V. Logan's.

Library Board Meets

The regular meeting of the Woman's Board of Managers of the Library on Thursday afternoon showed the following members present: Mesdames Atkeson, Kemp, Martin, Gilbert, Johnson, Inman and Jacobson. During the illness of Mrs. Johnson, Librarian, the work was successfully carried on and the Reading Room kept open at the regular hours. Many books have been read throughout the summer vacation and every evening brings a fair number of visitors to the room. The reports of various officers, and committees were encouraging. Mrs. Gilbert, chairman of the purchasing committee, reported that 50 new books have been ordered. Most of them are late fiction. Mrs. Ross' resignation was accepted and her place on the board will be taken by Mrs. E. T. Dunaway.

We repair anything from a crooked pin to a locomotive. Artesia Machine Shop.

Mrs. M. H. Thomas and her son W. O. Thomas wish to extend thanks to kind friends for assistance and sympathy during illness and death of husband and father.

LAYING BUILDING-STONE.

Almost everybody knows the rule of the masons that stone used in building should be so placed that it will lie as it lay in its natural bed when quarried. But Francis W. Hoyt, in the Engineering News, says that this familiar rule is not always to be depended upon and needs in many cases to be supplemented with other precautions. There are three planes of fracture known to quarrymen. The "rift" is the direction in which the stone splits most easily; the "grain" that which is next easiest; the "head" that which offers the greatest resistance. In a paving block the two sides represent the rift fracture, the top and bottom the grain and the ends the head. But in a quarry the natural bed is sometimes considerably inclined to the plane of the rift; hence the imperfection of the ordinary rule for placing the stone in building.

UP TO DATE IN JAPAN.

One of the most extraordinary incidents that ever took place in the city of Fuchau, China, occurred on December 2. One of the leading gentry gave his daughter in marriage, and ignored all the old formal set customs that have been followed for generations. The service was held at the bride's home. No kneeling and bumping the head on the ground was indulged in. The happy couple had been educated abroad, spoke Japanese and English, and were dressed in foreign costume.

HIS BRAND.

The man from the "Circle-bar" ranch listened with apathy to the New Englander's account of the choice entertainments to be enjoyed in his native city.

"We have everything that's really worth money out our way, I guess," he said, indifferently. "Why, on January 12 we had the world renowned bell ringers; January 20, Hal Brown, the greatest cornetist in the world, and January 31, grand production of William Shakespeare's 'Lewis the Cross Eye.' I tell you that was great!"

"What did you say was the name of the play?" asked the New Englander.

"Here, see for yourself," said the man from the ranch, and he passed out a programme headed: "Grand production of Louis XI."—Youth's Companion.

CHARACTER AND THE HAT.

A milliner with a turn for philosophy declares that a woman's character is infallibly revealed by the hat she wears. "There are audacious hats, modest hats, ridiculous hats and hats that reveal the wearer as cautious and secretive. As a rule a woman of strong personality may be trusted to choose a hat to suit her. She is strong enough to withstand the temptation to wear something merely fashionable. The vulgar, self-assertive woman generally selects a 'loud,' obtrusive hat, but even that I prefer to the funereal style of headgear affected by the morbid woman."

CITY BOY'S IDEA.

F. A. Whitney of Meeteetse, Wyo., a rich rancher, during a recent visit to New York told a story about a little slum urchin whom he had sent on a month's vacation into the country. "The lad," he said, "thought we got mush from the mushroom and milk from the milkweed. One morning a lady pointed to a horse in a field and said: 'Look at the horse, Jimmy.' 'That's a cow,' the boy contradicted. 'No,' said the lady, 'it's a horse.' 'Tain't. It's a cow,' said the boy. 'Horses has wagons to 'em.'"

AROUSED FALSE HOPES.

"Mulrooney, wud yez like a little drink?"
"Thanks, Casey. I wud."
"So wud I."
Then the battle began.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FIRST TO MAKE CHAMPAGNE

French Monk Was the Originator of Sparkling Wine.

"We'll have another bottle," said the champagne salesman. "The house foots the bill. It's nothing out of my pocket."

He drank thirstily.
"Good stuff, ain't it," he said. "Do you know who invented champagne? I tell about it in the little advertising pamphlet I'm getting out for the Easter trade. It was a monk."

He filled all the glasses again.
"Yes, sir. The inventor of champagne was a monk, Dom Perignon, cellarer of the French abbey of Hautvillers, near Epernay. Dom Perignon conceived the idea that the carbonic acid gas generated in wine's second state of fermentation would taste good if it could be kept in. But with the greased hemp corks they used in those days the gas escaped. Clever Dom Perignon hit on the idea of corking his wine with the bark of the chene llege, or cork tree, thus also inventing, you see, the cork of cork. Well, I don't need to tell you that his experiment succeeded. Most of his cork corked bottles broke, but the surviving ones contained a crisp, bubbling, frothing wine that—well, that made Dom Perignon's name immortal."

"The French, by the way, the makers of champagne, drink it cool, but not highly iced, as we do. They say that highly iced it loses its delicate flavor, just as is the case with highly iced beer."

"Waiter, one more bottle, please. We'll drink to Perignon."

GIVING TIPS IN JAPAN.

There the Innkeeper is Not Forgotten When Guest Goes Away.

"If you hotelkeepers should ever be told of the Japanese method of tipping, why we would all have to take to the woods," said a far eastern traveler, in the New Orleans Picayune. "In a Japanese hotel you give the proprietor the biggest tip of all when leaving, and grade the other tips accordingly."

"When your bill is handed to you it is customary to wrap up in a separate piece of paper an amount approximating about one-fifth of the whole amount and give that to the worthy innkeeper, together with the regular amount required of you by his account, which you indorse in the folded bill. Then you wrap up smaller sums in smaller pieces of paper, and parcel these Christmas packages out among the servants who have waited on you."

"This tip to the boniface is called chodal, or tea money, and the Japanese explain its usage after this manner of reasoning:

"All hotel charges in Japan are forced by law to be very low, so that even the very poor man who finds himself on the road of nights can get food and shelter for a nominal sum. The rich man has to pay no more than the beggar."

"Since the hotel man could not make a living if this order of things were allowed to exist, without some saving grace, some recompense must be made to the hotel keeper for his enforced generosity. Therefore, it is argued, if a guest can well afford to give the host something more than he asks, he not only provides for those less fortunate than himself, but he fends himself against the evil day when he may have to ask a beggar's board and bed. It is not charity to the innkeeper, but merely a wise provision against possible hard times."

"But if a man whom the worthy host believes to be able to afford a generous chodal leaves the hotel without paying the same, woe betide him should he ever return to that hostelry again. He will get last chance at the communal bathtub, will get the most drafty room in the house, and in a hundred ways be made to feel that he is the most miserable of men."

Had Tetter For Thirty Years.

I had suffered with tetter for thirty years and have tried almost countless remedies with little, if any, relief. Three boxes of Chamberlain's Salve cured me. It was a torture. It breaks out a little sometimes, but nothing to what it used to do.—D. H. BEACH, Midland City, Ala. Chamberlain's Salve is for sale by Redford & Mann.

IT'S INFLUENCE WAS BAD.

Congressman's Demoralizing Effect on Native Town.

The old man on the postoffice steps was chewing his straw and frowning in high dudgeon.

"You seem in a bad humor, uncle?" ventured the starch drummer.

"Yaas, and, by he'sk, I ought to be," growled the old man. "This here town is going to the bowwows."

"What is the cause of that?"

"Why, Bill Binks, our congressman. We sent him to congress to make the town better, and it was better while he was away. But as soon as he came home with all the things he learned in Washington, the sewing socials turned to bridge whist parties, the checker clubs turned to poker clubs and, he gosh, the spruce beer drinkers turned to cocktail drinkers. He's put the town to the bad, and the next time he goes away we are going to pay him extra to spend his leafing months away from Bacon Ridge."

Honey is nutritious.

"Honey, one of the most nutritious and delicate of foods, should be eaten more than it is," said a cooking expert. "Bought in the comb, it is bound to be adulterated and this pure honey will keep its friends free from sore throat and bronchial troubles. I have not had a sore throat for six years and I attribute it to eating honey. My doctor tells me he often recommends honey, with excellent results, for diseases of the throat. Honey is excellent to use instead of sugar for sweetening cakes. It gives the cakes a most delightful flavor. It is also excellent in place of butter on hot biscuits, on toast and on buckwheat cakes."

"I know a number of women who use honey as a cosmetic. They apply it to the skin, rub it in well, then wash it off with hot water. The result is a finer-textured complexion, a glowing fresh look."

ARTESIA COLLEGE

BOARDING DEPARTMENT

Is Co-OPERATIVE. that is, the students furnish the money as a common fund. It is spent in their interest alone. "They pay for nothing they do not get and get all they all they pay for." An exact account of expense is kept, and any money not spent is returned, prorata, to the students.

To secure

MINIMUM OF COST

The products of the college land are passed, less the cost of production, to the credit of the students. Thus: If potatoes can be produced at 1 cent per lb., the student pays that price (1 ct. per lb.) If pork can be produced for 2 cts. per lb., it goes to the student at that price. And this rule is observed throughout. Thus good board will be cheap.

I will not make money from the Boarding Department of a school; and I shall do all in my power to reduce this, the largest expense, attending life at school. By this means it becomes possible for many to attend boarding school, who could not otherwise attend. It were folly to give 10 ct. or 15 ct. per lb. for meat or lard, if the goods of same quality can be had 50 per ct. cheaper. Under our plan this can be done.

TUITION FEES

Belong to the teachers. They do the teaching and for this, but for nothing else, they must be paid; and they must be well paid. Therefore the tuition fees must be liberal.

DOMESTIC HELP

Is an item that comes in Boarding Department. Good cooks command good wages. The students, of course, pay the wages. So of fuel, wear and tare of furniture, etc. But the school is to have no profit from this Department.

EXCHANGE OF VALUES

The teacher has values that the parent wants for his child, viz., school facilities,—instruction, care, discipline, etc; and for these the parents are willing to pay money. It is often the case that parents who live near the school have values that the teacher needs, such as farm products, live stock, etc. In such cases an exchange of these surplus values is quite convenient. The other day a gentleman said, I do not know that I shall have any money, but I shall have corn and other products. I replied, all right, I shall need such things. So let us thus help one another.

If there be a demand for it, we shall have,

A KINDERGARTEN

SCHOLARSHIPS if applied and paid for in advance, for five months, only $12.50.

BAD HABITS OF SLEEPERS.

Many Devices Intended to Remedy Common Nuisances.

Man is the victim of bad habits in his sleep as well as in his waking hours. So distressing are some of these habits of sleep that they oblige wife and husband to occupy separate rooms, even at times causing divorce. Snoring is, of course, the commonest if not the worst of sleep's bad habits. Snoring may be remedied. There are a dozen patented devices that, holding the mouth shut tight, prevent the snore.

Grinding the teeth is a disagreeable habit of sleep. It is impossible to sleep in the same room with any one who emits at irregular intervals this hideous sound. The trick is said to be incurable, but a rubber cap worn on the teeth renders the grinding almost noiseless. Nervous persons sometimes leap in their sleep a foot or more in the air, shaking the bed and the whole room. The man who gives eight or nine of these leaps in the course of the night soon becomes an intolerable bedfellow. Nerve tonics and exercise should be prescribed for him.

Nasal whistling is a habit less easy to cure than snoring. The sleeper keeps his mouth closed, but breathes with a distressing sound through his nose. The sound resembles a low whistle, and heard in the small hours is guaranteed to madden.

Had to Go.

Oscar Hammerstein was smiling at the extravagant attentions that are lavished by the rich upon pet dogs. He spoke of the canine operations for appendicitis, the canine tooth-crownings, the canine wardrobes that have recently amazed New York, and then he said: "How servants hate these pampered curs! At a house where I was calling one warm day the fat and pompous butler entered the drawing room and said: 'Did you ring, madam?'"

"Yes, Harrison. I wish you to take Fido out walking for two hours." "Harrison frowned slightly. 'But Fido won't follow me, madam,' he said. "Then, Harrison, you must follow Fido."

Why He Despaired.

Rev. Frederick B. Bridgman, the noted and successful missionary to the Zulus, was talking in Philadelphia about missionary work. "Much depends upon the character of the people one works among," he said, "and I can sympathize a little with the missionary who returned home from China in a despondent mood. A Chinese convert stole this missionary's watch and then came back to him the next morning to learn how to wind it up."

Which Did He Ta

Dr. Woodrow Wilson, pre Princeton university, was s down a shady lane one day early summer when he met handsome youth who had just graduated. He was poor but very intelligent. In all his courses he taken honors, including athletics.

"Well, Smith," said Dr. Wilson "through at last, eh?"

"Yes, sir," said the young man, smiling and blushing.

"And now what are you going to do?"

"I hardly know, sir. I have had two offers."

"Two? Wonderful!" "Yes, sir. One from a scientific society, offering me a secretaryship at $5 a week and the other is from a baseball manager offering me a five years' contract to pitch at $5,000 a season."

A Valuable Witness.

A southern lawyer tells of a case that came to him at the outset of his career, wherein his principal witness was a ducky named Jackson, supposed to have knowledge of certain transactions not at all to the credit of his employer, the defendant.

"Now, Jackson," said the lawyer, "I want you to understand the importance of telling the truth when you are put on the stand. You know what will happen, don't you, if you don't tell the truth?"

"Yassir," was Jackson's reply, "in dat case I expects our side will win de case."—Harper's Magazine.

The Life of Bella.

Comparatively few people know that ringing a bell ruins it. That is, a bell has a definite length of life, and after so many blows will break. A 900 pound bell, struck blows of 175 foot pounds of force, broke after 11,000 blows. A 4,000 pound bell broke after 18,000 blows of 250 foot pounds force. A steel composition bell weighing 1,000 pounds broke after 25 blows of 150 foot pounds, but the maker said it was calculated for a lighter blow.
