The pay was first struck around 4,103 feet and 400 feet with fluid in a short time. The possibilities of the well are known at this time, but operators believe that this test will equal or exceed the Terry No. 1, the Walker Oil Corporation, which No. 1 extends the proven mile and a half to the south. Empire Gas and Fuel Co., when successful in shutting off largest gas well developed in the state to date in their Closson No. 1, E. sec. 6-22-36. The big flow encountered around 3,590 feet is said to have gauged one and ten million feet. Work has muddied this flow off and drilling ahead below 3,550 feet will likely be completed as

ARTESIA TO PREPARE EXHIBIT FOR CHAVES CO. COTTON CARNIVAL

Plans are under way to collect a general exhibit from this community for the Chaves County Cotton Carnival, October 9 to 12, inclusive. Preliminary details connected with the exhibit were arranged at a joint meeting of the Rotary-Lions committees Thursday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce. The exhibit will be under the supervision of F. A. Linell, general chairman and will consist of a choice selection of farm and garden products and flowers; livestock will be excluded due to the limited space the local booth will occupy.

The committee earnestly requests the cooperation of every citizen in making an attractive booth. If you have a choice lot of any farm product or garden product or an attractive specimen of flowers, bring them to the Chamber of Commerce. The farm or garden exhibit will include any farm product such as vegetables, a specimen of cotton, corn, wheat, maize, alfalfa, apples, or other fruits and canned products of the housewife.

It is hoped that sufficient interest will be manifested in this worthy undertaking so that the exhibits may be brought in by various individuals. If the exhibit is of any value to the owner, the article or articles will be returned unharmed. A safe return of valuable items is guaranteed both by Mr. Linell and the Chamber of Commerce.

In the shipment were a jar of plain canned peaches, a jar of sweet pickled peaches and a jar of pears. This fruit was the finest Pecos Valley product and perfectly canned. Those who saw it are agreed that if it does not get a prize it ought to. The fruit will be judged upon the neatness of the package, the appearance and taste of the fruit and juice. All fruit entering the contest will be given to orphan homes in Chicago after it is judged.

Mrs. W. R. Hornbaker also submitted an exhibit for the canning contest, it was understood yesterday, but we did not learn what the exhibit consisted of.

BIG APPLE CROP IS MOVING RAPIDLY NOW 72 CARS ARE SHIPPED

Apples will rival the cotton as a cash crop of this section, at least during the early part of the fall. The present crop of apples has shown a decided gain over former years and has given employment to a large number of laborers. Four washing and grading machines have been active since the opening of the season and these machines alone have given employment to a number of people, maintaining an average force of sixty or better, in addition to the pickers and on the days when a full run is made approximately 2,000 bushels are washed and graded and made ready for shipment.

Up to Tuesday night, seventy-two cars of apples from orchards at Hope, Artesia and Cottonwood had been shipped out of Artesia.

Kishbaugh, of Azusa, California and former resident of Artesia was killed in an auto accident at Altura, California, Monday afternoon, according to a telegram received here by Tom Heflin Tuesday morning. ### REAL POTATO CULTURE

John Fanning, local farmer, knows his spuds when it comes to growing potatoes and for two successive years has secured a big yield from a small patch. Last spring Mr. Fanning planted 100 pounds of potatoes on a small plot of ground, one-eighth of an acre to be exact and from this one-eighth of an acre he has gathered approximately 1,100 pounds. He has also made a discovery that may interest farmers troubled with Johnson grass. Apparently, the potatoes have done well down among the Johnson grass roots, Mr. Fanning says.

WRIGHT TRIAL MAY BE POSTPONED DUE TO SHORTAGE OF FUNDS

CARLSBAD—The date for the trial of Carl A. Wright, charged with first degree murder in connection with the killing of A. J. Foster near Lakewood, August 15, in the Eddy county district court at Carlsbad has not as yet been definitely set although the regular term of court is scheduled for October 7.

According to county officials there is no definite assurance that the district court will convene on the date set due to a shortage of funds in Eddy county treasury at present as taxes will not be collected until after October 1, 1929. It is probable that the term will be delayed until the first week in December, giving ample time to make financial arrangements.

According to the Roswell Record Canty made an extended statement in which he said that he was attempting to stop a fight on the dance hall floor, during which time his son Edward received a severe beating, at the time the fatal shot was fired. Canty said that he intended to harm no one, but when he struck someone over the head to save his son, Edward, the gun was discharged.

Canty declared that his brother W. H. Canty, who has been held in the Chaves county jail since the trouble occurred had nothing to do with the shooting.

CANUTO HERNANDEZ MEETS INSTANT DEATH AT GRADE CROSSING

Caunto Hernandez, age 46, an employee of the highway department met instant death at the Atoka switch, Sunday afternoon, when the south bound passenger crashed into a Ford car he was driving. Hernandez, according to the story told of the accident had started to work, the Atoka store building evidently obstructed his view of the railroad track and he was on the crossing before he realized the danger. The train struck the Hernandez car about midway across the track and hurled the unfortunate man a distance of some forty or fifty feet. Hernandez sustained a broken leg and was struck in the temple by a piece of flying metal, which is thought to have caused instant death. The car was completely wrecked.

The wreck held up the south bound passenger for some time, while the north bound passenger waited at Lakewood.

S. W. Gilbert, justice of the peace conducted an inquest over the body Monday morning. The verdict of the jury was that Hernandez had met death by accident.

The deceased is survived by a mother and one brother.

San Marcial Destroyed By Rio Grande Flood Tues.

Adobe Houses Crumble As The River Dykes Break—Many Flee To Hills—The Railroad Bridges Destroyed By Waters.

ALBUQUERQUE.— It was evident here early last night that the 54 persons marooned in the Harvey house at San Marcial, N. M., had been removed by boats when continued attempts to reach the place by telephone failed. The Harvey house was the last place in San Marcial available by wire.

At 3:00 p. m., the manager of the Harvey house said in a telephone conversation with the Albuquerque Journal that all but 12 of the marooned persons had been removed. Shortly thereafter calls by railroad officials and newspaper men in the Journal office failed to bring response.

Most of the persons taken from the Harvey house were railroad men and laborers who had been working on the dykes and a few San Marcial residents who stayed with their homes until the last minute. Those who left yesterday afternoon went to the hills where some will wait until the water recedes. Some, however, will go to El Paso at the earliest opportunity, it was learned here. The laborers, according to information received while telephone communication was still in progress, will join work trains crews on the Santa Fe railroad south of San Marcial.

The breaking of the dyke Tuesday resulted in the virtual destruction of the town. Most of the buildings were of adobe construction which crumbled quickly when attacked by flood waters. Many of the frame structures were also destroyed.

Rebuilding plans are unknown. Some years ago the Santa Fe railroad made a survey for a change of its lines to higher ground. This change would have taken San Marcial off the railroad line. It is not known here whether the railroad will rebuild its old lines or move them to the new survey when the water recedes.

ALBUQUERQUE.— Man-made barriers were insufficient to withhold the torrent of flood water flowing down the Rio Grande river Tuesday and late Tuesday afternoon dykes went out at San Marcial, inundating the town and marooning 70 persons. The seventy were in the Harvey house which was then in a flood four feet deep, and the Santa Fe depot, also in about four feet of water. These buildings, of frame construction are on the highest ground in town.

The country around here the last few days has had heavy rains, all emptying into the Rio Grande and two large tributaries—the Rio Salado and the Rio Puerco. The water in the Rio Grande rose steadily all day until about noon when a break appeared in one of the dykes at San Marcial. Workmen succeeded in stemming the flow until about 2:30 when a 150-foot section of the dyke went out and carried with it the tracks of the Santa Fe railroad. From that hour on to six o'clock, the dyke continued to crumble and Tuesday night when last communication with the town was possible, it was said the entire barrier was gone. Hundreds of feet of railroad track was washed out.

GOVERNOR MAKES NO COMMENT ON THE HIGHWAY SCANDAL

Governor Dillon made no comment regarding the grand jury report of the alleged highway scandal on his recent visit to Roswell. Governor Dillon accompanied by Charles Springer, chairman of the highway commission and W. C. Davidson, state highway engineer attended the organization meeting of the U. S. Highway 366 Association held in Roswell Monday. Messrs. Davidson and Springer drove down from Roswell Monday to inspect the oiling process on the Dexter-Lakewood road, but so far as known made no stops along the way. One resident reports that he saw the officials pass through, but they did not stop.

THE COUNTY IS SAVED

The report of the grand jury at Santa Fe, made public Saturday assures a political issue for 1930 and the county is saved. It was politics that started the investigation and politics will end the issue. In the meantime we expect to hear more of the case; in fact will hear about it until the whole affair grows tiresome.

With these facts in mind, we can readily understand why the people of this section have been able to work up little interest in the investigation. We have heard of the ugly side of the situation, but do not know of the mitigating circumstances surrounding the affair.

Since it is apparent that politics and a selfish motive prompted the start of the investigation we refuse to "Get hot and bothered" over the so-called scandal until we learn more of the facts in the case.

So far as the report affects the integrity of Mr.
Springer, most of the people are aware of the fact that he has given the state years of good service without financial remuneration and oftentimes probably at the expense of his own personal affairs. We also recall that under the administration of Springer and Davidson, New Mexico has made wonderful progress in road building. In fact if we take into consideration the financial condition of the state, our road building program has been the marvel of the entire southwest.
It is also a well known fact that Bill Davidson has made one of the most efficient engineers the state has ever had, even though he did know that one of his right hand men was selling booze, the conduct of the accused man never interfered with the duty Davidson owed the state. And furthermore the public does not know of all the inside facts surrounding Davidson's relations with Quinn. Davidson's business was to build roads and not to hire and fire the personnel of the highway department.

As for Quinn, it was a foregone conclusion that he would be indicted, the public demanded it and there is no doubt but that he should have been dismissed several years ago.

Even so, the highway scandal did not turn out as bad as some of Springer's political opponents had fore-casted. The evidence showed that there was only a few hundred dollars involved in the so-called graft.
Shucks, in some states, the politicians have been accused of stealing the public treasury and have shown their disregard for such accusations by being elected governor, U. S. senator or other high offices. If such conditions really existed in New Mexico, we might be justified in referring to them as "dark pages of history."

INCREASING TAX RATE

Despite the fact that the state generally has shown an increase in property valuations, the tax rate continues to mount. The state shows a total of $309,933, 864 and in Eddy county shows a gain of approximately $400,000. The greatest gain is shown in auto valuations, which will be over ten million dollars. There are too many exemptions and too little effort is made to collect delinquent taxes, which accounts in a large measure for the mounting tax rate over the state and over the southwest.

WilRob, writing in the Southwestern Dispatch digs into the heart of the matter when he says:

The average person, not very expert at figures, can only make a running grab at the major facts of the showing.

One is that in this state money pays practically no tax.

Another is that in the past year exemptions have increased $37,000,000 of which $10,000,000 is on the property of soldiers, who are given this favor in place of a substantial cash bonus that would do them some good while they are alive.

There is no valid reason for any exemptions.
The present process not only exempts the soldiers but also the various religious and philanthropic bodies, all of whom receive the benefits of government and should pay just the same as any body else.

The millions brought in by the gasoline rates are not considered in the table at all, just why it is not plain.

The final lesson is that properly assessed and honestly collected New Mexico has an abundant base for taxation to supply all the income necessary for legiti-mate expenses.

The Gallup Independent intimates that the Albuquerque Journal had hard luck on their highway scoop.
Just about the time the Journal got on the front page, along comes the T. A. T. plane crash on the mountain side and took the head lines. Maybe the Journal did not use good judgment in springing the highway scandal at that particular time.

The Town Doctor

(The Doctor of Towns)

ON TO THE MERCHANTS OF ARTESIA

A few years ago the people of Artesia and surrounding territory HAD to buy from you, or go without. As you know only too well, that is not now the case. Good roads and motor cars, magazines, metropolitan papers and radios, plus free mail delivery, has changed all that.

To-day people can get anything they need or want, from whom and whence they please—not only can, but do. They can get it from you, but whether they do or not depends on you.

In practically every community we hear: "Outside, advertising is enticing our people"—"Competition of combines is taking our business." Maybe this is true, but what are you doing to counteract it?

As an excuse and alibi for lack of business, thousands of merchants say, "People don't buy like they used to." That is absolutely true—people don't buy as they used to.

But how about you—do you still sell "like you used to?" Why should people stick to the old, humdrum, weekly "tradin'" when shopping and buying are now made such a pleasure? Why go to a funeral when a festival is on?

If other stores invite the people and give them a reason why they should buy from them, of course your customers are going to accept the invitation at least once. Then, if those extending the invitation sell and serve as to-days buyers like to be sold and served, they will continue to accept the repeated invitation.
You would do it yourself under similar circumstances.

Still, the average man and woman, by far the majority of the people in Artesia, would rather do business with you, and they will do business with you if you will profit by the experience of others. That is not idle talk, but a fact based in human nature, backed up by actual proof obtained from the people themselves in every section of the country. But, you must have a "reason why" and that reason must be kept before all of the people all of the time.

Say to yourself, "Why do people buy elsewhere?"
Ask yourself, "Why should the people of Artesia buy from me what I have to sell, in preference to my competitor?"

Answer both of these questions—they must be answered not only to yourself, but to your customers if you are going to continue in business and keep out of the red.

Business goes to the place where it is invited—you can't expect business if you don't ask for it.

Business stays at the place where it is well treated, backed up with an invitation to continue the pleasure of such treatment.

Business comes back to the place where it is served best and where the invitation to profit from such service is kept constantly in the forefront.

Your newspaper is your ally—use it.

WHO ARE OUR FRIENDS?

One who suffers adversity comes to know his or her true friends for many can be dropped from the friendship roster as soon as the money plays out. It is not human nature for one to seek his real friends in times of plenty. Usually we are too busy getting ahead to let a little thing like that trouble us. Most of our difficulties can be traced to a weakness called selfishness. This characteristic makes us overlook the welfare of our friends and neighbors and seek the things that tend to promote self only.

Closely connected with this same line of thought is that the same selfishness, the same unthoughtedness makes us negligent with reference to favors extended us by friends or neighbors and there is no better illustration that can be found with the local merchant who accommodates his customer with an extension of credit over a period of time to find the customer trading with a competitor and paying cash because some articles are offered for a few cents less.

Instances such as the above are occurring almost every day in every small town, Artesia included, but the merchant who has accommodated the customer is reticent to talk on the subject, realizing that the subject might drift into a heated conversation, however, the man who is in the wrong has no occasion to get angry. He ought to appreciate the benefactor who tells him of some of his faults and profit by seeking to correct them.

THE SCHOOL PATROL

Some cities and town have established a school patrol system which is proving to be very valuable in reducing the number of accidents to school children.
The system is usually established with the aid of the local Boy Scouts, who patrol certain school zones during a specified time of the day. Cars traveling on the same block in which the school building is located are required to come to a stop, if it is near time for the school to either open or close.

It only requires a moment of the motorists time that happens to be passing the school zone and is well worth the price paid by both the Boy Scouts and the motorist as a matter of safety. In our own case, the high school happens to be located in a section where there is little travel, but the conditions are different at the Junior High and Central buildings and more especially the Central, which is located on one of the main thoroughfares of the town. It would appear that such a move would be worthwhile at least at the Central and perhaps at the Junior High.

Not so long ago a man was around soliciting for a local enterprise, if all of the business men had the same conception of business methods as he has, the matter of soliciting and covering the business district would have been a short process for there would have been no town here unless probably a prairie dog town.
This man believed in supporting the large cities through mail orders. We were easy and "kicked in," but if that bird comes around wanting anything else we are going to tell him to go straight to H—.

We can use natural gas by burning it, but have never found where so much of this artificial street gas could be made productive.

INSIDE INFORMATION

If pockets cannot be placed on a childs dress because they spoil the design or if they cannot be used because of pleats or other features, make a pocket on the bloomers or drawers. Every child needs a pocket in every dress or suit.

Leftover egg yolks have many uses. They are a valuable source of iron and so should always be utilized. They may be hard-cooked in a double boiler, mashed and seasoned for sandwich filling. Raw or hard-cooked egg yolks make a good foundation for salad dressing. Several egg sauces for fish or meat can be made with the yolks only, and soft custard for dessert is still another use.

One of the most common causes of failure in making sauerkraut is the use of too much salt. The right quantity is 2 1/2 per cent by weight of the cabbage packed. When cabbage is to be fermented in very warm weather, it may be well to use a little more salt but not to exceed 3 per cent. The salt should be evenly distributed. The red streaks sometimes seen in sauerkraut are believed to be due to uneven distribution of salt.

Probably fewer sandwiches would be discarded from children's lunch boxes if the bread were always of the best quality. Children will eat more bread if different kinds are served. Sometimes so simple a change as baking the bread in a new form—a twist or rolls instead of a loaf, or cutting the sandwiches into fancy shape with a cookie cutter, will increase interest in it. The change of flavor given by added raisins, dried currants, dates, or nut meats is another inducement to like the lunch bread.

When sour milk is to be substituted for sweet in making quick breads and cakes use the same quantity of sour milk and enough baking soda to neutralize the acid, or one scant teaspoon for each cup of sour milk. For griddle cakes and thin batters the soda and sour milk generally furnish enough leavening, but thicker batters and dough require some baking powder in addition. In substituting sweet milk for sour, use 4 teaspoons of baking powder for each spoonful of soda if no other acid ingredient is used, such as molasses. If such an acid is used, some soda is needed.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Two hundred and ten Boy Scouts spent at least ten days in camp this summer according to the report of Minor Huffman, scout executive of the eastern New Mexico area council. This is considered an excellent showing.

Boy Scouts of Hagerman have just completed building a cabin for their meeting place. The Masons furnished the lumber and all the work was done by the boys and the troop committee. Harold Dye is scoutmaster of this troop.

The latest troop to be organized is at Clouderoft. This without a doubt will be the highest troop in New Mexico. Clouderoft sets on the top of the Sacramento mountains and near the Boy Scout camp. C. A. Herndon is scoutmaster.

Boy Scouts have one half of the Armory for their exhibit at the Chaves County Cotton Carnival, October 9-10-11-12. Seventy-five dollars will be given in prizes to scouts and troops for exhibits in the various scoutcrafts. Scoutmaster Aiken reports that a number of scouts expect to enter articles for the exhibit.

DAVIDSON--SPRINGER WOULD BE REMOVED AND JURY REPORTS

SANTA FE—Removal from office of Charles Springer, chairman of highway commission, W. C. Davidson, state highway engineer, and W. C. Davidson, equipment engineer, were justified in view of the verdicts of the grand jury in the probe of the highway department report to the court, released today.

In view of the findings of this grand jury, we feel that the governor is justified in causing the removal from office of Messrs. Frank Davidson, Charles Springer and W. C. Davidson," the report says.

No Foundation
giving a clean bill of health to Governor Dillon and Colonel H. R. Anderson, the report says:

"In clearing this mass of evidence clear to the grand jury that the charges made in the newspapers have been without any substantial foundation. For example, the grand jury is satisfied that the actions between the highway department and Colonel H. R. Anderson have been fair and above board and that the attack made by the governor, the highway department and Colonel Anderson in respect was not justified by the facts and should be condemned."

"The grand jury places the blame for the "very satisfactory condition of affairs" existing in the highway department for the past two years "on the personal activities of Frank Quinn. The indictments were returned against Quinn."

The grand jury reports itself as satisfied that Quinn at various times during 1929 brought intoxicating liquor from El Paso to Santa Fe in state cars.

"It finds this liquor was sold or distributed to various employees of the highway department and charges W. C. Davidson received a small amount from Quinn containing two gallons of liquor."

"The report recommends: Increasing the contingent and operating fund of the governor. Enactment of legislation authorizing the governor to appoint a purchasing agent for the highway department to work in cooperation with the highway commission under the provision of the state finance board."

"It is understood here that the first recommendation was made after evidence presented the jury showed that the highway department had purchased a set of tires for the governor's car."

"The state does not furnish a car for the governor. Initial cost and maintenance comes from the governor's private funds."

"The grand jury recommends: Increasing the contingent and operating fund of the governor. Enactment of legislation authorizing the governor to appoint a purchasing agent for the highway department to work in cooperation with the highway commission under the provision of the state finance board."

decision in purchasing equipment from Camp. Eight counts.
3 Possessing and offering liquor for sale. The specific charge states that on February 1 Quinn offered one bottle of wine for sale. Eight counts.

4. Attempted bribery. The charge relates that on May 1 of this year Quinn agreed to accept $200 from Hays Louis, representative of Lowell Yerex, agent for the International truck, to influence him in buying a truck, four counts.

5. Attempted bribery. Another deal in which Quinn is charged with accepting $150 from H. D. Camp on May 19, 1929 to influence him in buying Camp's truck. Eight counts.

Bond was fixed at $5,000 which was made. J. R. Roberts and J. R. Martinez were Quinn's bondsmen.

PRE-NUPTIAL HONOR

Mrs. Lloyd Simon, of Maljamar, entertained with a luncheon and bridal shower at the home of her mother, Mrs. Attebery, last Thursday, honoring Miss Helen Mann, whose marriage to Mr. Tex Henson, will occur on October first. The entertainment was a buffet bridge luncheon and was served at one o'clock, Mrs. Simon being assisted in entertaining by her mother, her sister, Miss Jennie Mae Attebery and Mrs. Neil Fencher.

For the occasion the Attebery home was gracefully decorated with pink and white dahlias, and pink roses in silver vases. The color scheme was carried out in the menu and in the table appointments. In the dining room four tall pink cathedral candles threw a pleasant light over the table, which was covered with a Cluny lace cloth and was centered by a bouquet of pink and white flowers. Suspended over the table was a pink and white wedding bell, and following the luncheon the honor guest was presented with a pink parasol from which the shower of dainty and charming gifts fell. Bridge followed, Mrs. Frank Seale winning the high score prize.

The guests at this charming affair were the honoree, Miss Mann, and Miss Catherine Clark, Mesdames C. E. Mann, Fred Cole, Landis Feather, Richard Attebery, Will Linell, Lewis Story, Frank Seale, Carl Joiner, Stanley Blocker and W. C. Martin.

THE METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The study of the home, which has been the topic throughout the year, was continued at the September meeting at the home of Mrs. Grover Kinder last Thursday afternoon. The specific topic on this occasion was "Oriental Homes," with Mrs. Kinder as leader. Mrs. Will Benson presented the devotional topic, "The Centurian's Faith." The missionary bulletin completed the program. Refreshments of tea, cakes and candy in oriental style were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Charley Oliver. The president, Mrs. I. C. Dixon took charge of the business meeting, during which plans were made for the annual chicken pie supper in the church within the course of the next few weeks. There was a good attendance.

THE P. E. O. SISTERHOOD

The P. E. O. Sisterhood which has been taking a vacation this summer resumed its meetings last week. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Atkeson, who served delicious refreshments at the close of the social hour. The afternoon was devoted principally to the reminiscences of the vacation trips of members and was largely social.

THE PAST NOBLE GRANDS' CLUB

The club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. J. M. Story last Thursday and devoted the afternoon to making dresser scarfs, which the club presented to the City Hospital. ## MARRIED AT ROSWELL Neal M. Schuster and Mrs. Oral Garwood, both of Long Beach, California were quietly married in Roswell, Thursday afternoon by Rev. George Ray, minister of the Methodist church south. Mr. and Mrs. Schuster have taken rooms in the Schuster building on Main street, where they will be at home to their friends. They are yet undecided as to whether they will locate in Artesia or Long Beach.

Mr. Schuster who had been here for several weeks looking after property interests, is a pioneer merchant of Artesia, having operated a dry goods and grocery establishment here several years ago. The Advocate joins many friends in extending Mr. and Mrs. Schuster congratulations and best wishes.

REBEKAH PICNIC

The annual picnic of the Rebekahs and their families was held at the Turknett farm, southeast of town last Friday evening. About seventy-five were present to enjoy the roasting ears, weiners, watermelons and other good things, which always accompany this annual outing. The joy of being in God's great out-of-doors on these perfect fall nights and the fellowship which comes in eating these roasting ear feasts around a great open fire weave a never-to-be-forgotten spell which make these annual picnics the most prized social occasion of the club year.

McCrary last Thursday was the outstanding social event of the year in the society and the fun of it will long be remembered by the participants. The society was divided into four divisions and this party was put on by the third division with all the others cooperating. Each division represented some other division, with each lady impersonating some other member. A number of the impersonations were amazingly life-like and all were very funny. Mrs. Spencer's division gave a very funny black face show and with banjo and ukelele drove down Main street making wierd music. Mrs. Will Ballard won the prize for the tackiest costume. The clever stunts and old fashioned songs made the party go over big. Lovely refreshments were served by the hostess division. Mrs. Atkeson, chairman. ## ROTARIANS ENTERTAIN THE TEACHERS

Rotarians with their Rotary Anns were hosts to the faculty of the local schools Tuesday evening. A banquet was served to sixty-four Rotarians, Anns, and guests at the Bullock Banquet Hall. An amusing feature of the evening developed when the teachers were asked to introduce themselves giving their name, position in school and age. The latter part of the request was evaded, a large percentage of the lady teachers admitted being over sixteen, but refused to answer the question directly. Some stated that they belonged to the pre-historic age, which gave the curious men some idea, others because they found it necessary to be rather rigid in the school room were inclined to believe that their proper classification was the stone age.

S. W. Gilbert, president of the local club gave a short talk as an introduction to the special program that followed. The early part of the program was given over to musical numbers, including two vocal solos by Rev. Harold Scoggins, two violin solos by Miss Florence Oaks, music supervisor and two cornet duets by Jessie Carroll Paris and John Collins.

The evening's entertainment was concluded with a session of the Kangaroo court, in which Superintendent W. E. Kerr, was arraigned and charged with violating the town ordinance relative to obstructing the traffic. The case was conducted by the legal department of the club, Mark Corbin acting as prosecuting attorney, while C. Bert Smith was retained as defense attorney.

After a lengthy trial before a mixed jury, Superintendent Kerr was found guilty, but was given a parole.

What Every Father Knows

I can see the day approaching
When my boy will be encroaching
On a lot of my possessions
That I value rather high.
Now, for instance, just this morning
I detected him adorning
His delightful little person
With my best four-dollar tie!

But, perhaps I ought to mention
I have paid but small attention
To the clothes that he's been wearing
For, his mother 'tends to that.
But, from what I saw today, Sir,
I had better start to pay, Sir,
Some attention, or I am likely Pretty soon to miss my hat!

And as he keeps on a-growin',
He will more of this be showin'—
He'll bedeck himself, I reckon,
With the best I ever wore!
He will swipe my Sox and collars,
And the shirt that cost five dollars,
And as unconcerned as Moses He'll go struttin' out the door!

But I'm glad, with him to share
I will gladly let him wear 'em!
But there'll still be one possession
To which I shall hold the key!

I will share with him my riches—
But he'll never wear my britches,
For the way the rascal's growin'
He'll be twice the size of me!

JOHN COOLIDGE WEDS

PLAINVILLE, Connecticut. — The daughter of the governor of Connecticut became the bride Monday of the son of a former president from Vermont's hills, in a ceremony colored by Indian summer tints and marked by Puritan dignity.

The bride was Florence Trumbull, daughter of Governor John H. Trumbull, the groom was John Coolidge, son of Calvin Coolidge, former governor of Massachusetts and thirteenth president of the United States.

Some of the nation's most prominent personages among them ex-President Coolidge, and two United States senators gathered with simple folks of New England in the white frame Congregational church to witness the wedding.

The residents of this little town and surrounding villages turned out by scores to catch a glimpse of the wedding party as it was whisked to and from the church.

FAMOUS COLUMN

In writing about the councilless town last week, we neglected to mention that one of the councilmen was in Louisiana, which made one in Louisiana, one in Kansas, one in Kentucky, one in Texas and we thought one was plumb out of the U. S., in Jaurez, Old Mexico, however he says not. The one in Louisiana, Dr. Clarke, went over to place his son, John, in the University and see if he (Doc) had grown too tough for the Louisiana mosquitos to bite. Doc heard about our desperate situation when he reached Mineola, Texas and fearing that some of our fellow citizens, inclined to be a little moist in their politics might over-persuade Frank Donahue to call an election to vote the saloons back, rushed home driving 650 miles in one day.

Ballard Spencer went out to his ranch last week to oversee the sheep shearing operations. Ballard has done a little of everything this summer including canning pears. Now don't be surprised if you hear of him knitting sweaters from his home grown wool for some orphan's home.

Scotty Harris does not know that the presidential election is over. He is still making Al Smith chili.

P. M., New Mexico, Containing 1,600 acres, and against you, the said Defendants, and each of you, and to forever bar and estop you the said Defendants and anyone claiming by, under or through you, from having or claiming any right, title or interest in and to the above described interest in said permit, adverse to the Plaintiff, and to quiet and set at rest the Plaintiff's title thereto, it being alleged that the Plaintiff is the owner of the above described permit by assignment from the Defendants, Austin Brown and L. Mae Brown, his wife.

You the said Defendants are further notified that unless you enter your appearances in said Cause on or before the 18th day of November, 1929, judgment will be rendered against you, and each of you, by default, and the Plaintiff will apply to and be given by the Court the relief prayed for in said Cause. G. U. McCrary whose business and Post-office Address is Artesia, New Mexico, is attorney for Plaintiff.

WITNESS my hand and seal of said Court this 24th day of September, 1929.

Today in ONE gasoline you can get ALL the famous Phillips 66 advantages—year-round easy starting, quick acceleration, power and mileage—plus the feature of "no-knock". Ethyl is a no-knock compound placed in gasoline—a few drops to a gallon. But don't overlook this: the quality of an Ethyl gasoline depends upon the qualities of the original gasoline to which it is added. Make sure the station pump says Phillips 66 Ethyl. Dispensed from sealed tanks to protect you against substitution.

GLADYS VAIL, capable commercial stenographer, laid her pencil down neatly by her notebook and looked up in the middle of a trial dictation from Hoyle Jones, attorney.
"What's the matter?" he rapped out smartly. "Are you like the rest I've had—too slow for ordinary dictation?"
"I am—if that's ordinary dictation," she spoke quietly though her heart thumped, adding: "Have you ever had a secretary who was really satisfactory?"

"I did have—just one! A man! I promoted him. I'm capable of that!"
"Well, then," Gladys met Hoyle Jones' frown with a frank smile, "if you won't go slowly for a day or two while I pick up these new terms, there's no use my going on with this work."

"I pay expert wages; I demand expert service," he shot back, arranging the letters on his desk with crisp precision.
Gladys rose, patted her hat and jacket, neat but worn, and walked to the door, saying over her shoulder:
"I'll leave my name and address in your applicant's file. Just on the chance you don't find anyone to fill your man's place."

Curt and Gladys as the interview had been, still Gladys smiled as she shot down the street in the elevator.
She liked the lawyer. Her intuition penetrated his hard shell and contemplated what she was sure lay underneath, a responsiveness that no woman had ever touched.

Dwindling dollars and a very empty stomach drove Gladys to a fifteen-cent lunch. What next? Everything was due, due.
Sitting on her high stool before a marble counter, she drew a letter from her shabby handbag as some would have drawn a jewel. Its creases were worn, fuzzy and thin from many an opening and folding. Nothing to brag about; only—
"Enclosing check for ten dollars.
Your letters are full of color and human stuff about New York. I edit them a little and use them for a weekly column which always goes over big here."

This from a friend in newspaper work in the West. The little note gave Gladys a real mental boost whenever she fingered it.
As she slid from her stool, Hoyle Jones' answer to her question knocked sharply at her consciousness:
"A man—I promoted him. I'm capable of that!"

That was it! Promotion! A wave of realization rolled over her mind.
She must seek work where lay the possibility of promotion. Then the idea leaped into focus. If she could write acceptable material for an out-of-town newspaper, why not try for a job on a New York paper?

Half an hour later Gladys stood beside the city editor of the Press, looking at his head bent over copy on his desk.
"I want a job writing stories for
you. I've had experience." Queer coincidence, this, thought the editor, looking up and studying Gladys' pretty face and frank confidence. That morning his feature writer, a woman, had left suddenly, and all day he had been telephoning about for some one who was willing to take her place.

"I'll give you an assignment and see what you can do," he spoke quickly.
"Do me a feature story on the downtown night court and have it here first thing in the morning." He bent over his copy again.

That was Gladys' beginning. Two years took her up a trail of salary and responsibility increases to the top till of the see-saw of success in her work.
She rose to writing an advice column under her own name that was published in papers the country over.

But she yearned for some one to share success with, and the image of Hoyle Jones, whose brusque words had pointed out the idea to her, was always with her.
So it was with a keen thrill that she read the signature of her first fan letter one morning:
"Dear Miss Vail: I have no problems except the welcome ones of work; but I read your corner every day. It is human and helpful. You often speak of real companionship as the ideal of marriage. I'm afraid I've missed a lot by devoting my life entirely to my profession. Anyway, thank you for your cheerful writing, and if you care to drop me a line or two for my collection of autographs—a hobby, you know—I'd appreciate it very much."

"Sincerely,
"HOYLE JONES."
That afternoon Gladys presented to the lawyer, at his office, the applicant's file card which she had insisted on leaving two years before.

Friendship, more—real companionship—developed as the weeks went by.
One afternoon in his office they looked out of the open skyscraper window at the round, red smokestacks of stately ocean liners, warped snugly in their berths on the river.
"I'm sailing tonight for the Mediterranean," said Hoyle Jones, almost under his breath. "Marry me this afternoon, Gladys. We'll play and work together the rest of our lives."
Gladys turned from the window.
"I'm capable of that!" she whispered with a little smile.

TREASURY VAULT NOT BUILT
SANTA FE—Mort than six months after the close of the ninth legislature work has not yet started on the construction of the $30,000 vault to house state treasury securities which was authorized by the regular session.
State Treasurer Emerson Watts worked to have this measure put through. It was opposed by some banks of the state who feared that the vault would do away with the fiscal agency.
The fiscal agent has use of $150,
000 of state money without interest.
The state balance with the fiscal agent cannot go below that figure.
Other money in state banks draws interest of one and a half per cent.
In return for the use of the $150,000 the state gets free vault space for its securities.

Mr. Watts said that he cannot construct the vault without the approval of the state finance board.
Plans are in their hands, he said.
Some objection has arisen to building the vault below the stairway on the west entrance, on the grounds that the architectural design of the capitol cannot be changed without legislative approval. Mr. Watts says there is no other practical place to build the vault.
The treasurer has estimated that the vault can be built for $17,000 provided the door, the costly part, is purchased from a defunct El Paso bank.

PRISON BREAK FRUSTRATED

SANTA FE.—Guards broke up an attempted escape at the state penitentiary at 2:00 a. m., Saturday, when the rain was coming down in a torrent, shooting two prisoners who were scaling the east wall on a ladder.

Ernetso Apodaca and Nepomuceno Galenzuela, the convicts, are in the prison hospital with buckshot in their legs and bodies. It was reported that neither was in a serious condition.

The prisoners, both trustees working at night on a brick kiln, apparently expected the guards to be seeking shelter from the down-pour in their towers at the time they chose to make the break. They got a ladder; it is not known how they got it. They placed it against the east wall and started up only to be greeted with a couple of charges of buck-shot when they failed to comply with the orders to get back.

Apodaca is serving 50 to 60 years, having been sent up from Dona Ana county March 13, 1922, for murder; Galenzuela, two to two and one-half years, having been committed from Socorro county April 4, 1929, for assault with a deadly weapon.

DECLINE OF FIVE POINTS FOR MONTH ON COTTON

LAS CRUCES.—The condition of the New Mexico cotton crop on September 1, was indicated as 81 per cent of normal. According to a bulletin issued Friday by R. F. Hare, agricultural statistician, from his office here. This represents a decline of five points during the month and compares with 89 per cent as shown September 1, 1928. The yield per acre is indicated at 300 pounds, he says, which places New Mexico third in the cotton-per-acre production. The state's production per acre is cut by a large acreage of dry-farming cotton.

The indicated production for the state is now placed at 82,000 bales, compared with 99,900 forecast on August 1 and 88,000 harvested in 1928. The reduction of 9,000 from August 1 to September 1 was due to deterioration from shedding and from boll worm, caused by excessive rains mostly in Dona Ana county.

The final ginnings may be, it is pointed out, more or less than 82,000 bales indicated at this time, depending upon the extent of damage caused by insects, during September and frost.

N. M. STATE LIBRARY EXTENSION SERVICE

The months of July, August and September have been busy ones in the new state library extension work. The organization of the library of the State Historical Society is proving most interesting because of the many old and rare books in the collection. Many duplicates of well-known books have been found and these may be loaned to citizens of New Mexico with suitable safeguards to their return. The work is now going on in the famous "Council Chamber" of the Old Palace of the Governors, but the museum authorities are engaged in remodeling the buildings at the back of the "Placita" which are to be the permanent offices and workrooms for the extension service.

The legislature made no appropriation for books for loan collections or traveling libraries, but the Santa Fe Public Library has donated several hundred volumes of general reading for adults. These have been organized and are ready to loan. The first collection of fifty volumes will be sent this week to the library maintained by the Woman's club of Mountainair. The director is most anxious to send some books to counties where the children have no reading matter in their schools. She appeals for help to clubs, lodges and other organizations as well as to individuals in the state. Many excellent books for children may be purchased for less than seventy-five cents apiece, and it is impossible to overestimate what each book will mean to many children.

Contributions of money or books and requests for material or information should be sent to, Mrs. Julia Brown Asplund, director State Library Extension Service, Museum of New Mexico, Santa Fe, N. M.

PLAIN TRUTH IN WEDDING WRITE-UP

RED OAK.—Rev. Ira E. Carney, pastor of the Red Oak Christian church, published the following write-up by a South Carolina editor of a wedding in his regular church bulletin Sunday:

"Mr Robert Chetway and Miss Alice Broadkin were married at noon Monday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Broadkin, Rev. M. L. Gassaway officiating. The groom is a popular young man who hasn't done a lick of work since he got shipped in the middle of his junior year at college. He manages to dress well and keep a supply of spending money because his dad is a soft-hearted old fool who takes up his bad checks instead of letting him go to jail where he belongs.

"The bride is a skinny, fast little idiot, who has been kissed and handled by every boy in town since she was thirteen years old. She paints like a Sioux Indian, sucks cigarettes in secret and drinks mean corn whiskey when she is out joy riding in her dad's car at night. She doesn't know how to cook, sew or keep house.

"The house was newly plastered for the wedding and the exterior newly painted, thus appropriately carrying out the decorative scheme, for the groom was newly plastered also and the bride newly painted.

"The groom wore a rented dinner suit over athletic underwear of imitation silk. His pants were held up by pale green suspenders. His number eight patent leather shoes matched his state of tightness and harmonized nicely with the axle grease polish of his hair. In addition to his jag, he carried a pocket knife, a bunch of keys, a dun for the ring, and his usual look of imbecility.

"The bride wore some kind of a white thing that left most of her legs sticking out at one end, and her bony upper end sticking out at the other.

"The young couple will make their home with the bride's parents, which means that they will sponge on the old man until he dies, and then she will take in washing.

"Postscript: This may be the last issue of my paper, but my life ambition has been to write up one wedding and tell the unvarnished truth. Now that it is done, death can have no sting." — From Publishers Auxiliary.

LIGHTS HELP MAKE LAYERS LAY

According to tests conducted at the agricultural colleges, proper use of lights in the poultry house will increase winter egg production from 30 to 40 per cent, says the research department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers. Because fall and winter are the seasons of high egg prices, an increase in production at that time of year is particularly desirable.

Poultrymen find that it is important to place the lights in such a way that the roosts will not be dark. The general rule is to use one 40-watt lamp every 200 square feet, or two of them in a 20 by 20 foot house. Lamps are placed about 6 1/2 feet from the floor and about 10 feet apart, over the middle of the feeding floor. Reflectors 16 inches in diameter at the base and four inches high are recommended.

The four months from November to February, inclusive, are "electric light" months in the laying house. A common system of lighting is to turn the lights on by means of an alarm clock about 4:30 A. M., leaving them on until daylight. Feed and water can be made available in the evening, ready for the hens when the lights go on. Use of lights should be started gradually in the fall.

Owners of individual lighting plants point out that lighting the poultry house is one of the ways by which they make their plants pay for themselves, in addition to the convenience and enjoyment from having electricity in the home and other farm buildings.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE EXILE AND THE RESTORATION

OPEN TEXT—The mercy of the Lord from everlasting to everlasting is shown unto children's children. MARY TOPIC—Stories Retold. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Great Men of the Period. ADULT TOPIC—The People and Adult Topics of Providence in the Exile and Restoration.

The late cutting of alfalfa in sections of the country where winter killing occurs should be made early enough to allow a growth of 6 to 8 inches for protection in the winter.

In 1840 the average weight of fleece sheared from American sheep was less than 2 pounds. By 1900 it had increased to nearly 5½ pounds. To-day it is approaching 8 pounds. There is still room for improvement. Much of the difference has come from progressive weeding out of low producers and by breeding from heavily fleeced sheep.

Silage made from corn containing moisture enough for proper preservation is more palatable to stock than that made from corn so mature as to need the addition of water. Usually corn should be harvested for the silo about a week or ten days before it would be cut for shocking. At this time the lower leaves on the stalk are turning brown and green corn fodder contains about 70 per cent of moisture, which is enough for silage.

Wounds in potatoes are the most frequent source of storage rot, and careful handling during harvest and storage will decrease loss from this source. Cooling freshly harvested potatoes too rapidly may cause wound rot, because of the slowing down of wound repair. If wounds are properly healed before potatoes are placed in storage, and if sufficient ventilation is provided to keep them dry during storage, very low temperature is unnecessary to prevent loss by storage rot.

Well-fattened beef animals weighing from 700 to 1200 pounds are in increasing demand at livestock markets. Calves selected for fattening should be of the type that is wide, deep bodied, smooth, thick fleshed, and well grown, with short legs, and of good quality as shown by fineness of flesh, refinement about the head, and a lack of paunchiness. Uniformity in size, weight, and color are also advantages in marketing.

The whole tomato plant, and not individual fruits, should be the basis for selecting seed for next season. The prevalent belief that an early variety of tomato may be secured by selecting seed from the first fruits to ripen is erroneous, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, as on any one plant all fruits are equally able to transmit the tendency to earliness. The way to get earliness is to choose plants that produce ripe fruits first. Likewise, in selecting smooth-fruited strains of tomatoes, it is important to choose plants bearing a uniform crop of smooth fruits rather than to select smooth fruits at random after picking from the vines.

FARM WOMEN OF ROY ESTABLISH MARKET

In order to solve the problem of finding ready market for a surplus of farm products and, at the same time, give the housewives in town an opportunity to secure fresh farm produce, the Farm Women's Cooperative club of Roy, Harding county, organized the Farm Women's Market last May. This market is held in the parlor of the G. & K. hotel at Roy, which is owned by one of the club members. Each Saturday afternoon, between two and five o'clock, the club members bring their produce to this market where the town women come to secure the fresh farm products.

Since the market was established, the farm women have sold on an average of $15.00 worth of produce each market day, disposing readily of all products brought in. The club member who provides the market room acts as market manager and receives five per cent commission. A fee of 25c for table space is also charged, the money thus obtained being used for the purchase of oil cloth to cover the tables, scales and other small equipment necessary.

Although the members of the Roy Farm Women's club are directly responsible for establishing this market any member of a farm women's club in Harding county may sell on this market by paying the fee and conforming to the rules. The women are taking a special pride in keeping up the quality of the products offered for sale and this, in part, accounts for the ready market. All sorts of seasonable vegetables, poultry and dairy products, besides bread, cakes, etc., were offered for sale. Mrs. J. G. Wayne, county agent of Harding county and Miss Hazel Usner district agent, were largely responsible for the organization of the Farm Women's club and the establishment of the market.

IN THE MILLIONAIRE CLASS

Most of us would be in the millionaire class if we knew today what we will know twenty years hence. In the absence of future knowledge, man provides for the future the best way he can. Protection afforded by old line life insurance is one of the true and tried methods, which enables the ordinary man to help beat the hazards of the future; at the same time enables him to make a safe investment.

ADVANCEMENT OPPORTUNITY NEVER BETTER THAN NOW

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

Are chances of success as great to-day as they were a generation ago?

This question was recently asked the writer, who replied that opportunities are unquestionably greater to-day than they were twenty, forty or sixty years ago.

New inventions and new developments have created opportunities for the men and women who are sufficiently wide awake to seize them. The radio, the automobile, the airplane, the commercial development of electrical power and the science of chemical engineering are all comparatively new. Within the last few years the numbers employed in these industries have been increased manifold.

Remember that environment has less to do with success than the individual's attitude on the problems of life. Among the common errors of those who fail to advance are lack of vision and concentration.

The problems of life are so large and complex and the range of human endeavor is so wide that individual effort, to be effective, must be limited to definite lines. The young man of to-day has a limitless range of opportunities before him and he can be successfully fit into the scheme of progress if he will realize that there is always need for those who can do things well.

Our schools and colleges are sending their young men and young women out into the world. While they have completed their academic lessons they still have before them those larger lessons which can be learned only in the practical school of life. In entering this new life the only practical lesson they should learn first of all is that it is better to know one thing well than to know a score of things superficially, and that it is better to be able to do one thing right than to have twenty slipshod accomplishments.

To see ahead in the light of observable circumstance and tendency, to concentrate on some particular ambition and to do the chosen work with real thoroughness are all keys available to-day for those who wish to thrive and achieve.

GASOLINE "CHEF" CONTROLS DIET OF YOUR CAR

Vitamins, calories, roughage, mineral salts—for your car? Not exactly. But, according to experts on automotive fueling, your car has dietary problems just as surely and equally as important as your body. And it is the business of the gasoline chef to see that the car gets the type of diet that will give it the ambition, pep and resistance it needs to keep on the job, refrain from catching cold, and stay out of the class of sluggish auto diabetics.

Who is the gasoline chef? He is the scientist who spends his days, and often his nights, working, studying, testing, and discovering better ways to feed your motor. His kitchen is a great research laboratory maintained by the concern whose motor fuels you buy at the filling station. "Yes," says R. C. Jopling, of the Phillips Petroleum Company, Bartlesville, Oklahoma. "The research man in the motor fuel industry is really, among other things, a gasoline chef. In our laboratories we have experts who are continually studying the dietary needs of the motor car and producing fare that meets those needs."

"For example, our experts realized that the gasoline in use a few years ago would not adequately fit the requirements of modern high compression motors. They knew, too, that a gasoline 'diet' upon which your motor could thrive in winter or in a cold climate was not necessarily the correct diet for that same motor during the summer or in the warmer summer climes."

"It was this knowledge which prompted our gasoline chefs to discover how literally to take gasoline apart—then to combine and recombine its various parts so as to meet different seasonal and climatic requirements of the modern motor. The motorist naturally wants his car to start easily in any kind of weather, to accelerate quickly, to have plenty of pep for the open road, to deliver real mileage, to have a vast reserve of power and to run smoothly and quietly at all times of the year. Thanks to the gasoline chef, who not only knows a motor's needs but knows how to supply those needs, the careful motorist is now in a position to keep his car on a healthful diet that assures uniformly high standards of performance."

Calves in Winter

Calves which are dropped during the winter and early spring should have warmer quarters than the ordinary shed will provide. It will pay to partially close up one end of the shed, leaving spaces in the partition for the calves to enter. These quarters for the calves should be kept well bedded. The calves will begin to eat grain after they are a few weeks old, and it is usually profitable to provide a creep where grain may be supplied.

SAVORY PORK FOR CRISP FALL DAYS

After a hot summer of lean, cold meats, we are glad to have cool, crisp days and energy-giving foods such as pork. Here are some recipes you will want to try.

Cider Baked Ham

With Cranberry Sauce
Scrub and trim medium-sized ham and put into boiling liquid to cover—made of 2 parts water and 1 part sweet cider. Add 1 tablespoon of mixed pickle spice and simmer gently until tender, trim off skin, dust ham with fine dry bread crumbs and a little brown sugar with mixed ground spice. Brown in moderate oven and serve hot or cold with cranberry sauce.

Stuffed Pork Chops

Select loin chops, trim the fat a little, make a gash two inches long, then sit the meat the full length of the bone on the inside and fill with dressing to which has been added a quarter of a cup of chopped apple. Season each one nicely, dip in flour and place in a dripping pan in hot fat cooked from the trimmings and roast in a hot oven—400° F. When nicely browned on the bottom, turn the chops to cook and brown on the other side. It will require about an hour for the entire cooking, and yet when served the chops will be tender and moist, much like well-cooked chicken. They are especially good when garnished with prunes which have been dropped into the pan with them ten minutes before serving. Slit the prunes, previously steamed, remove the stone, and fill with chopped apple before cooking.

Roast Pork With Cowpeas

For this dish a leg of young pork should be selected. With a sharp knife make a deep cut in the knuckle, and fill the opening with sage, pepper, salt, and chopped onion. When the roast is half done, scar the skin but do not cut deeper than the outer rind. When the meat is nearly cooked pour off the excess of fat and add a quart of white cowpeas which have been previously parboiled and cook slowly until quite done and the meat brown. Apple sauce may be served with this dish.

Pork Tenderloins

Wrap each of the pieces of pork tenderloin, cut one inch thick, in a strip of bacon and fasten with a toothpick. Fry brown in butter or fat and season with salt and pepper. Or, after browning quickly, cover and baste with sweet or sour cream and let cook until tender.

TWO SUCCESSFUL REVIVALS

Two successful revivals have been held in Artesia during the past two weeks and one continues until next Sunday. The revival of the church of the Nazarene under the leadership of Rev. H. N. Dickerson and Singer Carl W. Barnes, closed Sunday night. More than fifty came up for prayers of the church.

New members will be received into this church Sunday. On Sunday night services at the Church of the Nazarene will be dismissed in deference to the revival which is being held at the Baptist church conducted by Dr. J. J. Cook of Fort Worth, Texas, and Singer Roy Camp, also of Fort Worth, Texas. Twenty-three additions to the church have been reported as result of the Baptist revival.
