Record Made By Well in Hobbs Field

Potential Rating Of Hobbs. Daily—New Well More Than 50,000 Barrels To Output

Records in the Hobbs field have been shattered this week with the completion of the Grimes No. 3 of the Hobbs field, 390 feet from the surface, 2310 feet from the base, 22-18-38, at a depth of 4,302 feet. After an hour's test it was given a potential output of 56,348 barrels daily, approximately 10,000 barrels larger than No. 1 of the Tidal Oil field, which held the record. The well is a west of State No. 4 of the Hobbs field, located about a mile west of Hobbs.

The Oil and Refining Co., new producers of the Hobbs field, after the completion of these wells, No. 3 in the SW 1/4 Sec. 22-18-38, which was drilled to a depth of 4,302 feet and given the company employees a bonus of $100,000. During the well made 382 barrels No. 4, SE corner Sec. 22-18-38, a second Humble well is apparently the smallest Humble group. On a test flowing open, the well made the first hour, 56,348 barrels.

Petroleum Corp., also completed in the Hobbs field, 22-18-38, at a depth of 4,302 feet. The well, howed as a light producer, 56,348 barrels flowing open on a test with 38,000,000 feet of casing, 400 feet of tubing, and approximately 56,348 barrels of potential production. The well will run the potential production of the field to near 100,000 barrels daily, according to reports. Several other wells to be completed before the end of the year, will likely run the production past the 400,000 barrels mark.

In the Hobbs area, the Tidal Oil No. 1, in the NW 1/4 Sec. 22-18-38, is standardizing at small amount of sulphur. The well is in the hole, but has not yet been tested. At the time the well is in the hole, it has swabbed 353 barrels.

Five men were arrested here the past week, charged with theft of tires. Two men giving their names as J. M. Williams and M. Martin of Bluewater, this state, were taken into custody Monday by Ross Conner, deputy sheriff, after they were alleged to have stolen tires from a car belonging to a Mexican. The stolen loot was said to have been hidden in an old tank three miles west of town and the arrest was affected Monday when the men returned to the hiding place to secure the loot. Cecil Horn and D. T. Williams and Earl James, were arrested on a similar charge Sunday night. The last three men are alleged to have taken two tires from a car belonging to Lowrey Keyes Auto Co., and some tools from the state highway department.

The five men were arraigned before S. W. Gilbert, justice of the peace Tuesday and were remanded to jail where they will await the action of the Eddy county jury.

W. GOOWIN WINS THE FIRST PRIZE IN THE MILEAGE CONTEST

Much interest was developed in the Chevrolet six mileage contest staged by the Jackson-Bolton Chevrolet Co., here last week. Over 150 entries were made in the contest which closed Saturday night. A. D. McLean and Wallace Goodwin tied for first place in the contest with a mileage record of 4.1 miles on one pint of gas. R. STERLING DEFEATS MA FERGUSON IN LATE DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY DALLAS, Texas—"Prince and pauper" race between Ross Shaw Sterling and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for the democratic gubernatorial nomination ended in victory Monday for the millionaire publisher from Houston.

Texas voters for the third time repudiated "Farmer Jim" Ferguson, husband of the woman candidate in Saturday's run-off primary election. By a possible majority of 100,000 votes. Sterling was given the democratic standard which is considered tantamount to election.

Returns compiled by the Texas election bureau Monday showed Sterling to have polled a total vote of 464,698, against 371,645 for Mrs. Ferguson. The returns were compiled from 251 of the 253 counties in the state. Of these, 109 counties were complete, and Mrs. Ferguson was given no chance for victory.

In the November general election, Sterling will oppose Dr. George C. Butte, of Austin, an assistant United States attorney general, who gained the republican nomination in the recent primary. Butte polled less than 10,000 votes and was given little chance of gaining more support in the general election.

Artesia Selected For 1931 Convention City—Roy Cook Made State Legion Commander—Mrs. Chapman Heads Auxiliary.

The Artesia delegation went after the 1931 state convention of American Legion and got it. This information was contained in a telegram sent to Fred Brainard by Sid Cox, yesterday afternoon. Last year the Artesia representatives made a strong fight for the convention, but lost, however, their success this year is undoubtedly due in a measure to the zealous efforts put forth a year ago.

Selection of Artesia as the next meeting place was made yesterday during the closing hours of the Gallup convention, Raton was a close second, but threw its support to Artesia.

Roy Cook of Albuquerque was elected state commander of the American Legion.

Mrs. J. W. Chapman of Santa Fe was elected president of the New Mexico auxiliary.

The other officers of the Legion department are: Christ Weros of Ft. Bayard, senior commander; Jaquin Ortega, of Las Vegas, junior commander; Thomas V. Truder of Las Vegas, department historian; Doc Neumann of Carlsbad, master at arms.

Among those who represented the local Auxiliary and Legion included Mesdames Albert Richards, Frank Linell, H. A. Stroup, Mr. and Mrs. Alex McGonagill, H. R. Rodgers, Sid Cox, Wade Cunningham, L. N. Kremer and George King.

VALLEY BANKERS HAVE ENTHUSIASTIC MEET AT ROSWELL SATURDAY

Group three of the New Mexico bankers association held an enthusiastic meeting at the Nickson hotel at Roswell, Saturday evening. All Pecos valley banks were well represented. Carrizo was the only bank represented outside the valley. The banks at Lovington and Hobbs were unable to send representatives.

Problems touching the local conditions were discussed and an enjoyable program was rendered after the dutch treat dinner was served. One of the principal talks of the evening was made by J. E. Robertson, president of the First National Bank here on the possibilities of cooperative buying. Mr. Robertson, denounced the policy of out of town buying and urged that all bankers patronize home industry as much as possible. This talk on a timely subject was well received.

The program follows: Dutch Treat Dinner 7:30 p. m. "Cooperation in Iowa" G. K. Richardson "Bank Cost Accounting" Floyd Childress "Computation of Interest on Savings and Time Deposits" E. M. Brickley "Possibilities of Cooperative Buying or supplies" J. E. Robertson

Among items of interest at Saturday evening's meeting was that the committee on holidays definitely set the holidays for closign.

Among local bankers attending from Artesia were: J. E. Robertson and L. B. Feather of the First National Bank and C. E. Mann and Fred Cole of the Citizens State Bank.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION SET FOR SEPT. 4, AT CARLSBAD

The Eddy county republican convention will be held at Carlsbad on September 4th, it was announced Tuesday. Earlier plans called for the county convention to be held the latter part of this month, but some delay was experienced in making final arrangements. At this time it will be determined whether or not a county ticket will be placed in the field.

Eddy County Registration Is Expected to Exceed 4,300

Registration With One Box Not Reported Has Exceeded Record Primary Vote—May Ask District Court To Add Names.

Eddy county registration is expected to reach more than 4,300 votes when the final totals are compiled from the various boxes. According to figures obtained yesterday from the county clerk's office at Carlsbad total registration had run to 4,131, with one box, Hope not yet reported. If Hope votes the strength shown in the last democratic primary, the box will place the county's registration past 4,300.

Early reports indicated that the registration would not equal the vote in the last democratic primary, May 15th, which was 3,940, but later figures should be very gratifying for they place the voting strength of the county at a comfortable margin beyond the record democratic primary vote.

More than three hundred names were added to the local list during the closing days of the registration and it was understood that efforts would be made to place additional names on the list through a court order, however, nothing definite had been made known as to the plans for increasing the count, if any.

ODOM—KAISER

A belated announcement has been received here of the marriage of A. A. Kaiser at Dayton to Miss Birdie Odom of Iredell, Texas. The wedding a quiet affair, occurred at Iredell on August 4th. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Kaiser departed for a short honeymoon trip to Colorado points and are now at home to their friends at the Kaiser ranch east of Dayton. The Advocate joins numbers of friends in extending congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Kaiser.

TEXAS AND OKLAHOMA CAPITALISTS INVEST MILLIONS AT HOBBS

Oklahoma and Texas capital to the extent of approximately forty million dollars has been invested or is being used in the development of the resources of Hobbs section of New Mexico at this time. It is predicted by oil men that the entire state of New Mexico will be explored as rapidly as is logical and possible now that outside capital is becoming acquainted with the latest possibilities here. If this is true New Mexico will in all likelihood assume an air of prosperity during the next five years which will exceed the expectations of the most optimistic of six months ago.

Lea county has become the entering wedge for the introduction of new capital to the state and that the county has not proved a disappointment is reflected in the great amount of activity there.

A BIT OF EARLY HISTORY

(By The First Editor.)

In the general shuffle and shakedown that necessarily follows the launching and publication of a western newspaper, the date of establishment of The Advocate has become somewhat hazy in the minds of a lot of folks, among others the present publishers themselves. Instead of its birthday falling in December, as figures on its masthead indicates, The Advocate was born along in August—August 29, 1903, to be exact. This fact attested to by the man who had the temerity to attempt the printing of it in a town whose hopes at the time consisted mostly of ambition and atmosphere backed up, as it later developed, by the most hopeful and enterprising bunch of citizens who ever crossed the Pecos.

No excuse was offered at the time for the sheet, nor has there ever been since. It was a little five-column, eight-page, half-patent rag, all set in "long primer" by hand and ground out on what in those days was hilariously referred to as a Vaughn Ideal Hand Cylinder press—the "press" part being added, perhaps, to distinguish the thing from a cider mill or a clothes wringer. The aborning of the paper was a matter of printshop obstetrics, easily understandable to any old time printer who ever fell afoul of the Ideal—a little faster than the reliable old G. Washington machine with its additional mashing lever, but lacking the virtue of leaving a smooth, black imprint—a case where quality was sacrificed to get speed, it being possible to grind out as many as two papers per minute in high, in case the "devil" who inked the forms each time didn't cork himself in trying to make connection with his big roller. It was a great life if you didn't weaken—and who ever heard of one of those old timers weakening if the frioles came in with any appreciable regularity?

The Advocate was an accident to this extent: Its editor had never heard of any Artesia until two days previous to the paper's establishment and was not out hunting trouble of that kind. He was holding office in Texas and came out to Pecos to observe the ground floor working of a recently enacted law looking to the selling of the state's school lands to actual settlers. A trip was made up to Roswell to see a relative and partly because he had a pocketful of railroad passes—anything being preferable to spending Sunday in Pecos back in those days. A jerkwater mixed freight meandered leisurely up the valley as often as it was necessary to do so in order to hold its charter. At a siding called Miller, the prairie dust was being churned to a powder by flocks of horses and wagons and buggies because of the fact that some promoter with unlimited nerve had at a venture developed a wonderful well of artesian water on the newly staked townsite. The land was free for the taking and a lot of hopeful souls seemed to deem it worth the money. Talbot got off, and the rest of it is history.

Among the crowd on the street, he met J. C. Hale, a Missourian, who had just staked out a fine bunch of land east of town and who was driving a cracking good looking pair of mules and gave the impression of a man who had some idea about what he was doing here. Mr. Hale is really the man who should be given credit for establishment of the paper, or cursed for it, as you deem best. He did a lot of hurried work, got a bunch of citizens together in a meeting at the only available auditorium in the town, which was up stairs over Dr. Rhodes Drug Store, a frame building on the corner where Peoples Mercantile Store is now located. A. V. Logan was head of the town's "commercial club," and was one of those individuals who never looked back. The bunch that night subscribed and paid for all the papers the promoter thought he needed. A lot was purchased on Main street and contract let to Joe Clayton for a combination office and family habitat—this being the same building now occupied by Kelly's shining parlor and a restaurant. And, by the way, one of the three buildings now standing on Main street that were here so early in the town's history, the others being the Walter Graham store, (then a saloon run by Rascoe and Faulkner) and L. P. Evans place, then Logan and Dyer's store.

The first copy of the Advocate to come off the press was taken by Dr. J. F. Rhodes, who seemed to want it because of the name, he being a Methodist and having read a paper by that name all his life. The first paid-up subscriber was J. T. Patrick, an early day carpenter.

The first store in the town, so far as printed history goes, was that of M. A. Beckett & Sons, located facing the railroad right-of-way, somewhere about where the present passenger station was later built.

The paper's first issue called for contributions looking toward the erection of a school building, Dr. R. M. Ross being president of a school board just appointed. The Carlsbad Argus was kindly publishing an appeal for funds for this purpose, asking that money be left at McLenathan and Tracy's office for the purpose. The school building, a one-story frame, was put up at an old-fashioned house raising on a two acre tract of prairie donated by Mr. Fleming about where the Compton residence now stands. Prof. Peck, from Lower Penasco, taught the first school.

The first lodge organization in the town was the W. O. W., which organization is still intact. Joe Clayton is perhaps the only charter member remaining in the town, with Gayle Talbot a close second.

The first organization of a public nature in the town was the Artesia Library Association, which was effected about the same day The Advocate was born. $30.00 was raised as the starting of a book fund by an ice cream supper served in the old Beckett store building. Mrs. G. P. Cleveland was named president, Mrs. S. W. Hale, secretary, Mrs. Hattie Pons, treasurer and Mrs. R. M. Ross, librarian. Eighty volumes were purchased immediately, and not for one day since that time twenty-seven years ago, has the doors of the library been closed. A brick building is owned, with about four thousand books in the shelves, with a paid librarian in charge. Mrs. Will Benson and Mrs. S. W. Gilbert are two of the charter directors of the association.

Artesia had two hotels, one conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Munson east of the railroad and one by Pons & White on Main street, the latter long since burned.

Chambers & Heath were well drillers, with L. R. Sperry arriving during August to drill a well for J. B. Cecil.

First National Bank formed organization August 15, with R. M. Ross, president, J. S. Major, vice-president and A. L. Norfleet, cashier.

W. C. Witt sold the Blue Springs ranch to R. H. Judkins for $40,000 cash; 600 cattle at $30 and saddle horses at $25.00.

First cotton grown at Carlsbad by the Ramsey Company, and looked good, but nothing came of the experiment at the time and for years later.

A Sunday school was conducted every Sunday afternoon in the Rhodes hall with Dr. Ross, Presbyterian, as superintendent. It was a "union" effort, and functioned until the Methodists got to thick around town and started their own school of their own. Rev. W. T. Burck was Methodist circuit rider, with an able assistant in J. C. Gage. T. L. Lallance was presiding elder.

A high price for land was obtained by T. N. Cornell when he received $1,600 for 160 acres.

Quail hunting on the townsite was unrestricted, and Tom Lacy, then printer, publisher and general spiritual adviser on The Advocate, was agreeably surprised one day when he fished a bird out from under the paper cutter that had flown in to escape a pot hunter across the street.

The new town was a law abiding village from the start, notwithstanding a flourishing saloon on each end of its business district. Of course, there was the time when Will Benson and Ragsdale killed that Turkey Track cow that night down across the railroad—but why bring that up at this late date.

Some people know how to make such good excuses that they don't try to do anything else.—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

FATTEN STOCK WITH WHEAT AND SORGHUMS

The drought throughout the "corn belt" states may change the outlook for New Mexico livestock feeders, says W. L. Black of the New Mexico Agricultural College. The shortage of corn will probably result in less feeding being done throughout the middle west, which should result in a wider spread than usual between the price for common classes of animals and the price for well finished stuff. Indications are that the prices of feeder animals will be extremely low this fall, and if the prices of wheat and the grain sorghums remain low, they may be fed to considerable advantage.

Extensive experiments have shown the grain sorghums to be practically 95 per cent as efficient as corn for fattening cattle and lambs, and whole wheat to be equal to corn for lamb feeding, but not so good for cattle.

Recent experiments at the Nebraska experiment station have shown a mixture of nine parts of coarsely ground wheat and one part of meat meal tankage to be better than a mixture of nine parts of shelled corn and one part of meat meal tankage for feeding hogs. Under present conditions, it will be well for farmers who have large quantities of wheat and grain sorghums to consider the possibilities of feeding livestock before selling the grain at the present low prices.

The man with a supply of corn, however, had better hesitate until he learns what the market price will be before he considers feeding it to livestock, as present indications are that it will be more profitable to sell the corn and eliminate the risk involved in a feeding operation.

DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE FORECASTS ADVANCE IN PRICE OF CATTLE SOON

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The agriculture department said Tuesday that prospects favored a "material advance in cattle prices in the next twelve months."

A report issued through the bureau of agricultural economics said market supplies of cattle during the next five or six months probably would be about the same as a year ago but the supplies during the first half of 1931 were expected to be smaller than in 1930.

Demand for stockers and feeders this fall will not equal that of last year—and for that reason slaughter is likely to be somewhat greater, the report said.

"Prospects favor a continuation of low imports of both live cattle and calves and of fresh and frozen beef and veal. Consumer demand for beef probably will improve somewhat in the next six months with the advent of cooler weather, especially if there is an improvement in industrial activities. Prospects favor a material advance in cattle prices in the next twelve months."

The honeymoon trip of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Burns was delayed in Seattle, Washington, while police hunted for the thief who stole the bridegroom's wooden leg.

Senator Capper, long a friend of the 4-H club and a member of the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club Work, in making the awards said that he hoped these awards would serve to encourage home canning work among farm girls and that they would prove of value to 4-H club leaders and extension workers in furthering this work.

The Capper medals are in addition to the list of 470 prizes totaling $4,250 in cash, loving cups and ribbons which will be distributed to the winners in the contest. The grand sweepstakes award of the contest carries with it a cash prize of six hundred dollars.

tions as to the nature of the food sent. Contestants may enter the fruit, vegetable or meat division any two of the divisions, or all three. Entries should be sent immediately upon canning. These will be kept on exhibition at Shenandoah till the closing of the contest on October 1.

WHEN THE CONOCO MAN ASKS "ETHYL?" say Yes! and you'll say it again . . .

THE next time you drive into a CONOCO station, the man at the pump will ask you a one-word question. "Ethyl?", will be his query.

And in justice to yourself and the car you drive, we urge you to answer, "Yes!"

For Ethyl, added to CONOCO, the gasoline we're proud of, is like seasoning added to food. As seasoning brings out taste and deliciousness, so Ethyl brings out the qualities which have made CONOCO Gasoline famous.

Ethyl stops the knock that makes the foot retreat from the accelerator when you would rather "bear down" harder. Ethyl stops the knock that forces you to shift gears on hills. Ethyl stops the knock that embarrasses you when you let in the clutch in traffic.

So when the CONOCO salesman asks, "Ethyl?" . . . Say, "Yes!" . . . and you'll say it again.

PEDEN, PIOR, DETER PROGRAM

With one of the most appreciative audiences ever assembled at the Central school auditorium, Miss Doris Deter, violinist, Miss Jesse Ellen Peden, pianist and Miss Vera Pior, reader, brought one of the best programs ever given in Artesia, Monday evening.

Miss Deter held the large audience in close attention with her poise, her personality and her artistic rendition of her numbers.

The concerto by Mendelssohn, "Moto Perpetuo" by Bohm and "Siciliano e Riguardo" by Kreisler brot enthusiastic applause. She was fortunate in having the support of Miss Peden for accompaniment.

Miss Peden received heavy applause for both her piano numbers. She is considered one of the best piano soloists and accompanists that has played in the Pecos valley.

Miss Vera Pior's readings added renewed enthusiasm. She generously responded to the encore with a number that received much applause.

HEALTH NEWS

Probably the chief interest manifested by the citizens of any community in the work of the health department is extended toward the incidence of the communicable or contagious diseases. The incidence of these diseases is found to vary from season to season, depending upon the fact that some of these diseases are prone to recur in fairly regular cycles. The incidence of these diseases furthermore depends considerably upon the cooperation extended to the health authorities by the citizens of the community. If citizens promptly notify the department of the occurrence of the first cases in the community, the department by means of isolation, quarantine, or other appropriate measures, is placed in a better position to limit the spread of such contagion. Conversely, when the first cases are not reported or are concealed, and the patient allowed to mingle freely with other individuals, the contagion may spread widely through the community and become impossible to check before it has run its course.

There are some communicable or contagious diseases that we do not have any means of controlling the spread of except by preventing non-immune people from coming in contact with the disease. Among these are scarlet fever, whooping cough, measles, mumps and chicken pox. There are three diseases that we are able to control by vaccination, if everybody would be vaccinated. These are typhoid fever, diphtheria and small pox. We urge every parent to have all children protected against diphtheria and the entire family against typhoid fever.

Schools will soon open and each community should help to control all communicable diseases by cooperating with the health authorities in their efforts to have children and parents vaccinated and by reporting the first cases of any disease in the community.

GAME ASSOCIATION TO MEET AT ALBUQUERQUE

Sportsmen of the entire state are waiting with interest the sixteenth annual convention of the New Mexico Game Protective Ass'n. which will be held in Albuquerque, September 1 and 2.

The Albuquerque association, host to the convention, is making elaborate plans for the entertainment of delegates. It is expected that over two hundred delegates will be present from the 47 local associations in the state.

The Franciscan hotel will be the headquarters and the convention will be held in the large Indian Room, which will be decorated with mounted heads and trophies of the hunt for the occasion.

While entertainment plans are still tentative, the first day will be featured with six reels of field and stream pictures at the Sunshine Theatre, and a huge rally at night to be held in the First American grounds.

If possible, the convention will be brought to a close at noon of the second day so as to enable members to return to their homes that night.

The New Mexico G. P. A. has been growing rapidly in the past year and it is expected that this will be the largest and most enthusiastic annual convention of its sixteen years of existence.

Among the speakers will be representatives of sheep and cattle growers, forest service, biological survey, state game commission and others.

Attention Cotton Farmers

Your Cotton Sample is an important factor in choosing your gin.

In the long run the sample of your cotton will be even more important than a big turn out. We endeavor to give our customers as large a turn out as possible consistent with the high grade sample.

Read what the New Mexico A. & M. Bulletin No. 181, issued March, 1930 has to say on cotton varieties:

The ginning of the cotton is ordinarily out of the hands of the cotton grower, but there is still a considerable tendency on the part of many farmers to demand of the ginner a high turnout or high lint percentage. The ginner is nearly always willing to do high-class ginning if the farmers ask for it, but likewise they will also quite often give a high turnout, which is usually accompanied by poor ginning, if the farmers asks for this. A high turnout usually means that considerable percentage of fuzz and very short fibers and dirt and trash go into the cotton bale, which must eventually be separated from the good cotton by the spinners; therefore, not only does the individual farmer lose, by such practice, but a whole community may lose because of the lack of foresight of a few farmers. It has been shown many times that good ginning invariably brings a higher grade of cotton and, therefore a better price. Likewise, a farmer can eventually expect to be penalized for poor ginning. It should be understood that the ginner is not always responsible for poor ginning, but it is quite largely due to his desire to give the farmer what he wants. No ginner can be expected, furthermore, to give good results if cotton is wet or otherwise in poor condition for ginning.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH
Rev. Harold G. Scoggins

"The large church with a warm welcome and a helpful gospel."

We extend a warm welcome to the returning members of the public school faculty and to the new members who are for the first time taking up their work among us. We hope that all the teachers will find a place in some of the Artesia churches
where they will feel at home.

Also to all new comers in the city we extend a cordial invitation to attend all of our services.

9:45 a. m. Sunday school. George Frisch superintendent.

At 11:00 a. m. morning worship.
The pastor's theme this Sunday
is, "Tepid."

There will be no evening service this Sunday due to the fact that the Presbyterian church is conducting evangelistic services. It is hoped that the Methodists will attend these services and hear Guy Green, lay evangelist.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Fourth and Grand
Rev. John P. Sinclair, Pastor
Phone 249.

Sunday, August 31st, 1930.
9:55 a. m. Sabbath school.

11:00 a. m. Morning worship.

6:45 p. m. Christian Endeavor,
Junior and Intermediate groups.

7:30 p. m. Evening service. Violin solo by Miss Virginia Egbert and anthem by Junior choir. Mr. Guy W. Green of Kansas City, Mo., will be with us for special enlistment services, from August 27th to Sunday, September 7th. He will be heard on Sunday at both services and weeknights at 7:30 p. m. A man that taught the largest Bible class in his denomination ought to be worth hearing.

Be Consistent—

You think the church is a good thing. You would not live in a community that would not support
one. You want your wife and children to have the opportunity to attend services of the church, and you are proud of the good name your community bears because of the influence of the church. In short, you believe thoroughly in the church. Act like you did. Go to church next Sunday and also hear Guy W. Green on week nights as well.

The First Million

By JACK WOODFORD

(Copyright.)

FUNNY about people who seem shiftless. Sometimes I think they're just laughing at the world. That they see, perhaps, something that the rest of us don't see. I always used to think that the shiftless people were that way because they couldn't be any other way, even if they wanted to.
But there was Archie McDonald.

We went to school together. Grammar school, high school. . . Archie never seemed to care a whoop whether he made his grades or not. Usually, in fact, he didn't. A big, lumbering blond fellow. You'd have gotten irritated at him, except for that grin of his. . . And the twinkle back of his blue eyes which always made you feel, a little vaguely, that he must have a joke on you. . . Though you didn't mind his having the joke—whatever it was.

He didn't go on to college, and I didn't see much of him for four years.
. . . and then, one day, he dropped into the office where I had gone to work a year after leaving college. He didn't look the same. He'd come up, he said, on account of a girl. She had left home and gone to the city.
He had followed. He was persuaded that she cared a little for him, and he was mad about her. He asked me out to dinner with them that evening. Asked me to suggest a good place.

I picked out a quiet little cabaret not far from the hotel where he was stopping.

Vera, the girl, was sufficient excuse for a mild case of insanity. Tiny little thing, with snapping brown eyes and blond hair. I could see that she did care something for him from the way she looked at him. Probably, I reasoned, she had refused him because of his shiftlessness.

At the cabaret there was a fairly good male voice. Because of the size of the place, perhaps, the man sang through a megaphone. I saw Vera watching the man closely. Singing evidently was a thing that got to her.
I saw Archie watching her closely,
and for the first time I saw that he was looking utterly sober, and solemn.
I wondered what he was thinking about when, later, he transferred all of his attention to the singer. I made a guess . . . but as I found out afterward I was just ten million miles away.

I didn't see anything of the pair
for about a month, and then one day I got a call from Vera. She had the strangest request to make that I ever heard.

"Would you mind, awfully," she asked, "escorting me to that same cabaret tonight . . . Archie told me to 'phone you . . . he was too busy to—I don't know what he's doing. At any rate, he will be singing there tonight."

Of course, after that, wild horses couldn't hold me back. Archie! Singing! Archie who had a voice like a combined fog horn and file . . . the most awful singing voice anyone ever heard.

I picked up Vera in a taxi at half-past nine and we went to the cabaret.
Got a seat near the front. We were just in time. The announcer was giving a spiel.

"The only voice that equals Caruso," he was prattling, "will favor us with several selections tonight." There was a general laugh. And then Archie came out upon the stage. He didn't look at all bad in full dress. There was even a distinguished air about him. This, I thought, would be rich!
Vera, seated next to me, was watching, with mouth agape.

Archie put up his megaphone and started to sing. The room quieted down. I could feel the hairs on my head grow prickly. Never, since hearing Caruso himself, had I heard such a voice.

There was encore after encore.
And always the same perfect command, the same flawless tones. There was only one explanation, I told myself; I was going insane. Vera looked as though she were positively sure she had. Archie, at last, walked off the stage. We met him at the rear door and all bundled into a cab.

"Archie," I began, "you're—"
"Wait," he broke in. "It wouldn't be good sportsmanship to fool an old pal. It will all be in the papers tomorrow."

"Of course it will . . . your voice—"

"I haven't got any more voice than a rabbit. But Vera here is worth a million, so I had to make a million to get her."

"And you learned to sing that well,
in so short—"

"Don't be absurd. That was Caruso singing. Records, off stage; reproduc-er inserted in the megaphone. Contact points on the heels of my shoes . . .
tiny wires along my hand, running down my sleeve. Plates in the floor for contact with my heels . . . but the special device for purifying and clarifying the stepped-up records is my own. That's where the million comes in. Tomorrow . . . you'll see, in the paper. Now that that's over, Vera and I can get married and loaf
for the rest of our lives, can't we,
Vera?"

"It wasn't fair," she objected, "to make a million so easily. Think of all the fun we've missed making it."

"Can you beat a woman!" mourned Archie. "That's why Americans all work themselves to death . . . the women."

SETH ALSTON FOR STATE LAND CHIEF

A large meeting consisting of the business men, both republican and democrat, of Lea county, was held at Lovington Saturday night, August 16, to urge the candidacy of Seth
Alston of Lovington for State Land Commissioner. The organization was effected with J. S. Eaves as president, and J. L. Reed as secretary. The finance committee appointed Millard Eidson as chairman.

Assurances were received from all over eastern New Mexico and representative men from every county in the eastern half of the state urging Alston to get into the race, pointing out that while acceptance of that position by Mr. Alston would entail a large business sacrifice, the opportunity to do service to the state of New Mexico is great in urging Alston to run.

This meeting was spontaneous and was not in any way engineered, aided or abetted by Mr. Alston—it came from his friends and acquaintances who know his true worth and the service he could render to the people of New Mexico. — Lovington

INSIDE INFORMATION

Although good colonies of bees with plenty of stores often survive very cold winters with little protection, it is usually better in the North to provide some protection. Packing and protection tend to reduce the necessity for heat production by the honeybees. Consequently they consume less food and their vitality is not reduced so much. Pack the hive in chaff, leaves, or similar material to check loss of heat. In generating heat bees consume honey, and the water in the honey passes off into the hive as vapor. Unless the temperature within the hive is high enough this water will condense. If water runs onto the cluster, harm results. If the hive is packed properly and if the colony is in good condition, the beekeeper need have little fear that water vapor will condense within the hive to the injury of his colony. In cold weather entrances should be contracted to keep out the cold, sudden draughts and wind, and to prevent mice from entering. It is best to contract the entrance to a space just high enough for a bee to pass through. This will then permit flight in suitable weather, will allow the bees to carry out debris and will prevent the bees from becoming restless as might be the case if they were confined.

Two glass measuring cups, one for wet and one for dry ingredients, are a great convenience in cake making.

Oysters are in season again. They are extremely valuable as a source of various minerals needed by the body. Like fresh fish, they supply iodine.

Here's a good September menu: Corn soup, made from fresh corn cut from the cob; omelet with Spanish sauce, which contains tomatoes and peppers; rice; new yellow or white turnips; apple sauce from some of the windfalls, with cup cake.

Choose designs for children's clothes with ironing in mind, whether you make the clothes yourself or buy them readymade. Fussy ruffles and queer shaped parts take up the time of the laundress, and never look as well after washing and ironing as trim, smooth garments that are well-cut and made of interesting materials.

Probably fewer sandwiches would be discarded from children's lunch boxes if the bread were always of the best quality. Children will eat more bread if different kinds are served. Sometimes so simple a change as baking the bread in a new form, a twist or roll instead of a loaf, or cutting the sandwiches into fancy shapes with a cookie cutter, will increase interest in it. The change of flavor given by added raisins, dried currants, dates, or nut meats is another inducement to like the lunch bread.

The "hot pack" is not a new method of canning. It is the method of filling the jars to get good results. By the hot pack is meant cooking the fruit or vegetables to be canned for a short time, and then packing it boiling hot into jars or cans, which are then processed the required length of time. The hot pack shortens the time needed for the food in the center of the can to reach the required temperature for sterilization, insures a better product, and does away with the step that used to be known as "exhausting."

AUGUST SHEEP DIPPING

August is a good time to dip sheep for ticks. Two dippings are necessary, about 24 days apart, because the first may not destroy all the tick eggs. Various kinds of dips—such as coal tar creosote, cresol, and nicotine—may be used. Sheep dips are most effective when used with soft water. The sheep tick is very prevalent and spreads rapidly, especially among close-herded range flock. Heavily infested sheep will bite, scratch and rub against any available object. The ticks may be found by parting the wool over the neck, breast, shoulders, belly and thighs.

SAMBO'S PHILOSOPHY

"Boss man 'ow dat barkin' dawgs don' nevab bite—but how us gwine ter tell dat kin' o' dawgs f'm de BITIN' dawgs dat barks, TOO?"

NO SCARCITY GUBERNAL TIMBER IN RANKS OF STATE REPUBLICANS

Any fears that there will be a dearth of candidates before the Republican state nominating convention in Albuquerque on September 22, may be cast aside.

There are plenty of gentlemen with aspirations—or whose friends have aspirations for them—according to a check up made recently by a high state official, who has been keeping a little record all his own in a notebook.

Seventeen hats, kellys, chapeaus, sombreros, lids—or what have you—have been shied into the gubernatorial ring, this state official's record shows, either by the owners or folks who want to be nice to the owners.

Judge Reed Holloman of Santa Fe, of course is the outstanding candidate. He has been talked about the most and seems at this time to be the likely nominee. But take a glance at the rest of the 17: E. L. Moulton and C. M. Botts, Albuquerque; Oliver M. Lee, Alamogordo; Dr. H. S. Murdoch, Springer; Jaffa Miller, Roswell; Ed Sargent, Chama; T. E. Mitchell, Albert; Hugh B. Woodward, Clayton; Rupert F. Asplund, Santa Fe; Levi A. Hughes, Santa Fe; Manuel B. Otero, Albuquerque; B. C. Hernandez, Albuquerque; John MacDonald, Kelly; Judge E. R. Wright, Santa Fe; Col. W. G. Haltsausen, Santa Fe and Supreme Court Justice John C. Watson.

There they are folks, the whole 17. All of them have been mentioned in a greater or lesser degree in the last few weeks. There may be a dark horse—or several of them—in the bunch. But the fact is that the state official who kept the record has seen or heard every one of them mentioned.

The list of United States senator nomination possibilities is much smaller, according to the check-up, as there are but six on it. Governor R. C. Dillon, in this case, is the "big guy with the brass collar." He seems to be a cinch. But there are five who have been mentioned, at their own instance or by their "loving friends." The others are: Herbert B. Holt, Las Cruces; Justice John C. Watson, former Senator Holm Bursum, Socorro; Hugh B. Woodward, Clayton;—now U. S. attorney at Albuquerque; Oliver M. Lee, Alamogordo.

Albert Simms, present congressman, has appeared to have the field pretty much to himself as far as any serious competition is concerned, but six others have been mentioned. They are Dr. Murdoch, of Springer; L. N. Wilson, Raton; Wm. Carmichael, Clayton; H. H. Errett, also of Clayton; Johnson of Otero county and M. A. Otero, Jr., attorney general.

Dr. Murdoch, G. O. P. chairman of Colfax county, may prove to be the dark horse in this race. Mike Otero is out after the judgeship in the first district and has announced that he will not accept the congressional nomination. The others are rather unknown quantities. There has been considerable opposition to the renomination of Simms, but no one has been brought against him definitely up to this time. Dr. Murdoch might be the answer to the anti-Simms prayer.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

DEMOCRATS TO SELECT THE STATE CONVENTION DATE SEPTEMBER 3RD

SANTA FE — Arthur Seligman, democratic state chairman, Tuesday issued a call for the democratic executive committee, advisory committee, committee-at-large and all bureau chairmen to meet in Santa Fe on September 3 to select the date for the democratic state nominating convention at Santa Fe.

The democrats at that time will select temporary convention officers, a keynoter, and a committee to draft a tentative platform to be submitted to the convention.

There are one hundred members of the various committee and fully half of them are expected to be here for the meeting.

It was not considered probable that the democrats will set a convention date prior to September 15, and there was still talk in Santa Fe of a democratic convention held simultaneous with the republican convention. In that event the nominations would resolve themselves into a race between parties to make their nominations last and yet get them on file with the secretary of state by four p. m. on September 24. With simultaneous conventions, the democrats were conceded an edge because they will be meeting in Santa Fe whereas the republicans will meet in Albuquerque. The republican convention opens September 22.

Mrs. George M. Neal, chairman of the womens bureau of the democratic state central committee announced the names of nine district chairmen of that bureau, one from each judicial district. They are: First district, Mrs. H. T. Watson, Gallup; second district, Mrs. Geo. C. Taylor, Albuquerque; third district, Mrs. Numa C. Frenger, Las Cruces; fourth district, Mrs. Caroline Collins, Las Vegas; fifth district, Mrs. Georgia Lusk, Lovington; sixth district, Mrs. Jesse Turner, Silver City; seventh district, Mrs. P. H. Davis, Magdalena; eighth district, Mrs. Dan K. Sadler, Raton; ninth district, Mrs. James T. Stalker, Clovis.

Members of the church presented Rev. and Mrs. Peterson with an electric waffle iron and a pressure cooker, as a token of esteem in which the family was held during their residence here.

Hubby's Housework

Well—I for one believe a man should help his wife when'er he can. I think a man's a poor old fish who won't, for instance, wash a dish! To wash a dish is not a job. To make a fellow whine and sob, But many fellows start to yelp Whenever they are asked to help!

Nor should it fill a man with gloom To tidy up the living-room. And furthermore, he shouldn't balk To take the broom and sweep the walk. The boys who balk are those afraid Some one will think that they're the maid! Or else they fear the neighbors think: "Just look at Brown—the poor old gink!"

Whereas, in fact, the neighbors cry: "Hoo-ray for Brown—the good, old guy!" At least, the wives proclaim that he Is like ALL hubbies ought to be. And I proclaim that all through life A married man should help his wife, And gladly too, at every chance— But, through it all — SHOULD WEAR THE PANTS!

Sunday the annual old timers reunion of this section was held at the John Fanning ranch, southeast of town. On this occasion the old timers reunion was combined with a reunion of the Fanning family, honoring the visit of the mother, Mrs. S. E. Fanning of Maywood, California, at the Fanning home. THRIFT HABITS NECESSARY TO SUCCESS AND PROGRESS

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

"It doesn't pay to worry about the future. The things we dread seldom happen. It's better to take life as it comes and not burden ourselves with thoughts about the years ahead."

There are many whose creed of life is something like this and it leads them along a very treacherous and dangerous pathway. It doesn't pay to worry, perhaps, from the standpoint of conjuring up imaginary woes and misfortunes. But there is a great difference between worrying about the future and facing life's possibilities in a sensible manner.

The Japanese have a proverb which says: "Success and happiness are the beautiful flowers that spring from the plain brown bulbs of thrift and savings." The point of this talk on thrift is to point out the difference between planting the honest bulbs of thrift and neglecting entirely to make provision for the future.

Too many of us are apt to think of thrift only in terms of plain, brown, unattractive bulbs, without thought of the beautiful flowers that come from them. And the sequence of thrift and personal advancement is just as true as the sequence of bulb and Lily.

To maintain that one can go thru life with absolute disregard for the fundamentals of rightful living and prudent habits, and still continue to thrive is as false a doctrine as would be the suggestion that the flowers could live and grow without the bulb.

There are varying standards of thrift, according to individual circumstances and conditions. But living beyond one's means, squandering one's time, energies and health, and thinking only of present moments without plan or preparation for the later years, are practices that cannot be recommended.

OILERS DROP A HOT GAME TO ROSWELL HERE LAST SUNDAY

The Oilers lost a hard fought contest to the Roswell Giants, Sunday afternoon at the Brainard park, when the visitors walked away with a 6 to 4 score. Roberts, local hurler held Roswell to nine hits, but could not keep the blows scattered sufficient to prevent the visitors from taking the game. Connelly, pitching for the Giants, secured five strikeouts, while Roberts whiffed four. Brainard gave an exhibition of real fielding, accepting six chances without an error and making one Utilization of farm by-products, wastes, and surplus crops, through feeding to livestock, may mean the difference between profit and loss in feeding. More than $100,000,000 worth of corn stover and straws are burned, plowed under, allowed to rot in stacks, or otherwise wasted each year in the United States. Large quantities of inferior hay, grain and roughage for which there is no ready market may be advantageously fed to livestock. Cottonseed meal is often used as a direct fertilizer in sections where it is cheap—though it is usually more profitable to feed it to stock. Crops such as potatoes and peanuts may be so plentiful and cheap as to warrant feeding the surplus to stock instead of storing them.
