Many Students Leave For College In Next Few Days

This section has received wide recognition for its progressive spirit in encouraging young people to go to college. The Artesia community has probably furnished more students for institutions of higher learning than any other community of like size in the state. This year is no exception, in fact the exodus of students to college this year is greater than at any time since 1929.

Edgar Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Bishop, will return to Baylor University at Waco, Texas, about the middle of September for his second year's work on a pre-medical course.

Miss Peggy Brainard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Brainard, will enter C. I. A. at Denton, Texas, about September 16th. She will be a sophomore. Miss Brainard is taking a pre-medical course.

Billie Bullock, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bullock, will take sophomore work at the West Texas Tech. at Lubbock, entering about September 18th.

Laurence Clarke, youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Clarke, who has been doing clinic work this summer at the Loyola School of Dentistry, in New Orleans, Louisiana, will enter the school as a senior this fall and receive his degree next spring.

Miss Elizabeth Muncy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Muncy, will leave about September 12th for Waco to enter Baylor University. Miss Muncy will be a junior this year. She took freshman work at Baylor and her sophomore work at the New Mexico State University.

Miss Laura Bullock will enter Draughn's Business College at Lubbock this month for a secretarial course.

Miss Abbie Durand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Durand, will enter Stephens College for Girls at Columbia, Missouri, the first of this month. She expects to take a secretarial course.

Lord Sharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sharp, will enter the West Texas Tech. at Lubbock again this fall, taking sophomore work.

Russell Floore, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Floore, entered Woodbury College in Los Angeles this week for his second year in higher accounting.

Wallace and John Gates and Miss Virginia Gates, sons and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Gates, will all enter college this fall. Wallace and John expect to leave Friday for Los Angeles, California, where they will attend Occidental College. Wallace will be a senior and John a sophomore. Miss Virginia will leave about the middle of this month for Denton, Texas, to enter as a freshman at C. I. A.

Misses Sue and Kitty Flint, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Flint, are not definitely decided as to what college they will attend, but will probably go to the state university at Albuquerque. Miss Sue will take both junior and senior work this year; Kitty will be a freshman.

Although plans are not definitely made, Miss Catherine Douglas, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Douglas, will probably re-enter McMurry College at Abilene, Texas, for her senior year.

Wayne, Fletcher and Miss Dawn Hornbaker, sons and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hornbaker, are leaving soon for college. Wayne will enter the New Mexico University at Albuquerque as a senior September 15th; Fletcher and Miss Dawn expect to leave September (Continued on last page column 6)

Farmers Preparing To Spray Cotton For Worm Damage

Cotton growers are preparing to fight the leaf worm. Damage from the worm has not been extensive yet, but wet weather is expected to increase the damage. Several farmers have poison ready to start spraying as soon as the new crop of worms appear.

The rains are also expected to retard the opening of the cotton. Growers here anticipated the picking season would open about the middle of the month, but if inclement weather continues, the harvesting operations may be delayed.

Grass On Local Ranges Is Best Seen In Years

Prospects for good fall and winter grass and weeds are the best seen here in several years, stockmen said yesterday. Likewise the range cattle are in the best condition in years, for this season of the year. While the present moisture is not sufficient to last thru the fall season, it will supply the range for a period. Probably the best range now is in the foothills to the west where rainfall has been more abundant.

Few cattle are being moved to market at the present time. The livestock market has shown a slight upward tendency and has been comparatively steady for several weeks.

August Is A Record Month For Travel To The Carlsbad Caverns

August was the record travel month of all times at Carlsbad Caverns National Park, Thomas Boles, superintendent, announced Saturday.

During the month 30,686 persons visited the Caverns, compared to 27,791 in August, 1929, the previous record travel month.

"One of the remarkable things about this month's travel was the increase in travel from states other than Texas," said Boles Saturday. "In the previous record year, Texas sent 21,000 of the 27,000 in the Caverns. Oklahoma sent 400 and California 200. This year, California had 1,004 in the Caverns and Oklahoma had 4,463," he said.

The superintendent interpreted the larger numbers coming from other states to the spread of publicity about the Caverns.

Texas citizens, however, continued to lead travel with 16,903. Oklahoma's 4,463 stood second in number. New Mexico was third with 2,317.

ALFALFA MOVING

Some alfalfa hay continues to move to eastern markets. The principal movement has been to Texas points. Choice alfalfa hay is bringing around $9.50 per ton.

School Enrollment May Reach Record

Registration At Junior High Shows Largest Increase With 225.

A sharp increase in the number of pupils enrolled at the city schools was made the first three days of this week, over corresponding periods of previous years. Registration at the high school will be completed tomorrow.

W. E. Kerr, superintendent announced yesterday afternoon the total enrollment at the Central school was 390 pupils (grades included at the Central are from the first to the sixth). Junior high had its biggest enrollment in history with a total of 225. Over 100 pupils have been enrolled in the sixth grade, seventy in the seventh and fifty in the eighth.

At the high school forty-two have been enrolled in the senior class and thirty-five in the junior class. Sophomores will be enrolled today and over seventy freshmen will likely be enrolled by tomorrow evening.

DON'T LEAVE CEMETERY GATE OPEN

Members of the Woodbine Cemetery association have complained recently that Sunday visitors to the cemetery have left the gates open, permitting livestock to enter the grounds and destroy grass and shrubbery. One member was called recently at the noon hour to the cemetery to run livestock out of the grounds. Unless the public visitors shut the gates, the gates will be padlocked as a measure of safety.

PRORATION MEETING

Tomorrow a proration meeting will be held in Santa Fe for operators of the Artesia oil field. Details will be arranged for the proration program to start soon.

DEATH TOLL IN FLORIDA STORM HIGH

Number of Deaths May Reach 200; Sweeps Path For Forty Miles Thru Keys; Hurricane Now Is Passed.

MIAMI, Florida—Scenes of horror and desolation greeted the eyes of rescue workers last night as they penetrated the storm-battered Florida Keys to count the dead—estimated unofficially at upward of 200—and relieve suffering by the survivors, while the devastating hurricane apparently was blowing itself out in south Georgia.

More conservative estimates, which included those made by the Red Cross, placed the number of dead at possibly less than 200, while other figures, received from various sources, ranged upward to between 400 and 500.

From Leonard K. Thompson, Red Cross disaster relief chairman in the hurricane area in the Keys, Washington headquarters received a report he believed the death toll would be less than 200.

Thompson, who accompanied the rescue workers on a relief expedition out of Miami, said his estimate was made after contact had been made with all hitherto unheard from points in the area.

Dr. Joe Stewart, who made an aerial survey of the stricken area, said he did not believe the death toll would exceed 300. He said he based his belief on reports of 177 dead at two world war veteran road building camps at lower Matcumbe and an estimated 100 dead at another camp at Snake Creek, farther north.

George Branch, railroad station master at Islamorada, said he counted nearly 150 bodies at the northern camp, while Jack Combs, Miami undertaker, said he believed the death list would range from 400 to 500.

Airplane pilots, flying over the storm-battered Keys, radioed their home bases last night concerning the extent of the damage.

"Storm area appears as if broom had swept forty mile swath thru Keys," said Pilot William Dokey. "Several small craft blown ashore. Flying low, saw woman sitting on wreckage of home on isolated Key with one child near her."

Officer Wrecks Car On Picacho Hill Early Saturday Morning

A new car driven by Roy Ansley, local officer, was badly wrecked on the Picacho hill southwest of Roswell Saturday morning when the car rolled off the hill after the car brakes had apparently stuck. Ansley, with J. C. Floore, Jr., was en route to Las Cruces when the accident occurred. Fortunately neither occupant of the car was seriously hurt. Ansley received a severe cut on his arm, but aside from being bruised and shaken, Floore escaped injury.

No Calves Contracted For Fall Delivery So Far, Late Reports Say

Quite a few calves will likely be contracted for October delivery in this section within the next few days, although no contracts have been made to date so far as learned. One buyer is here now arranging to buy calves for delivery later in the season. The calf crop generally is short and will probably average better than fifty percent, although in some sections the crop will run as low as twenty-five percent. The present crop in good flesh, does not compare in numbers with the crops of previous years. The shortage of calves on the range this year is due to two factors, the 1934 drought and to the drought relief purchase by the government.

COMMISSIONER'S COURT AT CARLSBAD

The Eddy county commissioner's court held a session at Carlsbad yesterday. Only routine matters claimed the attention of the court. Joe Lusk, commissioner and George Reese, district attorney, representing Eddy county left yesterday morning for Santa Fe, carrying the papers connected with the proposed addition to the county court house under a P W A project. Yesterday was the final time limit for filing the necessary papers to the project.

One Divorce Filed For Every Three Marriage Licenses Issued in Co.

Tabulations compiled from the filed for record instruments at the county clerk's office at Carlsbad since May 1, 1935, indicate there is approximately one divorce filed in the county for every three marriage licenses issued. Since that date a total of sixty-eight marriage licenses have been issued and twenty-one divorce suits filed. Another interesting fact connected with this information is that over fifty percent of the marriage licenses issued were issued to out-of-the-county couples.

Tabulations were completed for a representative period to ascertain the percent of divorces to marriage licenses. Similar periods in recent years would no doubt show about the same results.

OIL ACTIVITY NORMAL OVER SO'EAST AREA

Three Wells Completed, Eight New Locations Staked and Two Wells Abandoned During the Past Week.

Inclement weather may check the normal oil activity in the southeastern district for a short time, due to muddy roads and highways. However developments during the past week brought three producers to Lea county and eight new locations for wells were staked. Two wells were also abandoned during the period.

The best well of the week was finished in the Hobbs pool, this being the Amerada-Skelly, State 1-E sec. 24-18-37, at 4105 feet. On an initial production test the State 1-E flowed 1,747 barrels of oil daily with 500,000 feet of gas.

Average producers were also completed in the Vaughn A-14 No. 3 of the Continental Oil Co., sec. 14-24-35, which was drilled to 3537 feet. After an acid treatment the Continental well flowed at the rate of fifty-one barrels of oil an hour and 9,000,000 cubic feet of gas. The Phillips Petroleum Co., also completed its Woolworth No. 16, sec. 27-24-36 at a total depth of 3483 feet for an initial production of fifty-six barrels of oil per hour thru tubing.

New wells staked included the Sun Oil Co., Maveety No. 3, sec. 35-19-36; Texas Company, State 1-E, sec. 1-20-36; Barnsdall Oil Co., Cooper No. 1, sec. 12-20-36; Atlantic Oil Co., State 1-H, sec. 5-21-36; The California Co., Meredith No. 3, sec. 19-21-36; Stanolind Oil and Gas Co., Cyrus Farnsworth No. 11-B, sec. 7-26-37; Humble Oil and Refining Co., S. W. Harrison, sec. 25-24-36; Skelly Oil Co., State 4-B, sec. 16-21-36.

Two wells were abandoned in Eddy county. One, the Ramapo Oil Co., State No. 1, sec. 32-17-28 is plugging to abandon after drilling to 2527 feet. The other well is the Tigner, Etz and Keyes, Keyes No. 2, sec. 10-17-28, which was abandoned at 2000 feet.

Las Cruces Flood Worst In History

Waters Inundate the City From Two to Four Feet; Buries Big Gas Truck.

The worst flood in the history of Las Cruces followed a torrential rain Thursday night in the Las Cruces and Organ mountain area. Waters virtually inundated the entire city from two to four feet deep and adobe houses over a half century old crumbled while residents were forced to flee for their lives. The rain began falling at 11:00 o'clock last Thursday night and continued throughout the night. Highways were impassable. High waters not only crumbled many buildings but are said to have washed away gullies in many streets as deep as six feet. The damage was estimated in excess of $500,000, according to an early report.

SPECIAL MEETING OF MASONS

The Artesia Masonic lodge will hold a special meeting tonight at the lodge hall, beginning at 7:30 p. m. The first degree will be conferred and refreshments will be served following the business meeting.

New Flood Threat In Las Cruces Area

A new threat was added to the Las Cruces flood situation yesterday afternoon when fresh and heavy rains fell again in the Organ mountains—same area which last week poured a wall of water on this city.

Officials have reported an arroyo just north of the city running full and one to the south racing. Another arroyo from Dripping Springs was carrying a large head of water toward State College.

Heavy black clouds hovered over the Organ mountains indicating a heavy rain still was falling there.

Earlier that day, pleading danger of further damage and possible loss of life in new floods, Dona Ana county commissioners passed a resolution asking that a soil erosion control project be instituted immediately in an effort to prevent new floods.

MAY SEEK TO HALT WORK RED BLUFF

Carlsbad Water Users In Meeting Today To Ask Gov. Tingley Intervene With Secretary Ickes to Halt Red Bluff Work.

Action to stop construction of the Red Bluff dam may be taken by the Carlsbad Irrigation district board of directors at a special meeting today, C. W. Beeman, president of the district board said at Carlsbad Tuesday.

"We are seriously considering asking Gov. Clyde Tingley to request Secretary Ickes to stop action on the dam," Beeman said.

The move follows the refusal of Gov. Allred of Texas to withdraw his protest to the construction of Alamogordo dam and reservoir.

About half a million dollars has already been spent in construction work at Red Bluff of approximately $3,800,000 expected to be expended there.

"Red Bluff directors have refused to act, apparently in the expectation that they would acquire rights to New Mexico water through use by blocking the construction of Alamogordo dam," Beeman charged.

He stated that to protect the rights of New Mexico water users, it is probable that Governor Tingley will be asked to take action to stop the construction of the Red Bluff project.

Under the agreement reached at Washington by representatives of the Red Bluff and Carlsbad districts, the district boards were to approve the agreement which was to be followed by the beginning of construction as soon as the governors of the two states had also approved the agreement.

This approval on the part of the governors was expected to be a matter of course. It was given by Gov. Tingley following the action of the local district board approving the agreement. When Red Bluff directors refused to approve the agreement which their representatives had aided in making, Gov. Allred, refused to withdraw his protest.

Las Cruces Flood Worst In History

Waters Inundate the City From Two to Four Feet; Buries Big Gas Truck.

The worst flood in the history of Las Cruces followed a torrential rain Thursday night in the Las Cruces and Organ mountain area. Waters virtually inundated the entire city from two to four feet deep and adobe houses over a half century old crumbled while residents were forced to flee for their lives. The rain began falling at 11:00 o'clock last Thursday night and continued throughout the night. Highways were impassable. High waters not only crumbled many buildings but are said to have washed away gullies in many streets as deep as six feet. The damage was estimated in excess of $500,000, according to an early report.

A gasoline truck of J. C. Floore, containing about 1,600 gallons of gasoline, was virtually buried by sand and mud at the north approach of the Organ mountains while en route to Las Cruces last Thursday night. Word was received here from Burch Crockett, the driver of the truck, who said the truck was first stuck and then practically buried by sand and mud as torrential waters swept down the draw. Only the top of the truck cab and the gasoline tank was visible.

The truck was later extracted and towed into Las Cruces where it was repaired.

MRS. DINGLER DIES

Mrs. Emilie Dingler, mother of J. W. Dingler of Artesia passed away at her home in Cromwell, Oklahoma, Sunday after an extended illness. Mr. Dingler, who was at the bedside of his mother for several weeks previous to her passing returned home yesterday.

Local Business Is Active; A Further Increase Expected

Throughout the summer months and up to the present time local business conditions have shown an improvement over the corresponding period of 1934. The improvement has been even more decided when compared with the period of the past five years.

With the opening of schools the local activity has shown a decided pickup, some business houses have enjoyed the best patronage in the past five years. Buying has been especially heavy in the dry goods and ready to wear lines.

Should weather conditions permit the crop gathering operations to proceed in an orderly manner, a further pickup in business should be recorded the latter part of September.

The team this year will be built around eight lettermen, Coach Donald Mansley announced. Speed will be featured in the practice season, owing to the fact that the squad this year will be light. The average weight of the line will be around 145 pounds, somewhat lighter than usual.

The schedule:

Doyle Traylor Wrecks His Car Monday Night On The Hope Highway

Doyle Traylor had a narrow escape from serious injury Monday night while returning from the Hope rodeo. His car overturned about a mile south of Hope and he was thrown clear of the car. The car caught fire and burned up after the accident, according to reports received here. Traylor was not seriously hurt.

Manila Serenaders To Play For Benefit Ball Here On September 7

The Manila Serenaders, an all Filipino radio and dance orchestra, said by many to be the best orchestra not only to have ever played at the roof garden, but in this part of the state, will play for an Artesia Woman's club benefit dance at the Artesia Hotel roof garden, Saturday night, September 7.

This orchestra played for a Woman's club benefit dance here last spring and so wonderfully impressed were those who heard them play, there has been a general request for a return engagement.

The band is booked as the only original Filipino orchestra touring the United States, direct from Manila and boast of ten members. The local Woman's club is very proud of being able to bring this orchestra here for a return engagement.

EXPECT 1,000 WPA JOBS

SANTA FE—The prediction that the state's number of accepted WPA projects will pass 1,000 was made Wednesday by State Works Progress Administration authorities. In the last two days 261 projects totaling $4,710,000 have been sent to Washington and projects sent before that are estimated at $4,000,000.

E. P. Tatman returned yesterday from a business visit at Santa Fe.

BEST RAIN OF SEASON FALLS HERE

Moisture Since Sunday Measures 1.07 Inches; Rains Will Likely Fall Lake McMillan; Travel Slow In Some Areas.

The best general rain of the year has added a good bottom season to farm and ranch lands of eastern New Mexico and the Pecos Valley. Up to this morning the precipitation measured 1.07 at the government station.

The rainfall varied from an inch to over two inches in this section and has filled many of the dry lakes and water holes, insuring an adequate supply of stock water and a good growth of fall and winter grass.

Lake McMillan will likely be filled to overflowing before all the moisture passes it was said here yesterday. Tabulations completed at Carlsbad Tuesday estimated that 1,500 acre feet of water was flowing into Lake McMillan daily. Lake Avalon and Lake McMillan now contain more than 27,000 acre feet of water and have a capacity of 40,000 feet.

Roads from here to El Paso was practically blocked yesterday and motorists were routed to the pass city by way of Roswell. The arroyos between Carlsbad and El Paso were running bank full in places yesterday and on the previous day motorists were experiencing difficulty in getting thru a stretch of the unpaved road between the Caverns and the Salt flats. The Bankhead highway was also reported blocked yesterday with two to three feet of water running over the highway near Clint.

Threatening clouds materialized moisture for this section Sunday night, starting shortly before 9:00 o'clock and continuing at intervals throughout the night. The precipitation here measured a half inch, according to records of the local weather bureau. Moisture was general over the eastern part of the state and held up air travel in the vicinity of Tucumcari.

The fall in the immediate section measured from a quarter to an inch of rain. The rain was heavy to the south from Signal Peak northward beyond Carlsbad. The Hope section is said to have been wetted with an inch of moisture. Northwest of here the rainfall was somewhat lighter, but motorists coming through the Cottonwood section were using mud chains.

The moisture will be of material benefit to the ranchers in insuring fall and winter grass, but farmers fear that it will increase the damage from the army worm.

COUNTY TAX NOTICES MAY BE DELAYED

G. R. Brainard, county commissioner, said Saturday the Eddy county tax notices this year would not likely be sent out before December 1st. Although expected soon, the New Mexico Tax Commission had not at that time approved the rolls. A delay on the part of the tax commission may delay Assessor Westaway in getting the notices out, which are usually in the mails by November 1st.

Rude Wilcox, county clerk was here yesterday from his home in Carlsbad attending to business matters.

Ray Soladay, Carlsbad postmaster, and Ray V. Davis, Carlsbad photographer, were here on business Tuesday.

THE NEW SOCIAL ERA

Adults with good memories can probably derive some satisfaction in a review of the past two decades. Despite the periods of depressing times intervening, all will probably agree the standard of living is higher than it was twenty years ago and that there have been some radical changes in the social customs.

The most radical change has probably occurred in our social customs in the past five years and in another five years we may dare to refer to the last five years as the period of social revolution, whereas only a short time ago we accepted the term "revolution" to be associated with bloodshed. Notwithstanding the changes in our history previous to 1914, we probably never experienced a change in our social structure radical enough to be termed a revolution and found the word repulsive.

But new things and new discoveries have changed our outlook on life. How many organizations serving society twenty years ago are in existence today and how many of the existing social organizations have escaped change?

For better or worse the old-time social visits have passed out of the picture and instead we may attend a club to visit with our friends. The tie of relatives has been broken to a certain extent. The visits among kinsmen are less frequent. Now we take vacations or make visits to see some points of interest rather than some kinsmen.

And the number of fraternal orders and societies that have gone to join the "dodo bird" would probably be hard to name.

And we frequently hear much lamenting for the return of the good old days, but the lamenting won't change the social order, we may expect more of it as time progresses.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT

We are not very strong on surveys and statistics, but they do point the way to improvement in many instances and if accepted reveal some startling facts. Some cities would probably not show as well as Cleveland, Ohio, where a housing and sanitation survey was recently made.

The figures showed:
THAT 8,805 families in that city's metropolitan area are living in homes unfit for human beings to dwell in.
THAT there are 29,258 families without tubs or shower baths.
THAT 3,867 families are without running water.
THAT 5,702 families still light their homes with kerosene lamps.
THAT there are 14,108 families without any sanitary necessity of a private indoor toilet.
There are, of course, redeeming features for the survey showed 88,151 wage earners ride to work in autos; 57,201 families who use electric refrigerators and 14,203 families with one or more automobiles.

And we could probably compare the Cleveland conditions with similar cities in Europe, but the consolation we might gather from such a comparison would be a poor comfort and would certainly be no aid to us in raising the American standard of living.

WHAT THE PEOPLE WANT

There is, we take it, no doubt but that the American people admire what has generally been termed individual liberty or that they desire little governmental interference with them and their affairs.

Upon that statement there should be agreement. However, when over-enthusiastic advocates of big business use this sentiment to bolster their argument that government should leave business alone, they miss the essential lesson that has been taught by the depression.

While constitutionally against governmental domination of people or activity the citizens of the United States were compelled to choose between the unchecked rapacity of greedy capitalists or stringent government regulation. There was no other choice. The evils of finance, business and industry had reduced a nation to want in the midst of plenty, and something had to happen.

Few sane people would today wish to see the same forces allowed to work unrestricted because they believe that the result will be another disaster after a period of false prosperity. Hence, if necessary to curb greedy profiteers and business racketeers they will continue to favor stringent regulation and effective policing of selfish interests.—Cecil County Star, Elkton, Maryland.

Carlsbad All-Stars Win Championship Cup In Softball Tourney

The first Eastern New Mexico softball tournament ended at Roswell Saturday night with the strong All-Star team of Carlsbad in possession of the championship cup. Carlsbad earned the cup in defeating Artesia Friday night and the Hagerman All-Stars Saturday night by a score of 9 to 0. Flesvig, the star hurler from Carlsbad, ran his strikeout total to forty-three in collecting seven strikeouts in the final game. Mosley's team of Roswell took the consolation in defeating the Pecos Valley Truck Line by a count of 8 to 5.

The Artesia softball team lost to the Carlsbad All-Stars Friday night in the softball tournament at Roswell by the score of 8 to 1. Although Artesia was able to garner only two less hits than the Carlsbad aggregation, they failed to deliver in the pinches. Flesvig, Carlsbad twirler, fanned twelve Artesia players to run his total of strikeouts to thirty-seven for the tournament at that time.

Labor Day Accident Toll Over 200 Mark

Labor Day week-end, customary blight on the nation's record for motoring safety, exacted its toll of lives lost and limbs broken, with fatalities mounting to 199 last (Monday) night.

California headed the states in the incomplete tabulation of its twenty-six dead. Fifteen were killed in Los Angeles county and four in the San Francisco bay region. Three of those killed in Los Angeles were in an airplane crash.

Rains and other factors which kept potential motorists indoors tended to keep the loss under the "350 to 400" deaths estimated for the week-end by headquarters of the National Safety Council.

The list of the seriously injured mounted apace, however, with estimates placing it in excess of 200.

We note the railroads are having lots of trouble with the army worms crawling on the rails and causing a loss of traction. Instead of putting a crew to sweeping off the rails, we don't see why the railroads don't put the worms on relief and stop them from crawling.

It was one of mother's busiest days. Her small son, who had been playing outside, came in with his pants torn. His mother helped him to change to another pair, but in an hour he was back, his pants torn again.

"You go right upstairs, remove your pants and mend them yourself," his mother ordered.

Some time later, she thought of him and went upstairs to see how he was getting on. The torn pants were laying on a chair but there was no sign of Johnnie. Returning downstairs she noticed that the door to the cellar, usually closed, was open, and she called down, loudly and sternly, "Are you running around down there without your pants on?"

A deep voice answered, "No madam, I'm reading the gas meter."

"You see, Missus," said Sarah, "My third husband done died while you was gone."

"I'm sorry," said the lady, "I'll just give this red waist to Mandy, our wash woman, and get you something else."

New Mexico Game Commission Meets

ALBUQUERQUE—After voting support for the enforcement of the federal dove season although objecting to it in principle, the New Mexico game protective association Monday elected Gordon White of Las Cruces as president, in their one-day state meeting here.

Dr. M. F. Smith of Raton was named vice-president, and a board of directors chosen consists of Raymond Stamm, Albuquerque; Dr. M. J. Mollads, Taos; M. G. Van Sickle, Las Vegas; C. C. Bassett, Deming, and W. A. Losey, Hagerman. Losey is retiring president.

The highly controversial federal game season question was disposed of by agreement with the officers of the biological survey to confer next year before the season is fixed, in an effort to select dates which will be satisfactory.

A resolution asking the state game department to purchase Bassett lake in Luna county, was rejected, a bill recently lost in the legislature to enable the forest service to purchase state land and private land within the forests was endorsed and the governor was asked to include such action in any call he may issue for a special session of the legislature.

A Good Commercial Loan

—has distinctive hallmarks which warrant its rating as sound business for your bank.

These hallmarks are:—the good name of the borrower; the sound purpose for which the money is to be used; and the self-liquidating character of the underlying transaction which assures repayment of the loan in accordance with its terms.

These are the essential features of commercial loans made by this bank. They help our customers carry on useful, profitable business activities. Bankers call them "short-term, self-liquidating loans" for they finance industrial, agricultural and merchandising operations which are normally completed within sixty or ninety days, or seasonal periods, and bring in funds to repay the loan.

Fascinating Tales of Lost Mines

LETTER IN THE WALLET

"I AM searching for my brother." The speaker had driven up to a farmhouse in Wet Mountain valley, at the foot of the Sangre de Cristo range in Colorado, and was telling his story to the farmer.

"George came West in 1890, eight years ago," he continued, "and after he left our home in Illinois we heard no more of him. I am very anxious to find out if he is alive or dead. I met a grocer in Denver who said that he sold George a bill of goods that year, and that my brother left some money in his care, saying that he would not need it in the mountains, and that he would come back for it in the fall, but he never returned. All I can learn further is that he was headed for these mountains."

The farmer shook his head. "I do not know anything about it." The next morning Skinner and his host went through the valley asking questions, but no one knew anything about his brother. At last Skinner decided to go up into the mountains, on the chance that he might find some traces of the missing man, and to this end he hired a guide and spent the summer wandering about, following every lead, but without success.

Autumn came, it was time to return to the valley. On the way Skinner and his guide camped one night at timberline on the eastern slope of Horn's peak. Nearby stood the remains of a cabin, and Skinner idly explored the long-deserted place, finding nothing of interest but an old leather wallet.

During the night a snowstorm commenced, and in the morning the two men packed hurriedly and started for the valley. The wallet was forgotten for the time being, but sometime later Skinner remembered his find, and carefully opened it. Its contents caused his heart to leap, for it was a letter written by his brother George about six months after he left Illinois.

The letter related that George had found a wonderfully rich mine. He was planning a trip to "the settlements" to spend the winter outfitting for the next spring, when he planned to return to the mine. Realizing the hazards of travel through the mountains, George had given the location of his mine in this letter, which he was leaving in his cabin, and also asked that anyone who found it should notify his brother in Illinois.

Skinner said nothing about his discovery; but as soon as spring came he went to his guide of the previous year and said that he was anxious to begin his search where it had been broken off—at the old cabin on Horn's peak.

The location was not hard to reach; but when they arrived, they found everything changed. Snow-sidles had peeled the face of the slope; trees had been carried away, great rocks had slid down and others from above had taken their places. Nothing remained as it had been, and the cabin had disappeared entirely.

Skinner was greatly disappointed. Still, he thought, he might find something more in spite of the changes made in the scene, and so he and the guide spent the entire summer at the place in the hope of finding some further trace of George, or of locating the mine. But fall came again, and they had learned nothing. They reluctantly started back.

They followed a different route from the one they had taken before, and the trail led them along the face of a steep precipice. It was a dangerous place; rocks loomed high above them and the bottom of the footing was narrow and insecure. One of the pack-burros began to plunge and rear, and finally it fell off the trail, rolling down into the depths below them.

As soon as they could safely do so, Skinner and the guide climbed down to get the animals packed, for the burro itself had been killed in the fall. As they approached the dead animal, they saw two skeletons, one of a man and the other of a burro.

It seemed a coincidence too apt to be true, but when the articles strewn about were collected, a book was found among them which proved to be George Skinner's diary, and showed that the skeleton must be that of the missing miner. The diary referred to the wallet left in the cabin, and its last entry was apparently written the day after George left the mine. The camping outfit which had been packed on George's burro lay strewn about where the animal had fallen, and considerable gold lay nearby, showing that George's death had been accidental.

George Skinner's bones were interred where they lay, and his brother returned to Illinois. The next summer he came back, attracted by the idea of finding the lost mine, and for several years he spent some time in the search, but the snowslide had done its work thoroughly, and the gold remains hidden to this day.

IT'S TRUE!

By Wiley Padan

"IT'S TRUE! that Clark Gable was accorded the honor of being nominated one of the twelve outstanding Americans in a new Who's Who of Americans Under Forty," says artist Wiley Padan. "Also, IT'S TRUE! that the list includes Charles A. Lindbergh, Robert M. LaFollette, U. S. Senator, and well-known men in judicial and financial worlds. Gable is the only actor in the list."

N. M. Dairy Herd Bankers Warn Is First In Output Against Inflation

A July news letter of the Bureau of Dairy Industry shows that the Mesilla Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association of New Mexico has the highest average milk and butterfat production per cow of any association in the United States for the year 1934.

In milk production, the Mesilla Valley Association is first, with an average of 12,081 pounds of milk per cow; a New York association is second and an Oklahoma association third. In the production of butterfat, the Mesilla Valley Association is first, with 436 pounds per cow; an Ohio association second, and a New York association third.

The three states having highest average milk production for the year in Dairy Herd Improvement Associations are: New Mexico, first; Colorado, second; Nebraska, third. The three leading states in butterfat production in Dairy Herd Improvement Associations are: New Mexico, first; Utah, second; Washington, third.

While New Mexico has only one Dairy Herd Improvement association at the present time, nevertheless, credit is received for being the highest ranking states, and Mesilla valley receives credit for having the highest ranking association in the United States.

The 175 cows in this herd are tested by student testers who are working their way thru school at the New Mexico State College.

NEW YORK—A warning against a premature business boom was sounded the first of the week by the American Bankers Association in the September issue of "Banking."

"Trade news is favorable and business men are examining the fall prospect with unusual interest," it was stated.

"Whether this confidence is the cause or the effect of improving conditions is unimportant; it is enough to know that the two have been going along together."

"There is nothing, however, in the present situation justifying an early boom, and, if anything of this kind occurs in stocks, land and the general price level, it would be unfortunate."

"There have been several false dawns since 1930, but the courage now in evidence seems quite different from previous instances of whistling in the dark."

"This difference is only partly concerned with the fairly satisfactory statistical position of industry."

"It rests to a large degree on temporary relief from anxiety and a realization that the American system of private enterprise is not in jeopardy for the time being."

"And it rests also on a human willingness to postpone the day of reckoning with federal deficits, prospective taxation, the present in our midst of millions of citizens supported by public funds and wielding tremendous power, and with other matters almost equally serious."

The association asserted that the banking act of 1935 was distinctly constructive, although a compromise.

"It has preserved intact all the good points in the federal reserve system as developed in over twenty years' practical operations and has corrected some of the weak points which the operations of twenty years has disclosed," it was stated.

Nose-Heavy Plane May Have Caused Post-Rogers Crash

WASHINGTON — Government experts decided Tuesday that a nose-heavy plane and a carburetor fouled by ice or spray "could" have plunged Will Rogers and Wiley Post to their death at the edge of an Alaskan tundra.

Eugene L. Vidal, air commerce chief, making the first report on the commerce department investigation into the disaster near Point Barrow on August 15, attributed the crash to a coincidence of factors, including a climbing turn. Post was described as believing that his ship was nose heavy after the installation of pontoons.

"The combination of the plane in a banking turn," Vidal suggested, "with still low flying speed immediately following the take-off and climb, the motor failure and the airplane's nose heaviness could result in such a stall."

"Stall" in aviation parlance is not the stalling of the motor but the loss of sufficient speed for the plane's wings to hold the air. The fouling of the carburetor, Vidal believed, might have occurred as the ship took off, with spray, or ice particles, forming from the spray, being drawn into the air scoops of the carburetor intake. This, Vidal observed, was only speculation because the motor itself was buried in the mud of the lagoon into which the ship crashed.

Contrary to first belief that the plane stalled when only 50 feet up, Vidal suggested the altitude probably was nearer 200 feet.

Dispute On Alamo Dam Now Settled

It was authoritatively learned last week that all obstacles in the path of the Alamo dam project had been removed and construction on the project may be started any time now.

The dam, to supply a Carlsbad project, has a federal allotment, but distribution of the money was withheld pending settlement of a dispute between Texas and New Mexico over water rights. New Mexico approved the Washington agreement, reached some time ago, which provides adjudication of a compact between Texas and New Mexico. By agreeing to these things, New Mexico assured construction of the dam and nothing now stands in the way. Later, the proposed compact will be presented to legislatures of the two states for ratification.

Higher Prices Seen For Cotton Result Cotton Loan Plan

WASHINGTON—The first billion dollar cotton crop since 1929 should result from President Roosevelt's action in approving the new loan and payment plan, according to Chester C. Davis, administrator of the AAA.

"Cotton farmers will instantly appreciate the significance for them of the president's action. The plan to assure cotton growers an average return of not less than twelve cents a pound not only promises the best cotton income the cotton farmers have enjoyed for years, but it also means enlarged outlets for cotton exports, which are of immense importance to the cotton industry.

Davis' forecast of a probable "billion dollar cotton crop" for 1935 is based on estimates of total farm value of cotton, including any payments necessary to bring the average return up to twelve cents, exceeding $700,000,000 rental and benefit payments under the cotton adjustment program totaling about $126,000,000 and farm value of cotton seed totaling between 150 and 175 million dollars.

"When cotton farmers understand how simply and easily this plan will work they will be in no hurry whatever to market this year's crop. The assurance of government payments to farmers, making up to them the difference, if any, between twelve cents and the average price of cotton on the ten spot markets from September 1 to January 1, will enable growers to take ample time to estimate the true market situation and sell their cotton to the greatest advantage to themselves. Farmers should remember that the present plan restores a free market, so that growers can benefit directly from orderly and intelligent marketing of their crop. Any payment to them will cover average differences, not individual differences, between market price and twelve cents. The nine-cent loan will assure farmers an immediate source of income," Davis said.

Woman Killed In Mill Riot Strike

Officers began a round-up of suspected participants in a mill strike riot at Pelzer, South Carolina, Monday, which results in the death of a woman and the wounding of at least fifteen other persons.

G. W. Henson, 64, Pelzer, was taken to the county jail at Anderson under a warrant charging him with murdering Mrs. Bertha Kelly, 23, who died in one of the first blasts of gunfire which raked two plants of the Pelzer Manufacturing Company before opening time Monday morning.

Nine other men, alleged strike sympathizers, were lodged in jail "for investigation," and officers said they were seeking others. The nine, in addition to Henson, were arrested while on picket duty. Two pistols, two rifles and a shotgun, found secreted near the mill entrance, were seized.

Mosquitoes

"Things to do during the summer vacation" was being discussed by the class. The suggestions were endless. Repairs at home, gardening, building a shack, making fly traps and other things were listed. Speaking of flies brought up the question of mosquitoes.

Last summer the town had suffered from an unusual number of the pests. This year the health officer appealed to the state government for help. The pamphlets received told of many things the citizens could do around their homes. It was these suggestions that interested the class.

"Prevention is the big thing," said the authorities. "You can do nothing after the mosquitoes are hatched."

Mosquitoes need standing water for breeding, so the government men were coming to drain the swamps around the town. What could the children do? They began listing places where water collected. Tin cans in the dump, puddles after rain, drains and roof gutters, rain barrels, old wells, and so on. Each child then agreed to drain puddles, clean the drains, put small fish in pools and wells, cover the dumps, and mend the screens. The coming of vacation was hailed with more enthusiasm than ever before. Real work could be a lot of fun after all!

Seven Cities of Cibola Depicted At Centennial

DALLAS, Texas—The legendary Seven Cities of Cibola, whose gold paved streets lured Spanish conquistadores to the exploration of the southwest, will be the basic theme of the Texas Centennial Exposition which opens here next June.

Because of a common romantic ancestry through the Spanish adventurers of four hundred years ago, the Texas Centennial Exposition and the San Diego Exposition will have a somewhat similar background. While Cabrillo's galleons were approaching the tranquil waters of the Pacific Coast, other Spanish explorers, on the opposite side of the continent, were battling with the tempestuous storms of the Gulf of Mexico. Their galleons were hurled on the rocks of what is now Galveston Island and Cabeza de Vaca, sole white survivor, started his seven-year journey back to the Spanish settlements in Mexico. He was captured by Indians and from them he learned the story of the Seven Cities of Cibola and their legendary wealth. Back in Mexico he told the Spaniards that the seven cities undoubtedly were located where the Panhandle of Texas lies today.

El Paso Planning Sun Carnival for First of New Year

The proposed Sun Carnival to be staged in El Paso next January was explained here Tuesday by El Paso service club representatives at the regular luncheon hour of the Artesia Rotary club at an inter-city meeting of service clubs of the valley.

The idea of the Sun Carnival is based on the Rosebowl carnival given annually in Pasadena, California. A football game will be arranged between the champions of the border college conference and the champions of some other college district. The matter of the football game, to be played on New Year's day, will be arranged later by a committee. In addition to the football attraction, a parade and a coronation of a princess to be selected from some southwestern community will be featured. Every community and town in the southwestern district, comprising some thirty-three towns and seventy communities will be asked to participate in the event and send a decorated float for the parade. Approximately $2,500 in cash prizes will be offered in the float contest.

Because next year in Texas the centennial will be celebrated, floats depicting historical scenes have been suggested. According to El Paso business men here Tuesday, several towns are already working on entering a float and a princess in the event.

Visitors present at Tuesday's luncheon included Ray Soladay, Roy Carey, J. R. Ogden, F. Smith, Gordon, Ray V. Davis, Clyde Carr, W. F. McCollum, E. E. Harrington and L. A. Beyers, all of Carlsbad; Dr. C. M. Hendricks, L. B. Bloodworth, Roy Gamble and Jack Chaney, all of El Paso, Texas; Dr. E. E. Mathes of Newark, California, the Rev. Paul Fuller of Bangkok, Siam, and Bill Mudgrige of Carlsbad.

The Sun Carnival project was presented by Jack Chaney, Roy Gamble, Dr. C. M. Hendricks and L. B. Bloodworth, all of El Paso.

Cotton Letter

(Courtesy Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association)

Since benefit payments will be available only to those who sell their cotton and sign next seasons contracts it is very certain that most of the cotton will be sold. And since the price of cotton (so long as it remains above ten cents) will make no difference in the final analysis, it seems that there will be a tendency to sell with the basis in mind principally and largely disregard the market quotations.

All this being true many farmers who have been holding some of the early ginned cotton have turned loose of it, and others will be inclined to do so as fast as ginned because no advantage can be gained by holding and there is the possible risk of the market declining below 10c while one is waiting for a slight advantage in basis.

Most farmers who have studied the 10c proposal will see in it some serious disadvantages that were not contained in the 9c proposal. For instance, under the 9c proposal the benefit payment would be made as between the average ten spot markets for the four months of September, October, November and December and 12 cents. And that payment would be made regardless of the sale of the actual cotton. Under the 10c loan which was forced upon us by the politicians we must sell our cotton to secure the subsidy payment.

All of which seems to indicate that the secretary of agriculture had the wisest plan and southern politicians that made a grandstand play toward the 12c loan rally pulled a bone-head in the changes finally made in the plan. For certain it is that no one will care to take the ten cent loan even should the market sell somewhat below that price.

As to the market itself, it will be called upon to take a very heavy volume of blind-market selling (something that has never before been witnessed in cotton history). During the heavy crop movement this selling could easily drive the market down to or slightly below 10c for the active basis month. But, on the other hand, considerable crop damage is now being reported and more could occur, which might induce bullish speculators to step in on recessions to around ten cents.

We illustrate herewith the actual workings of the plan: Suppose the December option today is 10.50 and you sell your cotton at 50 on. You get 11c now. Next spring you will receive the difference between the spot price today (which would be approximately 10.65) and 12c or 1.35. This added to your 11c would bring your final price to 12.35. But the benefit payment of 1.35 per pound will be on the lint in your bale and not for the full bale weight (a difference of 22 pounds). But should you borrow the 10c or should you sell your cotton "on call," or not sell it at all, you cannot secure the benefit payment.

Campbell Breaks Speed Record On Salt Beds Tuesday

COBBLESTONE, Nevada — In one of the most startling reversals of an official record in the history of automobile speed racing, the contest board of the American Automobile Association announced late Tuesday that Sir Malcolm Campbell had actually averaged 301.33 miles per hour instead of the 299.875 mile clip he was credited with Tuesday after his trials on the salt beds of western Utah.

The change in time that brought the titled Englishman the five mile a minute or better record he has been seeking for years was announced after a conference among the AAA officials. A check of the instruments revealed the error was one of the computation of figures, taken from the timing tape, the tape, it was said, showed the error of ten one hundredths of a second in subtraction.

The error caused Sir Malcolm to be credited with 295.566 miles per hour on the second run. Actually the noted driver roared down the salt roadbed on his second trial at a speed of 298.013, according to the revised figures.

The average of the two runs therefore gave Sir Malcolm the better than 300 miles an hour record. That was his goal when he

FRAZIER-LEMKE BILL SIGNED

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt Friday signed the Frazier-Lemke three-year farm mortgage moratorium bill, designed to replace the law declared unconstitutional by the supreme court last spring. The measure permits debt-burdened farmers to go into federal court and obtain moratoriums of as much as three years on their mortgages. During that time their property, in effect, would be under court control. Farmers are allowed to remain in possession of their land during the moratorium but must pay a "fair" rental, either every six months or at the end of each year, as the court may decide.

Administrative expenses of $38,583,642.13 were made up of $22,370,964.70 spent in field administration operations, and $16,272,677.43 in Washington administration costs. Of the Washington expenses, $14,593,092.17 was spent directly through the adjustment administration, and the balance by cooperating governmental agencies. Control of Public Domain Big Problem of New Mexico

The land problem is one of the most serious now confronting the state of New Mexico. The great diversity in the character of the land in different parts of the state and even in any particular locality is so great that there is no uniformity in the methods that should be used in scientifically determining the best uses to be made of the land.

Then again, so much of the land is under the control and ownership of the state and of the federal government and so little of it under the ownership of individuals that another serious difficulty presents itself in determining upon a "State Plan" for the use and control of the lands in this state.

New Mexico is one of the public domain states of the west. Only 43.85 per cent of the area of the state belongs to private ownership. The ownership is divided as follows:

Public domain, 13,087,285 acres, or 16.6 per cent.
Forest reserves, 8,054,000 acres, or 11.54 per cent.

Indian reservations, 5,851,804 acres, or 7.46 per cent.

National parks, military reservations, etc., 3,417,741 acres, or 4.45 per cent.

Total U. S. owned and controlled, 31,401,830 acres, or 40.05 per cent.

State owned, 12,633,812 acres, or 16.1 per cent.

Privately owned, 34,387,173 acres, or 43.85 per cent.

The following counties have large areas of public domain lands:

Otero	1,923,102 Acres
Socorro	1,489,121 "
Doña Ana	1,288,646 "
Eddy	1,111,975 "
San Juan	909,037 "
Chaves	824,322 "
Luna	779,040 "
Hidalgo	669,608 "
Sierra	586,146 "

Counties with large areas of Indian lands are:

San Juan	1,775,600 Acres
McKinley	1,467,775 "
Rio Arriba	638,125 "
Sandoval	691,123 "
Valencia	531,236 "

Counties with large areas of forest reserves are:

Catron	1,608,000 Acres
Rio Arriba	1,513,000 "
Socorro	836,000 "
Taos	518,000 "

Lea county has the largest area of state owned land, being 1,023,000 acres, or more than one-twelfth of the whole amount. Chaves and Eddy counties come next in order.

With such large areas of public ownership, many items of government usually handled by local authorities become difficult to finance. These include highways, land erosion, water diversion and regulation, county government and schools. Since more than half the land in the state is directly under the ownership and control of the state and federal government, it is nothing but right and proper that these should bear a larger part of the expenses necessary for these various institutions.

Irrigation in New Mexico is very old. A ditch in the Hondo valley, Lincoln county, is reported over 1,000 years old. Pueblo Indians were irrigating in the Rio Grande valley at the time of Coronado.

In 1930, the irrigated area of the state was 527,033 acres or 2.1 per cent less than in 1920. The area under irrigation is only .67 per cent of the total land in the state.

A total of 1,987 filings on water rights have been made in the state since 1900. Many old rights have not been filed. A complete water inventory is not possible until these filings have been made. Adjudication of water between states on the Rio Grande and San Juan rivers must be made before an inventory of the agricultural resources is possible.

It is generally thought that practically all the land possible is now under irrigation in this state; that all the available water of the rivers and other streams are being used to their fullest capacity and that very little if any more irrigated land can be utilized in this state. This view is erroneous. Not only by the proper conservation of the water in these streams can a large volume of the water now being wasted be saved for use upon other lands, but one of the largest sources of water supply in the state has as yet been practically untouched. No man now knows how large is the supply of underground water in this state and comparatively little of it has yet been used. With its vast source of power from the natural gas now being wasted, this water could be raised to the surface at very little cost and it would be the means of reclaiming large tracts of semi-arid and desert lands and make them among the most productive and valuable in the state.
