CROPS NOT HURT MUCH BY FREEZE

Temperature of Twenty-Eight Above Fails To Kill Vegetation; Snow And Rain Falls In The Mountains.

Cloudy weather prevented serious damage from freezing temperatures over this area last night. The low thermometer reading this morning was twenty-eight degrees above zero and the high temperature reached yesterday was forty-two above, according to records of the government station here.

Snow and sleet fell over the greater part of northern New Mexico last night. Overcast skies promise moisture for the Artesia section this morning and a mist is falling at intervals.

It is difficult to estimate the damage to the cotton crop of this area. The cold weather will undoubtedly prevent the maturity of much of the young cotton, but on the other hand, a hard freeze would ruin more of the crop by damaging many of the smaller bolls which may reach maturity under favorable conditions.

The Pecos valley had its first taste of disagreeable weather yesterday morning when a cold north wind sent the mercury on a steady decline. Although the weather was not as cold as on the previous morning when a low of thirty-six degrees above was registered, the temperature reading at 8:00 o'clock was forty above and a steady lowering of the reading was recorded for the remainder of the day.

While skies were overcast and a very light mist fell at intervals, snow and rain fell in the mountains. Travelers from Sacramento by way of Pinon reported snow falling as far south as Pinon and rain falling from Pinon to within a few miles of Hope.

Snow and snow flurries were reported in the northern part of the state, while a blue norther raged in parts of west Texas and in around Big Spring. The Las Vegas section which experienced snow yesterday, hit a low of twenty-four above for the coldest temperature registered in the state up until that time.

The cold here stopped cotton gathering operations. Practically all of the pickers who went to the fields yesterday returned before noon on account of the cold. While the cold weather killed the lighter vegetation, farmers were glad to see a cloudy sky last night, which prevented a hard freeze. A hard freeze, they said, would cause a loss of all the smaller cotton bolls and would spoil and sour them.

The lowest temperature of the season recorded thus far was on Tuesday morning when the thermometer at the government station ran down to thirty-six degrees, four degrees above freezing. Monday morning the thermometer registered thirty-eight above. Cotton farmers state the cool night stopped the development of new cotton growth several days ago, which precludes any possibility of harvesting any bolls or squares put on during the present month. It is also said the cool nights have caused the cotton stalk to shed some of its growth.

Wayne Appointed As Acting County Agent to Eddy Co.

Frank Wayne of Hot Springs has been appointed acting county agent of Eddy county, succeeding W. A. Wunsch, who was recently made secretary of the cotton control board. The appointment of Mr. Wayne was announced at Carlsbad Tuesday following a meeting of the Eddy county commissioners court with E. C. Hollinger of State College. Mr. Wayne, a graduate of State College, has been located at Hot Springs in charge of the local resettlement work there. He is expected to take charge of the extension work in Eddy county about November 1st. A. M. Vance, present acting agent, will have charge of the crop adjustment work.

William Mitchell of New York, president of the Maljamar Oil and Gas Corp., arrived Monday to spend several days visiting his son, Malcolm Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell, and to attend to business matters.

Many View New 1936 Ford On Display Here Saturday, October 19

Hundreds viewed the new Ford V-8 on display at the Artesia Auto Co., Saturday. Outstanding features of the 1936 Ford are: longer hood and new radiator grille, new hood louvers, new designed steel wheels with large hub caps and rustless steel centers, new super safety brakes with large braking area, shorter and more effective gear shift operations, new steering ratio increased 17 to 1, 85-horsepower V-8 engine, greater cooling area in radiator with water capacity of 5 1/2 gallons, floor dash and body panels insulated with new materials that absorb and deaden sound, two matched horns concealed, two tail lights, two swivel type sun visors.

The new Fords are finished in many colors.

RIOT STAGED AT CARNIVAL SITE IN CARLSBAD

Two People Sustain Cuts, Two Pay Fines; Seven Held In Riots At The Carnival Grounds At Carlsbad Saturday.

Two persons sustained cuts, two paid fines and seven others faced charges in connection with two near-riots involving carnival employes and spectators at Carlsbad Saturday night and early Sunday morning, according to the Current-Angus.

Pat Murphy and Jack Wortham, said to have been managers of the carnival, which showed there last week, paid fines of $25 and paid hospital costs at Carlsbad Monday. The two were charged with aiding and abetting a riot.

L. N. Swope, and another man, whose name was not learned, received treatment at a Carlsbad hospital early Sunday morning after they and other carnival employes are alleged to have attacked a group of Spanish-Americans at a restaurant in the south part of Carlsbad. The two who sustained cuts were released after being treated.

Two of those attacked fought their way out with knives. They have not been apprehended. Carnival employes are alleged to have brandished hatchets and clubs during the mele.

Early in the evening, as Bryan Grammer, port of entry officer, and Fred Hill, deputy sheriff, were taking a CCC enrollee out of the carnival grounds, they were alleged to have been attacked by six other enrollees who attempted to take the prisoner away from the officers.

Several stones were thrown by the six, officers said. Craddock Rule, police chief, and Albert Ares, patrolman, then rounded up the six and placed them in jail.

The seven pleaded not guilty to charges of aiding and abetting in a riot when arraigned before Frank H. Richards, police judge, Monday morning.

VERDICT AFFIRMED

SANTA FE—The state supreme court, in a unanimous decision written by Justice A. L. Zinn, Tuesday affirmed the verdict of manslaughter returned in Lea county against John H. Puckett, for the fatal shooting of John Field on October 1, 1934.

TEXTBOOK BUREAU WILL SAVE $5,000.00

SANTA FE—A saving of $5,000 in operating the textbook bureau will be realized this year over 1934, State School Superintendent H. R. Rodgers said Monday. The Finance Board, at a meeting Friday, approved a budget of $8,750 on which the bureau will operate.

COOPERATE WITH BETTER ARTESIA ASSOCIATION

The Artesia Rotary club Tuesday voted to cooperate with the proposed Better Artesia Association and the same representatives of the club, who were appointed on the cleanup campaign, will serve provided other organizations join in aiding the association.

H. C. Hollinger of State College was the only visitor present.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Evans, who have been in El Paso for several months, drove over for the pheasant hunt Sunday and Monday. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mark A. Corbin while here.

Local Welfare To Be Revived To Care For Needy People

The possibility of reviving the community chest or the local welfare committee is seen here, in fact it appears that a revival of the community chest is necessary if the direct relief problem is to be solved. Reorganization of the welfare association in every community in the county must be made if the people on direct relief are to have any care this winter.

Briefly, the situation is that the federal government has provided for the employables or those on work relief with the expectation that the states will provide for those on direct relief (those not able to work). Provision has been made in New Mexico to raise funds for those on direct relief, but the present set-up is not functioning and from what we understand of the situation, it may be two or three months before the state is able to supply any money for relief of this sort. In the meantime, about fifty cases in Eddy county will need aid, but there is no money available.

It was reported here this morning that the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce plans a meeting with the Eddy county commissioners this afternoon in Carlsbad in an effort to work out a welfare association for the south part of Eddy county, to serve until the present emergency has been met and the same problem is facing the north part of the county. It has been suggested that the welfare association be revived to act until funds are available from the state.

A meeting of the planning board of the Better Artesia Association has been called to meet this evening in the Chamber of Commerce office to discuss ways and means of meeting the present need.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Adams Friday night.

Several Cars Livestock Move To Market And To Grass This Week

Several cars of livestock have been shipped to market and to grass from the local pens this week. E. B. Bullock shipped a car of sheep consisting of one and two year old wethers to the Kansas City market Tuesday. A. C. Hendricks of the Flying H ranch shipped five cars of calves to a point near Abilene, Texas, Tuesday. Fields Waller loaded out three cars of lambs, purchased from Ed Watts, to Colorado points Tuesday, and yesterday Bullock and Cleve shipped two cars of mixed cattle to the Kansas City market.

NMMI Cadets To Meet University At Roswell Sat.

Graduates and former students of the New Mexico Military Institute and the University of New Mexico, as well as football fans in general, are looking forward with keen interest to the annual game between the Cadets and the University at Roswell Saturday. The game time is 2:30.

This is the big game of the Institute season and because of the rivalry of long standing between the two schools a large crowd of former students from all parts of the state is expected for Saturday's game.

On comparative scores and predictions the University has the edge for this contest. Friends of the Institute, however, are taking comfort in the fact that in the past Cadet teams have always seemed to play their best against the University.

Special entertainment features have been arranged for the period between halves. Adequate seating capacity has been provided at the Institute field, and the Cadets are looking forward to a big day Saturday.

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL

Carroll Cason, Nina McLean and Josephine Payne were awarded prizes to the Ocotillo Theater for naming selections from grand opera played by the high school orchestra at the assembly yesterday morning.

A music memory contest has been inaugurated at the high school by Prof. E. L. Harp and will be held at the assembly once each month.

APPOINTED AS RE-SETTLEMENT SUPERVISOR

Orren Beatty, former Lea and Roosevelt county agent, has been appointed rural re-settlement supervisor for eleven eastern New Mexico counties, it was announced at State College last week. Headquarters will be established in State College.

Funeral Rites for Geo. Robert Lowery To Be Held This Afternoon

George Robert Lowery, aged 24, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lowery, early yesterday morning after a lingering illness. Mr. Lowery came here about two months ago from Victoria, Texas. He had been employed in a bank there.

Funeral services will be held at the Church of Christ this afternoon with the Rev. Allen Johnson officiating.

Farmers May Grow 110 Lbs. Lint Tax Free

A. M. Vance, assistant in cotton adjustment at the county agent's office, has received a special exemption form for the producers to execute provided they desire to gin cotton tax free for their own household use. The regulations permit each producer to gin 110 pounds or less of lint cotton tax free for use in his own household. In order to get this permission the producer must execute a form and have his application approved by at least one member of the county committee. It is suggested by Mr. Vance that producers who desire to take advantage of this ruling wait until they have ginned most of their cotton before they apply for the household tax exemption cotton.

As the ginning season progresses many producers find that they have not enough tax exemption certificates to gin all of their cotton. Other producers will have a surplus of tax exemption certificates. Those who have a surplus should bring them to the office of the county agent and submit them for sale. In order that the producers who are short may buy these certificates and continue to gin their cotton, it is advised that producers having certificates for sale should estimate his amount of surplus certificates and surrender them for sale. At the end of the ginning season if he still has a surplus he may make a second application to sell his surplus certificates.

Eddy County Farm News

All buyers' statements submitted by the producers for the purpose of receiving the government adjustment payment must have the serial number of the Bankhead application. All forms submitted without this application serial number will be returned to the producer for completion.

The corn-hog referendum will be held throughout the nation on Saturday, October 26th. A voting box will be maintained at Artesia and another one at Hope. At this time the producers will have a privilege of deciding whether or not the adjustment concerning corn and hogs shall be carried on in a manner to balance production and eliminate extreme over-production and extreme under-production.

At the National Agricultural Adjustment conference recently held at Washington the secretary of agriculture outlined that an adjustment program should be continued and consumers as well as producers were in favor of the continuation of the present program. Any farmer who has producer corn or hogs in 1935 should vote at this very important referendum.

A. M. Vance, assistant in cotton adjustment, will be in Artesia Saturday, October 26th, and any cotton producer who has not received his certificates or second rental check may do so at that time.

The secretary of agriculture has instructed all cotton counties that the tax of ginning will hereafter be 5.45 cents per pound, and the transfer and sale price of tax exemption (Continued on last page, column 5)

GOOD HUNTING PREDICTED BY STATE WARDEN

Conditions Right For A Bigger Kill Than Last Year; Many Hunters In The Hills Now Ready For Opening Friday.

A successful hunting season was predicted by State Game Warden Elliott S. Barker, on the eve of the big game season which opens tomorrow.

"Feed and moisture conditions are good throughout the state and game is in excellent condition," it was declared. Damp ground and leaves in most sections will make hunting easier this year, believes Mr. Barker. He foresees a larger kill than last year.

Hunters were especially urged to delay their hunting until the latter part of the season. A long season has been provided to allow for this. "Too many hunters in the field at once means increased danger of accidents and poorer hunting for everyone," said Barker.

Greater success was expected for those who are willing to leave their cars behind and really get back into the game country.

"Look carefully before you shoot, be careful with fire, and observe the game laws," requests Mr. Barker.

This year especially the Department of Game and Fish solicits the cooperation of all good citizens in helping to prevent game law violations.

Tomorrow is the opening of the big game season, when several (Continued on last page column 4)

Quake At Helena Causes Damage

HELENA, Montana—Even as a weakened wall of the ancient city administration building crashed under a new succession of moderate tremors, citizens of this Montana state capital drove ahead yesterday with a comprehensive rehabilitation program.

More severe than in the past few days but still not materially damaging, a series of earth shocks yesterday climaxed with a four and one-half minute tremor at 6:41 o'clock in the morning. The city hall wall was the only reported casualty. The building, one of the city's older structures, had been damaged in the major shocks of October 12th and 18th.

As the total of recorded vibrations reached 442 since the October 12th, hundreds of people still were quartered in temporary shelters with temperatures ranging from several degrees below freezing but damaged homes were rapidly being made ready for occupancy.

Realization of the widespread damage wrought by the disastrous quake last Friday night, which cost two lives, only served to spur the descendants of pioneers who founded the city seventy years ago as a gold camp and rebuilt it many times after fires and floods.

Stores were open for business as usual and stocks damaged and lost were being rapidly replaced.

TEN SIGNED IN PIT TOILET PROGRAM

Ten property owners of the Artesia and Hope communities have signed up to install pit toilets, Mrs. Elizabeth Scoggin, in charge of the survey, said yesterday. Mrs. Scoggin said the survey was just getting well underway and much work remained to be done.

Property owners who have signed thus far include: Henry Juarez, Mr. McGeorge, S. E. Ferrer, Austin Stuart, Edward Stone, all of Artesia, and Virgil Craig, J. C. Buckner, Mrs. N. L. Johnson of Hope and D. D. Sullivan and Mrs. E. E. Coll of Artesia.

Contracts Are Awarded For Additions To Two Rural School Buildings

Contracts were awarded for additions to two rural schools at a recent meeting of the Eddy county board of education at Carlsbad. Clayton and Clayton of Artesia were awarded a contract to build a two-room addition to the Loving school and Tom Heflin of Artesia was awarded a contract to construct a one-room addition to the Cottonwood school. Both contracts are to be completed within sixty days from the date the awards were made.

New Report Cards Are Introduced

Cards Given Out In The Schools Carry Ratings Of Character.

There are few things connected with school life in this country that carry more interest to parents and pupils than does the report card. For several days after its arrival, it is one of the chief topics of conversation in the home. Even though the beginner in the primary department understands little about the symbols thereon, the first report card is an object of sentiment on the part of the parent. It is the first written record of the child's exposure to an institution created by society whose purpose is to set the stage that the child may become adjusted to the various situations with which he meets in later life. Most report cards merely reflect the manner in which the school has become formalized, in that it has reduced education to a purely intellectual process such as the drill and memorization of certain knowledge and skills usually confined between the covers of a book. A school so administered is apt to lose sight of the development of the moral, social, and emotional attributes that go to make up what we call character.

This week, parents of the Artesia schools are being introduced to a new type of report card which reflects a change in emphasis in regard to the relative value of the acquisition of knowledge as compared with the acquisition of certain character traits. This report card, according to Supt. W. E. Kerr, is the outgrowth of an investigation and study carried on by the faculty during the last school year in an effort to bring about a greater uniformity of understanding and practice in the matter of assigning marks to pupils. The investigation and study were gradually broadened to include character traits as well as scholarship. The culmination of the study was the issuance recently of a Manual of Character Traits and School Marks in mimeograph form. A copy of this manual has been sent to the homes of all junior and senior high school students. A copy has also been placed in the hands of each student in the two schools and has formed the basis of discussions in each home-room.

The manual sets up ten character traits and under each trait groups of statements are given describing the work, activities, and attitudes of students who fall in the A, B, C, D, and F groups. These ten traits are: performance, alertness, neatness, accuracy, dependability, respect for rights of others, initiative, openmindedness, cooperation, and application. Another feature of the new system not provided for in others is the plan whereby each student in the junior and senior high schools rates himself on each of the ten traits. The rating which is the student sets for himself is not always the one recorded on his report card, for after rating himself, he must confer with his teacher. This conference with his teacher sometimes results in lowering the student's rating of himself and in some cases in raising the student's rating. According to Supt. Kerr, the most valuable feature of this conference between the student and teacher is a better understanding of the student by the teacher and a better understanding by the student of what is expected of him and what he may do to improve his work.

While the new plan seems rather complicated and entails more work on the part of teachers and more study on the part of parents, it should achieve results well worth the extra work required for its administration.

BEG PARDON

In the Artesia Beauty Service ad of last week, it was inadvertently stated that shampoos and finger waves would be given for 50 cents each under a schedule of new low prices. The ad should have read shampoos and finger waves, both for 50 cents.

MEETS WITH HOPE CORN-HOG PRODUCERS

A. N. Vance, acting county agent, met with about twenty-five corn-hog producers of the Hope community yesterday and explained the referendum, in which producers will participate October 26th.

Officials estimate that the present corn-hog program will be ratified by at least ninety-five per cent of the producers of the county.

INTEREST IN WILDCATING NOW ACTIVE

Second Geophysical Crew Establishes Quarters In Lovington For Work In The North Hobbs Area; Four Wells Completed.

Oil developments in Lea county are generally more active now with a second geophysical crew arrived to make a geophysical survey of north Lea county. The Petty geophysical crew have established headquarters in Lovington to make a geophysical survey of the north Hobbs area and will likely work other districts nearby before moving on. The Midcontinent crew which moved in several weeks ago are working out the wildcat sector between Tatum and the state line. When this crew is finished, it is understood they will work out practically all parts of the county.

Producing companies are also busy renewing leases in the northern and western part of Lea county and in some places in eastern Eddy county, according to reports. In some instances where royalties have been sold and then subdivided, the land representatives are having difficulty in renewing the lease, due to the fact that there are many people involved.

Activity in the sections of Lea county that are in and near the proven areas remain about the same with three new locations staked the past week. These include the Continental Oil Co., State C-20 No. 6, sec. 20-21-36; Continental Oil Co., State C-20 No. 7, sec. 20-21-36, and the Devonian Oil Co., State Heasley No. 1, sec. 5-21-36.

Four producers were completed in the past seven days. Among these were the Byrd Frost, Wells 2-A, sec. 12-25-36, which was drilled to 3348 feet and given an acid treatment of 3,000 gallons. The well responded by flowing 250 barrels of fluid fifty percent of which was water and 500,000 feet of gas.

The Gypsy Oil Co., Bell-Ramsey No. 5, sec. 4-21-36, another producer completed, was drilled to 3868 feet and flowed 335 barrels in twelve hours with 500,000 feet of gas, flowing natural.

The Samedam Oil Co., State 1-B, sec. 25-18-37, was completed for 821 barrels of oil per day through tubing after being plugged back to 4156 feet and after being treated with acid on a previous occasion.

One of the biggest gas wells completed in recent months was finished in the Coates No. 3 of the Skelly Oil Co., sec. 3-24-36, which was drilled to 3578 feet. The well flowed at the rate of thirty barrels of oil per hour thru a 3/4-inch choke on tubing and made an estimated 100,000,000 feet of gas.

CHECKS DISTRIBUTED

All of the present supply of rental checks and cotton exemption certificates which were sent to the county agent's office at Carlsbad several days ago have been distributed, it was announced yesterday. Some additional checks and certificates are to be distributed to growers of the base period as soon as they arrive.

Schools Dismissed 3 Days Next Week For NMEA Meet

The Artesia schools will be dismissed Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week while the teachers are in attendance at the New Mexico Education Association in Albuquerque. Supt. W. E. Kerr as vice-president of the association, will give the response to the address of welcome by Mr. Lemcke, mayor of Albuquerque. Mr. Kerr will also make a talk on the progress of curriculum revision in the secondary schools. Mr. Kerr is chairman of the committee having charge of this revision for the state association. This year the association is celebrating its golden jubilee and an unusually large attendance is expected.

The main speakers at the convention will be Cameron Beck of Boston and Miss Hefferman of California. Mr. Beck is a business man who has had unusual success in bringing about a better feeling between employer and employee, and between student and teachers. Miss Hefferman is an expert in elementary education.

YOU CAN'T EXAGGERATE THESE HORRORS

A few weeks ago readers of an important New York daily received a gruesome surprise. In an account of a serious automobile accident, the paper no longer confined itself to a bare and colorless statement of facts. Instead, it presented all the gruesome details, chronicling the mangled, oozing skulls, and compound bone fractures, the bleeding wounds of the victims. And it announced that it would continue this policy, in the belief that it would help bring public realization of the horror of automobile accidents, and assist in creating real public cooperation in making our streets and highways safer.

This is partly the result of the famed Reader's Digest article, "—And Sudden Death," by J. C. Furnas, which has received national attention. Mr. Furnas pointed out that an effective picture of motor accidents, "would have to include motion picture and sound effects, too—the flopping, pointless efforts of the injured to stand up; the queer, grunting noises; the steady, panting groaning of a human being with pain creeping upon him as the shock wears off. It would portray the slack expression on the face of a man, drugged with shock, staring at the Z-twist in his broken leg, the insane crumpled effect of a child's body after its bones are crushed inward, a realistic portrait of an hysterical woman with her screaming mouth opening a hole in the bloody drip that fills her eyes and runs off her chin. Minor details would include the raw ends of bones protruding through flesh in compound fractures, and the dark red, oozing surfaces where clothes and skin are flayed off at once."

Horrible—nauseous—disgusting? Yes—but these details are not one iota too much so. They are part and parcel of thousands of accidents each year. Somewhere, at this moment, the gruesome scene is being enacted again. The New York newspaper, which is to do its best to give a true picture of major automobile crashes, has set an example that should be emulated throughout the country.

EXPERIENCE A TEACHER

Experience is a difficult teacher and the lessons learned may be hard to master, yet nevertheless they should be impressive, but are they?

It is sometimes surprising how quickly these hard-earned lessons are forgotten. Impressions from trying experiences may register with some individuals, but these registrations are of short duration. Periodically we hear of the same old skin game being pulled, or perhaps it's the same old game under a different cloak. The returns from the game, of course, depend largely on the financial condition of the country. The more prosperous the condition of the country, the better the chances for the questionable scheme.

And it's this trait of human nature, this tendency to forget that makes us uneasy when war clouds appear. We have reason to believe the horrors of the previous wars may be forgotten at a psychological moment and we know too that it is often easier to get into a thing than to get out of it.

HOW TO START WAR

Munitions makers and manufacturers of war materials sure are setting up a howl over the order of Roosevelt, who has decreed that shippers of war materials to either Italy or Ethiopia in the present conflict, will be made at the shippers risk. It cost the United States twenty-four billion dollars and fifty thousand lives in 1917 to learn that we could not ploy both ends against the middle and ship to all belligerents and still stay out of war ourselves. We don't want to have to go through another war to make the world safe for democracy as it seems we made a pretty bad mess of the last attempt. And besides Italy ought to pay us for the last war before she starts asking for more credit.

DEPORT THE RADICALS

Good American citizens will not take kindly to the conduct of some of the Gallup rioters at the recent Aztec hearing. Some of these defendants evidently consider it their duty to spread communism and discord and do not stop trying to promote their pernicious doctrine in civil life, but even go so far as to abuse the court of justice.

What this nation needs is to give the radicals a good dose of deportation and send them where Emma Goldman went, if they cannot be satisfied to live here as law-abiding citizens.

Reports say the state has run into difficulties in trying to collect sales tax from carnivals, circuses and traveling shows. It is necessary for the state to have a man on the grounds whenever the carnivals and traveling shows hit a locality, otherwise the show is often out of the state before a tax collection can be made. At Roswell recently, the sales tax department sent a special representative down and with a man on the ground, it required constant watching to make any sort of collection.

If you have kept abreast of the investigation of the affairs of the New Mexico Potash and Chemical Co., before the United States Exchange Commission at Albuquerque, you have probably been reminded of the good old days when pretty nearly everybody bought some oil stock. At least it is assumed that the buyer who invests in a concern which has a leave valued at $3,024,000, with an actual value of $996,000, is taking about the same chances as the old timer who bought lots of good-looking oil stock certificates.

Woodruff, who sang a duet.

FALLS FACE EVICTION SUIT

It was declared in El Paso, Texas, last week that there is little or no possibility of settling the eviction suit faced by Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Fall over possession of the Three Rivers Ranch home. The eviction suit filed by the Petroleum Securities Co., which sold the huge ranch to the Palomas Cattle Co., is expected to reach trial at Alamogordo in January.

NEW DINING ROOM OPEN

The Folkner's Cafe has opened a new dining room in the former quarters of A. B.'s Barber Shop, just west of their present location. New furniture and fixtures have been added to the new dining room, which was opened yesterday.

Forest Notes

Upper Benito Closed to Grazing
Through a mutual agreement between the S. P. Ry. Co., and the forest service, an area of between 2,000 and 3,000 acres will be closed to grazing on the Upper Benito. This is being done to protect the reservoir and prevent silting. The land affected by the order belongs to the government and the railway company.

Forest Areas Drying Out Fast
Unless moisture is received between now and the hunting season, October 25th, there will be considerable fire hazard. If the condition of the forest warrants, guards will be placed at some of the lookout stations, it was announced. The public is requested to be very careful about letting fires get away during the hunting season.—Alamogordo News.

GOLDEN PHANTOMS

Fascinating Tales of Lost Mines by Editha L. Watson

$100,000 IN GOLD

1840—what a date for history it was!—Especially for the West, '40 west of the Mississippi was a year that marked the real beginning of things. People coming and going. High hopes ebbing and flowing. Fortunes made and lost. Gold wasted, thrown away, and stolen. Murder, robbery. That was what '40 meant to the West.

There are stories enough to fill a library about the gold of '49 alone. People went mad over it. The golden phantom was at its most alluring, and men followed it crazily, unswervingly, determined to gain its promised riches if they had to kill those who got in their way. The West was overrun with bandits who hungered and thirsted for gold.

That year in Sacramento, Calif., there was a band of eight men who planned to enrich themselves at the cost of others. They went about in rather haphazard fashion however. Gold dust may be packed in sacks, gold bars are heavy but precious, but gold money clinks, and slides, and takes up extra space—and it was gold money that the thieving octette stole. One hundred thousand in gold coin came into their greedy hands. Divided by eight, this would leave each with a small fortune, as computed in those days. And then, there was always the possibility that something might happen to remove one or more of the number.

The guilty eight headed east with their spoil. Across the Rockies, out toward the plains, they hurried. Six of them fell along the way, killed by soldiers who had tracked them. The surviving pair hurried ahead, anxious, desperate.

But they could not escape with their burden of gold. It must be hidden somewhere in safety, marked so that they would not lose the location, and left. It would wait for them to come back to it.

So the two, hastily inscribing a false date on three stones, buried the gold in a gulch, marked the spot by the date stones, and vanished into the East.

More than thirty years later, a man stopped at a sheep camp near the present town of Clifford, in eastern Colorado. He was, he told the herder, seeking for the treasure which he had buried in '49. For weeks he stayed in the neighborhood, searching for that fortune in coins—searching in vain. At last he went back East, defeated, but before he left he told the sheepman of the three dated rocks, with their false inscriptions "1847." Somewhere these three rocks still lay, and within their triangle a faint golden phantom hovered, guarding the stolen hoard hidden so long ago.

James Will, the owner of the sheep, would have been more than human if he had not succumbed to the lure of that phantom. Others, to whom he confided the story, hunted also. But no such dated rocks could be found.

At last, only a few years ago, a man named Elkins discovered one of the stones. His find caused scores of persons to flock to the place, digging where it seemed likely the treasure had been hidden. But nothing came to light except roots and rocks disinterred eagerly, thrown down angrily, by disappointed treasure hunters.

Then late in November, 1934, a second stone was found. T. C. Hatton of Clifford discovered it—a flat rock bearing the inscription "D. Grover and Joseph Fox Laws—Aug. 8, 1848." And the hunt was on again.

It may be presumed that Grover and Laws were the fugitives who buried the gold, although why they should thus perpetuate their guilty names is not clear.

So far, no one has succeeded in finding the treasure. Will the third stone be discovered some day in the future, and will another generation of eager gold-seekers dig over the ground?

Perhaps—and yet it may have happened, also, that the man who came back in the 80s to search for the cache found it—and did not tell. He may have moved it, come back later, and taken it away—or even (and this is possible) found that his surviving partner in crime had already been on the scene.

It is possible, too, that the stranger might have been "spoofing" the sheepherder. He might have been looking for something entirely different from hidden, stolen gold, and he could easily have inscribed that particular date on the rocks at that time. Why? Well, why do men enjoy playing practical jokes?

Still, no one could convince the people of Clifford that his story was other than the purest truth. The golden phantom is one ghostly figure that is delightfully easy to believe in.

And maybe it is all true—maybe some one will dig up that pleasant sum of one hundred thousand dollars in gold coin some day—who knows?

CARLSBAD HOTEL CLERK ARRESTED

Charles Ferrell, former clerk at the Crawford hotel in Carlsbad, was arrested October 16th at Mobile, Alabama, on a warrant charging him with the embezzlement of $176.80 from A. J. Crawford.

George L. Reese, Jr., district attorney, Thursday applied for a requisition from Gov. Clyde Tingley, asking that the governor of Alabama extradite Farrell.

Reese, in his application, asked that Dwight Lee, Eddy county sheriff, be appointed to return Ferrell to Carlsbad.

Ferrell was employed at the Crawford hotel for several months, leaving in August. The complaint, charging the embezzlement, was signed by Harold Miller, manager of the hotel, August 22.

The former clerk came here from Hagerman, where his parents reside.

Roswell Football Team To Invade Artesia Friday

The Artesia high school grid squad fell before the strong Hobbs eleven at Hobbs Friday evening by a score of 20 to 13, after making an auspicious start and after outplaying Hobbs in practically every department throughout the game.

Artesia scored the first touchdown in the first minute of play by marching seventy yards to the Hobbs goal in three plays. The local squad made the extra point. Taking to the air, Hobbs scored first in the second quarter, using forward passes and made the extra point. In the third quarter Hobbs counted again on forward passes, but failed to make the extra point.

Both teams scored in the final quarter. Artesia made a touchdown on a thirty-yard pass from Haines to Wilde. Hobbs made the most spectacular play of the game when a Hobbs player ran ninety-five yards for a touchdown behind perfect interference.

Roswell Here Friday Friday is a red letter day for the Bulldogs on the home court. At 3:00 p. m. the Bulldogs will meet the fast Roswell Coyote eleven at the Brainard park for one of the best, if not the best, games of the season. Roswell is rated as a leading contender for east-side honors this year and the game Friday should be an interesting one.

WOMAN'S CLUB ANNUAL CONVENTION ENDED SAT.

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the New Mexico club women closed Saturday at the end of a three-day session held at Santa Fe, with Mrs. J. O. Seth of Santa Fe, state president, presiding. Resolutions were adopted enlarging their scope of civic endeavor within the state.

Resolutions passed were: asking women to pledge their support in expanding the Los Lunas Home for Mental Defectives; to furnish vocational training for the youth of the state for the provision of adequate school budgets; securing federal funds for worthy projects. The resolution favoring a Hot Springs hospital for cripple children was debated at length, yet passed by a three to one vote.

The revisor to the federation constitution and by-laws presented Saturday morning, brought out a heated discussion as the proposed change affected the governing of the Harriet Donohoo Loan Fund. The revision was killed by a large vote. Mrs. G. R. Brainard of the local club has served as chairman of the Harriet Donohoo Loan Fund for the past four years, a major project of the state federation. She was opposed to the proposed changes.

A very impressive memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Mark A. Corbin, state chairman of music. Mrs. Corbin conducted the music throughout the three-day session. Mrs. I. L. Spratt, president of the local club and a talented musician, was pianist.

Thursday evening, Mrs. David Chavez, official convention hostess, presided at a marvelous Spanish courtesy dinner at the La Fonda. There was a splendid Spanish orchestra, appealing Spanish songs and fascinating Spanish dances. The guests of honor were: Gov. and Mrs. Clyde Tingley and Mrs. Nina Otero Warren, a member of one of New Mexico's most distinguished Spanish families.

Mrs. Clyde Tingley, a most gracious hostess, entertained at five o'clock tea at the executive mansion Friday, having as her guests about two hundred club women. It was a beautiful affair, gorgeous flowers were used in profusion; the tea table was lovely.

One of the pleasant incidents of the convention was the presentation by Mrs. C. R. Blocker, president of the third district, of a lovely arm bouquet of roses to Mrs. J. D. Atwood of Roswell, in honor of her recent appointment to the chairmanship of "American Citizenship" in the General Federation of Women's Clubs. This is the first time a New Mexico woman has been so greatly honored by the general federation.

There were a number of guest speakers, each bringing an interesting message. Among those appearing were: Gov. Clyde Tingley; Miss Mary Sue Wigley of Alabama, who used as her subject, "The Home;" Dr. C. B. Wivel of the Eastern New Mexico Junior College, who ably handled his subject, "Woman in a Changing World;" Dr. J. F. Zimmerman, president of the University of New Mexico, and Elliott Barker, state game warden.

The convention closed Saturday with a visit to the State School for the Deaf, where a delightful high noon courtesy luncheon was served.

State officers present were: Mrs. J. O. Seth of Santa Fe, Mrs. R. W. Goddard of Las Cruces, vice-president at large; Mrs. W. A. Dow, Colmar; Mrs. Lee Miles, Albuquerque; Mrs. C. R. Blocker, Artesia, vice-presidents; Mrs. Fred Dennis, Clovis, secretary; Mrs. Lesslie Julett, Santa Fe, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. M. Thorne, Carlsbad, treasurer; Mrs. Burton Dwyer, Silver City, auditor, and Mrs. W. H. Nesbitt, Anthony.

CHEVIE SIX BRIDGE CLUB

The Chevie Six Bridge club met Tuesday evening for the first time in months. Dinner was served to members at the Artesia hotel at seven o'clock with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bildstone as the host and hostess.

After dinner a session of bridge was played at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bildstone. At the close of four rounds of contract, Mrs. Whitson held high score for the ladies and Mr. Bildstone for the men. On this occasion Mrs. Whitson was elected as head of the club to take the place of Mr. Bildstone, club dictator of last year. Her title has not been decided upon.

Guests were Messrs. and Mrs. Leslie Martin, Fred Cole, Alton Partee, Howard Whitson, Miss Ruth Bildstone of Ottawa, Kansas, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Blocker of Carlsbad.

PAST PRESIDENT'S PARLEY LUNCHEON LOVELY AFFAIR

Mrs. Ben Pior entertained with a lovely luncheon at high noon Wednesday, having as her guests members of the Past President's Parley of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Dahlias and chrysanthemums were the flowers used for house decorations. The long dining table with beautiful snow white linens was centered with a gorgeous bouquet of marigolds and salvia. Hallowe'en place cards were used as place markers.

A delicious fried turkey luncheon was served in three courses. Covers were laid for Mrs. Frank Linell, Frank Seale, Lewis Story, Jess Truett, Albert Richards, Aleck McGonagill, Dick Vandagriff, Earl Darst, P. V. Morris, Mrs. Mack Pior of Carlsbad, a visiting guest, and the hostess.

Following the luncheon which is to be a monthly event this year, Mrs. P. V. Morris, president of the organization, presided over the business session.

MISSIONARY SOCIETIES MEET

The Presbyterian Missionary Society met with Mrs. C. V. Brainard Thursday afternoon with Mrs. R. G. Knoedler as co-hostess. The devotionals were led by Mrs. William Linell and followed by an interesting program on Alaska. Eleven members were present. A delicious light refreshment course was served by the hostess.

The Methodist Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. W. S. French, Thursday afternoon for the October literary meeting. Mrs. George Gage and I. C. Dixon were co-hostesses.

There was an unusually good attendance of the members to hear the program on Korea, with Mrs. Grover Kinder in charge. An interesting exhibit from Korea was also placed on display by Mrs. Reed Brainard.

At the close of the afternoon, pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee was served by the hostesses.

The Christian Woman's Association held their monthly literary meeting at the home of Mrs. Will Ballard Thursday afternoon.

Seventeen members were present to hear Mrs. Harry Walker, N. T. Kelly and Ballard Spencer, in the closing study of the Life and Works of the Apostle Paul.

At the close of the session Mrs. Ballard served a delicious light refreshment plate.

CONTRACT STUDY CLUB WITH MRS. YATES

Mrs. Martin Yates, Jr., was hostess to members of the Contract Study club at the Artesia hotel Tuesday.

Luncheon in the Coffee Shop was followed by the usual rounds of contract in which Mrs. C. J. Dexter made high score.

Mrs. Albert Woods and Mrs. Jessie Morgan were substituting guests.

MRS. GATES P. E. O. GUEST IN ROSWELL

Mrs. V. L. Gates was a luncheon guest of Chapter K of Roswell, Tuesday. Mrs. Gates represented this chapter at the Supreme Convention of the P. E. O.'s in Yellowstone recently. She gave her report to the chapter on this occasion.

Mrs. Gates was accompanied to Roswell by Mrs. Rex Wheatley.

A Ghostly Frolic For HALLOWE'EN

HALLOWE'EN parties rate a bit of additional time spent in planning them. Not many of us have the time to spend collecting woodland leaves, hollowing out dozens of pumpkins and doing the things which made Hallowe'en parties of years ago such momentous events. But let's see what can be done with a few yards of black and white cloth toward giving a smart silhouette Hallowe'en party.

Get Out Scissors And Ideas

Cut out masks for your invitations, using black cloth. Attach to the tear-around cords of the mask a white tag on which is lettered:

*Heigh-ho—it's Hallowe'en
Don this mask, or you'll be seen.
Sneak around to our back door
When you come, we'll tell you more.*

Place a black cardboard shade over a white light at your back door and be ready to greet your guests. Previously cut white cloth into as many ghost-shrouds as you have guests, and when each black mask appears at the door slip the wearer a white shroud. Pinned to each shroud is an envelope labeled PRIVATE TO YOU. On a piece of paper inside each envelope instruct each person as to whose ghost he represents. Use ghosts of living prominent persons—George Bernard Shaw, Joan Bennett, Hitler, Mussolini, or whom-ever you choose.

After the ghosts have mingled in the living-room for a half hour or so, let each person write their guesses as to the various identities. The person making the most correct guesses receives a prize—a book of good ghost stories.

Then, masks off—and on to the feast, which incidentally is also a black and white affair and very delicious. The recipes serve eight persons.

SILHOUETTE HALLOWE'EN MENU

- Caviar Stuffed Celery Hearts
- Ripe Olives
- Chicken, Sweetbread and Pineapple Salad
- Cloverleaf Rolls
- Lemon Milk Sherbet
- Devil's Food Cup Cakes with White Icing
- Vanilla Popcorn Balls
- Chocolate and White Mints
- Black Coffee

Caviar Stuffed Celery Hearts: Choose small tender hearts of celery and have them crisp and very cold. Keep a can of caviar on ice for at least three hours before using. Then season it with lemon juice and cayenne, and stuff the celery with it. Serve on white paper doilies on black plates, or black paper doilies on white plates.

Chicken, Sweetbread and Pineapple Salad: Dice the contents of one 12-ounce can of chicken and add one cup of cold diced sweetbreads, one-half cup of halved and seeded white grapes and one cup of canned pineapple tidbits which have been drained. Season to taste with salt and white pepper, and moisten with cream mayonnaise. Serve very cold in lettuce cups.

Lemon Milk Sherbet: Scald together the contents of one 1-pound can of evaporated milk, one and one-fourth cups water, one cup cream and two cups sugar. Chill thoroughly. Beat one egg well, add three-fourths cup lemon juice and add slowly to the milk. Freeze immediately. This serves eight.

ABNORMIS SAPIENS BRIDE CLUB WITH MRS. GREEN

Mrs. Arba Green entertained members of the Abnormis Sapiens Bridge club Monday afternoon, instead of regular meeting date, Wednesday, naming Mrs. M. W. Evans of El Paso, honor guest.

A delicious one o'clock luncheon was served and followed by games of contract in which Mrs. Evans was awarded the high score prize, and Mrs. Ferree consolation.

Guests on this occasion were: Mrs. M. W. Evans of El Paso, Mrs. J. M. Story, Jeff Hightower, J. Hise Myers, T. S. Cox, S. E. Ferree, Jessie Morgan, James Nellis and Mrs. Mark A. Corbin, a luncheon guest.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB WITH MRS. HOLLIS WATSON

Mrs. Hollis Watson very delightfully entertained members of the Fortnightly Bridge club at her home Tuesday.

Covers were laid at the luncheon hour for Mrs. J. B. Atkeson, William Linell, Lewis Story, B. D. Clarke, Albert Richards, Frank Seale, C. R. Blocker, C. R. Baldwin, Charlie Martin, Henry Caudle and two substituting guests, Mrs. Howard Williams and Mrs. Richard Attebery. At the conclusion of the games of contract Mrs. Atkeson held high score.

P. E. O. WITH MRS. ATKESON

The local P. E. O. chapter met with Mrs. J. B. Atkeson Friday afternoon.

An "Education" program was given by Mrs. W. E. Kerr, using as her subject, "Cotley College of Nevada, Missouri," a college project of the P. E. O. organization. A little playlet on Cotley College was given by three juvenile girls, Helen Gates, Lela Bess Mann and Rachael Swift.

The local P. E. O. chapter and the two chapters of Roswell will be guests of the Carlsbad P. E. O.'s at a reciprocity meeting Saturday.

SURPRISE HOUSE WARMING FOR MRS. PORCH

Mrs. W. P. Porch was given a surprise house warming at her new home in the Keller-Ragsdale addition by members of her Sunday school class, the T. E. L. class of the Baptist church, Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Ina Cole took Mrs. Porch out riding, returning with her in a short time. On her return, Mrs. Porch found about thirty class members and friends gathered at her home with gifts for her new home. This occasion also celebrated the birthday anniversary of the honoree. At the close of a pleasant hour visiting, Mrs. Hugh Burch, C. M. Cole and Ben Wilson served light refreshments.

BOOK CLUB

Mrs. John Lowery entertained members of the Book club at her home Wednesday afternoon.

"Credo," by Stewart Edward White, a book on religion, was interestingly reviewed by Mrs. N. M. Baird.

The attendance was below normal on this occasion.

WELFARE COMMITTEE HERE CALLS FOR AID

The welfare committee of the Artesia Woman's club has made a call for old sheets, pillow cases and clean rags to be used by doctors and nurses. These will be used when necessary in case of illness and when possible will be laundered and laid away for use of other patients.

The committee, composed of Mrs. T. S. Cox, William Halderman, Grover Kinder, Howard Gissler, Frank Wilson, Thomas Massie, Bert Muncy, J. C. Floore, Ben Dunn, W. G. Cook and W. R. Schoonmaker, will appreciate those who can contribute, making their contribution at once as these things are badly needed. Contact any member of the above committee, who will see that the things are delivered to the proper ones.

MRS. TERRY HOSTESS TO BRIDGE OF THE MONTH

Mrs. Herman Terry was hostess to members of the Bridge of the Month at the Artesia hotel, Friday afternoon.

Covers were laid for the following guests at one o'clock luncheon served in the Coffee Shop: Mrs. Van P. Welch, Howard Whitson, Malcolm Mitchell, Henry Caudle, Earl Bigler, Alton Partee, Miss Phoebe Welch and the hostess.

At the close of the games on the mezzanine floor, high prize was awarded to Mrs. Partee and second high to Mrs. Bigler.

WILKINSON BOYS GIVEN BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. A. L. Wilkinson entertained with a birthday party Saturday afternoon for her two young sons, A. L., Jr., and Weldon, ages five and three, with birthdays occurring on the same day. About thirty small children were invited to help the youngsters celebrate, each bringing a present for the two honored ones.

A full afternoon of games was enjoyed by the children. Each boy had a birthday cake with candles which was served with other refreshments at the close of the afternoon.

MRS. SWIFT ENTERTAINS MIERCOLES BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Swift entertained the Miercoles Bridge club at the home of her mother, Mrs. Dan Beckett, Friday afternoon.

This was the first meeting of the club in several months. It was a Hallowe'en entertainment. Those seated for the session were Mrs. Lloyd Simon, Hollis Watson, Ben Pior, Richard Attebery, Howard Williams, A. P. Mahone, Lewis Story and Mrs. B. D. Clarke, a substituting guest. At the conclusion of the games, high score prize was awarded to Mrs. Attebery.

Delicious Hallowe'en refreshments were served by the hostess.

VIERNES BRIDGE CLUB ENTERTAINED FRIDAY

Members of the Viernes Bridge club were entertained Friday afternoon by Mrs. Boone Barnett.

Those seated for the games of contract were Mrs. Ed Gillispie, Albert Glasser, Andy Company, Robert McProud, Carroll, Mrs. Joe Foster, a new member, Mrs. Dick Vandagriff, a substituting guest, and the hostess, Mrs. Gillispie received the high score prize, Mrs. Company second high and Mrs. Foster consolation.

Delicious light refreshments were served by the hostess at the conclusion of the games.

Senator and Mrs. Carl Hatch of Clovis were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Jernigan Tuesday night en route to El Paso, Texas, where they are attending the district conference of the Methodist church.

Another Public Enemy

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

The "Public Enemy No. 1" of our criminal records is growing short-lived. The stern hand of justice, backed by an aroused indignation, makes both brief and inglorious his flash across the front page. As with all transgressors, his way is hard. But there is another Public Enemy, enjoying a softer, more pampered life. It is Public Debt—national, state and local. Fed and pampered by politicians, it has expanded in girth as the rest of the country pulled in its belt.

In discussing it one must talk big money.

Today, for example, the Public Debt of the United States government exceeds $29,000,000,000. Count in the gross debt of all divisions of government in the country, and the total mounts to many billions more. Among the enemies of the American people it probably ranks No. 1. Why?

Because the public debt, along with its twin—current expenses of government—constitutes a claim on the earnings and the property of every American citizen. Both must be paid. How? By whom?

The answer is simple. By taxes—whether hidden or open—clipped from the earnings of every man or woman who labors, of every family that contributes its strength, its courage and its spirit to the building and preservation of a free, productive America.

This public enemy is an insidious one. He leaves his calling card—the tax bill—with comparatively few of his victims. From the great majority of workers he pilfers unsuspected—by increasing the cost of the bread they eat, of the rent bill they pay, of the insurance premium they meet, of the tools and equipment they buy, and of virtually every other necessity in normal, active American life.

For protection against the public enemy who robs us with a gun, we can turn to the police. For relief against the enemy who uses the tax levy, we must turn to the polls, and there elect public servants pledged to the same reasonable economy that the farmer, the business man or the housewife exercise.

America needs the G-man type in public office, as well as in crime prevention.

STATE SCHOOL BUDGET

TOTALS $5,782,853.00

Final budget allowances for school maintenance purposes total $5,782,853, according to figures released by R. H. Grissom, educational budget director. This compares with $5,436,876 for last year. Nearly all of this increase is in teachers' salaries.

"THAT LITTLE GAME" Inter-nat'l Cartoon Co., N.Y.—By B. Link

And Please Be Quick About It!

Get that meal and be quick about it! Which is no snarling command, but just a reminder that it's possible to turn out tempting tantalizers in ten tiny ticks of the timepiece!

Do you sometimes moan because the family takes five minutes to gobble some food that has taken you hours to prepare? You can do nothing about this habit of even the best-behaved families. But you can give yourself a vacation from the anguish occasionally by learning to mix a few good things that are as quick-as-a-wink and six times as merry!

You need not utter a single grr over the be-nimble beauties given here; "run up" a few, call in the hungry horde and let the crumbs fall where they will!

Marshmallows 1/4
(A 10-minute Dessert)
wise (allowing one banana for each Peel and split bananas length-person). Dip in lemon juice. Place flat side up in a baking pan and sprinkle lightly with salt. Cut marshmallows in halves, using two whole or four halves to each half of banana. Place on the split bananas and bake in a moderately hot oven (375°F.) about ten minutes, or until marshmallows are brown.

Fruit Ring Salad
(Record Time: 8 Minutes)
6 slices canned pineapple
2/3 can grapefruit
2 oranges
6 pasteurized dates (pitted)
1/2 pkg. cream cheese
Mayonnaise dressing
Lettuce.
Put a leaf of lettuce on each of six salad plates. Lay a slice of round with alternating segments of canned grapefruit and peeled orange. Thrust a forkful of cream cheese into each pitted date; lay one in center of each pineapple ring. With a teaspoon, drop little mounds of mayonnaise on three or four fruit segments.

Quick Spice Cake
(Mixing Time About 11 Minutes)
2 cups pastry flour
5 teasp. baking powder
1 cup brown sugar
1 1/2 cups water
1/4 cup mazaola
1 teasp. nutmeg
1 teasp. cinnamon
1 teasp. salt
1 cup raisins
Sift flour and baking powder together in a mixing bowl. In a saucepan mix sugar, water, oil, spices, salt and raisins and boil for about 2 minutes. Cool, then add to dry ingredients, and mix well. Pour into oiled and floured shallow pan and bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 45 minutes. Cool before taking from pan and frost if desired. This of course requires a long baking period, but the oven does this work, and your work requires but about 11 minutes, according to tests.

Date-Fig Paste
(Easiest "Spread" on Record)
1 pkg. pasteurized dates (pitted)
1/2 cup walnut meats
1/4 lb. layer figs
Boiling water, milk, cream or orange juice.
Put fruit and nuts through a food chopper, using medium knife, or chop to a paste in wooden bowl. Add liquid until mixture is of proper consistency to spread, and blend well. Use as sandwich filling (this is enough for 2 dozen sandwiches), as a cake or cookie filling or spread for bread. If part of mixture is to be stored, use boiling water for liquid, only a small amount when making, and additional amount when ready to use.

Cheese-Tomato Parched Rice
(A Quick Main Course for Lunch)
3 cups cooked rice
2 tbsps. butter

1 cup tomato sauce
1/2 cup grated cheese
Melt butter in an iron frying pan, add rice. Cook until rice is slightly brown, stirring lightly with a fork. Put into hot serving dish, pour over tomato sauce, and sprinkle with cheese, lifting rice with fork so that sauce and cheese coat each kernel. To make this extra-quick, keep a bowl of boiled rice on hand in refrigerator; rice reheats without any loss of flavor.

Orange Sauce
(Flavor, With Ease)
2 cups sugar
3/4 cup orange juice
3 tbsps. white karo
1 teasp. grated orange rind
Mix the above ingredients and boil for about 10 minutes, or until the syrup is of the desired consistency. Serve warm over waffles, over cake (for cottage pudding) or on pudding. Grapejuice may be substituted for the orange juice and grated rind.
This sauce is especially good for use on left-over sponge cake, etc., and is noted for its delicate but "orange-y" flavor.

"Probation After Death" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches and Societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 27th.

The golden text is: "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him." (James 1:12).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible:
"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life." (John 5:24).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text book:

"Mortals need not fancy that belief in the experience of death will awaken them to glorified being. Universal salvation rests on progression and probation, and is unattainable without them."

Southern Calif. Hit By Fire and Dust Yesterday

LOS ANGELES—Raging forest fires, high winds and a freak dust storm struck Southern California yesterday, causing thousands of dollars property damage and possible death to at least one person.

Hundreds battled through the night against a roaring blaze that swept over Echo Mountain northeast of here bordering the exclusive Altadena section, destroying several residences, a sanitarium and the incline scenic railway to near-by Mount Lowe.

One man, identified as Conland Boben, was feared burned to death when flames destroyed the Lavina Sanitarium in the foothills north of Altadena. Sixty other patients in the institution were safely removed.

Residents on the outskirts of the town were ordered to evacuate the section, although shifting winds later turned the blaze westward.

High winds reaching a velocity in some spots of forty-five miles an hour ripped through areas in all directions from here, toppling over eighteen oil derricks at Huntington Beach and bowling over trees and sign boards at other points.

The region around Santa Ana south of here, shook itself out of a heavy dust coating that whipped in with the wind blasts, and several hundred CCC and volunteer workers fought to stamp out a stubborn forest fire near El Toro.

State highway patrolmen ordered the main highway closed between Tustin and San Juan Capistrano after numerous motorists, blinded by the dust, collided along the road. No serious injuries were reported.

Loose soil swept by the high winds off bean fields under cultivation caused the freak exhibition, officials said.

In Huntington Beach damage to the oil field amounted to many thousands of dollars, an debris, broken derricks and tree limbs littered the streets.

Three Sentenced In Gallup Riot Case At Aztec

AZTEC—Judge James B. McGhee last Thursday sentenced the three Gallup murder case defendants, who were convicted by the jury, to serve terms of from forty-five to sixty years in the state penitentiary.

Five of the seven acquitted will be deported to Old Mexico.

After deliberating for two hours and a half, the Gallup mass murder trial jury convicted three defendants and freed seven of the ten on trial for the murder of Sheriff M. R. Carmichael, during a riot last April 4th.

The three convicted on a charge of second degree murder were: Juan Ochoa, Manuel Avitia, and Leandor Velarde.

The defendants who were acquitted were: Joe Bartol, Augustine Cavillo, Gregorio Correa, Victorio Correa, Rafael Gomez, Willie Gonzales and Serapio Sosa.

Defense attorneys said that they would appeal to the state supreme court.

The seven defendants acquitted immediately were remanded to jail in default of $2,500 bond. They still face charges, along with four others, of aiding and abetting the escape of a prisoner.

The other four are: Teresa Avitia, Altigracia Gomez, Mrs. Dominica Hernandez and Jose G. Lopez.

Eight Cited for Contempt

SANTA FE—Charged with contempt of court for assertingly having signed resolutions demanding the cessation of the "persecution" and "judicial murder" of the ten Gallup murder defendants, eight persons pleaded not guilty before Judge James B. McGhee at Santa Fe Friday.

They were given forty-eight hours in which to raise bond of $750 each.

The defendants, all from Santa Fe, were: Jose Rodriguez, Mrs. Jose Rodriguez, Willie Martinez, Alfredo M. Rodriguez, Mrs. Alfredo M. Rodriguez, Mrs. Lucia R. Maes, Rafaelita Rodriguez and Miguel Maes. One other defendant did not appear because of illness.

November Issue N. M. Magazine Very Interesting

Back in the seventies in Cimarron they had a saying—whenever a man was killed in Lambert's bar—"Lambert had a man for breakfast."

One morning "Lambert had four men for breakfast," for Davy Crockett, a young cowboy, killed four negro soldiers.

Although as much historical interest centers in Cimarron as in any other town that flourished in the wild and woolly days of the west, all the history wasn't of the six-shooting kind, according to Grant Maxwell, writing in the November issue of New Mexico Magazine.

Maxwell writes the story of Cimarron and tells interesting and amusing historical anecdotes about the town and its famous characters.

The magazine notes the arrival of the hunting season, October 25, with a prose verse article by S. Omar Barker, "Buck Hunt Fever," "A Road Runner for the Missus," a woman's version of a quail hunting trip, by Myrtle Andrews of Santa Fe, "Why Not Pack In?" an article by Roy Allen Stamm, which lists all the equipment needed for a horse or back packing trip.

Other articles include "The Last Pioneer," by Stanley Vestal, biographer of Kit Carson and Sitting Bull, who describes his own experiences in homesteading; "Shalako" by Ruth Falkenburg Kirk of Gallup; "Claim and Counter Claim," a fiction story of prospecting by B. W. Kenney of Albuquerque, and "Horse Race Day," reminiscences of early Deming by Jack Thorp, the composer of the famous cowboy ballad, "Little Joe the Wrangler."

HOSPITAL APPEALS FOR ADDITIONAL FUNDS

Eddy Hospital Association has, within the last few months, been at a great expense in renovating, equipping and remodeling the hospital, which is now in first-class condition and is open for inspection at any time, to all who are interested.

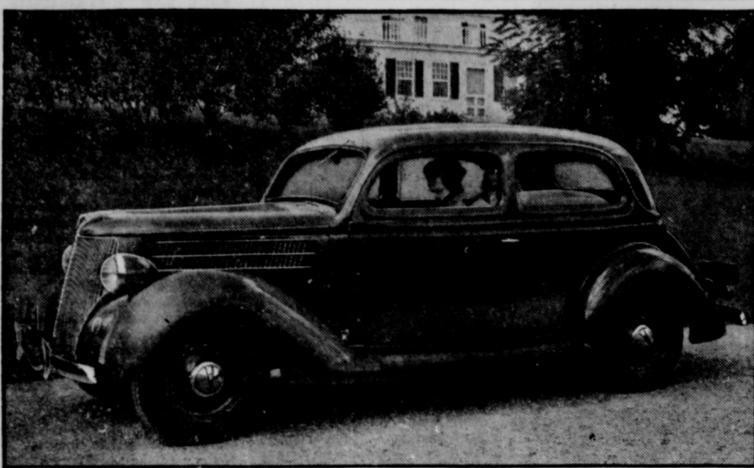

In order to maintain the present standard of efficiency, we are needing some money to pay debts incurred some time ago. We have therefore decided to conduct a one dollar drive throughout the entire county.

Many charity patients are cared for during the year, so when you give to this fund, you are helping care for the indigent sick of your town and county.

Longer Lines in Ford V-8 for 1936

THE LONGER and more graceful lines of the Ford V-8 for 1936 are well illustrated in this view of the popular De Luxe Tudor Sedan. The new longer hood extends gracefully over the attractive new radiator grille. Wide streamlined front fenders, with an imposing flare, shroud the tires and house the horns behind chromium grilles. New design steel wheels with 12 1/4-inch hub caps are handsome and easy to clean. Bucket-type front seats are exceptionally comfortable. This body type, of welded steel like all Ford V-8 bodies, is also available without de luxe appointments at lower cost.

Chemical Laws Are Used In Refining Potash At Plant of U. S. Potash Co.

The refinery of the United States Potash company is the plant where the "salts" laid down countless centuries ago in southeast Eddy county are turned into the pure muriate of potash, used to maintain and bring back soil fertility.

Chemical laws, older than the earth itself, are used to produce the refined product. The "mother liquor" a salty liquid, picks up the potash when heated. Salt, so it seems, will go into solution at any temperature in about the same degree. Potash goes into solution in greater amount at the higher temperature. Since the mother liquor has as much salt in solution as it can carry, it picks up only the potash—and this at higher temperatures. As the liquid is cooled, the potash is precipitated.

The pure muriate of potash is gathered on a huge drum, while the "mother liquor" is drawn, by suction, into the interior of the drum to be returned to the huge vats to pick up more potash.

Batteries of the huge vats are the principle thing to be seen on the interior of the refinery proper. The "liquor" in certain vats is at comparatively high temperatures, picking up the pure potash from the manure salts. In other vats, it is cooling, preparatory to dropping its potash loads at the proper time.

The finely ground crude salts are carried to the top of the refinery after having been dumped into a bin below, by means of an inclined conveyor, and thence over a huge rubber belt to be dumped into another bin. From there it enters the vats to be refined.

Transportation from the mine, thirteen miles to the northeast, is over the company-owned tramroad—a narrow gauge line, having a track, the rails of which are thirty-six inches apart.

After being refined, the muriate of potash goes either to railroad cars for transportation to storage bins on the Gulf of Mexico for later shipment by way of the sea to eastern fertilizer factories, or is stored in two huge warehouses at the refinery for later shipment.

But the refinery is but one part of the plant itself. A huge power plant develops electricity, the power which is used in both the refining and mining processes. Four great boilers furnish steam. Huge gas burners spit out white-hot heat to make the steam. Turbo-generators create the driving power. Spare generators are installed to avoid shut-downs, for the refinery operates the year around.

Machine shop, offices, water tower, loading stations, and other units make up the complete plant at the refinery.

Many hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent by the owners in New Mexico from which the state gets a great taxation revenue yearly and which furnishes occupations for hundreds of Eddy county citizens—most of whom lived here long before the coming of the potash company. Those who have come since to work in the industry, are making valuable members of the communities in the county.

Confidence in the future has resulted in an expansion of the industry even under record low prices, to its present size.

The potash industry is one in which the demand, although varying from year to year, presents the possibilities of only limited sales. Until recent years, the United States has been entirely dependent on foreign countries for its supply of potash—an essential element in commercial fertilizers. Now, fortunately, it has its own home supply.

Appropriately, it is called "Sunshine State Potash," and each year it adds in enrichment of the soil and production of crops in every

Contour Farming Is Now Important

Even horses are "sold" on contour farming as recommended by the soil conservation service for controlling water erosion. A Wisconsin farmer writes that his horses find working on the contour "easier." It does away with dragging heavy implements up and down hill.

Contour farming also does away with rows of cultivated crops running up and down hill—their open furrows an invitation to the little torrents that are likely to cut big gullies eventually and, in any event, carry off tons of topsoil.

Contour farming leaves furrows nearly level—at right angles to the slope of the land—each furrow a tiny terrace holding rainfall until it is absorbed into the soil, or forcing it to creep away rather than running wild downhill. This Wisconsin farmer finds the idea of working "on the contour rather odd at first, but you get accustomed to it."

He likes terracing and strip cropping to retard runoff. The terraces, he reports, "aren't as bad as they look." And the strip crops—long, narrow plots of grass or hay sandwiched in between long cultivated fields, all on the contour—have made him "wonder" if he shouldn't have "more permanent pasture" on corn land which always washes badly.

Colder this Sunday?

SIT IN PEACE, IF YOUR ENGINE OUT THERE

stays oiled

When your car's in cold storage at the curb this winter, don't have misgivings. Simply do what no oiling system can do by itself . . . make your engine stay oiled at a standstill, by changing to Conoco Germ Processed Oil.

Then when the thermometer slides, so will every part of your engine. You can come out calmly, as late as you like, to an engine that's oiled IN ADVANCE—clear to the top—before you've touched door-latch or starter. No more cruel, scraping starts, without half enough lubrication. And right there, you know, is where engineers lay more than half the blame for worn-out motors.

But the Conoco Germ Process . . . patented . . . spares you all that. How? By giving this oil the startling power to COMBINE with metal. That's what gives you the famous Hidden Quart, which won't drain down. It's up there for starting, and then while you're running it backs up the high-durability Germ Processed Oil film.

You may have one of the newest cars—with their copper-lead, high-lead, or cadmium-alloy bearings. Or you may have an older model—with babbit bearings. But you can be sure that any bearing—or any other moving part—is safer with Germ Processed Oil.

This season don't merely change your oil . . . change your car's whole future . . . all for the better. Get to your helpful Conoco man before Sunday comes. Continental Oil Company, Established 1875.

EACH to her own art! Some go in for singing, others for sculpture—still others, fortunately for a food-minded world, are known as artists by the cakes they bake. You'll notice, too, that it's the angel foods that win the most enthusiastic praise at socials, suppers—cake sales everywhere. This angel food cake made with cocoa, is a novelty that should enrich the repertory of every woman who takes pride in her cakes.

Chocolate Angel Food Cake 1/2 cup sifted cake flour, 4 tablespoons cocoa, 1 1/4 cups egg whites; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon cream of tartar; 1 1/4 cups sifted granulated sugar; 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, add cocoa, and sift four more times. Beat egg whites and salt with flat wire whisk. When foamy, add cream of tartar and continue beating until eggs are stiff enough to hold up in peaks, but not dry. Fold in sugar carefully, 2 tablespoons at a time, until all is used. Fold in vanilla. Then sift small amount of flour over mixture and fold in carefully; continue until all is used. Turn batter into ungreased angel food pan and bake in slow oven at least 1 hour. Begin at 275° F. and after 30 minutes, increase heat slightly (325° F.) and bake 30 minutes longer. Remove from oven and invert pan 1 hour, or until cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Paddock and their little niece of El Paso spent Saturday and Sunday here with her mother, Mrs. Sally Attebery and Mrs. Paddock's sister, Miss Jennie Mae Attebery, who has been confined to her bed for many weeks.

WASHINGTON—The comparative delights of munching a ham sandwich made from the left hind leg of a hog rather than from the right hind leg is before the AAA. And with it the question: "Should the farm administration teach hogs to shimmy with the right as well as the left side?"

To Claude Wickard, corn-hog section chief, came this poster, presented in mock solemnity by one of his aides, D. A. Fitzgerald. Fitzgerald attached an advertisement of a Baltimore establishment that "our special left hand sandwiches are better."

It "explained" that when a hog scratches his right side "he does a Charleston with his right foot" while when he "scratches his left flank he does a gentle shimmy against a tree or post."

SPEAKS ON TOWNSEND PLAN

The Rev. Joe N. Nations, pastor of the Trinity Baptist church of Los Angeles, California, addressed an audience Thursday evening at the Central school auditorium in the interest of the Townsend Recovery plan. In explaining the plan, which would permit the federal government to grant a $200.00 per month pension to persons sixty years old and over, the Rev. Nations stated that the business and professional men and the ministers of California were lined up solidly for the plan.

DRUNKS CONTRIBUTE TO CLEANUP CAMPAIGN

Eight local Mexicans contributed to the cleanup campaign the first of the week as result of too much hilarity at a Mexican dance here Saturday night. Ten Mexicans were jailed on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct Saturday night and three paid fines, the remaining seven were put to work chopping weeds when they failed to raise the necessary fine money. One other Mexican was lodged in the city jail Monday night on the same charge and later placed on the streets cutting weeds.

Screw Worm Loss Can Be Prevented

Screw worm infestations have been exceptionally heavy this year, says W. L. Black of the New Mexico State College.

The present infestation for the southern part of the state averages about seventeen percent. The infestation occurred later than usual this year, due to the fact that the summer rains came later than they do in most years. Most of the cases have happened since September 1. People are inclined to belittle the importance of a condition that occurs every year, and in New Mexico, ranchmen have taken the attitude that this parasite was more or less of an unavoidable evil.

There has been a rather widespread outbreak of the parasite in the southeastern states this year, with the result that a great deal of publicity has been given out upon the occurrence of the parasite in these states and this publicity has resulted in a rather large sum of money being appropriated for the relief of livestock owners in the affected district. New Mexico probably has as severe an infestation annually as has been experienced in the southeastern states during the present year.

There is need for a great deal of research work to be done on this problem, but in the meantime, the losses can be lessened considerably if the ranchmen will use the treatment recommended by the U. S. Bureau of Entomology for the control of these parasites. This treatment consists of the use of ordinary ninety percent commercial benzol to kill the parasites, and then the use of pine-tar oil, specific gravity 1.065, smeared lightly around the wound to repel the flies. The wound should be swabbed out with a pledget of cotton before applying the benzol, as benzol and blood do not mix. The application is made by putting a small amount of the benzol on a small piece of cotton and placing it over the wound, holding it there until the worms are killed. It is also well to saturate a small pledget of cotton with the benzol and insert it into the wound, leaving it there for twenty-four hours.

MRS. R. M. LOVE DIES

Word was received here last week of the death of Mrs. R. M. Love, aged about 60, wife of R. M. Love, an early-day resident of Artesia, which occurred in San Antonio, Texas, last Thursday. The death of Mrs. Love was due to a heart attack. Old-timers here will remember Mr. Love as the promoter of the Roselawn addition. Mr. Love planned and laid out the addition and planted a number of roses in the new site, from which the addition derived its name.

Grade And Staple Of Cotton About Like Last Week

Cotton classed during the week ending October 17 changed but little as a whole in grade and staple from the previous week. The proportion classed as good middling in Arizona and Texas, district 1, but was slightly less in New Mexico and California. The proportion classed as strict middling and better remained about the same in all states as during the previous week. Preparation continues to be normal in most areas. Little spotted cotton has been classed to date.

NEW MEXICO: Cotton classed as strict middling and better accounted for about 94 percent this week. The proportion classed as good middling was 42 percent compared with 62 percent last week. About 94 percent was 1-1/16 inches and longer and no cotton was classed as shorter than 1 inch. New Mexico cotton is grouped more within the 1-1/16 and 1-3/32 inches groups than in previous years and there appears to be less cotton shorter than 1 inch.

Navy Day To Be Observed Here

William Linell, state vice-chairman of the Navy Day celebration, has announced plans for observing Navy Day here on October 28th, with an appropriate program to be presented probably in the public schools. Because October 27th falls on Sunday this year, the program has been deferred until Monday, the 28th. Coincidentally, October 27th was selected because it is the anniversary of Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt, much of whose life was devoted to establishing a sound navy for the United States. October is also the month in which the American Navy was formed in 1775 by the Continental Congress.

With the cooperation of the press, radio, motion pictures, the American Legion, Daughters of the American Revolution, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and other patriotic societies, Navy Day has developed into a day of serious thought on the subject of reasonable naval defense.

OTIS McDANIEL GETS DEATH DECREE; HIS BROTHER LIFE

TELLURIDE, Colorado—Otis McDaniel, accused slayer of Sheriff W. W. Dunlap of Montezuma county, must die in the lethal gas chamber at the state penitentiary, and his younger brother, Herbert, was sentenced to a life term in the state prison, by a jury's verdict Friday.

Both defendants already had life sentences hanging over them. They were convicted last month at Durango on the starvation slaying of James Westfall, aged Lewis, Colorado, rancher. These sentences were deferred pending the outcome of the second trial.

Health Column

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

Survival

In the struggle for existence they are the fittest who survive. This truism has been the starting point for a great deal of bad logic leading to mischievous doctrines. Among the most antisocial of these doctrines is that of the Leave it to Nature school. "Public health," so they tell us, "by preserving the weak interferes with the beneficial court of evolution. Let the babies die: the fittest will survive." They have not yet been heard to protest against providing ocean liners with life boats. But in logic they should do so; for where are life boats we cannot be sure that only the best swimmers will survive a wreck.

What these sophists overlook is that the "fittest" who survive are fit only for those conditions under which the struggle takes place. When we have evolved a race of men perfectly adapted to jungle life there may be no jungle left to exercise their fitness. What does it profit a man that his legs will walk him twenty-five miles a day (or more if you please) now that the internal combustion engine has been invented? Suppose that during the last thirty-five years the leave it to nature school had had their way with yellow fever. By this time we might have evolved a race slightly more resistant to the disease. We should still be suffering from terrible epidemics and consoling ourselves by the reflection that those who died were those least fit to survive. Instead we are free from yellow fever in the United States and confident that some day the whole world will be rid of it.

If anyone tells us that the hundreds of babies who die each year in New Mexico are unfit to survive, the answer is: Yes, they are unfit to live among swarms of flies breeding in open toilets. But the ability to resist fly-borne dysentery is not the only worth-while human quality and moreover it is a quality which some day will be valueless because there will be no more open toilets in New Mexico. Let us not seek to fit our babies to their present disgraceful homes but to build homes that are fit for human babies to inhabit.

Beware The Cough From a common cold That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect, and most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results. Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1936

Why do we say The New Ford V-8 for 1936?

What is new about it? Of course, the newest engine in the low-price car field is still the V-8 engine. Since Ford made it available to all car users (keeping it as economical as cars with fewer cylinders) the Ford V-8 has been the newest engine on the market, and remains the newest for 1936.

You may buy a car on minor "talking points"—some specially advertised feature "with the car thrown in"—but after all, it is the engine you buy when you buy a car. Hence we put the engine first.

Other new points about the car make a long list.

Its lines are much more beautiful. The hood is longer and sweeps forward over the distinctive new radiator grille, giving the car a length and grace that are instantly impressive. The fenders are larger, with a wide flare. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New steel wheels.

Ford upholstery—always of sterling quality and excellent taste—is rich and enduring. The appointments of the car have a new touch of refinement. There is no question about the increased beauty of the Ford V-8 for 1936.

In more practical matters, many improvements have been made—Steering is made easier by a new steering gear ratio. The cooling system circulates 5 1/2 gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermosiphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvers permit a rapid air-flow around the engine.

Easier, quieter shifting of Ford gears—The gear shift lever now travels a shorter distance.

The two qualities you want in brakes—Brakes that stop the car with ease and certainty. Ford Super-Safety Brakes of the long-tested, fool-proof, mechanical design.

Safety—as always—in the electrically welded genuine steel body. Safety Glass all around at no extra cost. Hundreds have written grateful letters because this glass has protected the safety of their families.

A car you can drive without strain all day, if you like, in city or country. Steady, holds the road, responds to the driver's touch like a well-trained horse. You don't have to "push" or "fight" the Ford V-8—driver and car easily get on terms of good understanding with each other.

An engine has much to do with the roominess of a car. Very much indeed. A long engine uses up car space. The compact V-8 engine permits much of the ordinary engine space to be used by passengers.

It really is a great car in every way, this 1936 Ford V-8—the finest, safest, most dependable Ford car ever built. Now on display for Ford dealers.

hundred hunters from this and other localities are expected to take to the hills in quest of a buck. In fact, local hunters have already encamped on their favorite hunting spot ready for the opening day.

The Sacramento mountain region is expected to attract the biggest number of sportsmen, although many others will journey to the Guadalupe mountains, the Black range and the White mountains.

Two-Day Pheasant Season

An army of hunters were also searching the fields and pastures for the elusive pheasants during the two-day open season on cocks, October 21 and 22. Hunters found pheasants difficult to locate and many spent two days in a vain effort to get even a shot. According to local report, only two or three hunters were able to get the bag limit of three, although the birds were previously reported fairly numerous. This was the first open season permitted by the game department since the birds were planted in the valley several years ago.

According to reports from Roswell in Chaves county forty pheasants were killed in that area during the two-day season. Hunters in Chaves county were asked to report the numbered secured at Roswell, so that a tab might be kept on the number of birds slaughtered.

Among the hunters who have purchased big game licenses here during the present year are: G. W. Lewis, Ray Bartlett, R. W. Dunn, Bob Blair, Perl Johnson, Dan Watson, F. E. Local Ginnings

The cotton movement has been fairly heavy the past week despite the inclement weather and a cold north wind, which swept the valley since yesterday. Six gins of the district have turned out 762 bales since the last report for a total of 2,057 bales for the season. At the corresponding period of last year the district had ginned 7,411 bales. The ginnings are divided as follows:

Lake Arthur gin	112
Cottonwood gin	469
Association gin, Espuella	366
Farmers gin, Artesia	413
Association gin, Artesia	424
Association gin, Atoka	273
Total	2,057

TO FERRET OUT GRAFT

WASHINGTON—WPA set out Tuesday with a squad of its own slueths—known as "W-men"—in an effort to track down work relief grafters.

"Our job is to keep graft out of the program and we are going to do it," said Dallas Dort, head of the Works Progress Administration, Division of Investigation, in announcing the appointment of fifty "special field agents."

These new federal agents, working out of Washington and thirteen regional offices, will operate both independently and in cooperation with other government agencies, notably the Secret Service.
