DARLING QUILTS AS BIOLOGICAL SURVEY CHIEF

WASHINGTON—Resignation of J. N. "Ding" Darling, chief of the Bureau of Biological Survey, effective November 15th, was announced Monday by the Agriculture Department.

18,000 lbs. Gramma Grass Harvested In Curry County

Curry county wasn't out where the dust bowl begins, after all. Record production of crops has been reported on farm after farm, and the county has contributed a great deal to replanting of grass areas of sections damaged by the dust storms of the past spring.

The contribution of this county to such damaged areas included more than 18,000 pounds of blue gramma grass seed, taken from the northwest part of the county by the soil conservation service of the United States Department of Agriculture, according to information furnished in a chamber of commerce inquiry, by James E. Smith, assistant agronomist of the Dalhart station of that service.

The seed is to be used principally on demonstration projects in charge of the soil conservation service throughout the southern plains. Probably none will be available, it was stated, for cooperative plantings on private lands, nor for sale.

No value was set on the seed, Mr. Smith explaining: "The value of this seed is great, but cannot be priced in dollars and cents since no comparative prices are at hand and since we do not know exactly how many acres of land may be planted with a given amount of seed."

The seed was harvested with a large rotor type wheel with fine teeth, which took the seed pods without cutting the grass itself. The pods as taken from the stalk fell onto a canvas which was emptied at intervals. Payment was made on the basis of an agreed price per acre for the seed.

While no extensive records could be located of re-seeding of land in this county of blue gramma, reports were found of successful re-seeding in the Fort Sumner section on lands used for ordinary farming and then turned back to grass.

Should the experiment with this seed on the plains country prove successful, certain areas of eastern New Mexico may be a principal seed producer.—Curry County Times.

Prudent Bees Store Bread For Use In The Winter Season

Surplus pollen is an asset—not a liability—for overwintering bees. Recent tests by the entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture disprove the old ideas that careful bees collect pollen only in the proper amounts for present needs and that any surplus of this "bee bread" in the fall is the result of mistaken zeal and at the end of the active season should be removed from the cells. Colonies with plenty of pollen when winter comes, the tests showed, are much stronger in the spring than those without a good reserve.

Although sugar sirup and the extracted honey may take the place of straight honey in the comb as bee feed, no satisfactory substitute for pollen essential for brood rearing has yet been found. Some unusually prudent bees may put away large supplies of pollen, often covering it with honey and sealing the cells to prevent drying or mold attack. Putting some of this reserve within easy reach of bees in colonies without pollen stores strengthens the colonies as a whole.

MAYTAG WANTS DONATION RETURNED

Because, it is charged, the Southwestern Presbyterian Sanitarium induced F. L. Maytag, Newton, Iowa, capitalist and washing machine manufacturer, to make a gift of $150,000 through "fraud, misrepresentation and concealment," Maytag has asked return of the money with interest, in a suit filed last Friday in U. S. district court.

Maytag alleges in the suit that the gift was to be used to erect and equip a building dedicated to the sole purpose of making scientific investigation and research for the cure and treatment of persons suffering from tuberculosis, but instead, it has been for a general hospital and for surgical work.

The building, known as the Maytag Memorial hospital, is an annex of the Presbyterian Sanitarium.

Cotton and Grade Show Improvement

Grades and ginning preparations have improved steadily for the past month. For the week ending November 7 almost 50 percent of all the cotton classed from the irrigated states was good middling and more than 95 percent was strict middling and above. To November 2, the last date for which figures are available, only 5.3 percent of the cotton classed for the United States as a whole was good middling and above and only 35.2 percent as strict middling and above, while 45.3 percent and 92.5 percent of that classed from the irrigated states had been of these respective grades.

The proportion classed as 1-1/8 inches and longer decreased during the week, but that classed as 1-1/16 inches and longer increased slightly. For the season to date almost 90 percent has been classed as 1-1/16 inches and longer.

NEW MEXICO: A noticeable increase in grades of good middling is shown this week, 33 percent as compared to 29 percent last week, while cotton classed as strict middling and above increased from 90 to 93 percent. No spotted cotton is reported this week.

Cotton classed as 1-1/16 inches and longer decreased slightly this week, 96 percent being reported as compared to 98 percent last week. Lengths of 1-1/8 inches and longer decreased from 29 percent to 13 percent. To date 95 percent has been classed as 1-1/16 inches and longer.

Ginnings from this year's crop prior to November 1 were reported by the census bureau to have totaled 7,749,635 running bales, counting round as half bales and exclusive of linters. Ginnings to that date a year ago were 7,917,671 bales; two years ago, 10,355,031.

The indicated crop this year by states includes: Texas, 3,250,000 bales; New Mexico, 85,000.

Ginning by states included running bales. New Mexico, 29,178; Texas, 1,004,133.

WITHHOLDS COMMENT ON TEXAS' ACTION

Pearce C. Rodey, conservancy district counsel, withheld comment on the action of Texas in asking the supreme court to enjoin New Mexico and the Middle Rio Grande Conservancy district from further diversion or storage of waters of the Rio Grande, until copies of the petition are received in Albuquerque.

Rodey said not enough of the action is known to justify comment, but added he did not believe there is any "infringement of Texas' rights" or depletion of the flow to Elephant Butte.

Carlsbad Kidnap Plot Is Probably School Boy Prank

What turned out to be apparently a school boy prank, sent Eddy county officers out to the edge of Carlsbad Friday night to stand guard over Ruby Frances Beach, 12-year-old girl, who was named as the intended victim of a kidnap gang, in an anonymous note received by her mother late in the afternoon.

The note was delivered to a younger sister, Hazel, 8 years old, late Friday afternoon while the mother was away from home.

Printed on heavy brown paper in evenly lettered but poorly spelled words, the note said the kidnaping would occur between 7:00 and 7:30 Friday night.

Sheriff Dwight Lee and his deputies stood guard at the home most of the evening, but the intended kidnaper failed to make his appearance.

"It's apparently a school boy prank," Sheriff Lee said.

However, the investigation will continue, he said. The girl who received the note said she could recognize the boy who handed it to her, if she saw him again.

Hauptmann Seeks Escape from Chair

WASHINGTON—Attorneys for Bruno Richard Hauptmann branded his New Jersey court trial a "circus" Tuesday in appealing to the supreme court to set aside his conviction of kidnaping and murdering the Lindbergh baby.

Battling to escape the electric chair, the former German machine-gunner, charged deprivation of constitutional rights at the celebrated Flemington trial.

Whether the nine justices of the land's highest tribunal will review the world-famous case may be announced December 23, just in time to give the present occupant of the New Jersey "death house" a welcome or unwanted Christmas present.

Hauptmann's conviction was unanimously affirmed recently by the New Jersey court of errors and appeals.

ONE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

One man was killed and two others were seriously injured when a passenger car collided with a coal truck about four miles east of Capitan Friday night.

Tom Jones, 28, driver of the truck, met instant death in the collision, the officers said.

Ramon Padillo and Nestor Trujillo, passengers in the car involved in the accident, were both seriously injured and were taken to the Fort Stanton marine hospital for treatment. Roy Kirby, said by officers to have been the driver of the car, escaped injury.

GATES PLAYS IN OCCIDENTAL BAND

LOS ANGELES—Playing in the Occidental College band this year is John Gates, Artesia youth, and graduate of the local high school.

The Occidental band this year has the largest membership in its history. It has played for all of the college games this season and will appear next Monday when the Tigers play Whittier College.

Gates plays the clarinet in the band.

Funeral For Auto Accident Victim

Funeral services for Thomas W. Plunkett of Albuquerque were held in Albuquerque yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and rites for Ray Vietch of Las Cruces, who with Plunkett was fatally injured in an automobile accident Saturday night, will be held at Las Cruces at a time not yet decided upon.

Plunkett and Vietch died Monday afternoon in the Presbyterian hospital at Albuquerque within ten minutes of the same time. Plunkett never regained consciousness, having received a head injury. Vietch had suffered a broken pelvis and internal injuries.

A. B. Montgomery of Santa Fe, who was the third passenger in the car which was driven by Plunkett, is well on the way to recovery. He received a broken jaw and bruises. Plunkett was acting state director of the Federal Reemployment Service. He is survived by his widow, the former Lena Monahan, sister of County Clerk Edna Monahan, and a son, Tom Plunkett, Jr., who is a student at the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell.

Vietch was manager of District No. 1 of the reemployment service at Las Cruces. He is survived by his widow, a member of the well-known pioneer Fountain family of Dona Ana county, and several children. He was an overseas war veteran and 40 years of age.

Montgomery is statistical clerk in the reemployment office in Santa Fe.

The three men had been in Datil on official business, and were returning when the accident occurred. Montgomery said the car, going between 50 and 60 miles an hour, struck soft dirt, left the road and turned over several times, on the road near Magdalena.

Farmers Warned About Violating Cotton Contracts

Warnings were mailed from the Eddy county agent's office last week to several farmers who are reported to have violated their contracts with the government in the cotton reduction program.

The use or sale of crops from rented acreage is alleged in violation of the contract agreements. If the farmers do not observe the warning, further contract payments will be stopped and farmers violating the agreement will be required to repay what payments they have received.

The letters were ordered written by W. A. Wunsch, former Eddy county agent, who is now chairman of the state cotton committee.

The modern I. E. S. lamps are ideal for reading, sewing or any other eye tasks which require artificial illumination. Indirect lighting is achieved through the use of a glass reflector which directs the light to the ceiling. Then this same reflector also diffuses the light which is directed downward.

There should be a good general illumination for the whole room as well as a good glareless light for a specific visual task. The I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps eliminate sharp contrasts by throwing light up to the ceiling, where it is re-directed to other parts of the room.

Salt Not Effective In Killing Warbles

Some stockmen have long believed that salt treatment—either dry salt or brine—are effective in killing grubs or warbles in the backs of cattle. But a scientific test of salt applications showed that they were virtually if not entirely ineffective.

J. Stotchik, of the United States Department of Agriculture, tested a strong brine rubbed over the hair of several animals and found that it did not kill grubs. He injected brine into the holes in the hide and the grubs survived. And he rubbed brine repeatedly over the lumps in the back of a steer from which the hair had been clipped. His conclusion was that the frequent brushings were more effective in killing grubs than the brine was. As a result the Bureau of Animal Industry is not recommending the simple salt "cure" for grubs. It is simple enough, but it does not cure.

on or before the 9th day of December, 1935, the date set for the State Engineer to take this application up for final consideration unless protested.

The golden text is: "We that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we should be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life." (II Cor. 5:4).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality." (I Cor. 15:53).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text book: "The finite must yield to the infinite. Advancing to a higher plane of action, thought rises from the material sense to the spiritual, from the scholastic to the inspirational, and from the mortal to the immortal."

Health Column

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

It is estimated that three and a half million people die every year from malaria. The British Empire alone spends over two million dollars a year on quinine to treat patients ill with this disease. Fourteen and a half tons of quinine were used in the outbreak of malaria that occurred in Ceylon just one year ago. Quinine is the drug which is found in "chill tonics" sold under various trade names; that is unless the chill tonic is completely fraudulent. But a doctor's prescription is always better because the patient is then sure not only that he is getting the right amount of quinine but also that he is getting it at the right time. It is most important that the quinine reach the blood stream at the right moment if it is to be effective. Moreover the German chemists have recently discovered two new drugs which some doctors prefer to quinine.

In New Mexico at present few people have malaria badly enough to cause death but blood studies among school children show a high infection rate in some parts of the state. This means loss of health if not of life. And there is room in the Rio Grande valley for a considerable spread of the disease. On November first there were 800 men employed by the WPA working under the direction of engineers of the United States Public Health Service and the State Bureau of Public Health on drainage projects for the control of mosquitoes that are liable to carry malaria to man.

NORRIS NOT CANDIDATE

SALT LAKE CITY—George W. Norris, veteran insurgent republican, announced at Salt Lake City, Utah, Friday he is not a candidate for a fifth term in the United States Senate.

"I am getting old, and younger men can and should carry on the work which I have tried to do during my years as a senator," he told an interviewer during a brief break in a railroad journey to Compton, California, to visit a daughter. Mrs. Norris is accompanying him.

"But a campaign would be a small disturbance compared to the trouble by not being a candidate has cost me," added the Nebraskan. "I have received hundreds of letters from all parts of the United States urging me to run next year."

Gardens Should Be Plowed Now

The home garden is the most intensive and expensive part of the farm and, when properly handled, the most profitable, says A. B. Fite of the New Mexico State College. However, there are some essentials to the production of good yields of quality vegetables and if some of these are neglected, the results may be disappointing.

One of the first essentials to success is a good mellow soil, rich in plant food and humus. The garden plot should be manured, plowed, and irrigated in the fall. This is very important as manure applied in the spring does not have time to decay and is of practically no value. For best results, it should be irrigated and plowed a second time during the winter to mix the manure with the soil and hasten decomposition, as dry manure does not decompose. This treatment will also turn under and decompose other vegetable matter and destroy insects by exposing them to winter weather. Heavy soils are made more friable by the freezing and thawing that follows winter plowing and irrigation and more plant food is made available.

Another advantage in the above treatment is the ease with which the land may be prepared for plowing in the spring. It is quite difficult to pulverize thoroughly and prepare a seed bed on land that has stood dry, hard and dead through winter. Poorly prepared seedbeds result in poor stands and low yields of poor quality vegetables. The garden that is fertilized and deeply plowed in the fall will also retain more moisture from the winter snows and rains than unplowed land.

MAY CUT DOWN 1936 PRODUCTION OF BEANS

The Agricultural Department recommended last Friday, a 15 per cent reduction in next year's bean acreage.

The supply of dry edible beans will be half a million bags above normal this year, it was said. The increased production took place principally on pea bean acreage in Michigan and pinto bean acreage in Colorado and New Mexico. The supply was reported the largest in five years.

High prices of meat may cause people to eat more beans, the report said, thus cutting down the surplus.

Magnolia Stations Offer Winter-Proof Service Here Again

DALLAS, Texas—Profiting from the experience of large fleet operators, automobile owners are rapidly learning that a semi-annual check-up of their cars is the best insurance that they can buy against cold weather damage and expense, Fred M. Lege, Jr., vice-president, said in announcing the annual "Winter-Proof" campaign of the Magnolia Petroleum Company.

"Thrifty Americans have learned that it is good business to carry insurance that protects them against damage to their persons and their homes," Mr. Lege said. "They insure their automobiles against fire and theft, and often against damage from accident—and now they realize that it is equally as essential to 'insure' an automobile against the ravages of weather and wear by protecting the engine, the body, the cooling system and other vital parts by means of two semi-annual check-ups—one in the spring and one in the fall.

"In response to this demand for motor vehicle protection, Magnolia dealers and stations provide what has become popularly known as 'Winter-Proof' service. This service, originated by Magnolia several years ago, has been growing in favor each fall as car owners learn that it is cheaper to 'insure' than to wait and pay a repair bill later.

Texas Wins Right of Water Hearing

WASHINGTON—The state of Texas won Monday in the supreme court in its effort to obtain a hearing on its complaint that New Mexico and her citizens are diverting more water from the Rio Grande than they are entitled to under interstate agreements.

Texas wants the court to enjoin upriver neighbors from taking more water from the Rio Grande and its tributaries than allotted under the agreement of 1929 between Texas, New Mexico and Colorado, and the international treaty between the United States and Mexico in 1906.

The treaty resulted in erection of the Elephant Butte dam, completed in 1915 by the federal government at a cost of $15,000,000. This was intended to assure sufficient water for 85,000 acres of irrigated lands in Texas along the river and above Fort Quitman, a similar large tract in New Mexico below the dam, and lands in Mexico on the Juarez valley.

Texas claimed erection of numerous permanent diversion dams and canals, including the El Vado reservoir on the Rio Chama, above the Elephant Butte dam was threatening the value of the latter.

Sipped Through Gold Straw

MARSHALL TALKS ON EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS

As part of the observance of the American Education Week, C. D. Marshall, Artesia high school principal, talked on modern education problems with reference to aiding the high school student, before the Artesia Rotary club Tuesday. He said there were two types of training offered the high school student, one a general training to fit the student for college or university, the other was on the order of vocational training to aid the student, who will soon take up a vocation. While some progress has been made toward vocational training, the equipment of the average high school is too limited to be of material benefit. Some progress has been made toward extending this benefit, he said.

Visitors at the club luncheon Tuesday were: H. E. Samson, John Tweedy, Howard Glover of Roswell and J. R. Ogden of Carlsbad.

Stone Dog That Howled

The Dog river is a short distance from Beirut, Syria. The name is derived from the great stone dog, or perhaps Assyrian bull, that once stood on the height overlooking the mouth of the river and the sea. The dog's head was hollow and when the wind blew from a certain direction the dog used to emit howls to the terror of the surrounding population. The most valiant of these at length summoned up enough courage to push the gigantic dog over the edge of the cliff into the sea, where it is visible at low tide.

Indians and Mound Builders

The old theory that the mound builders were a distinct race who had lived from remote antiquity in the regions of the mounds and were eventually exterminated by the nomadic hordes coming from the northward, represented today by the present Indians, is no longer accepted by the principal American ethnologists who hold that the Indians are the descendants of the mound builders.

Heather, Shamrock Grow in U. S.

Both Scottish heather and Irish shamrock will grow in this country. In Nantucket are downs in the interior of the island covered with heather, and moist regions in America furnish the right habitat for the shamrock. The English hawthorn flourishes here; and the Parisian plane tree, which is a kind of sycamore.

Martin Confesses

two and a half miles west of Tinnie, with the finding of the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Shaffer and their nine year old son. The triple slaying, which occurred sometime Saturday, is believed to have been committed by Mrs. Shaffer's seventeen year old nephew, Hollis Martin, formerly of Altus, Oklahoma. Martin was missing when a search for the slayer was started, also a 1935 model Chevrolet, belonging to Shaffer. Robbery was the only motive assigned for the killing.

The murder is believed to have been committed between 5:00 and 6:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon, but was not discovered until Sunday morning about 8:00 o'clock when Mrs. Shaffer's brother found the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer lying about thirty feet from the house, between the house and the barn. Evidently the slayer stood behind the back screen door and fired through the screen. Two bullets from a 30-30 rifle pierced the body of Shaffer and Mrs. Shaffer was evidently shot as she stood over the body of her husband. The killer then went to the bedroom where the nine year old son was slain with a hatchet, beating the boy's brains out with several blows.

The Shaffer family was well-known in Eddy county. They lived at Lakewood for several years, where Mr. Shaffer operated a farm. A brother, Ralph Shaffer, driver of a school bus from the Oilfield, was also well known here.

A Roswell ambulance, bearing the three bodies to Carlsbad, stopped here briefly Sunday afternoon.

It has been reported to the county cotton committee that some cotton producers have been receiving direct benefit by the use and sale of crops on rented acres. All cotton producers are being warned against such use of the rented acreage as it is a violation of the terms of your cotton contract. All producers were informed at the beginning of the season that they would be penalized if they had violated the terms of their contract by use of rented acreage under the judgment of the local or county committeeman.

Annual Red Cross Roll Call Nov. 18-28

North Eddy county citizens will be asked to answer the annual Red Cross roll call this year from November 18th to the 28th. Mrs. W. B. McCrory, chairman of the Red Cross drive, has announced that a house-to-house canvass will be made here during these dates in addition to a booth, which will be maintained in the post office lobby.

Those who are familiar with the services of the Red Cross in ministering to the unfortunate where a catastrophe or disaster has occurred, will need no explanation as to the workings of this organization, however, the Red Cross has broadened its service to humanity and you may be interested to learn of some of the things the Red Cross will undertake in the next few months or some of its accomplishments in the past.

There are now 3,711 Red Cross chapters in the United States and 9,112 branches. Ray Bartlett is chairman of the local chapter, which serves north Eddy county. Last year the Red Cross spent $5,600,000 in relieving distress where major or minor disasters occurred. In our own state at Las Cruces, a total of $24,000 was spent in relieving the flood sufferers of that section.

This year the Red Cross will establish emergency stations in the principal cities along the major highways. A service station in or near the city limits will be selected in each town or city; an emergency kit will be left with the station to care for accident victims and the attendant of the station trained by a Red Cross worker to give first aid until the services of a physician can be secured. This service will be available in Artesia as soon as it can be established by a Red Cross representative.

In addition the Red Cross has supplied expense money for an operation at El Paso on a baby of Mrs. Carl Greer of Hope, to correct its hair lip. The expense thus far has been $53.00, with the physician donating his services. The local Red Cross is also prepared to care for emergency maternity cases, the same plan will be used here as has been adopted in Carlsbad.

The local chapter has available $50.00 for emergency tonsillectomy operations among the needy local school children.
