Salvation Army Officials Visit In Artesia On 24th

Officials of the Salvation Army, headed by Commissioner Ormes, touring Arizona, New Mexico, stopped here for a visit Saturday morning on a trip down the valley.

Tragedy Enacted West Part State

Out of the Cibola National Forest south of Magdalena sheriff's deputies brought Monday the body of Mrs. Robert L. Shreve, 24, found in a shallow grave covered only with rocks.

The woman's body, head almost severed with a knife and a .22 caliber bullet hole in the temple, was found Sunday as authorities checked the weird story of the woman's husband, who staggered into the hunter's camp Saturday night, bleeding from knife wounds in his back.

On the information given by Shreve, Al O. Romero of Hot Springs was arrested Sunday and brought to the jail at Socorro. The sheriff's office said murder charges would be filed against him.

Shreve, recovering in a hospital at Albuquerque, said he and his wife had gone into the mountains with Romero five weeks ago to gather pinon nuts.

Saturday he went to Magdalena to get supplies. When he returned late that day he said Romero attacked him with a knife and then fired at him as he fled.

In his agony, Shreve beseeched the authorities to find his wife. News of the finding of her body was not given the man Monday for fear of the shock that might result. Shreve suffered a deep stab wound in the left side of the back, a long cut across his back, and another on his shoulder.

Ellis Wiltbank, associated with the national park service, spent several days in Eddy county the past week making a range survey of the county.

First Casualty of Hunting Season

New Mexico's big game season claimed its first victim Sunday when Malcolm Jones of San Bernardino, California, was accidentally shot and killed in the mountains west of Socorro while deer hunting.

Fellow hunters reported Jones and his half brother, J. P. Howard of Albuquerque were hiking down a mountainside in the Waters canyon county sixteen miles west of Socorro when Jones dropped, fatally wounded. A high powered rifle bullet pierced his head.

Howard said an unidentified hunter ran to the fallen man's side, then suddenly wheeled and fled while Howard called to him to stop.

An unverified report from Datil said a hunter had been killed in the remote and inaccessible country in that section. The report came from hunters by the "grapevine" method and there was no means of verifying it.

SEVERAL NOT REGISTERED

Numerous inquiries received at this office recently by persons who want to vote reveals there are several names missing from the registration lists. While it might be possible that some names could have been omitted in copying from the registration books, it is likely the missing names were never registered.

Rumors of Cloudercroft Boy Killed By Deer Hunters Proves False

A story of another deer hunting tragedy circulated on the streets Tuesday, proved false, an investigation by an Advocate representative revealed. A truck driver coming in from Cloudercroft early yesterday morning said that two boys were out near Cloudercroft and were looking at a bunch of deer. While one boy looked he was fatally shot and cries of his companion failed to bring help from the unfortunate hunter after the hunter had seen what he had done. This story was evidently confused with a similar story which occurred near Socorro earlier in the week.

Mrs. Glenn O'Bannon, Mrs. Buster Knowles, Mrs. Bill Zimmerman and Mrs. John Knowles were among those in Roswell Tuesday.

ELECTION RETURNS

Complete election returns of the county, state and nation will be available on the evening of November 3rd at The Advocate office. We shall appreciate the cooperation of every election official in north Eddy county in assisting us in getting the returns.

County and state returns will be slower this year due to the fact that fewer election officials are provided under the law.

Arrangements have been completed to use a Philco radio through the courtesy of the Mann Drug Co. If available, loud speaker equipment may be used in connection with local and national broadcasts.

Voters Urged To Vote Early Nov. 3

Eddy county voters are urged to vote early next Tuesday for two reasons. One is that there are fewer election officials this year, and another is that prospects are good for a heavy vote if the total county registration is any indication of the general interest in the coming general election. So vote as early as possible. Don't take chances of having to stand in line, regardless of what precinct you vote in. Tuesday's ballot is a complicated one. Some will have to have help in marking their ballots, which will take time. If you can be on hand at the opening of the polls Tuesday morning, do so. Don't wait until the last hour to cast your ballot unless you want to run the risk of not voting.

Twenty-one precincts in Eddy county, including eight in Carlsbad and three here, registered a total of 8,593, the largest potential vote in the history of the county. Election officials estimate at least seventy per cent of the registered voters will go to the polls Tuesday. In 1934 the county's registration totaled over 7,100, fifty-five per cent of which voted. Additional interest created because of a presidential election is expected to bring out fifteen per cent more or according to calculation a total of 6,015 voters.

Because there are fewer election officials and counting clerks, returns will necessarily be slow, not only here but in every part of the state.

Big Increase In Registration Seen In All Sections

WASHINGTON—An analysis of the large registration increases being reported in virtually every section indicated Saturday a possible record presidential vote of about 45,473,000. The 1932 vote was slightly below 40,000,000.

Eligible voters may approximate 55,427,000. A comparison of the equivalent total four years ago with the actual vote cast showed from fifteen to twenty per cent of those qualified did not vote. In some states of the normally democratic south the figure ran as high as fifty per cent. This was considered in the analysis.

States primarily used as a basis for the compilation were California, Montana, New Jersey, Rhode Island, New York, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Georgia, Maryland, Nevada, and Washington. These are among the few reporting official lists before the election. In each a record registration has taken place, averaging a sixteen per cent increase to date.

The states of President Roosevelt and Governor Landon are among the many where record votes appear indicated. As against less than 4,754,000 in 1932, the New York total may run over 5,350,000. Some Kansas officials have estimated an 800,000 total there this year; but application of the national averages to that state—where interests is reported abnormally high—raised it to a possible 892,000. The last presidential vote in Kansas was 791,978.

DEMO COMMITTEE WOMAN SPEAKS HERE

Mrs. Florence Rogers of Dallas, Texas, democratic national committeewoman, spoke at the Woman's club Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Rogers, a talented speaker, urged that democratic women be not misguided by radio propaganda and that every woman go to the polls November 3 and cast her vote.

Rural Schools Of N. M. Handicapped Says Supt. Rodgers

Declares Term of County Superintendent Is Too Short; McCollum Says Sales Tax Not Enough Added Revenue.

ALBUQUERQUE — Attacking the limitation of county school superintendents' terms as "perhaps the greatest factor involved in the problem of educational inequality," H. R. Rodgers, state superintendent of public instruction, declared yesterday "its correction lies entirely with the people of the state."

The rural school pupil, said Mr. Rodgers in an address prepared for delivery before the New Mexico Educational Association, is "getting not nearly so much" educational opportunity "as we know to be his just heritage."

He listed six handicaps of the rural school system, ending with the problem of administration. He pointed out that urban schools are governed by an elective board which selects a superintendent whose term is indefinite, and asked:

"But what of our county school superintendent?"

He answered himself by explaining that these officials must undertake the expense of a political campaign and that they are allowed to serve a maximum of "but two terms of four years." The effect of this practice, he said, is a recurrent interruption of educational progress.

"This is an evil which no amount of money can correct," he declared, "and which no department of education can remove. Its correction lies entirely with the people."

The background of present efforts to equalize schooling opportunities in rural and urban areas was laid, he said, with adoption of the theory that "the responsibility of educating the child rests with the state."

"The problem of rural education in New Mexico is the most important one in the state's educational program," he asserted.

The other primary inequalities he listed were those of financial assistance, school term length, buildings and equipment, type of teacher and supervision.

McCollum Cites Needs

A three-fold legislative program calling for adequate funds, preservation of district charge levies and an adequate teacher retirement system in public schools of the state was presented to the educational council of the New Mexico Educational Association yesterday by J. R. McCollum, its president.

President McCollum also touched on four other suggestions for the guidance of the legislative committee, including certification of teachers, improvement of public health service, appointment and tenure of state employees and a study of the financial status of institutions of higher learning.

McCollum struck an optimistic note as he said:

"It is quite apparent that the members of the next legislature, regardless of their political affiliation, will give most careful consideration to the problem of adequate educational opportunity for all children."

But he quickly launched into a discussion of "adequate funds," citing figures to dispel a "fallacy" quite generally believed that the two per cent sales tax solved the problem of school support.

"While it is true that the schools cannot continue without the sales tax support, it is also true that it has not solved the problem and is yet far below a complete replacement of the $3,000,000 annual loss due to the twenty-million limitation."

New Chevrolets will be on display November 7th and new Buicks are expected to be on display November 10th. Manager Clyde Guy, who is recuperating from an operation, will likely be able to be on duty about Saturday.

Joe Alvarado returned Monday from a two-day hunt south of Queen. Due to the heavy fog he was not successful in getting a deer.

Oil Allowable Boost For Oct. Goes To Lea Co.

The New Mexico oil allowable for the last period of October from October 15th to 31st was boosted 1,800 barrels daily for a new total of 83,000 barrels daily, the increase going to Lea county together with a cut of 850 barrels daily from the local area. Allowable of the state for the first half of October was 81,200 barrels, while the allowable for the Artesia field was 3,500 barrels. Under the present schedule Artesia is permitted to produce 2,650 barrels daily, a decrease of 850 barrels daily. The top allowable of Lea county has been boosted to 101 barrels per well for a new county total of 79,205 barrels.

M. W. Evans of El Paso, Texas, and his brother-in-law, O. K. Hearste of Pasadena, California, were visiting friends and attending to business matters here yesterday. Mr. Evans is a former resident of Artesia.

Deer Hunters Are Late In Returning

Deer hunters are not returning from the hills this season as early as last and fewer hunters have returned with their buck. Cold, foggy weather has been a considerable drawback in many sections, but one party of hunters returning from the hills Tuesday said the deer were not as numerous as usual.

Three hunters were fined in Roswell the first of the week for license violations and M. Stevenson, game warden, warned other out-of-state hunters holding state licenses they would be fined if caught.

Among the successful hunters to report in the first of the week were: Boone Barnett, Miss Ruth Mahan of the Cottonwood, V. D. Bolton and Ray Bartlett.

Only five deer carcasses have been stored at the warehouse of the Southwestern Public Service Co., here, it was reported yesterday afternoon. Several out-of-town and out-of-state hunters however have passed through here with their bucks. Two Hobbs hunters, C. L. Reese and Dr. W. A. Sableman, former Artesia resident, shot down two nice bucks, exhibited on the streets yesterday.

Later reports indicate several successful hunters came out of the hills yesterday or are coming out today. Cottonwood hunters were unusually successful. Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Howard, Truman Howard, I. H. Burgess and Everett O'Bannon each secured a buck and five bucks were reported killed in the party of Jess Funk, J. A. Reed and others. Dr. H. A. Stroup and son Howard were also among the lucky hunters.

Upward Business Trend Is Noted

WASHINGTON—The federal reserve board reported Tuesday many gauges of business activity pointed upward during September and October.

Volume of industrial production was maintained in September and factory employment increased seasonally, the board said, adding retail commodity distribution rose and commercial loans of city banks showed further growth.

September steel output continued at about the August pace, it was said, and in the first three weeks of this month activity rose to a higher level than at any time since 1930.

Production of lumber, cement and coal climbed higher in September, and activity was quickened at meat packing establishments and cotton and silk textile factories.

There was little change in production at woolen mills, but employment in these establishments dropped off.

Factory employment generally showed a seasonal increase, the board reported, "and payrolls were maintained at the August level."

Crop conditions were said to have "improved somewhat" during September. Sales by department and variety stores and mail order houses moved upward. Volume of freight carried by railroads increased, reflecting larger shipments of coal, ore, and miscellaneous freight.

OTIS FARMER DIES

John M. Thacker, 54 years old, farmer living in the Otis district, succumbed to a lingering illness yesterday morning in a Carlsbad hospital.

America Urged To Carry Peace To The World

Makes Speech In Shadow of Statue of Liberty; Pres. of France Takes Part In Program Over Short Wave Radio.

NEW YORK—Franklin Roosevelt stood yesterday in the shadow of the Statue of Liberty and, as president instead of as candidate, dedicated the nation "to carry forward American freedom and American peace."

Soon afterward, speaking to thousands who live in the crowded lower east side of Manhattan, he picked up the political banner which he had dropped for the moment and promised a "sound housing policy" if the New Deal is returned to office.

From a tremendous morning ovation on a motor tour of three New York boroughs, the president rode by ferry to tiny Bedloe's Island in New York harbor to speak during ceremonies commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the towering Goddess of Liberty.

There were Franco-American ceremonies because half a century ago the people of France gave the world-renowned statue to America as a symbol of international friendship and good will.

President Lebrun of France took part by short wave radio while his ambassador to Washington, Andre de Laboulaye, represented France in person. The statue was the vision originally of the ambassador's grandfather.

Yesterday, Mr. Roosevelt said, the symbolism of liberty enlightening the world should be broadened.

"To the message of liberty which America sends to all the world," he said, "must be added her message of peace."

A moment later he added: "We do only a small part of our duty to America when we glory in the great past. Patriotism out of step with the patriots."

"For each generation the more patriotic part is to carry forward American freedom and American peace by making them living facts in a living present."

"To that we can, we do, rededicate ourselves."

A twenty-one gun presidential salute roared out across the harbor from the cruiser Indianapolis, whose sailors were drawn up at attention along the rails, as the president approached Bedloe's Island.

A daughter was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. I. Morrison of Artesia.

3 Dist. Grazing Advisors Are To Be Chosen Today

At the district court room in the court house at Roswell today the election of three district advisors for grazing district No. 6 will be held.

The meeting will be called to order at 10:00 a. m., for the purpose of explaining the election procedure.

A part of the meeting in the forenoon will be devoted to hearing suggestions and recommendations as to the best manner in which to use our range improvement monies. These funds are produced by a return to the district of twenty-five per cent of the grazing fees collected, and are now available in some districts. A discussion and the development of a tentative plan for the best use of these funds for range improvements should be very much the interest of everyone.

In connection with the work the boards have already done this year in recommending the issuance of temporary allotment licenses, the records show that there has been a ninety per cent acceptance on the part of applicants; ten per cent appealed, of which two-thirds are licensees asking for additional range. Forty-five per cent of all licenses issued were to owners of less than 100 cattle units; fifty-eight per cent to owners of less than 200 cattle units, and the owners of over 1,000 cattle units represent six per cent of the licensees.

APARTMENT TO BE ERECTED

Material is being moved from Red Bluff, Texas, for the erection of an apartment house at the corner of 8th and Main by Vernon Sullivan.

AFTER NOVEMBER 3rd

After November 3rd, you won't have to listen to any more political speeches, nor hear any more political discussions for another four years so far as presidential elections go. Methods of campaigning have changed very little for the last 150 years and we still hear those favorite expressions, "We point with pride," and "we view with alarm," sounded by opposite political camps.

Political campaigns may be tiresome to some and revolting to others, but the campaigns afford an opportunity for the average citizen to give vent to his feelings and "get the steam off his chest." We still prefer the political arena to the battlefield, such as parts of Europe are preparing today, because a citizen can manage to live through an election, whereas not every soldier marching into battle lives to tell the tale.

And just remember this. You may think our politics are rotten, but it is part of the greatest government in the world, where its people enjoy the highest standard of living in the world and where you are at least privileged to express your opinion.

The party in power, which in our case has been the democrats, has had to bear the brunt of a vicious attack. Regardless of the record of the present national administration, its acts would have been criticized, otherwise the opposing party would have been without an issue to have made the campaign.

Politics can be as clean or as dirty as the voters will permit. You, as a reader of this newspaper, may not believe this statement, but let the voters demand clean politics and see how quick the mud slingers pipe down. The politicians play dirty politics because they think this sort of politics may get them votes. Quite naturally if you "wipe your hands" of the whole affair and swear you won't vote, this attitude isn't going to help matters much. Crooked politics sometimes thrives on indifference.

VOTE!!!

The greatest possession of a free people is the ballot—the right to vote. It is a defender of our liberties and a weapon against injustice.

Yet that invaluable heritage is not prized by millions of otherwise good citizens. Proof of this statement can be found in undeniable statistics. In most elections, less than half of the persons who are entitled to vote do so. It is exceptional when an election brings to the voting booths more than fifty per cent of enfranchised citizens.

One result is that public officials are elected by minorities—the vote of the majority is silent. Another, and worse result, is a flagging of interest by the people in a thing which vitally affects us all—our government.

This year, there are great issues before us. No matter where we may stand, it is our duty as well as our privilege to mark an X opposite names of our choice on the ballot. Only by doing that, can we have popular government.

In Germany the right to vote has been virtually abrogated—at the last election citizens had a choice of endorsing Hitler or of leaving the ballot blank, there being no opponent. That is true of Italy, of Russia, or Greece, of a dozen other powers. And here in America, where we still have that right which preserves our freedom, half of us don't trouble to exercise it.

So—vote on November 3. Vote for Roosevelt, Landon, Lemke, Thomas—whichever you believe is the best man for president. Do the same for other offices. It is your inalienable right to vote for whom-ever you please. And only by voting on the men and issues of the time, can that right be preserved.

THE POLITICAL MOSES

The modern day is not without its Moses. Messrs. Caswell Neal, Jim McCall, Cis Stewart and Company as brains of the fusion committee, have gallantly volunteered to save Eddy county from the court house despots and will lead the voters to the promised land of pure snow white politics.

In the meantime the boys are having a dirty job of it. You can't sling gobs and gobs of political mud without getting a little dirty. While it may be a little dry politically in this section, it certainly is politically wet in the lower end of the county, where tons of mud and a few rocks have been slung at anybody calling himself a democrat.

Voters here, of course, are not aware of all the mean things the dirty democrats have been up to and in case you don't know it, Mr. Neal says the dirty crooks have been stealing water from the Pecos river. He says the only way we can stop the theft is to elect the republican and fusion ticket. We might add if Tingley and the democrats are going to continue to steal Pecos river water, let's see if we can't slip a few mosquitoes in the water that is taken.

HALLOWEEN

Don't mar the spirit of Hallowe'en this year by the destruction of property. It may give you a sort of an insane pleasure to tear up a farm wagon and put it on top of a three story building, but there are lots of things you can have more fun out of with less work. Even in the most destructive Hallowe'en seasons during the past years, the fun you have thought you had lacked a whole lot of paying for the property you tore up.

Littering streets, alleys and roads with barrels, buckets, old cart wheels, is unsightly as well as dangerous. Somebody has to clean the mess up. Don't do it if you don't want to run afoul of the law. Officers have warned they will not permit destruction of property this Hallowe'en and every officer in the city will be on the job Hallowe'en night.

LAKE WORK TO START SOON

Work on the Bottomless Lakes State Park is expected to be resumed soon. A CCC camp is being transferred from Grand Junction, Colorado, to Roswell and the camp enrollees will arrive in Roswell about November 2nd.

140,000th VISITOR

The 140,000th visitor to the Carlsbad Caverns in 1936 passed through the Caverns Sunday. The estimate of Col. Thomas Boles that 150,000 people will visit the Caverns this year will likely be more than fulfilled.

Chislings

Your husband may be a devil with a forked tail and all that, but if he has horns, you had better keep him out of the hills until after the deer season is over.

If you can go to bed at 9:00 on Christmas Eve night, it's a sign you have gone beyond the two score and ten years.

The republicans are a doubtful lot. Most of their children won't even look for a Santa Claus next Christmas.

A bear hunting story is that a local girl tackled a bear during the bear season and hugged him to death.

Nobody knows exactly what heaven is like, but they say it's where nobody scolds.

A lady looked all over town the other day to find sun flower seeds for her parrot, but was unsuccessful. She was told the GOP's had previously bought all the Kansas state flower seeds. Another example of republican monopoly.

And say, outside of parrot feed, "who in the hell can eat sun flowers"?

The lady was waiting to buy a ticket at the pictures when a stranger elbowed his way past her. She glared at him, feeling it was done intentionally.

"Well," he growled, "don't eat me up."

"You are in no danger," was the reply, "I am a Jewess."

One of the questions in the science quiz was, "Define a bolt and nut, and explain the difference, if any." Johnny got an "A" on this: "A bolt is a thing like a stick of hard metal such as iron with a square bunch on one end and a lot of scratching wound around the other end. A nut is similar to the bolt only just the opposite, being a hole in a little chunk of iron sawed off short, with wrinkles around the inside of the hole."

A man from New York was peering into the depths of the Grand Canyon.

"Do you know," asked the guide, "that it took millions of years for this great abyss to be carved out?"

The man from New York was tremendously impressed. "You don't tell me," he commented. "Why, I didn't know it was a government job."

Ogden and Wunsch Talk New Program

The state committee of the Agricultural Conservation program, consisting of J. L. Esslinger, J. R. Ogden and J. M. Edwards, and other representatives, including W. A. Wunsch of the New Mexico State College, met with representatives from other states in the western region at Fort Collins, Colorado, on October 19th, where proposed plans for the 1937 agricultural conservation program were discussed.

Recommendations and suggestions in regard to the 1937 program were secured from committeemen and producers in every county in the state and presented at the meeting.

According to present plans, the state programs will be developed immediately so that the general 1937 program can be announced early in December. Every effort will be made to plan the program to meet the suggestions of the producers from the various states. In announcing the program early in the season, all producers will be able to plan their farm and range program so that they can meet the requirements of conservation practices.

Particular stress was placed on planning the 1937 program so that the small intensive tracts of farm lands could be included under conserving plans. Consideration was also given to orchard and truck crop areas. Under the range program, it is planned to include such practices as reseeding and deferred rotation grazing.

The 127th to be cleaned up for this institution and received free a hair cut, Fitch shampoo and a Wild Root tonic.

OIL-PLATING DONE HERE

(BUT BE SURE YOU READ ALL THE OTHER WINTER OIL ADS, TOO)

You will find most of the emphasis these days, on oil that flows freely.

Well and good. You SHOULD use your correct Winter grade, but... You can see that the more freely any oil flows, the more freely it FLOWS DOWN OFF the pistons, cylinders, and other parts when you stop.

Then in starting up cold, where is mere free-flowing oil?

It is waiting to be pumped up on the job. And even in much warmer weather than this—according to engineering opinion—those oil-starved waits can cost you more engine wear than all the rest of your driving!

But this Winter with free-flowing Germ Processed oil, you can have your engine Oil-Plated! ... much more than a change to OUR Conoco Germ Processed oil... really a change to unbroken Winter lubrication for YOUR engine. It may stand cold for hours—days—weeks. Yet the slippery Oil-Plating formed only by patented Germ Processed oil, will always be UP IN ADVANCE. Pistons slip easy. Starter spins. Oil-Plated engine obliges—and lives the good life, on a stingy diet of Conoco Germ Processed oil. Continental Oil Company

Tingley Says 1937 Advertising Program Will Be Ready In January

Consumption of Cotton Increases

The price of middling spot cotton in the ten markets was lower in August than in July, the highest price for the month being 11.45 cents on August 1 and the lowest 11.45 cents on August 20. The average for the month was 11.45 cents. From the first to the last of September prices showed a tendency but since then have tended to decline. The estimates placed in the carry-over of American cotton for August 1 at less than 7,000 bales against 9,009,000 bales on the corresponding date of the year and an average of 6,000 bales for the ten years 1924 to 1932-33. The indicated carry-over of American cotton for the 1937 season is roughly 18,100,000 bales. This is about 1,500,000 bales less than last season's supply, the smallest supply since 1924-25, a 13 per cent less than the average supply of 20,437,000 bales for the ten years from 1923-24 to 1932-33. The New York Cotton Exchange service places the world consumption of all growths of cotton in the season just passed at 22,900 bales. This is an increase of nearly ten per cent over last season's consumption. An increase in the world consumption of American cotton of 1,333,000 bales and in foreign cotton of 1,000 bales makes up the increase in world consumption. World consumption of American cotton in the past season is estimated at 12,000 bales. A very high degree of activity is expected to feature the domestic textile industry. During the past and in the 1935-36 season consumption of American cotton in the United States was considerably more than in the corresponding year a year earlier. However, reports indicate the probability that the consumption of American cotton in foreign countries during recent months has been running considerably below the first half of the 1935-36 season. Domestic cotton consumption expected or continues at its present level, it will serve as an important offset to any declines that may take place in the consumption of American cotton.

Governor Clyde Tingley, at a political meeting at Raton Monday night, announced that the 1937 advertising campaign for New Mexico is being worked out and will be ready to start in January. "Our 1936 advertising program has been so successful," said the governor, "that we do not want to lose a single day in making preparations to attract additional hundreds of thousands of tourists to New Mexico next year." "A fifty thousand dollar program has given us more than a fifty million dollar business. You people here in this gateway to the greatest tourist area in the west know what the tourist business means to New Mexico. It is our biggest asset and we must take full advantage of our resources by making New Mexico known as the greatest outdoor playground in the world."

LOCAL CONTRACTORS AWARDED ROSWELL CONTRACTS ON MONDAY

Heflin and Frisch of Artesia were awarded the contract for construction of the three new officers' homes to be built at the New Mexico Military Institute of Roswell when the board of regents of the institute accepted their bid of $45,000 subject to the approval of the PWA administrator for the state. The bid was accepted by the board when they met Monday morning.

Fish Hatchery Has Good Year

The fish hatchery located near Dexter is rounding out a very successful year in the production of warm water fish. With a total of 950,000 fingerling bass, bream, perch and catfish reared and liberated in the fine fishing waters of New Mexico and adjoining states, it seems that the anglers may be looking forward to better days ahead. Many hatcheries would be glad to claim a record equal to that achieved at Dexter. The conditions at the New Mexico hatchery are very favorable for growing bass to a large size in a short period of time. You see them May 1st as tiny specks in the water, congregated in massive schools, and protected by the parent bass. By August 1st you see them again as fish six inches in length, and by the first of November many of them pass the inspection of M. Stevenson, game warden's ryer and find their way to the frying pan. The number of farms in the United States increased 523,702 during a five-year period ending in 1935. Small farms averaging from three to nineteen acres accounted for the biggest portion of the increase.

"TIN CAN" TOURISTS BREAK RECORD IN WEST

DENVER, Colorado—America's "tin can" tourists, greatly glorified in shiny new cars, are traveling western trails again in record numbers. Official figures prove the tourist let-down years from 1930-34 are over, but westerners need to figure to convince them. Roads were comfortably crowded last summer with cars of easterners, northerners and southerners seeking play and frost bite among snow-capped peaks of the Rockies. The National Park Service counted 9,929,432 noses, most of them sunburned, as they entered the 134 national parks and monuments of the nation. The previous peak was 7,675,000 in 1935.

Mountain Sickness

A breath of air at 18,000 feet contains only about half as much oxygen as a breath of air at sea level. That is why the Spanish conquistadores reported from the Andes a dread disease, "soroche," which no physician could cure. That is why in these days of high flying the effect of altitude on health is a matter of very practical interest.

On March 22, 1935, the American members of an international group of scientists sailed from New York to study the effects of high altitude in northern Chile. The scientific findings have not yet been fully analyzed let alone published but one member of the expedition has recorded some of their experiences which are not without interest to us in New Mexico.

Up to a height of 7,000 feet, the altitude that is of Taos or Santa Fe, the scientists did not notice marked effects but after that height was reached a small increase in altitude made a big difference to their comfort. At Calama (7,700 feet) the newcomers did not notice much breathlessness, but at Chucucamata (9,200 feet) breathlessness was "much more marked." However, people can easily get used to such an altitude for Chucucamata is a town of 18,000 population where golf, football, tennis and other sports are commonly enjoyed. In addition to breathlessness newcomers suffer slight headache for a day or two and restlessness at night. "Most of the adjustment in our group was accomplished in less than a week, but we could see further improvement for several weeks. There is a limit to acclimation. The Quilcha mine at 17,400 feet seems to be at that limit. When the miners' camp to 18,500 feet nearer to the workings with persistent headaches and sickness. So now they prefer to some 1,600 feet daily to their. On coming down to sea level there is a sense of well-being "a readiness to sleep twelve on end." The body has to itself all over again to the condition of oxygen plenty.

Brunk's Comedians Will Play In Artesia All Next Week

Fred G. Brunk's Comedians will arrive in Artesia Sunday for a six day engagement. This same company has appeared here before and has played large cities throughout New Mexico for many years and has established a reputation for good, clean, wholesome entertainment that is surpassed by no other show.

The large tent will be located on the usual show lots at rear of the Peoples Mercantile Co., and the opening show will be on Monday night, November 2nd, when the play, "For Crying Out Loud" will be presented. There will be a change of program each night and the show will start promptly at 8:00 p. m.

Above is the Phillips Trio, singers and dancers, who will be featured next week by the Fred G. Brunk's Comedians which will show six nights, beginning Monday in their tent theater on lots at the rear of Peoples Mercantile Co., under the auspices of Woman's club.

Amusement goers who have seen Brunk's show in other towns will be pleased to know that Jackie Phillips, leading man, is still with the show, as is also Ethel Barton and Miss Bonnie Brunk. Miss Lucille LeVelle is the leading lady and Del Phillips is the comedian of the show this year. The tent doors will be open at 7:15 each evening.

Don't miss this opportunity to see really first-class shows and vaudeville at prices everyone can afford. Everyone needs a certain amount of recreation and amusement, and you will go home after the show is over with uplifted spirit and a new outlook, and your next day's burdens will seem a great deal lighter. Don't deny yourself the pleasure their wholesome shows will give you.

Farm Income Rise From 1932 Low

Cash income of farmers in the United States has risen steadily since 1932. In that year the farm cash income of $4,328,000,000 was the lowest on record, and farm prices had declined to the lowest level since the Civil War. Beginning with 1933 farm cash income has risen steadily. The latest official figures of the United States Department of Agriculture give the farm cash income for the years 1932 to 1936 as follows:

Farm Cash Income

1932 .. $4,328,000,000

1933 .. 4,955,000,000

1934 .. 5,831,000,000

1935 .. 7,090,000,000

1936 .. 7,850,000,000 (Estimated)

These figures show that since 1932 farm cash income has been increased $3,522,000,000, or an average of more than $880,000,000 a year.

Included in the figures are benefit payments under the Agricultural Adjustment Programs. These benefit payments for the calendar years were:

Year	Benefit Payments
1933	$162,000,000
1934	556,000,000
1935	583,000,000
1936	470,000,000

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration was created by Act of Congress in 1933. Since it began operations and until January 6, 1936, when the Supreme Court invalidated certain provisions of the Act, more than 3,000,000 farmers voluntarily participated in each year's programs. Farm prices began to bound upward almost immediately after the AAA started to function.

The net farm income, that is, income available after deducting production expenses, has more than doubled since 1932. In that year the net farm income was $1,473,000,000. In 1933 it had risen more than one billion dollars, or to $2,548,000,000. In 1934 it was $3,257,000,000, and in 1935 $3,550,000,000. The year 1936 will show a further increase.

"The history of every nation is eventually written in the way in which it cares for its soil."

"Aiming at justice for agriculture and self-interest for the nation, the plan (soil conservation) seeks to salvage and conserve the greatest values in human life and resources with which this nation is endowed."

The choice is between the same old deceptive promises and the continuing performance of your proven friends. I am for Roosevelt."

 "Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches and Societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 1st.

The golden text is: "Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good." (Rom. 12:9)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible:
 "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." (Gal. 6:7)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text book:
 "The God-inspired walk calmly on though it be with bleeding foot-prints, and in the hereafter they will reap what they now sow. The pampered hypocrite may have a flowery pathway here, but he cannot forever break the Golden Rule and escape the penalty due."

Chevrolet Spends 26 Millions For Retool Machines

Announcement was made recently by M. E. Coyle, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, that $26,000,000 has been expended in retooling, new machinery, and rearranging the plans and assembly lines of Chevrolet for production of the 1937 models that will be announced November 7th. This is one of the largest sums ever appropriated by the automotive industry for the change-over of machinery for the annual new models, and gives an inkling of what the motorists of America may expect when the cars are revealed to the public, Mr. Coyle stated to 1,000 members of the field force of his company now in session in Detroit.

It was said that the usual procedure in automobile manufacture is to make new models with certain changes one year and other changes the following announcement time, but that this year Chevrolet has produced an entirely new car for 1937.

It is because of the complete re-designing of the 1937 models that such a large expenditure for retooling and rearrangement was necessary, Mr. Coyle pointed out.

Detroit and Michigan shared largely in the Chevrolet expenditure of $26,000,000. The plants at Flint expended $10,000,000, and those in Detroit $8,000,000. Two million dollars were spent in Saginaw, while in Muncie, Indiana, and Indianapolis, a like amount was divided between the parts factories and the commercial body division. Bay City, Michigan, factories expended nearly half a million dollars. More than half a million dollars were spent by miscellaneous divisions of manufacture.

DEMING RODEO

The Deming Rodeo Association will stage its annual rodeo on November 9, 10 and 11, and will also endeavor on the above dates to organize an association of peace officers from the three states, New Mexico, Arizona and Texas.

Police Court

J. W. Bowman, formerly of Snyder, Texas, was arrested here Friday on charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was lodged in the city jail. Officers at Snyder, Texas, informed local officers that Bowman was wanted there for forgery charges. Sunday Bowman was taken back to Snyder to face forgery charges.

Bob Harrison was arrested by Roy Ansley, night watchman, Sunday night after he allegedly "peeped or spied" into the home of Mrs. Mary Evans. Harrison, it was said, was identified by members of the family who switched the light on him and he was in the act of spying.

SWIFT SILVER MINE

There seem to be three distinct legends in America during which the Swift silver mine was most important. The first was during the Spanish occupation, the second after the Civil War and the last the present time. The Swift silver mine belongs to the first; it produced its wealth shortly before the Revolution.

It was the captain of a small vessel of those times. He met a man who had been adopted into an Indian tribe, and this man related that the Indians had discovered a fabulously rich deposit of silver in Kentucky.

The mine was in a cave, well hidden from the casual searcher. It had been promised, and the man set to work mining and shipping the ore, running it into the mountains and stamping it with a dollar which he had brought with him when they had made as much money as they could carry, concealed the place as the Indians had done and started eastward soon, for the tribes discovered that their mine had been plundered and pursued on trail. In fact, pursuit grew so hot that the white men were forced to a large proportion of their came the Revolutionary War and Swift was busy with many other things. We next meet up with him when he came into Kentucky with a party and told the story of the mine at Booneborough. He said that he could find the mine again, although his sight was failing, and a company was formed with him. He led them truly, but last toward evening one day he recognized the location. The company was spent in dreams of great wealth, and at daylight every one was eager to uncover the hidden mine—but alas! during the night the eyesight had left him completely, and he could not see even as it poured its rays against the cave.

"Our merchant marine ships are antiquated in comparison with other ships. They are capable of making only about ten knots per hour against fourteen or fifteen knots for ships of other countries."

A POLITICAL LIE ANSWERED

AN advertisement signed "The Fusion Committee" appeared in the Eddy County News of September 25th and included the following: "Job holders . . . are among the men who swiped $200 from the American Legion till for political purposes—"

An advertisement in the same paper on October 16th and on hand bills put out on October 17th, signed "New Mexico Veterans Council," a partisan political organization, states that "I received $200 from the treasury of the American Legion" intimating that this money was dishonestly received by me.

Both the Assertion and the Intimation Are Political Lies!

The writer or writers hide behind fictitious names and skirt a libel suit by failing to designate me by name in the first attack and change names and modify the charge in the second.

The facts are that my candidacy in 1934 was sponsored by my Veteran friends. My race was in a Democratic primary and there was no question of trades with so-called "Progressives" or with Republicans. An American Legion Post Committee offered to loan me $200 during the campaign and I gave the Post my personal note therefor. This note was paid in full and with 6% interest added, more than a year ago. J. S. McCall was a party to this transaction, approved the loan and the arrangement was made in his office. I hold the paid note and my canceled check given when the account was closed.

I specifically deny to Messrs. Neal, Dunnam, and McCall, or any others, the right to force their so-called leadership on me. In 1934 they called themselves Democrats, but because of the fact that they could not control the Democratic Party in Eddy County and deliver it to a personal political organization then existing in the state, or force the Veterans to follow them in their desertion of the party, they quit both the party and the local Legion Post. With Cicero Stewart (a wonderful friend of the Veteran, isn't he) and others who are seeking to return to conditions of 1934 and before, they have temporarily captured the county Republican organization and are making their campaign by vicious attacks on individuals.

My work as Sheriff of this county has been honest, conscientious, and fair. I feel that I am entitled to a second term and I very respectfully ask your support for my re-election.

"AND WHEN I'M DEAD AND BURIED, SUSANNAH DON'T YOU CRY"

"Food Frillery" Is Fun in Cookery!

Don't forget the fripperies! You don't know what is a "frillery"? The little feather on your hat, the initial on your guest towel, that dab of polish on your finger nails, these are fripperies. It's the same in food: parsley on the potatoes, mint in the iced tea, designs on the cake frosting—cookery frippery! No, they are not necessary. You can wear untrimmed dresses, you can live in picture-less rooms, you can eat boiled carrots every day—but it won't be much fun! And if you taste with your eyes as well as your tongue, you will admit that frippery "makes sense!"

Here we present some fripperies in food; some are new, and some are reminders!

"Lily-Gilt"
If you are in favor of a little "gilt on the lily," these frippery-suggestions will charm you:
Porcupine Cake: Make a devil's food layer cake, using three packages of the devil's food mix which is based on the Washington family recipe (one to each layer). Put layers together and cover top and sides heavily with mocha frosting. Then take almonds (salted or blanched) and stick them into frosting, putting tips in and permitting ends to stick out. Cover tops and sides of cake in this manner, until you have a "porcupine" effect. Add chopped almonds to frosting for layers if you like.

Eden Apple Sauce: Apple sauce is good, but rosy apple sauce is better! Red cinnamon candies (red dots) dissolved in boiling water in a shallow sauce pan may be used for more color and spice. Lemon juice will give the sauce tartness.

Tropical Custard: Soft custards acquire glamor when they are served with sliced ripe bananas. Better still is Banana Topsy: flavor your custard with cooking sherry, pour the chilled custard over a slice of sponge cake and top with plenty of sliced bananas.

Tea Toast: Toast for tea, to be sure. Toast spread with grated cheese, better. Worcestershire added to the cheese, better yet! Toast "rings" (rings cut from bread then baked) are a fine frippery for serving with soup.

Canton Sauce: Flavor hard sauce with ginger syrup for an unusual flavor; add pasteurized dates (chopped) for a feast.

Frippery Fare
Maple Syrup Frosting: Reaches a new "peak" in goodness when it tops old-fashioned gingerbread. Use the packaged mix based on Mary Washington's own private recipe and top it off with this frosting: Place 2 egg whites in mixing bowl. Boil the two cups maple syrup until few drops poured into cold water forms a ball (238° F.). Remove from stove. Beat egg whites quickly until stiff; pour hot syrup in fine stream over whites, beating constantly. Continue beating until mixture forms "peaks" and is stiff enough to spread.

Dixie Pancakes: Banish breakfast boredom no'th as well as down in Dixie! To make them, combine 1 cup warm boiled rice, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons melted butter, and 2 egg yolks. Stir in ½ cup sifted flour and 2 teaspoons baking powder. Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake on a hot greased griddle.

Banana Nut Bread: Home made bread is no "frillery" in any family, but banana nut bread is an extra-special treat. To make it, cream ¼ cup shortening and ½ cup sugar well. Add 1 well beaten egg and 1 cup all-bran. Sift 1½ cups flour with 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, and ½ teaspoon soda. Mix ½ cup chopped nut meats with flour and add alternately with 1½ cups mashed bananas to which 2 tablespoons water has been added. Stir in 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into greased loaf tin. Let stand 30 minutes and bake in a moderately hot oven (375° F.) one hour. Let cool before cutting. Makes one loaf 8½ by 4½ inches.

Sweet Peaches: Dried peaches are "sweet peaches" for any meal of the day. Simmer gently for about 2 hours with ½ lemon, chopped fine, and ¾ cup white karo added to the water in which they are cooking.

VERSATILE FARMERS CHANGE MACHINES TO FIT TERRACES

Changes to adapt farm machinery to terraced fields and hillsides have been made by farmers in all parts of the country, but particularly in the western, middle western, and northern states, according to surveys by Soil Conservation Service engineers.

Among changes made are these: A Kansas farmer reassembled the disks on his grain drill in pairs, so that it leaves the soil in a series of ridges and furrows.

A farmer in Missouri shortened the truck on his grain binder and crosses terraces more easily.

Some Idaho farmers remove mold-boards from their plows. Powing then stirs the soil, but does not turn it over, and leaves much of the stubble exposed as a guard against wind and water erosion. Another method is to replace a plow with a chisel point forged from the front axle of a motor car.

Beams on a tractor cultivator were attached to the frame with an evener which allowed the shovels to adjust themselves on terraced land.

A Texas farmer removed the pressure springs from the center of his rick harrow to allow more flexibility when working terraced ridges.

More equipment changes are needed, a task for farm implement companies, says the report. Some of the present machines are not sufficiently flexible for terraced land. They do not adjust themselves to uneven ground, wide units do not operate well in terrace channels, and those with long hitches give trouble in crossing terraces at right angles. Depth and height regulating devices need a greater range of adjustment.

Livestock And Feed Outlook

Total grain supplies of the United States, and their geographic location, are the key to the situation facing western producers of feeder cattle and lambs, says J. K. Wallace, from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Washington, D. C.

The condition of pastures for the whole United States on August 15 equalled the previous low record of August 1, 1934, and has probably declined since that date. In the worst of the drouth area only a few farmers will have any more grain and hay than needed for carrying their own livestock and there are many thousands who will have to purchase feed to get livestock thru the winter. In the far west and in the southeast there will be more grain or hay than is needed for present livestock.

There now seems little reason to expect the domestic supply of feed grains available for consumption to exceed two-thirds of the average consumption during the 1928-32 period. This definitely indicates prospective feeder livestock demand. Indications are for a reduced demand for feeder cattle and lambs to fatten and a fair outlet for stockers and breeding cattle and sheep. With consumer demand for meats still continuing a slowly rising trend even in the face of strong prices; with the early summer glut of fed steers out of the way; with sows going to market rapidly in the corn belt due to scarcity of corn and the higher grain prices, it would seem that any fat livestock should meet with a good demand throughout the fall season at relatively satisfactory prices.

Plain cattle carried over in slaughter flesh until early spring should also see improved prices by that time provided economic conditions continue the present trend as the grain and feed supplies indicate sharply reduced numbers of fed livestock during the next nine or ten months with a sharp reduction comparing to 1936 in fat slaughter animals next spring.

DOGS MORE JEALOUS THAN HUMANS, OWNER SAYS

HOUSTON, Texas — Well-bred dogs, says A. J. Astrich, who has three breeds, are more jealous than humans. "I wouldn't go far enough to say that any dog could sense that he had been left out of a show," Astrich said, "but one certainly would notice it if another dog was receiving an unusual amount of attention."

"If I pet my German Shepherd, the Boston and the Pomeranian are very quick in letting me know they don't like it. A dog can sense anger or disapproval in a gesture of his master."

Health Column

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

P. H. N.

How does a registered nurse (R. N.) become a public health nurse (P. H. N.)? What are the university requirements in post-graduate study which must be satisfied before a woman skilled in bedside nursing may hold a certificate qualifying her to go out into the community as a health teacher and an agent of the county health department?

Believing that many of their fellow citizens would like to know what our nurse students have learned in Western Reserve University I wrote to one of them and asked her for a list of the courses that she is taking. Here is the list: Principles of public health; principles of health teaching; rural communities; case studies in health supervision; public health nursing; rural government; food problems of the family; practical sociology; mental hygiene.

In addition they are taking two short courses in social work and some supervised practical field experience. All this work will have been completed when they came back next month to New Mexico with their certificates. They will then receive two months' extra field training in the demonstration unit in San Miguel county. After that they will be qualified to hold positions as public health nurses in this, their own, state.

They will have learned to think of illness not only as an individual problem, but also as a social problem, as something affecting communities. They will think of disease as something to be cured in the last resort but above all to be prevented by intelligent foresight. They will have learned not only how to protect and enhance the public health but also how to pass on their own knowledge to the folk.

WASHINGTON—The republican national committee reported Friday it had spent $3,161,617 between September 1st and October 18th, bringing its total campaign expenditures since June 1st to $4,949,428.

The report, filed with the clerk of the house, showed contributions of $2,987,765 since September 1st, making a total of $5,038,419 since June 1st. Friday's report raised the republican expenditures for the year to $5,685,536.

The largest individual contributor listed in Friday's report was William Randolph Hearst, San Simeon, California, publisher, who gave $30,000.

The New Jersey state republican finance committee donated $60,868 to the national committee, while contributions of $30,000 and $5,000 were made by the Massachusetts and Maine state organizations, respectively.

CLOVIS WINS

The Clovis Wildcats led by Leamon McIntyre, upset the eastern New Mexico football apple cart Friday night at Roswell by pushing the Roswell lads out of the state championship fight to a score of 26 to 0. McIntyre scored his fourth touchdown when he intercepted a long pass on his own forty-two yard line and Clovis went over for the fourth counter after a series of plays.

New Mex. Cotton Grade Is Steady

The report of cotton classed from the southwest irrigated section, which includes the states of Arizona, New Mexico, California and Texas, district No. 1 (that section of Texas west of the Pecos river), indicated a small increase in percentage of longer lengths of staple, and an increased percentage of extra white grades classed this week, compared with last week.

The cotton classed this week from New Mexico shows more than 14 per cent middling extra white and better grades, and only 15.3 per cent was white good middling and better this week. Also, 48.6 per cent was white strict middling and 4 per cent was white middling. Spotted grades constituted over 17 per cent of the cotton graded this week. The staple lengths of cotton classed were as follows: 1 and 1-1/32 inch was 46.4 per cent; 1-1/16 to 1-3/32 inch was 48.8 per cent.

All cotton classed this week and to date has been tenderable with exception of a small percentage of cotton from Arizona.

Wildcat Producer In Near Lea Co.

A wildcat producer brought in Monday by Empire Oil and Refining company in northwest Ector county, Texas, marks a big extension of that field and proves production on the line toward the Lea county field which oil men believe will eventually connect the two districts.

The new producer is their Cummins No. 1-C, about thirty miles northwest of Odessa, and two miles northwest of the nearest production. Initial production was estimated by officials at fifteen to twenty barrels per hour. The well will, however, be acidized and company officials anticipate that a production of close to 1,000 barrels per day will be reached.

Production sand was first encountered in the well at 4,190 feet and it was drilled to a total depth of 4,295 feet.

Postal Receipts Show 10% Gain

Postal receipts, usually regarded as one of the business barometers of the community, are showing gains for this year, according to J. L. Truett, local postmaster. Gross receipts for each month show gains over the corresponding month of 1935. Mr. Truett says and the gross business of the office is now the highest point in its history. Receipts of the first three-quarters of the present year exceeded the first three-quarters of 1935 by over ten per cent. Mr. Truett stated. The years of 1934 and 1935 show the greatest gain of any period in the past six years, indicating a gradual rise from the economic depression so far as it affects the locality.

Both the incoming and outgoing mail is exceptionally heavy at the present time and indications are the business of the Artesia office will increase.

"The Gentle Art of PICKING POCKETS"

"With Apologies to Freeman Tilden."

THE NEW DEAL is smooth. It works gently, softly. Assisting it is the largest and highest paid staff of propaganda workers in the world's history. They are in every government department. They are trained writers. They are on the government payrolls. The taxpayer pays for the propaganda.

But the TAXPAYER is beginning to wonder what it is all about. He feels the gentle hand patting his shoulder and assuring him that all he has to do is take the government's money and everything will be all right. He hears the crooning voice on the radio, soothing him with the same promises the same smooth voice made in 1932—and broken!

"But," says the taxpayer, "what is that peculiar feeling in my trousers pocket where I keep my money. It feels like somebody was making a touch. Can that mean that this New Deal gang is soothing me with doles and dough and other things and taking the money out of my pocket to pay for it all? That's what thinking taxpayers now know! That's what keen minds have known for many months!

They've fooled many of us, since the broken Roosevelt promises of 1932, with the soft hand on the shoulder and the clutching hand of hidden taxes in the taxpayer's pocket.

Shall we let them work the same shell game on us in 1936?

The ROOSEVELT RECORD

"The record of the Roosevelt administration presents the most callous disregard of party principles, platform promises and personal pledges in all the history of American politics."

—John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President in 1924; in a speech delivered in New York Tuesday night, Oct. 20, 1936.

With apologies to "The Trumpeter"

:- The Wail of the "COAT-TAIL" Candidates :-

WHAT IS this chorus of voices we hear crying in the wilderness of New Mexico voters in this vital campaign of 1936, in which the forces of constitutional government and economy, in the name of the Republican party, are lined up against the armies of the New Deal and its program of continued borrowing, continued reckless spending, and concentration of all power in the hands of the executive and his bureaus?

They are the trembling voices of Senator Hatch, Senator Chavez, Congressman Dempsey and Governor Tingley; and behind all of their blasts of campaign oratory is the question they are asking themselves, daily and hourly:

"Will the Roosevelt Coat-Tails Hold?"

They shout at you what THEY have done for you with the money Roosevelt has let them have. They do not tell you that it was public money taken out of the taxpayers' pockets: Your pockets and mine. They have not advanced a single constructive suggestion. When mention is made of their individual records, Hatch, Chavez and Dempsey advise us to read the Congressional Record. The reading discloses that these three men voted as Roosevelt, or boss Farley told them to vote; that they were rubber stamps for Tugwell, Felix Frankfurter and the rest of the radical crew who now surround the President of the United States and guide his policies along their radical lines of theory.

The four rubber stamps shout ridiculous criticisms at their opponents. They KNOW how Harry Hopkins' WPA money is being used for political coercion and intimidation of helpless workers. They know all the political corruption that has crept through the nation under the abuses of New Deal policies. Do they lift their voices in protest?

Never a single protest, friends. They just keep telling us how much money Roosevelt gave them to spend in New Mexico; hoping that thus if the Roosevelt financial coat-tails stand the strain, they may ride through to re-election . . . knowing that if Roosevelt is defeated, they are through.

Now here's a curious contradiction: While Roosevelt is going around and about the nation telling the people, as he did in 1932, that he is going to economize and balance the budget "in a year or two," these men, Hatch, Chavez, and Dempsey, and his friend the Movie Cowboy, pardon us, Governor Tingley, tell you that the spending is to go on, on a bigger scale than ever. If Roosevelt is right and keeps his present promises, these four men are misleading the people with falsehoods. If Roosevelt is misleading the people as he did in 1932, then we can look forward to wrecked government credit, printing press money and national financial ruin. So we have rough days coming if Roosevelt or his coat-tail riders win Nov. 3rd and either side is telling the truth.

Why not play safe!

Why not elect Alf Landon, the sound, conservative business man and back him up with Everly and Otero in the senate and Brown in the house?

Why not put an end to the wild career of Tingley, the cowboy builder of debt and elect Jaffa Miller governor, with the Republican staff of responsible business men candidates to back him up in his policy of economy?

Grab your pocket book, Mr. Taxpayer! See if it's still there; and if it is, vote to save what is left of its contents.

THE MORAL OF THIS STORY IS . . .

We once knew a man who was too stingy to take the newspaper in his home town and always sent over to borrow his neighbor's paper.

One evening he sent his son over to borrow the paper, and while his son was on his way he ran into a large swarm of bees and in a few minutes his face looked like a summer squash.

Hearing the agonized cries of his son, the father ran to his assistance, and in doing so ran into a barbed wire fence, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and running a $4 pair of pants.

The old cow took advantage of the hole in the fence, got into the corn field and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket, the farmer's wife ran out of the house, upsetting a four-gallon churn full of cream into a basket of kittens and killed the whole flock. She slipped on the cream and fell downstairs, breaking her leg and a $19 set of false teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the cream into the parlor and ruined a $40 carpet. During the excitement, the daughter eloped with the hired man and took all the family's savings with her.

The moral is that every man should be a subscriber to his home paper.

The cotton market has been under the influence of a larger ginnings report than expected for the week under review and has shown a general weakening both in the market itself and in demand for cotton. It is now generally believed that the crop will run well over 12,000,000 bales and that there will be plenty of cotton to supply the demand.

In view of the approaching uncertainties (November 3rd) election and (November 9th) crop reports, we think it advisable to sell cotton on every upturn. There seems but little at the moment to justify higher prices for cotton and much upon which to predict considerably lower prices, at least until the market is cleared of speculative long interests. Holidays approaching add to the general bearish conditions and should a selling wave start it would drive the market down rapidly and lower than justified for the time being.

Local Ginnings

Continued inclement weather since last Thursday has practically brought a halt to cotton picking operations over the district. Only 528 bales have been ginned since last report. Pickers were able to work in some fields Tuesday, the first day in five days. The season's total for the section now stands at 7,184 against 2,770 bales at the corresponding period of last year. The cotton crop has not been damaged by the rains, so far, farmers say. Ginnings by gins are as follows:

Lake Arthur gin.....	165
Cottonwood gin.....	1,803
Association gin, Espuella.....	1,585
Farmers gin, Artesia.....	1,261
Association gin, Artesia.....	1,300

Range Program Progressing Here

Forest Ranger Wiltbanks is in Eddy county this week serving as range examiner for farmers and stockmen who desire to cooperate with the soil conservation program as offered stockmen. Forty or fifty applications have been filed with Fred Barham, county agent.

Examinations of ranches for participation in the range-improvement phase of the 1936 Agricultural Conservation program are now being made by range examiners of the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, it was announced yesterday. The number of requests for examinations received in the past few days indicates that a great many more stockmen in the western range states will participate in the program than was expected at the time the program was announced.

The payment to each owner or operator participating in the program is limited by the number of livestock his ranch is able to support. Range examiners of the forest service examine the ranches and on the basis of their recommendations the grazing capacity is established by the county committees which administer local phases of the program. The forest service has had long experience in the administration and management of grazing lands on the national forests, and also maintains a grazing research division.

Those practices which stockmen participating in the range program plan to perform are submitted to county committees for approval. The grazing capacity of individual ranches must be determined by forest service technicians, since the total payments for each ranch are limited to $2 per animal unit. All range-improvement practices must conform to certain specified standards in order for stockmen to receive payment.

Rains Last Week Bring .84 Of An Inch Of Moisture

Rains for three days last week stopped the delayed first annual rodeo for the second time and took the cotton pickers out of the fields. Slow rains, falling Thursday, Friday and Saturday amounted to over three-quarters of an inch of moisture or .84 of an inch.

The low temperature reached during the rainy spell was 34 degrees, recorded at the government station Saturday morning.

Foggy weather and cold drizzling rains continue in many parts of New Mexico. Moisture Tuesday night was negligible, amounting to only .02 of an inch. The low temperature was forty degrees.

Yesterday morning the sun was shining as far east as Dunken, according to reports from the mountains. While heavy to light rains have fallen over various parts of the Sacramento mountain district, comparative prevailing weather has not been as disagreeable as here.

APPRECIATES HOSPITALITY

Last week officials of the College of the Pacific at Stockton, California, wrote a letter of appreciation to the Artesia Chamber of Commerce expressing gratification for the hospitality extended college students who made a post summer tour to the Carlsbad Caverns and who stopped here last summer. The visit to the College of the Pacific students will be remembered by many. In a newspaper write-up of the 4,060 mile tour which included the stop here, the article says:

At Artesia, the party received its heartiest welcome. The manager of the Chamber of Commerce escorted us to the new city golf grounds, where camp was made. The group was well supplied with firewood, carbonated drinks and additional camp equipment. In the evening citizens of Artesia took the college group on a tour of the city and surrounding territory. Other members of the Chamber of Commerce made informal calls at the camp.

Mrs. A. T. Woods returned from San Antonio Tuesday evening and expects to be at home for about two weeks. She was accompanied by Miss Emily Smith, a cousin. Misses Emily and Virginia drove down for their mother Saturday.

The Dayton Well

Pioneer oil men recall the old test for oil on Dayton Hill, south of Artesia. Perhaps too you will remember the poem composed by Frank Tigner and published in The Advocate about sixteen years ago. Tigner, one of the drillers on the old Dayton well, tells of some of the early-day problems encountered in drilling a wildcat:

We built the rig on Dayton Hill,
And after a while began to drill.
We drilled along in our usual way;
Hoping some day to get the pay.

We drilled along in hard limestone;
A five-inch stem did fairly groan;
We did not care, for well we knew
That V. S. Welch had lots of glue.

At a thousand feet and the casing in,
Came E. S. Wallace strolling in,
And said, "Deak, I have this to say,
You're right on top of shallow pay.

At fourteen hundred feet, alas,
We got another flow of gas.
Deak says, "Don't that look good to you?
You'd better run another screw."

The geologists came by car load lot,
And all did favor this particular spot.
They all have said and all say still,
That we'll get oil on Dayton Hill.

At twenty-five hundred, bless your soul,
I dropped the bailer from the top of the hole;
We waited a moment, then came the shock,
When it landed on that hard limestone.

E. S. Wallace, an amateur g-e-o-g,
Who knows the hole from A to Z,
Has watched the sand both night and day,
Hoping to be there when we get the pay.

At twenty-nine hundred and fifty-three,
We had a talk with a g-e-o-g
Who says, "Boys, believe me or not,
You'll get a 1,000-barrel well after a shot."

If the crew doesn't get disgusted,
And the crew lives long enough,
You may then come to Dayton
And see the real black stuff.

I've been in lots of oil fields,
I've drilled in many states,
Of all the pests I've ever had,
None beats that rock hound,
Martin Yates.

With the fishing jobs all over,
And not much work to do,
You may come and pay a visit
To this everlasting crew.

I get so tired of drilling,
But naught I know to do.
My name it is Frank Tigner,
Of this everlasting crew.

LICENSES ISSUED TO SIX TURKEY GRADERS

A two-day school on turkey grading was held at Portales, October 13-14. Thos. W. H. Hirtz, marketing specialist, Washington, D. C., presided, assisted by W. M. Ginn, extension poultryman. This school was held for the purpose of training producers and dealers in classifying turkeys according to government grades, and turkey dealers and growers from New Mexico and west Texas were in attendance. At the close of the school, government grading licenses were issued to six men who are now capable of designating U. S. grades of turkeys.

ARMSTRONG BABY DIES

Carl E. Armstrong, Jr., three months old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Armstrong, living on the Paul Terry farm east of Artesia, died yesterday morning after a brief illness. His death was said to have been due to pneumonia. The Armstrong family are employed on the Terry farm.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. J. D. Terry yesterday morning at the Armstrong home and a short service was also conducted at the graveside in the Woodbine cemetery, where burial was made.

HARP COMPOSES "CAVERN CHIMES"

The inspiration for the latest musical composition of E. L. Harp, chairman of the Great Southwestern Music Festival, came from a conversation he overheard in the Carlsbad Caverns.

A member of a party with which Mr. Harp was traveling through the Caverns asked one of the guides whether the stalactites had musical tones and the guide replied that they did. This suggested an idea to Mr. Harp and he composed a piece of music named the "Carlsbad Cavern Chimes," which has just been published.—Roswell Record.

LUCKY HUNTER

There was a prize hunting story overlooked by The Advocate during the pheasant hunting season. James Allen, local teacher, went out with several hunters last week and according to the story told, while others were trying vainly to flush out a nice pheasant cock, Mr. Allen happened to look down and right at his feet he saw a cock almost hidden from view. He did not shoot, but merely put his foot on the head of the bird and grabbed him.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Summers of Houston, Texas, left Saturday after a brief visit here with Mrs. Summers' twin sister, Mrs. L. L. Manley and family.
