

Local Schools Open Tuesday For Enrollment

Heaviest Enrollment In History Of Community Expected—Registration All Classes Finished By Friday.

The largest initial registration in the history of the Artesia public schools is expected next Tuesday when enrollment will begin. Since Monday has been set aside as a legal holiday and will be observed throughout the county, it will be taken up with faculty meetings. The procedure for enrollment in the various schools will be as follows:

High School
Tuesday—Seniors, 8:45 to 3:00.
Wednesday—Juniors, 8:45 to 3:00.
Thursday—Sophomores, 8:45 to 2:30.

Friday—Freshmen, 8:45 to 2:30. All high school students entering from other school systems must present a transcript of their credits from the last school attended at the time of enrollment. Since parents are vitally interested in the courses which their children pursue, they are urged to accompany their children for proper enrollment. Advice and guidance at the time of enrollment will save disappointment and failure later.

Junior High
Pupils entering grades six to eight will enroll at the Junior High school on Tuesday from 9:00 to 2:30. Pupils entering from other schools must present report cards from the last school attended showing their grade placement.

Central School
All pupils enrolling in grades one to five should go to the central school on Monday from 9:00 to 2:30. Pupils from other schools and beginners should be accompanied by their parents in order that teachers may obtain certain information about their children. No children will be accepted as beginners whose birthdays come after November 1. All children must present a certificate showing successful vaccination for smallpox or have had the disease. This should be taken care of by the family physician.

There will be no change in the number of free textbooks over that of last year. Parents will have four books besides the usual workbooks: Arithmetic, Health, Music and Spelling. Dictionaries will be furnished by the state in grades four to eight. The state will also supply six sets of supplementary readers free.

The faculty by schools is as follows:

Clark Bruce, social studies; Miss Edna Drury, Spanish, English and Latin; Miss Ruth Collie, English; Miss Alma Felix, history and English; Miss Augusta Merrill, home economics and art; L. C. Alfalfa Growers Are Using Combine To Harvest Seed Crop

Some hay growers in the Cottonwood section are trying a new method of harvesting their alfalfa seed. They are combining the alfalfa left for seed and claim they get a better turn out by using the new method. By combining the alfalfa the stalk is not piled on the ground for the seed to scatter. Instead the stalk is threshed by the combine and the overripe seed, if any, is saved.

W. T. Haldeman has finished threshing his seed crop from twenty-five acres and reports a total yield of 13,360 pounds or a per acre yield of slightly over 534 pounds.

Oil Boosts Tax Values in Lea, Eddy Counties

SANTA FE—The taxable valuation of oil produced in the Lea county fields in 1937 set a new record which will more than double that of 1936, chief State Tax commissioner Ben D. Luchini said last Thursday.

Producers' reports to the commission for the first two quarters of the year led to an estimated figure of $15,487,415, as compared with $7,665,740 for Lea county last year, Luchini said.

On the basis of figures submitted by producers, the commission found that, for taxing purposes, the valuation of oil for the first quarter ending June 30, $4,124,506.

The year's estimate for Eddy county production was $423,050, compared with $310,648 in 1936; and San Juan county, $239,075, compared with $150,000 a year ago.

COMMUNITY EXTENSION CLUB HOLDS MEETING
The regular meeting of the Cottonwood Community Extension club was held August 25, at the home of Mrs. Glen O'Bannon.

The community party will be at 8:00 o'clock, September 10, on the lawn at the Cottonwood store. Everyone in the community has a special invitation. Entertainers from Carlsbad, Artesia and Roswell will be there.

County Extension Agent Miss Katherine Whitcomb gave a very interesting demonstration on "Table Etiquette."

"Delicious refreshments of ice tea and apple pie with whipped cream were served to those present. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charlie Brown with Mrs. Buster Knowles as co-hostess. The topic for discussion will be "Business and Legal Transactions for the Family."

STATE TAX LEVY REDUCED

SANTA FE—Chief Tax Commissioner Ben Luchini Tuesday notified Governor Tingley that the state tax levy for general purposes will be 4.875 mills, compared with 4.890 mills of last year.

Luchini told the governor the reduction was made despite a large increase in appropriations.

New Mail Route Prospect—Serve Oil Field East

A new mail route is to be established between Artesia and Lovington, giving the two points daily mail service, it was announced at Lovington last week. Bids have been asked for carrying the mail on the new route and several have been submitted. According to information at Lovington, 102 families have made application for mail boxes on the new route and others are expected to make application as soon as the service is placed in operation.

In addition to serving farmers and ranchers along the route, the inauguration of a daily mail schedule will serve the intermediate oil fields between Lovington and Artesia.

J. L. Truett, postmaster here, said concerning the new mail routes that bids offered at this time on the route were only temporary and if accepted by the department, new bids would be called for at the regular time. The establishment of the route, he said, would depend on bids, two of which were made here. He said he did not know how many were submitted at Lovington.

If established, Artesia would be the first distributing point for the new route. The mail would leave here at 10:00 o'clock in the morning and return at 6:00 o'clock in the afternoon. This would give Artesia and vicinity a direct connection with Monahans and other west Texas towns.

COMMISSIONERS COURT SETS UP ELECTION MACHINERY

At a meeting of the Eddy county commissioners court at Carlsbad yesterday, the commissioners set up machinery for holding the special election September 21st, where voters will be permitted to vote on the five constitutional amendments. The court also appraised property on which delinquent taxes amounted to $250,000 or more for the years 1931, 1932 and 1933. There were only five pieces of property to be appraised under these conditions and one piece was located in Artesia.

Improvements On Highway 83 Are Progressing Now

Improvements of Highway 83 from Artesia east to the Eddy-Lea county line are progressing in a very satisfactory manner. A road oiling crew under Armstrong and Armstrong, contractors, are making good time on the twenty-four miles of road to be oiled from the county line this way. If no obstacles are encountered the stretch of road should be oiled within three weeks.

Contractor Ernest Everely has started moving equipment for construction on the first twelve miles of road to the edge of the oil field and will start work next Monday, taking up the grading work where the WPA force left off. The WPA force will be transferred to a project in Artesia and will beautify and improve three blocks of ground west of the Junior high school.

Improvements to be inaugurated include cleaning of the grounds, where the new junior-senior high school is to be located, construction of tennis courts, swimming pool, etc.

The first twelve miles of road will be constructed ready for use within the next sixty days and according to the present plan of the highway department may be oiled before the colder winter months set in. However, it is probable the road bed will be left to set until early summer.

Plans are underway for a barbecue at noon, and there will be a full day's program, beginning at ten o'clock in the morning, and concluding in the afternoon.

TEST FOR EROSION CONTROL

On the Gilmore Creek watershed near Winona, Minnesota, where landholders are working to check soil and water losses, the heaviest rain of the year, 1.7 inches fell in an hour. But, the Soil Conservation service reports, the creek only half filled its normal channel and caused but slight damage through washing and silting. Along neighboring streams, which received the same rain, there was considerable overtopping and damage to adjacent roadways.

DEMANDS ON BUSINESS HOUSES HEAVY

Despite the fact that all kinds of jobs are more plentiful and that employment in all lines has increased, demands for charity from the business people up and down main street continue heavy. Rarely do those wanting help take the trouble to search beyond Main street. New schemes for taking money, including new advertising concoctions of questionable merit are also more plentiful. If permitted the Chamber of Commerce could be of more assistance to the business men in conducting investigations into the merits of the charitable cases as well as the advertising schemes to which business men are asked to subscribe.

Quite commonly a business man is asked to buy gasoline and supplies to get a stranded family out of town. Rather than to conduct a personal investigation the business man prefers to donate.

As much as the business houses along the main thoroughfare are cussed and discussed, those who are inclined to criticize because some individual does not give as liberally to some movement as expected, might see things in a different light if the positions were reversed.

LESSENING JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

Many modern parents are too often accused of seeking a short cut to the task of rearing their children. Accustomed as they are to the many labor saving devices to lighten what otherwise might be laborious if not unpleasant tasks in every day life, they look to the schools and churches and other institutions to correct their children and guide them in the right paths. The fact that many parents do not seem to want to assume the task of controlling their children is one of the major causes of juvenile delinquency, according to juvenile authorities. The proper place for child training is in the home they say and regardless of how efficient the schools are, or of how many Boy Scout or Girl scout troops a community may have, training of the future citizens will lack an essential element unless it is done in the home.

If child training received more attention in the home, the problem of juvenile delinquency would be lessened and crime cut just that much. There is no short cut to character building. The first and foremost place is in the home.

THE HOUSING SITUATION

The housing situation locally is like Mark Twain's saying about the weather: "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything." Only of course we have now reached the point where we can do something about the weather with air conditioning and we could do something about the housing situation. All that is needed is a little action.

Artesia now is at the cross roads so far as growth is concerned. Either houses will be built to care for an expanding population, or the size of the community will remain stationary. There is no incentive to overbuild, but there is a real need to construct a few houses, preferably by home owners, thus releasing homes now occupied by the prospects for new houses for rental purposes.

A small home owned building and loan association would serve a real need at the present time. The prospective association has been talked, but so far definite action on the proposal is lacking.

4-H MEMBERSHIP GROWS

One of the most hopeful signs for the future of agriculture, the Michigan Farmer points out, is that the enrollment in 4-H clubs passed the million mark for the first time, in 1936. Membership continues to increase.

The young men and women who join the 4-H will be the producers of tomorrow. In their club work, they are instructed in new methods and techniques that make it possible for the farmer to raise larger crops and earn a greater return. They are given an opportunity to develop qualities of leadership that will prove invaluable to them in the future. In brief, they are wisely making careers of farming.

BEING FAIR

It would seem to be very simple and easy to be fair. No matter what our personal opinion about a thing may be, it ought to be quite within reach of our powers to present a perfectly clear, fair statement of the case. But it is not easy. Try it. Can you really appreciate and understand another man's viewpoint and sincerity about any issue? Can you really state the evidence without putting your opponent in an unfavorable light? If you can, you have an unusually fine, fair and analytical mind—Exchange.

Kernels From An Old Nut

There were placed in the Public Library last week two books depicting the life and work of two men of unusual usefulness.

The Raven, a one time Pulitzer Prize, is a biography of Sam Houston, United States Army officer, Prosecuting Attorney of a Tennessee District, Representative in Congress, Governor of Tennessee, semi-dissolute companion of Indians, commanding general of a Revolutionary Army, President of a Republic, United States Senator and Governor of Texas. There is no other man of my knowledge in American History whose activities covered so wide a range and who functioned in every capacity with such outstanding ability. A study of his life should be an inspiration to every good citizen—old and young—in the community.

The other book, "An American Doctor's Odyssey," is a record of the accomplishment of Dr. Victor Heiser in his fight against contagious and infectious disease.

Orphaned by the great Johnstown flood in 1886, he finally educated himself as a physician and, at an early age, went to the Philippine Islands where he soon was placed in charge of the campaign for sanitation and health. He started out with a definite objective of saving twenty-five thousand lives per year. He exceeded that number by many thousand over a period of many years. He found the islands infected with all the diseases peculiar to the tropics and transformed them into safe places for human habitation. The accomplishment of these

TONGUE TWISTER

Sara Sheldon sewed several soft silk sleeveless summer shirts for stalwart soldiers.

Very busy people always find time for everything.

Bill Jones started home in his lizzie, all liquored and feeling quite dizzy. On the highway somehow, he ran into a cow; now his friends are all asking howwizie.

Eph Bullock is reported to have recently sold 2 thous and pigs.

The only native Scotchman in our community says the Scotch aren't tight, they are merely timid.

"Trees" was the title of a picture shown here the first of the week and Ray Bartlett says that when Bing Crosby, who sang the song "Trees" in the picture repeated the same song at a dog show, the response was so great he was almost drowned.

A local man with a red nose says the redness is not due to liquor or to the cool morning, but merely glowing with pride because he keeps it out of other people's business.

Health Column

Summer Complaint

Personal Satisfaction and good will go hand in hand. We in New Mexico who wish to please and attract the tourist and the summer visitor would do well to check on all factors which might leave a bad impression or afford dissatisfaction to our visiting friends from other states. Good will is an asset which is of the utmost value and we need and require all that we can obtain.

Every state has a similar condition so that we are by no means alone in this connection but nevertheless there is far too much so-called "summer complaint" going around. It is plain therefore that we should do all we can to remedy this condition not only for our own good but for the good of all those who visit our Sunshine state. In protecting our visitors we are protecting ourselves and our families and so that anything we do to remedy the situation has many beneficial aspects.

The methods of spread of this "summer complaint" or dysentery are very similar to the methods of spread of typhoid fever. The complaint is a bacillary infection and the same agencies take their part in the dissemination of the trouble. These agencies are in the main food, fingers, flies, contacts, carriers, milk and perhaps water. Where adequate water sampling and inspection is carried out, however, the agency of water can virtually be ruled out.

"Summer complaint" is not for a moment to be considered as a temporary indisposition and a mild and passing discomfort. It is especially in the case of infants a very dangerous and possibly deadly disease. In point of fact it is probable that summer complaints ac-men should be an inspiration to all men who have either ideals or ambition. No man thus endowed can afford not to read of their life work.

counts for more deaths of infants under one year of age than any other cause.

The salient factors in controlling the disease are foolproof environmental sanitation of the homes and secondly adequate supervision of food and milk supplies. Both of these primary factors come within the province of the local sanitation officer.

All health districts in New Mexico maintain one sanitary officer but this officer has in each and every case a vast territory to cover and many diversified duties to perform in the proper discharge of his office. One man, however hard as he works, cannot within reason perform the work of more than two men.

The state of New Mexico is probably quite prepared to spend considerable sum of money every year advertising the many desirable qualities of our state. We would do well to remember, however, that the proof of the pudding is in the eating and that however much paid for publicity is laid out the financial benefits of the community comes from good will of those who know us as we are.

Since in the meantime it seems impossible to provide further sanitation service in the state it simply "behooves" each man to consider himself an honorary deputy of the district sanitarian. Let each man study the conditions of his own environment and consider the ways and means whereby he can insure the safety of himself, his family and his neighbors.

The district sanitarian will be only too glad to advise and help any citizen who undertakes to rem-

New Lighting Device Brings Safety At Sea Goal Nearer

SAFETY at sea—a goal which has been approached through the centuries as engineers built more nearly non-sinkable ships, devised ways to discover fires instantly and improved life boats and preservers—has come a long step nearer realization with the invention of an emergency lighting unit for installation on passenger and freight vessels.

Lights in this unit flash on the instant the ship's regular current fails, so that a ship can never be without illumination. Placed near stairways on ships, on the bridge, in the engine room, they reduce the danger of panic and injury among crew and passengers, as well as making possible uninterrupted operation of the vessel.

The emergency unit was invented by Clarence P. Hulst, marine engineer, and has been approved by the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation of the U. S. Department of Commerce, the American Bureau of Shipping, and other authoritative bodies. It is rapidly being installed on ships sailing out of American ports.

The unit consists of a cabinet containing a light bulb, a reflector, dry cell batteries and an electromagnetic switch. The switch, which controls the light, is connected to the ship's main current. As long as the regular lighting system is operating, the switch keeps the emergency bulb dark. When the current goes off, this break closes the switch, turning on the emergency light automatically and instantaneously.

Each light unit is thus automatic and self-actuating. There is no connection between the various emergency light cabinets on the ship. The light will burn about 10 hours, if the batteries are kept fresh for emergencies. In fact, almost the only "servicing" of the units required of the ship's engineer is seeing that the batteries are fresh, so they will function when they are needed.

The cabinets, light in weight and equipped with handles, can be carried about the ship wherever needed and can also be taken into life boats when abandoning ship, to be used to signal for aid. Ship captains expect the life boat use alone to result in the saving of many lives.

Oil Prospects Are Good In Vacuum Area Lea County

All indications point to the certainty of a productive oil field in the Vacuum area of Lea county to the southwest of Lovington, says the Lovington Leader. There are already two producers in that field and two other tests are being drilled. Both of these tests are showing up most favorably and one of them gives promise of making a much better producer than either of the previous wells.

Good porosity with oil saturations and gas was encountered in the Phillips Petroleum Co. Lea 1, in sec. 30-17-34. Casing has been cemented and a test is expected to be made either the latter part of this week or the first of next week.

This is really a wildcat, being located five miles to the southwest of the discovery well and the presence of oil in the test gives promise of an extensive producing field in that area.

The first oil discovered in Lea county east of the caprock was in the Vacuum area in the old Ingfield test located to the northwest of the Vacuum. The Vacuum was also among the early discoveries in the county. However, owing to the lack of pipe line facilities in that sector, nothing was done toward further development in that promising field. But more recently the Trans-Pecos pipe line has been built near the field and there is now no longer any excuse for delay in its development.—Lovington Leader.

Olds Driveaway State To Share Building Opened Direct Allotments

A new customer driveaway building, constructed to serve the people who place their orders with local dealers and go to the plant at Lansing to drive home their new cars, recently was opened as the latest step in Oldsmobile's huge modernization program.

This new addition to the Oldsmobile plant is a one-story building 85 feet by 250 feet of brick and steel construction, the same design and construction as employed in the several other new units added to the Oldsmobile plant during the past few years. It provides the Lansing factory with modern driveaway facilities unsurpassed in the industry.

It is situated on one of the street corners of the plant where the new reception room is easily accessible to the public. Its construction was necessitated by the big increase in recent years of the number of persons who preferred to take delivery of their new cars at the factory.

At present, retail driveaways from the Oldsmobile plant number from 25 to 70 per day. A total of between 12,000 and 14,000 cars annually are delivered in this manner and it is expected that this figure will be greatly enlarged in the future due to the better facilities now offered.

The new building, in addition to providing an attractive reception room for customers, also has a storage capacity for 80 cars and the Oldsmobile driveway clearing office.

The customer driveaway operations are directed by Frank J. Dwyer, who for more than twenty years has contacted Oldsmobile customers who go to Lansing for their new cars. Dwyer is well known to thousands of Oldsmobile owners and dealers throughout the country. He is especially familiar to many Oldsmobile "repeat" owners who, year after year, have come to him to get their latest model Oldsmobiles.

Suggest Cut In New Mex. Crops

LAS CRUCES—Agricultural adjustment administration officials Sunday suggested farmers keep fall-sown acreages to not to exceed eighty per cent of the 1937 soil-depleting base totals.

The AAA suggestion was made particularly to wheat farmers in "anticipation of provision for soil-depleting acres in the 1938 program lower than" those in 1937.

"Although keeping seedings to eighty per cent of the 1937 soil-depleting base should qualify most farmers in 1938, a statement issued through the state extension service Saturday said, "individual farmers who have large percentages of their crop land in soil-depleting bases, or farmers in areas where land may be designated for restoration of native vegetation, will need to make a greater adjustment to meet the requirements of the program."

Formal Tea Marks Opening Woman's Club Year Here

With approximately a hundred guests calling between the hours of three and five Wednesday afternoon, the Artesia Woman's club made their formal opening of the 1937-38 season. The spacious home of Mrs. Fred Cole was the lovely scene for a most beautiful tea. Garden flowers arranged skillfully and artistically lent their grace and charm to the occasion.

With Mrs. Cole, as hostess, receiving the guests were Mrs. J. M. Story, newly elected president whose success for the year is easily predicted by the advance membership already achieved, and the success of this tea, Mrs. J. J. Clarke, first vice president, Mrs. C. R. Blocker, second vice president and chairman of the program committee, Mrs. J. Clark Bruce, secretary, Mrs. J. Hise Myers, treasurer, Mrs. Jesse L. Truett, corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. A. Stroup, custodian and the following past presidents: Mmes. J. B. Atkeson, Mark A. Corbin, H. A. Stroup, G. R. Brainard, C. R. Blocker, F. G. Hartell, G. U. McCrary, I. L. Spratt and Jeff Hightower.

The club, through Mrs. Spratt, was honored to present three talented young Artesia musicians during the afternoon. Miss Virginia Gates played "Impromptu" by Rheinhold with the technical abandon required for this piano composition. Miss Joan Wheatley sang a group of three numbers, "Birthday Song," "McFadyen," "To the Sun," Curran and "Holiday," by Curran with the ease and artistic sympathy of a real artist. Miss Dawn Hornbaker varied the program with a contrasting piano group. Cyril Scott's "Lotus Land" and Chopin's "Nocturne" furnished just that shading of tonal colors to make the modernity of Scott and the classic of Chopin one of utter pleasure to the hearers. A soft violin obligato of familiar tunes accompanied the pleasant chatter of the guests during the afternoon and was supplied by Misses Dorothy Gilmore, Margaret Mahone, Annadele Williams, Betty Jo Brainard with Miss Lela Bess Mann accompanying at the piano.

Presiding at the lovely lace spread tea table which was beautiful with its crystal centerpiece of baby's breath and pink roses flanked on either side by two tall pink tapers were Mrs. John Lanning, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Mrs. J. W. Berry. Assisting in the dining room were Mmes. Arthur Paton, Charles Morgan, Elza Swift and Misses Dorothy Berry and La Rue Mann.

With a paid up membership of well over one hundred members, the activity of the club year is predicted to be greater than ever before. A most successful financial undertaking has just been completed in a dance sponsored by the program committee with the aid of other members of the club, at which time the cost of the year book was raised. These books were presented to each guest as they called at the reception.

Guests included Misses Joan Wheatley, Virginia Gates, Dawn Hornbaker, Gladys Thompson, Mary Lou McConnell, Mrs. Frank Krumphold, Mr. and Mrs. Le Dean McCrory and Messrs. The Advocate's Tested Recipe

By Frances Lee Barton

WHAT goes up must come down" is a simple old axiom that describes what happens when some of us take our soufflé out of the oven. But, ladies, I have something that defies the old rule. Just use quick-cooking tapioca in your soufflé and it will be light and fluffy long after you've put it on the table.

Cheese Soufflé

3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 cup milk; 1 cup grated American cheese; 3 egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon-colored; 3 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, salt, and milk in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water and heat until scalded (allow 8 to 10 minutes after water resumes boiling); then cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Add cheese and stir until melted. Cool slightly while beating eggs. Add egg yolks and mix well. Fold into egg whites. Turn into greased baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 minutes or until soufflé is firm. Serves 6.

MRS. MARK CARAWAY ENTERTAINS WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Mark Caraway was hostess to a number of friends at the home of Mrs. Charles Kimball Wednesday afternoon. The following guests enjoyed contract bridge throughout the afternoon: Mmes. Al Woelk, Carl Folkner, Fletcher Collins, Leland Price, Johnny Williams, Harold Dunn, Leon Clayton, Cruze Corkran, H. N. Smith, Howard Stroup, and Charles Kimball. High score was won by Mrs. John Williams while second high was awarded to Mrs. Dunn. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Kimball, served a light refreshment course at the conclusion of the game. Three guests were invited for refreshments and included Mrs. Lewis Beyer, Miss Dixie Smith and Mrs. Walter Douglas.

PICNIC AT CLARK LAKE

On Tuesday night, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Al Woelk, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Caraway and Mrs. Howard Stroup composed a party of picknickers at Clarklake. A picnic lunch served at the lake added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Secrecy Marked Troop Departure

Over two decades have passed since June, 1917, when the vanguard of American troops arrived in France to participate in the World War. The prevailing censorship clamped down the lid so tightly that the most massive troop movement ever undertaken by our nation was made in the utmost secrecy.

General Pershing reached France on June 13. The following day the first group of troop-laden transports sailed silently from Staten Island, New York, bound for overseas. The squadron of ships which left on June 14 and 17 bore the first division of army regulars and the Fifth regiment of U. S. Marines, and the first of these forces was landed at St. Nazaire on June 26.

These pioneers of the American Expeditionary Force crossed the Atlantic without a single disaster or loss of life due to enemy causes, although twice their ships were attacked by enemy submarines. Other units followed until 2,089,404 men had been transported overseas. The peak of the troop movement was reached in the summer of 1918, when over 300,000 men were landed in one month. Eventually America had more than 4,000,000 men under arms.

Citizens saw our soldiers or marines at war camps, on troop trains and in cities or towns, but their presence in France was revealed only by cables from abroad, all of which carefully concealed the names of units, their numbers, or ports of arrival.

When the Fifth Marines left the navy yard at Philadelphia, its battalions were reviewed by their wartime commandant, Major General Barnett, who gave them a brief word of farewell before they boarded trains for New York. Drums and bugles were silent, no flags were unfurled, and their departure was marked with such secrecy that a bluejacket baseball team, practicing on a nearby diamond, continued to play, unaware than an epochal event was taking place only a few hundred yards away.

The silent exodus was in sharp contrast to the reception accorded the victorious A. E. F. when its units returned from France to receive a joyous welcome in cities from coast to coast. Cheering thousands, flying ticker tape and an outburst of national emotion greeted those who returned safely, while a veil of war-time censorship had blanketed their departure for the great adventure.

Cattle Shipments From Western Ranges Are Smaller Than For 1936

Shipments of cattle and calves from seventeen states in the western cattle area, extending from North Dakota to Texas and westward, during the five months, August to December, 1937, will be about five percent smaller than shipments during the corresponding period of 1936, according to the report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. This reduction is equivalent to about 330,000 head. Compared with 1935 shipments, the estimated numbers to be shipped this year will be about three percent larger and with the 10-year average (1925-34) they will be 13 percent larger.

The reduction in total marketings this fall from last will be a result of the much smaller movement from the states where the 1936 drought forced heavy marketings in that year, and where the droughts of 1934 and 1936 caused marked decreases in cattle numbers. In other states where feed conditions in 1936 were fairly good and where there was a tendency to reduce marketings in 1936 because of the decline in cattle prices, marketings this fall are expected to exceed those of 1936. Included in this group are Texas, Colorado, and most of the states west of the continental divide.

Oil Worker Has A "Seeing Eye"

Miss Elizabeth Garrett, who will begin her period of training October 24th at Morristown, New Jersey, to secure a "seeing eye" dog, described as "delightful" a visit she had at Roswell Thursday with Jack Green, who recently got one of the dogs at Morristown.

Green, who is thirty-two years old, lost his eyesight August 1, 1936, when he got drilling fluid in his eyes while working on an oil well drilling crew at Hobbs. "I am not very old," Green said, "but feel I have lived a long time. I but have nearly every kind of work and put money into nearly every kind of a venture, some very successful, but have never made an investment which paid as big dividends as the investment in my dog. I could do nothing before I got him—now I can get around again."

He said that, counting his four weeks period of training at Morristown, he had had the dog since April 18th. It is a 20-months-old German sheppard, named "Gabby." When Green got the dog he was told there were only 300 in use in the entire United States.

He plans to earn a living now selling newspapers, with the aid of his dog.

Although in a strange town, Jack and Gabby had no trouble in finding their way around in Roswell. They were watched here with keen interest, especially because of the fact that Miss Garrett, one of Roswell's most beloved citizens, will soon have a similar dog.

'Atta cop! . . . sending people right where you should—here to my station. Because the only real official Mileage Merchant is a CONOCO Mileage Merchant like me. I sure appreciate half a dozen cars from different states driving in this morning already. But let me tell you. Being in business for myself here, my surest living is from always pleasing the homefolks. And they're just as sold as any long distance tourist, on having the engine Oil-Plated by my Conoco Germ Processed oil. You know the way Oil-Plating is altogether different from anything else. It holds on like a leech, where all the worst wear used to come in the engine. Can't drain off the working parts. Then it can't leave any spots without oil . . . not even while the car is standing still . . . nor all the while it's spinning along on the hottest day. This Oil-Plating is really like a long-lasting part of the engine. Then where's any chance for too much wear, or needing more oil all the time? And there you are . . . people notice all their mileage and the way the engine keeps quiet and cool from Oil-Plating. That's how I've got them picking me out for their Mileage Merchant.

9 Cent Cotton Loans Authorized

WASHINGTON—Loans of nine cents a pound will be made on the 1937 cotton crop, Secretary Wallace announced Monday. In addition, each grower participating in next year's production control program will be eligible for a maximum subsidy of 3 cents a pound on 65 per cent of this year's basic production.

The commodity credit corporation will make nine cent loans on cotton classing seven-eighths middling cotton, or better; eight cents on cotton classing thirteen-sixteenths staple, or better; seven cents on cotton classing seven-eighths inch as to staple but under middling as to grade.

The purpose is to buoy up prices of cotton. Sagging prices prompted legislators to demand loan subsidies at the last session of congress.

A condition of each loan is that the producer-borrower agrees to participate in the 1938 adjustment program.

No loan will be made on seven-eighths inch cotton or better in staple which is of grade not deliverable on contract under the regulations of the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges and no loan will be made on thirteen-sixteenths inch cotton under middling grade.

Loans will bear interest of four per cent and mature July 31. There will be available "as soon as necessary arrangements can be completed," but not later than September 15.

The commodity credit corporation is to finance the loan program. Congress authorized Wallace to use $130,000,000 for a cotton price adjustment program for the 1937 crop.

FIRST BALE FOR PECOS, TEXAS

Crop Prospects remained bright in the Trans-Pecos section this week as the first trickle of what is expected to be a record crop movement got under way.

Juan Chabarría, who farms on the old Chris Ritz ranch, brought to Pecos Friday the first bale of cotton grown in Reeves county. The first bale produced in the Red Bluff district of the Pecos valley was received previously at Barstow.

Picking is not expected to reach major proportions until about September 15 and the peak will be reached in the latter part of October. A yield of 15,000 to 18,000 bales is expected in the Red Bluff district, in addition to the amount produced at Balmorhea and on the pump farms in Reeves county. A shortage of pickers is expected when the work gets well under way.—Pecos (Texas) Enterprise.

Sen. King Wants Demo Candidate Outside Of The New Deal In 1940

WASHINGTON—A proposal from Senator King (D-Utah) that the 1940 Democratic presidential candidate be a man from outside the New Deal's inner circle emphasized Saturday the fundamental split within the party.

King said the nominee should be someone like Senators Byrd of Virginia, Clark of Missouri or Bailey of North Carolina. He asserted he could not "second the nomination" by Senator Minton (D-Ind) of Paul V. McNutt.

King was one of the leading opponents of the Roosevelt court bill and the three senators he named also were opposed to the measure as well as many other New Deal proposals.

McNutt, former Indiana governor and now American High Commissioner to the Philippines, is described by his friends as seeing eye-to-eye with the New Deal.

King said it was "too early" to pick the Democratic nominee.

Examiner Hears Rancher Appeals

A. H. Moyer, Washington, D. C. examiner for the division of grazing, department of the interior, returned to Washington Saturday after hearing evidence in four appeals from allotments of range land at Carlsbad under the Taylor grazing act, and said he would make a decision within the next two weeks.

Ranchers asking changes in their allotments were National Livestock company, John Day, Glad Polk, Louis Pipkin, Billie Wilson and Jones, all of whom operate on the public domain west of Carlsbad.

The public domain controlled by the four interests are so interwoven that the National Livestock company asks that changes be made to make grazing land more accessible to water.

Glad Polk, who homesteaded a quarter section of land on which the National Livestock company operated, is asking extension of his public range.

Pipkin interests are between two National Livestock ranges, making it necessary for National stock to be driven around the Pipkin range far water.

All four parties are asking for extension of their grazing rights.

The department of the interior, which is paid for use of the public domain according to the number of livestock grazed on it, seeks to let the land to ranchers who have the best sources of water, and who better care for the range.

Harvest Festival Completes Prizes

Directors of the 1937 All-Southwestern Harvest Festival have approved the final score card for judging the community agricultural exhibits at the Harvest Festival in El Paso September 30 to October 4th. This score-card is sufficiently inclusive and general so that all the farming communities within several hundred miles of El Paso will have no difficulty in complying with it, and all should have an equally good chance of winning one of the ten major community exhibit prizes being offered.

The first prize for the best community booth, based on the score card, is fifty dollars, second prize is forty-five dollars, the third prize forty and on down to ten dollars each for the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth. Strict adherence to the score card is advised.

Officials of the extension service of the New Mexico A. and M. College and the Texas A. and M. College are being asked to act as judges for the agricultural exhibits at the Harvest Festival.

In addition to the community exhibits, prizes of $6.00 are being offered for exhibits of the best three stalks of cotton; prizes of $12.00 for exhibits of the best 20 bolls of cotton; $22.50 for the best bales of alfalfa; $27.00 for the best exhibits of ten ears of each white, yellow and Mexican June corn; $75.00 for the best exhibits of fresh fruits and vegetables; $22.50 for the best exhibits of field crops and threshed seeds; $80.00 for the best canned or preserved vegetables, fruits and berries. Prizes of $2.25 are also offered for the best of several varieties of fruits and vegetable pickles; relishes; for the best containers of honey, canned meats and fowl, displays of home made cheese, shelled nuts, lard, and yeast brands.

Many other prizes are offered.

Lines to a Lovely Lady
by Lawrence Hawthorne

You may not know, lovely lady,
That my heart has adored your charms:
You may not know that I love you so—
That I long for your lips and arms!
No word has ever been spoken,
For I feared you could never care;
And yet—ah well, yearning bids me tell
Of the dream I would have you share!

Just you and I and the moonlight,
In a garden where roses grow—
Just you and I, while the world rolls by,
And the years gently come and go . . .
I dream this dream of enchantment,
And I wish that it might come true—
That some glad day I could steal away
To this garden of dreams with you!

MEMPHIS—The Rust Brothers unveiled a new cotton picking machine Saturday within sight of the mid southern fields where the centuries-old hand technique remains the sole means of harvesting one of the biggest crops in years.

John Rust rolled out the huge new machine he and his brother, Mack, have complete, and claimed it would answer objections to mechanized pickers they demonstrated last year.

The new picker has double the picking units of the original machine with electric lights for night work.

"The machine will pick cotton more cheaply than hand labor and pluck as many bolls from the stalk in five minutes as an ordinary worker could pick in an entire day," John Rust declared. "It will be placed in operation on a Mississippi plantation within two weeks for exhaustive field tests."

The picker is self-powered. One man can handle it. As it moves down the rows of cotton, the stalks are compressed into a channel against hundreds of moist spindles twirling on revolving drums staggered tandem fashion. The spindles of one unit pick from the right side of the stalk and the other from the left.

A new type doffer—to prevent clogging—strips the cotton from the spindles and drops it into two revolving receptacles, from which it is blown through two pipes into huge cotton bags hung on the rear of the machine.

Last year's Rust picker was pulled by a tractor and had only one drum of spindles. It was necessary to make two trips over a row to pick it cleanly, and much cotton was knocked or dropped to the ground. There was trash or bits of stalk and leaves in the staple.

Rust said the machines will be sold outright to planters when production begins next year. He and his brother have given up the idea of leasing them, or attempting to control any social changes that might result from mechanized picking.

Their proposal to "socialize" their own profits from the invention, investing them in a foundation to be used to reduce the social and economic effects the machine might cause in displacing labor, has not changed, he said.

Cotton Picking Starts—First Bale Received Tuesday

Cotton picking has started in this section and will be the order of the day shortly. Pickers are in a few fields in the farming section southeast of here and a general movement to the gins will get under way within the next ten days, if the bolls continue to mature at the present rate.

The cotton harvesting operations in the south end of the county are getting fairly well started. One gin at Loving is reported to have turned out more than twenty-five bales.

Some transient labor is ready to start the picking season, but the labor supply is not as great as last season. At Carlsbad the employment office there will assist farmers in getting help as far as possible. Arba Green, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said his office would gladly assist if it could be of any service in placing laborers in the various localities. The Texas cotton crop will retain more laborers who might otherwise come westward. A late crop on the panhandle of Texas may release some pickers or the early season here.

Revised estimates of the probable production of the two counties in the valley is guessing the cotton crop at 52,000 bales with 29,000 for Chaves county and 33,000 for Eddy county. Most of the increase in yield is in this section, where they shallow water belt has been further developed.

The first bale reported received here was ginned by the Artesia Alfalfa Growers association at 6:00 p. m., Tuesday evening. The bale, grown by Ygnacio Lopez, on the S. S. Ward farm south of Artesia, made a good turn out. The seed cotton weighed 1280 pounds and the lint 485.

Col. Atwood Tells About International Rotary Convention

Col. J. D. Atwood of Roswell, the principal speaker of the Artesia Rotary club's luncheon program Tuesday, told of his trip to the Rotary International convention at Nice, France, the past summer. Col. Atwood, one of the delegates from this district, took occasion to visit a number of interesting points in Europe following the convention at Nice and while abroad took moving pictures of interesting people and interesting places.

Closing his talk on the international convention, he said every Rotarian wants peace and whether international peace is ever realized, Rotary will make its influence felt. Concluding he said "I never intend to make another speech without stressing the need of preparedness of national defenses, because it has been my observation that nations ruled by a dictator, seeking expansion of territory always pick on the nation or country which is least prepared to defend itself."

Visitors at the luncheon included A. C. Falen of Lindsborg, Kansas; J. H. Myer and Col. Atwood of Roswell.
