Few motion pictures of the last several years have managed to combine in such joyous abundance the thrills, romance and excitement to be found in the current Columbia drama, "Texas," which starts Sunday at the Valley Theater. Fresh, fabulously filled with gun-trigger action, "Texas," is a spectacular example of movie-making at its entertaining best.

Starring William Holden, Claire Trevor and Glenn Ford, "Texas" is set against the turbulent background of newly-won frontiers and tells of the danger-stalked efforts of brave men and reckless women to win life, love and fortune in a land that knew neither law nor fear. A story of Texas shortly after the Civil War, when bandit raids and hostile Indians prevented cattlemen from bringing their steers to the railroad at Abilene, Kan., a thousand miles away, "Texas" is a thrilling compound of heroic adventure.

Holden tops his finest performances as the quick-tempered young range adventurer, who is ready and eager to tackle with fists, guns or wits, the best or worst the West can offer. Miss Trevor is seen as a fighting vixen of a frontier woman, and Ford is finely cast as the hard-riding youngster, who leads the Texas cattlemen into Abilene and the beginnings of a Prairie Empire's proud destiny.

School for Handlers Of Food Will Be Held By Health Officer

Dr. O. E. Puckett, district health officer, said Saturday that some time in January he and a representative of the state health officer will conduct a school for food handlers in Carlsbad.

The school, which will be held at Dr. Puckett's request, is aimed at elimination of spreading of diseases through food handling, he said.

The health officer also requested that anyone who would like to be given a Wasserman test or others in need of venereal disease treatment but unable to afford treatment by a physician should consult Dr. R. T. Spencer at the health office in the courthouse on Mondays, the day of each week that the venereal disease clinic is held in Carlsbad.

Hancock (Md.) High School students are learning home economics in style, in a six-room brick house, completely furnished. They use the kitchen for baking and cooking, other rooms for interior decorating and the grounds for landscaping in an unique work experimental home. The school board found it more economical to buy the house adjoining the school than to build an addition to the school.

Don Pickup of Fall River, Mass., received thirty-five boxes of cookies after he told a radio audience that as a newly arrived Duke University freshman he expected to "get homesick for my mother's cookies." Although the cookies came from points all the way from New Hampshire to Georgia, Don isn't convinced yet that any of them are "just like Mom's."

NICE QUESTION: Why can your skates skim over ice, but not on slickest glass? Because the stroke of the blade melts the ice slightly to provide lubrication.

And why can an ice-cold engine that's OIL-PLATED give smooth, lubricated starts, while lubrication that depends on fast flow alone can often mean harmful dragging starts? Because OIL-PLATING can be up to topmost piston rings before mere fast flow could begin to get there.

An OIL-PLATED engine is yours as you change to popular-priced Conoco Nth oil for Winter. Its man-made extra substance bonds OIL-PLATING—as if "magnetized"—all over inner engine parts. OIL-PLATING can't all quickly drain down. Then before the starter starts, OIL-PLATING can be ready against oil-starved Winter starting...

But what soon melts any snow on the hood? Yes, the air underneath gets hotter than hotcha. And then you want the sort of oil economy that took first place for Conoco Nth in the sensational Death Valley Death-Test. Along with five other great quality brands, Conoco Nth showed how long it could stand heat and speed. Each of six identical everyday cars got one strict 5-quart fill of some competing brand tested. All six brands were run alike, without one added drop, till each oil and engine gave out. The Certified Results:

- The 5-quart fill in Car No. 2 gave out when Conoco Nth was still up at 3.65 quarts
- The 5-quart fill in car No. 4 gave out when Conoco Nth was still up at 3.55 quarts
- The 5-quart fill in car No. 6 gave out when Conoco Nth was still up at 3.40 quarts
- The 5-quart fill in car No. 5 gave out when Conoco Nth was still up at 3.20 quarts
- The 5-quart fill in car No. 1 gave out when Conoco Nth was still up at 2.70 quarts

Provide Limited Quail Season in Seven Counties

There will be a limited quail season in seven counties this year after all, according to announcement made by Elliott S. Barker, state game warden. A special meeting of the game commission was held at Hot Springs to reconsider its former action in closing the season over the entire state, he said. The season will be Nov. 16-30 and will apply only to Grant, Luna, Hidalgo, Dona Ana, Socorro and Sierra Counties and that portion of Valencia County lying east of the Field-Suwanee road. The bag limit is ten birds per day, or in possession, and thirty birds per season. The warden said that conditions generally do not justify a season in any county except the seven named. "True, there are a few isolated spots in some other counties where quail are plentiful," said the warden, "but there are so many bad spots that will have to be restocked that we must save some areas to trap from. We are sure that the closing of most of the state will be for the good of both the birds and sportsmen in the long run and we earnestly solicit the cooperation of all in protecting the birds this season."

Nov. 18 Deadline For Employers To Get Credit

Employers of eight or more persons who owe a federal payroll tax for any or all of the years 1936-40 may receive credit for the amount of 90 per cent of the New Mexico unemployment compensation contributions for the same years, if the contributions are made before Nov. 18, Benjamin D. Luchini, employment security commission chairman has announced. Luchini said the Nov. 18 deadline was set by the recently enacted federal revenue act of 1941, prior to which July 1, 1941, was the deadline for 1940 contributions and Dec. 7, 1940, the last day of grace for all preceding years. Some employers who were found liable for past years' contributions were obliged to pay the state tax after the federal tax already had been paid. Luchini said these employers may obtain a refund from the commissioner of internal revenue by claiming credit on or before March 20, 1942. The refund will amount to 2.7 per cent of the payroll for each of the years involved. The new law also provides special relief for the years 1936-40 in bankruptcy proceedings and other cases in which the assets of the taxpayer are in custody and control of the court, Luchini said.

How to Make Your Tires LAST LONGER! If you need Tires, now is a good time to buy them—because tires put on in cold weather actually give up to 20% more miles of tread wear than tires put on in hot weather. This is a time for all of us to use rubber wisely. To help you get all the mileage out of the tires that are on your car now, we offer the following proved ways to make your tires last longer with safety: Tires wear out 62% faster at 70 miles an hour than at 50. A wheel 1/2-inch out of line drags a tire 87 feet sideways in every mile. Check tire pressure every week; too little pressure breaks down sidewalls and causes tires to wear uneven on outside ribs. Too much pressure wears out center of tread. Reverse the direction of the tires every 2,000 or 3,000 miles. At the same time, check your tires for cuts and bruises. This is good economy and may prevent a serious accident. For added safety and economy, when buying new tires, replace with new inner-tubes. They prolong the life of your tires and give you greater safety and mileage by maintaining a more even air pressure and by doing this you can have your tires regrooved and recapped, thereby giving thousands of extra miles. Have your tires recapped by a competent dealer if they are good enough. A good recapped tire will give you thousands of miles of additional service and will give you the same assurance against skidding as a new tire. We are installing a modern, new recapping plant to handle all popular size tires; something new in this section of the country. Watch for further announcements. We invite everyone to come by and inspect this new plant. We will be glad to explain anything you would like to know about it. Pior Rubber Company Vulcanizing — Lubricating — Washing

Farmers Are Urged by Wayne to Plant Pure Cotton Seed in 1941

The supply of registered and certified seed of the 1517 and 1064 strains of Acala cotton will be limited for 1941 planting, although the total acreage passed as registered and certified seed should produce approximately enough to plant all the irrigated cotton acreage in New Mexico, according to Clayborn Wayne of the New Mexico Extension Service.

Cotton producers should make arrangements to secure their planting seed for the 1942 planting before Jan. 1, as the various New Mexico Crop Improvement Association locals are obligated to hold all registered and certified seed for use within the state until that time, after which sales can be made outside the state. El Paso and Hudspeith Counties in Texas depend to a great extent upon New Mexico for their seed stocks, Wayne said.

The total acreage of cotton which passed field inspection this year was 2,069 acres, of which 867 was registered and 1,202 certified. This acreage should produce about 1,862,100 pounds of cotton seed, Wayne estimated. Of the 867 acres of registered seed, 455 acres were of 1064, and the remaining 412 acres of 1517 seed. The 1,202 acres of certified seed were divided 755 acres of 1517 and 447 of 1064.

New Mexico cotton is developing a wonderful record for its staple, strength and spinning quality, Wayne said, and advised that in order to continue this improvement, farmers should plant only pure seed. The introduction of "SxP" has made the planting of registered and certified seed more important than ever. Farmers must remember that a mixture of "SxP" in their Acala is just as harmful as a mixture of short staple in "SxP," and they should arrange to plant only registered or certified seed next year, he said.

Warden Barker Looks for Good Waterfowl Year

Every indication is there will be excellent waterfowl hunting season this fall, according to Elliott S. Barker, state game warden. "Certainly there is plenty of water with all wet weather lakes brimfull and ducks and geese are already coming in in great numbers," he said.

The waterfowl season opened Sunday and will continue through December 31. The legal hunting hours for waterfowl are sunrise to 4 o'clock each afternoon. The bag limit is ten ducks in the aggregate, of which not more than three, either or both, may be redheads or buffleheads. The bag limit on geese is three. The possession limit on both ducks and geese is not more than two days' bag limit. The bag limit on coots is twenty-five per day.

The warden also called attention to the fact that a state bird license is required of anyone to hunt waterfowl, and, in addition, a federal duck stamp is required of anyone more than the age of 16 years to hunt ducks and geese. The state law provides that no gun larger than twelve-gauge may be used and all guns must be plugged so that they hold not more than three shots. Rifles and pistols of any caliber are prohibited, and live decoys may not be used.

"My own observations and many reports from the field indicate that ducks are already here in great numbers and some geese are reported in various sections," the warden said, "and we feel sure we will have the best waterfowl season we have had for many years."

From Near and Far, Some Timely, Some of Human Interest

A farmer came by while members of Company K, 145th Infantry, were swimming in Cane River in Louisiana. "I caught a six-foot alligator in there yesterday," the farmer remarked. The soldiers drydocked in haste, just as a five-foot alligator swam by.

Jenkingtown, Pa., police can't figure what a series of thefts adds up to. Disappearance of an adding machine at the Abington Building Association office marked the seventh such theft in the Philadelphia suburb in six months.

The foam on the glass of beer Charles Hawes, 63, of Chicago, ordered was blamed for giving him a pain in the neck. Hawes followed his usual custom of pouring salt in his beer and then took a big draw at the glass—and choked. After physicians at the little company of Mary Hospital extricated the top of the salt shaker, Hawes explained the accident: "I didn't notice the top because of the foam."

The Army is eliminating the chance of a soldier bleeding to death because his blood type could not be determined immediately for a transfusion. Col. Howard L. Boucher, medical chief in Ohio's Selective Service, said soldiers now are being blood-typed and their type stamped into their metal identification discs.

At Eureka, Mon., the siren was going full blast, but not a peep came from the motor when the fire engine finally reached Mrs. William Porter's blazing home. En route, the engine stalled. A passing truckman towed it to the fire in time to save the family wash, dripping on a backyard line.

A Philadelphia surveyor's assistant, Fred Tarnnell, followed his boss' instructions so carefully he wound up in a hospital. While Tarnnell held a stake, the surveyor sighted through his instruments and motioned him back—back—back—until Tarnnell fell over a twelve-foot wall into a stream.

Near Vincennes, Ind., three-year-old Anna Marie Snyder flagged down help after her mother was killed in an automobile accident. Mrs. Margaret Skinner Snyder, 24, of Frichton, died in an automobile that ran off the road and turned over. A truck driver who stopped at the scene said his attention had been attracted by the child standing beside the highway and waving. She was not hurt.

To demonstrate the durability of a $49.50 rug, a Wilkingsburg, Pa., furniture store placed it on the sidewalk and invited passersby to walk on it. Several were doing so when a man in overalls asked them to step aside. He rolled up the rug, hoisted it to his shoulder and walked away. At the store's request, police are hunting him.

Egg and Butter Production for Higher Profits

With a record of producing not more than half of the butterfat requirements of the state and an insufficient number of eggs, New Mexico dairy and poultry producers are presented an opportunity to assist in national defense, in accordance with the recommendation of the New Mexico USDA defense board, and at the same time increase their income from farm operations, the agricultural economics department of New Mexico A. & M. College Experiment Station at State College reports.

According to P. W. Cockerill of the agricultural economics department, the egg and butterfat production of the state is concentrated in Roosevelt, Curry, Union and Quay Counties. Noting the federal government's and state board's call for increased production of these commodities, Cockerill said it is from this East New Mexico area "that we should look for increased production for defense."

For the five-year period ending in 1928, college workers made an exhaustive study of 125 farms in Curry and Roosevelt Counties, right in the heart of the dairy and poultry area. According to Cockerill, the study showed that farms which sold more than average amounts of butterfat and eggs were in the best income situation.

With the price of sorghums, the principal feed crop in the eastern counties, 20 per cent lower now than in 1924-28, butterfat prices 16 per cent lower, and egg prices virtually the same, the college economist believes that the results of the earlier study apply in 1941 as well in 1928: The more dairy and poultry product Eastern New Mexico farmers produce and sell, the better off they will be financially.

"Thus it seems," Cockerill reports, "that farmers in New Mexico's dairy belt can profitably respond to the call of the secretary of agriculture for greater production of these two essential foods and thereby aid in the country's total defense."

Mrs. Merle Johns and Mrs. Lura Ross went to Lubbock, Tex., Armistice Day to see Miss Ryan, a former nurse at Artesia Memorial Hospital, who has been in a Lubbock hospital about a week.

Dere Folks:

What the Boys Write Home Through The Advocate

Fort Stotsenburg
Pampanga, P. I.
Battery F, 200 CA (AA)
Oct. 15, 1941.

Dear Mother and all:

How is everything at home now? We left Fort Bliss Aug. 30 and got here Sept 27; on the water seventeen days.

We saw part of the islands two days before we landed and it sure did look good. The food on the boat was all getting stale and the weather so hot. Everyone was getting tired and sore from so much shaking. I only want to ride it one more time and that is going home.

The cars here have steering wheels on the right side and drive on the left side of the road. The traffic is the worst I ever saw. We are sixty miles from Manila and have made several trips there after all of our equipment. The rest of the batteries have wrecked several trucks. We are the only battery that hasn't wrecked a truck and the colonel thinks that is pretty good.

This country is sure unhealthy because it is so swampy. I don't see how the people here live at all. They build a little grass house on pits in the swamps and have horses, hogs, chickens and water buffalo under them and they sure stink.

The grass grows ten feet tall everywhere. A tree will fall over with roots sticking up but it will keep on growing. It is certainly an interesting country, but we haven't seen much of it yet. We have all of our equipment and have been cleaning it and getting ready to go. We were drilling last night. The searchlights were shining on the plane and we were tracing it with our guns. Something went wrong with the plane. It caught on fire and lit up the clouds with a red glow. It was a big two-motor plane and crashed close to us. Four men were in it and all were killed. I don't want to see another one crash because it sure is a bad sight.

We went out this morning in the tall grass and set up our guns.

The money here is pesos and centavos. Two pesos make one dollar of our money and two centavos make one penny. This stamp cost one peso. If I don't send it airmail, it will take a month longer to get there.

Love to all,
Your son,
Private Roderick Warren.

Quarter Horse of Ed Watts Brings $6,000 From Texan

But Hope Rancher Sells Joe Tom to Middleman for $4,000

Sale of Joe Tom, 5-year-old stallion quarter horse, owned by Ed Watts, rancher west of Hope, at the race meet at Eagle Pass, Tex., was disclosed last week, says The Carlsbad Current-Argus.

Watts sold the horse to a Texas man for $4,000, who then sold him to Ann Burnett Hall of Fort Worth for $6,000.

The new owner is a daughter of the late Tom Burnett, who owned Joe Hancock, sire of Joe Tom.

Asked why she didn't pay Watts $6,000 for the horse, instead of the "middleman," Mrs. Hall replied, "I just hadn't made up my mind to buy him."

Joe Tom, well known to followers of racing events in New Mexico and Texas, is a half-brother of Joe-The-Wrangler and War Chief, owned by Elmer and Charlie Hepler, and of Wonderlad, owned by Elmer Hepler and Jim Derrick.

Another horse sired by Joe Hancock that brought a big price was Jim Dandy, the 2-year-old colt sold several months ago by Elmer Hepler for $3,000 to August Busch, St. Louis brewer. Jim Dandy won the quarter horse championship at Fort Worth last year.

Joe Tom, entered in several rodeo races in Carlsbad, was trained by Watts at his ranch. Joe Tom's half-brother, Joe-The-Wrangler, has been retired from the track and is at the Charley Hepler ranch near Pinon. War Chief and Wonderlad were big winners in racing events the past summer.

Farmers need extra reels of barbed wire for movable or permanent fences. It might as well be the longest lasting barbed wire... for that's the only certain economy. Sheffield Barbed Wire is durable, handy to unroll and stretch and comes in full-length, full-weight reels. Come in and judge it for yourself.

Metal Statue Unearthed at Carlsbad Spring Is Believed to Be Ancient Biblical Teraphim

(J. R. Miller, petroleum geologist, who wrote a series of articles a few months ago for The Advocate concerning prophecies in the Bible made 2,500 years ago, which are being fulfilled today, has viewed and studied a strange, hollow metal statue, found in about 1936, south of Carlsbad Spring, has referred to Biblical writings and firmly believes it was brought to the Western Hemisphere by the earliest people from the Eastern Hemisphere, all of which he sets forth in an interesting account, published below. Mr. Miller is one of the few people who have seen this statue, which may be a rare treasure, a "teraphim," and which has led him to do some research.

This article by Mr. Miller is believed to be the first ever in print about the statue, which is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Earnest, Carlsbad.)

This is a picture, no doubt, of an ancient teraphim. The Greek word for teraphim means "nourishers," and it is a kind of household god in human form.

Hosea makes this statement: "For the children of Israel shall abide many days without a king, and without a prince, and without a sacrifice, and without an image, and without an ephod, and without a teraphim." Thus we see a prophecy made 2,675 years ago being fulfilled before our own eyes.

The children of Dan overpowered Micah and robbed him of his teraphim, graven image, molten image and ephod. It was, no doubt, a teraphim that Rachel stole from her father, when Jacob returned to his native land. You will recall the Scripture, "Now Rachel had taken the images, and put them in the camel's furniture, and sat upon them."

May we consider some of the reasons why he believe the image is a teraphim? All Biblical statements having any reference to a teraphim associate it with an ephod and robe, and represents Aaron in his priestly attire. In Exodus, we read, "And these are the garments which they shall make; a breastplate, and an ephod, and a robe, and a brodered coat, a mitre and a girdle." In referring to the ephod, the Scripture states: "It shall have the two shoulder-pieces thereof joined at the two edge thereof; and so it shall be joined together."

The image has the ephod, robe, breastplate, mitre, and you can see in the picture where the ephod is fastened together with the curious girdle referred to by the Scripture. In referring to the breastplate the Scripture states: "Four-square it shall be being doubled; a span shall be the length thereof, and a span shall be the breadth thereof. And thou shalt set in it settings of stones, even four rows of stones." The breastplate of the image is foursquare, and has the indentures for the twelve stones which represented the twelve tribes of the children of Israel.

The Scripture states: "And he put the mitre upon his head." The mitre or tiara, was the head covering of the ancient Persians, the crown of the ancient Persian kings. These alone had the privilege of wearing the tiara erect; the nobility and priests wore it depressed, or turned down on the fore side. You will note from the picture that the mitre is depressed to represent the attire of a priest.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Earnest, Box 621, Carlsbad, now own the teraphim. It was found after a high rise in the Pecos River, just south of the Carlsbad Spring. Mr. Earnest said a garage man found it about 1936, and kept it in his garage for some time, and then threw it out not realizing it had any value. Mr. Earnest purchased it for $1 and has refused an offer of $250. The metal of which it is composed is reported to contain some silver. The height is twenty-six inches, and it weighs twenty-five pounds.

You will note the feet are uncovered, which represented in olden times humbleness. Too, at the time these images originated, they anointed the great toe of the priest. The hand is extended as though a blessing was being bestowed. The Scripture often makes such references as, "But to Israel he saith, All day long I have stretched forth my hands unto a disobedient and gainsaying people."

Under the arm of the teraphim you can see the vessel that contained the anointing oil. On the right shoulder is the basket of unleavened bread.

The work is wonderful and the features are artistically cast. Even the nails of the hands and feet look like living members.

Teachers, Catholic priests, missionaries, ministers and scholars are among those who visit Mr. and Mrs. Earnest, and all are nonplused as to the origin, and how this strange image reached the wet bank of the Pecos River at Carlsbad Spring.
