Watson Resigns Post as Chamber Manager

W. Watson, secretary-manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce for the past six months, resigned his position here today.

His appointment with the Chamber of Commerce was announced by McAnally, president.

Watson requested in a letter that McAnally be relieved of his duties here as soon as possible but not later than Oct. 15. This was granted at a special meeting of the board of directors held here on Tuesday.

Watson expressed regret over the loss of his position, who, he pointed out, has done an outstanding job in his promotion of the recognition which he has received.

Watson was also making plans for a new manager and expressed the hope they could be made even before Manager McAnally leaves. They have three applications at this time.

Watson also pointed out that he would continue to be in charge in case that manager is not secured before Oct. 15. Members of the board agreed to cooperate in the operation of the office even with members promising to spend time there if necessary until a new secretary is secured.

Watson's new post will be that of national affairs advisor for the Department of Governmental Affairs of the national organization. He was offered the job last week by Ralph Bradford, general manager of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, and Clarence Miles, manager of the Department of Governmental Affairs, at a conference held in Estes Park, Colo., where the directors of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce were in session.

Watson will spend part of his time in Washington, D. C., but will have his headquarters in Dallas, Tex. He will work in some eight states, including New Mexico.

Manager Watson in his letter of resignation said, "It is with a feeling of regret that this resignation is tendered, for my work in Artesia has been exceedingly pleasant and the cooperation which I have received from the directors and members of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce has been entirely satisfactory."

He came to Artesia March 15 and took over the organization. Since that time there has been a steady increase in the membership as well as the activities of the organization.

Carlos Dunn, 66, Former Artesian, Dies at El Paso

Carlos L. Dunn, 66, of Fort Stockton, Tex., formerly of Artesia, died in an El Paso hospital early Friday after a brief illness.

Funeral services and burial at Fort Stockton at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon were attended from Artesia by two of Mr. Dunn's brothers, Preston and Ruben Dunn, and by two nephews and a niece, Calvin and Garold Dunn and Mrs. Lee Francis.

Mr. Dunn is survived by his widow; two sons, Carlos Dunn, Jr., Alpine, Tex., and C. W. Dunn, Fort Worth, Tex.; two daughters, Miss Mary Ethel Dunn and Mrs. C. R. De Ax, Fort Stockton; three brothers, Preston and Ruben Dunn, Artesia, and A. L. Dunn, Alamogordo; four sisters, Mrs. J. W. Black, Ballinger, Tex.; Mrs. H. M. Linecum, Buhl, Idaho; Mrs. Lee Barnhill, San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Laura Ferguson, Kermit, Tex., and three grandchildren.

Year's Boy Scout Program Is Outlined for Nine Districts

With representatives present from all of the nine districts in the Eastern New Mexico Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America for the executive board meeting and that of operating committee chairmen except one, the budget for 1946-47 was adopted and the program outlined here for the year last Thursday.

Some 59 were in attendance for the banquet held in the basement of the First Christian Church and served by the Christian ladies on Thursday evening. It was at this meeting that the various reports of committee chairmen as well as district chairmen were made and final approval was given their recommendations.

President Tom Cramer of Carlsbad presided for the business session, while J. D. Smith, chairman of the Gateway District, presided during the banquet. The only entertainment was three musical numbers presented by the high school sextette, which is under the direction of Howard Miller.

McAnally Warns Of Racket Being Worked by Negroes

A warning was issued this morning to cotton farmers of the Central Pecos Valley by Artie McAnally, manager of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association, of a racket being worked by Negro cotton pickers, several cases of which have been reported.

On a pretext that he owes someone money in Dallas, or some other Texas city, a Negro will propose to his employer that he be advanced the money and allow him to drive to Texas so he can pay off his debt, in return for which the Negro will round up a load of other pickers to bring them back.

In most cases reported, McAnally said, the Negroes have been advanced the money and allowed to drive the trucks away. But when they have gone part way—or even to Dallas—they desert the trucks and keep the money advanced.

McAnally warned all farmers who are approached with such a proposition to consider it carefully and be sure of the integrity and intentions of the Negroes.

Lions Carnival Is To Finance Playgrounds

Elaborate plans are nearing completion for the carnival Friday and Saturday evenings, Sept. 27-28, by the Artesia Lions Club to raise funds for playground equipment for Artesia parks, Don Teeds, general chairman, announced this morning.

He said it is hoped to net upwards of $1000 for the purchase and installation of the playground equipment, part of which has already arrived and other units of which are on order.

In a friendly rivalry between the Lions and Lionesses in the advance sale of tickets for a dance the second evening of the carnival, the women are out ahead, with about $800 already turned in. The losers in the contest are to stage a feed for the winners, paying all of the costs out of their own pockets—not proceeds from the carnival—prepare the food, wait tables, and do kitchen police.

"I'm afraid the men are elected," Teed said.

However, the advance sale of tickets indicates a good attendance at the carnival and dance, the general chairman declared.

The carnival is to be staged in the new building being built at Second and Quay by Glenn Booker and Clyde Guy, which is nearing completion. It will start each of the two evenings at 7 o'clock and the dance is scheduled to get under way at 9 o'clock Saturday evening.

In connection with the carnival, the Lions are giving away a Roper range Friday evening an eight-foot Electrolix refrigerator at the dance on Saturday evening.

Somewhat angered at rumors that the Lions Club would not reach its goal of a net of more than $1000, Shirley Hager, president, this week issued a challenge devised to increase public interest in the carnival. He challenged the president of any civic organization in the city to a contest on the ducking pool at the carnival, in which Hager and his opponent or opponents would take turns sitting on the stool and being the target. He pointed a challenging finger especially at the two Chucks, respectively Aston, president of the Rotary Club, and Baldwin, president of the 20-30 Club.

Another stunt will be the showing of a miniature scale Santa Fe Railway locomotive of the 3400 type, built by Jack Frost, which will be running at the carnival and will be the subject of a guessing contest, in which participants will try to guess the weight of the exhibit—for a consideration, of course. The locomotive and a portion of the track are on display at present in a window of the Brainard-Corbin Hardware Company.

Assisting Teed, general chairman, are Jack Frost, assistant (TURN TO LAST PAGE PLEASE)

Dogs Are Poised for Jal Clash, Handicapped by Portales Injuries

Building grid team badly is working hard this in readiness for a clash at the Panthers at Jal Friday night after bowing to the Rams at Portales last Friday.

The Rams scored first in the second quarter, when Speegle heaved an aerial to Moore in the end zone. Portales scored again in the third quarter, with Harp cracking center.

Early in the final period Speegle hit tackle and went across standing up for the third touchdown.

But the most spectacular of the game was when Dunn hit through the Bulldog tackle advancing into the secondary, and cutting sharply to the sideline for a 75-yard run and the final tally.

The "B" and "C" squads will play their first game Saturday, Oct. 5, when they play a double-header at Cloudford.

North Eddy to Be Advertised Booths at New Mexico Fair

Eddy County will be well advertised at the New Mexico Fair in Albuquerque Sept. 29 through Oct. 6, probably with exhibits than ever before.

Presented will be an exhibit of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce and others by extension at the Eddy County booth, as an exhibit of the more production and completion of the oil fields of the Eddy County in the Bureau of Mines booth, prepared by J. Lamb, representative of the bureau at Artesia.

The Chamber of Commerce exhibit will be the back panel of Eddy County booth, showing resources and activities of the county. It was prepared under the direction of the chamber activities committee, of which Chuck Aston is chairman.

Watson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce assisted in preparation and he had the help of O. R. Gable, Jr., who took photographs to show the various phases of the oil industry.

At the top of the Chamber of Commerce exhibit will be the Artesia, Oil Center of New Mexico, and below that will be the photos. They will show two phases of the oil industry, one of spudding, drilling, and one of production, chemical transportation, retailing, and other phases of the oil industry.

Cotton Problems To Be Discussed At Meet Friday

An important meeting for the discussion of the cotton situation today has been called for 7:30 o'clock Friday evening, Sept. 27, in the auditorium of Artesia High School, to which all cotton farmers and others connected with the cotton industry, as well as all others interested, are invited.

W. K. Bruton of Memphis, Tenn., area representative of the National Cotton Council, will talk not only on the cotton situation today, but on competition of the cotton industry with synthetics.

Bruton will have a number of exhibits with him and will give demonstrations in connection with his talk.

Local cotton men said the high school auditorium was secured for the meeting, because of the great interest in the appearance here of Bruton.

It was pointed out that with the increasing problems of the cotton farmers and industry the meeting will be of utmost importance to all connected with cotton.

A. A. Kaiser, 75, County Pioneer, Taken by Death

A. A. Kaiser, 75, North Eddy County pioneer and a former Artesia banker and county superintendent of schools, died in Oklahoma City, Okla., at 7:25 o'clock Tuesday evening from cancer, after an illness of nine months.

Funeral services and burial are to be today in Oklahoma City, for which Mr. Kaiser's brothers, Ben F. Kaiser of Artesia and George W. Kaiser of Carlsbad left Wednesday.

Mr. Kaiser is survived by his widow and their two daughters, Mary and Margaret, and three brothers, those mentioned and John E. Kaiser of Oklahoma City.

A. A. Kaiser, a son of W. A. and Celestia Kaiser, was born Nov. 20, 1870, at Delphos, Kan.

In Kansas he and Ella Blakely were married in 1902. A son, Ernest, was born to them in 1906, and he died in infancy. Mrs. Kaiser died in about 1925.

Mr. Kaiser was married to Bonnie Odum in 1930. To them in December, 1931, were born the twin daughters, who, with their mother, survive Mr. Kaiser.

Mr. Kaiser and his first wife came to Eddy County in 1903, the year after their marriage, and homesteaded near the then thriving little town of Dayton.

In the territorial days, Mr. Kaiser was county superintendent of schools.

He was the assistant cashier of the old Dayton State Bank and moved with it to Artesia at the time of the organization of the First State Bank of Artesia in 1915.

Mr. Kaiser went into the ranching business in 1918 on the Kaiser ranch east of Dayton, where he lived until 1943, when he moved to Glen Rose, Tex. He then moved from there to Oklahoma City for the final weeks of his life.

More Musical Instruments Are Needed for Band

Although there has been a fine response for the plea for musical instruments for the high school band, more instruments are needed, it has been announced by Franklin Wiltze, high school instrumental music director.

All who own or have band instruments and are willing to loan, rent or sell, have been urged to contact the high school here. New instruments, it was explained, are slow in being delivered and prices of the new instruments have been described as extremely high.

But with interest growing in the musical organization and with it almost impossible to obtain new instruments, the hope has been voiced that sufficient used instruments can be secured to provide instruments for all of those students desiring to join the band or the orchestra.

Anyone having a musical instrument of any kind willing to loan it, to rent it, or to sell it is requested to contact Director Wiltze or the high school officials.

Airport Plans Here Praised By CAA Men

Planned improvements and expansion at the Artesia municipal airport were discussed here last Thursday afternoon by city officials, members of the Chamber of Commerce airport committee, and flying enthusiasts with representatives of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

W. T. Brown of Fort Worth, Tex., chief of the airport management and operations section of the fourth region, CAA, said plans here are coming nicely and that the over-all picture for the future of the Artesia airport is well conceived.

Accompanying Brown here was John F. Warfield of Santa Fe, liaison officer for the third district, CAA.

Fred Brainard, acting mayor of Artesia, and other local representatives explained to the CAA men it is hoped to complete improvements on the administration building at the airport, find means to surface the ramp, and for a permanent road leading to the administration building and hangars.

The acting mayor pointed out that it also is planned to erect a municipal hangar at some time in the future.

All of the planned improvements, except the building of hangars, come under the government's program for financial assistance, the CAA men pointed out.

The immediate difficulty here in regard to airport improvements, Acting Mayor Brainard said, is that the city has no funds from which to draw for improvements, to be matched by federal funds.

Brown made several suggestions for increased revenue at the airport.

Organization for Construction of Community Building to Be Formed

A meeting of representatives of various Artesia groups interested in the formation of a non-profit organization for the construction of a community building, has been called at the city hall for 7:30 o'clock Monday evening, Sept. 30.

An invitation has been sent out to the representatives by Artie McAnally, president of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, after the meeting was called by the board of directors.

The Chamber of Commerce some days ago requested a number of local organizations to name representatives to represent them in the formation of the community building committee.

McAnally said Chuck Aston has been named temporary chairman of the group and he will preside at the meeting Monday until permanent officers are named.

It was pointed out that various groups and individuals in Artesia have for many months been talking for and seeking means for the erection of a community center in which meetings, banquets, conventions, recreation, and other activities can be held.

McAnally said the present move is one in the direction of tying together the ideas of the several groups and individuals and making a concerted effort towards obtaining the building.

He said the task will not lie entirely upon the shoulders of the group of representatives, but that they will merely serve in putting into action the wishes of the community. McAnally said that after the non-profit group is organized Monday evening, ideas of others will be invited.

Quaternary, Artesia Frog, Dies, But Gains National Notoriety

Quaternary, the two-million-year-old-frog unearthed here Wednesday of last week seven feet from the surface in a tightly-packed caliche bed, surveyed the world of today and just couldn't take it; he died the second night.

But in his brief span of life after two million years of suspended animation—and since his untimely demise—he has caused quite a furor, and not only in Artesia.

First the United Press Association picked up the yarn about Quaternary, which appeared in last week's issue of The Advocate, released a regional newspaper story, and then a story to the regional radio stations for airing Monday evening.

Interest in the frog was so great the United Press on Tuesday asked for a further release about him, to be used nationally. The request was complied with and a dispatch was wired Tuesday. Just how or when it is to be used is not known in Artesia.

It is expected more notoriety for Quaternary will be gained, as geologists and zoologists of the nation argue as to the possibility of a frog being encased in caliche two million years and living, only to be discovered in his coma during 1946, after the world has advanced a long way and man has evolved, only to keep the world in turmoil.

Chuck Aston, consulting petroleum geologist, pointed out that at the probable time Quaternary is believed to have been trapped by the deposition of sediments man had not evolved. And, as geology goes, two million years is but a short time. Although Aston does not profess to be a zoologist, his geological studies have revealed to him that other forms of life have changed little in the relatively short time of two million years, that the birth of man and the changes he has made probably have been more rapid than among any other forms of life.

Bullock-Angley, Bourland-Burch to Play Semi-Finals in Golf Tourney

It will be Bill Bullock, 1946 medalist, against Bill Angley, and Bob Bourland, 1945 medalist, against H. D. Burch Sunday in semi-final play in the annual Artesia city golf tournament of the Artesia Golf Club.

The two favorites made it a step closer to the 1946 championship, as did Angley and Burch, by winning their quarter-final matches last Sunday.

Bullock defeated Harvey Jones 6-5, while Bourland won over C. A. Baker 4-3.

In stepping into the semi-finals, Angley nosed out Cliff Loyd 1-up on the 20th hole, while Burch won his match over Fritz Crawford 6-5.

Bill Linehl, former city champion, who went into the first flight, when he lost to Harvey Jones, defaulted to Lynn Shelton in the first-flight quarter-finals.

Neil B. Watson, A. W. Harral, and Tom Pickett respectively defeated Stanley Sutton, S. M. Laughlin, and W. W. Byers.

Shelton will meet Watson, and Harral will meet Pickett in the semi-finals of the first flight.

The second flight is further along than the championship and first flights. However, only one of the semi-final games has been played. In that J. D. Smith won over J. W. Ballard 3-1. Jack Faulteroy and Ed Smith are to play this week and the winner will meet J. D. Smith in the final game.

Stanley Carper defeated Jack Spratt 1-up on the 20th in a third-flight quarter-final game. Carper will meet the winner of a match between Oscar Loyd and Harry Gilmore in the semi-finals.

In the third flight Hugh Kiddy defaulted to Arba Green, who will meet the winner of a match between Charlie Bullock and L. B. Feather in semi-final play.

Semi-final rounds are to be played by Sunday, Sept. 29, and the championship games will be played Sunday, Oct. 6.

Band Boosters to Be Organized at Meeting Tonight

All parents of band members and high school band boosters have been invited and are being urged to attend a meeting to be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the high school auditorium.

The meeting is being called for the purpose of organizing a band boosters' club. It is hoped and expected there will be sufficient interest and attendance to permit the formation of this club, to elect officers, and to outline plans for the year.

Franklin Wiltze, director of instrumental music at the high school, is urging all parents, who have children in the band, to be present and is inviting all interested in the band to be present at the meeting. He emphasized the fact that everyone interested is invited to attend the meeting.

The club is being organized, he stated, to encourage home practice; to increase interest and enthusiasm regarding the band; to help provide transportation and chaperons for the band on its various trips; to help raise funds when needed for the musical organization; and in general to work for the welfare of the band and the band department.

An effort was made last week to organize the band club but due to the rainy weather prevailing and the late announcement concerning the meeting the attendance was small. It is hoped and expected there will be a fine attendance for the meeting tonight.

Remember 83

WITH THE STATE ELECTION less than two months away, citizens and voters of South-eastern New Mexico should not forget State Highway 83.

If there was ever a time to secure a definite pledge that this highway will be constructed—now is the time.

For many years pleas have been sounded and promises have been made. A former resident of Artesia declares it begins to appear it will take 83 years to get Highway No. 83 constructed or completed.

We are extremely sorry that up to the present time there has not been an outright pledge that this highway will be built. But all that has been promised has been the assertion that it will be built if funds are available. We want the pledge to be a little stronger. We know that highways are going to be constructed during the next two years; we know that funds for building highways are going to be available; we know that federal aid on these projects will be available.

And what the people of Southeastern New Mexico want to know is that the highway will be built.

evaded his church and religious responsibility for many years that eventually it would come back to him and he would have to assume it.

Christmas Cards

THERE WILL BE MORE Christmas greeting cards this year than last year. There likewise is expected to be a greater demand for Christmas cards.

The Advocate has a large assortment of greeting cards ready for your selection.

Samples of all the cards, which are in stock or can be ordered, are now available. These include Siegrist Engraving company; Nu-Art Engraving company; Autrey Brothers, Engravers; and J. Sidney Burgoyne and Sons.

Christmas cards can be purchased unprinted; they can be ordered with name imprinted (printed); or they can be ordered with name engraved.

But the time to order your cards, to get the pick of the samples; to be sure and have the card you want; and to have them imprinted or engraved, is now.

This is one of those Christmas shopping jobs you can get done and have completed long before the holidays season arrives.

We at The Advocate will be more than glad to have you look over the samples of the Christmas cards we offer this year.—O.E.P.

Personal Items

OUR PERSONAL COLUMNS grow one week and then slip the next week.

It has been up to two and a half columns. We hope eventually it may reach four to five columns or, for that matter, a full page of personal items about you, your neighbors and your friends.

We still want those personal items. The earlier they are turned in the better and the more the merrier.—O.E.P.

Gentlemen, What About It?

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS CAN BE CUT by 76 per cent in the nation, according to Charles M. Upham, engineer-director of the American Road Builders Association.

And he backs up his contention with figures from a survey, the upshot of which is a recommendation for a sevenfold program of design features. It embraces:

1. Separated streams of traffic with wide lanes dividing all streams which travel in opposite directions. This practically eliminates head-on collisions and sideswipe accidents.
2. The elimination of all direct intersections between railroads and highways.
3. Wide, smooth, stable shoulders level with the pavement in open areas to enable motor vehicles to park completely off the paved strip and to give elbow room in cases of emergency.
4. A careful control of commercial enterprises along the highways.
5. The exclusion of pedestrians from certain heavily traveled roadways.
6. Definite and adequate standards of design which both care for present speeds and allow for possible increased speeds in the future.
7. A provision of specially designed entrance and departure "cloverleaves" to insure safety and avoid traffic confusion.

We realize that early highway construction had to span the nation at a tremendous speed and with comparatively little money, when the use of the horseless carriage grew by leaps and bounds, and that now the number of motor vehicles and their speeds have moved beyond the capacity of many highways, which were adequate in their day. One such is Highway No. 83.

Up and Down Main Street

THAT HIGHWAY UP AND DOWN MAIN CAN BE BUILT

More than a year ago, before a single candidate had announced for state office, we were advocating the completion of state highway No. 83. Many years before we ever came to New Mexico others were advocating the construction and the completion of this highway. Its construction and completion has been advocated for years.

Citizens of Artesia have spent thousands of dollars to get a road to the oil field east of here. Many of them have worked year after year endeavoring to obtain this highway. What we have today is a monument to their efforts. Yet the efforts, the money and the time devoted to the construction of this highway should have resulted in it being completed from the Texas line across the Pecos Valley over the Sacramento Mountains where it links up with U.S. Highway 54 or U.S. Highway No. 70.

Pledges and promises have been made, not once, but many times. And yet the highway is not completed. And the highway will not be completed until sufficient clamor is sent up by the taxpayers and voters of Southeastern New Mexico. We don't care who builds the highway; what party or what office holders get the credit. What we want to see done is that this highway be completed. And we know there is never a time to get things done like the time just before an election. It is when the candidates are seeking the votes they agree to do things. It is when the party needs support that it backs projects.

The construction of this highway means plenty not only to Lovington, Hobbs, Carlsbad, Artesia, Roswell, Hope, Elk, Weed, Cloudfort, High Rolls, Alamogordo and Las Cruces but it means much to the cities on west of Las Cruces and to the entire southeastern part of the state of New Mexico. And now is the time for voters to trade their ballots for something constructive.

Lloyd Simon still busy working on the high school activities program. . . . Marshall Rowley having plenty to do for the football squad. . . . J. D. Smith declaring he was ready to receive new memberships for the Artesia Bulldog Boosters club. . . . Judge Josey entertaining some visitors in Artesia. . . . Jack Carson returning to the bus station after he enjoyed a cup of coffee. . . . Abe Conner and Mr. Greenwood headed up the street. . . . Shirley Hager and Taylor Cole pushing the sale of those tickets for the Lions Club carnival to be held on Friday and Saturday nights. . . . Mrs. C. D. Hopkins reporting she had failed to receive her Advocate. . . . Clyde Parrish headed up the street. . . . Bill Duke and Waldo W. Ports reporting on the fine trip they had to Mexico City. . . . They went on the Shriners' Special tour. . . . Murie Sharp waiting on customers at the Star Grocery. . . . Tom Ragsdale looking for some particular forms which the city needs. . . . Clarence Fischbeck returning to his engineering office and declaring he had plenty of work to do. . . . O. H. Wood getting some clothing at the cleaners. . . . Franklin Wiltse still looking for a place to live and expressing the hope he had found it. . . . W. C. Thompson discussing the political situation in Washington and perfectly satisfied with the most recent action of President Truman. . . . A lot of other folks were in perfect accord with this. . . . Bill Dunnam working on some veteran matters. . . . Al Thompson greeting and visiting briefly with friends before making some calls. . . . D. I. Clowe

They should be, because we in Artesia are thinking about what we want done.—A.L.B.

Protecting City

AS ARTESIA GROWS and expands, the need for restrictions and regulations within the residential districts becomes greater and greater.

Without a doubt, it is the desire of the city to safeguard, in every way possible, homes and residential property erected here. It is, without a doubt, the desire of the city not only to encourage the construction of more homes and better homes but the beautifying of these homes.

All of this just helps to make Artesia a more attractive city and a more desirable place in which to live.

But many sections of the city are being invaded by commercial enterprises. A commercial business is installed here or installed there. More small buildings, which may be needed but which, in nine cases out of ten, are far from attractive, are erected. And these tend not only to detract from the other property on that particular lot, but from the other residences within that particular section.

It is always a problem to zone sections of a small city. It is always a problem to regulate the kind and type and priced houses, which are to be built. It is always a problem to prevent attractive sections of the city from having their beauty destroyed.

Number 13 Is Lucky for Tires, Sperry Declares

The much-abused "13" is the luckiest number in the book for the automobile tire, according to Wesley Sperry of Pior Rubber Company.

"Thirteen per cent is the ideal percentage of deflection in a tire," Sperry explained. "That is," he added, "there is that much 'give' back on the job at the Kemp Lumber company after only part of a vacation. . . . Austin Stuart performing one of his special duties as assistant postmaster. . . . Fred Cole driving down the street. . . . M. C. Ross busy producing those good Ross Bakery products at their new plant. . . . E. B. McCaw looking for a particular item and having it ordered when he couldn't find it. . . . That was Up and Down Main this week.

Political promises, as a rule, are of little value. The promise that expenditures of state funds will be in proportion to the vote given in the state ticket in a successful campaign may sound fine, but it hasn't worked in the past. Time and again, Eddy County has been reminded that it gave the necessary majority to the Democratic ticket. That, however, hasn't secured or brought much to Eddy County. It is generally well known fact that Eddy County has been ignored and forgotten. Even Judge Thomas J. Mabry, Democratic nominee for governor, has stated if he is elected he will move the state line from Lake Arthur south to the Texas line. That is an open admission that the party has neglected the county which gives it its support.

HANGAR FLYING

Crop dusting has been the main subject and interest at the airport the last two weeks. Two duster pilots from Brownfield, Tex., were guests at the airport, staying in the "Pilot's Roost" more than a week. Also two dusters from Taft, Tex., were guests at the airport. All four boys worked in connection with "Sug" Hazel and finally they got all the valley farms dusted.

R. T. Brock was the only solo student last week. Brock has recently purchased a BT-15. However, until the BT is licensed, Brock is becoming more efficient as a pilot by flying the Piper Cubs at the airport.

Art Wintheiser returned Saturday from the southern part of Texas. He made the trip in his new Johnson Rocket. Two members of the airport crew made the football game at Portales Friday. Ted Heidel and Ramon Davidson. John McMurray passed the written examination for his private license last week.

Len Robert Pruitt, trainee under the GI Bill of Rights, has received his pilot's license. Pruitt was one of the first veterans to enroll in this course and had continued without interruption. He plans on taking more training in the form of the commercial pilot's license as soon as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fuchs flew to Dallas Saturday. They planned on visiting Mr. Fuchs' brother, who resides in Denton. They will fly a new Luscombe home from the factory, which has just been purchased by Roy Shafer of Carrizozo.

in a tire when it is properly inflated." The Artesia tire dealer pointed out that while it is hardly convenient for a motorist to measure the deflection of his tires, he can easily gauge a tire's air pressure and keep it at the point recommended by the tire manufacturer. Keeping tires at the recommended pressure, he said, "not only insures riding comfort, but is by far the greatest single aid to getting maximum service life out of them."

Describing under-inflation and over-inflation as "the two deadliest enemies of tire life," Sperry asserted that "these twin evils cost the American driving public hundreds of thousands of dollars annually, and this is particularly serious at a time when even the present record-breaking tire production is overshadowed by the demand and there still are not enough tires to go around."

"Right now," Sperry said, "there is an epidemic of over-inflation. Tire servicemen all over the country have noticed it. It seems to be a holdover from the war years when it was impossible to replace tires and some drivers, mistakenly, thought they were being a little kinder to their tires by giving them a little extra pressure. It is to be hoped that this 'epidemic' will be over before we are fully embarked upon the new era of higher speed that will come with improved postwar autos."

Keeping tires at recommended pressure involves knowing what the manufacturer recommends for tires and checking them frequently and regularly to be sure they have the right amount of air, Sperry said.

A "duster" storm hit the Artesia municipal airport about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The storm had been observed by pilots for an hour before it hit the field, coming from the northeast. Therefore, fortunately, all ships were grounded and tied securely before the storm struck. The remainder of Sunday afternoon was spent "hangar flying" in the administration building.

Prizes and Rewards For Rental Units Are Violation of OPA Rules

A warning that it is a violation of OPA rent rules for landlords to accept any higher payment than the ceiling price on rental units, even in the way of prizes and rewards, was issued by Flynn O'Malley, district OPA rent executive.

O'Malley issued the warning as the result of various advertisements appearing in newspapers offering rewards for rental units. The executive said the prize and reward offers are decidedly unfair to veterans, who are unable to compete with larger income groups.

"Let us not forget the ex-serviceman, who fought to save this country," commented O'Malley. "He should have at least an even chance at rental units."

Detectives Mike Michelson and Donald Trovie of Minneapolis sped to a vacant lot after neighbors called police and reported suspicious characters had been seen burying something. The officers dug up several cans filled with small toys, candy, and rubber balloons which they took to the station and returned to the lot to await developments. Two teenagers approached and asked the detectives if they had seen any digging in the lot. "We're having a treasure hunt and somebody's stolen all the prizes," the boys said. The detectives turned to the lot—at night—out their shovels and returned prizes.

Miss Thelma (Boots) Hancox Becomes Bride of James W. Nellis Friday

At a quiet double-ring ceremony, performed Friday evening, Miss Thelma (Boots) Hancox became the bride of James W. Nellis. Rev. Father Francis Geary heard the vows in St. Anthony's rectory.

The bride was stunning in a steel blue suit with accessories of black. An orchid corsage was worn on the shoulder. Following tradition she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom; for something new, a gold compact was borrowed from Miss Margery Clowe; a monogram was done in blue on her slip, and for something old, she carried a handkerchief belonging to a great-aunt, Mrs. George Boyd of Tulsa, Okla. She wore a sixpence, sent by an uncle overseas, in her shoe for luck.

Miss Florence McCarty of Albuquerque attended the bride as maid of honor. She chose to wear a suit of steel gray with gray accents. Her shoulder corsage was of pink and white carnations. Miss McCarty and Mrs. Nellis were roommates while they were both in nurses' training in El Paso. Don McNellan attended Mr. Nellis as best man.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the Woman's Club. The bride and bridegroom cut a four-tiered white wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Miss McCarty and Miss Norma Hancox served punch. The guestbook was kept by Mrs. A. R. Clanton. Miss Carol Hensley played a medley of accordion selections throughout the evening.

The clubroom was extensively decorated with a profusion of fall flowers. The service table was covered in beige lace and appointed in crystal. White tapers were placed on either end of the table in crystal candelabra. Crystal and silver service was used in serving the guests and the napkins were stamped, "Boots and Jimmy."

About 60 guests signed the guestbook. After a wedding trip, which will take them through Denver and Santa Fe, Mr. and Mrs. Nellis will be at home in Artesia.

Garden Club's Annual Show To Be Oct. 5

The Artesia Garden Club has announced the final plans for the flower show to be held Saturday, Oct. 5, the first Saturday in October. The exhibit will be at the I. O. O. F. Hall. It will open at 2 o'clock and be open to the public without admission charge until 8 o'clock in the evening.

The show will be open to entries from anyone in Artesia or the surrounding communities. It takes the cooperation of all to make a flower show a success and an event of beauty, club officers said. Beautiful flowers are raised here, so display them, and thereby "recreate more interest in growing flowers in our little city."

Blossoms will be judged on size, color, form and bouquet arrangement. All entries must be at the I. O. O. F. Hall not later than 10 o'clock the morning of the show. Each contestant must bring containers for his exhibits and arrange them.

Blue and red ribbons will be given in first and second places and honorable mention will be made of others.

Entries are to be placed in five classes:

Class I, Dahlias—Cactus, semi-cactus, decorative, informal decorative, miniatures and pompons: (a) Best individual bloom; (b) best three blooms; (c) best collection of mixed varieties.

Class II, Roses—Polyanthus, hybrid teas, hybrid perpetual, climbers, and single: (a) Best specimen; (b) best bouquet; (c) largest collection of mixed roses.

Class III, annuals and perennials—Zinnias, marigolds, and any available variety: (a) Best bouquet annuals; (b) best bouquet perennials.

Chicago, Judge Samuel Heller said a tenant or a shaver for a haircut and he didn't want to get his hair cut.
R. J. Mullins reports little hope for a full-sized state teachers' convention this fall. The New Mexico Education Association secretary said he was becoming discouraged by a shortage of hotel accommodations in Albuquerque from any attempt for a teachers' meet—the state's largest annual parley, which was discontinued during the war.

At Long Beach, N. Y., Edward J. Blesch and William R. Haviland looked up from their rowboat about 500 yards offshore and saw a seaplane descending. They dived into the water and the plane wedged into the pontoon in their boat. After a powerboat disengaged the plane, Blesch and Haviland bailed out the water and rowed back to shore. Alfred Clement, pilot, said he was practicing take-offs and landings.

In Alabama, Calif., fire broke out in the living room of Willard Strain's house. Passersby shattered a window and fought it with a garden hose. The fire department arrived, sirens screaming, and finished the job; then firemen clumped through the house to make sure the blaze was out. That was when Strain woke up and asked what was up.

Observations in Russia have shown that weather in the Northern Hemisphere has been warming up for the last 27 years, the Soviet Union Academy of Science has reported. Director Grigoriev of the academy's Geographical Institute said air currents began in 1919 to show slightly higher temperatures. Along with this came a reduction of the polar ice cap. No exact data on average temperature was available. Gradually in sub-Arctic regions vegetation showed the effects of slightly warmer weather. Navigation conditions in the Arctic Ocean also improved. One practical gain for the Soviet Union, it was indicated, would be improvement of farming and food raising in sub-Arctic areas.

Old Nazi flags were used for decorating the city during a recent fair at Leipzig, Germany. With the central white ring and black swastika removed, they made perfect red flags. Some of Goebbels' old propaganda boards were reported repainted with Communist slogans.

For 25 years a mountain has obstructed storekeeper William Kask's view of an ocean inlet near Barent, British Columbia. Kask decided to move the mountain, or at least part of it. He hired a bulldozer at $15 an hour to cut 30 feet off a rise, and if he can buy the whole hill he plans to whittle off a 30-foot slice 1300 feet long and 200 feet wide. "It'll be worth it," he said.

Dunn Receives Honors Months After Discharge
Charles Preston Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Dunn of Artesia, who is now in the implement business at Portales with his father-in-law and brother-in-law, Alvin and Harold George, crawled out from under a tractor the other day, wiped off his hands, and took time off for a brief ceremony, in which he was presented a Distinguished Service Cross and an Air Medal with eight stars, for outstanding service in the Air branch of the Marine Corps, from which he was discharged last December.

The presentation was made by Lieutenant Spencer, Marine Corps recruiting officer at El Paso. Dunn, a first lieutenant in the Marine Corps, served 12 months in the Philippine campaign and was credited with 63 missions and more than 200 combat hours in an SBD, the Navy version of the Army's A-24 divebomber, the oldest combat plane used in World War II.

Most of his combat service consisted of flying top cover for the Infantry during the liberation of American prisoners from Japanese prison camps in the Philippines.

VETERANS OF THREE WARS

Spanish-American * * * World War I * * * World War II

invite you to a barbeque and speaking to meet the following candidates for office—ALL SEVEN VETERANS:

- ED L. SAFFORD, Governor, World Wars I and II.
- PATRICK J. HURLEY, U. S. Senator, World Wars I and II.
- HERMAN G. BACA, Congress, World War I and II. (His son gave his life in World War II.)
- O. A. LARRAZOLO, JR., Lieutenant Governor, World War I.
- JESS W. CORN, Land Commissioner, World War I.
- CHAS. M. (Bud) TANSEY, Attorney General, World War II. (An Eddy County boy.)
- EDWIN MECHEM, Supreme Court, Spanish-American War.

The Principal Speaker Will Be PATRICK J. HURLEY Of All the Men in America

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT
asked General Hurley to run the Jap blockade of the Philippines and get General MacArthur and our men on Bataan. Three times General Hurley ran that blockade and on one occasion was severely wounded.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT
invite him again and again, above all other men in America, and sent Hurley to 21 different nations to represent personally the President of the United States, because he couldn't trust many of the so-called Democrats surrounding him.

Six times "Pat" Hurley's name has been before the U.S. Senate for confirmation. Six times he was unanimously confirmed. Twice by a Republican senate; FOUR TIMES BY A DEMOCRAT SENATE. It is a miracle less than miraculous that not one vote was cast against him on any of the six occasions.

Speaking Begins at 12 O'clock Noon

High-Powered Sprayers Are Issued to State

The Chemical Warfare Division of the War Department has issued seven high-powered sprayers to the State Extension Service for use in control of cattle grubs, ticks, and other infestations in cattle and sheep, according to George A. Godfrey, Animas, president of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association. The department also has given the Extension Service assurance that additional spraying equipment will be allocated to the state as soon as it is available.

The pressure spraying machines will be mounted on mobile units and used by various county agents throughout the state to demonstrate proper use in control of insect pests, Godfrey said. Allocation of these machines will be a boon to the livestock industry of New Mexico and will do much toward curbing an annual loss of several million dollars in scarred hides and loss in livestock weights now caused by infestations of cattle grubs, the Extension Service said.

State College, the Extension Service, and the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association have been endeavoring for several months to secure an allocation of these machines which became surplus property at the end of the war, Godfrey said. The machines were used by the Chemical Warfare Division to control insects in training camps and tropical areas during the war.

"Soil erosion is altering the course of world history more radically than any war or revolution."—G. V. Jacks, in "Vanishing Lands."

"God has lent us the earth for our life. It is a great entail. It belongs as much to those who are to come after us as to us, and we have no right to anything we do or neglect, to involve them in any unnecessary penalties, or to deprive them of the benefit which was in our power to bequeath."—Ruskin.

PRACTICAL FARM BUILDINGS

Granary Needs Filled

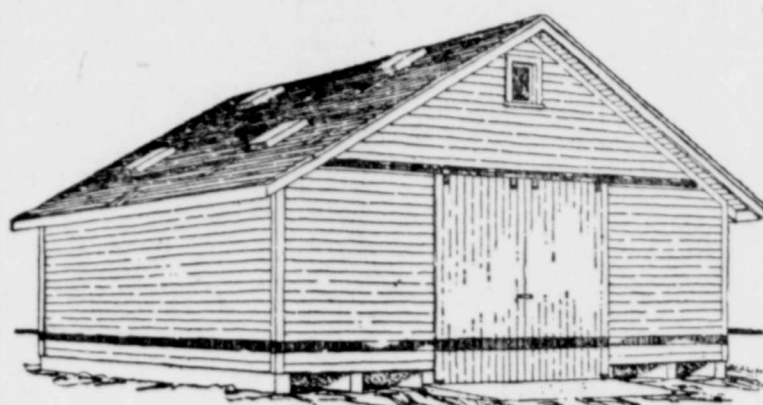

By W. J. Dryden, WNU Farm Editor.

Considerable money may be saved by handling grain in bulk instead of sacks. Efficient grain storage is a step toward the elimination of heavy losses from waste, deterioration and rodents. It contributes to orderly marketing, saves time, enables the farmer to "condition" damp grain before selling and reduces handling costs.

The granary may be of several types. It may be portable, which offers the advantage of less handling.

In setting the bin up for filling, always be sure that the door is so located that a wagon can be driven up convenient to it.

If the bin can be set at such an elevation that it can be emptied by gravity it will save a lot of work. Many farmers have handled their grain in this way, providing a roadway above the bin for filling it, and another roadway below the bin for emptying. Thus, it can be filled and emptied by gravity.

Satisfactory Type of Granary.

It may be of a permanent nature located at central point. It may be circular, of plywood or sheet metal. Each type offers certain advantages. Facts of cost, availability of material and personal desires must be considered in selecting the type desired.

The size is determined by the average quantity of grain to be stored each year. In case of a bumper or unusually large crop, a Prefabricated bins are pre-cut to exact size with sections numbered for quick assembly; some may have panels prebuilt, for even greater speed in erection. For ease in erection, prefabricated structures may sometimes be preferable to built-in-place bins.

During late years, some farmers have found it advisable to build elevators on the farm. In some cases, it was possible to hold the grain properly constructed brooder house may be utilized to care for the surplus. A standard bushel of wheat occupies approximately 1 1/4 cubic feet of space and weighs 50 pounds per cubic foot. The capacity of a bin in bushels may be determined by multiplying its volume by 8 and dividing by 10.

The bins may be permanent or in knock-down sections; this latter method would allow storage of the sections and use of the building for implements when not needed for grain. Bins intended for other than temporary storage should be carefully rat-proofed.

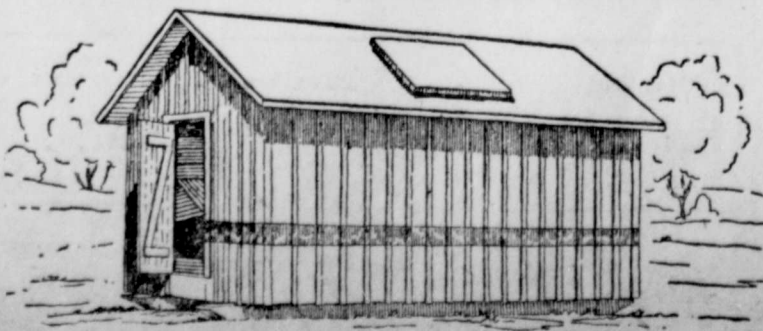

Plywood Granary.

Driveway's Width May Be Reduced As Desired.

A variety of sizes and types are offered here in an effort to meet the many varying requirements of individual farmers. These buildings are all modern in every detail and should appeal to those farmers who not only realize the necessity of properly storing their grain but also appreciate the importance of building for permanence.

The average farm will find that a portable granary will pay for itself even though a central granary be maintained on the farmstead.

Satisfactory Type of Portable Granary.

Three Ewes Are Awarded Artesia Boy in Contest

IRA GARNER, JR.

Ira Garner, Jr., of Artesia, is shown here with one of the Southdown ewes he won through a contest, as a member of the Artesia 4-H Club.

He is one of four Eddy County boys awarded ewes in the contest. The others are Tommy Price of Lakewood and Daniel Holguin and Odell Spurlin of Carlsbad.

As a result of an essay contest sponsored by a national foundation on the subject, "The Advantages of the Farm Flock," each of the four Eddy County boys was awarded three Southdown ewes and the four became co-owners of a Southdown ram imported from Canada.

The ewes were given to the boys with the understanding that each will return to the county agent three lambs within the next three years, to be used in a future contest to be offered 4-H boys and girls.

Less Color and More Beef Bring Ranch Success

It is a case now of less color and more beef, along with improved practices of operations, if ranchers in New Mexico are to be successful, in the opinion of Ivan Watson, extension livestock specialist of New Mexico A. & M. College.

Experiments with crossbred beef cattle have shown definitely, he says, that crosses produced by combinations of both two and three breeds yielded more beef and profit per animal than comparable purebred stock.

"These crossbreds," the livestock specialist explains, "produce calves that not only weigh more when born but grow out faster. Of course, they don't have the color of purebreds, but after all a fellow isn't in the livestock business to raise color alone; he is in it to make a profit."

Watson cites some results of crossbreeding obtained from experiment conducted by the U.S.

Department of Agriculture in Montana. Experiments were made on both two-way cross and three-way cross. Calves of the two-way cross were the offspring of Shorthorn bulls and Hereford cows. Calves of the three-waycross were sired by Aberdeen-Angus bulls bred to Shorthorn-Hereford cows, with the product of the former.

"In comparison with purebred Herefords, the triple crosses weighed more at weaning and at the end of the feeding period, gaining more rapidly in the feed lots, sold for more per pound and per head, had a higher dressing percentage, and returned more per animal above feed and marketing costs," Watson says. The degree of superiority was substantial in most cases.

For improved practices of operations, the extension livestock specialist recommends supplementary ranges, parasite control, improved pastures and stock water development.

USDA to Have Exhibit at Fair Sept. 29-Oct. 6

"Livestock and of Range to Land Use" will be theme of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's exhibit at the Fair in Albuquerque Sept. 29-Oct. 6.

Featured in the exhibit will be use of pasture, range woods for soil improvement, beef yields and production in fertilized and unfertilized pastures. Other displays include farm and rancher's larger lambs and more correct breeding, and learn the farm market up with its changes.

Dioramas, animating changing lights, photographs, cutouts, and techniques will be used to present information to the public. Department of Agriculture exhibits also will be on display.

Scissors, Shears
Much Used, as
Well as Abused
 Of all household utensils, none
 is more used—and more abused—
 than scissors and shears, says Miss Doris Mardis, Eddy County extension agent. Much of the abuse,
 she adds, is because of confusion
 of the purposes of the two instruments.
 "Scissors, which are three to six inches long with similarly shaped handles and sharp points,
 are for snipping and trimming," Miss Mardis says, "while shears, which are six to 13 inches long
 with differently shaped handles
 and one blade heavier than the other, are for cutting. Shears may be right or left handed."
 Using shears to snip and scissors to cut will lessen the effectiveness of both instruments, according to Miss Mardis.
 "The fine cutting edge of shears
 is dulled by use on paper, cardboard, flowers, wet cloth, or heavy string," says the county agent.
 "Dropping them may spring or break the blades. The points should never be used to pry things open."
 Miss Mardis advises housewives
 to protect shears and scissors by hanging them up or by keeping them in boxes. She recommends oiling and cleaning blades every six months.
 "Sharpening may be done at home by the skillful use of a file," Miss Mardis says, "but it pays to take good scissors or shears to an expert grinder."

Now Is Time to Plan for Storage
Of Vegetables
 Make plans now for storing excess garden produce for winter use, County Agent Dallas Rierson advises.
 If satisfactory storage facilities aren't already available, pits or mounds and outdoor cellars can
 be constructed, he says.
 The pit or mound is the simplest type of construction and keeps root vegetables—carrots, beets, turnips, parsnips—very well. The vegetables are placed on three to four inches of straw in a level,
 well-drained place and are covered with an additional three or four inches of straw and enough soil to maintain a constant temperature.
 For most home gardeners, the basement is probably the most logical storage place, Rierson adds. He recommends that the storeroom should be separated from the rest of the basement,
 with a window to provide fresh air and to allow odors to escape.
 A space 8x10 feet will usually provide storage space for the average family.
 Most vegetables, and fruits
 which require moist air and low temperatures—carrots, potatoes,
 turnips, pears—can be kept in basement storage, Rierson says.
 Sweet potatoes, squash, and pumpkins may be stored where it is warmer, if only one room is available. Cabbage should not be stored indoors, because its odor
 will permeate the entire house.

SET YOUR SIGHTS

It takes planning to achieve a goal

Some young men know what they want and plan for it. Others are still looking for their niche. The new Regular Army can help both.

Perhaps you want to go to college but can't afford it. If you enlist in the Army, you'll get your chance. Honorably discharged after a three-year enlistment, you are eligible for 48 months of education at any college, trade, or business school for which you can qualify. The Government will pay your tuition, laboratory fees, etc., up to $500 per ordinary school year, plus $65 a month living allowance—$90 a month if you have dependents.

If you haven't found your spot, an Army enlistment offers you training in any of 200 trades and skills. You leave the service eligible for further training at the best civilian schools.

You can assure yourself of the benefits of the GI Bill of Rights if you enter the Army on or before October 5, 1946. See your nearest Army Recruiting Station for details.

HIGHLIGHTS OF REGULAR ARMY ENLISTMENT

1. Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years. (1-year enlistments permitted for men now in the Army with 6 or more months of service.)
2. Enlistment age from 18 to 34 years inclusive (17 with parents' consent) except for men now in Army, who may reenlist at any age, and former service men depending on length of service.
3. A reenlistment bonus of $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service, provided reenlistment is within 3 months after last honorable discharge.
4. A furlough for men who reenlist within 20 days. Full details of other furlough privileges can be obtained from Recruiting Officers.
5. Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to enlist or reenlist.
6. Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. All previous active federal military service counts toward retirement.
7. Choice of branch of service and overseas theater (of those still open) on 3-year enlistments.

OF SPICES AND SPONGES

Thumbing through a dictionary or encyclopedia one finds relatively close to each other two words which belong in the economic vocabulary of the Americas: Spices and sponges. While the first adds life and zest to the most tasteless foods, the second are invaluable for cleaning purposes in the home and for commercial enterprises. Both—although not products of first importance—are the center of flourishing industries.

Spices have particularly been brought to our attention of late, because they are scarce. Although we, in this hemisphere, have a debt of gratitude to them in that it was the hope of finding a new route to the sources of condiment in the Far East that spurred Columbus to the discovery of America, our continent—strangely enough—produces only a few of the leading spices, which is the reason why our pantry shelves, too, feel the impact of war in the Orient.

A few condiment plants, however, are grown profitably in the American tropics and are a source of income to some of the people of our hemisphere. Perhaps the leading example of a native American spice that made good in the face of competition from the East Indies is allspice, a native of the West Indies, produced by a member of the myrtle family. Its peculiar name is derived from the fact that its fragrance and taste curiously resemble a mixture of its chief rivals, cinnamon, cloves, and nutmeg.

The allspice or pimento tree, as it is often called, is an ornamental evergreen which starts to bear at 7 to 10 years of age. Upon reaching maturity it yields about 100 pounds of dried spice a year. It is grown in Mexico, Guatemala, Costa Rica, Venezuela, Haiti, and the Dominican Republic, but Jamaica seems to be the principal center of its production. There, beautiful plantations have been established for the development of allspice seedlings and it is one of the flourishing industries of the island.

Cardamon is another spice that thrives on our continent. The Central American countries, and of these Guatemala particularly, are important producers of this condiment, the most subtly aromatic and expensive of the spices and a native of the East Indies. The handling of cardamon is extremely delicate, as the tiny seeds are contained in and protected against the air by paper-thin capsules that must not be broken. From the time each featherweight capsule is individually snipped with scissors from the plant until it is used by the housewife in her pastry and curries, the cardamon is handled with more than kid-glove care.

The nutmeg, native to the Moluccas or Spice Islands, between the Philippines and Australia, is an evergreen tree which is found today in the Western Hemisphere in the West Indies and in Brazil. Even before the war, more than half of the four million pounds of in the West Indies and in Brazil, nutmeg imported by the United States came from the British West Indies. The membranous mesh which separates the shell in this plant's kernel is called mace and is still more valuable than the nutmeg itself.

Ginger, too, is grown on our continent and was one of the first Asiatic spices to be cultivated commercially in the Americas. By 1547 it was grown in such quantities in Jamaica that more than 22,000 pounds of its dried underground stems were sent to Spain. To this day ginger is one of the most important condiment plants being grown in the Western Hemisphere and it is said that the soils and climate of many Caribbean countries are unsurpassed for its production.

Finally, among other tropical American spices are the peppers or capiscums of which there are scores of varieties, ranging from the succulent and sweet bell pepper to the hottest tongue-scorching Mexican bird chili.

Apart from the industry of loofa or vegetable sponges—a recent development which seems to be quite successful—we may consider sponge fishing as one of the old, traditional industries of the American tropics. The principal production of sponges in this country is in Florida but, next to the Bahama Islands, probably, it is Cuba, one of the leading sponge-producing countries of the world with an annual production estimated to be second only to that of Greece, that has the greatest output of sponges in the hemisphere.

Most Cuban sponge fisheries are centered around the small town of Batabano, the point of embarkation for the Isle of Pines, another area from which sponge operations radiate. Also important in that respect is Caibarien on the north shore of the island.

Sponges are classified among lowest type of animal life and considered the simplest of many-celled creatures, what we call "sponges," of course, being only the dry skeletons of the animals. Profitable sponge fishing must be in comparatively shallow water. They are obtained sometimes by diving but more often by dredging and (in very shallow water) by scraping the bottom by means of a long handled fork. The men moshly work in pairs in rowboats—one rowing and the other scanning the bottom through a "water glass." Sponges are easily prepared for the market. When put into water and allowed to stand, the flesh soon decays and the skeletons are readily washed out and cleaned.

Stronger Body Helps This New Tire OUTWEAR PREWAR TIRES

See Us for this Extra-Safe, Extra-Trouble-Free, Extra-Mileage Tire

No sensible driver would deliberately run his tires over a rock like the one in the picture. But sometimes it can't be helped...and that's when you will be glad if you have new B.F. Goodrich passenger car tires. Built with more and stronger cords, the tire body is better engineered and 35% stronger than in wartime tires. This extra strength was needed to carry the wider, flatter tread. But in building this stronger body to hold the more durable tread, B.F. Goodrich engineers built into it greater resistance to "road shock."

Of course, supplies of tires are still limited. In spite of greatly increased production, demand is even greater. This is especially true of the B.F. Goodrich tire that OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES. Please check your needs well in advance. Talk to us. We'll do our best to keep your car rolling until we can get new tires for you.

"Only free people can hold their purpose and their honor steady to a common end, and prefer the interest of mankind to any narrow interest of their own."—Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Citizen:

We are a free people, and enjoy all the privileges stemming from that fact, largely because those generations of Americans who have gone before us did "hold their purpose and their honor" to a common end.

Whenever the day of decision has come in this country it has found that the good judgment of the majority could be depended upon to make the decision which would keep our Union headed toward that destiny the Founding Fathers had in mind when they conceived and created the framework of government under which we were to live.

Within our generation great problems calling for popular decision have arisen. We have met them as they arose and today, looking forward to a future of peace and prosperity after emerging victorious from our bloodiest and most costly war, our people are faced with another great decision.

Our purpose and our honor must still remain steady to a common end—what is best for the greatest number and what is best for the future of our nation. No other loyalty, no other consideration can be allowed to sway us in that decision.

Our Next Day of Decision Will Be
November 5—It Is Our Future

To those who eagerly await their new Chevrolets...

Here Is the Latest News about Chevrolet Deliveries

Everybody from factory to dealer is doing everything that can be done to speed deliveries to you

We have been informed by the Chevrolet Motor Division that the past month has witnessed only a slight improvement in the rate of production of new Chevrolet passenger cars. As a result, shipments of new cars to dealers for delivery are still far below the level we and the factory had hoped to attain by this time. In fact, through August, Chevrolet's output of cars in 1946 was only 22.6% of the number turned out during the corresponding period of 1941.

We know that Chevrolet is doing everything possible to step up its production totals—to ship more and more cars to us and to its thousands of other dealers throughout America... and we know, too, that we are assured of getting our full proportionate share of the current output and of future production gains.

Disappointing as the total figures have been—and despite the fact that Chevrolet was out of production entirely during the first three months of the year—it is nevertheless true that Chevrolet led all other manufacturers in production of passenger cars during June 1946, and has continued to maintain its lead in total production from that day to this.

We shall continue to make deliveries of new Chevrolets to our customers just as fast as we receive them; we regret delays as deeply as you do; we thank you for your friendly patience and understanding; and we promise you a new high motoring experience when you take delivery of your new Chevrolet, giving BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST!

Keep Your Present Car Alive

Meanwhile, may we suggest that you safeguard your transportation by bringing your car to us for service now and at regular intervals. Let us help you to keep it in good running condition—to maintain its performance, appearance and resale value—until the day when your new Chevrolet comes along.

Short cuts to new Kitchen Freedom!

"BUFFET KITCHEN" ... LATEST IN A SERIES OF "NEW FREEDOM GAS KITCHEN" DESIGNS

Here are just three ways your smart-as-tomorrow Gas kitchen releases you from time-wasting mealtime drudgery.

- ① It cuts out cooking chores... Your new Gas range is so automatic it thinks for itself... turns on and off... cooks a delicious meal—all by a simple clock control! Makes every food taste better, too... whether it's a feather-light cake from the air-conditioned oven—a flame-roasted ham from the smokeless broiler—or a tasty stew from thrifty simmer top-burners. For nothing else brings out flavor like the flame. And nothing else equals the speed, ease and flexibility of flame-cooking on a new automatic Gas range built to CP standards!
- ② It cuts out marketing monotony... Your new economical, silent Gas refrigerator is streamlined inside and out! Arranged to store more foods (frozen foods, too)... filled with constant circulated cold to keep them fresh longer. Best of all—there are no moving parts in the freezing system to wear out!
- ③ It cuts out hot water headaches... Your new automatic Gas water-heater simply ends "run-cold" worries! Gives you gallons of uniformly hot water 24 hours a day... replaces the supply so fast there's plenty even for an automatic dishwasher and laundry. Amazingly thrifty, too! Plan for it now in your own "New Freedom Gas Kitchen"! How about stopping in, today?

Farmers Know What a Profit Is For

AS his own boss, the farmer has long since found out that a profit is not just an extra sum, above the bare cost of doing business, which can be used as you please. It is the main source of funds necessary to pay for a new silo, buy better machinery, and improve the house and the barn.

In spite of the great rise in income, farm profits are no more than necessary to keep the farm plant producing efficiently. It's the same with the iron and steel industry which makes the materials for the farmer's tools.

In 1945 steel companies had left, after meeting all expenses but before paying dividends, only a little more than one-tenth of one cent on each pound of steel sold. The profit on each dollar invested was less than five cents. Year by year since 1941, when the war started, earnings have been declining.

Although last year's output of steel was 19 per cent greater than in 1940, the last prewar year, pay rolls were nearly double but dividends were lower.

There are many misunderstandings and misrepresentations about profits. Some people forget that reasonable profits are a necessary incentive of the American system, which results in abundant low-cost farm products and abundant low-cost steel products.

It is up to those who know what profits are for, and what they can do, to see that they are not destroyed—and with them our high standard of living.

Steel mills need all the scrap iron and steel they can get. The shortage is serious. Farmers can get extra dollars and help increase steel output by sending worn-out machinery, etc., on its way to the furnaces. AMERICAN IRON AND STEEL INSTITUTE, 350 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, N. Y.

Quaternary-

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) Quaternary was unearthed during excavation operations for a basement for a home being built in the Alta Vista Addition by John E. Mathis, Jr. At the time he and a member of the lizard family, which was killed, were found, the frog was tender, with skin as soft as that of a new-born baby's.

The skin, which was light green in color and somewhat speckled, soon began to darken up and to become more tough, after the frog had been exposed to the light and air.

But whether it was from physical shock or shock at the state of affairs in the world, Quaternary died the second night. Dehydration was rapid and the two-inch frog had shriveled somewhat before John A. Mathis, Sr., who was keeping him, decided to preserve the body, in case some qualified zoologist might wish to examine it.

Aston, observing that there was no fissure or other entrance through which the frog might have entered the caliche in recent years or centuries, declared, "Because of the consolidation of sediments found overlying the frog, it is my opinion that it was found in the place where trapped at the time of the deposition of these sediments. It would therefore have a possible age up to two million years, which is the estimated age of the 'recent' valley caliche and gravel fill in the Pecos Valley at a depth at which the frog was found."

By "recent," Aston explained that he meant in a geological sense.

"It seems," he mused, "that for once geology has found a live fossil." It has been pointed out that the death of Quaternary was somewhat like that of the girl in the book, "Lost Horizon," by James Hilton. The girl, who had lived in Shangri La about 200 years, but appeared to be about 19 years old, left the valley and then shriveled up and died, just as did Quaternary.

Republican Rally And Speaking to Be Here Oct. 5

A Republican rally and speaking in Artesia by candidates on the state ticket, originally announced for noon next Thursday, Oct. 3, has been postponed to noon, Saturday, Oct. 5, according to a telegram received Wednesday by Bill Dunnam, vice chairman for Eddy County.

An advertisement in this issue, giving the date of Oct. 3 for the speaking and rally, is on a page which had been printed at the time the message of the change of date was received. It therefore is incorrect and should have shown the date of Oct. 5.

The speaking party will be headed by Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate, and Ed L. Safford, candidate for governor. Also in the party will be Herman G. Baca, candidate for Congress; O. A. Larrazolo, Jr., lieutenant governor; Jess W. Corn, land commissioner; Charles M. (Bud) Tansey, attorney general, and Edwin Mechem, Supreme Court judge.

J. G. Moore, candidate for state treasurer, visited Artesia Tuesday and said he plans to join the speaking party before it comes to Artesia Oct. 5.

The speaking is to start promptly at noon Saturday, Oct. 5, in the park north of Morris Field. At the conclusion of that program a free barbecue will be served.

Dunnam announced the rally is being sponsored by veterans of the Spanish-American War and World Wars I and II, not, however, as representatives of any veterans' organizations, but as individuals.

Watson Resigns-

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) the organization. He has been praised here for his leadership and the outstanding job he has done in securing the complete and full cooperation of all groups in the community in the civic program.

Prior to coming to Artesia he had served in the Air Corps. He was discharged with the rank of major shortly before accepting the job in Artesia.

He plans to remain in Artesia until Oct. 15 and to continue the work here. And in case that a new manager has not been secured at that time the fact was emphasized that the work will be carried on by the officers and directors until a new manager has been named.

His complete letter of resignation follows: September 23, 1946 Mr. Artie McAnally, President Chamber of Commerce Artesia, New Mexico Dear Mr. McAnally:

Please consider this letter as notice of my resignation as manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce effective at the earliest date that can be arranged, and in no event later than the 15th of October, 1946.

This resignation is being tendered in order that I may accept a job with the Chamber of Commerce of the United States as National Affairs Advisor for the Department of Governmental Affairs of the National Chamber. The job was offered me last week following a conference with Mr. Ralph Bradford, General Manager of the U.S. Chamber and Mr. Clarence Miles, Manager of the Department of Governmental Affairs. This conference was held at Estes Park, Colorado, where the Directors of the U.S. Chamber were in session.

It is with a feeling of regret that this resignation is tendered, for my work in Artesia has been exceedingly pleasant and the cooperation which I have received from the Directors and members of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce has been entirely satisfactory.

The new job which I have been offered will afford me a wider opportunity for work which I believe to be essential to the stability and future of this nation. Summed up in a few words, the nature of my work as National Affairs Advisor will be concerned with efforts to arouse the American people to take a more active interest in Good Government in a non-partisan sense. Part of my time will be spent in Washington,

Connor Awarded 20-30 Honorary Secretary's Pin

Jack Connor, an employee of the Artesia Auto Company, was awarded the 20-30 Club honorary secretary's pin at the regular dinner meeting of the Artesia 20-30 Club Wednesday evening of last week.

The pin, in the form of a 20-30 emblem with a silver quill superimposed thereon, was presented to Connor by Chuck Baldwin, club president, as a reward for his outstanding work and achievements while holding the office of the local club. This award is presented by national 20-30 headquarters to any secretary who, in the opinion of the national secretary, has rendered outstanding service to the 20-30 Association in the execution of his thankless duties. Connor is the first local member to receive this coveted award, an achievement to be truly proud of.

Preceding the presentation of the pin to Connor was an unusual program which consisted of a broadcast of the Mauriello-Lewis fight. The program was rather short because of the champion's refusal to cooperate with John Connor, the program chairman. Doyle Smith, a guest of the club, won the fight jackpot with his round-one ticket.

Other guests in attendance were Leo Austin, J. B. Kincaid, Bob Radke, Don Hyder, and Edwin Ward.

Wikowsky Has No Luck Fishing, Except for a Measly 128-Pounder

Ted Wikowsky found fishing rather poor while on vacation on the West Coast, on which he tried his luck in the waters of Washington, Oregon, and California. Well, he did land a 128-pound black sea bass eight miles out between Long Beach and Santa Catalina, after a battle of an hour and 20 minutes, he admits. And he did land a barracuda, besides a few mackerel.

However, he was disappointed that he missed the salmon runs in Washington and Oregon rivers.

Otherwise the trip, for Mr. and Mrs. Wikowsky and their daughter, Ann, and Mrs. Wikowsky's mother, Mrs. A. G. Reagan, was quite pleasant. They were gone 22 days.

He enumerated such things as a snack bar and concession, rentals for private hangar space, and the encouragement of use of the Artesia airport for commercial shipments, as well as striving to make Artesia a stop on a feeder line.

The acting mayor pointed out that the city has no desire to make money out of the airport, but rather to see it improved and maintained for the advancement of private and commercial flying. Others conferring with the CAA representatives were J. L. Edwards, acting city manager; Councilmen Walter Nugent and Frank Smith; A. H. (Sug) Hazel, manager of the airport; Tom Sivley, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce airport committee, and B. N. Muncy, Jr., Stanley Carper, and A. L. Bert, members of the committee.

not once but several times. He also stated that this does not include his trip to the national Scout meeting in St. Louis or to the regional meeting held recently in Mineral Wells, Tex. He gave a brief account of activities in the area, paid tribute to the field workers and members of his staff, and voiced his appreciation for the fine co-operation given in by the scouts and committee.

K. Bentz, regional director of the Boy Scouts of America, was presented to the group as a guest for the meeting and made only a brief talk.

Jack Spence of Carlsbad and Paul Wilmont of Roswell were named as a committee from the area to receive gifts or requests to the area and authorized to set up rules and regulations in keeping with the law for accepting these gifts.

W. C. Moody, chairman of organization and expansion from Carlsbad, in his report stated there are now some 1659 Boy Scouts in the area and some 906 Cubs, or a total of 2464. These figures are slightly under last year, he stated. His committee made certain recommendations for future activities, which were approved.

The report on training was given by Floyd Golden, president of Eastern New Mexico College and from Portales. He outlined the instruction held and expressed the hope that during the coming year that these activities can and will be increased.

Zane Smith, chairman of camping and activities and from Carlsbad, not only pointed out the increase in the number of scouts attending Camp We-Hin-Ah-Pay from 36 in 1936 to 448 in 1946, but he and his committee recommended that some $3500 be spent improving the camp during this year. He pointed out that the kitchen should be rebuilt and sanitation at the camp must be improved. He reminded those present that the kitchen was in bad condition and that little or nothing had been spent to improve the camp in the past 20 years.

Following his report the executive board recommended that the request for funds be submitted to the finance committee before approval be granted. Chairman Smith pointed out in his comments that he was under the impression that $1000 had been budgeted each year and that the money should be available.

The report on advancement during the year was made by Howard Williams of Roswell and chairman of this committee. He described a trip he and Executive Brawn made into the various districts and stated that although advancements had not been as great as desired, more advancements were expected during the coming year. One minute reports were made by the district chairmen of the activities, advancement, and programs in all of the districts of the area. Outstanding among these was one made by Ben Ogden of Clovis, who stated that Troop 11 of Clovis has some eight Scouts ready for their Eagle awards.

H. Mack Ingle, who has been a field executive and who has served as camp director, made a brief talk to the group. He has recently resigned his field executive job to enter private scouting but he stated his urged the executive to prove the $3500 for camps and stressed the need for these improvements. The group also approved sending of two Eagle Scouts to the Eastern New Mexico Council to the special meeting to be held at Boulder Oct. 22. Executive Brawn staff were authorized to send these two Scouts to the area.

The general and annual meeting was set for Roswell to be held in Roswell, Lewman, new regional will be present for the meeting.

Expressions of appreciation for the hospitality shown and the days of the Christian Council were voted by those present.

Although the banquet at 6:30 Thursday evening church basement, several various committees had started at 5 o'clock. They were well attended by interested with the chairmen various groups presiding sessions.

Watson Resigns Post Chamber Manager

Watson, secretary-manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, resigned his position here today. His resignation was announced by the Chamber of Commerce, which is being presided over by the board of directors.

Watson requested in a letter that he be relieved of his duties here on Tuesday. He had been in the position for six months.

Watson expressed regret over the loss of his position, but he stated that he was glad to have been a part of the Chamber of Commerce.

The board of directors will meet on Wednesday to select a new manager and to discuss the future of the Chamber of Commerce.

Carlos Dunn, 66, Former Artesian, Dies at El Paso

Carlos L. Dunn, 66, of Fort Stockton, Tex., formerly of Artesia, died in an El Paso hospital early Friday after a brief illness.

Funeral services and burial at Fort Stockton at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon were attended from Artesia by two of Mr. Dunn's brothers, Preston and Rubie Dunn, and by two nephews and a niece, Calvin and Garold Dunn and Mrs. Lee Francis.

Mr. Dunn is survived by his widow, two sons, Carlos Dunn, Jr., Alpine, Tex., and C. W. Dunn, Fort Worth, Tex.; two daughters, Miss Mary Ethel Dunn and Mrs. C. R. De Arce, Fort Stockton; three brothers, Preston and Rubie Dunn, Artesia, and A. L. Dunn, Alamogordo; four sisters, Mrs. J. W. Black, Ballinger, Tex.; Mrs. H. M. Lindeum, Buhl, Idaho; Mrs. Lee Barnhill, San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Laura Ferguson, Kermit, Tex., and three grandchildren.

Mr. Dunn and his family lived in Artesia about a year in 1927-28, when he was employed by the Texas Company and later by Dunn's Garage.

Year's Boy Scout Program Is Outlined for Nine Districts

With representatives present from all of the nine districts in the Eastern New Mexico Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America for the executive board meeting and that of operating committee chairmen except one, the budget for 1946-47 was adopted and the program outlined here for the year next last Thursday.

Some 59 were in attendance for the banquet held in the basement of the First Christian Church and served by the Christian ladies on Thursday evening. It was at this meeting that the various reports of committee chairmen as well as district chairmen were made and final approval was given their recommendations.

President Tom Cramer of Carlsbad presided for the business session, while J. D. Smith, chairman of the Gateway District, presided during the banquet. The only entertainment was three musical numbers presented by the high school sextette, which is under the direction of Howard Miller.

McAnally Warns Of Racket Being Worked by Negroes

A warning was issued this morning to cotton farmers of the Central Pecos Valley by Artie McAnally, manager of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association, of a racket being worked by Negro cotton pickers, several cases of which have been reported.

On a pretext that he owes someone money in Dallas, or some other Texas city, a Negro will propose to his employer that he be advanced the money and allow him to drive to Texas so he can pay off his debt, in return for which the Negro will round up a load of other pickers to bring them back.

In most cases reported, McAnally said, the Negroes have been advanced the money and allowed to drive the trucks away. But when they have gone part way—or even to Dallas—they desert the trucks and keep the money advanced.

McAnally warned all farmers who are approached with such a proposition to consider it carefully and be sure of the integrity and intentions of the Negroes.

Lions Carnival Is To Finance Playgrounds

Elaborate plans are nearing completion for the carnival Friday and Saturday evenings, Sept. 27-28, by the Artesia Lions Club to raise funds for playground equipment for Artesia parks, Don Teeds, general chairman, announced this morning.

He said it is hoped to net upwards of $1000 for the purchase and installation of the playground equipment, part of which has already arrived and other units of which are on order.

In a friendly rivalry between the Lions and Lionesses in the advance sale of tickets for a dance the second evening of the carnival, the women are out ahead, with about $800 already turned in. The losers in the contest are to stage a feed for the winners, paying all of the costs out of their own pockets—not proceeds from the carnival—prepare the food, wait tables, and do kitchen police. "I'm afraid the men are elected," Teed said.

However, the advance sale of tickets indicates a good attendance at the carnival and dance, the general chairman declared.

The carnival is to be staged in the new building being built at Second and Quay by Glenn Bookner and Clyde Guy, which is nearing completion. It will start each of the two evenings at 7 o'clock and the dance is scheduled to get under way at 9 o'clock Saturday evening.

In connection with the carnival, the Lions are giving away a Roper range Friday evening an eight-foot Electrolux refrigerator at the dance on Saturday evening.

Somewhat angered at rumors that the Lions Club would not reach its goal of a net of more than $1000, Shirley Hager, president, this week issued a challenge devised to increase public interest in the carnival. He challenged the president of any civic organization in the city to a contest on the ducking pool at the carnival, in which Hager and his opponent sitting on the stool and being the target. He pointed a challenging finger especially at the two Chucks, respectively Aston, president of the Rotary Club, and Baldwin, president of the 29-30 Club.

Another stunt will be the showing of a miniature scale Santa Fe Railway locomotive of the 3400 type, built by Jack Frost, which will be running at the carnival and will be the subject of a guessing contest, in which participants will try to guess the weight of the exhibit—for a consideration, of course. The locomotive and a portion of the track are on display at present in a window of the Brainard-Corbin Hardware Company.

Assisting Teed, general chairman, are Jack Frost, assistant

Watson's new post will be that of national affairs advisor for the Department of Governmental Affairs, at a conference held in Estes Park, Colo., where the directors of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce were in session.

Watson will spend part of his time in Washington, D. C., but will have his headquarters in Dallas, Tex. He will work in some eight states, including New Mexico.

Manager Watson in his letter of resignation said, "It is with a feeling of regret that this resignation is tendered, for my work in Artesia has been exceedingly pleasant and the cooperation which I have received from the directors and members of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce has been entirely satisfactory."

He came to Artesia March 15 and took over the organization. Since that time there has been a steady increase in the membership as well as the activities of the operation of the of-

Cotton Problems To Be Discussed At Meet Friday

An important meeting for the discussion of the cotton situation today has been called for 7:30 o'clock Friday evening, Sept. 27, in the auditorium of Artesia High School, to which all cotton farmers and others connected with the cotton industry, as well as all others interested, are invited.

W. K. Bruton of Memphis, Tenn., area representative of the National Cotton Council, will talk not only on the cotton situation today, but on competition of the cotton industry with synthetics.

Bruton will have a number of exhibits with him and will give demonstrations in connection with his talk.

Local cotton men said the high school auditorium was secured for the meeting, because of the great interest in the appearance here of Bruton.

It was pointed out that with the increasing problems of the cotton farmers and industry the meeting will be of utmost importance to all connected with cotton.

A. A. Kaiser, 75, County Pioneer, Taken by Death

A. A. Kaiser, 75, North Eddy County pioneer and a former Artesia banker and county superintendent of schools, died in Oklahoma City, Okla., at 7:25 o'clock Tuesday evening from cancer, after an illness of nine months.

Funeral services and burial are to be today in Oklahoma City, for which Mr. Kaiser's brothers, Ben F. Kaiser of Artesia and George W. Kaiser of Carlsbad left Wednesday.

Mr. Kaiser is survived by his widow and their twin daughters, Mary and Margaret, and three brothers, those mentioned and John E. Kaiser of Oklahoma City.

A. A. Kaiser, a son of W. A. and Celestia Kaiser, was born Nov. 20, 1870, at Delphos, Kan.

In Kansas he and Ella Blakely were married in 1902. A son, Ernest, was born to them in 1906, and he died in infancy. Mrs. Kaiser died in about 1925.

Mr. Kaiser was married to Bonnie Odum in 1930. To them in December, 1931, were born the twin daughters, who, with their mother, survive Mr. Kaiser.

Mr. Kaiser and his first wife came to Eddy County in 1903, the year after their marriage, and homesteaded near the then thriving little town of Dayton.

In the territorial days, Mr. Kaiser was county superintendent of schools.

He was the assistant cashier of the old Dayton State Bank and moved with it to Artesia at the time of the organization of the First State Bank of Artesia in 1915.

Mr. Kaiser went into the ranching business in 1918 on the Kaiser ranch east of Dayton, where he lived until 1943, when he moved to Glen Rose, Tex. He then moved from there to Oklahoma City for the final weeks of his life.

More Musical Instruments Are Needed for Band

Although there has been a fine response for the plea for musical instruments for the high school band, more instruments are needed, it has been announced by Franklin Wiltze, high school instrumental music director.

All who own or have hand instruments and are willing to loan, rent or sell, have been urged to contact the high school here. New instruments, it was explained, are slow in being delivered and prices of the new instruments have been described as extremely high.

But with interest growing in the musical organization and with it almost impossible to obtain new instruments, the hope has been voiced that sufficient used instruments can be secured to provide instruments for all of those students desiring to join the band or the orchestra.

Anyone having a musical instrument of any kind willing to loan it, to rent it, or to sell it is requested to contact Director Wiltze or the high school officials.

Airport Plans Here Praised By CAA Men

Planned improvements and expansion at the Artesia municipal airport were discussed here last Thursday afternoon by city officials, members of the Chamber of Commerce airport committee, and flying enthusiasts with representatives of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

W. T. Brown of Fort Worth, Tex., chief of the airport management and operations section of the fourth region, CAA, said plans here are coming nicely and that the over-all picture for the future of the Artesia airport is well conceived.

Accompanying Brown here was John F. Warfield of Santa Fe, liaison officer for the third district, CAA.

Fred Brainard, acting mayor of Artesia, and other local representatives explained to the CAA men it is hoped to complete improvements on the administration building at the airport, find means to surface the ramp, and for a permanent road leading to the administration building and hangars.

The acting mayor pointed out that it also is planned to erect a municipal hangar at some time in the future.

All of the planned improvements, except the building of hangars, come under the government's program for financial assistance, the CAA men pointed out.

The immediate difficulty here in regard to airport improvements, Acting Mayor Brainard said, is that the city has no funds from which to draw for improvements, to be matched by federal funds.

Brown made several suggestions for increased revenue at the airport.

Organization for Construction of Community Building to Be Formed

A meeting of representatives of various Artesia groups interested in the formation of a non-profit organization for the construction of a community building, has been called at the city hall for 7:30 o'clock Monday evening, Sept. 30.

An invitation has been sent out to the representatives by Artie McAnally, president of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, after the meeting was called by the board of directors.

The Chamber of Commerce some days ago requested a number of local organizations to name representatives to represent them in the formation of the community building committee.

McAnally said Chuck Aston has been named temporary chairman of the group and he will preside at the meeting Monday until permanent officers are named.

It was pointed out that various groups and individuals in Artesia have for many months been talking for and seeking means for the erection of a community center in which meetings, banquets, conventions, recreation, and other activities can be held.

McAnally said the present move is one in the direction of tying together the ideas of the several groups and individuals and making a concerted effort towards obtaining the building.

He said the task will not lie entirely upon the shoulders of the group of representatives, but that they will merely serve in putting into action the wishes of the community. McAnally said that after the non-profit group is organized Monday evening, ideas of others will be invited.

Grids Are Poised for Jal Clash, Trapped by Portales Injuries

Grid team, badly working hard this morning for a clash between the Panthers at Jal Friday after bowing to the Rams at Portales last Friday.

The Rams scored first in the second quarter, when Speegle heaved an aerial to Moore in the end zone. Portales scored again in the third quarter, with Harp cracking center.

Early in the final period Speegle hit tackle and went across standing up for the third touchdown.

But the most spectacular of the game was when Dunn hit through the Bulldog tackle advancing into the secondary, and cutting sharply to the sideline for a 75-yard run and the final tally.

The "B" and "C" squads will play their first games Saturday, Oct. 5, when they play a double-header at Cloudercroft.

Dr. Thorpe Retires From Practice After 42 Years' Service

Dr. Byron E. Thorpe, Artesia physician and surgeon, has retired from practice of medicine after 42 years.

He has sold his office building property on South Second Street to Dr. C. Pardue Bunch, along with his office equipment and apparatus.

Dr. Thorpe said this week he is stepping entirely out of practice because of his health. He said that he and Mrs. Thorpe and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Fay Thorpe, are retaining their home here, but that they may travel a bit.

The doctor and Mrs. Thorpe moved to Artesia in 1939 from Farmington, where he had a hospital.

Bullock-Angley, Bourland-Burch to Play Semi-Finals in Golf Tourney

The second flight is further along than the championship and first flights. However, only one of the semi-final games has been played. In that J. D. Smith won over J. W. Baird 3-1. Jack Fautleroy and Ed Smith are to play this week and the winner will meet J. D. Smith in the final game.

Stanley Carper defeated Jack Spratt 1-up on the 20th in a third-flight quarter-final game. Carper will meet Oscar Loyd and Harry Gilmore in the semi-finals.

In the third flight Hugh Kiddly defaulted to Arba Green, who will meet the winner of a match between Charlie Bullock and L. B. Feather in semi-final play.

Eddy to Be Advertised Booths at New Mexico Fair

Eddy County will be well represented at the New Mexico State Fair at Albuquerque Sept. 29 to Oct. 6, probably with more booths than ever before.

The Artesia Chamber of Commerce will be an exhibit booth, and others by extension of the Eddy County booth, and an exhibit of the more production and completion in the oil fields of New Mexico in the Bu-

The floor space of the exhibit will show the agricultural phase of Eddy County and the activities of extension clubs, 4-H clubs, and the county agent's office. Assisting in the preparation for the floor space were the Cottonwood Woman's Club, Cottonwood Extension Club, and Atoka Extension Club.

The oil industry portion of the Bureau of Mines exhibit, prepared by Lamb, will show not only recent production and completion practices, but special services which the specialty companies offer. Included will be gun perforations, rotary bits, core barrels, electric logging, acidizing, and rotary fishing tools.

A complete set of oil samples from every pool in the state will be shown, as well as a set of samples from a well in the Maljamar pool, logging the various formations from top to bottom in glass bottles.

Other portions of the oil and gas exhibit will include geological maps and cross-sections of this

Bullock-Angley, Bourland-Burch to Play Semi-Finals in Golf Tourney

It will be Bill Bullock, 1946 medalist, against Bill Angley, and Bob Bourland, 1945 medalist, against H. D. Burch Sunday in semi-final play in the annual Artesia city golf tournament of the Artesia Golf Club.

The two favorites made it a step closer to the 1946 championship, as did Angley and Burch, by winning their quarter-final matches last Sunday.

Bullock defeated Harvey Jones 6-5, while Bourland won over C. A. Baker 4-3.

In stepping into the semi-finals, Angley nosed out Cliff Loyd 1-up on the 20th hole, while Burch won his match over Fritz Crawford 6-5.

Bill Linell, former city champion, who went into the first flight, when he lost to Harvey Jones, defaulted to Lynn Shelton in the first-flight quarter-finals.

Neil B. Watson, A. W. Harral, and Tom Pickett respectively defeated Stanley Sutton, S. M. Laughlin, and W. W. Byers.

Shelton will meet Watson, and Harral will meet Pickett in the semi-finals of the first flight.

Band Boosters to Be Organized at Meeting Tonight

All parents of band members and high school band boosters have been invited and are being urged to attend a meeting to be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the high school auditorium.

The meeting is being called for the purpose of organizing a band boosters' club. It is hoped and expected there will be sufficient interest and attendance to permit the formation of this club, to elect officers, and to outline plans for the year.

Franklin Wiltze, director of instrumental music at the high school, is urging all parents, who have children in the band, to be present and is inviting all interested in the band to be present at the meeting. He emphasized the fact that everyone interested is invited to attend the meeting. The club is being organized, he stated, to encourage home practice; to increase interest and enthusiasm regarding the band; to help provide transportation and chaperons for the band on its various trips; to help raise funds when needed for the musical organization; and in general to work for the welfare of the band and the band department.

An effort was made last week to organize the band club but due to the rainy weather prevailing and the late announcement concerning the meeting the attendance was small. It is hoped and expected there will be a fine attendance for the meeting tonight.

Quaternary, Artesia Frog, Dies, But Gains National Notoriety

Quaternary, the two-million-year-old-frog unearthed here Wednesday of last week seven feet from the surface in a tightly-packed caliche bed, surveyed the world of today and just couldn't take it; he died the second night.

But in his brief span of life after two million years of suspended animation—and since his untimely demise—he has caused quite a furor, and not only in Artesia.

First the United Press Association picked up the yarn about Quaternary, which appeared in last week's issue of The Advocate, released a regional newspaper story, and then a story to the regional radio stations for airing Monday evening.

Interest in the frog was so great the United Press on Tuesday asked for a further release about him, to be used nationally. The request was complied with and a dispatch was wired Tuesday. Just how or when it is to be used is not known in Artesia.

It is expected more notoriety for Quaternary will be gained, as geologists and zoologists of the nation argue as to the possibility of a frog being encased in caliche two million years and living, only to be discovered in his coma during 1946, after the world has advanced a long way and man has evolved, only to keep the world in turmoil.

Chuck Aston, consulting petroleum geologist, pointed out that at the probable time Quaternary is believed to have been trapped by the deposition of sediments man had not evolved. And, as geology goes, two million years is but a short time. Although Aston does not profess to be a zoologist, his geological studies have revealed to him that other forms of life have change little in the relatively short time of two million years, that the birth of man and the changes he has made probably have been more rapid than among any other forms of life.

Remember 83

WITH THE STATE ELECTION less than two months away, citizens and voters of Southeastern New Mexico should not forget State Highway 83.

If there was ever a time to secure a definite pledge that this highway will be constructed—now is the time.

For many years pleas have been sounded and promises have been made. A former resident of Artesia declares it begins to appear it will take 83 years to get Highway No. 83 constructed or completed.

We are extremely sorry that up to the present time there has not been an outright pledge that this highway will be built. But all that has been promised has been the assertion that it will be built if funds are available. We want the pledge to be a little stronger. We know that highways are going to be constructed during the next two years; we know that funds for building highways are going to be available; we know that federal aid on these projects will be available.

And what the people of Southeastern New Mexico want to know is that the highway will be built.

It not only will serve the people along the route but it will serve many others in this section. It will form a short cut across the mountains; it will provide a farm to market road for the producers in the mountains; and it will provide one of the most beautiful and scenic highways in the entire state of New Mexico.

It should not be forgotten that citizens of Artesia spent thousands of dollars helping to build that part of highway No. 83, which extends east of the city. It must not be forgotten that federal aid promised and pledged in the construction of this highway has been withdrawn on various occasions without ample or complete explanation.

But what the voters, the taxpayers and the citizens of this section want to know today is that the highway will be built. They want a pledge that this highway will be constructed.

They want a pledge without strings, without "ifs" and without political ties, which are usually attached to such projects.

It shouldn't even be necessary that the promise be made. This part of the state deserves the construction of this highway. But past experience has proven that it will take more than talk.

But talk backed with ballots can get the job done. Now is the time when voters really carry weight.—O.E.P.

Not Too Bad

THINGS LOOK PRETTY DARK.

Nation's gathered around the peace table can't solve their problems. Greed and selfishness are very much in evidence.

Despite the fighting of World War II to restore peace to the nations, fighting still continues. America is in as complicated position as ever in history. Production is down; food, which is plentiful, is scarce; confidence in many phases of our government and our public officials is lacking.

The entire situation is very discouraging with even our leaders advocating different policies although members of the same party and serving under the same leader.

Many are wondering just what is going to happen; how it is all going to work out; and what the final result is going to be.

Will Robinson, editor of The Roswell Morning Dispatch and a newspaper man for more than 50 years in New Mexico, declares it will all work out. He emphasized the fact recently in an address before the Rotary Club that all America has to fear is fear itself.

He reminded his listeners that America is a God-loving and a God-fearing nation and that the Lord has a hand in many things and that He will have a hand in the straightening out of the affairs which men have permitted to get into such a "mess."

He speaks with experience. He has seen many problems confront the nation. He knows that problems, which appear large today, are very insignificant tomorrow. He is sure the labor situation and the strikes will be solved and that even John L. Lewis, who looms so large at times, will be a forgotten man in the tomorrow.

But in his expressions of belief and confidence in America, in solving her problems, he reminded man that although he had dodged and evaded his church and religious responsibility for many years that eventually it would come back to him and he would have to assume it.

From his remarks could be drawn the conclusion that we, as a people, must assume our duties as Christians, as followers and the duties, which are imposed upon us as citizens if we want to hasten the solution to our problems.—O.E.P.

Christmas cards can be purchased unprinted; they can be ordered with name imprinted (printed); or they can be ordered with name engraved.

But the time to order your cards, to get the pick of the samples; to be sure and have the card you want; and to have them imprinted or engraved, is now.

This is one of those Christmas shopping jobs you can get done and have completed long before the holidays season arrives.

We at The Advocate will be more than glad to have you look over the samples of the Christmas cards we offer this year.—O.E.P.

Personal Items

OUR PERSONAL COLUMNS grow one week and then slip the next week.

It has been up to two and a half columns. We hope eventually it may reach four to five columns or, for that matter, a full page of personal items about you, your neighbors and your friends.

We still want those personal items. The earlier they are turned in the better and the more the merrier.—O.E.P.

Gentlemen, What About It?

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS CAN BE CUT by 76 per cent in the nation, according to Charles M. Upham, engineer-director of the American Road Builders Association.

And he backs up his contention with figures from a survey, the upshot of which is a recommendation for a sevenfold program of design features. It embraces:

1. Separated streams of traffic with wide lanes dividing all streams which travel in opposite directions. This practically eliminates head-on collisions and sideswipe accidents.
2. The elimination of all direct intersections between railroads and highways.
3. Wide, smooth, stable shoulders level with the pavement in open areas to enable motor vehicles to park completely off the paved strip and to give elbow room in cases of emergency.
4. A careful control of commercial enterprises along the highways.
5. The exclusion of pedestrians from certain heavily traveled roadways.
6. Definite and adequate standards of design which both care for present speeds and allow for possible increased speeds in the future.
7. A provision of specially designed entrance and departure "cloverleaves" to insure safety and avoid traffic confusion.

We realize that early highway construction had to span the nation at a tremendous speed and with comparatively little money, when the use of the horseless carriage grew by leaps and bounds, and that now the number of motor vehicles and their speeds have moved beyond the capacity of many highways, which were adequate in their day. One such is Highway No. 83.

While we do not believe every one of the features of Mr. Upham's recommendations need be incorporated in improvements and further construction of No. 83 and other highways in New Mexico, we in this part of the state are wondering if Tom Mabry and Ed Safford are thinking about what they intend to do about the highway leading west from Artesia.

They should be, because we in Artesia are thinking about what we want done.—A.L.B.

Protecting City

AS ARTESIA GROWS and expands, the need for restrictions and regulations within the residential districts becomes greater and greater.

Without a doubt, it is the desire of the city to safeguard, in every way possible, homes and residential property erected here. It is, without a doubt, the desire of the city not only to encourage the construction of more homes and better homes but the beautifying of these homes.

All of this just helps to make Artesia a more attractive city and a more desirable place in which to live.

But many sections of the city are being invaded by commercial enterprises. A commercial business is installed here or installed there. More small buildings, which may be needed but which, in nine cases out of ten, are far from attractive, are erected. And these tend not only to detract from the other property on that particular lot, but from the other residences within that particular section.

It is always a problem to zone sections of a small city. It is always a problem to regulate the kind and type and priced houses, which are to be built. It is always a problem to prevent attractive sections of the city from having their beauty destroyed.

But the fact does remain that Artesia needs some regulations, which will aid and help those citizens, who are seeking to beautify their own property and who are striving to make the city more attractive.

And certainly there is a provision, which permits cities to regulate commercial enterprises and which will let the people within the immediate area affected determine whether they want and shall have the business in their section or not.—O.E.P.

Up and Down Main Street

THAT HIGHWAY UP AND DOWN MAIN CAN BE BUILT

More than a year ago, before a single candidate had announced for state office, we were advocating the completion of state highway No. 83. Many years before we ever came to New Mexico others were advocating the construction and the completion of this highway. Its construction and completion has been advocated for years. Citizens of Artesia have spent thousands of dollars to get a road to the oil field east of here. Many of them have worked year after year endeavoring to obtain this highway. What we have today is a monument to their efforts. Yet the efforts, the money and the time devoted to the construction of this highway should have resulted in it being completed from the Texas line across the Pecos Valley over the Sacramento Mountains where it links up with U.S. Highway 54 or U.S. Highway No. 70. Pledges and promises have been made, not once, but many times. And yet the highway is not completed. And the highway will not be completed until sufficient clamor is sent up by the taxpayers and voters of Southeastern New Mexico. We don't care who builds the highway; what party or what office holders get the credit. What we want to see done is that this highway be completed. And we know there is never a time to get things done like the time just before an election. It is when the candidates are seeking the votes they agree to do things. It is when the party needs support that it backs projects. The construction of this highway means plenty not only to Lovington, Hobbs, Carlsbad, Artesia, Roswell, Hope, Elkhart, Cloudfort, High Rolls, Alamogordo and Las Cruces but it means much to the cities on west of Las Cruces and to the entire Southeastern part of the state of New Mexico. And now is the time for voters to trade their ballots for something constructive.

Number 13 Is Lucky for Tires, Sperry Declares

The much-abused "13" is the luckiest number in the book for the automobile tire, according to Wesley Sperry of Pior Rubber Company.

back on the job at the Kemp Lumber company after only part of a vacation . . . Austin Stuart performing one of his special duties as assistant postmaster . . . Fred Cole driving down the street . . . M. C. Ross busy producing those good Ross Bakery products at their new plant . . . E. B. McCaw looking for a particular item and having it ordered when he couldn't find it . . . That was Up and Down Main this week.

Political promises, as a rule, are of little value. The promise that expenditures of state funds will be in proportion to the vote given the state ticket in a successful campaign may sound fine, but it hasn't worked in the past. Time and again, Eddy County has been reminded that it gave the necessary majority to the Democratic ticket. That, however, hasn't secured or brought much to Eddy County. It is generally well known fact that Eddy County has been ignored and forgotten. Even Judge Thomas J. Mabry, Democratic nominee for governor, has stated if he is elected he will move the state line from Lake Arthur south to the Texas line. That is an open admission that the party has neglected the county which gives it support. What assurance is there this won't be done again? What assurance is there with promises made containing "ifs" that state highway No. 83 will be completed? If there is such assurance then we have not seen any real evidence of it. But we do know that voters are needed today. It is a generally admitted fact that the Republican ticket is going to make a strong bid. It is admitted that present indications are that the race is going to be close. The chances are that candidates on either ticket will make good representative officials, either in the state or in the national congress. That is a concern, of course, of all of us. But we are concerned about this highway. We know what it means for the producers of fruits and vegetables in the mountains. We know what it means to Artesia when they can reach the market and sell these products. We know what it means as a short cut in reaching the southern part of the state. We know what it means to build this highway. We know it will mean more travelers and tourists to build this highway. We know it will mean more travelers through this section and that more people can see and view this beautiful section of the state of New Mexico. Yes, this highway should have been completed years ago. We are firmly convinced that proper demands now can secure the construction of this highway.

in a tire when it is properly inflated." The Artesia tire dealer pointed out that while it is hardly convenient for a motorist to measure the deflection of his tires, he can easily gauge a tire's air pressure and keep it at the point recommended by the tire manufacturer. Keeping tires at the recommended pressure, he said, "not only insures riding comfort, but is by far the greatest single aid to getting maximum service life out of them."

Describing under-inflation and over-inflation as "the two deadliest enemies of tire life," Sperry asserted that "these twin evils cost the American driving public hundreds of thousands of dollars annually, and this is particularly serious at a time when even the present record-breaking tire production is overshadowed by the demand and there still are not enough tires to go around."

"Right now," Sperry said, "there is an epidemic of over-inflation. Tire servicemen all over the country have noticed it. It seems to be a holdover from the war years when it was impossible to replace tires and some drivers, mistakenly, thought they were being a little kinder to their tires by giving them a little extra pressure. It will be to be hoped that this epidemic is to be over before we are fully embarked upon the new era of higher speed that will come with improved postwar autos."

Keeping tires at recommended pressure involves knowing what the manufacturer recommends for tires and checking them frequently and regularly to be sure they have the right amount of air, Sperry said.

HANGAR FLYING

Crop dusting has been the main subject and interest at the airport the last two weeks. Two duster pilots from Brownfield, Tex., were guests at the airport, staying in the "Pilot's Rest" more than a week. Also two dusters from Taft, Tex., were guests at the airport. All four boys worked in connection with "Sug" Hazel and finally they got all the valley farms dusted.

R. T. Brock was the only solo student last week. Brock has recently purchased a BT-15. However, until the BT is licensed, Brock is becoming more efficient as a pilot by flying the Piper Cubs at the airport.

Art Wintheiser returned Saturday from the southern part of Texas. He made the trip in his new Johnson Rocket.

Two members of the airport crew made the football game at Portales Friday, Ted Heidel and Ramon Davidson.

John McMurray passed the written examination for his private license last week. Len Robert Pruitt, trainee under the GI Bill of Rights, has received his pilot's license. Pruitt was one of the first veterans to enroll in this course and had continued without interruption. He plans on taking more training in the form of the commercial pilot's license as soon as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fuchs flew to Dallas Saturday. They planned on visiting Mr. Fuchs' brother, who resides in Denton. They will fly a new Luscombe home from the factory, which has just been purchased by Roy Shaffer of Carrizozo.

A "duster" storm hit the Artesia municipal airport about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The storm had been observed by pilots for an hour before it hit the field, coming from the northeast. Therefore, fortunately, all ships were grounded and tied securely before the storm struck. The remainder of Sunday afternoon was spent "hangar flying" in the administration building.

Prizes and Rewards For Rental Units Are Violation of OPA Rules

A warning that it is a violation of OPA rent rules for landlords to accept any higher payment than the ceiling price on rental units, even in the way of prizes and rewards, was issued by Flynn O'Malley, district OPA rent executive.

O'Malley issued the warning as the result of various advertisements appearing in newspapers offering rewards for rental units. The executive said the prize and reward offers are decidedly unfair to veterans, who are unable to compete with larger income groups.

"Let us not forget the ex-service man, who fought to save this country," commented O'Malley. "He should have at least an even chance at rental units."

Detectives Mike Michelson and Donald Trovie of Minneapolis sped to a vacant lot after neighbors called police and reported suspicious characters had been seen burying something. The officers dug up several cans filled with small toys, candy, and rubber balloons which they took to the station and returned to the lot to await developments. Two teenagers approached and asked the detectives if they had seen any digging in the lot. "We're having a treasure hunt and some-

 Judge Samuel Heller, May Lookingland, evict a tenant because he would lead to all sorts of complications." Peterson wrote the court he couldn't appear without a haircut—and he didn't want to get his hair cut.
 R. J. Mullins reports little hope for a full-sized state teachers' convention this fall. The New Mexico Education Association secretary said he was becoming discouraged by a shortage of hotel accommodations in Albuquerque from any attempt for a teachers' meet—the state's largest annual parley, which was discontinued during the war.

At long Beach, N. Y., Edward J. Blesch and William R. Haviland looked up from their rowboat about 500 yards offshore and saw a seaplane descending. They dived into the water and the plane wedged a pontoon in their boat. After a powerboat disengaged the plane, Blesch and Haviland bailed out the water and rowed back to shore. Alfred Clement, pilot, said he was practicing take-offs and landings.

In Alabama, Calif., fire broke out in the living room of Willard Strain's house. Passersby shattered a window and fought it with a garden hose. The fire department arrived, sirens screaming, and finished the job; then firemen clumped through the house to make sure the blaze was out. That was when Strain woke up and asked what was up.

Observations in Russia have shown that weather in the Northern Hemisphere has been warming up for the last 27 years, the Soviet Union Academy of Science has reported. Director Grigoriev of the academy's Geographical Institute said air currents began in 1919 to show slightly higher temperatures. Along with this came a reduction of the polar ice cap. No exact data on average temperature was available. Gradually in sub-Arctic regions vegetation showed the effects of slightly warmer weather. Navigation conditions in the Arctic Ocean also improved. One practical gain for the Soviet Union, it was indicated, would be improvement of farming and food raising in sub-Arctic areas.

Old Nazi flags were used for decorating the city during a recent fair at Leipzig, Germany. With the central white ring and black swastika removed, they made perfect red flags. Some of Goebbels' old propaganda boards were reported repainted with Communist slogans.

For 25 years a mountain has obstructed storekeeper William Kask's view of an ocean inlet near Barent, British Columbia. Kask decided to move the mountain, or at least part of it. He hired a bulldozer at $15 an hour to cut 30 feet off a rise, and if he can buy the whole hill he plans to whittle off a 30-foot slice 1300 feet long and 200 feet wide. "It'll be worth it," he said.

Dunn Receives Honors Months After Discharge
 Charles Preston Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Dunn of Artesia, who is now in the implement business at Portales with his father-in-law and brother-in-law, Alvin and Harold George, crawled out from under a tractor the other day, wiped off his hands, and took time off for a brief ceremony, in which he was presented a Distinguished Service Cross and an Air-Medal with eight stars, for outstanding service in the air branch of the Marine Corps, from which he was discharged last December.

The presentation was made by Lieutenant Spencer, Marine Corps recruiting officer at El Paso. Dunn, a first lieutenant in the Marine Corps, served 12 months in the Philippine campaign and was credited with 63 missions and more than 200 combat hours in an SBD, the Navy version of the Army's A-24 divebomber, the oldest combat plane used in World War II.

Most of his combat service consisted of flying top cover for the Infantry during the liberation of American prisoners from Japanese prison camps in the Philippines.

 picked General Hurley to run the Jap blockade of the Philippines and get General MacArthur and our men on Bataan. Three times General Hurley ran that blockade and on one occasion was severely wounded.

VETERANS, LET'S HONOR THE MAN WHO RISKED HIS LIFE TO GET TO THE BATAAN VICTIMS, while those who now oppose him remained safe and sound in Washington, talking big but not risking their sides. They "shot the bull" while Hurley and the boys on Bataan shot Japs.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

High-Powered Sprayers Are Issued to State

The Chemical Warfare Division of the War Department has issued seven high-powered sprayers to the State Extension Service for use in control of cattle grubs, ticks, and other infestations in cattle and sheep, according to George A.

Godfrey, Animas, president of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association. The department also has given the Extension Service assurance that additional spraying equipment will be allocated to the state as soon as it is available.

The pressure spraying machines will be mounted on mobile units and used by various county agents throughout the state to demonstrate proper use in control of insect pests, Godfrey said. Allocation of these machines will be a boon to the livestock industry of New Mexico and will do much toward curbing an annual loss of several million dollars in scarred hides and loss in livestock weights now caused by infestations of cattle grubs, the Extension Service said.

State College, the Extension Service, and the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association have been endeavoring for several months to secure an allocation of these machines which became surplus property at the end of the war, Godfrey said. The machines were used by the Chemical Warfare Division to control insects in training camps and tropical areas during the war.

PRACTICAL FARM BUILDINGS

Granary Needs Filled

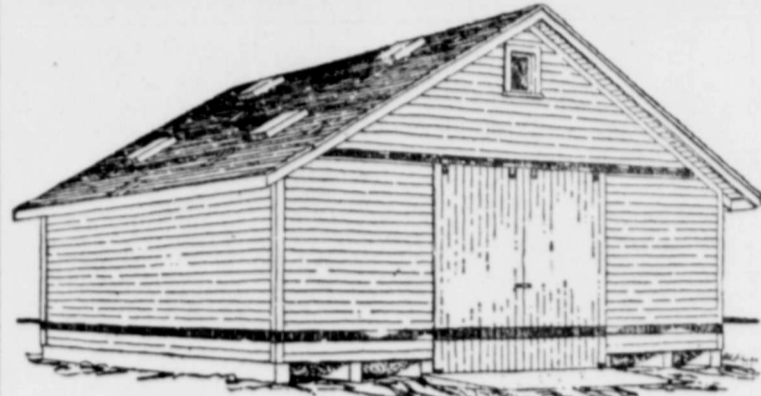

By W. J. Dryden, WNU Farm Editor.

Considerable money may be saved by handling grain in bulk instead of sacks. Efficient grain storage is a step toward the elimination of heavy losses from waste, deterioration and rodents. It contributes to orderly marketing, saves time, enables the farmer to "condition" damp grain before selling and reduces handling costs.

The granary may be of several types. It may be portable, which offers the advantage of less handling.

In setting the bin up for filling, always be sure that the door is so located that a wagon can be driven up convenient to it.

If the bin can be set at such an elevation that it can be emptied by gravity it will save a lot of work. Many farmers have handled their grain in this way, providing a roadway above the bin for filling it, and another roadway below the bin for emptying. Thus, it can be filled and emptied by gravity.

Satisfactory Type of Granary.

It may be of a permanent nature located at central point. It may be circular, of plywood or sheet metal. Each type offers certain advantages. Facts of cost, availability of material and personal desires must be considered in selecting the type desired.

The size is determined by the average quantity of grain to be stored each year. In case of a bumper or unusually large crop, a Prefabricated bins are pre-cut to exact size with sections numbered for quick assembly; some may have panels prebuilt, for even greater speed in erection. For ease in erection, prefabricated structures may sometimes be preferable to built-in-place bins.

During late years, some farmers have found it advisable to build elevators on the farm. In some cases, it was possible to hold the grain properly constructed brooder house may be utilized to care for the surplus. A standard bushel of wheat occupies approximately 1 1/4 cubic feet of space and weighs 50 pounds per cubic foot. The capacity of a bin in bushels may be determined by multiplying its volume by 8 and dividing by 10.

The bins may be permanent or in knock-down sections; this latter method would allow storage of the sections and use of the building for implements when not needed for grain. Bins intended for other than temporary storage should be carefully rat-proofed.

Plywood Granary.

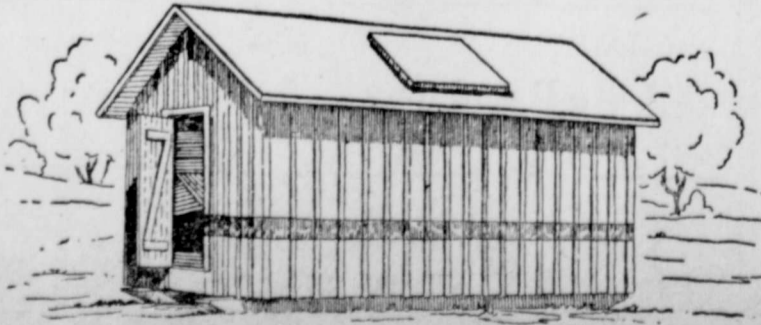

Driveway's Width May Be Reduced As Desired.

A variety of sizes and types are offered here in an effort to meet the many varying requirements of individual farmers. These buildings are all modern in every detail and should appeal to those farmers who not only realize the necessity of properly storing their grain but also appreciate the importance of building for permanence.

for suitable market conditions, saving storage cost, and within a few years, by this additional profit, pay for elaborate grain elevators. In most cases, expensive elevators are not recommended.

The average farm will find that a portable granary will pay for itself even though a central granary be maintained on the farmstead.

Satisfactory Type of Portable Granary.

Three Ewes Are Awarded Artesia Boy in Contest

IRA GARNER, JR.

Ira Garner, Jr., of Artesia, is shown here with one of the Southdown ewes he won through a contest, as a member of the Artesia 4-H Club.

He is one of four Eddy County boys awarded ewes in the contest. The others are Tommy Price of Lakewood and Daniel Holguin and Odell Spurlin of Carlsbad.

As a result of an essay contest sponsored by a national foundation on the subject, "The Advantages of the Farm Flock," each of the four Eddy County boys was awarded three Southdown ewes and the four became co-owners of a Southdown ram imported from Canada.

The ewes were given to the boys with the understanding that each will return to the county agent three lambs within the next three years, to be used in a future contest to be offered 4-H boys and girls.

Less Color and More Beef Bring Ranch Success

It is a case now of less color and more beef, along with improved practices of operations, if ranchers in New Mexico are to be successful, in the opinion of Ivan Watson, extension livestock specialist of New Mexico A. & M. College.

Experiments with crossbred beef cattle have shown definitely, he says, that crosses produced by combinations of both two and three breeds yielded more beef and profit per animal than comparable purebred stock.

"These crossbreds," the livestock specialist explains, "produce calves that not only weigh more when born but grow out faster. Of course, they don't have the color of purebreds, but after all a fellow isn't in the livestock business to raise color alone; he is in it to make a profit."

Watson cites some results of crossbreeding obtained from experiment conducted by the U.S.

USDA to Hold Exhibit at Fair Sept. 29-Oct. 6

Department of Agriculture in Montana. Experiments were made on both two-way cross and three-way cross. Calves of the two-way cross were the offspring of Shorthorn bulls and Hereford cows. Calves of the three-way cross were sired by Aberdeen-Angus bulls bred to Shorthorn-Hereford cows, with the product of the former cross.

"In comparison with purebred Herefords, the triple crosses weighed more at weaning and at the end of the feeding period, gaining more rapidly in the feed lots, sold for more per pound and per head, had a higher dressing percentage, and returned more per animal above feed and marketing costs," Watson says. The degree of superiority was substantial in most cases.

For improved practices of operations, the extension livestock specialist recommends supplementary ranges, parasite control, improved pastures and stock water development.

Featured in the exhibit are use of pasture, beef yields and production in fertilized and unfertilized pastures. Other displays contain high quality, larger lambs and more correct breeding, learn the farm market up with its changes.

Dioramas, animating changing lights, platemounts, cutouts, techniques will be used to present information to the public. Department of Agriculture also will be on display.

Scissors, Shears
Much Used, as
Well as Abused

Of all household utensils, none
is more used—and more abused—
than scissors and shears, says Miss Doris Mardis, Eddy County extension agent. Much of the abuse,
she adds, is because of confusion
of the purposes of the two instruments.
"Scissors, which are three to six inches long with similarly shaped handles and sharp points,
are for snipping and trimming," Miss Mardis says, "while shears, which are six to 13 inches long
with differently shaped handles
and one blade heavier than the other, are for cutting. Shears may
Using shears to snip and scissors to cut will lessen the effectiveness of both instruments, according to Miss Mardis.
"The fine cutting edge of shears
is dulled by use on paper, cardboard, flowers, wet cloth, or heavy
string," says the county agent.
"Dropping them may spring or break the blades. The points
should never be used to pry
things open."
Miss Mardis advises housewives
to protect shears and scissors by hanging them up or by keeping them in boxes. She recommends oiling and cleaning blades every
six months.
"Sharpening may be done at home by the skillful use of a file," Miss Mardis says, "but it pays to take good scissors or shears to an expert grinder."

use. County Agent Dallas Rierson
advises.
If satisfactory storage facilities aren't already available, pits or mounds and outdoor cellars can
be constructed, he says.
The pit or mound is the simplest
type of construction and keeps
root vegetables — carrots, beets,
turnips, parsnips—very well. The vegetables are placed on three to four inches of straw in a level,
well-drained place and are covered with an additional three or four inches of straw and enough
soil to maintain a constant temperature.
For most home gardeners, the basement is probably the most logical storage place, Rierson adds. He recommends that the storeroom should be separated
from the rest of the basement,
with a window to provide fresh
air and to allow odors to escape.
A space 8x10 feet will usually provide storage space for the average family.
Most vegetables, and fruits
which require moist air and low
temperatures — carrots, potatoes,
turnips, pears — can be kept in
basement storage, Rierson says.
Sweet potatoes, squash, and pumpkins may be stored where it is
warmer, if only one room is available. Cabbage should not be stored indoors, because its odor
will permeate the entire house.

specialist, suggests that the homemaker analyze her tasks to do her work easier, quicker, and better.
"Someone has said that about a third of all housework is unnecessary," Miss Strong says.
"The housewife can save much needed time and energy just by proper planning."
To improve the job of housecleaning, Miss Strong thinks that every homemaker should ask herself these questions:
Is the task really necessary? In view of the time and effort involved, does it have to be done?
Are the working tools within easy reach? Are they stored in a specific place?
Is the tool best for the job?
Proper tools and equipment save time as well as energy.
Can the task be done while seated? Sitting down while working is a means of saving strength.
Are work spaces in the kitchen
at the correct height?
Are both hands working as much as possible?

SET YOUR SIGHTS

It takes planning to achieve a goal

Some young men know what they want and plan for it. Others are still looking for their niche. The new Regular Army can help both.

Perhaps you want to go to college but can't afford it. If you enlist in the Army, you'll get your chance. Honorably discharged after a three-year enlistment, you are eligible for 48 months of education at any college, trade, or business school for which you can qualify. The Government will pay your tuition, laboratory fees, etc., up to $500 per ordinary school year, plus $65 a month living allowance—$90 a month if you have dependents.

If you haven't found your spot, an Army enlistment offers you training in any of 200 trades and skills. You leave the service eligible for further training at the best civilian schools.

You can assure yourself of the benefits of the GI Bill of Rights if you enter the Army on or before October 5, 1946. See your nearest Army Recruiting Station for details.

HIGHLIGHTS OF REGULAR ARMY ENLISTMENT

1. Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years. (1-year enlistments permitted for men now in the Army with 6 or more months of service.)
2. Enlistment age from 18 to 34 years inclusive (17 with parents' consent) except for men now in Army, who may enlist at any age, and former service men depending on length of service.
3. A reenlistment bonus of $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service, provided reenlistment is within 3 months after last honorable discharge.
4. A furlough for men who reenlist within 30 days. Full details of other furlough privileges can be obtained from Recruiting Officers.
5. Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to enlist or reenlist.
6. Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. All previous active federal military service counts toward retirement.
7. Choice of branch of service and overseas theater (of those still open) on 3-year enlistments.

OF SPICES AND SPONGES

Thumbing through a dictionary or encyclopedia one finds relatively close to each other two words which belong in the economic vocabulary of the Americas: Spices and sponges. While the first adds life and zest to the most tasteless foods, the second are invaluable for cleaning purposes in the home and for commercial enterprises. Both—although not products of first importance—are the center of flourishing industries.

Spices have particularly been brought to our attention of late, because they are scarce. Although we, in this hemisphere, have a debt of gratitude to them in that it was the hope of finding a new route to the sources of condiment in the Far East that spurred Columbus to the discovery of America, our continent—strangely enough—produces only a few of the leading spices, which is the reason why our pantry shelves, too, feel the impact of war in the Orient.

A few condiment plants, however, are grown profitably in the American tropics and are a source of income to some of the people of our hemisphere.

Perhaps the leading example of a native American spice that made good in the face of competition from the East Indies is allspice, a native of the West Indies, produced by a member of the myrtle family. Its peculiar name is derived from the fact that its fragrance and taste curiously resemble a mixture of its chief rivals, cinnamon, cloves, and nutmeg. The allspice or pimento tree, as it is often called, is an ornamental evergreen which starts to bear at 7 to 10 years of age. Upon reaching maturity it yields about 100 pounds of dried spice a year. It is grown in Mexico, Guatemala, Costa Rica, Venezuela, Haiti, and the Dominican Republic, but Jamaica seems to be the principal center of its production. There, beautiful plantations have been established for the development of allspice seedlings and it is one of the flourishing industries of the island. Cardamon is another spice that thrives on our continent. The Central American countries, and of these Guatemala particularly, are important producers of this condiment, the most subtly aromatic and expensive of the spices and a native of the East Indies. The handling of cardamon is extremely delicate, as the tiny seeds are contained in and protected against the air by paper-thin capsules that must not be broken. From the time each featherweight capsule is individually snipped with scissors from the plant until it is used by the housewife in her pastry and curries, the cardamon is handled with more than kid-glove care.

The nutmeg, native to the Moluccas or Spice Islands, between the Philippines and Australia, is an evergreen tree which is found today in the Western Hemisphere in the West Indies and in Brazil. Even before the war, more than half of the four million pounds of the West Indies and in Brazil, nutmeg imported by the United States came from the British West Indies. The membranous mesh which separates the shell in this plant's kernel is called mace and is still more valuable than the nutmeg itself.

Ginger, too, is grown on our continent and was one of the first Asiatic spices to be cultivated commercially in the Americas. By 1547 it was grown in such quantities in Jamaica that more than 22,000 pounds of its dried underground stems were sent to Spain. To this day ginger is one of the most important condiment plants being grown in the Western Hemisphere and it is said that the soils and climate of many Caribbean countries are unsurpassed for its production.

Finally, among other tropical American spices are the peppers or capsicums of which there are scores of varieties, ranging from the succulent and sweet bell pepper to the hottest tongue-scorching Mexican bird chili.

Apart from the industry of loofa or vegetable sponges—a recent development which seems to be quite successful—we may consider sponge fishing as one of the old, traditional industries of the American tropics. The principal production of sponges in this country is in Florida but, next to the Bahama Islands, probably, it is Cuba, one of the leading sponge-producing countries of the world with an annual production estimated to be second only to that of Greece, that has the greatest output of sponges in the hemisphere.

Most Cuban sponge fisheries are centered around the small town of Batabano, the point of embarkation for the Isle of Pines, another area from which sponge operations radiate. Also important in that respect is Caibarien on the north shore of the island.

Sponges are classified among lowest type of animal life and considered the simplest of many-celled creatures, what we call "sponges," of course, being only the dry skeletons of the animals.

Profitable sponge fishing must be in comparatively shallow water. They are obtained sometimes by diving but more often by dredging and (in very shallow water) by scraping the bottom by means of a long handled fork. The men moshly work in pairs in row-boats—one rowing and the other scanning the bottom through a "water glass." Sponges are easily prepared for the market. When put into water and allowed to stand, the flesh soon de-skeletons are readily out and cleaned.

Stronger Body Helps This New Tire OUTWEAR PREWAR TIRES

See Us for this Extra-Safe, Extra-Trouble-Free, Extra-Mileage Tire

No sensible driver would deliberately run his tires over a rock like the one in the picture. But sometimes it can't be helped... and that's when you will be glad if you have new B.F. Goodrich passenger car tires. Built with more and stronger cords, the tire body is better engineered and 35% stronger than in wartime tires. This extra strength was needed to carry the wider, flatter tread. But in building this stronger body to hold the more durable tread, B.F. Goodrich engineers built into it greater resistance to "road shock."

Of course, supplies of tires are still limited. In spite of greatly increased production, demand is even greater. This is especially true of the B.F. Goodrich tire that OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES. Please check your needs well in advance. Talk to us. We'll do our best to keep your car rolling until we can get new tires for you.

Miss Thelma (Boots) Hancox Becomes Bride of James W. Nellis Friday

At a quiet double-ring ceremony, performed Friday evening, Miss Thelma (Boots) Hancox became the bride of James W. Nellis. Rev. Father Francis Geary heard the vows in St. Anthony's rectory.

The bride was stunning in a steel blue suit with accessories of black. An orchid corsage was worn on the shoulder. Following tradition she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, for something new, a gold compact was borrowed from Miss Margery Clowe; a monogram was done in blue on her slip, and for something old, she carried a handkerchief belonging to a great-aunt, Mrs. George Boyd of Tulsa, Okla. She wore a sixpence, sent by an uncle overseas, in her shoe for luck.

Miss Florence McCarty of Albuquerque attended the bride as maid of honor. She chose to wear a suit of steel gray with gray accents. Her shoulder corsage was of pink and white carnations. Miss McCarty and Mrs. Nellis were roommates while they were both in nurses' training in El Paso.

Don McNellan attended Mr. Nellis as best man.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the Woman's Club. The bride and bridegroom cut a four-tiered white wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Miss McCarty and Miss Norma Hancox served punch. The guestbook was kept by Mrs. A. R. Clanton.

Miss Carol Hensley played a medley of accordion selections throughout the evening. The clubroom was extensively decorated with a profusion of fall flowers. The service table was covered in beige lace and appointed in crystal. White tapers were placed on either end of the table in crystal candelabra. Crystal and silver service was used in serving the guests and the napkins were stamped, "Boots and Jimmy," in gold lettering.

About 60 guests signed the guestbook. After a wedding trip, which will take them through Denver and Santa Fe, Mr. and Mrs. Nellis will be at home in Artesia.

Garden Club's Annual Show To Be Oct. 5

The Artesia Garden Club has announced the final plans for the flower show to be held Saturday, Oct. 5, the first Saturday in October. The exhibit will be at the I. O. O. F. Hall. It will open at 2 o'clock and be open to the public without admission charge until 8 o'clock in the evening.

The show will be open to entries from anyone in Artesia or the surrounding communities. It takes the cooperation of all to make a flower show a success and an event of beauty, club officers said. Beautiful flowers are raised here, so display them, and hereby "create more interest in growing flowers in our little city."

Blossoms will be judged on size, color, form and bouquet arrangement. All entries must be at the I. O. O. F. Hall not later than 10 o'clock the morning of the show. Each contestant must bring containers for his exhibits and arrange them.

Blue and red ribbons will be given in first and second places and honorable mention will be made of others.

Entries are to be placed in five classes: Class I, Dahlias—Cactus, semi-cactus, decorative, informal decorative, miniatures and pompons; (a) Best individual bloom; (b) Best three blooms; (c) Best collection of mixed varieties.

Class II, Roses—Polyanthus, hybrid teas, hybrid perpetual, climbing, and single; (a) Best specimen; (b) best bouquet; (c) large collection of mixed roses.

Class III, annuals and perennials—Zinnias, marigolds, and any suitable variety; (a) Best bouquet; (b) best bouquet annuals.

"Only free people can hold their purpose and their honor steady to a common end, and prefer the interest of mankind to any narrow interest of their own."—Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Citizen:

We are a free people, and enjoy all the privileges stemming from that fact, largely because those generations of Americans who have gone before us did "hold their purpose and their honor" to a common end.

Whenever the day of decision has come in this country it has found that the good judgment of the majority could be depended upon to make the decision which would keep our Union headed toward that destiny the Founding Fathers had in mind when they conceived and created the framework of government under which we were to live.

Within our generation great problems calling for popular decision have arisen. We have met them as they arose and today, looking forward to a future of peace and prosperity after emerging victorious from our bloodiest and most costly war, our people are faced with another great decision.

Our purpose and our honor must still remain steady to a common end—what is best for the greatest number and what is best for the future of our nation. No other loyalty, no other consideration can be allowed to sway us in that decision.

Our Next Day of Decision Will Be
November 5—It Is Our Future

We're always looking for ways to help you make that car more beautiful. One thing that will help immensely is having the fenders straightened, dents removed from the body and a "dustproof" paint job.

To those who eagerly await their new Chevrolets . . .

Here Is the Latest News about Chevrolet Deliveries

Everybody from factory to dealer is doing everything that can be done to speed deliveries to you

We have been informed by the Chevrolet Motor Division that the past month has witnessed only a slight improvement in the rate of production of new Chevrolet passenger cars. As a result, shipments of new cars to dealers for delivery are still far below the level we and the factory had hoped to attain by this time. In fact, through August, Chevrolet's output of cars in 1946 was only 22.6% of the number turned out during the corresponding period of 1941.

We know that Chevrolet is doing everything possible to step up its production totals—to ship more and more cars to us and to its thousands of other dealers throughout America . . . and we know, too, that we are assured of getting our full proportionate share of the current output and of future production gains.

Disappointing as the total figures have been—and despite the fact that Chevrolet was out of production entirely during the first three months of the year—it is nevertheless true that Chevrolet led all other manufacturers in production of passenger cars during June 1946, and has continued to maintain its lead in total production from that day to this.

We shall continue to make deliveries of new Chevrolets to our customers just as fast as we receive them; we regret delays as deeply as you do; we thank you for your friendly patience and understanding; and we promise you a new high motoring experience when you take delivery of your new Chevrolet, giving BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST!

Keep Your Present Car Alive

Meanwhile, may we suggest that you safeguard your transportation by bringing your car to us for service now and at regular intervals. Let us help you to keep it in good running condition—to maintain its performance, appearance and resale value—until the day when your new Chevrolet comes along.

 "Reality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read ist, on Sunday, Sept. 29, 1946.

 The Golden Text is: "In God is my salvation and my glory: the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God."—(Psalms 62:7.)
 Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God;

 How unsearchable are His judgments, and His ways past finding out! For of Him, and through Him, and to Him, are all things; to whom be glory for ever."—(Romans 11:33, 36.)
 The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text book: "To grasp the reality and order of being in its Science, you must begin by reckoning God as the divine Principle of all that really is."
 Visitors always welcome.

Farmers Know What a Profit Is For

AS his own boss, the farmer has long since found out that a profit is not just an extra sum, above the bare cost of doing business, which can be used as you please. It is the main source of funds necessary to pay for a new silo, buy better machinery, and improve the house and the barn.

In spite of the great rise in income, farm profits are no more than necessary to keep the farm plant producing efficiently. It's the same with the iron and steel industry which makes the materials for the farmer's tools.

In 1945 steel companies had left, after meeting all expenses but before paying dividends, only a little more than one-tenth of one cent on each pound of steel sold. The profit on each dollar invested was less than five cents. Year by year since 1941, when the war started, earnings have been declining.

Although last year's output of steel was 19 per cent greater than in 1940, the last prewar year, pay rolls were nearly double but dividends were lower.

There are many misunderstandings and misrepresentations about profits. Some people forget that reasonable profits are a necessary incentive of the American system, which results in abundant low-cost farm products and abundant low-cost steel products.

It is up to those who know what profits are for, and what they can do, to see that they are not destroyed—and with them our high standard of living.

Steel mills need all the scrap iron and steel they can get. The shortage is serious. Farmers can get extra dollars and help increase steel output by sending worn-out machinery, etc., on its way to the furnaces. AMERICAN IRON AND STEEL INSTITUTE, 350 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, N. Y.

Quaternary-

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) Quaternary was unearthed during excavation operations for a basement for a home being built in the Alta Vista Addition by John E. Mathis, Jr. At the time he and a member of the lizard family, which was killed, were found, the frog was tender, with skin as soft as that of a new-born baby's.

The skin, which was light green in color and somewhat speckled, soon began to darken up and to become more tough, after the frog had been exposed to the light and air.

But whether it was from physical shock or shock at the state of affairs in the world, Quaternary died the second night. Dehydration was rapid and the two-inch frog had shriveled somewhat before John A. Mathis, Sr., who was keeping him, decided to preserve the body, in case some qualified zoologist might wish to examine it.

Aston, observing that there was no fissure or other entrance through which the frog might have entered the caliche in recent years or centuries, declared, "Because of the consolidation of sediments found overlying the frog, it is my opinion that it was found in the place where trapped at the time of the deposition of these sediments. It would therefore have a possible age up to two million years, which is the estimated age of the 'recent' valley caliche and gravel fill in the Pecos Valley at a depth at which the frog was found."

Republican Rally And Speaking to Be Here Oct. 5

A Republican rally and speaking in Artesia by candidates on the state ticket, originally announced for noon next Thursday, Oct. 3, has been postponed to noon, Saturday, Oct. 5, according to a telegram received Wednesday by Bill Dunnam, vice chairman for Eddy County.

An advertisement in this issue, giving the date of Oct. 3 for the speaking and rally, is on a page which had been printed at the time the message of the change of date was received. It therefore is incorrect and should have shown the date of Oct. 5.

The speaking party will be headed by Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate, and Ed L. Sanford, candidate for governor.

Also in the party will be Herman G. Baca, candidate for Congress; O. A. Larrazolo, Jr., lieutenant governor; Jess W. Cornland, commissioner; Charles M. (Bud) Tansey, attorney general, and Edwin Mechem, Supreme Court judge.

J. G. Moore, candidate for state treasurer, visited Artesia Tuesday and said he plans to join the speaking party before it comes to Artesia Oct. 5.

The speaking is to start promptly at noon Saturday, Oct. 5, in the park north of Morris Field. At the conclusion of that program a free barbecue is to be served.

Dunnam announced the rally is being sponsored by veterans of the Spanish-American War and World Wars I and II, not, however, as representatives of any veterans' organizations, but as individuals.

Watson Resigns-

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) the organization. He has been praised here for his leadership and the outstanding job he has done in securing the complete and full cooperation of all groups in the community in the civic program.

Prior to coming to Artesia he had served in the Air Corps. He was discharged with the rank of major shortly before accepting the job in Artesia.

He plans to remain in Artesia until Oct. 15 and to continue the work here.

And in case that a new manager has not been secured at that time the fact was emphasized that the work will be carried on by the officers and directors until a new manager has been named.

His complete letter of resignation follows: September 23, 1946 Mr. Artie McAnally, President Chamber of Commerce Artesia, New Mexico Dear Mr. McAnally:

Please consider this letter as notice of my resignation as manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce effective at the earliest date that can be arranged, and in no event later than the 15th of October, 1946.

This resignation is being tendered in order that I may accept a job with the Chamber of Commerce of the United States as National Affairs Advisor for the Department of Governmental Affairs of the National Chamber.

The job was offered me last week following a conference with Mr. Ralph Bradford, General Manager of the U.S. Chamber and Mr. Clarence Miles, Manager of the Department of Governmental Affairs. This conference was held at Estes Park, Colorado, where the Directors of the U.S. Chamber were in session.

It is with a feeling of regret that this resignation is tendered, for my work in Artesia has been exceedingly pleasant and the cooperation which I have received from the Directors and members of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce has been entirely satisfactory.

The new job which I have been offered will afford me a wider opportunity for work which I believe to be essential to the stability and future of this nation. Summed up in a few words, the nature of my work as National Affairs Advisor will be concerned with efforts to arouse the American people to take a more active interest in Good Government in a non-partisan sense. Part of my time will be spent in Washington,

Connor Awarded 20-30 Honorary Secretary's Pin

Jack Connor, an employee of the Artesia Auto Company, was awarded the 20-30 Club honorary secretary's pin at the regular dinner meeting of the Artesia 20-30 Club Wednesday evening of last week.

The pin, in the form of a 20-30 emblem with a silver quill superimposed thereon, was presented to Connor by Chuck Baldwin, club president, as a reward for his outstanding work and achievements while holding the office of the local club. This award is presented by national 20-30 headquarters to any secretary who, in the opinion of the national secretary, has rendered outstanding service to the 20-30 Association in the execution of his thankless duties. Connor is the first local member to receive this coveted award, an achievement to be truly proud of.

Preceding the presentation of the pin to Connor was an unusual program which consisted of a broadcast of the Mauriello-Lewis fight. The program was rather short because of the champion's refusal to cooperate with John Connor, the program chairman. Doyle Smith, a guest of the club, won the fight jackpot with his round-one ticket.

Other guests in attendance were Leo Austin, J. B. Kincaid, Bob Radke, Don Hyder, and Edwin Ward.

Wikowsky Has No Luck Fishing, Except for a Measly 128-Pounder

Ted Wikowsky found fishing rather poor while on vacation on the West Coast, on which he tried his luck in the waters of Washington, Oregon, and California. Well, he did land a 128-pound black sea bass eight miles out between Long Beach and Santa Catalina, after a battle of an hour and 20 minutes, he admits. And he did land a barracuda, besides a few mackerel.

However, he was disappointed that he missed the salmon runs in Washington and Oregon rivers.

Otherwise the trip, for Mr. and Mrs. Wikowsky and their daughter, Ann, and Mrs. Wikowsky's mother, Mrs. A. G. Reagan, was quite pleasant. They were gone 22 days.

He pointed out that the kitchen should be rebuilt and sanitation at the camp must be improved. He reminded those present that the kitchen was in bad condition and that little or nothing had been spent to improve the camp in the past 20 years.

Following his report the executive board recommended that the request for funds be submitted to the finance committee before approval be granted. Chairman Smith pointed out in his comments that he was under the impression that $1000 had been budgeted each year and that the money should be available.
