Observers Favor Bulldogs To Win Over Lovington Wildcats Tonight

Artesia sports fans favor the Bulldogs to win Friday night over the Lovington Wildcats, when they meet on Morris Field in the second home game and fourth of the season for Artesia High School.

A preliminary game is scheduled for 6:45 o'clock Friday night between the "Wolves" and "Lions" teams made up of members of the "C" squad. This game will last no later than 7:30 o'clock, in order to give the Bulldogs and Wildcats ample time to warm up before the varsity clash starts at 8 o'clock.

Although the edge is given Artesia, by local sports fans, a tough tussle is believed to be in prospect and anything could happen.

However, Lovington is somewhat of a paradox, as far as dopesters can make out. In the first place, the Wildcats defeated the Bulldogs 19-6 last year and have about 15 seniors on the squad. But they took a terrific trouncing Friday of last week, when the Carlsbad Cavemen blanked them 47-0.

Another unknown quantity is the fact Lovington has two new coaches, Virgil Boetler and L. C. Cozzens, both alumni of the University of New Mexico.

On the other hand, sports writers in the state included Artesia in the top 10 teams in the state in their first poll of the season early this week, while Lovington did not make the coveted list.

The sports writers placed Carlsbad, Albuquerque, Hobbs and Tucumcari as the four top high school teams in the state.

Carlsbad received 12 of 19 first place votes and a total of 178 points.

Defending Champion Hobbs, with three straight victories, received just three first place votes, as did Albuquerque, Tucumcari got the other first place vote.

Nineteen writers submitted their choices.

Albuquerque trailed Carlsbad with 155 points. Hobbs had 144. Tucumcari took 112 and undefeated Deming received 85 votes.

Only the top five teams were named on all the ballots. The next five teams in order ranked were Santa Fe, 66 points; Roswell, 45; Clovis, 44; Artesia, 29 and Raton, 23.

Newcomers to the top 10 teams are Deming, Clovis, Artesia and Raton.

Other teams and the votes they received:

Farmingington 22; Las Vegas and St. Mary's of Albuquerque, 20; Portales, Las Cruces and Albuquerque Highland, 19.

Other teams mentioned were Mountainair, Eunice, St. Michael's, Menaul, Alamogordo, Clayton, Silver City, Belen and Gallup.

Lovington received no mention, which leads local dopesters to feel the Bulldogs have at least an edge, maybe a strong chance to down the Wildcats tonight. But the paradox remains and anything can happen.

The Eddy County Grand Jury on Wednesday returned three indictments, all against Otto Wood, former manager of the Central Valley Electric Co-operative, Inc., of Artesia and was then dismissed.

Warrants were served on Wood Thursday morning and he gave bonds of $1000 each on three counts, which read on the warrants:

"Causing false statements in writing to be made by A. W. Haral to the defendant's employer, the Central Valley Electric Co-op, a corporation."

"Causing false statements in writing to be made by Walter Nugent to the employer of the defendant."

"Embezzlement."

Prior to the indictments, Wood was awaiting trial in Eddy County District Court next month on a charge that he caused false statements to be made against the co-operative with intent to defraud.

He was arraigned on that charge in May before Justice of the Peace E. S. Shattuck of Carlsbad, who set his bond at $2500 for appearance at the October term of District Court.

At the time the grand jury convened on Sept. 18, District Attorney Randolph Reese announced he would turn over to the jurymen information in connection with an investigation then under way of the Eddy County sheriff's office.

He had previously announced an investigation was under way and said he planned to file an accusation against Sheriff Dwight Lee, asking his removal from office on the grounds of negligence. The district attorney said removal action was to be based on the disappearance of trustees from the county jail "and other matters."

A member of the grand jury said the material turned over by the district attorney was given careful consideration and an investigation was made. What disposition was made, other than that no indictments were returned, is not known.

Prior to adjournment, the grand jury made four recommendations.

The first was that work be provided for all county prisoners, with a work detail set up for that purpose, to be under guard of a deputy sheriff at all times. No prisoner should be allowed to work for private persons or parties, the grand jury said.

The second recommendation was that a grand jury be called at least once a year.

Station Open House, Essay Contest Planned 'Fire Prevention Week'

Plans for observation in Artesia of "Fire Prevention Week," Oct. 9-15, call for an essay contest for students, special programs at the schools and service club meetings, and open house at the new fire station.

They were outlined Monday at a meeting called by G. E. Kaiser, fire prevention chairman for the Artesia Chamber of Commerce. Meeting with him were Fire Chief Elmer Richards, Assistant Chief Almo Naylor, W. G. Short, principal of Park School and J. D. Smith and Luther E. Sharpe, president and secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, respectively.

The essays are to be on the subject, "Fire Prevention," and will be limited to 300 words. Students participating must hand them in to their teachers no later than the close of school Friday, Oct. 7.

Separate prizes of $5 for first and $2.50 for second will be given for contestants in each grade third through sixth. Essays submitted by students of the seventh grade through high school will be grouped, with the $25 Savings Bond the prize for the best in the opinion of the judges. W. G. Short is chairman of the essay contest.

Observation of "Fire Prevention Week" will start with a parade on Monday, Oct. 10, for which Dallas Golden, full-time fireman, and Bill Bullock volunteer fireman, are co-chairmen.

During that day members of the Fire Department will visit the various schools, where there will be fire drills. Fire Chief Richards is in charge of this phase of the week's activities.

Assistant Chief Naylor and Fireman Golden are making plans for open house at the new fire station from 7 to 10 o'clock Monday evening, Oct. 10, to which the general public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

All members of the department, both pay and volunteer, are to be present to escort their guests through the station and explain the equipment, as well as to show off the recreation room, the furnishing of which was made possible through donations.

Program chairmen of the service clubs are being contacted, so as to include something about fire prevention on their programs during "Fire Prevention Week."

"Boy Scouts are to distribute placards throughout the business district Saturday, calling attention to the special week and urging citizens to take fire prevention steps on their premises.

Observe Worldwide Communion On Sunday, Oct. 2

Next Sunday, Oct. 2, has been designated as "Worldwide Communion Sunday" as an inter-denominational emphasis in which most of the major communions of Christendom participate.

There is no attempt to hold special union services or otherwise interfere or change the usual procedure in the individual congregations, but each is asked to remember the fact that millions of fellow Christians the world around are keeping the same spiritual feast in memory of the same Lord and Saviour.

In this realization is strength and a sense of the ecumenical unity of His church, a local clergyman said.

Southern Union Begins Serving Duke City Today

The Southern Union Gas Company begins serving natural gas directly to 24,000 customers in Albuquerque as of the close of business today, adding that city to its natural gas distribution system, according to an announcement from C. H. Zachry of Dallas, Southern Union president, to F. M. (Bill) McGinty, Southern Union town plant manager at Artesia.

Final steps in the purchase of Albuquerque's distribution facilities from Public Service Company of New Mexico were taken this week by Southern Union after the business transaction was approved Wednesday by the New Mexico Public Service Commission.

Zachry also announced that Southern Union acquired in the transaction the gas department employees of Public Service Company, Tom Corr of Santa Fe, Southern Union's Northwest New Mexico (Continued last page, this section)

A talent committee has been contacting men and women, boys and girls the last week, seeking (Continued last page, this section)

Safety Roadshow Monday Is Under Kiwanis Auspices

A safety roadshow, "The Devil on Wheels," conceived by the New Mexico Theater association because of the mounting fatalities from street and highway accidents, will be brought to the Ocotillo Theater Monday, Oct. 3, under the auspices of the Artesia Kiwanis Club.

Shows will start at 2:15 and 4:15 o'clock in the afternoon, the latter so timed that students will be able to attend.

Ray Bartlett, manager of the Artesia theaters, said all theater facilities are being donated for this educational show, the net proceeds of which will be equally divided between the Kiwanis Club and the New Mexico Theater Association, a non-profit, non-political organization, pledged to public service and, as the show's slogan goes, "Cancellation of the Devil's license in New Mexico."

The feature picture, "The Devil on Wheels," a Hollywood production, is a smashing indictment of reckless driving, starring Novell Nash, Darryl Hickman, Jan Ford (Continued last page, this section)

The first Chamber of Commerce luncheon since June is scheduled for noon today in the basement of the Masonic Temple, at which Stanley C. Rademaker, who is in charge of the new government cotton classing office here, will be the principal speaker.

It is to give a demonstration and talk on the classification of cotton and the work being done at the new office.

J. D. Smith, president of the chamber, is to report on highway and aviation progress and future projects planned by the Chamber of Commerce.

Luther E. Sharpe, secretary-manager, announced several committee chairmen are to report on projects for fall and early winter.

They are G. E. Kaiser, "Fire Prevention Week," which will be observed Oct. 9-15; William M. Siegenthaler, annual Chamber of Commerce banquet and G. Taylor Cole, Christmas street lighting program.

Mill Chips For 'Bracero' Warmth Offered Free

Charles Denton, owner of the Valley Lumber Company here, has offered to assist cotton farmers by giving them all slabs from the company mill 60 miles west on Highway 83, for burning in cotton pickers' stoves.

He said a number of farmers already have hauled truckloads of the slabs from the mill, where they otherwise would have to be burned for disposal.

Denton said farmers wishing to get slabs should check at the company office two miles north of Artesia, or phone 093-12, before making the trip, so they may have assurance there will be slabs for them upon arrival. He said the mill accumulates about a cattle truck load of the slabs every day. By assigning farmers at specified times, there will be no doubling up, Denton said.

The mountain mill is at the road leading from the highway into Sixteen Springs Canyon and can be seen from the highway.

Cakewalk For Benefit Band To Be Saturday

Advance ticket sales for the fourth annual cakewalk sponsored by the Artesia Band Aides for the benefit of the high school band, to be held Saturday afternoon and evening, are going nicely, according to Mrs. Cliff Loyd, president.

However, Mrs. Loyd stressed that many more tickets must be sold, if the Band Aides realize their goal, the underwriting of expenses for trips by the band during the football season and later in the year.

The band was sent to Eunice in support of the Artesia High School Bulldogs Friday night of last week by the Band Aides. And the organization plans to underwrite the (continued last page this section)

Large Gifts Help Pay For Addition To Boy Scout Camp Wehinahpay

WEHINAHPAY BUILDING

Pictures here is the headquarters building in the new additional acreage of Camp Wehinahpay, the Boy Scout camp in the Sacramento Mountains, which is nearly paid for, made possible by donations, two of the larger of which were announced at a recent Eastern New Mexico Area Council meeting in Roswell.

They were a donation of $5000 from the United State Potash Company of Carlsbad and $800 from E. B. Bullock of Artesia, Boy Scout national representative.

Bullock put the amount up last year as a loan, to be used as an option on the 120-acre addition to the camp. But at the recent meeting he made it an outright gift.

With the addition to the original camp, the Boy Scouts now have 160 acres in the mountains. In the new acreage, besides the headquarters building, are two cabins in fair repair, to be used by scoutmasters' families during camping periods.

Also on the new acreage is the spring from which the camp had been getting water, but which did not belong to the organization. A springhouse has been built and the spring is now protected so the water cannot become contaminated.

The Boy Scouts are housed in tents, for which board floors were built this year. Likewise shower rooms were provided.

The new portion of the camp adjoins the old portion on the south and the entire area is surrounded by National Forest land, to which the Boy Scouts have access.

It was announced at the meeting in Roswell, plans are to continue to improve Wehinahpay, so it will be one of the best. It is the Boy Scout camp for the Eastern New Mexico Area Council.

Boy Scout Merit Badge Show Is Being Planned

A Boy Scout merit badge show, to be given in the Central School gymnasium Saturday, Dec. 3, by members of all troops in the Gateway District, is being planned, with T. Stovall as general chairman of the planning committee.

The show will be held in connection with the observation of the 40th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America and will follow the theme: "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty." It will be under the sponsorship of the Artesia Elks Lodge.

Merit badges for proficiency in aircraft, woodcraft, bird and animal lore and other phases of scouting will be exhibited.

Plans at this time are for the Boy Scouts to have a parade at 11 o'clock the morning of the show, by way of calling attention to it and urging the public to attend.

It is expected about 250 Boy Scouts and 100 Cubs of the Artesia and Loco Hills troops and dens will participate in the show, which will be the first of its kind ever held here.

Assisting the general chairman of the planning committee are a number of chairmen of sub-committees. They are:

Vice chairman, Glen Collard; building and properties, C. A. Stalcup; sponsoring organization, Kenneth Lance; exhibits, Rev. Ralph O'Dell; tickets, J. L. Briscoe; program, Dave Button; ushers, C. D. Hopkins; arrangements, Boone Barnett; publicity, Luther E. Sharpe.

A nominal charge is to be made for admittance.

'Methodist Hour' To Start Sunday

The fourth annual broadcast of "The Methodist Hour" will be carried by the nation's largest independent religious radio network and will be produced in the only interdenominationally owned studios in the country.

More than 90 radio stations are now co-operating with the Southern Religious Radio Conference in the distribution of radio broadcasts produced by radio committees of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., the Protestant Episcopal Church and the Methodist Church.

Beginning Sunday, Oct. 2, "The Methodist Hour" will be produced in the studios of the Protestant Radio Center, and will be heard over numerous stations, including KRSR at Midland, Texas, 550 kilocycles, at 6:30 o'clock each Sunday morning, mountain time.

Simons, Wittkopp Attend State DAV Officers' Meeting

John Simons, Jr. and Leland A. Wittkopp of Donald S. Simons Chapter 19, Disabled American Veterans, attended a meeting of the state officers and district commanders of New Mexico Saturday and Sunday in Albuquerque.

On Sunday, the local officers attended the New Mexico State Fair as guests during "Veterans' Day." During their visit at Albuquerque, the officers and commanders made an official visit through the Veterans Hospital, arranged by D. K. Dalagher, manager.

At the hospital they visited Bill Dunnam, service officer of the three veterans' organizations in Artesia, who has been a patient here several weeks. They reported he is doing nicely and showing great improvement.

Explorer Scouts Tell Rotarians About Activities

Three members of Explorer Scout Post 28 presented the program Tuesday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Artesia Rotary Club, speaking on different phases of the post's activities. They were introduced by Ernest Thompson, their advisor.

Gail Richardson related the history of Post 28, which grew out of Boy Scout Troop, when it became too large, giving the boys 15 years old and older a more advanced unit. He said Troop 28, which was started in 1938, has continued over the years. The first time it became too large, young Richardson said, Troop 295 was formed and then later Post 28 was formed.

He said that admission to an Explorer Scout post a Boy Scout must be voted in unanimously.

Phil Perry said members of Explorer Scout posts do their own deciding and choose their own leaders, who serve as guides. He said the members of Post 28 feel they have a good outfit and are fortunate in having Advisor Thompson for their leader.

He told of a trip last year, made by some of the members who are Air Scouts to Fort Worth, Texas, where they gained much knowledge in classes and a practical introduction into basic training.

Last Winter, he said, Explorer Scouts of Post 28 spent some time at Camp Wehinahpay, the Boy Scout camp in the Sacramento Mountains, where they worked at tearing down some of the old buildings in preparation for the camp improvements made this year.

The Explorer Scout post has a number of committees, each having to do with some phase of activities, including the social aspect, Perry said.

David Dillard, one of 16 local Explorer Scouts who made a trip to Houston, Galveston and the Gulf of Mexico in August, told the Rotarians of the fun and activities. The boys were flown from Walker Air Force Base at Roswell to Houston and return in a C-47.

From Houston they were taken to a camp by bus and there they had experts as instructors in various fields. From there they went to the San Jacinto battleground and to inspect the U.S.S. Texas.

Dillard said the boys were taken on a fishing trip in Galveston Bay in private boats and later had an (Continued last page, this section)

Processing Of 'Braceros' To Start In Chihuahua On Monday

Difficulties in obtaining Mexican nationals for cotton pickers in Eddy County seemed to have been set out Thursday, when official approval was given by the Mexican government for representatives of the farmers to solicit services of the "braceros."

It was first thought arrival of the Mexican nationals would start Sept. 15 and then the date set for Sept. 26, but there were several delays during negotiations between representatives of the Mexican and United States governments.

Eddy County farmers were notified Thursday that the contract provides a wage of $1.75 per hundred pounds.

Recruiting of approximately 3500 Mexican agricultural workers for Eddy County will start Monday at Chihuahua City and it is expected first of them will arrive next Monday. Others will be brought in as rapidly as possible, so by the end of next week, there should be a good supply of workers for cotton picking should be in a way.

Original approval of 1750 cotton pickers was assigned to the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association, which has been increased to 2000 and the County Farm Bureau has approved for an additional 1000.

Expected representatives of organizations will be in Chihuahua Monday to start recruiting

One of the most ardent sports fans in Artesia left this morning for New York to see the series.

John (Hop) Lester, Negro player of all work for Guy Chevrolet for many years, sent on a trip as a bonus by Clyde Guy.

"Hop" said he has always been interested in the big leagues and has been his ambition for years to see the world series.

If you listen in on the series on the radio, those of you who heard "Hop" at games in Artesia may recognize his voice, for he is shouting and pointing to the umpires wherein he has erred.

We hope the cotton farmers will get their cotton picked quickly, with good weather favoring them, for we are going to have a need of grass blowing in the fall and early winter.

There is a more lush growth of mede grass than any year seen stacked up in doorways, washed several places because of the rain and greatly lowered the yield of much cotton here this year or six years ago.

It can be seen in vast patches on the prairies, awaiting the first wet, when it will be ready to be carried by high winds and will come here and remember the unusual drifting of the stuff a few days ago know what to expect.

"Housewives, have you bought your pepper lately?" So asks Mrs. Smith Shields, The Advocate's El Paso correspondent. She notes:

"Isn't the question, 'Button, how do you have the button?' but it's 'Pepper, pepper, who has the pepper?'"

"You should price it. I kept hearing rumors about pepper going up, so on Saturday, decided to buy some myself, as I had only a few. I went into one store in Artesia and the price was $2.47 a pound. I couldn't believe my eyes, I tried another store and sure enough the price was the same.

"I asked the owner what had happened. He didn't know for sure, but thought the trees were destroyed during the war and we are just waiting the results of it. He said he had been to Santa Fe and pepper was 98 cents for a quarter pound there.

"As I paid the checker, I asked him to put the boy in a paper sack, it wasn't safe to go on the street with it. I might be hijacked."

We have been smelling fall in the last several weeks, especially early in the mornings—at the moment of the day when we take an eye, glance at the clock and go back to sleep.

But the parade of truckload after truckload of sheep being shipped out of the mountains this week makes one realize it's a long until the mighty sheep take to the hills again in almost as great a number as the sheep being brought down.

John (Hop) Lester, Negro player of all work for Guy Chevrolet for many years, sent on a trip as a bonus by Clyde Guy.

"Hop" said he has always been interested in the big leagues and has been his ambition for years to see the world series.

If you listen in on the series on the radio, those of you who heard "Hop" at games in Artesia may recognize his voice, for he is shouting and pointing to the umpires wherein he has erred.

We hope the cotton farmers will get their cotton picked quickly, with good weather favoring them, for we are going to have a need of grass blowing in the fall and early winter.

There is a more lush growth of mede grass than any year seen stacked up in doorways, washed several places because of the rain and greatly lowered the yield of much cotton here this year or six years ago.

It can be seen in vast patches on the prairies, awaiting the first wet, when it will be ready to be carried by high winds and will come here and remember the unusual drifting of the stuff a few days ago know what to expect.

"Housewives, have you bought your pepper lately?" So asks Mrs. Smith Shields, The Advocate's El Paso correspondent. She notes:

"Isn't the question, 'Button, how do you have the button?' but it's 'Pepper, pepper, who has the pepper?'"

"You should price it. I kept hearing rumors about pepper going up, so on Saturday, decided to buy some myself, as I had only a few. I went into one store in Artesia and the price was $2.47 a pound. I couldn't believe my eyes, I tried another store and sure enough the price was the same.

"I asked the owner what had happened. He didn't know for sure, but thought the trees were destroyed during the war and we are just waiting the results of it. He said he had been to Santa Fe and pepper was 98 cents for a quarter pound there.

"As I paid the checker, I asked him to put the boy in a paper sack, it wasn't safe to go on the street with it. I might be hijacked."

We have been smelling fall in the last several weeks, especially early in the mornings—at the moment of the day when we take an eye, glance at the clock and go back to sleep.

But the parade of truckload after truckload of sheep being shipped out of the mountains this week makes one realize it's a long until the mighty sheep take to the hills again in almost as great a number as the sheep being brought down.

Free Enterprise

AS A NATION we talk and discuss free enterprise a great deal.

As Americans we believe in free enterprise—the right of each person to engage in his or her line of endeavor, profession or work.

We emphasize the need of free enterprise; its advantages and the opportunity, which it offers the American citizen.

In our land of the free, we believe it is the right and privilege of every person to engage in his or her particular line of business and we encourage them in this practice.

That, we say, is an American principle.

But in New Mexico seemingly we are going a long way to stop and to halt free enterprise. We seemingly are setting barriers to keep individuals from practicing their own profession and from doing the particular line of work in which they are trained whether that is a profession or a trade.

And today, we feel, we have gone too far in this line.

Only recently we had a man come into our office, who desired to run an advertisement offering to do repair work, carpenter work and handy work. He was advertising that fact. For some years now it has been a little difficult to get someone to do that little repair job around the place of business or the home.

But this person had been advised that he could not offer his services for sale by the hour unless he had a state license and unless he secured the approval of some state board.

We don't know whether that is true or not but we do know that individual has a perfect right to make an honest living, to sell his services and to earn funds on which to live. And we are firmly convinced if there is a state regulation, which prevents this from being done that it is time it be changed.

New Mexico needs to do a little encouraging of others to come into our state; encouraging others to work; to make their own way rather than to halt this from being done.

The New Mexico Press Association was right recently when they demanded that the Legislature investigate the laws and the boards, which have been set up to prevent individuals from practicing their professions and trades and to offer business services, which the state is now being denied.—O.E.P.

Get Your Receipt

EVERY NOW AND THEN stories are related of the experiences of individuals over the state and nation in which they contend they gave an officer of the law money.

In some instances these payments are made, according to the stories, for minor violations of traffic. And in most cases where these stories are related the ones contending they gave an officer some money do not have a receipt to show for the payment they made.

Citizens, of course, should never give an officer money without a receipt for that money. And this even goes when individuals are putting up a cash bond for an appearance. Officers have a perfect right to demand the amount of the fine for an appearance bond but it is not payment of a fine.

Officers do not try cases—they arrest those charged with violating the law. Only the city judges, justice of peace, judges and other court judges have this authority. Peace officers do not have the authority to assess or to collect fines.

And we as individuals know this and we should not pay them even if they are demanded. But an officer does have a perfect right to require a cash bond to insure our appearance but even then we should demand and secure a receipt and if not—then don't put up any cash.

We are confident that many of the cases, which are reported that citizens have given money to officers, are not true. On the other hand, we presume there are cases where money is put up and where officers do accept it.

We know there are instances where officers are disagreeable, take authority which is not theirs and use extremely bad judgment in handling of cases. But we also know individuals, who are disagreeable, nasty and unpleasant when they are arrested.

Officers are only human, seeking to do a job for which they are being paid. It is never wise to argue too far with an officer. The thing to do is to give the officer the information he wants and requests and when he has finished secure the officer's name and his number in order that you may have this information when you appear or go to court.

Do your arguing in a court, not with the officer. And be sure that you don't give an officer any money unless he gives you a receipt.—O.E.P.

'National Newspaper Week'

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK" will be observed throughout the nation Oct. 1-3, not just as a time when the press puts itself on the back, but a period during which the newspapers of the nation again will point out the fact a free press is everyone's responsibility.

Charles W. Kenworthy of the University of Missouri said recently:

"Freedom of the press can exist only through mutual conscience-pricking and frequent, healthy exchanges of brickbats between the press and its public. These two must continue to hammer away at one another, criticizing and Dutch-uncing each other, for press freedom to live—a life entrusted to press and public alike.

"For where would press freedom be without an enlightened public? And how enlightened this public without a free and conscientious press?"

Frequently in these columns we have said things which did not sit too well with some readers. But on the other hand we have published numerous letters from readers with which we agreed not in the least.

But that is the American way—the way of free speech and free press.

That, to put it simply, is what "National Newspaper Week" commemorates, that and the reminder that in some countries neither we nor the reader could express his feelings freely.—A.L.B.

Due To Carelessness

MOST ACCIDENTS are the result of carelessness.

When carelessness may cost us the part of a hand, our fingers, an arm, a leg or even our life, it does seem we would employ the care and caution, which we know is necessary.

Over in Las Cruces, in the Junior High School manual training department, two accidents have occurred recently with one of the power machines. One youngster lost the tip of a thumb, two joints of one finger and a point of another finger. A second student, in another accident, lost two joints of four fingers on his left hand and one joint of a finger on the right hand.

This was the first time in 16 years, that an accident had occurred in the manual training shop. Never before had an accident occurred. But there can and always does come a time.

In both instances, the accidents were due to carelessness. In one case, the youth admitted it was his carelessness and not the fault of the shop or the machine. In the last case, the youth had not secured permission to use the machine.

But in both cases the boys suffered loss of fingers. And how the accident occurred or where the blame lies or the determining of this isn't going to restore these fingers.

Artesia has been fortunate that such accidents have not occurred here and it is hopeful, of course, that they won't.

But out of these two accidents, should come a lesson to all of us. We should fully realize and appreciate the fact that we must employ care and caution at all times.

We should realize that carelessness is always costly and that it cannot only maim individuals, but that it can cost lives. These two boys, of course, could have been seriously injured in an automobile accident and this automobile accident could have resulted from carelessness. Many of them do.

We should employ all of the care and caution we know. We should avoid the taking of chances. If we will do this, we perhaps cannot only save ourselves from having an accident, but we perhaps can help prevent others from being injured if we will always employ caution.—O.E.P.

Co-operation With Law

TOO FREQUENTLY citizens fail to co-operate with officers of the law, who can go only so far and no further.

There have been numerous instances of people reporting infractions of the law, calling the officers and then refusing to file information or swear out warrants—in short, failing to follow up on prosecutions.

This not only makes it tough on the officers in trying to protect the public and put out of circulation those who deserve it, but encourages those who would break the law.

On the Artesia police blotter we frequently read about citizens calling the officers because of prowlers or someone being in the house and the officers placing the alleged offenders in jail overnight. But the next morning, the householders are less angry and have decided not to appear against those arrested.

In a case like that there is nothing the officers can do but turn the alleged offenders loose. The officers did not see that alleged offense; they only have the word of the citizens for it and they cannot file charges without co-operation and the assistance of those who are actual witnesses.

Still we frequently hear people wondering aloud why the cops don't stop offenders from peeping, trespassing, loitering and committing other offenses.

But the cops can't do it alone. If the law-abiding citizens merely want to criticize and not co-operate, such goings-on cannot be stopped.—A.L.B.

Last week, Gordon uncovered in the Portales public square a rash of rattlesnakes, grasshoppers, quails, bugs by the billions and a calf that wouldn't die.

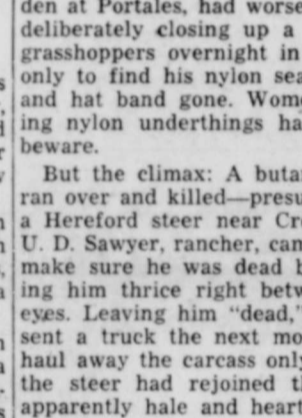

But even before that, a certain Oscar Evans of Portales killed a large rattler—only to have 17 others crawl out of the dead snake's body.

Now comes a yarn about young Wayland Burney who was sowing wheat near Dora. Father Joe saw the tractor going in circles. Not wanting all his wheat planted in one spot, he climbed aboard his horse and rushed fieldward.

MARCH OF EVENTS
Rules Group May Stymie Congress O. K. Seen for Social Security Measure U. S. Science Foundation

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The White House is turning on the heat to secure passage by Congress before adjournment of legislation expanding the Social Security program and creating a National Science Foundation to stimulate scientific research.

Both bills are before the House, which planned to go back to work Sept. 26 after it defied the Senate and took a late summer vacation.

The administration's problem is to get the fiscal year committee to give the right of way for House consideration of the measure. President Truman has personally asked Chairman Adolph J. Sabath (D), Illinois, to expedite the bills.

Best guess is that the rules committee will clear the Science Foundation bill for passage, but not the Social Security measure. In that event it will be up to Speaker Sam Rayburn (D), Texas, to decide whether to bypass the rules committee and bring up the Social Security bill anyhow.

Washington

SUPREME COURT SOCIAL NOTES—The United States Supreme Court is really keeping up with the times. In its marble palace facing the Capitol, there is a little cubby-hole where employees purchase soft drinks, candy, cookies and cigarettes from slot machines.

Recently, a new machine was installed. Its merchandise: nylon stockings in four sizes and two shades.

FILIBUSTER THREAT—Dixie Democrats are needing Senate majority leader Scott W. Lucas of Illinois to learn what his plans are on civil rights legislation at the present session. The southerners are preparing for the worst—a possible session-end filibuster.

Leaders are keeping their plans to themselves. At this point they do not want either to ally or arouse Dixie fears. Republican leader Kenneth S. Wherry of Nebraska has been prodding the leadership with demands that a civil rights bill be made the "unfinished business" when the Senate quits, to assure a showdown in January.

Some Dixie senators believe that Lucas will give the Senate a choice of adjourning until January at the session's end or taking civil rights. This would confront GOP leaders and pro-civil rights Democrats with a tough decision—either getting a long-overdue vacation, or swinging into a bitter, bad-tempered battle.

CLUB ATMOSPHERE—Those who predicted that the Senate would not sit long in the cramped Supreme Court chamber, would adjourn soon, now know how wrong they were.

Senators actually like the temporary setup. Vocal objections aside in a day or two. In fact, the more intimate arrangement apparently gives a more chummy atmosphere to "the world's most exclusive gentlemen's club."

The noise of re-roofing the regular spacious chamber, continues to earlier fears, barely penetrates the solemn room. Even though the public galleries are missing, speeches are just as long. Press and radio reporters are still present to report proceedings.

In addition the chamber contains hallowed memories. There the Senate first sat in Washington. Later it was used for years by the Supreme Court.

AIRLINES RECOVERING—The United States airlines are pulling out of the financial slump which drove several of them to the verge of bankruptcy. Their recovery is welcomed by military leaders, who depend on the lines as a nucleus of war-time transport.

Several reforms, spurred by three government investigations of the lines' ability to stay solvent, have helped bring about the recovery.

Probably the most important single factor, however, is the great safety record of the last year during which 36 scheduled lines flew more than six billion passenger miles without a fatal accident.

A rash of accidents always knocks the bottom out of aerial passenger travel. A long safe spell renews the passengers' confidence.

MR. AVERAGE GERMAN VOTER IN THE LIMELIGHT

LEAVING A POLLING STATION in Frankfurt, Germany, Mr. Average German voter finds himself, after many years, so important that reporters gather around him to check on his reactions. One thing was certain—he didn't vote for the Communist Party ticket. Some 24,000,000 ballots were cast and the Christian Democratic Union was well out in front. The Social Democrats were not far behind. (International Radiophoto)

6:30 o'clock meeting next Sunday evening, the entire group is to meet at the William M. Siegenthaler home on Hermosa Drive at 2 o'clock for a planning retreat which will continue until 9 o'clock. Supper will be served and each youth is to bring 25 cents to help defray the expense.

Mr. and Mrs. Siegenthaler continue as greatly appreciated sponsors of the group, Miss Storm said. Every young person of high school age or older, who has any connection with the Christian Church is invited to be present and to help plan the work.

Does Make Plans For Barbecue At Wednesday Meet

Artesia Drove No. 45, B.P.O. Does, held its first meeting of the fall season, when about 50 members and their husbands met at the Elks Club for a covered-dish supper Wednesday evening.

After the dinner a business meeting was held, at which time plans for the Does barbecue on Saturday, Oct. 8 were discussed. The barbecue will be held at the Paul Terry farm south of town.

It was explained to those unfamiliar with the route to the Terry farm that flares will be placed along the road to direct them.

Tickets are available to the general public.

After the barbecue the ballroom of the Elks Club will be open for dancing to Does, Elks, and their guests, and bingo games will be held in the basement.

The object of the barbecue is to raise money for the benevolent work of the Does for the fall and winter. Billie Alberts, local dealer, has donated a fully-equipped new Kirby vacuum in connection with the barbecue.

Social Security Card Should Be Always Handy

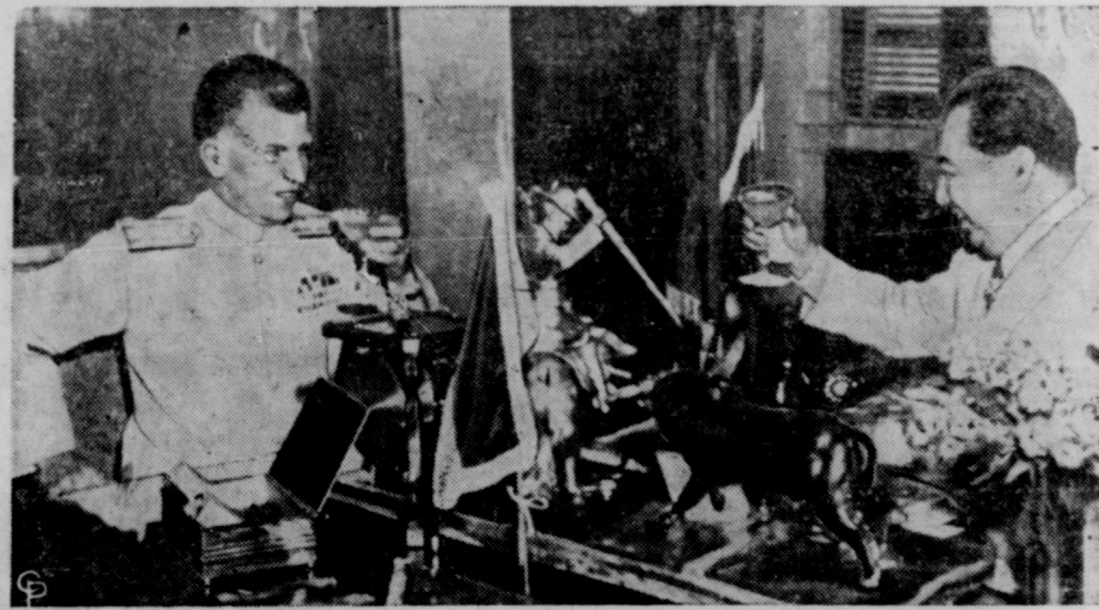

Too few people realize the importance of their Social Security cards, according to J. Hassler Strickland, manager of the Roswell Social Security Administration office.

"Just this past week," he said, "a young girl of 15 came into our office. She had been employed for her first full-time job, but before beginning work, had to have her Social Security card. A year before she had secured her first card when she was doing part-time after-school jobs, and since that time had lost it. She was distressed when we told her that it would be a week before we could get her number from our Baltimore office and give her a duplicate card."

"There are hundreds of workers, yes, thousands, in these United States with the same name. Each individual has his own account number. When an account number is lost, it takes time to check the records, and provide the correct number for the worker. In many instances, your job may depend on whether you can produce your Social Security card at the time you apply for that job. The moment you are aware that you have lost your card, apply for a duplicate. Remember, it takes time to get a duplicate, so be prepared."

For correct information regarding a Social Security card, a person may contact the Roswell representative who visits Artesia twice each month. He will be at the New Mexico State Employment Service office in the Ward Building from 11 o'clock to noon each second and fourth Tuesday morning.

The outfit can be worn with or without a blouse.

Maljamar News

Arlis Youngblood and his brother flew their airplane to Maljamar Sunday to do some dove hunting. Just as they arrived over the Caprock, a dense fog blinded them and they circled and tried to land on Cecil Holemans runway, but couldn't make it, so they tried the old landing field southwest of here and set the plane down with some difficulty. They broke the propeller and a wheel and blew out a tire. The men were not injured. Floyd McCarthy pulled the plane out into the open so it could take off after being repaired.

The Kewanee Sewing Club met at the home of Mrs. Oscar Loyd last Thursday. A menu was planned for a birthday dinner for all members whose birthdays fall in September. Those attending were Meses. Pleasant, Kelley, Lee and F. H. Alexander.

Maljamar had its first float and booth in the Lea County Fair this year. The village was well represented. The float won third prize and those winning ribbons and prizes were: Peggy Vowell, shirt, third, cookie, second and peaches, second; Mrs. Herbert C. Hunter, afternoon dress, first, beets, first, dill, first, green beans, first; Mrs. Cecil Holeman, quilt, first, afghan, third; Mrs. Ira Pleasant, house dress, first, child's dress, first; Mrs. Floyd McCarthy, dried beans, first, bedspread, second; Mrs. Son Taylor, pickles, second, peppers, first; Mrs. Kenneth Shields, cherries, first, crocheted tablecloth, third, cutwork embroidery pillow cases, third; Glenda Kelley, scarf, second; Mrs. Luther Kelley, plant coleus, first, on lye soap, third; Patsy Blakley, skirt, second; Kenneth Kelley, sow and litter, FFA, second; Jerry Cooper, FFF reserve champion of breed, first grand reserve champion of the show.

'Wake Of The Red Witch' Is Spell-Binder

Republic's "Wake of the Red Witch," which will open Sunday for a three-day run at the Land-sun Theater, is a spell-binding screen version of a great best-selling novel.

Garland Roark's book was a Literary Guild selection and sold a million copies. A story with the movement and freedom, sweep and stirring excitement of "Wake of the Red Witch" was tailor-made for the screen and Director Edward Ludwig and Associate Producer Edmund Grainger have succeeded in putting it on celluloid with exacting vividness.

John Wayne and Gail Russell head a lustrous cast which includes Gig Young, Adele Mara and Luther Adler. Wayne portrays a tempestuous scoundrel torn between love and vengeance, while Adler plays a shipping magnate whose vast empire reaches into every remote lagoon of the South Seas. He heads a giant enterprise called "Batjak, Ltd.," which rose from a group of tramp schooners pirating their way through the Dutch East Indies to a gigantic network of vessels captained by men of dubious character and predatory tendencies.

When Wayne loses the woman he loves, he sinks his ship, the "Red Witch," with a fortune in gold bullion on board. The ensuing tale is one of blood-thirsty revenge, with Wayne and Adler striking at each other with violent fury.

Gail Russell lends charm and distinction to her role of Angeli- que.

NSLI Payment Rate Makes $528 Possible

Washington (AFPS)—The maximum payment to any veteran in the NSLI 2.8 billion dollar dividend due early next year will be $528, Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray, Jr., recently announced. The VA head also made public the formula by which the VA will compute the amount to be paid each eligible veteran who applies for payment.

Payment will be based on a sliding scale per thousand dollars of insurance per month for the period that the policy remained in effect prior to its anniversary date in 1948.

The rates will be based on the age of the insured, as follows: Veterans under 40 years of age at the time the policy was issued will receive 55 cents per month per thousand dollars of insurance for the period the policy was in effect prior to its anniversary date in 1948.

The dividend will be paid on both term and converted insurance, at the same rate. No payment will be made for periods of lapse.

In computing the maximum payment of $528, the dividend was based on a $10,000 policy kept in force for 96 months, the longest period possible, on a veteran not over 40 years old at the time the policy was issued.

Since the mortality rate for those 40 and under did not vary greatly, the single dividend rate of 55 cents was made applicable to the entire group.

The complete scale of payment follows:

Age at issue 40 and under, Dividend per $1000 of insurance for each month in force prior to anniversary date in 1948, 55c; 41, 52c; 42, 49c; 43, 46c; 44, 43c; 45, 40c; 46, 37c; 47, 34c; 48, 31c; 49, 28c; 50, 25c; 51, 24c; 52, 23c; 53, 22c; 54, 21c; 55 and over, 20c.

State's Turkey Crop Is Up 10 Per Cent

New Mexico's 1949 turkey production will be about 10 per cent greater than in 1948, according to a recent release of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The number of turkeys on farms in the state this fall is estimated to be 103,000. The 1936-45 average was 71,000.

All other states are also producing a larger turkey crop this year, ranging from a 3 per cent increase in New York to a 121 per cent increase in California. The average increase for the nation is 29 per cent over last year. California, the leading turkey-producing state, has its largest crop on record. The BAE estimates that the U.S. turkey crop will be marketed by months as follows: 25.7 per cent in October, 38.1 in November, 28.5

in December, and 7.7 per cent in January or later.
Turkey prices have been rising seasonally, but are expected to be well below last year's record during the heavy marketing period of November and December.
The Department of Agriculture has announced a program for the support of producers prices of live turkeys at a national average price of about 31 cents a pound.

Seven Out Of 10 People Describe Oil Industry As Being Progressive

Almost seven out of every 10 people describe the oil industry as "progressive," while only one person in 50 has the impression it is "backward," according to a new national survey of public opinion completed for the Oil Industry Information Committee.

A study of public attitudes toward the oil industry, made by the National Research Corporation of Princeton, N. J., shows—as did a similar survey in 1946—that the more people know about the oil industry the better they like it.

When asked to choose from eight adjectives the two or three which they think best described the industry, 65 per cent of the people select "progressive," 36 per cent "public spirited," 35 per cent "wasteful," 30 per cent "not wasteful," 22 per cent "monopolistic," 14 per cent "greedy," 11 per cent "wasteful of oil," and 2 per cent "backward."

When interviewed, three out of four people say the industry tries to serve the best interests of the public, and more than two out of three people say their general impression of the industry is favorable.

More than three out of four people think the industry does as well as or better than other industries in improving its products. Almost two out of three say that oil companies try to conserve oil resources.

The public, by five to one, ranks service stations as the place where customers get most courtesy and attention. Of every 100 people interviewed, 55 pick service stations, compared with 11 who name drug stores, and 10 who select grocery stores, as the places where they get the most courtesy and attention.

Compared with three years ago, when a public opinion survey was first made, public opinion about the oil industry relative to other industries is essentially unchanged. Small percentage changes in opinions about oil as compared with five other industries are mostly in a direction favorable to the oil industry.

On the whole, the industry appears to stand about the same in public favor as it did in 1946. This was considered a "creditable" performance by the research organization because of the increase of public antagonism toward business generally over the past three years.

While more people than three years ago realize that there are more than 100 companies in the industry, oil rates below automobile and railroads as the industry people say they know most about.

Geographically, residents of the oil producing area comprising New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, show higher than average approval of the industry.

Difference in the attitudes among the various types of people are so small it can be stated the major findings are about the same no matter which sub-group of the population is studied.

Important minorities of the public hold opinions that are unfavorable to the industry, however. More than one person out of three has the false impression that the oil industry is a monopoly, while almost one out of three mistakenly believes that oil companies hold back new developments and the industry makes too much profit. On only one point is a majority of the public misinformed—more than half say that oil companies get together and set prices.

Criticism of gasoline prices has increased since 1946, with one person out of three saying the price of gasoline is too high compared to only one out of nine feeling that way in 1946. Criticisms of the industry also have increased on other issues; lack of competition, monopoly, high profits and not trying to serve the best interests of the public.

However, other research has shown that business generally has misinterpreted price increases as evidence of greed.

Opinion Research Corporation emphasized the survey is strictly an appraisal of the present state of public opinion of the oil industry as contrasted to 1946. The corporation said the survey did not attempt to evaluate the factor which produced the composite results.

LONDON DOCK VOTE BRINGS CRISIS

STRIKING LONGSHOREMEN are shown voting at the mass meeting of 5,000 dockers in London, which has been suffering a growing shortage of food due to the walkout. Don't bother to tell us; we know it! The story in Tuesday's issue telling that the Artesia Bullpups had defeated the Hobbs Eaglets 13-7 called them Hobbs Eagles in the headline. Just a matter of one letter being left out, the "t." Perhaps better, however, than to have the "l" knocked out of it.

J. D. Smith tells us a fellow who originally came from Ah-kans-zas was in town to see him a few days ago and the two went into an eating place, where the visitor ordered a pimento cheese sandwich.

After they were served and the visitor had taken a bite, a peculiar look came over his face and he opened the sandwich to look inside. Calling the waitress, he asked her, "Do you all usually put bananas in cheese sandwiches?"

"Well," she answered, "you asked for a banana cheese, didn't you?"

"Okey, skip it," the fellow said, taking another bite. "Guess it's just my Ah-kanszas accent."

This is a few months old, but it's still good. Shortly after the First National Bank opened in its new building, one of the real old-timers here wandered into the Western Union office trying to find the bank. He was told the new bank was practically next door, a matter of a few feet to the south.

"Thanks," said the old-timer, "guess I'll go get my car and drive down there."

Preparing Meals in Summer

By ALICE DENHOFF
MADE - IN - THE - MORNING meals keep cook and kitchen clean, cool and comfy. Cool and comfy during the day, and clean and charming at night because there's no last-minute scramble to prepare a meal when one is all fagged out after a hot day.

Well, after that big mouthful, let's get down to cases by setting a morning schedule for summer suppers so that this chore can be out of the way by noon. Come evening and the meal is soon assembled. The "don'ts" in this program must include taking care that vegetables are well prepared, that they don't soak too long and lose their vitamins, and don't prepare for lavish foods.

Do make use of all the wonderful frozen food items, the marvelous mixes and such. Make a molded gelatine salad, let it set. Get your greens washed and crisped, put in waxed paper and pop into the refrigerator. Boil potatoes when the sun is low in the morning, leave them in their jackets for spud salad at night. Or mix up the salad, store it in a tightly covered receptacle in the refrigerator. Set cans of grapefruit juice right in the freezing unit, let them freeze, then open both sides of the can and serve icy slices for a delicious, nutritious, frosty tidbit.

Use canned shrimp for a good salad. Soften 1/2 tsp. plain gelatine in 1/4 c. cold water; add 1/4 c. boiling water, 1/2 c. grapefruit juice, 1/4 tsp. salt and 1/2 tsp. sugar. Stir until gelatine is dissolved. When slightly thickened, fold in #1 can shrimp. Drain #2 can grapefruit sections (use juice) and dice. Fold into shrimp mixture with 2 tbsp. chopped green pepper. Turn into qt. mold or 6 individual molds, chill until firm. Serve with mayonnaise.

For a store-well potato salad that makes mighty fine fare for 8, mix 2 c. diced cooked potatoes, one c. diced celery, one c. diced cucumber and 2 diced hard-cooked eggs. Blend 1/2 c. mayonnaise, 1/2 tsp. grated onion, 1/2 tsp. salt and 1/4 tsp. pepper. Add to potato mixture. Toss together lightly with fork. Store in covered container and chill.

Easy to fix and something different by way of cold cuts are slices of cold meat cuts molded in gelatine. For nice appetite-prodders in warm weather, try fresh mint in canned grapefruit juice as a first course or meal beverage. Chives in mayonnaise is a nice topper for cold salmon. Grated cheese on tomatoes before popping them under the broiler is nice, as is a dish of stuffed eggs topped with cooked shrimp on crisp salad greens.

To add that certain something to vanilla or chocolate ice cream, top with crushed, store-bought chocolate peppermints.

The purchase involved approximately $4,000,000 and will result in Southern Union serving Albuquerque directly, rather than indirectly. In competition with Explorer Scouts from other groups from New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma, the Artesia group took third place, Dillard reported.

He said the local boys enjoyed the trip and outing greatly and expressed the hope they so conducted themselves that other Eastern New Mexico boys will have an opportunity to make similar trips in the future.

Canned Meat Dinner Dishes

By ALICE DENHOFF
OFFERED to-day is another batch of food notions for those trim cans of luncheon meats that stand so invitingly on the grocery shelves.

For an excellent luncheon or supper dish, use canned tongue this way: To a rich white sauce, in which juices from the canned tongue are used, add the canned tongue, cubed, also sauted mushrooms, diced pimiento, and, for a big appeal, a few coarsely chopped almonds. Nice enough for company fare.

Can of Tongue
For another really wonderful dish, chill can of tongue, then open and slice. Make a raisin sauce using jelly as part of the liquid. Heat tongue slices in sauce and serve with boiled new or mashed potatoes and green peas with fresh mint, as a main dinner dish. Or prepare the canned tongue as indicated.

Make a gingersnap sauce with a mixture compounded of 4 crushed gingersnaps, 1/4 c. seedless raisins, 1/2 c. brown sugar, 1/4 c. corn syrup, 1/2 c. hot water, 1/4 c. vinegar and one thinly-sliced lemon. Bring to boil; simmer 20 min. Add tongue slices, heat and serve.

expenses for the games at Clovis Oct. 7, Roswell Nov. 4 and Carlsbad Nov. 18.

In addition it is hoped sufficient funds are raised for the band to go to the annual Sun Carnival and Sun Bowl game at El Paso at the end of the year and to the district band festival in Roswell next spring.

The cakewalk will be held in the street at Fourth and Main Streets between the Artesia Pharmacy and the post office and will start at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The band will play brief concerts there at 3 and 6 o'clock.

Members of the Band Aides, parents of band members and others interested in the band are being asked to donate small cakes to be awarded as prizes. Those wishing to contribute are asked to call Mrs. Loyd, phone 922 or Mrs. J. H. (Bus) Brown, phone 617-R or take cakes to the Artesia Pharmacy between noon and 3 o'clock Saturday.

In addition to dozen of small individual cakes, three larger cakes, donated by the Ross, Mead and Holsum Bakeries, are to be given.

Grand Jury—

The third was that there be stricter supervision of pool halls and pool hall operators, particularly in regard to minors.

The jury's fourth recommendation was that city police should be more strict in their control of profanity and drunkenness on city streets.

The Eddy County Grand Jury was called by Judge Harris' associate, District Judge C. Roy Anderson, after a petition had been handed him requesting that he do so. On the petition, were 135 signatures, 101 of the signers were bona fide taxpayers, 26 more than the 75 required by New Mexico statutes making it mandatory that a grand jury be called.

Many of the signers were Artesia citizens, including Otto Wood.

Specialist Says Quality Of Eggs Can Be Conserved

Consumer interest in eggs centers on quality. Deterioration in eggs, as in many other perishable foods, starts immediately after they have been produced. It is possible through proper handling throughout the marketing system to retard quality deterioration and so make available for consumers a far greater number of high quality eggs than would be available otherwise.

Poultry experts point out that quality conservation must begin at the farm. Facilities and management to obtain eggs with clean shells and frequent collection of eggs from the nests are the most important initial steps the producer can take in protecting the original quality of the eggs produced by his laying flock.

Collections should be made at least three times each day. Less frequent collection delays the proper cooling of eggs and frequently results in a partly cooled egg being left in the nest to be rewarmed by other hens using the same nest.

Good poultry husbandry practices require that eggs be collected in wire baskets—never in pails, boxes or woven baskets. Wire baskets permit the circulation of fresh air around every egg. The basket should be placed immediately in a cool moist place for at least 24 hours before the eggs are packed. Many poultry men do not realize how quickly a few degrees of heat affect eggs. Tests have shown that freshly laid eggs held at 90 degrees lose as much quality in 20 hours as eggs held for three days at 70 degrees, or for 24 days at 50 degrees. High temperatures and dryness affect egg quality and consumer acceptability. They rarely affect the nutritional value of eggs. Careful grading and labeling of eggs according to quality are important when eggs are intended for sale to consumers.

Producers who sell eggs by grade find that it pays to collect eggs frequently, cool them as soon as possible, and hold them under proper storage conditions. Eggs soon deteriorate if left where it is too warm and dry. The water in the eggs evaporates, the air cell enlarges, the white becomes thin, and the yolk weakens. A humidity of 85 to 90 per cent is desirable when eggs are to be stored for any length of time.

To maintain top quality, the producer should keep eggs under refrigeration until they are ready for consumption. If refrigeration is not available, a house cellar or an outdoor cellar may provide cool storage space for eggs. Eggs should be held in a temperature range of 32 to 60 degrees; the lower the temperature within these limits the better the eggs will keep. If such temperatures are not available on the farm, eggs should be marketed more frequently. Eggs absorb odors quickly. Consequently, they should not be kept in a musty place or where there are strong odors such as those of onions, lemons, or kerosene.

Girl Scout Notes

Attention Brownies: Your leaders are taking training courses this week so that they can offer you better programs. You will be notified when it is time for your first meeting, which will probably be within the next two weeks.

Troop 2 hiked north of Mae West Curve one mile to the new city park, where they ate "nosebag" lunches and played games. They reported a good stand of grass growing in the park.

Troop 8 decided on arts and crafts as their next major badge work and each girl will bring a piece of embroidery to work on at their next meeting to begin on badge work. The girls also plan to get their bicycle badge and will discuss care of a bicycle. They also made plans for a Halloween party, carrying out a Mexican theme in costume and refreshments.

Troop 10 elected the following officer at their meeting Tuesday: President, Clare Collins; vice president, Rosemary Hutson; secretary, Kay Hubbard; treasurer, Judy Sams and reporter, Nancy Wehant. These Scouts sang songs and rounds and were served refreshments by Helen Hill.

Troop 11 elected Bobby Jo Hanson as president of the troop. Carolyn Nelson was chosen as vice president; Betty Burch as secretary, Sandra Hubbard as treasurer and Sally Scott as scrapbook custodian. The girls reviewed some of their last year's work and discussed badges.

Troop 14 met Monday at the home of the new assistant leader, Mrs. Jack Chain and elected the following officers: President, Altha Crouch; vice president, Carol Burch; secretary-treasurer, Pat Clark; reporter and corresponding secretary, Mary Frances Gray; song leader and librarian, Thelma Diller; project chairman, Janet Howard and social chairman, Allene Ellinger. These Senior Scouts made plans for a birthday party for Monday, Oct. 17. Cold drinks were served to the troop.

Power Economy Means Money In Farmer's Pocket

Contracting markets and the efficient production techniques of large-scale operators have made Eddy County farmers power-conscious, according to Dallas Rierson, county agent. "Farmers are buying more machinery and are using mechanical equipment more efficiently than ever before," the county agent said. "The sight of a farmer plowing his field with horse-drawn equipment has become rare indeed. Present-day farmers realize

'BOLD NEW PROGRAM' TO STOP SOVIET AGGRESSION

WESTERN POWERS are aiming diplomatic guns at international situations shown on map as UN General Assembly meets at Lake Success, N. Y. Preliminary discussions on most of these questions already have taken place in Washington, shaping the 12 North Atlantic powers' "bold new program" to deal with Soviet aggression in Europe and the Far East. (International)

But they can prosper only in proportion to the power they use effectively.

"Experiments show that a man of average size and good physical condition can produce continuously for an eight-hour day at the rate of only 1/10 horsepower. The cost of a farm tractor may be as low as five cents per horsepower hour, and the worker operating a 20-40 horsepower tractor can produce many times as much as a man with one or two oxen. Thus, great savings in farm labor costs can be brought about through wise economical, and efficient use of farm power equipment."

Maximum power savings mean higher profits from farm production, Rierson pointed out. "Therefore," he explained, "farm machinery and equipment for each individual unit must be selected carefully to meet power requirements of the machine which the farmer buys must be useful, versatile, durable, and economical in operation. It should enable the worker to complete all necessary farm operations on time. Machinery should not be of such great capacity that it creates long slack periods during which men or machines are idle. Idle machines, like idle hands, net no profit.

"The farmer who is mindful of power economy will take advantage of all available information and assistance in planning the mechanization of his farmstead. A penny saved is a penny earned, of course, but a dollar wisely invested may return two dollars profit to the power-minded farmer."

She was only a real estate man's daughter but he loved her lots.

Law Requires Complete Labeling Seed For Sale

According to the annual report of the State Seed Laboratory at New Mexico A. & M. College, 82 of the 900 samples taken by inspectors in 1948-49 were from lots of seeds which were not completely labeled with the items required by the state seed law, or were not labeled at all. Some of these lots of seed belonged to farmers who did not know that all seed advertised for sale in the state must be labeled, says Miss Elizabeth McSwain, seed analyst in charge of the laboratory. "They did not know, either, how simple the labeling process is," Miss McSwain explains. "The first step is to take a sample which represents the seed and send it to the Seed Laboratory. The report returned to the sender gives the exact information which is to be used for labeling. If the seed is in bags, each bag should bear a shipping tag with this information copied on it. If the seed is in bulk, one label on the container fulfills the requirements of the law." Five samples per year will be tested free of charge for any New Mexico farmer.

YOUR NATIONAL GUARD DIVISIONS CONTINUE THE OLD TRADITIONS

This is the twenty-eighth and final of a series on the Infantry and Armored Divisions of the new National Guard. They are presented to acquaint you with the organization which will be an integral part of the Nation's M-Day Force, trained, equipped and available for immediate service with the Regular Army in the event of emergency.

50TH ARMORED DIVISION—Guardians of New Jersey have the honor of serving with one of the first two armored divisions to be organized as part of the new, post-war National Guard. But the men of the 50th Armored Division are not without the traditions which are synonymous with the National Guard.

The founders of the 113th Armored Infantry Battalion, which with the 114th and 215th form the nucleus of the 50th Division, organized for the defense of the Nation in 1858 as the Newark Brigade. They fought at the battle of Bull Run in the Civil War, and succeeding units were called to Federal Service in the Spanish-American War, the Mexican Border Campaign, World War I and II. In World War I as part of the 29th (Blue and Gray) Division, the 113th Infantry Regiment, which was later to be redesignated as the 9th Armored Infantry Battalion, fought in the Meuse-Argonne and Alsace campaigns.

The 114th Armored Infantry Battalion was formed from the 4th Infantry Regiment and had its start with the Stockton Cadets which helped to defend the District of Columbia during the Civil War. In World War I the 114th served with the 113th in France as part of the 29th Division.

In World War II the 114th Infantry fought with the 44th Division in the Northern France, Rhineland and Central Europe campaigns. The 215th Armored Infantry Battalion came into being after World War II.

The 165th Field Artillery Battalion served in Alaska and the Philippines, and the 199th Field Artillery fought with the 44th Division in England, France and Germany during World War II. The 228th Field Artillery Battalion had its origin in 1878 and predecessor units in the Mexican Border campaign, and served with the 29th Division both in World War I and World War II. Major General Donald W. McGowan, of Trenton, N. J., is commanding general of New Jersey's armored division.

Gross Farm Income Down 10 Per Cent

The gross cash farm income that farmers received from January through July of this year was 10 per cent less than that received for the same period in 1948, according to C. R. Keaton, assistant extension economist in marketing. Prices received by farmers for this period declined about 12 per cent, but the volume of commodities marketed was greater than that marketed in 1948. Prices paid declined less than 12 per cent—resulting in a decrease of net farm income for the first seven months of 1949.

Prices received in July of this year were about 17 per cent lower than those received in July, 1948. Crop prices declined more than prices of livestock and livestock products.
