Simms Throws Fight Behind Minimum Wage

SANTA FE (AP)—The weight of the minimum wage bill today passed into the so far vain effort to enact a minimum wage for New Mexico. Senate's defeat of measures to raise all "fair trades" price laws and the death of the bill at the end of the legislative session headed into its final weeks.

The House three times this session passed a minimum wage bill, but it was twice by adoption of an amendment committee reports and last time 115-158 on a vote of 115-158.

Senators sent the House a new bill yesterday with a special message saying it would meet the needs of the Democratic party, overwhelmingly controls the Legislature. The Simms bill for a 10-cent minimum for service industries as hotels, motels and restaurants, where the minimum would be 50 cents. A great number of people would be excluded, including farm workers, mechanics, apprentices, and domestics.

Senators recalled the Democratic party pledged an "adequate" minimum wage law, and he added this bill would produce adequate minimum wage.

Other of his bills accompanied by a special message proposing to end segregation in public schools by removing the present law permission for separate facilities for students of African descent. The bill appeared largely academic in light of the U. S. Supreme court outlawing segregation in the manner in which educational authorities have followed the law in New Mexico.

Senator Donald Hallam's (D) bill to tax insurance companies gross premium receipts in the ratio to the percentage of company's investments in the state was passed by the House and sent to the Senate. Opposition was heavy and the debate long.

The House clinched the bill's passage by immediately rejecting consideration, a move to present a vote of 23 to 3 the Senate passed an absentee ballot bill is expected to open up a list of the 1953 constitutional amendment which drew a majority but not the extra-majorities required to amend the elective franchise of the state.

Crippled Bomber Smashes Trailer Court, Kills 5

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—A crippled B-47 jet bomber smashed into a suburban residential area last night, killing five as it cut a fiery swath into a trailer park. The dead included the three crewmen and a young couple whose house was demolished by flaming debris.

The six-engine Stratofortress was trying to land at Lake Charles Air Force Base when it hit a power line, crashed and exploded in a field. Heavy metal pieces hurtled into the residential area. The air base said the plane reported one engine had failed. Capt. George Spotswood, base public information officer, identified the dead crewmen as: Capt. Clarence Wilson, 34, pilot, California, Pa.; Capt. Mark M. Veck, 34, copilot, Downsville, Calif.; and Capt. Elwyn B. McEee, 33, observer, Fort Worth, Texas.

The Calcasieu parish (county) sheriff's office identified the dead civilians as Albert Morgan, 24, and his wife, Kate, 20. Only six veterans of World War I turned out last night for a meeting of Artesia veterans on an age-connected pension campaign. W. A. "Bill" Dunnam, veterans service officer who attended last night's meeting as an observer, said no action was taken last night because of insufficient information.

The move, Dunnam said this morning, seeks a pension for veterans of World War I who have reached age 60 or 65. Headquarters for the campaign is in Fort Wayne, Ind. At present only disability compensation is awarded. There is no pension available to veterans who have passed age of 60 or 65, Dunnam said, and on the basis of age alone.

Churchill Declares U. S. Holds Overwhelming Weapons Lead

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today the United States has an overwhelming lead over Soviet Russia in the "knowledge and the power to make nuclear weapons." Opening a debate in the House of Commons on Britain's defense plans, the Prime Minister declared: "Only three countries possess, in varying degrees, the knowledge and the power to make nuclear weapons. Of these, the United States is overwhelmingly the chief." Churchill said Britain has started making a hydrogen bomb. The United States exploded its first hydrogen device in the Pacific in November, 1952. The Soviet Union declared last month that Russia leads the United States in hydrogen bomb production. U. S. Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson promptly challenged this. He said the United States was in the lead and that the Russians knew it.

Police Hunt Armed Robber Of Carlsbad Food Store
BULLETIN
A later report on the search for an armed desperado who robbed a Carlsbad grocery store disclosed he was not in the Seven Rivers area, but someplace in the Lovington—Hobbs area. The intensive search has moved to that section. Lawmen in southeastern New Mexico, from Artesia to the southern border and the same distance east and west, are beating the bushes in search for an armed fugitive who robbed a Carlsbad grocery store last night. Police believe the man is Arthur Burke, recently released from the state penitentiary where he served time for taking a safe from an Artesia business two years ago. Burke pulled his job with the aid of a "better than six foot" woman who was caught late last night. Burke, a small, 5-foot 3-inch man, is still loose and believed in the Seven Rivers area. Police found the woman, who as yet is unidentified, near the second car used and abandoned by the pair. Burke has been labeled by police as dangerous and officers have been told to exercise caution in apprehension. The robbery took place about 7:30 last night at the Home Food Store. The pair made a clean getaway. According to Carlsbad police, just before the robbery all cars were alerted to the other side of town where a gang fight had been reported. There was no sign, police believe the two robbers reported the alleged gang fight. Upon learning of the robbery, road blocks in the southeastern area were thrown up. About 9:30 last night the get-away car was found just north of White City on the Cavern highway. Apparently the two saw the road block and abandoned the car. It was learned that the first car was stolen from Hobbs. This morning the police found the second car abandoned near Sitting Bull Falls. Not far from the car they found the woman. Planes have been patrolling the area from the air today while State Police and sheriff's officers patrolled the Seven Rivers area on foot and in cars. Artesia city police have a road block up at the south city limits on 285. There are road blocks on all highways leading out of this area. Motorists have been warned not to pick up hitchhikers along the highway.

People May Get Chance to Vote On Fair Trades
SANTA FE (AP)—The people probably will get a chance to vote on fair trades laws in New Mexico. Veteran observers today said the Senate's vote Monday against fair trade laws as indicating the people themselves will decide on this perennial headache to legislators. The Senate yesterday defeated a three-bill "package" aimed at killing fair trade laws. The laws protect standard brand products, liquor, and cigaret prices. Yesterday's vote with 19-13 on the liquor fair trades repealer. It was first to come up. With Senate sentiment apparent, the others died on voice votes. Sen. Calvin Horn (D-Bernalillo) said he intends to seek passage of his proposed resolution for a constitutional amendment on this issue. Approval of both houses would mean a vote of the people next September. Sen. R. C. Morgan (D-Roosevelt) chief sponsor of the repeal measures, commented angrily: "The repealer were defeated because the minority outside of the Senate who didn't want it (he said he referred specifically to the liquor industry) were putting on the pressure under the majority of the people had no one to put the pressure on for them." Sen. Harold Agnew (D-Los Alamos), admittedly "unhappy with the vote," said some day a New Mexico case will get to the U. S. Supreme Court and the New Mexico law be declared unconstitutional, as has happened with some other states. Opposition to repeal was led by H. Veale Payne (D-Hidalgo) whose main argument was that liquor prices should be kept high. He said if liquor fair trades were repealed, all restrictions on liquor licenses should be removed and there should be no controls.

Heathington Lengthens Modern Basketball's Top Record at Free Throw Line in NIBL Contests

AKRON, Ohio (Special) — Don Heathington, veteran forward for Artesia CVE Travelers, is in process of establishing a record in the National Industrial Basketball League (NIBL). Everytime the one-time Baylor University All-American goes to the line and converts a free toss he breaks a record set by him in the past three years, Heathington hit on 11 of 13 free throw attempts in a game with the Milwaukee Allen-Bradleys, Feb. 2, to exceed the NIBL record of 157 conversions he set during the 1951-52 season.

Since Feb. 2, the Artesia star has added 18 points to the total. He has three more games in which to set a new record. His record is insurmountable for the NIBL. Considered one of modern-day basketball's finest free throw shooters, Heathington uses a smooth underhand motion at the foul line. His percentage to date is an impressive 80.3, off 176 conversions in 219 attempts.

Graet Wittberger, three-year star for the Milwaukee Allen-Bradleys, continues to lead NIBL scoring with a 19.1 per game average. The six-foot, eight-inch center, a former Marquette University star, has scored 343 points in 18 games. Another 6-8 pivot, Iowa All-American Chuck Darling, of the Bartlesville Phillips 66ers, is second with a 17.1 average. He has 291 points in 17 games.

"I enjoy my family while I dry my clothes ELECTRICALLY!"

909 SOUTH 4TH STREET
ARTESIA, NEW MEXICO

"Time releasing" is the way Mrs. Francis describes her new electric clothes dryer. Time that was once devoted to outdoor drying drudgery is now available for family enjoyment and pleasure.

"I used to hear that you didn't need a dryer with beautiful New Mexico sunshine," Mrs. Francis says. Yes, the sunshine is beautiful in the southwest, but so are the colors in your clothes — if you don't let that beautiful sun fade them, and dry them in an electric clothes dryer.

"I've cut my clothes costs for the children considerably," Mrs. Francis concludes. Here's full-time economy, for your clothes last longer when they are dried electrically, and because they can be worn, in many cases, right after being dried, you don't need so many clothes. Dry clothes the modern way. Of course, it's electric.

Not Matter of Sentiment

THE COLLECTING of debts or bills or obligations is not something based on sentiment and should not be considered from that angle.

Any business that is successful not only is wise in spending its money but it is just as wise in collecting its accounts or bills.

The business firm which collects its accounts will tell you this isn't done by sitting around the office talking about it. Good bill collectors are rather scarce. Most of us do not like to go and "dun" people for what they owe us and yet that is just good business.

The average individual who was honest in creating a bill and has all the intentions of paying the account doesn't resent being called on by a polite and courteous collector. It is possible the bill has been overlooked, neglected, or forgotten. Or if they are unable to pay it they are usually glad to explain why and to give some date as to when they can pay it.

Customers of the firm or concern which extends credit are only of value to that firm if they pay their account. It doesn't make any difference how much an individual may buy from us, they are not a good customer unless they pay their bill.

Because if they buy and do not pay they not only have our merchandise but they also have this money which is ours, both the cost and the profit, tied up so we can not use it in our business.

The wise business firm checks its accounts receivable very carefully by the middle of the month and then does something more than talk about it. They likewise check these accounts often enough so that no one account gets too large and they seek to keep the total accounts receivable from becoming too large.

Business practices, we say, make it necessary that all of us do this including business firms, public institutions, professional people and all others extending credit.

Credit is a courtesy, a favor and an accommodation that has been extended to those obtaining the credit. And the collection of this account is not something to be determined on the basis of sentiment or friendship but strictly on the basis of good business. And good business dictates we collect the account.

Many a good firm in our state has gone broke merely because the owner was a good fellow and didn't have the heart to go out and collect his bills.

Egypt Charges Israelis With Killing 38 in Attack

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt accused Israel today of killing 38 Egyptians and wounding 21 others in a "sneak" night attack on an army headquarters two miles inside Egypt's Gaza Strip.

The Egyptian director of Palestine affairs, Lt. Col. Salah Gohar, termed the attack the biggest clash on the Israeli-Egyptian frontier since the 1949 Palestine Armistice. Five hours after the Egyptian announcement, an Israeli army spokesman in Jerusalem announced that the Egyptians had attacked an Israeli army unit and a "battle ensued which started in Israel territory and continued into the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip." The spokesman said the "enemy forces were repulsed" and the Israelis "suffered a number of casualties." Gohar said Israeli forces surrounded the army unit last night, blasted it with mortars and demolition charges, and then ambushed a truckload of 36 troops rushed to the position.

"The Israelis even threw Molotov cocktails of blazing gasoline into the wrecked truck," the Egyptian spokesman reported. "Twenty-two were killed and 14 were wounded. None escaped being either killed or wounded." Gohar said 16 Egyptians were killed and seven were wounded in the opening attack. These casualties were believed to include one civilian dead and one wounded, he added.

He charged also that the attackers destroyed a well supply one-third of the water for the ancient town of Gaza, population about 40,000.

Woman Lobbyist Scorns Ignorance Of Dove Types

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Mrs. John Lushen was before the Nebraska Legislative subcommittee yesterday fighting to keep the dove on the state's monogram bird list.

When a proponent of dove shooting commented that carrier pigeons are extinct, she spouted and exclaimed, "Passenger pigeons, not carrier pigeons, are extinct. Men who don't know the difference between carrier pigeons and passenger pigeons shouldn't carry a gun."

The dove hunting bill was killed.

Froman, Husband Split to Solve Personal Problem

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Singer Jane Froman, her fairytale marriage to pilot John C. Burn threatened by "personal problems" rested here today while her husband vacationed in Mexico.

"She announced that they had decided to part for awhile" in hope the "very, very personal" differences would iron themselves out.

When asked if she had any plans for a divorce, she quickly replied, "Absolutely none."

"We feel we can resolve our personal problems more easily if we're apart," she told reporters at a press conference.

The CBS television star took a week's leave from her Thursday show to recover from an attack of buritis. She said Burn would remain in Mexico until the end of March. She will return to New York March 10.

"I will see him then," she said. Burn was copilot of a plane that crashed in the Tagus River of Portugal in 1943, in which 24 of 39 persons died. Both he and Miss Froman were injured but he held her head above the water for nearly an hour until they were rescued.

Miss Froman spent five painful years recovering from her injuries and married her rescuer at Miami in March 1948 after divorcing her first husband. She still wears a brace on her right leg.

Senators Oppose Negotiations On U.S. Fliers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators Knowland (R-Calif.) and Mansfield (D-Mont.) said today they oppose direct negotiations with Red China for the release of 15 imprisoned American fliers.

This was their reaction to Burmese Premier U Nu's disclosure in Rangoon that he had passed along to Secretary of State Dulles a Chinese Communist suggestion that the United States send an unofficial mission to Peiping to discuss the fliers' fate and other causes of U.S.-Red Chinese tension. The state department yesterday gave the roundabout proposal a chilly reception.

"We don't want discussion," said Knowland. "We want release of the 15 men in compliance with the terms of the Korean armistice."

The fliers were captured by the Reds in the latter stages of the Korean War. Eleven of them have been sentenced on "spy" charges. Mansfield, a colleague of Knowland's on the Senate Foreign Relations committee, said in a separate interview he regards the indirect proposal as "just a propaganda move" by the Communists.

"There is nothing to discuss and nothing to be gained by any conference," Mansfield said. "The men are being held illegally in direct contravention to the Geneva convention on prisoners of war."

GRAIN STORAGE UP

WASHINGTON (AP)—The agriculture department said today there has been approximately a 30 per cent increase in the last three years in commercial storage for the nation's grain supplies. It said such facilities are capable of storing 2,819,815,000 bushels of grain, or 643,873,000 bushels more than in 1951.

A message from Fred and Jim, 'Your Pharmacists'

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO you spent 18.3 cents of your medical care dollar for medicines. Today, despite the fact that some of the newer drugs seem expensive, you are spending only 14.5 cents of your medical care dollar for medicines.

THE REASON OF COURSE IS that your prescriptions are now so much more effective, that you get well much quicker, and they help prevent more serious sickness, and often an operation.

THE COST OF LIVING has advanced considerably for almost everything you buy. But according to government statistics, you are now actually spending less for medicines, for each dollar of your medical care, than you did 15 years ago.

AS YOUR PHARMACIST we will always do our utmost to keep your cost of medicines as low as good pharmaceutical practice will permit.

Wool Growers Shearing Prior To April 1 to Get Payments

Wool producers who shear before April 1, will be eligible for incentive payments under the National Wool Act of 1954, provided they retain title to the wool until April 1, 1955, Richard Stauder, extension wool marketing specialist at New Mexico A & M college said today.

The following statements from the Commodity Stabilization Service outline how early sheared wool may be handled and still qualify for payments

1. The grower may retain possession of his wool until April 1, 1955, and then dispose of it. This does not mean that he must retain the wool on his farm or ranch. The wool may be shipped to a central market but ownership must be retained by the grower until April 1.

2. The grower may ship this wool on consignment prior to April 1, 1955, with instructions that the wool is not to be sold before April 1, 1955. In such case, a guaranteed minimum sales price per pound may be specified in the consignment contract.

He may also accept on advance against the prospective sales price with provision that the final settlement, however, will not be made until on or after April 1, 1955, when the wool is sold by the consignee.

3. The grower may enter into an agreement with the wool to be delivered and title to pass to the buyer on or after April 1, 1955. A specific price per pound may be indicated in the agreement, with the final settlement to be based on the actual number of pounds as delivered. In such case, the weighing may be at the farm or ranch, or at a warehouse, but must take place on or after April 1, 1955.

The National Wool Act of 1954 provides for incentive, if needed, to help encourage United States shorn wool production toward a 300-million pound annual national goal in the interest of national security.

If the average shorn wool price received by producers for the 1955-clip falls below the incentive price of 62 cents a pound, such wool producer will be eligible to receive a payment based on his production and the price he received for his wool in the market place.

The more the producer gets in the market place for his wool — the larger his incentive payment will be. Stauder encouraged New Mexico wool producers to prepare their wool for market in the best possible manner to insure highest net returns.

Lindane Paired With Rotenone Controls Grubs

A combination spray of lindane and rotenone will control cattle grubs, lice and manges, reports County Agent Richard Marek.

He recommends spraying animals with a mixture of four pounds of 25 percent wettable lindane powder, 7 1/2 pounds of rotenone, and 2 pounds of household detergent in 100 gallons of water.

Use one gallon of the spray per animal; but don't spray calves younger than three months, he cautions.

Cattle grub bumps will continue to appear on animals' backs during December, January, and February. Lice and manges are most serious during the winter months, too. One treatment will control lice and mange for the winter; however, it will require additional rotenone sprays every four weeks to control grubs. Use the same spray mixture without the lindane for additional grub sprays and repeat spraying as long as grubs are present, Marek advises.

Hair balls on wire fences and cattle rubbing against mangers, fences, and other objects are a clue that lice or mange may be present. If cattle have lice, and a farmer can find them in folds of skin on animals' necks and withers. Mange bites are so small they can't be seen without a microscope.

Egg Nutrients Depend on Feed Given Hen for Hatchability

An important consideration in the production of hatching eggs is the fact that nutrients found in the eggs depend largely upon nutrients in the feed of the hen.

This is particularly important in hatching-egg production, because the nutrient requirements for good breeder — or hatching — eggs are much greater and more exacting than eggs for the breakfast table, says H. L. Mathews, extension poultryman of New Mexico A & M college.

In order to get good hatchability, the chick embryo, like the hatched chick, must have several essential nutrients in adequate amounts. If any of these are lacking, the embryo will die, just as the hatched chick will die if it doesn't get enough of the right things to eat. And the nutrients in the egg depend upon the nutrients in the feed of the hen.

Research and practice have shown that adequate amounts of calcium and phosphorus are necessary in the hen's feed for hatchability, the poultryman states. Manganese is also important, as is an adequate vitamin supply.

Of the fat-soluble vitamins, A and D are especially vital if the birds are confined or do not have access to sunshine and green forage. Vitamin E is also required. Vitamin E is an essential vitamin that is likely to disappear if the ingredients in the ration are not fresh.

These are all trace ingredients, and are necessary in the rations only in minute quantities. Feeding hens for both high production and high hatchability has become a specialized job requiring the careful help of science.

Science Attacks Problems Caused By Soil Hardpan

Problems caused by hardpan or other types of soil compaction are being tackled by the U. S. department of agriculture and cooperating state and private agencies around the country, reports County Agent Richard Marek.

It has been known for many years that compacted soils interfere with plant root growth and penetration of moisture into the soil, Marek says. But no satisfactory method has been developed for dealing with the problem.

Subsoiling has proved little value, and though deep tillage has increased crop yields in certain years on some soil, benefits did not last or were not obtained on difficult claypan soils, Marek adds.

Compacted soil layers may be caused by tractor and heavy implement traffic over cultivated land, or they may develop from conditions within the soil itself. As traffic has increased over cultivated land through mechanized farming and more cultivation, the problem has been steadily growing.

Only House Okay Needed On Pay Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Only House approval, expected today, was needed to send to President Eisenhower a compromise bill to give members of Congress a 50 per cent pay raise.

The Senate passed the measure by voice vote yesterday after conferees, meeting for the second time, had set the salary figure at $22,500. Congress members now get $15,000.

The measure also carries pay raises of $7,500 to $10,000 for approximately 400 federal judges, a $5,000 boost for the vice president and House speaker, and increases for U. S. attorneys, their assistants and several top justice department officials. These were not altered in yesterday's conference.

The House passed a compromise pay bill last week, but this measure was rejected by the Senate because of a tax-exempt $1,250 expense allowance.

The new version is shorn of two of the benefits carried in the first compromise last week.

The conferees yesterday not only struck out the tax-free allowance, but also eliminated a provision for five expense-paid round trips to a member's home state each year. This was estimated to be worth $2,500 a year to lawmakers living on the West Coast. Under the pay raise bill, members of Congress get to keep a $3,000-a-year income tax deduction for extra living expenses in Washington.

Calves Increase Proportionate To Protein Diet

Calves gained weight in winter feeding experiments in proportion to the amount of protein added to the ration, the Oklahoma agricultural experiment station reports after a four-year trial, says County Agent Richard Marek.

A supplement containing 20 per cent protein increased calf weight by 250 pounds; 30 per cent 273 pounds; and 40 per cent, 290 pounds, Marek explains. The calves were raised in three lots and fed prairie hay, free-choice, plus one pound of protein supplement daily.

HERE'S HOW . . .

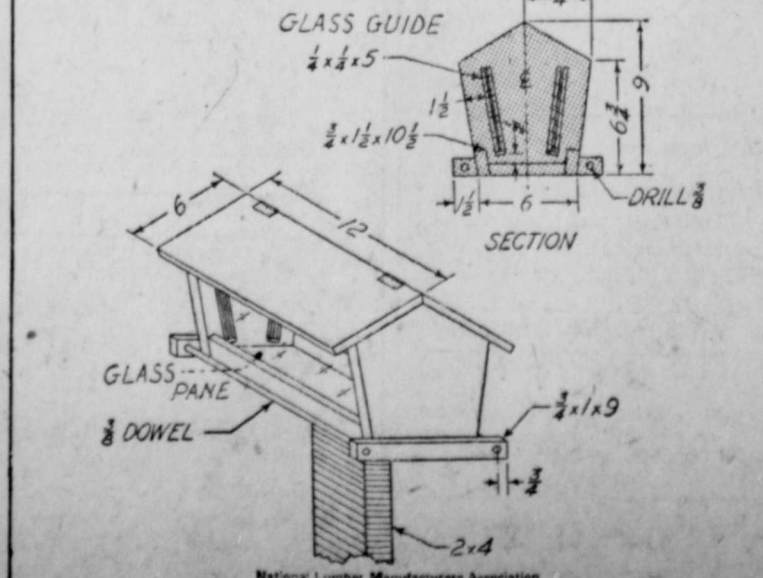

MAKE A BIRD FEEDER

This feeder makes an attractive lawn decoration. Cut the ends, as shown, first drawing a pattern on a piece of 3/4 by 10-inch lumber. Attach the glass guides with 3/8-inch brads.

Next, cut the roof pieces and bevel the mating edges to fit snugly. Then add the sides, beveling the bottoms to fit flush with the bottoms of the end pieces. Assemble the ends, sides and one top member. The top is placed temporarily. Use

4-penny finishing nails. Add the bottom, beveling it to fit between the sides. Then add the perch supports; insert the dowels, securing them with 3/8-inch brads.

Remove the temporary top, and join the top pieces with 1 1/2-inch butt hinges. Insert glass, and add the top, nailing one piece to the ends. Mount the feeder, with 3-inch wood screws, to a 2 by 4-inch treated or decay resistant post.

Seed Germinator Added to Lab At A&M College

A new seed germinator, which will increase the testing capacity of the State seed laboratory of New Mexico A & M college, was donated to the laboratory this week by the New Mexico Crop Improvement Assn.

The new germinator, valued at about $1600, is a stainless steel mobile unit of the latest type. This model has "thermatrol," which permits completely automatic settings at any cold or warm temperatures, or at alternating temperature, according to Miss Elizabeth McSwain, state seed analyst, in charge of the laboratory. A warm curtain keeps the humidity constant in the germination, which can be lighted by fluorescent blbs for seeds which need light for germination.

The germinator, added to present equipment at the laboratory, will be used to determine the percentage of germination of seed samples submitted by New Mexico farmers. All seed certified by the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association must be tested for germination at the State Seed Laboratory.

The extreme specialization which has been achieved by is indicated by one type which feeds exclusively on the tears of one species of bird — the swainson.
