Argentine Army Navy Units In Open Revolt

Summers Flying Aeron Asked to Quit Post

Buenos Aires, Argentina—Army and navy units rebelled at key points in Argentina today, with some early success. The government said rebel forces they would be sent from the air if they did not surrender.

There were unofficial reports some elements in the army called upon President Juan Peron to resign. But an official statement announced that army units were converging on rebel centers to put down the revolt.

Road Engineers Say Urban Project Walks Must Be Kept Clear

Warning that the walkways on either side of the urban project must be cleared of structures, poles and signs and kept free of parked cars was given to Artesia city officials today.

The warning was relayed to Mayor William H. Yeager and Chief of Police Frank Powell by two engineers of the State Highway Department, who quoted Don Leisher, inspector for the Bureau of Public Roads from its Santa Fe office.

Leisher declared the full 100-foot width of the highway's right-of-way must be kept clear and that until it is cleared the federal government will not advance its share of the project's cost. So said the state highway engineers, E. L. Vick, project engineer, and B. R. Lindman, office engineer, who have been assigned to the Artesia urban project.

Mayor Yeager pledged the city's co-operation in carrying out the regulation, as did Chief Powell.

The ruling, so far as the state engineers were informed, meant that the concrete loading platform of E. B. Bullock and Sons at 105 S. First st., must come out.

William H. Bullock, of the Bullock firm, had no comment today on the order to clear the walkways. He has previously appeared before the city council asking its aid in retaining the platform which, he contends, is not in any sense a hazard to pedestrians.

The state men also warned that many motorists are parking on the traffic lanes on First st. facing the wrong way and that others are parking in storage lanes reserved for left hand turns.

Except for minor cleanup work and replacement of some sidewalk links, the urban project is complete, the state highway men said. They reported that the Bureau of Public Roads inspector was well pleased with the project, save for the cluttering of the walkways.

Traffic Citations Whittled to Three

Only three citations were issued by the police for traffic rule violations yesterday. There had been four on Wednesday and a flood of them early in the week.

"It means that our drive for safer driving is succeeding," said Chief of Police Frank Powell. "There is no excuse for careless breaking of traffic laws and our vigilance will be maintained."

Dempsey Relates Suspicion Surrounding Geneva Confabs

The recent Geneva atomic energy conference opened with such an atmosphere of suspicion that Russian delegates registered at hotels by number instead of by name.

Rep. John J. Dempsey recounted here last night. Rep. Dempsey, a member of this country's congressional Atomic Energy Committee of which Sen. Clinton P. Anderson is chairman, accompanied his New Mexico colleague to the conference in the Swiss city.

"Before the conference was over," Dempsey said, "much of the mutual suspicion was dissipated and there seemed to be a more peaceable attitude. Seventy-three countries were represented and our exhibit of a powerful atomic reactor from Oak Ridge, Tenn., in action was highly impressive."

"The Russians had an atomic reactor exhibit but their's was designed for treatment of disease rather than the creation of energy. They were trying to impress on everyone their desire to contribute to the health and welfare of the world."

"The British stressed salesmanship, showing reactor parts for sale, although they could not furnish atomic fuel."

Highway Death Toll Hits 237

New Mexico's traffic death toll for the year rose to 237 last night with the death of James Tolpia, 58, of Rehoboth. At this time last year 247 had died on the state's highways.

State Police said Tolpia was killed while walking along U. S. 66 about a mile and a half east of Gallup. He was struck by a car driven by Edson Grandy Neifing, 30, Kayville, Kans., police said.

Six Wetbacks Are Held in City Jail

Six Mexican nationals illegally in this country were in the city jail today awaiting transfer to the Mexican border by the Border patrol.

Five of them were rounded up here yesterday and the sixth had been arrested last Sunday. Border patrolmen from the Alamogordo detail were expected to call here for the prisoners today.

Dempsey Vows Aid To Re-Crete Old Hope Farm Wealth

By RAY BLACK
Artesia's flood control conference last night ran into a country-city clash of interests that for a time threatened to end in futile stalemate.

On one side of the debate was a small but determined group of Atoka community farmers, protesting a diversion levee floodway plan they fear will engulf their farms in times of high water.

State to Get Top Share of Road Monies

Because New Mexico has so much federal land, the state can look forward to more than its proportionate share in the "big" road program the world has ever known.

So said Rep. John J. Dempsey, speaking at the flood control conference last night. He is a member of the House Roads committee.

"We have such a large state and own so little of it," Dempsey explained, "that we will pay but 7 per cent of the cost of roads in the states roads covered by the program, while the federal government will pay 93 per cent."

Rep. Dempsey said it was unfortunate a federal road bill could not be passed at the last session of Congress. He termed the road-building program suggested by President Eisenhower a good one, except that provisions for financing it were faulty.

"A more satisfactory bill will pass next January," he predicted, "and there will be more money for road building in New Mexico than the most optimistic dreamed of. Due to the states huge public domain and Indian and federal lands, we will put up $1 for each $2 of federal money, instead of matching dollar for dollar as in most other states."

Financing flaw in the bill could be corrected, he said.

State Studies City's Request For Stoplight

The city's request for a traffic light at the intersection of Centre ave. and First st., on the urban project, will be studied by the State Highway Department, according to a letter to Doug Fowler, city engineer.

The letter came from L. D. Wilson, chief engineer of the state department. The stop-and-go light was requested after motorists had complained to the city council that they had difficulty crossing First st. at Centre.

Chamber Meeting

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce met at noon today to hear a report on last night's flood control conference, which the chamber arranged. The directors were to consider what further steps the chamber can take to advance the flood control matter.

Artesia's six voting districts are being consolidated into two for the next Tuesday special election on six amendments to the state constitution.

The action was taken by county clerk Mrs. R. A. Wilcox in view of what is anticipated to be a light vote turn-out.

The two city voting places in Precinct 6 are at Central School and Veterans Memorial Building. Mrs. Wilcox said that persons normally voting at the Masonic Temple, Central School and the High School will all vote at Precinct 6-C at Central School.

Kansas Will Try For Upset Over Texas Christian

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A Kansas team seeking its first victory in 17 games tests Texas Christian's ebullient Horned Frogs tomorrow night in the opening of the football season.

The Christians, boasting their best prospects since World War II, will be dominating favorites to start the campaign with a solid decision and some 20,000 will turn out to see them do it.

It will be the thirteenth meeting of the two schools with the Frogs holding an 8-2-2 superiority. They beat the Jayhawks 27-6 last season and that was one of the closest games Kansas played as it went through its first winless campaign in history.

Driving Record

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—Dodge claimed a new world's record last night for unlimited cars during continuous five days of driving. Midland Pro Leads Field At News Open

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Doug Higgins, a virtually unknown pro from Midland, Tex., held a two-stroke lead over the field and a new course record today as second round of the $20,000 Daily News Open Golf Tournament began.

The 28-year-old Texan shot a 30-34-64 over the newly revised 6,243 yard Cobbs Creek public links course yesterday to lead Californians Jerry Barber, of Los Angeles, and Bud Holscher who shot identical 31-35-66s over the par 68 layout.

The Philadelphia course proved easy for the touring pros as one other player, Leo Biagetti, Wiloughby, Ohio, carded a 67 and nine others matched par.

Higgins' round included five birdies and one bogie. Hit putting was accurate throughout.

Grouped at the 68 bracket were Ted Kröll, Bethesda, Md.; Bob Rosburg, Palo Alto, Calif.; Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill.; Bob Wimmer, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif.; Gardner Dickinson, Panama City, Fla.; Art Wall Jr., Peconic Manor, Pa.; and Gerald Kesseling, Toronto.

The field plays 18 holes more today and tomorrow and winds up the 72-hole competition Sunday with another round.

Ex-Grid Star In Semifinals Of Golf Meet

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Kicking field goals and conversions in a tight football game before 50,000 screaming fans is nothing compared to trying a sink a tough putt before a silent golf gallery.

You can ask Bill Booe, one of the unluckiest golfers ever to get to the semifinals of the National Amateur Golf Tournament.

Booe is the little guy who used to trot out on the Yale bowl turf almost a decade ago and kick those vital points when the Elis scored a touchdown.

Now a quiet, bespectacled Bridgeport, Conn., businessman, he's in the semifinals of the National Amateur along with one other almost unknown golfer, player of considerable local fame and one of the world's best amateurs.

Bill doesn't figure to go beyond today's 36-hole semi-finals. He's scheduled to meet San Francisco's Harvie Ward, 1932 British Amateur champion, runner-up for that title in 1933 and unquestionable the finest, most consistent golfer left in this mixed-up tournament.

The other semi-final brings together Hillman Robbins, Jr., of Memphis, Tenn., last year's intercollegiate champion and winner of a flock of important invitational tournaments, and William Hyndman II of Philadelphia.

Lobos Improve As Tilt Nears With Aggies

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—The New Mexico Lobos have only a light signal drill ahead of them under the lights tonight before their 43rd encounter with the New Mexico Aggies Saturday.

Coach Bob Titchenal said he was much more satisfied with the Lobos' showing in practice yesterday than he had been in the earlier practice sessions.

Titchenal said his probable starting lineup would remain unchanged. Drake and Phil Hart tackle Wayne Gares and Joe Cox guards Jimmy Juarez and Jerry Nesbitt, center Andy Morales, and backs Jerry Lott, Char Manwarren, Joe Murphy and Yip Barker.

In Las Cruces, however, coach Tony Cavallo announced some changes. Cavallo said he plans to start Ralph Kendrick and Ed Wynn at halfbacks with Vernon Dues at quarterback. Gary Walton will remain at fullback. Earlier, Kelly and Mill Hudson had been named as the likely starters at halfback spots.

On the line, Cavallo hopes to Bill Floyd and Dick Holmes ends, tackles Fred Hernandez and Jim Eddy, guards Jim Musick and Ronnie Price and center Frank Treanor.

'Land of Fury,' Screened in New Zealand, Exotic Adventure Film

The first outstanding feature picture to be presented upon the return of the Octotillo theater to a five-day schedule starting tomorrow is "Land of Fury." It will be shown tomorrow, Sunday and Monday, with matinees Saturday and Sunday afternoon.

To the natural excitement of adventure in strange, far away places the J. Arthur Rank Organization's presentation of "Land of Fury," adds the exotic primitive drama of the first perilous pioneering among the Maori of New Zealand. As a result this Universal-International release, richly filmed in color in New Zealand, brings extraordinary entertainment to the screen.

Starring the ever-popular Jack Hawkins, as the cashiered seaman seeking a new life in that uncharted island, and lovely Glynis Johns, as the bride who shares his exile, "Land of Fury" is stamped with the thrill of discovery, danger and pagan temptations ever foot of the way.

And one of those pagan temptations is going to be talked about by everyone who sees "Land of Fury." She is Laya Raki, who plays an uninhibited Maori beauty who dances and bedevils Hawkins into violating the island tabus and bringing the wrath of the head-hunting tribesmen down on the tiny British settlement.

Until the seductive overtures of the very alluring Miss Raki help to blow the colony sky-high, Hawkins and his young band of colonists have endured tests of strength, courage and diplomacy to work out a feasible relationship with Maori Chief Inia TeWiata and his aborigines. Then after a brilliant unfolding of the sheer pagan beauty of New Zealand, after a shipload of venturing souls has built up the colony, after senses have been inflamed with the wild Maori love dances, war canoes of neighboring tribes arouse Maori savagery and to a crashing, smashing climax of one incident after another leads untamed violence and passion seldom equalled on the screen.

Jack Hawkins adds another fine portrayal alongside his memorable role in "The Cruel Sea" and Miss Johns is sheer loveliness in the unloveliest of situations. Noel Purcell, as Hawkins' chief aide, is excellent.

Direction by Ken Annakin and the production of George H. Brown aimed at an epic feel of little-known history with the strong beat of forbidden romance—objectives they attain superbly. The print-by-Technicolor "Land of Fury" beautifully captures the wild magnificence of New Zealand.

Injuries Sideline Three Bulldogs For Tonight's Big Game

HOW IT WORKS in the Bulldog backfield when a line plunge by Clyde Bratcher is being set up. Bratcher, head down, is receiving the pigskin from Quarterback Max Ratliff. Ready to dash in as blockers are George Price, No. 14, right halfback, and Don Long, No. 22, playing at left half. Happily for the Bulldogs' strategy, it won't look the same to the Alamogordo Tigers tonight. (Advocate Photo)

Long Goes in For Belvin as Left Halfback

Hampered by injuries to two first stringers and one reserve guard, Coach Reese Smith takes his Bulldogs over the hill to Alamogordo for some high-class gridiron Tiger-baiting.

Smith will be without the services of star left halfback Jim Belvin, injured in last week's starter against Lovington. Belvin, who cracked a vertebra, will be out for this game and may be lost to the Artesia High for a month or more.

Also on the sick list is starting left tackle Bill Mayes who came up with a muscle injury in practice Wednesday. Mayes may be in shape in time for tonight's game but is not expected to see too much action.

Reserve guard Jim Campanella is definitely out of the Alamogordo game with a severely pulled muscle.

But Smith wasn't over-concerned over the loss of the three men as he took the Bulldogs through their final pre-game drills yesterday afternoon.

The big, husky gridiron mentor was more concerned over the psychological rather than the physiological factors during yesterday's drill sessions.

"I'm not too worried about the outcome of the game," Smith said. "If the boys are OK mentally. By that I mean, in the right frame of mind to go out there and win. It has to be that way for every game."

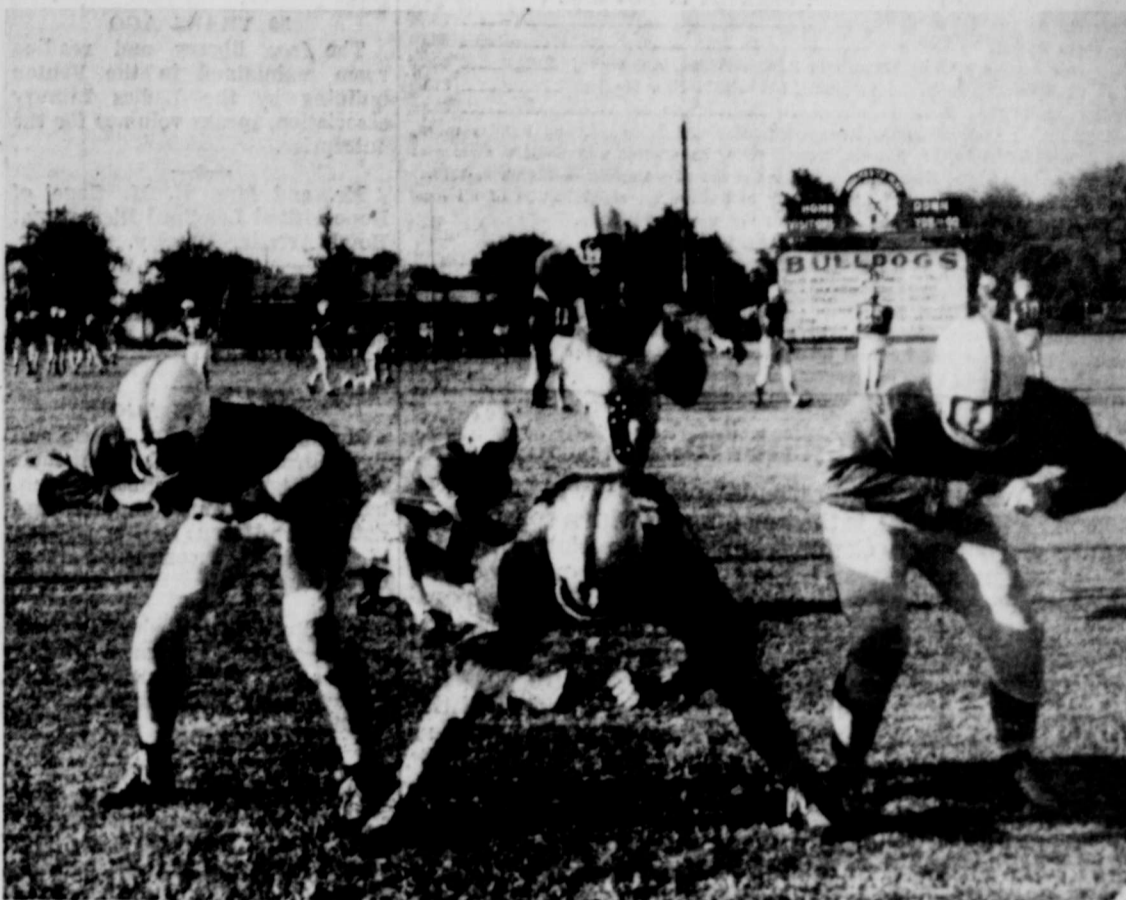

The Bulldogs meet the Tigers as slight favorites but in the mind of every player is the memory of a few years ago when the two teams met with the Bulldogs a five-touch-down favorite.

Artesia lost that game by an 18-point spread. Reserve back Don Long goes into the starting lineup replacing Belvin tonight. He has been working in the Big Four—Ratliff, Bratcher, Price, and himself—all this week and the slightly rough edges of last week's game have been smoothed out.

While tonight's game is a non-conference tilt, it is being watched with interest all over the state as he game which will make the Bulldogs show their real capabilities for the first time.

Alamogordo piled up an impressive 62-6 win over Socorro last week while the Bulldogs topped Lovington 63-18. Neither team was forced to work very hard in the course of the initial game, both making widespread use of second and third string players.

But Tiger Coach Newt McDonald said yesterday that his boys are primed for the Bulldogs and that

Artesia-Alamogordo Battle Is Weekend's Big Headliner

By ROBERT GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Two defending champions make their debuts and almost a dozen district games crowd the early schedule for New Mexico high school football teams this weekend.

But the real headliner is a cross-conference battle between the two giants of last week's opening day play—Artesia and Alamogordo.

There's nothing more than pride and prestige—though a lot of that—at stake in this non-conference clash. Class AA Artesia, of course, is favored to win.

Alamogordo, however, gave notice that it may have enough in store to make things interesting for the Eddy County boys. The Tigers ripped through Socorro 62-6 last week. Artesia plowed under Lovington 63-18.

Other top interest games tonight pit St. Mary's and Highland, Gadsden and Deming, and Fort Sumner and New Mexico Military Institute. Only one is a conference game, but each may provide a preview of how things are going to shape up this season.

Highland, defending Class AA champion, will make its first start of the season—at least its first start to go on the books. The Hornets last week were easy victors in a Football Jamboree with Albuquerque and Valley. Tonight they want to convince the only other big school in the area who's boss.

Gadsden is the other defending champion making its first start of the season. The Anthony team, unbeaten in 23 straight contests, will begin defense of its Class A crown with a Dist. 2A battle.

Fort Sumner, which surprised St. Mary's 18-7 last week, will be going after its second straight decision over a Class A team. The Foxes, deep and strong at each position, are beginning to establish themselves as the team to beat in Class B.

Valley Crushes Menaul

The week's play actually got started last night. Valley of Albuquerque scored in every quarter in crushing little Class C Menaul 45-0. Tatum came up with a 26-7 victory over the Clovis 'B' team in the only other Thursday game.

Heading the Class AA schedule for the week in the Dist. 1AA match between Farmington and Santa Fe at Santa Fe. Neither team holds a strong favorite's edge.

The rest of the big schools' slate has Tucumcari at Clovis, Ysleta, Tex., at Roswell, Las Cruces at Cobre de Hurley, El Paso at Carlsbad and Duncan, Okla., at Hobbs.

District games in Class A send Socorro to Belen in 1A, Raton to Los Alamos in 2A, and Lovington to Portales in 4A. The rest of the Friday A schedule, all of them

Hot Springs—Tularosa

Grants and Fort Wingate will open their play in a Dist. 1B game tonight. Other district games have Hot Springs at Tularosa in 4B tonight, and Aztec at Albuquerque Indians in 1B and West Las Vegas and Santa Fe Indians Saturday.

Texas A&M Seeks Upset Over Uclans

LOS ANGELES, AP—Texas A&M marches into Memorial Coliseum tonight to the strains of its own 240-piece band, hoping its sophomore-studded football forces can upset a veteran UCLA outfit that many think will be the top college team in the nation this fall.

The spirited invader from the Southwest Conference listed six sophomores and five juniors in the starting lineup, guided in its split-T attack by sophomore Bobby Joe Conrad.

UCLA, defending Pacific Coast Conference champions, named a bigger and far more experienced eleven to lead off—eight seniors and three juniors, including a ramming fullback veteran, Bob Davenport.

Upwards of 50,000 are expected to witness the 8:30 p. m. Pacific Daylight Time kickoff.

The U. S. $1,000 bill carries a picture of President Cleveland. New York State has 7,363 miles of railroad.

Cleveland and New York Win Rest of Games, It's Tie

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

So now the American League winner comes to this: Cleveland and New York have tied. Both have to win 'em all.

The Indians and Yankees start their final run for the money tonight when they meet in Cleveland. Cleveland has won five of the last six games with the Tigers, but with the still-hopeful Chicago White Sox.

New York plays Boston at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees have won four of the last five games with the Red Sox, three of them in the last three days.

"We've won two more than the Yankees and they've got to catch up. Maybe it won't be easy," Boston Manager Pinky Higgins promised it won't "be easy." Knowing his Red Sox are out of it, he said "We'll be up for the Yankees. We like nothing better than to beat them."

Stengel wisecracks

Stengel was more whimsical going into the showdown. "I've been reading for two weeks how they two fellas (Lopez and White Sox boss Marty Marion) have been claiming the pennant. I'm surprised neither has won it yet. Maybe they don't want it and maybe we'll win it ourselves."

Marion, four games back with eight left, simply stated a fact: "We're still in it until we're mathematically eliminated."

Only one game was scheduled in the major yesterday and Brooklyn, the National League champ, lost its fifth straight, the Dodgers' longest slump of the year. It was a 3-2 decision in 12 innings at St. Louis as Brooklyn ended its last Western trip of the year.

Stan Musial and Rip Repulski, with back-to-back homers off pulled the NL even with its own rookie Sandy Koufax in the third, major league home run record of 1,197 set in 1953.

with Washington, the club "that's kept us up there," says Manager Casey Stengel, by taking 13 of 22 from Cleveland.

Lopez Is Hopeful

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez thinks the difference in games remaining will decide it. "We have eight and they have 10. We have two days off next week and they have only one."

"We can rotate three pitchers and they're going to have to use four or five starters, especially in that last weekend in Boston. They have four games in the last three days."

Remember When...

50 YEARS AGO

The free library and reading room maintained in the Fenton building by the Ladies Library Association, speaks volumes for the enterprise.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gage of Hope visited Landlord Richards at Hotel Artesia, Monday.

Judge L. C. McNatt and wife, of Cloudercroft, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. E. McNatt on Richardson Avenue.

20 YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stroup and Paul Stroup returned from their vacation trip in the Rocky mountains. Mrs. Stroup's mother, and sister, Mrs. Marcus Galt and Helen of Tucumcari accompanied them home for a visit.

Miss Ruth Russell who has spent several weeks as a guest of her brother, Dr. Chester Russell, left for her home in Albuquerque, on Monday.

10 YEARS AGO

The Artesia Woman's club, with a theme "Peace For All Mankind" held their first meeting of the club year at a banquet at Hotel Artesia. Mrs. E. J. Foster, president, was in charge.

State—

sidered at the last session, Dempsey said, is his provision for a non-government corporation to handle the 21 billions in bonds would exact 1/2 per cent more interest than federal bonds require, he explained, and the interest on the bonds over the 30-year amortization period would amount to 12 million dollars, or more than half of the cost of the project.

"It was a good deal for the financiers but a bad deal for the people," the congressman said. "But we must have new roads. We are killing 38,000 people annually on the highways. We are allowing trucks 8-feet wide to run on 9-foot roads. They are all to be widened to at least 12 feet and many will be multi-lane. It has been estimated the road program would save at least 4,000 lives a year."

In reply to a query by State Rep. Fred Cole, Dempsey said the new state truck weight law will have no effect on New Mexico's sharing federal road-building funds.

While the 21 billions is earmarked for interstate roads, New Mexico's advantageous situation as regards federal lands will leave more of the states money for building and improving primary and secondary roads within the state, Dempsey said.

He said the levee is designed to handle a flood of 38,000 second feet flow, or more than 50 per cent greater than the biggest recorded flood—that of 1911, with 26,000 second feet flow. He estimated that a flood the size of the one in 1911 would do $1,250,000 damage to present-day Artesia. Last year's October flood, with 12,500 second feet flow, did an estimated $224,000 damage.

Woodson said the city of Artesia, to obtain the survey, gave assurance that it would:

- 1—Furnish all land for rights-of-way for the project through the entire area it will traverse.
- 2—Operate and maintain the project.
- 3—Assume all liability for possible damages caused by the project.

Atoka Sounds Off

It was then that the Atoka delegation made itself heard. Among those present from the Atoka community were: J. W. Bradshaw, W. C. Bradshaw, Russell Rogers, F. Brainerd, Jess Ward and L. F. Chumbley.

"We farmers from Atoka are on the spot," declared W. C. Bradshaw. "We can go along all right with the Soil Conservation Service idea of holding the water back on the watershed. Maybe some of it would get into the underground reserve and do us some good."

"But this property in Artesia that's now seeking protection from flood waters is recent. The flood danger existed when these new developments were built."

"Now you want to divert the water onto farms that have been established for years and years. If the levee breaks and floods pour over our farms, who's going to pay for it?"

"As far as Artesia is concerned, if you'll take care of your water, we'll take care of ours. You don't want our water and we don't want yours."

Atokans asked the river by way of Eagle Draw, which they said could be deepened and riprapped.

something for the little city of Hope. I promise you that I'll exert every effort to get something done."

To the protagonists in the Atoka-Artesia Army Engineers argument, Dempsey said:

"I'm sure something satisfactory can be worked out. After the floods here last year, I got many calls and telegrams asking that something be done. It's time something was done. As soon as I get back to Santa Fe, I'll contact some people and see what can be done."

"Congress is looking at the flood problem with new vision. This country has neglected floods too long. That's not good economy. The more delay, the more the cost when the job finally is done."

The problem of recurrent floods as they affect Artesia and the Hope and Atoka communities is briefly stated—Without retarding dams, high waters sweep past Hope—wasted as far as that water-hungry agricultural area is concerned. They pour down Eagle Creek and then into the two draws into which the creek divides west of the city. Overflowing the draws, they flood Artesia.

Hit Farmlands

Portions of the high water, following the natural drainage course, swell over the banks of Tumbleweed Draw near Atoka, inundating farm lands.

The diversion levee, for which a survey has been made by the army engineers, would extend for 5.7 miles in a southeasterly direction from a point near the diversion of Eagle Creek into its two draws to a point near Atoka. Its purpose would be to divert flood waters around the city and shunt them into a floodway to be constructed along Tumbleweed draw and emptying into the Pecos river.

Present status of the project was given last night by Co. Robert E. Cron, officer in charge of the Albuquerque district of the Corps of Engineers, which includes New Mexico and parts of Colorado, Kansas and Texas. Col. Cron is just now succeeding Col. Barnes, who has been transferred to Paris, France.

"A detailed survey was made of this area and approved by congress, which authorized the project for flood control for Artesia," Col. Cron said. "Estimated cost of the project is $760,000, of which the city of Artesia would bear $170,000 and the federal government $590,000. Of the city's share, $102,000 would go for obtaining easements on some 700 acres of range and 100 acres of improved land in the Tumbleweed region."

"It is designed to benefit 3,000 acres of land which has been flooded in the past and an additional 9,000 acres which might be flooded. The corps of engineers has received $25,000 for the 1956 fiscal year for detailed planning of the project and has requested another $25,000 for the following year."

More Details

Further information was given about the project by Robert C. Woodson, in charge of planning and reports for the Albuquerque army engineers office.

He said the levee is designed to handle a flood of 38,000 second feet flow, or more than 50 per cent greater than the biggest recorded flood—that of 1911, with 26,000 second feet flow. He estimated that a flood the size of the one in 1911 would do $1,250,000 damage to present-day Artesia. Last year's October flood, with 12,500 second feet flow, did an estimated $224,000 damage.

Hickok, 50, a mining engineer, and Ernest P. Stubblefield, 32, an airport manager. Both also live in Ulysses.

Clear Creek County Sheriff James Sacra said two miners with oxygen masks got no answer after they went part way into the shaft and shouted for Dew and LeBlow.

Officials said the prospectors had oxygen tanks to support them for about four hours. The officials believed the two could not possibly have survived the hours after their oxygen was exhausted.

Stubblefield and Hickok said they came here Tuesday to do some uranium hunting. At the abandoned shaft next day they found indications of uranium ore around the outside.

Hickok said all except Stubblefield, who is crippled, went into the mine about 3,000 feet Wednesday until they reached a point where an old cave-in had partly blocked the shaft. He said the air was bad and they abandoned the effort for the day.

The trio returned yesterday and after reaching the cave-in Dew and LeBlow climbed over it. Hickok said they discovered water on the other side and used old lumber to construct a raft, intending to float beyond the water. Hickok said that was the last he heard of the two. He went for aid.

Sacra said both men are married. Dew has three children and LeBlow two.

BEARS-BROWNS CLASH

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Bears will meet the Cleveland Browns tonight at Soldier Field in the 10th annual armed forces benefit game and the last pre-season game for both teams in the National Football League.

while the distance to the river is approximately the same as that for the Tumbleweed route, cost of acquiring the right-of-way would be several times as much. He pointed out that the draw goes right through the city, and that a channel 1,100 feet wide is contemplated.

In lowering he hopes of the Hope delegation, Charles said that for the Bureau of Reclamation to have jurisdiction, the area would have to obtain water rights through the state engineer. He said also that as long ago as 1903, the Bureau of Reclamation rejected dam sites on Eagle Creek because they would be too costly and weren't practicable because of soluble gypsum underneath.

Speaking for the Soil Conservation Service, Ray C. McDaniel, deputy state conservationist from the Albuquerque office, said farmers and ranchers themselves along the Eagle have done much to improve stability of the watershed.

McDaniel described recent national legislation for "small watershed" conservation projects covering areas up to 250,000 acres. So far, he said, there has been no request for such a conservation project in the Hope area. To qualify, it would have to be shown that benefits would be commensurate with costs.

Col. Cron terminated the conference by saying:

"We have a diversion levee already approved and are spending $25,000 on planning. If the area doesn't want the levee, we'll do something else, there'll be a long delay. We don't like to waste the taxpayers' money. So we'd like to get the question of what you want answered."

"We previously had reasonable assurance that Artesia would go along for its share of the project and that was sufficient for the preliminary planning. We'd have to have an iron-clad legal agreement with the city before actual construction could start."

Need Letter

"And right now we need a letter from the city's legal department telling us whether to go ahead with the planning—or to stop."

Other than those mentioned, also attending the conference were: Thomas B. Tillman, area engineer, Corps of Engineers, Roswell; J. B. Huckabay, division engineer, Santa Fe Highway, Clovis; G. L. Beeme, area conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Artesia; Richard Marek, county agent; Doug Fowler, city engineer; C. A. Clark, J. B. Mulecock and W. H. Jenkins, all of Artesia.

The conference chairman was William M. Siegenthaler, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce flood control committee, and assisting him was Paul W. Scott, chamber manager.

Ex-Hungarian Finance Minister, Doomed By Reds, to Speak Here

DR. NICHOLAS NYARADI

Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, minister of finance of Hungary in the immediate postwar period, who spent seven months in Moscow arguing with the Soviet over an unfair reparations claim that would financially strangle his country, will be the next speaker at the meeting of the Knife and Fork club, the evening of Sept. 27, at the Veterans Memorial building.

The former Minister is quite likely the best versed man on Russia in America. During his seven months in Moscow he was permitted to visit farms and factories, walk the streets, talk to people, go to parties and listen to Russian's raries and their plans.

Apparently he heard too much, and learned things the Russians didn't care about having revealed, for the Hungarian minister of finance was forced to flee his country, and now has been condemned to death in absentia by the Soviet.

There is a similar price of death on his wife, too, who was Eva de Roskovonyi, descendant of one of Hungary's oldest noble families.

Since Dr. Nyaradi's arrival in this country in 1948 he has been active in helping to reveal Russia's plans for communistic encroachment. He has authored many articles for such magazines as the Saturday Evening Post, Fortune, Liberty, and others, and also has written the book, "My Ringside Seat in Moscow," which was published in 1952.

He comes here from Peoria, Ill., where at Bradley University he holds the chair of professor-at-large in the department of history and political science.

Rumors—

toward Cordoba, and reported the capture of Bahia Blanca.

Circles close to the army spoke of an ultimatum directed to Peron, demanding he step down, but hours passed with no confirmation of this.

The government declared a terrorist plot had been smashed in Buenos Aires with arrest of 100 civilians. This was the fourth reported plot aimed at Peron since the major revolt of June 16—just three months ago today.

The government acknowledged the revolt had spread to the large Rio Santiago Naval Base, site of Argentina's naval academy.

The state radio said "it is understood" the chief of the rebel forces is former Gen. Dalmiro Felix Videla Balaguer, who was accused Sept. 8 of leading the Rio Cuarto guerrilla in a conspiracy which was crushed. Four days later, Gen. Balaguer was reported under arrest, but this never was confirmed officially.

Despite earlier government announcements that the situation had been "fully dominated," there still appeared to be rebel activity in some areas this afternoon.

The surrender of 300 rebel troops in Entre Dios Province was announced.

A state of siege—virtual martial law—was extended to the entire country. Previously this applied only to Buenos Aires.

Peron proclaimed the state of siege and the Souze of Deputies, completely dominated by pro-Peron deputies, approved it in just five minutes.

There was no official account of casualties from the revolt but it appeared that some bloodshed must have resulted.

A policeman was reported shot to death in the Belgrano District of the capital. Identity of his attackers was unknown but they may have been linked with the plotters in the capital city.

Peron had been scheduled to speak at 10 a. m. to leaders of the General Confederation of Labor workers' organization which is the backbone of the Peron regime. An hour after the speech was scheduled for radio broadcast it had not been made.

Tension in Air

An air of quiet tension prevailed in the capital, where anti-aircraft guns were mounted at strategic points, including Casa Rosada, the pink-colored building where Peron has his presidential headquarters.

A government broadcast assured the nation that all was calm and "the situation has been totally dominated."

In Entre Rios Province, north of Buenos Aires, elements of the 3rd Cavalry Regiment rebelled. The government said this revolt was crushed by loyal troops and 300 of the rebels surrendered.

On the outskirts of Cordoba, the big provincial capital in central Argentina, elements in an air force technical school tried to seize control. Fighting raged there, with loyal troops of the 3rd Infantry Regiment launching a dawn attack against the entrenched rebels.

American officials said last spring Mrs. Rickett appeared to have been thoroughly "brainwashed." Rickett is a former U.S. Marine Corps language officer who speaks Chinese and Japanese.

"We have waited four years and three months for this day," said Father Rigney.

He wore an open nightshirt and a crew cut. He was in good health. Both talked briefly at the border with Richard Tomlin, American Red Cross representative, and a reporter permitted into the area as a representative for all news agencies. Rickett praised both the Chinese and American Red Cross.

"I haven't been speaking English for a long time," he said.

He said he confessed to espionage 15 days after he was arrested July 25, 1951—13 months after the start of the Korean war.

"I collected the information and I was guilty," he said in a low, steady voice.

Rickett wore gray slacks and a gray-brown shirt, his hair was untidy but he was clean shaven. He carried a small shaving kit.

"The Chinese government was lenient with me. They could have sentenced me to 10 years but gave me only six and released me after four," he said.

"I'm afraid 10 years is a long time in anybody's life. Considering the situation, I was treated excellently. At all times my treatment was the same as the other Chinese prisoners, but . . . as a foreigner I was given more food."

Asked whether he feels he has been indoctrinated by the Reds, Rickett replied, "I have read the Chinese papers and progressive articles."

American officials said last spring Mrs. Rickett appeared to have been thoroughly "brainwashed." Rickett is a former U.S. Marine Corps language officer who speaks Chinese and Japanese.

"We have waited four years and three months for this day," said Father Rigney.

He wore an open nightshirt and a crew cut. He was in good health. Both talked briefly at the border with Richard Tomlin, American Red Cross representative, and a reporter permitted into the area as a representative for all news agencies. Rickett praised both the Chinese and American Red Cross.

"I haven't been speaking English for a long time," he said.

He said he confessed to espionage 15 days after he was arrested July 25, 1951—13 months after the start of the Korean war.

"I collected the information and I was guilty," he said in a low, steady voice.

Rickett wore gray slacks and a gray-brown shirt, his hair was untidy but he was clean shaven. He carried a small shaving kit.

"The Chinese government was lenient with me. They could have sentenced me to 10 years but gave me only six and released me after four," he said.

"I'm afraid 10 years is a long time in anybody's life. Considering the situation, I was treated excellently. At all times my treatment was the same as the other Chinese prisoners, but . . . as a foreigner I was given more food."

Asked whether he feels he has been indoctrinated by the Reds, Rickett replied, "I have read the Chinese papers and progressive articles."

Proposed Amendment No. 6

PROPOSED constitutional amendment No. 6 which is to be voted on September 20, is the amendment which consolidates the State Corporation Commission and the Public Service Commission into a five-man State corporation commission.

At the present time we have a three-man State Corporation commission with elected members who have supervision over railways, express, telegraph, telephone, transportation and common carriers. In 1941 the state legislature passed a law providing for a three-member appointed Public Utilities commission to regulate gas and electric companies as well as water companies.

The proposed constitutional amendment provides for the consolidation of these two governing bodies into a five-man State Corporation commission. These members are to be "selected"—the amendment does not say elected.

Those favoring the amendment, of course, argue there are two commissions that overlap today. That is true. They argue there should be one commission with full authority over those matters that come under a corporation commission. They argue this amendment gives the legislature the right to set up this agency and to provide laws for it instead of it operating as provided for under the constitution.

Those opposed to the amendment point out first the people are giving up certain right guaranteed to them under the constitution. They emphasize the fact that since the amendment says "selected" instead of "elected" they do not know whether the members will be appointed or whether the people will select their own.

There is also many arguments over the wording which provides for the commission to have regulatory powers and "control" over the utilities. No one objects to them having the authority to regulate but private business and private enterprise is a little tired of government interference with private industry and they do not like the word "control".

This is the amendment over which more arguments are being advanced than any of the others. As it is written now it does not provide what it has been declared the public wants or should have.

We are opposed to the amendment because it does not guarantee the people the right to elect their members and because it says "control". But you go to the polls and vote your own convictions on September 20. That is your American right and privilege.

place the Corporation Commission and Public Service Commission.

Pickett kept up his battle against the amendment, accusing State Sen. T. E. Lusk (D-Eddy), a proponent and one of the authors of the amendment, of "talking out of both sides of his mouth to deceive the people." He also slammed at Simms for refusing to debate the amendment with him.

Pickett issued his heated remark after Lusk, in an Artesia speech, said Pickett was not debating the issues in the amendment. Lusk said Pickett was forgetting the purpose of the amendment and saying, "in effect, that you voters showed poor judgment in sending me and other members of the Legislature to Santa Fe because we sold out to the utilities lobby."

Pickett first lashed out at Lusk in Artesia and then repeated the remarks in a radio speech in Carlsbad.

Lusk's objection to Pickett's use of state money to send out form letters attacking the amendment brought a sharp retort from the outspoken corporation commissioner.

"If it weren't for Sen. Lusk's maneuvering for the utilities lobby in the Senate, I wouldn't have had to send out this letter," he said.

The letter criticized amendment 6 under 10 different headings. Pickett said the people's "right to vote for and elect a Corporation Commission would be

"I Am The Door"

— and NO MAN COMETH TO THE FATHER BUT BY ME." Friend, that's Jesus talking.
You can't go over it, nor under it, nor around it. If you would have comradeship with God, YOU MUST COME IN AT THE DOOR. God offers life to all but he has definite qualifying requirements for us. Your church invites you. The door to God's heart is wide enough to include you. He wants you to knock... the door will open.
