Great New Hurricane Threatens Eastern Coast

Peronista Forces Claim Major Win In City Battles

Builds Strength as Storms Sound

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 17 (AP)—Hurricane Ione, now a great whirlwind 125-mile winds and her center, pushed over the Atlantic at a faster force tonight and caused a threat to the coast line between Jacksonville, Fla., and Cape Fear, N. C.

A stretch of the coast was under a hurricane alert and is to stand by for later advice. The storm pushing into its menacing position, the Weather Service's storm warning center at HILDA THREATENS TAMPICO, Mex., Sept. 17 (AP)—Hilda began to rise here sharp tonight, heralding the approach of Hurricane Hilda, and officials studied the possibility of ordering martial law in the event of a storm strike. The immediate threat to this center was that the tide would be up and inundate much of the city still above water after a weeks record flood.

It began to issue more frequent advisories and bulletins. A 5:30 p. m. EST advisory was to be issued by a special bulletin at 6 p. m. The line south of Jacksonville removed from the alerted area. (Continued on Page Four)

Argain Basket Regular Begins Before Breakfast

The police are looking for the bird who did his Saturday morning shopping early — and acted to pay.

Whoever it was ripped off a bird at the CAH grocery store at N. Sixth st., broke a window pane and crawled in. Own Sam H. Raby noted the broken window, and some blood spots apparently from a cut on the intruder's hand, when he opened the store at 5:45 a. m. Saturday. A check of inventory was easy on the shelves had just been for the weekend shopping.

Here is the "grocery list" the "shopper" apparently used:

- 1 loaf bread
1 jar candy jawbreakers
1 doz. eggs
1 qt. milk, in cartons
1 lb. bologna
1 lb. cheese
1 carton Philip Morris eggs
1 carton Old Golds
1 carton Lucky Strikes
1 carton Camels
1 pack Pall Malls
1 can Carnation milk
1 25 lb. sack flour
1 10 lb. sack flour
and, as the crowning indignity, the early bird took the cash register with which Raby went to beguile the idle time plucking out a few tunes.

Review of its accomplishments for 1955 was issued Saturday by the Artesia Chamber of Commerce — covering new roads, improvements, advertising, special business promotion, civic betterment, industrial union and other categories. A resume was given in furtherance of the chamber's drive for more participation in its activities for this year, the statement said. 203 businessmen and individuals have invested in the chamber regarding furthering road (Continued on Page Four)

Sen. Anderson Comes Out Favoring Amendment No. 6

By The Associated Press
Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., today entered the battle over proposed constitutional amendment number six on the side of its supporters.

He indicated he is not concerned over the one section of the bill that has caused all the fuss. That's a provision that says commissioners would be selected, but doesn't specify how.

"I feel that the legislature can safely be trusted to see that the proper method will be used," he said. "I think it's election. The law will provide for that."

Sen. Dennis Chavez, D-NM and Corporation Commissioner Ingram Pickett have expressed the opposite view. Chavez, in a radio talk earlier (Continued on Page Four)

Tuesday's Election Cost $2 A Vote

By JOHN B. CURTIS

SANTA FE, Sept. 17 (AP)—Legislative representation, utility control and the perennial absentee ballot are major issues on which the people will vote at next Tuesday's constitutional amendment election.

Of the other three amendments, one would permit the Legislature to exercise control over Highway Department finances. The other two proposals both deal with names and control of state institutions.

The pre-election campaign has been typically apathetic, except for the one-man battle of Corporation Commissioner Ingram B. Pickett against No. 6, the utility control amendment. He was joined in opposing No. 6 by Sen. Dennis BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 17 (AP)—A rebel radio broadcast tonight an ultimatum that President Juan D. Peron resign by 6 a.m. Sunday. The rebels gave no other details. But informed sources said the demand presumably was coupled with threats to bombard Buenos Aires and the coastal resort city of Mar del Plata.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 17 (AP)—Buenos Aires blacked out under threat of a rebel naval bombardment tonight as President Peron's loyalist forces claimed a major victory at Cordoba.

Government forces also said they have a combat group near the Bahia Blanca-Puerto Belerano revolt area.

"With the exception of these focal spots of rebellion," said a government broadcast, "the most absolute tranquility reigns."

But the announcement of these provincial developments was paralleled by an order from Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, supreme commander of the loyalists blacking out the Plaza de Mayo area of downtown Buenos Aires. Farmers Miss Fair Cut of Boom—Nixon

WABASH, Ind., Sept. 17 (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon promised "unceasing" effort toward full parity for farmers Saturday because they are not "getting their fair share of America's unprecedented prosperity."

But he told farmers at the National Plowing Contest the present flexible parity law can't be blamed for declining farm prices. He put the blame on 8 1/2 billion dollars' worth of farm commodity surpluses, and he said they were born of wartime production rates and the former "rigid parity" law.

He accused administration opponents of making a "political football" out of the farm price issue.

"It is time to talk sense on the farm issue and to stop the demagoguery," Nixon told the big farm crowd after congratulating the two national plowing champions.

"There has been too much of the tendency in recent months to make a political football out of this issue. The new flexible parity law cannot by any stretch of imagination be held responsible for the drop in prices. Almost two thirds of the drop took place before the Eisenhower administration took over in 1953.

"The cause of the drop in prices is not the law but the market. If (Continued on Page Four)

Soviets Give Back Naval Base Seized From Finns

By STANLEY JOHNSON
MOSCOW, Sept. 17 (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today it is returning the big naval base Porkkala to the Finns because relations between the two countries are now friendly.

Premier Nikolai Bulganin announced the decision to Finnish Premier Urho Kekkonen at the Kremlin which Bulganin said opening of a negotiation session in the hoped would result in extending the Soviet-Finnish friendship treaty of 1948. Kekkonen's response indicated the Finns will agree.

Bulganin said Russia will withdraw its forces from the Porkkala area.

The Soviet Foreign Minister told reporters about it at a news conference.

Hango, Finland's other naval and military base on the Baltic Sea at the mouth of the Gulf of Finland, was leased to Russia after Finland's 1939-40 defensive war against the Soviet Union. The Russians took over the 45-square mile area on a 30-year lease but evacuated it in 1941 when the Germans turned on them in repudiation of their nonaggression pact.

In 1944, after the Soviet-Finnish armistice, the Soviet Union gave up its lease on Hango in exchange for a 50-year lease on Porkkala, a 20-mile long strip from four to 10 miles wide, 20 miles southwest of Finland's capital Helsinki.

The Porkkala lease was ratified in the peace treaties made at Paris in 1947. A year later, the Soviet Union and Finland signed a treaty of friendship.

The postwar years have been marked by ups and downs in relationships but Finland kept paying hundreds of millions in reparations to the Soviet Union and kept asking for return of areas in the Karelian Peninsula occupied by the Russians.

Bulganin said the Soviet Union wants to extend the friendship treaty and because of the favorable prospects for future development of friendly relations, the Soviet Union wanted to return the base. "The declaration on Porkkala fills our hearts and the hearts of the Finnish people with great joy," Kekkonen answered.

Victories By Tigers, Fort Sumner Change Grid Scene

By ROBERT GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A couple of down South New Mexico high school football teams are setting themselves up as potential kingpins with non-conference victories over opposition from higher classifications.

Alamogordo in Class A and Fort Sumner in Class B drew the big attention in Friday night play, kicking off Artesia and New Mexico Military, respectively.

The Alamogordo victory, at least, came as a surprise—both to Artesia and the rest of the state. The Eddy County Bulldogs had entered the game at least slight favorites, but came out thoroughly convinced by a skilled and opportunity-grabbing crew of Tigers.

Otherwise around the state, a couple of long losing strings came to an end, the Class AA boss picked up right where it left off last year and the state's longest winning string stretched out to 24 in a row.

Dosage of Upsets

The extra-heavy schedule, replete with district battles, cross-state competition and the usual dosage of upsets, had more angles than Route 66.

But the big game was the Alamogordo-Artesia fust. Alamogordo, the toast of Class A, and Artesia, the brightest star on the East Side's big school lineup, had posted the most impressive first game scores the week before.

Artesia, however, held an edge. But the Bulldogs fumbled a few times in the first quarter against Alamogordo, the Tigers converted both into touchdowns and played on even footing from then on, taking a 21-6 decision. Ernie Cofield scored a pair of the Alamogordo touchdowns.

Fort Sumner gained stature in Class B with its second straight victory over a Class A team. The foxes got NMMI 32-0 and the Cadets didn't even come close to scoring.

Highlands of Albuquerque, looking for a repetition of last year's state championship, was in convincing form in trimming St. Mary's 42-0 in a backyard brawl. Bob Crandall and Van Lewing each got a pair of touchdowns for the Hornets.

Hobbs Wins One

Two of the happiest teams were Hobbs and Hatch, each brought to a close losing strings that stretched far, far too long.

Hobbs won its first game in 14 starts by taking Duncan, Okla., 9-7. Ronald Price got the winning touchdown in the last quarter, capping a 39 yard march with a one-yard smash.

Hatch won its first game in two years by stopping the Las Cruces "B" team, 7-6.

Gadsden of Anthony, two-time Class A champion, got started on what its fans hope is another banner season. The Panthers won their 24th straight game with a 13-7 decision over Deming in a District 3-A battle.

Probably the other outstanding district game was Tularosa's 47-7 conquest of Hot Springs in 4B. It was Tularosa's second straight district victory.

Among the big schools, things were on a strictly so-so basis.

Farmingington unceremoniously stomped Santa Fe 20-0 in the big schools' first district game of the year, a 1AA battle.

Roswell, Carlsbad Lose

Roswell and Carlsbad, however, weren't so happy. Both took their licks from teams from the El Paso area. Roswell was edged out 14-13 by Ysleta, while Carlsbad took it on the nose for the second straight week—14-0 by El Paso.

Clovis managed to come up with a hard fought 18-12 decision over Tucuman.

In Class A, a host of district games claimed the spotlight. Los Alamos came up with a convincing display in winning a 30-12 District 2A battle with Raton. Bill Hayes returned a pass for 91 yards and scored two runs of nine yards each to pace Los Alamos.

The other district games saw Socorro shut out Belen 21-0 in 1A, and Portales paste Lovington 25-6 in 4A. Western of Silver City came up with a nice display in romping past Duncan, Ariz., 25-13.

Rounding out the rest of the hefty schedule in a hurry, St. Mike's walloped Las Vegas 36-13, Holy Trinity of Trinidad, Colo., beat Clayton 18-0, Espanola beat Los Lunas 40-6, Taos outlasted Immaculate Conception 26-12, Cathedral of Gallup beat Holbrook, Ariz., 12-6.

Grants won a District 1B contest from Fort Wingate 13-0. El Rito stopped Our Lady of Sorrows 18-6 in District 2B, Springer won from Roy 14-7, Jal stomped Carrizozo 34-14, Santa Rosa shut out Melrose 19-0. Eunice beat Fabens, Tex., 6-0, Clifton, Ariz., punished Lordsburg 14-0.

Central of Kirtland won from Ignacio, Colo., 28-0, Chama got past Pagosa, Colo., 38-9. Captain beat Estancia 12-6, Corona won from Vaughn 18-0 and Ruidoso stopped the Hobbs "B" team 41-0.

Artesia, however, held an edge. But the Bulldogs fumbled a few times in the first quarter against Alamogordo, the Tigers converted both into touchdowns and played on even footing from then on, taking a 21-6 decision. Ernie Cofield scored a pair of the Alamogordo touchdowns.

Fort Sumner gained stature in Class B with its second straight victory over a Class A team. The foxes got NMMI 32-0 and the Cadets didn't even come close to scoring.

Pitt Storms From Behind to Nip California Bears By 27-7 Score

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17 (AP)—Fullback Bob Grier and third string halfback Dick Bowen and a blazing sun took the steam out of California today and enabled Pitt to storm from behind for a 27-7 victory over the Bears, with three touchdowns in the final period in an inter-sectional football battle.

Bowen, a 196-pound sophomore from nearby White Oak, Pa., and Grier, a towering senior from Massillon, Ohio, each scored twice. Bowen took a six-yard heave from quarterback Corney Salvaterra for one score and raced eight yards in the final period for another. Grier plunged over from the 1 in the second quarter and scooted 32 yards in the final period.

The Bears scored their lone touchdown in the first 3½ minutes of the game after a fumble by Grier on California's 45. Four plays later Hugh Maguire, a second string quarterback and a surprise starter, passed 30 yards to Bill Vallotton for the touchdown. Vallotton recovered the fumble by Grier. Nick Poppin converted.

A shirt-sleeved crowd of 34,976 saw the Panthers, making their 1955 debut under new coach, Johnny Michelosen outplay the Bears in every department. The heat—92 degrees—and the humidity—44 per cent—made the field comparable to a steam cabinet.

Terps Narrowly Avert Disaster

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 17 (AP)—Batting with determined fury after giving up a 13-point lead the first half, Missouri's Tigers came within a cat's whisker of upsetting Maryland's nationally rated Terps in an inter-sectional football opener today. Maryland won, 13-12.

Bob Laughtery's perfect placekick after Maryland's first touchdown midway in the opening period proved the winning margin. Maryland swept 64 yards for the touchdown with halfback Ed Vereb scooting the last 14.

Final Tallies Show Jordan Batting King

By The Associated Press

Tom Jordan, the Artesia veteran, ranked up most of the honors in Longhorn League batting.

Final averages show Jordan led the circuit in hitting with a great 407—one of the highest averages in baseball; topped in hits with 221, total bases with 378, doubles with 69 and runs batted in with 159.

It was one of the finest seasons any player ever had.

Alamogordo Tigers Claw Bulldogs In Stunning 21-6 Upset

Bratcher Rips Lone TD; Fumbles Hurt

Over-touted Bulldog limped from Alamogordo Friday with claw marks all over his back after coming out on the short end of a battle with an undersized speedy Tiger.

The game began slightly before the half, due to injuries to at least three men, the Artesia Bulldogs failed to live up to pre-game predictions as the light, but speedy Alamogordo Tigers mauled them.

One of those nights that Bulldogs should have stood at attention in their kennels. Nothing happened to the Bulldogs until the Artesia quarterback Max Bratcher was shaken up early in the first quarter but Coach Reese kept him in despite some obvious miscalls by the undersized field strategist.

For much of the game, it was a case of the Bulldogs being the hunted, bruising Clyde Bratcher to hold the collapsing Artesia line together by sheer will and brawn. Bratcher played outstanding football on the defense as linebaker and broke through for the only gains that the Bulldogs made on the ground.

BULLDOGS' LONE TALLY is made by fullback Clyde Bratcher, whose 36 numeral can be seen in the midst of this player scramble. With less than a foot to go, Bratcher took the ball on the first play in the fourth quarter and plunged over the Tigers' goal line. His play was vigorous and consistent in an otherwise spotty game by the Bulldogs. (Advocate Photo)

Lobos Falter To Minimum 14-7 Victory Over New Mexico A&M

By ROBERT GREEN

ALBUQUERQUE, Sept. 17 (AP)—The New Mexico Lobos staggered through to an unimpressive 14-7 victory over New Mexico A&M in both teams' season opener tonight.

Gene Mazzei had a hand in both Lobo touchdowns, passing 13 yards for the first to John Barefoot and plunging one yard for the other. The Aggies, freshman-laden and short on reserves, began witting in the third quarter when the Lobos mounted a couple of good though unproductive drives.

In the fourth, however, the Aggies came back with a 38-yard march sparked by some good passing by Vernon Duenas and capped by Gary Walten's two-yard plunge.

New Mexico, a slight favorite, was plagued throughout the game by fumbles and intercepted passes. Two potential Lobo drives, which ended on the ten and the one, were halted by penalties.

It was largely a good example of the opening game jitters by both teams. Confused plays, off-side penalties and unnecessary infractions were the order of the day.

New Mexico's first touchdown came at the end of a 58-yard drive. Mazzeis passing was instrumental. He connected for 10 yards to Richard Drake and to Barefoot for 12 in the march. The scoring pass was received on the goal line and Barefoot was tackled into the end zone.

Aggie inexperience led to New Mexico's second score.

The Aggies fumbled on their own one and Jimmy Juarez recovered for New Mexico. Mazzei covered through right guard for the touchdown on the next play. Porky Leyva was good on both conversions.

A Lobo fumble, ironically, led to the Aggie long touchdown. Bill Floyd recovered for the Aggies on New Mexico's 38. Duenas passed six yards to Milton Hudson and a few plays later found Joe Kelley on a 24-yard toss that carried to the three. One play later Walton scored.

Second Half Scoreless

The Bulldogs held the Tigers offense in the second half despite the fact that most of the game was in Artesia's territory. It was another fumble—this time by the Tigers—that set up the Bulldogs' lone scoring drive.

In the third quarter, Bratcher was nailed behind his line of scrimmage for an 8-yard loss on down 28. Ratliff lifted a high punt and Long raced down in time to score on a Tiger fumble and the Bulldogs again took possession of the ball on the Alamogordo 20.

The Bulldogs, with Long doing most of the carrying, rammed down the Tiger one-foot line as the game ended the third quarter. On the first play of the final period, Bratcher rammed off-guard into the line. But a bad pass from center saw the ball sail over Ratliff's head, ended any chance of a score. For the remainder of the game, Artesia had possession of the ball just twice and lost it once of those on a fumble. The Tiger run put a halt to a 60-yard drive that had started on down 15 and gone to the Bulldog 20.

Very little went right for the Bulldogs throughout the game. In for Belvin, was kneed in the second quarter and the ordinarily fast back never able to get down under Ratliff's passes. Ratliff tried to convert 30 times but never found the end zone as he consistently overthrew his pass receivers.

Tigers attempted 14 passes completed two of them for a net of 26 yards.

Fake Plays Result in Two TDs As Razorbacks Beat Tulsa, 21-6

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 17 (AP)—Two well-executed fakes by quarterback George Walker were the key factors in two spectacular touchdowns—a 64-yard run by Henry Moore and a 34-yard pass play—as the University of Arkansas down the Tulsa football team 21-6 here today.

After Tulsa had taken a 6-0 lead, and had pressed constantly in the first quarter, fullback Moore dashed through the center of the line on a delayed play, broke into the clear and outran Tulsa halfback Kenny Kmet to the goal. The long run, plus the first of Walker's three conversions, put Arkansas ahead 7-6.

Arkansas scored again in the third quarter—primarily because of a stout defense. Walker tossed a scoring pass to halfback Ronnie Underwood after Arkansas had recovered a Tulsa fumble.

Texas Tech, In Shattering Upset, Whips Texas, 20-14

AUSTIN, Sept. 17 (AP)—Crafty quarterbacking by Jack Kirkpatrick and bruising blocking in the line brought Texas Tech a tradition-shattering, upset football victory over Texas tonight 20-14.

Texas, after three quarters of fumbling frustration, made a driving finish that had the crowd of 43,000 in an uproar as it appeared possible the Longhorns might avert the first loss suffered by a Texas team in a season home opener.

But the Red Raiders, relishing the scent of victory that will back their demand for entry into Southwest Conference membership, snuffed out the threat with its third touchdown just two and a half minutes before the final gun. The triumph also smashed another tradition for Texas which had never lost to Tech in seven previous games.

Flying on the passing of a fourth string quarterback, sophomore Joe Clements of Huntsville, Texas—closed the gap to 20-14 with 35 seconds remaining. It didn't have a chance to get possession of the ball again.

The glory of scoring the first two Tech touchdowns went to right half Don Schmidt, and it appeared that might be all the Red Raiders would need as the score stood 13-0 going into the final period.

Passing up his first two touchdowns, most of the last quarter, Coach Ed Price called on his best passer, Dick Miller and Clement.

Miller connected on three passes to move the Longhorns from their 29 to the Tech 3. Then ace sophomore quarterback Walt Fendron came back in and scored on a keeper. He kicked the point to make it 7-13.

Texas tried a fourth-down pass from its own 19 that failed, and that paved the way for the decisive Tech tally.

Ronnie Herr plunged over from the 1 after Kirkpatrick had tossed to Pat Hartsfield for 13.

The final Texas score came on an 8-yard pass from Clements to Allen Ernst.

Uclans Down Texas A&M's Gridmen, 21-0

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Halfback Ronnie Knox made his debut as a varsity football player a highly successful one but whether his UCLA teammates will go on to the top of the heap in the nation remained a debatable matter today.

UCLA got off to a 21-0 victory over a green, young but spirited Texas A&M outfit Friday night and the result:

Twenty-year-old Knox, who starred for three high schools in three years, enrolled at California and then, after a freshman year, aroused a storm of discussion when he transferred to UCLA, merely three touchdowns passes.

The young man, 6-1, 195 pounds, remained "second string" tailback for Coach Red Sanders' single wing machine just three minutes.

He proceeded to complete six out of eight passes for 83 yards and 18 points and carry the ball six times for 41 yards and a respectable average of 6.83.

Georgia Tech Lucky to Win Miami Opener

ATLANTA, Sept. 17 (AP)—Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets, combining a healthy helping of luck with typical speed and smartness, whipped powerful Miami 14-6 today in a corking season opening football headliner.

Tech turned a fair catch interference ruling into a 48-yard touchdown run by halfback Paul Rotenberry and an intercepted pass into a 25-yard scoring gallop by center Jimmy Morris. A sellout crowd of 40,000 and TV viewers watched the nation's first color football telecast.

Except for those two examples of cash-in-the-breaks football, Miami's Hurricanes dominated the game with their ground-gulping "drive" series, running more than twice as many plays as Tech.

Miami went into the game rated 9th nationally in the Associated Press pre-season poll. Tech was ranked 10th.

TCU Devastates Jayhawks, 47-14; Records Tumble

FORT WORTH, Sept. 17 (AP)—Jim Swink shocked Kansas with touchdown runs of 80 and 46 yards and his eager beaver mates helped him bring Texas Christian a smashing 47-14 victory tonight.

The handsome junior, idol of the lobby-sovereign and campus favorites of all the girls, was the most devastating back TCU ever had placed on the gridiron. He carried the ball only eight times but made 137 yards and he snared a pass and ran it back 46 for a score.

His 80-yard touchdown sprint was the longest run from scrimmage ever made by a Texas Christian football player.

The beating TCU administered before 25,000 fans tonight was the second worst it ever has handed Kansas in the 13 years the teams have been meeting. The worst was 41-6 in 1942.

The hapless Jayhawks reeled under their seventeenth straight defeat.

LSU-Kentucky

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 17 (AP)—Louisiana State University, showing off a new coach, out-hustled, outplayed and outscored mighty Kentucky 19-7 tonight in the season's football opener for both squads.

Baylor Snaps Up H-S Miscues

WACO, Sept. 17 (AP)—Baylor's Bears turned four Hardin-Simmons miscues into four second half touchdowns tonight to slam down Coach Sammy Baugh's charges 35 to 7 in a football season opener.

A shirtsleeve crowd of 20,000 watched in awe for two periods while the underdog Hardin-Simmons team fought Southwest Conference Baylor to a 7-7 stand off. It was the famous Baugh's debut as a headcoach.

Baylor, with stronger line and reserves, broke it open early in the second half, turning a 23-yard pass interference penalty and 33-yard run by Bob Peters into a third period score. Quarterback Bob Jones went over from the one.

Baylor scores in the fourth period came on Weldon Holley's three yard dash; Holley again from the four; fullback Reuben Sage from the one. Conversions were made by Dennell Berry, and Oliver, two.

Late Bulletins

ROSWELL, Sept. 17 (AP)—San Angelo Colts took their third victory in a row as they beat the Roswell Rockets 6-2 tonight to move within one game of the Longhorn League playoff championship. Orville McElrath set the Rockets down on six hits and whiffed nine. Loser was George Payte, who was relieved in the eighth by Dean Franks.

Cowboys Defeat Wildcats, 38-20

MANHATTAN, Kan., Sept. 17 (AP)—Taking advantage of Kansas State miscues, Wyoming University grabbed three fourth-quarter touchdowns to break a 20-20 tie and defeat the favored Wildcats 38-20 today.

Wyoming's expected aerial attack did not materialize, but the Cowboys outrushed the Wildcats 297 yards to 117 and managed 16 first downs to the Cats' 9.

Tulane Rallies

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 17 (AP)—Gene Newton, a deft 165-pound sophomore quarterback, injected fire into a sagging Tulane offense today, passing for a first quarter touchdown and guiding two scoring drives in the third for a 20-7 victory over Virginia Military Institute.

Florida Delivers

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 17 (AP)—Jackie Simpson scooted the full 100-yard length of the football field with an intercepted pass and went 46 yards on another scoring run as Florida defeated Mississippi State 20-14 in a Southeastern conference opener today.

DU-Iowa State

AMES, Iowa, Sept. 17 (AP)—Halfback Max Wilsey raced 63 yards for a fourth quarter touchdown to clinch a 19-7 victory for Denver University over Iowa State today in the opening football game for both teams. The contest was played in 90-degree temperatures.

NMWC Victors

SILVER CITY, Sept. 17 (AP)—New Mexico Western College romped over the independent West Texas Ramblers of El Paso 41-7 here tonight.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Dear Customer:

Considerable argument has arisen as to the necessity of installing new type Antennas, or larger antennas when KSWs-TV moves their station approximately 43 miles East of Roswell.

No one knows for certain just what the condition will be when the station is moved, and we want to recommend that you do nothing about changing your antenna until they do move, if you are getting a good picture now. However, there are many antenna installations in and around Artesia being used now that are not giving you satisfactory service, either because of poor installation, or inadequate antenna in the first place. If your picture is not as good as you think it should be, it could be your TV set, or your antenna. Only Matched Antennas installed to the requirements of your set can give you maximum performance, and prolong the life of your TV set.

We make this free offer to the public of Artesia and close district. We will check your antenna installation and test its power and your TV set at no cost to you. We will suggest and make recommendations if we think it necessary, to give you better performance, at no obligation to you.

Charles W. Clem, our Service Engineer, has had 15 years experience in installing matched antennas, to get the best performance from your set. He is thoroughly trained in this kind of work and you will be thoroughly satisfied with his recommendations.

We realize that our free offer will take lots of our time and considerable expense will be involved, but this is our chance to get acquainted with you and to show you what can be accomplished with a proper antenna installation.

Our inspections will be made in the order of their receipt of your call to our shop. Telephone SH 6-3431 and have your antenna checked as soon as possible. We anticipate several hundred inspections, and about two weeks will be needed to take care of our offer. Please call us promptly and get your name in line.

Proposed Amendments

THE voters of New Mexico will go to the polls on September 20 to ballot on some six constitutional amendments—that is some of them will go. If we do not vote any better on September 20 than we have voted in the past in constitutional amendment elections, we will set an all time low for the small number of votes cast.

But all six of those proposed constitutional amendments are to change the constitution. They take away certain rights that exist today. In some cases they probably mean improvement and in others they do not meet the needs of the people. After all, we vote on constitutional amendments to meet the need of the people and not to serve the politicians and the office holders.

Proposed constitutional amendment No. 1 provides increasing the membership of the house. It provides for re-appointing of the members to make it more equal and to provide at least one member from each county. That is fine but it should go a step farther and make it mandatory that the legislature carry out re-appointing after each federal census when there is an increase in population, but it doesn't.

Proposed amendment No. 2 provides for absentee voting but this amendment will only carry providing there is a two-thirds majority of the voters in each county cast for it and three-fourths over the entire state. We need to provide such a provision. We are one of two states in the nation that do not provide an absentee ballot today.

Proposed amendment No. 3 curtails the present powers of the state highway commission and provides for the commission spending money provided by the legislature be responsible to the legislature and to the governor. Today the commission is independent and can do as it pleases. It means more politics in highway building if the amendment passes but it also places the highway commission back in the hands of the representatives of the people.

Amendment No. 4 calls for five member bipartisan boards to be named by the governor to supervise the institutions of the state. It also places the policy making for the state institutions in the hands of the legislature, which provides the funds for their operation.

Proposed Constitutional amendment No. 5 provides for the changing of the name of two state institutions. It would change the name of New Mexico Insane Asylum to New Mexico State Hospital and New Mexico Reform School to New Mexico Boys' School.

Proposed constitutional amendment No. 6, of course, is the most controversial of all of the six amendments. This is the amendment that provides for abolishing the three - man State Corporation commission and the three - member Public Service commission and the creating of a five-member State Corporation commission.

The amendment would probably be a good one if it provided for the electing of the five members of the State Corporation commission but it doesn't. It merely says the members are to be "selected" and not "elected".

The amendment also, besides granting regulatory power to the new commission provides for "control" over utilities. Most people believe that there is too much government control now over private business.

But the question, of course, is one for the voter to decide. We are definitely opposed to amendment No. 6; we are not too sympathetic toward amendment No. 1; we favor No. 2; we believe that No. 3 is a good amendment because of the attitude displayed recently by the highway commission since it was granted too much authority; we favor amendments No. 4 and 5.

But we are not trying to influence anyone. It is your right and privilege for you to go to the polls and vote your convictions and we are pleading for you to do exactly that.

TO HIRE CIVILIANS

Most of the openings will be in aircraft maintenance. There is also a need for clerical help. The program is part of nationwide "Operation Homefront," designed to help fill shortages with civilians.

"Nearer home, the new Urban project is virtually completed and has not only improved the highway itself, but has led to extensive building and remodeling all along its length. Then too, a 4-mile stretch south of Artesia, and a 10-mile section north of town are scheduled for complete rebuilding in the near future. All of these projects were the result of ideas and planning of the Chamber of Commerce.

"The 100 highway signs advertising Artesia took a lot of weekends for several tourist committee members, as well as a few blisters to dig 200 postholes and put up those signs. But now Artesia is well advertised, for at least 60 to 100 miles in every direction.

that an emergency exists and a special session of the Legislature should be called to consider legislation as set forth here."

His call asked legislators to consider:

1. Appropriate money to the State Welfare Department by way of the general fund.

2. Amend the law to provide for the method and manner of prosecuting traffic violations and the appearance of traffic violators in court.

3. Amend the law to provide for disposition of juvenile delinquents committed to the Springer Industrial School and also provide for disposition of juvenile traffic offenders.

4. Re-enact the law creating the Fire Protection Fund and providing for distribution of such fund, and creating classes of business from which the fund is derived. The law was inadvertently repealed by the last Legislature.

5. Make an appropriation to the State Board of Finance emergency fund. Asked for is $200,000 to replenish the fund after loans depleted it.

6. Appropriate money from the Public School Equalization Fund to the Welfare Department to pay for distribution of surplus commodities for the school lunch program. The amount asked will be $55,000.

7. Appropriate money to increase the state police 10 more men. An appropriation of about $88,000 the first year and $123,000 the second fiscal year will be asked.

8. Amend the law to restore the provision allowing the deduction of allowances for trade-ins on the purchase of tangible personal property before computing tax duty. Simms said the law wasn't meant to be eliminated by the last Legislature.

9. Appropriate money to pay the cost of a special session.

Asks Interim Study
For the welfare situation, Simms asked for laws creating an interim committee of the Legislature to study the department and make recommendations for the next regular session, amendment of the law to provide for inspection and publication of welfare rolls, adoption of a lien law and a type of relative responsibility law.

Additional revenues should be provided from these sources, Simms said in his call:

The severance tax on uranium and other fissionable materials; the state income tax, both corporate and personal; the gift tax; the parimutuel tax on horse racing and a type of withholding provision law on income taxes.

Simms said he did not expect to get some of the items listed through the Legislature, including raising of personal and corporate income taxes. "I despair of getting income tax raises through, but thought I'd include it anyway," was the way he put it.

Surprise Items
Several of the items listed in his call came as a surprise. The requested law to provide for the disposition of juvenile delinquents for example.

The subject was discussed by both Dist. Judge C. C. McCulloh and Albuquerque Dist. Atty. John Murphy in speeches to the state convention of police and sheriffs at Farmington this week. Both said changes should be made in the law.

Simms said the problem is that has been equally active. Several new industries have been contacted, and statistical information on Artesia has been sent to interested parties on the average of two or three times a month. New Potash developments as well as industries using local raw materials have been contacted regularly, and help has been given them constantly.

"Agriculture, the basic industry of the city, was not forgotten during disbursement of those funds invested by businessmen last year. Special committees assisted in conducting the annual Cotton Day, while other members of the Chamber were working hard on the establishment of the Pecos Valley Experimental Farm. Still other groups worked on water conservation, flood control, and Farm to Market roads.

"All these things, plus an array of miscellaneous items such as administration, publicity, development of a directory service, solicitation control, Christmas promotions and other special events, each required their share of work and money. All of these projects, plus many more, are on the agenda for the coming year. They, too, will require a substantial investment.

"These accomplishments are signs only of a growing city. And as the city grows, so must the Chamber of Commerce. The need for more members and more investments is being met in two ways. First of all, the present investors in the Chamber are being asked to increase their investment for this year by about 15 per cent.

"Second, a campaign is now under way to acquaint all Artesians with the benefits to be had by working together, and then to invite those not now investing in the Chamber to do so. The actual contacting of these prospective investors will begin September 26th under the generalship of C. G. Clark, chairman of the Round-up Club. Four teams of 10 men each will do the contact work and each team will be captained by a member of the Round-up group.

M. M. Beasley, John Lippis Now Partners

A new partnership of highly skilled automobile mechanics to be known as Beasley & Lippis, operating the old H. & H. Garage at 1208 S. First st. beginning Monday, was announced today.

The partners, both well known in Artesia, are Marshall M. Beasley and John Lippis. Beasley has been operating at the location for about two months. With the addition of Lippis, the firm will be able to do fast, efficient repair work of all kinds on autos, trucks and tractors.

Beasley & Lippis will do motor overhauls and tuneups, brake, steering mechanism and transmission and rear end work, as well as generator, starter and other electrical reconditioning and repairs. They have both electrical and acetylene welding equipment and will do all kinds of welding.

Marshall Beasley has been an auto mechanic for over a score of years, 10 of them here in Artesia. He and his wife live at 817 S. Fourth st. Their two daughters are married.

Lippis has worked as a mechanic in Artesia the last six years. Previously, he did the same type work for three years in California and before that spent nine years in the Marine Corps. He saw service in the South Pacific and part of his duties were mechanical repairing. He lives at 1119 S. Rose-lawn ave. with his wife and two sons, 7 and 9.

John invites all his friends to come around and inspect the garage and see what Beasley & Lippis are set up to do.

The present law does not allow Springer to send incorrigibles to prison. It provides that boys so judged must be returned to the committing judge.

The Springer board and many law enforcement officials are particularly anxious about this, the governor said, "even though it has not aroused the talk some other things have."

He cited the case of some juveniles held for a period in Raton jail because the school considered them incorrigibles and was attempting to find some way to get rid of them.

The law would give the Springer board the right, at its discretion, to farm out boys to prison, Simms said.

Bills Prepared
Simms said he has prepared suggested bills on all of the items listed except the withholding provision. He said these are being sent to lawmakers. Many individual solons, of course, have prepared bills on several of the topics.

The governor emphasized that new revenues to the Welfare Department, designed to restore benefit payments, slated April 1, will go to the general fund and not be earmarked.

On the gift tax proposal, Simms said it would not affect many people since there is a $3,000 exemption. "Not many people hand out gifts that cost more than $3,000," he said.

Income tax brackets would be revised and a raise authorized if legislation passes.

Simms said the bill he is suggesting for a relative responsibility law would require children only to support parents. Welfare Director Murray Hintz has declared he is against such a law on grounds it would cost so much to administer. Simms said, however, he included it because so many legislators demanded it in their replies to his questionnaire.

The governor had previous announced he favored doing away with the five-day grace period allowed out of state traffic violators.

$300,000 to Board
Simms said he is asking for $300,000 to be appropriated to the State Finance Board in debt certificates. He said the Springer fire, Khapra Bettle control and polio vaccine funds depleted the fund and the Finance Board has had many requests for loans of various amounts.

The $55,000 for the distribution of surplus commodities for the school lunch program will come from the school equalization fund. The governor said education leaders had indicated they would not protest this.

At the Welfare board's last meeting, members served notice they were not paying for such distribution after December. School Supt. Georgia Lusk said she did not have the money in her budget and asked Simms to include it in his call.

Simms said he believed an increase in the state police force was a necessity "especially in view of the traffic situation."

He said it costs between $8,000-$10,000 for each patrolman annually, making it necessary to ask for about $80,000 this year and $123,000 next year to add 10 more to the force.

Included in the suggested changes in the juvenile delinquent law is a proposed bill which would set up procedures for arrest of juveniles under 21. Simms said 16 but authorities cannot bring them before peace justices for moving traffic violations.

The governor said he pared the list of items suggested—which amounted to more than 100—down to the nine. He said he hoped the Legislature would not stay in session too long and said he had heard some mention of a week-long session, ending at Saturday noon.

Red-

in solitary confinement, he said. A short time after he was freed, Buol's wife, Sue, raced into his arms. "Doesn't he look wonderful?" she cried. They had been married six months when Buol was arrested by the Chinese Communists on the Mengtze airstrip 140 miles south of Kunming in January, 1950.

Buol, who was a Marine pilot in World War II, was operations officer for the American-owned Civil Air Transport at the time. The Reds accused him of "assisting Chiang Kai-Shek's brigands to wage civil war against the Chinese people."

The Communists also released Bishop Alphonse Ferroni, 63, an Italian who said he had been a prisoner since 1951. He was so weak he had to be carried across the Shumchun River border. His stick-like arms bore marks of iron cuffs. But he told fellow priests "my mind is my own." He signed no confessions, he said.

Bishop Ferroni said six or seven Americans had boarded his train at Hankow and might have reached Canton, 80 miles from Hong Kong. Negotiations at Geneva by U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson got the promise of immediate release of 10 American civilians of 41 held in China. Twelve of the 41 not actually under arrest were declared free to go when they chose. The other 19 may appeal to Britain's charge d'affaires in Peiping to help them get out.

Moral III Treatment
Buol told American and British officials who welcomed him but "morally I was treated badly" but that he had not been treated too badly physically during his imprisonment.

"I want to express my thanks and appreciation to everyone, large and small, who contributed toward the amelioration of conditions and to all those responsible for my release," he said. "I want to return to the United States as soon as possible."

His wife, who had stayed in the Far East to work for his release—except for one trip last year to Geneva, where she tried to intercede with Red China Premier Chou Enlai—saw him an hour and 30 minutes after his release. He then had a fresh haircut and shave.

"Honey! Bob! You look wonderful," she cried. "I want to take you home and dress you." He was wearing a ragged sports shirt and faded shorts.

Buol said he was given a "trial" last Sunday at Chungking where he had to write a "confession." He said the Chinese told him "it was the only means of getting out." He also said he "confessed" about the activities of his airline after an intensive interrogation in January 1951.

Behind the vacated piers along Buenos Aires' waterfront, artillery batteries watched and waited. And on the Plaza de Mayo, on which Government House fronts, anti-aircraft gun crews stood vigil beside weapons mounted soon after the rebellion flamed Friday. Police shooed out all civilians and clamped a tight cordon around the plaza, scene of the bloodiest bombardment of the June 16 naval-air revolt against Peron.

we want to get at the cause of lower prices, we must find a way to reduce the surplus.

"On the production front, a new flexible parity formula has been adopted, so farmers will not be encouraged to grow crops already in surplus. On the consumption front, we are finding new markets for farm products."

"Nixon recalled that President Eisenhower, in a campaign speech at the 1952 National Plowing Contest at Kasson, Minn., promised farmers full parity.

"That was the position of the President in 1952, it is his position now," Nixon stated. "And the farmers of America can be sure that he and everybody in his administration are working unceasingly toward the goal of carrying out the President's commitment that the farmers should receive full parity in the market place."

In a news conference before his Washab speech, Nixon told reporters the administration's long-range farm program is:

1. Full parity in the market place for farmers.

2. Maximum freedom for farmers from government controls.

3. An ever-increasing standard of living for farmers and the American people.

area. Earlier Daytona Beach, Fla., had been included. Ione was centered at 5 p. m. EST at latitude 27.5 north, longitude 74.0 west, or 400 miles east of Vero Beach, Fla. It was moving toward the northwest at 12 miles an hour.

Maximum 125-mile winds are blowing over a small area near the center, but winds of hurricane force—75 miles an hour or higher—extend 60 to 80 miles in all directions from the center. Gales reach outward 275 miles toward the northeast and 160 miles southwest of the center.

A high pressure system to the north blocked any turn for Ione for the next 12 to 18 hours, and by the words of one forecaster, "by that time it will be too late for the hurricane to miss some part of the alerted area."

Ione continued to grow in size, and possibly will increase the velocity of winds thundering around the center.

sea in their battle to drive Juan Domingo Peron from the presidential office he has held since 1946. The rebels proclaimed a blockade of Argentina's coast.

Though the government has condemned the navy is loyal, Adm. Juan F. Rojas said in a rebel declaration:

"All the fleet heads toward Buenos Aires. Triumph is near for the good of the fatherland and its institutions."

Across the broad River Plate, Rio dela Plata—in Montevideo, Uruguay, an authoritative source said early Saturday night that the rebel warships were preparing to bombard Buenos Aires within a few hours.

Nine small ships and a submarine of the navy fleet waited all day near Montevideo, the informant said, to join forces with the more powerful and heavily gunned Atlantic fleet.

Behind the vacated piers along Buenos Aires' waterfront, artillery batteries watched and waited. And on the Plaza de Mayo, on which Government House fronts, anti-aircraft gun crews stood vigil beside weapons mounted soon after the rebellion flamed Friday. Police shooed out all civilians and clamped a tight cordon around the plaza, scene of the bloodiest bombardment of the June 16 naval-air revolt against Peron.

Choose Utzinger To Direct Health Workshop Talks

Robert Utzinger, former director of the New Mexico Tuberculosis Assn., will be co-ordinator of the Health Education Workshop which will open at 7 p. m. Monday in the Hermosa school auditorium.

For nurses, teachers and health workers, the workshop will continue on Tuesday and Wednesday nights and will be resumed Sept. 27 and 28. Sponsors are: Artesia public schools, Eastern New Mexico university, State Department of Health, New Mexico Tuberculosis Assn., Tri-County Tuberculosis Assn., New Mexico Traffic Safety Commission and the Artesia P.T.C. Council.

Superintendent of Schools Vernon Mills will welcome those attending as the workshop opens tomorrow night. A film, "Health in Action," will be presented, followed by a discussion forum. Dorothy B. Hacker, nursing consultant for the State Department of Public Health, will speak and there will be another discussion by groups to close the first night's program.

Sen. Anderson-

this week, said the provision would be like a "shotgun in the closet" which the legislature could use any time a commission didn't do as it wished.

Pickett has stoutly maintained that passage of the amendment would mean appointive commissioners.

Both Chavez and Anderson say they favor the other five amendments.

Anderson said today he favored amendment six "because the burden of proof should be upon the utilities, not the state, and the amendment will help to put them there."

He added, "I intend to vote for all six amendments in Tuesday elections. As a Democrat, I feel the party should live up to its campaign pledges and hence should support all the amendments."

Earlier today, Pickett cited to public service commissioners as said their appointment shows that appointed officials are not to ones the public wants.

"Two of the present members, he said, were defeated in the Democratic primary when they were candidates for the State Corporation Commission. Later the same candidates were appointed by the governor to the Public Service Commission.

"What better proof does anyone need that the governor's choice for an appointed commission is not the people's choice?"

What's new in toys this year? Well, styles change in toys just as they do in clothing. Take dolls, for example. Dolls used to do nothing but lie still and look dumb. Then along came dolls that could open and close their eyes.

HERE'S WHAT PARIS DESIGNERS OFFER THIS FALL

BALENCIAGA uses rough tweeds, expected to set a trend. This smart tailored suit is in black and yellow tawed, with bloused backline above the short peplum.

THIS DIOR dinner gown is in lustrous white satin orlon, and is an example of the Dior "Y-line." The sheath skirt is broken by a loose midly top.

CASTILLO, a Lanvin designer, chooses lustrous satin orlon for this dining out ensemble. The gown's rich texture offers a contrast to the mink-lined coat.

CHANEL'S three-quarter length jacket is generously trimmed with curly gray lamb fur. Trimming shows off the broadened shoulker, an important detail.

New Mexico Faces 10-Year Boom, NAM Report Predicts

New Mexico today is developing the start of a new 10-year boom, the research staff of the Pacific Southwest Region of the National Association of Manufactur-

The note of caution which went with the prediction was that "the dimensions and the depth of the accelerated progress toward ever steadier work and pay will be profoundly jeopardized by the following factor.

"Government tendencies toward regimentation, inflationary spending policies, excessive personal and corporate taxes, union monopoly demands for such excessive burdens on the economy as the Guaranteed Annual Wages, and depressing effect on the individual spirit of such closed and union shop tactics as infringe upon the right to work, protected in too few states by law."

In releasing the figures on the accompanying chart to show how vast is the prospect for growth in three areas — population, labor force and capital investments needed—the NAM said its note of caution was interjected because of "the evident need for a new era of opportunity emphasis, as opposed to the dead hand of cradle to grave excessive security which, wherever tried, has caused the standard of living to dwindle the minimum, bare security at best, but which usually has led to permanent unemployment and the Government dole for large segments of the population.

"Opportunity rather than dole-fed security must be the emphasis if we are to produce the investment courage to create the vast capital investments needed to buy the tools, equipment and factories to pave the way toward ever steadier work and pay for a higher and higher standard of living," concluded the NAM.

Plastic Whip Up House Seen As Possibility

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Someday you may have a home made mainly of air and plastic, whipped together like a cake right at the building site.

The walls, floors and roof would be made of foamed plastic, full of little air bubbles, giving good insulation at low heating cost.

Inside you could take the bare frames for furniture and upholster them with soft, fluffy plastic material which you sprayed on by yourself.

Predictions of this home of tomorrow came today from Miss Betty Lou Raskin, research associate of the Johns Hopkins University radiation laboratory, in describing present and future marvels from foamed plastics.

Most foamed plastics are familiar plastics chemically treated to expand so they contain thousands of either closed or open cells, or both. The process is the same as whipping up a cake.

They can be made as fluffy as cotton or as rigid as wood and woodlike in appearance, Miss Raskin told the American Chemical Society.

Other types can give you longer-wearing shoe soles and heels, resilient plastic tile floors, sterilizable stuffed toys, and hundreds of other new products. Some are fire-resistant, others resist acids or sunlight, or fungus, others stay supple at arctic temperatures.

Prices are gradually becoming competitive with other synthetics and some natural materials, Miss Raskin said.

Chemical Studies for War Pay Rich Peace Dividends

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Science Reporter

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Chemical science girding for war has brought you great peacetime dividends, from insect control to cancer treatments, a scientist said today.

An unusual account of these benefits, from just one phase of wartime science, was given today to the American Chemical Society by Dr. C. B. Marquand, Army Chemical Corps advisory council, Army Chemical Center, Md.

For years the Chemical Corps has been engaged in intensive studies of weapons for — and defenses against — chemical, biological and radiological warfare, he said.

Many of its discoveries or developments have been put to peacetime use. A partial list, said Dr. Marquand, runs like this:

Aerosol bombs to kill insects or spread shave cream or deodorants or hair lacquer. Drugs for epilepsy turned up in a search for controls of convulsions from exposure to nerve gases. Chemical clues to protect you from accidental exposure to deadly doses of certain insecticides. Paints to keep ship bottoms free of barnacles.

Use of a war gas, chloropicrin, to control soil-borne fungi or bacteria or weeds or as a fumigant in mills, cereal bins and ships. Gas masks to protect against carbon monoxide and tear gas or smoke-threatening firemen.

Flame throwers to kill weeds. Equipment to broadcast "fogs" of insecticides. Sprayers for weed killers or plant-growth regulators, or to dose cattle with DDT. Smoke pots to protect crops from frost.

Studies contributing to development of drugs — based on the wartime poison gas nitrogen mustard — which are helpful against the blood cancer leukemia. Filters to take bacteria from water. Spraying crops from airplanes. A safe method for fumigating ships. A new type of dosimeter to tell you how much radiation you may have been exposed to. Contributions to a vaccine against the dangerous disease anthrax.

The group will meet at the Artesia in Artesia at 1:45 p.m. to attend in a body.

Tiny Creatures in Flooded Dry Lake May Be From 100-Year Eggs

CAMP IRWIN, Calif. (AP) — Tiny, shrimplike creatures springing up in a recently flooded dry lake today brought a trio of scientists to this desert outpost to search for eggs that may be 100 years old.

The leader of the group, Dr. James P. Welsh, Los Angeles State College zoologist, already has about 40 of the small specimens, which thrive only in hot water and look like a throwback to the trilobite, an extinct prehistoric crustacean.

Dr. Welsh will be joined by his colleagues Arthur Lockley and John Reardon of Los Angeles State and Army researchers in the investigation of Bicycle Dry Lake and its riddle of the reborn shrimp. Here is Dr. Welsh's story.

As far back as anyone can remember, and that's roughly 100 years, the lake was dry until last Aug. 2, when desert thunderstorms suddenly deposited a foot of water.

The Army, which had been using the dry lake bed as a landing field, began noticing the small wrigglers, one to two inches long, in the new wet lake. They called in Dr. Welsh. He found that no other source of water seems to be feeding the lake. There are no wells or underground springs, and the nearest river, the Mojave, flows 600 feet lower.

His theory: The crustaceans were lying dormant in eggs beneath the sun-baked surface, and the rains hatched them.

The little creatures are either bright pink or white, and have tiny leglike extremities underneath, something like a king crab. Welsh says he has classified them as a type of fairy shrimp—a branch of crustacean of the order Naustroca, genus appus or lepidurus, for the record.

If Dr. Welsh can recover some of the eggs, he believes he may have a vital link with past fossil finds, including trilobites.

Backstage New Mexico

By The New Mexico Staff Of THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

History has for centuries marched, ridden, stumbled and crawled across the plains and mountains of New Mexico — leaving an indelible crisscross on the geographic and social face of the state.

Through New Mexico have passed searchers for riches, mercy cavarans, hunting and warring Indians, cattle barons with their herds, commercial caravans, stage coaches, pilgrims and settlers. Each group has left his mark on the present way of life.

Historic roadmarkers are peppered over the state calling attention to this legendary trail or route.

A map of the trails issued by the State Tourist Bureau several years ago takes on all the appearance of the marks of a caravan of bleeding bugs.

New Mexico undoubtedly has more than a major share of historic trails.

This common traveling ground was tramped 44 years after Columbus discovered America. In the years to come it became known as a main street.

Among the first were Cabeza de Vaca and three companions on their long journey from Louisiana. Not too much later Francisco Vasquez de Coronado headed an expedition to discover the Seven Cities of Cibola and to conquer the new territory. Later came Don Antonio de Espejo, wealthy Spanish cavalier, on a remarkable errand of mercy to learn the fate of two Franciscan friars.

Still another winding trail was established by Juan de Onate of Mexico. Records of his extensive travels may be found preserved on the sandstone walls of El Morro — or Inscription Rock, the guest register of the age.

Colonization of New Mexico in 1598 laid the foundation for one of the most dramatic trade routes in the history of Western civilization—the Santa Fe Trail, another trail of history was carved when Father Silvestre Velez de Escalante left Santa Fe in 1776 to blaze a new route to the West Coast.

Where are other trails without end—modern and ancient?

Other footprints on the pages of New Mexico history were made by Comanche Indians even before the time of Coronado who wore a network of trails across the plains in following buffalo.

The cattle barons—Charles Goodnight, Jim Stinson and others—blazed the way for a new industry. Stage coach stops sprung up along the route of the famous Butterfield Trail through New Mexico and each passing year brought a new mark on the trail map of the state. The Jornada del Muerto, Camino Real, Kit Carson Highway, Pan-American Highway, U. S. Highway 66—the "main street of America"—these and others make up the legendary crisscross.

Truly the Land of Enchantment might also have been known at one time as the Crossroads of the New World.

The 6-year-old Irish imp next door—due to a sound-alike situation, no doubt—insists on singing the popular record "You Gotta Shake, Rattle and Roll" in these words: "You gotta shake Marilyn Monroe."

ACTING STATE Democratic Chairman John Joe Wilkinson—if he hasn't already—needs to square himself with the Portales Rotary Club. Wilkinson, until he moved himself and family to the state capital for the new political position, lived in Portales. His absence is a matter of concern for the Portales Rotary Club. On a recent program for the club, which is seeking to keep its attendance rating high, Wilkinson was listed as "missing last week—and made up, we hope!" In the Rotary, if a member misses a meeting, he's supposed to make up his attendance record deficiency by attending a Rotary meeting elsewhere.

This may come as a shock to folks who have lived their lives among reptile rascals without harm, but there's one of these typical tourist signs on U. S. 66 in western New Mexico which says:

See Billy the Kid's most dreaded enemy—the rattlesnake.

THE OWNER of a unique New Mexico radio station, Merle Tucker of Station KGAK, Gallup, says he "hopes" to increase his Navajo language programs about mid-September.

At present, he estimates his Navajo announcer, Dana Begay of Indian Village, near Fort Wingate, is heard by about 25,000 of the tribesmen in the sprawling reservation to the north and west of Gallup.

Tucker, whose station has received two national honors for its programs in Navajo and Zuni tongues, says that his estimate is backed by reports from tribal officials, and the number of radios on the Navajo reservation is growing rapidly.

Begay is a full-time announcer. He's had plenty of experience with English, too, for he was with the Indian Service for 10 years before he took the job at KGAK. He prepares and delivers "The Navajo Hour," actually 3/4 hours in the Navajo tongue.

The Zuni program is delivered by Fred Bowanii, considered one of the top silver craftsmen at Zuni Pueblo. Bowanii works only part time, however, and his program at present last a half hour.

One of KGAK's earlier Indian announcers was Paul Jones, now the new chairman of the Navajo Tribal Council. He announced for the station about one year. Tucker says other stations bordering the Navajo reservation in New Mexico and Arizona followed suit with Indian programs, but some have dropped out again as his station's Indian audience increases.

One of the problems his announcers take special care with is advertising. He says, "We must be very careful not to mislead the Indians." He explains that response of Indians to advertising seems to be "more direct than that from non-Indian listeners, so the station must be careful of the business information it puts out."

LITTLE IS LEFT to chance when a politician or comedian makes an official visit. An 11-page mimeographed memo was put out on Red Skelton's recent visit to Albuquerque on his ceremonial palsy tour. The memo included "eight points on which Red can kid Albuquerque." Included was the bearded auditorium issue, Albuquerque's claims to sunshine, the duststorms, the floods, its no-tornado record, its 250th birthday coming up next year and the fact "Albuquerque is proud of the fact that no other town or city in this hemisphere shares that name."

A column in the Hot Springs Herald recently gives fullest credit for the capture of Leonard LaFond, in a case involving the death of a widely-known chemist, to bank teller Alfred Herndon and State Policeman Bruce McCloskey. The Herald notices that "Truth or Consequences is a bad place for criminals to stop overnight."

J. F. McKenna Joins Staff Of Institute

NEW YORK — President Frank M. Porter today announced the addition of Jack F. McKenna to the staff of the department of technical services of the American Petroleum Institute. McKenna has been assigned to the safety and fire protection services, to work with F. G. Wilson.

No stranger to Institute work, McKenna has been an active member of several API safety and fire protection committees in his former capacities as safety director of Lion Oil Co. and Aurora Gasoline Co., successively.

McKenna's association with the petroleum industry began in 1933 when he was employed as a refinery maintenance man with the Lion Oil Co., at El Dorado, Ark. For eight years he filled progressively more important assignments, including operation of various refinery process units, and in 1942 he was appointed to the position of safety and equipment inspector on the construction of a butadiene plant.

In 1943 he was appointed safety engineer for the refining division of Lion Oil Co. Five years later he was promoted to assistant safety director for the company. He coordinated the safety activities of all departments and had primary responsibility for the accident prevention and fire protection activities in marketing and production.

In 1951 he was promoted to the position of safety director and his administration resulted in Lion Oil Company's receiving the National Safety Council's Award of Honor in 1952 and 1953. McKenna came to the Institute from the Aurora Gasoline Co. in Detroit, where he had been employed as safety director since Oct. 1, 1954.

Born at Poteau, Okla., on May 26, 1911, McKenna attended public schools at Durant, Okla., and the University of Oklahoma, at Norman.

Court Action Hinted After Stanolind Buying Cutbacks

SANTA FE (AP)—Hints of possible court action were circulating today in the wake of an emergency Oil Conservation Commission order to compensate for cutbacks in crude oil purchases by the state's biggest single buyer.

The OCC yesterday said it would issue an order requiring all purchasers to split up the excess oil left by Stanolind's decision to cut purchases because of a recent refinery fire at Whiting, Ind.

Stanolind, largest purchaser in New Mexico, sliced its take from 23 northern Lea County fields by 21,000 barrels a day after the refinery fire. Prospects were for the cuts to remain in effect two to three months.

The OCC ordered other purchasers to buy the excess oil on a proportionate basis, giving to each firm's August purchases. The excess for the month of October would run about 651,000 barrels.

Representatives of oil firms raised no objections at the OCC meeting but there was speculation that the order may go into the courts. An earlier, informal, meeting resulted in purchasers agreeing that they needed no more oil.

A spokesman for the OCC said the plan would be for all companies, including Stanolind, to buy at the normal rate. The excess that Stanolind can't use will be bought by the other purchasers on a proportionate basis.

The entire operation will probably be a "paper deal," the spokesman said, although there's a possibility some actual crude will change hands.

William B. Macey, state geologist, told the meeting that normally New Mexico's October oil allowance would have been 40 barrels. The allowable was left at 39 barrels to ease the situation, occupied with the makeup purchases.
