Leading off final arguments for the state, Earl Smith, special prosecutor from San Angelo where Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver was killed by a car bomb last Jan. 19, declared:

A prison attendant, who declined to identify himself, said that Elmer Dolan, former St. Louis patrolman, was released at 12:30 a.m. after serving a 2 year sentence with the customary time off for good behavior. Warden J. O. Kearney previously had announced that Dolan would be released.

The horrible nature of the crime demands only one punishment—death.

Man Confesses Slaying Young Illinois Couple

CARLYLE, Ill. — Sheriff Dan Parker said today a husky 34-year-old poultry worker admitted slaying a young southern Illinois couple and later led them to bodies of a man and woman hidden in wells.

The central subject matter of the meeting was indicated by the fact that Secretary of Agriculture Benson arrived with the largest staff of consultants, including Undersecretary True D. Morse.

Parker, Clinton County Sheriff identified the man as Filmore Young of Carlyle, Yount, a Negro works with his father in a small poultry and egg business.

Eisenhower's chief speech writer, Kevin McCann, also sat in on the meeting, which obviously was devoted to drafting portions of the President's State of the Union message.

The sheriff said Young related in an oral statement shooting the couple, Harold Smith, 30 and his wife Arlene, 35, in their home at nearby Lebanon, Ill., 25 miles east of St. Louis.

The President, arriving at 3:49 a. m., spent more than a half hour conferring with Postmaster General Summerfield and others in the presidential lodge before going to the Cabinet meeting.

Parker said Young gave no immediate reason for the slayings.

Super Salesman Reported In Area

The magazine salesman may or may not have been legitimate, but he appears to have done a good job of selling.

Young Brothers Take Trip With Blankets, Clothes

Two boys, aged 8 and 10 years, were reported missing from their home after a 9 p. m. bed check by their parents last night, and were found a short time later by police when someone reported them in the alley back of Nelson's Super Market.

Ike Funk, deputy sheriff, said that two ranchers from west of Hope have complained to him that they feared they had been gyped by a high-pressure magazine salesman who was working that area recently.

The boys were Phillip Mark Pounds, 10, and Kenneth Allen Pounds, 8, sons of Phillip Pounds, 1205 Clayton. The boys had slipped out a bedroom window taking some blankets and clothing with them, police said.

One of the ranchers had been taken for a $70 order and the other one for about $60.

Community Chest $4,000 Short

The Community Chest is $4,000 short of its goal for 1955, which was originally budgeted at $11,895, the Rev. Oran E. Gilstrap, president of the Artesia Council of Social Agencies, said yesterday.

The drive to date has netted $8,138, of which $7,572 represents cash receipts and $566 in pledges. About $500 of this sum is owed non-participating agencies, leaving a shortage of about $4,000 to meet the budget, the Rev. Gilstrap said.

There will be a special meeting at the Chamber of Commerce office, of the Council of Social Agencies, Dec. 13 at 5 p. m., to lay plans for completion of the drive, the Rev. Gilstrap added.

Lady Globe-Trotter Claims War Brides Shocked At U.S.

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Woman's Editor

War brides from Australia, Europe and the Orient are shocked at the ignorance of the average American about other countries, says Nina Pulliam, confirmed globe-trotter, author and publishing executive.

Blonde, petite Mrs. Pulliam is the author of "I Traveled a Lonely Land," Bobbs Merrill, a lively account of her four-month trip by plane, truck and horseback through the vast and little chronicled land of Australia. She traveled with typewriter and camera, and fell in love with the koala bears, the kangaroos and all the flora and fauna of the land Down Under.

Wife of Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of the Indianapolis Star and News, Mrs. Pulliam has visited 77 countries thus far, usually accompanied by her husband, and she customarily sends back dispatches to the News and six other papers in Indiana and Phoenix, Ariz. Says she:

"There are a few places I haven't seen yet, but I intend to cover them all before I stop—and revisit the ones I liked the best."

"This alert and vivacious travel fan has built a career of excitement, adventure and solid success on her early interest in journalism. She wrote for a farm journal while still in college, joined its staff on graduation and joined the Pulliam organization when the editor of the farm magazine was asked by Pulliam to 'send us your best man.'"

Woman Editor Flies First Time She Sits In Pilot Seat Of Plane

Editor's Note — The manufacturer of Cessna airplanes has recently marketed a new civilian craft. They are conducting experiments to determine just how easily a novice can learn to fly this plane. Gerry Smith of the Tarentum Valley Daily News, Tarentum, Pa., tried yesterday. Here is her account of what happened.

By GERRY SMITH
Woman's Editor
The Valley Daily News
TARENTUM, Pa. — The first time I ever sat in the pilot's seat of an airplane I took off, flew at 1,000 feet, 120 miles per hour and landed—without aid.

Until yesterday I didn't know an airplane instrument panel from a hole in the ground. I had been in an airplane only twice before—both times as a commercial air passenger.

I have very little mechanical aptitude—even can openers talk back to me occasionally. I have the world's worst sense of direction, and I flunked my first driver's test. In addition I'm a woman.

But a new civilian airplane (Cessna 172) is so simple to operate that even I can fly it. Maybe that's why my editor assigned me to the job—to see how simple it was.

One of the first craft off the production line was delivered just recently to the Pittsburgh area dealer, Alfred B. Bennett. He accompanied me on the flight since the law requires that a licensed pilot accompany anyone without a license. But I was able to handle the controls alone after just a few minutes instruction.

I simply turned the ignition key, gradually opened the throttle and when the speedometer read 40, raised the nose. And there I was, flying!

I leveled off at 1,000 feet, pushed the throttle wide open and reached 120 miles per hour. By pressing either of the foot pedals I could bank to the right or left.

Vivian Blaine Appears Sunday As Dream Girl

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK, (AP)—At 3:55 p. m. next Sunday a blonde, young lady named Vivian Blaine is going to have butterflies in her stomach.

This event scarcely would be worthy of attention if it were not for the fact that at 4 p. m. Eastern Time, the same day, our Miss Blaine begins playing the lead in Elmer Rice's "Dream Girl" on NBC-TV. She will be on camera for 90 minutes in this Maurice Evans presentation on the Hallmark Hall of Fame. Hall March, normally seen as M. C. of the $64,000 question CBS-TV, plays opposite her.

"I always get butterflies in my stomach just before I go on," said Miss Blaine at breakfast. "I once remarked about it to Eddie Cantor and he said, 'If you ever stop getting butterflies, you'd better get out of show business.'"

This dreamy-looking girl, who doesn't act a bit dreamy at early breakfast, has been singing professionally since her teens. She's probably best known for her starring role in both the Broadway hit and the movie version of "Guys and Dolls."

"Dream Girl," sounds as if it ought to be a musical. But it isn't. It's a comedy about a young lady who runs an unsuccessful bookstore and dreams her way through some complicated problems. The fact Miss Blaine will be playing a straight dramatic role for 90 minutes on TV causes many of her friends to believe it's a big break for her. They believe millions of viewers will begin thinking of her as a dramatic actress as well as a singing comedienne.

It should be worth tuning in to find out.

Still speaking of dream girls, Producers' Showcase (NBC-TV) will present "The Sleeping Beauty" next Monday night, starring Margot Montevyn with David Wayne and the Sadler's Wells Ballet. This,

Fraser Heston Retires Though Only 9 Months

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Despite a budding career on the screen and TV, Fraser Heston has retired. What's more, he's going to spend as much time as possible in the woods of Michigan, away from the bright lights of Hollywood and New York.

No sense in kidding you—Fraser is 9 months old. He's the first-born of Lydia and Charlton Heston, and he has a resolute father.

"No more acting for my son," is the Heston edict. But, being a proud papa, he couldn't refrain from giving the lad's credits.

Portrayal of the infant Moses in the bullrush scene for "The 10 Commandments," playing himself on the Ed Murrow Person to Person show.

"But that's all there will be for now," assured the elder Heston. "I certainly don't want him to be a child actor. If he wants to be an actor when he grows up, that's up to him."

Heston added that he wants his son to spend much of his childhood in the woods of Michigan. The Hestons have a thousand-acre place near St. Helen, Mich., 200 miles north of Detroit. That's where Charlton grew up.

"I think it's much less healthy for a boy to grow up in a city atmosphere," he observed. "You have to instruct him in so many things. Like 'Don't accept rides from strangers' and 'Play only in front of our house.' In the woods, you don't have to develop such inhibitions. Kids grow up much freer. Boys especially; I don't think there is so much difference with girls."

"Also, it's a much healthier life in the woods. The air is clean and fresh, and a boy is outside and active most of the time. We have no TV and no radio."

Claude Robinson of Irving, Texas, spent Thursday night here in the home of his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Bays.

Mrs. Maude Gore of Bellevue, Ohio, arrived here this week and plans to spend the winter here in the home of Mrs. F. L. Wilson. Mrs. Gore is a former resident of Artesia. Her late husband was with the Ohio Oil Co.

Jimmy Dew a student at Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, was recently initiated into Alpha Sigma Chi mathematics-science society. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dew, 1115 W. Dallas.

The scenery was very colorful painted of the pure aniline dye to produce brilliant effects. Fantasy extended to the costumes, too. Music, which was recorded, was determined by the characters of the animals and the situations in which they found themselves.

Popejoy Hanged In Effigy After Firing Titchenal

Wanted Coach Levels Sharp Words At UNM

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—University of New Mexico President Tom Popejoy was hanged in effigy as the latest aftermath of the firing of football coach Bob Titchenal earlier, had hurled sharp words at the university's athletic policies as his parting shot, while two men considered candidates for the now-vacant position eliminated themselves from consideration.

One of the candidates, a sign of things to come, was found hanging from a pole near the president's office on the UNM campus late in the day. Titchenal had expressed his belief that the administration at the university is "rotten."

He would help a lot if they had athletic director who really knows his business and is close to the situation. I've always felt that the athletic director since he has to be a director better than the others," he said.

Texas Tech is up for a vote once more and its backers are exceedingly optimistic that the big West Texas college will crack the tight barrier. Athletic Director DeWitt Weaver of Tech said he thought the school had its best chance yet of making it.

Five votes are needed and Tech expects to start out with three known backers—Texas Christian, Baylor and Texas. Arkansas and Texas A&M are considered the pivotal points, with Rice and Southern Methodist not likely to come over.

More Plants Are Needed

WE HEAR A GREAT DEAL about other business concerns, their shortages of materials as well as their increases in prices and the cost of doing business, but somehow or other the newspapers never have much to say about what happens to themselves.

The same things do happen to them that happens to others. Recently newsprint prices advanced some $4 to $5 per ton. That can mean as much as $120 to $150 a ton per car of paper. Most of these increases were on the part of the Canadian mills which produce most of the newsprint used in this country.

This price increase is one of about 13 the newspapers have had since World War II and the price today is around $140 per ton against a price of $40 to $44 back prior to World War II.

The newspapers have absorbed these prices as well as increases of labor, other materials and machinery and maintenance to the best of their abilities with slight increases in the two items they sell—white space in newspapers and the newspapers themselves.

Not only has the price of newsprint advanced but once again the papers are facing a shortage of newsprint and it is difficult to secure.

In our own nation we have made some progress in the establishing of newsprint mills. The first successful mill in the south using southern pine was at Lufkin, Texas. That mill produces considerable newsprint but it can not meet the demand made on it. Another mill has been established at Catoosa, Alabama, and a third mill is to be put into Tennessee.

There is no question but what more mills are needed. But the cost of installing paper mills to make newsprint is an expensive process. For instance one Canadian mill has added another unit that has cost them some $22,000,000. American newspaper will eventually pay for that.

Congress has at various times looked into the newsprint situation and is looking into it now. They point out there is an abundance of raw material but a lack of production plants.

Some congressmen and the Newspaper Guild have discussed the matter of subsidy to take care of the price situation but newspapers have shown no interest in this and they want no part of it.

Newspapers feel there are too many enterprises subsidized by the government now. But the newspapers would like to have any protection that can be given them and they would like to be insured a supply of paper to meet their needs in publishing their newspapers.

Doctors May Tell President Strenuous Campaign Impossible

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press New Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — Even if President Eisenhower's doctors tell him he can run for a second term, they may tell him at the same time he can't make the usual campaign for the presidency. There's a difference between running for the White House and spending four years in it. As president for another four years Eisenhower would have to expect occasional strain if only in making big decisions, but by careful planning he might be able to avoid both fatigue and unusual exertion. But if he put on the traditional presidential campaign, he could hardly avoid them. The traditional campaign calls for train trips or plane trips, talking to crowds at whistle stops or in auditoriums. There would be exertion, if only in trying to make himself heard, in climbing steps, and in shaking numerous hands. While going through all that, Eisenhower would have this additional burden, one of his opponents would share his job still be President and have to carry on his duties of that job at the same time. If the doctors tell Eisenhower, perhaps in February, that he can seek reelection, it will be because they have found his heart attack which came from a diseased artery which closed—did not damage the heart itself to the point where he couldn't undertake the daily job of the Presidency. And even though one artery was diseased to the point of closing, it doesn't necessarily follow his other arteries are in the same bad shape or close to it. He might never have another attack. Doctors still don't know much about the progress of disease in other arteries in a case like this. But the chief consultant among Eisenhower's physicians—Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston, one of the world's top heart specialists—was asked this question at a news conference Oct. 22: Were Eisenhower's chances for a second attack greater than for the first? White said the question was hard to answer but added, "I think that might be true."

Remember When...

50 years ago Clarence Uliery was down from Roswell Monday. Sheriff Cicero Stewart came up on the Tuesday train to shake hands with his friends. Hugh Gage, the merchant at Hope, was an Artesia visitor Sunday. Mrs. Concanon and her daughter left Wednesday morning for their home in Leavenworth, Kansas, after a visit to Mrs. W. Benson.

20 years ago Mrs. Leone French and son spent the Thanksgiving vacation in Portales with her mother, Mrs. Ohrr, and brother and family. Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Stinnett of Magdalena spent Thanksgiving here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arba Green. Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Woelk enjoyed a Thanksgiving and weekend visit from Mr. Woelk's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Anderson of Larned, Kans., and his sister, Althea Woelk, also of Larned.

10 years ago Miss Bessie Waldrin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Waldrip of Artesia became the bride of William C. Leaf son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leaf of Artesia, Sunday Dec. 2 at the Wee Chapel of the First Methodist church, Roswell. Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Stewart who are to move to West Virginia were honored with a farewell party Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Paton.

attorney's office at Yuma. Sainburg's bond then was reduced from the $50,000 set originally to $1,500 there. A hearing on the fugitive complaint is set for Dec. 27 at Yuma. The doctor, formerly a surgeon at the Big Spring, Tex., Veterans Administration hospital, and the children were found in a Yuma motel Wednesday. Westover said he had asked that the fugitive complaint be dismissed at Yuma on the grounds that Sainburg was arrested on the same charge in Texas and that he posted bond at Longview. Longview Chief Deputy Sheriff F. P. Leath took charge of Phillip. His mother, who resumed her maiden name of Doris Blanchard after divorcing Sainburg, was due to take charge of the boy today. Mary Jean went to the home of her grandparents, Longview Atty. Neal Smith. Mrs. Sainburg remained in jail, where she went several days ago and asked for protection. She claimed Sainburg threatened her in a telephone call. She visited her parents briefly yesterday accompanied by a deputy sheriff and a jail matron. Sainburg took the children from Big Spring after being cited for contempt at Longview for refusing to give up his son. The girl was born to Mrs. Sainburg by a previous marriage. Sainburg formerly was a practicing physician at Longview. He faces a New York state charge of kidnaping the boy in Ithaca, N.Y., on Jan. 19, 1954. The child was returned but the state charges Sainburg took the boy again on Nov. 14.

Man Confesses

suspicion after reports that he had been seen acting strangely on a country road near Carlyle. He said a farmer, Emil Brinkman, reported giving Young's stalled car a push and later finding a blood-stained towel and a rag. The towel later was identified as one from the Smith home, Flood said. Sheriff Parker said Young was seized last night and admitted the slayings after two hours of questioning, and said he hid the bodies in the wells. The Smiths' disappearance was reported to police Nov. 29 by relatives who went to the Smith home and found windows and a door punctured with bullet holes. Officers said the interior was spattered with blood. Authorities said Young five years ago was acquitted in Clinton County of murdering his wife.

Golden eagles have been reported with wing spreads of more than seven feet.

State To Profit By Loaning Education Expert Dr. John Dale Russell To Ohio For Short Time

By JOHN B. CURTIS AP State Capital Correspondent SANTA FE (AP)—Dr. John Dale Russell had a highpowered reputation when he left his job at U. S. Commissioner of Education three years ago to become executive secretary of the New Mexico Board of Educational Finance.

Now it appears the Russell reputation is taking on increased stature, to the point where some states are almost in a position of squabbling over his services. Russell currently is in Ohio, getting started on a part-time project for the Buckeye State. The New Mexico board on Nov. 18 gave his permission to undertake a project for the Ohio Assn. of High-

Defense Attorney

(Continued from Page One) uburn) from profiting from the Weaver family." He said Washburn tried at first to hire others to kill, then decided "if I can't hire somebody to do it, I'll do it myself."

Dist. Judge D. W. Bartlett, in his charge to the jury, said whether Washburn was personally present at the explosion scene was not material. He also said Washburn's failure to take the stand in his own defense must not be held against him. He also said that whether Washburn killed the "wrong persons"—whether, as the state contends—he intended to kill Weaver instead of Mrs. Weaver—was not to be taken into consideration by the jury.

The defense had not offered testimony connecting Weaver with the killing. But defense attorneys, questions had raised this implication at times. In final arguments today they said Weaver had declined to take a lie detector test. Also arguing for the state were Asst. Dist. Atty. Burney Walker, Waco, and Dist. Atty. Tom Moore Jr., Waco, Cliff Tupper, San Angelo, was to close for the defense.

Benson

(Continued from Page One) by car. Others, including Vice President Nixon, remained at the camp after yesterday's National Security Council meeting. All members of the Cabinet attended except Secretary of State Dulles, who was represented by Undersecretary Herbert Hoover Jr., and Secretary of the Interior McKay who is en route to Hawaii. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations, also was absent. Dulles couldn't get here handily from Chicago, where he made a major foreign policy address last night. One agriculture official said without elaboration there has been discussion in the department of a proposal by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) for slaughtering hogs to help pork producers. Hickenlooper's proposal calls for premium prices to farmers who will market female hogs during a specified period, rather than breed them, to cut down the pork surplus. Benson has promised, without details, to present a farm program based on a step-up in surplus disposal, expansion of experts, purchases to remove market gluts, enlargement of soil conservation operations, an incentive program to divert cropland into other uses, more research, and rural development for low income families. The secretary holds out firmly against proposals voiced by Democrats and some Republicans to return to a system of fixed high level price supports. In a Washington speech last night Benson said he does not believe American farmers will be "easily stampeded by unsound theories and programs" or that "their votes can be purchased." He hit at the idea of a "planned and subsidized economy."

AEC PLANE CRASHES MODESTA, Calif. (AP)—An Albuquerque pilot escaped injury yesterday when his twin-engine plane carrying "classified" material for the Atomic Energy Commission crashed near Modesta airport. Jack Schinn was flying a Carco Air Service Beechcraft Bonanza from Mercury, Nev., to the AEC at Livermore. He tried to land on a taxi strip but his plane overshot and its wings were sheared off by two walnut trees.

Education, composed of about 50 private and public colleges. New Mexico is not losing anything by the arrangement. In fact, she stands to gain something in the knowledge Russell will gain in his Ohio study, an aide said. Russell will rarely, if ever, absent himself from Santa Fe for more than two weeks at a time and he may return as frequently as 10 days or so to handle the more important problems of his office. And any time a major New Mexico problem should pop up, the understanding is that it will receive priority. The Ohio group pays all his traveling expenses, and Russell receives nothing from New Mexico during the time he is on leave of absence in Ohio. The entire Ohio project is expected to consume about 70 days and be completed by Russell by April. His busy season will start then with work on operating budgets of New Mexico colleges. The fact that the present period is a non-legislative season and a comparatively quiet time was one of the factors the board took into consideration in letting him go on leave. "The whole thing is so geared that New Mexico will not in any way lose Dr. Russell's services if and when something breaks," says Dr. James I. Doi, Russell's assistant. Doi described the problem facing Ohio, and said there are similarities with New Mexico's problems. The fact that Russell's Ohio studies might be helpful here contributed to the board's decision to grant him the leave, Doi said. Ohio, as Doi explained it, anticipates a tremendous jump in college enrollments in the next 10 or 15 years: Ohio State, for instance, is talking of a possible fourfold gain, from a present 20,000 to a mammoth 80,000. Question is, can an institution be that big? Ohio is looking for the answer. It also wants to know how much of the load it can expect the private schools to handle. And whether or not the answer might lie in junior colleges, or community colleges giving the first year or two of college credits. The problem, on a smaller scale is similar in New Mexico. A year or so ago, Russell was given permission to do consultation work for Florida, and he remains a member of the Florida Council for the Study of Higher Education. About the same time it was necessary he turn down an invitation to go to California and make a study of the coast state's 80 higher institutions. When California heard of the Ohio study, Doi said, it promptly and apparently with some feeling, gave notice that it desires an option on any free time Dr. Russell may have in the future. Mississippi is another state Russell said it necessary to turn down. On several occasions states wishing Russell's consultation services have been told that while he cannot go there, their representatives are welcome to come to New Mexico to observe and consult. Some such schools have included Anderson College, Indiana; Colorado College and Brigham Young University. The Florida state budget examiner, Dr. John Swanson, has been in Russell's office this week, studying the New Mexico setup. "All the states," says Doi, "are realizing that this whole problem of what we face in the years ahead is becoming a big one. There must be some form of statewide planning to meet it. Every state is thinking of this now. We have a good start here in New Mexico and we believe that is why so many states are turning to us for information about our plan and for consultation with Dr. Russell."

Nursery Man Backs Boyle's Plan To Elevate Dandelion

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP)—When I nominated the dandelion as America's national flower about a year ago there was some ruckus. The proposal seemed to step on a lot of green thumbs. It was almost as if I'd done something indecent, such as suggesting selling kindergarten children into slavery. Gardeners all over the land wrote in to denounce me as a pest and to the dandelion as a pest. Most of them agreed that if America picked a national flower it ought to be the rose. Well, that seemed like a copy cat idea if I'd ever heard of one. Too many countries already have the rose. But I shut up on the subject, since what I don't know about flowers would fill a mighty big vase. Today, however, I'd like to present a rebuttal to all the thorny rose lovers in the form of a letter written by Win Haynes of Greenville, Pa. Here is what reader Haynes wrote: "I have been in the nursery business for a number of years and for the life of me, I can't see why anyone would have anything to do with a rose. If you get near a rosebush it goes at you like a wildcat. If you approach it wearing rawhide gloves, thereby avoiding bloodshed, not to say poisoning, it will do its best to give you rose fever or shake off some of its loving insects on you. In spite of all the praises sung for it, it is evident that the rose has no use for man. It even refuses to grow for him except on its own terms. "You can't just stick it in the ground and forget about it. It has to be planted just so. Let it get 'wet feet' and it curls up and dies. If you want it to bloom, you have to feed it like a horse, and it is finicky about its food.

"There is no race suicide in the dandelion family. Hardy means there just ain't no harder life of life. Poison 'em. Dig 'em and burn 'em. Do anything you like if you don't like 'em. Next spring when the snow melts look out your window and it's lars to doughnuts and it's dandelion blossom will be there there smilin' at you. "Besides brightening your with its sunny bloom, the dandelion furnishes a virtual pharmacopoeia all by itself. The old dandy doctor book says it is a diuretic, diaphoretic, diuretic, expectorant, tonic, alternative and emetic, used for liver complaint, constipation, jaundice, dyspepsia (hold it a moment while I name a dandelion, please), and blood purifier. "If you had told your ancestor half of that, the dandelion would have been named national flower by acclamation!" Well, now I have told you defense rests.

Homes are wrecked and lives estranged; children are pulled this way and that by divorced parents. What can be done? For the nation, one divorce for each four marriages and in some cities, as many divorces as marriages. Think on these things.

Let's see to it that we respect and honor marriage as the most delicate and perhaps the most important of all human relations. No man or woman ought to laugh or make sport of the family, or of the relation of women and men in the home. Let's have done with the mother-in-law jokes and all other caricatures of this sacred union of hearts and minds.

Let's prepare our young people for successful marriage. Do we give as much attention as did our fathers to the direction of our children toward making good homes? It is about the most important task that falls to mothers and fathers and teachers and preachers, in fact, to all of us. We must get our young people well married. Then tell them the truth about this intimate and familiar human relation. Warn them and counsel them, as did the writer of Proverbs in the Old Testament.

Let's make marriage a sacrament, entered upon in the reverent mood of prayer, and supported by the aids of religion. Surround this union of immortal spirits with every sacred and wholesome influence from the very beginning. Dedicate every new home as a shrine where the children of God shall expect the guidance of their Heavenly Father in their conduct toward each other.

Marriage is not only the mating of bodies; it is the mating of souls. Two souls do not become one in a few hours of courtship or in a few weeks of marriage. Only patience and good will and mutual respect and faithful affection will equip two different persons to live together with growing union of body and soul. Divorce means the failure of the home; the failure of us all in the building of a good society. Less haste and more care in preparation for marriage will make fewer divorces after marriage. Every home requires God's aid and blessing, if it succeeds. "Wherefore they are no more twain but one flesh. What, therefore God hath joined together, let no man put asunder."
