'Man, Woman Of Year': Farm Family Named

"Muleshoe is a rare community, rather extraordinary," Rick Perry, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, said in speaking at the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture banquet Friday night. "Everyone working and pulling together, Bailey County has a future, tied very closely to agriculture."
 "Agriculture has an extraordinary history, so complex very few people know about it. Agriculture is the industry that drives this state. Texas is Number Two in the nation in agriculture. One of every five jobs relates to agriculture and the vast majority doesn't understand agriculture.
 "We must focus on the future, and the future is agriculture," Perry continued. "Texas leads the nation in cotton, mohair, wool, and beef cattle, yet we only process about eight percent of the cotton grown in Texas. We must take what we have and add to it. When we export cotton out of the state, we do something else, we drive our young people away."
 "In Haskel County, the year I was born (1950), there was a population of 14,000 people, yet the day I was sworn into office there was little more than 6,000 population. What drove the people away? Its pretty simple, the jobs weren't there. We must focus on agriculture and add variety to our croops. Without variety agriculture won't be healthy in the 21st. century.

 "You must focus on the future, if you don't, within ten years your stores will begin to close."
 "The Texas Agriculture Finance Authority helped to start 32 different projects in 1991, with $25 million, and created 4,100 new jobs and $390 million in revenue.
 "This is the kind of thing the state needs to be involved in."
 "The state's (Texas) budget grew faster than any other state. "State and federal finance must change," Perry continued.
 Perry told of the different businesses that were started with the help of the Texas Agriculture Financing Authority. "I suggest that we will have a chance at one right here in Muleshoe. If history is any good, over the next two to three years we could create 40,000 new jobs. We need the government working with us," Perry said.
 "My job is to educate people in this state about agriculture."
 Perry told a story about speaking

World Heritage Seeks Exchange Families

If your family would like to learn more about other cultures and countries, the student exchange program might be just the thing for you. Mary-Helen Perez is the Area Representative for World Heritage and if you are interested in hosting an exchange student, Ms. Perez can be reached at 806/272-3344.
 Imagine being able to absorb the culture of Spain, Mexico, France, or Germany for an academic school year without having to leave home. That is exactly what World Heritage, a not-for-profit student exchange program, offers local families who want to share their home with an outstanding teenager from abroad.
 Having an exchange student become part of the family for a school year gives everyone in a household the opportunity to learn about themselves and the world in which they live. Host families also gain a new perspective on their own way of life and often "rediscover" Northern Texas as they share and participate in the activities offered in the area with their newly adopted son or daughter.

 World Heritage students are motivated 15-18 year olds who want to become part of an American household, pitching in on everything from chores to family discussions. Each student is fully insured, brings his or her own spending money and is enthusiastic about sharing the culture and customs of their homeland.
Lubbock Regional Council Now Serves Bailey County
 The Lubbock Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse which has served Lubbock since 1968, has expanded to serve 13 counties. The Lubbock Regional Council now serves Bailey, Cochran, Yoakum, Terry, Lubbock, Lynn, Crosby, Garza, Montley, Cottle, Dickens, and King County.
 The Council is funded by United Way and the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse to provide education, information, and referral services. It is a non-profit agency. Staff can provide a speaker to a group information over the phone, and assessment and referral services. There is never a charge to help people learn about alcoholism and other drug addiction, or help people find help.
 Last September, the Council established an office in Brownfield and hired three new staff members to serve the area. Presentations on a wide variety of topics are offered to civic groups, churches, and other organizations at no charge. Staff are available by phone, and will be visiting each of the counties regularly. You may call the toll-free number to request a service or to just get better acquainted, and leave your name and address if you would like to receive our newsletter. This will keep you apprised of our activities.

Local Organist Awarded In National Competition

Jeremy S. Bruns, organist, was recently awarded 1st-prize in the National MTNA Wurlitzer-Collegiate Artist Competition held in Spokane, Washington. Mr. Bruns previously won the Divisional Competition held in Conway, Arkansas, and the State Competition in Lubbock. There were six divisional competitors in the national competition.

Mr. Bruns is currently the Associate Organist at St. John United Methodist Church in Lubbock, Texas, where he is involved in both the adult and children's music ministries of the church. He is a second-year Junior at Texas Tech University. In April Jeremy will be one of five finalists competing in the 21st-Annual Undergraduate Organ Competition of the First Presbyterian Church of Ottumwa, Iowa.

Jeremy will be performing a recital at St. John's UMC on Tuesday, April 6, at 7:30 p.m. He will be performing at Wayland Baptist University in Plainview, Texas on Monday, April 12, 1993 at 8:00 p.m. The performances will feature works by Bach, Frescobaldi, Brahms, Vierne, Guilmant, and Messiaen. There is no admission charge.

Jeremy has received private instruction from Gillian Weir, international artist and organ virtuoso, and in May will spend a week in New York City studying with Gerre Hancock, the number-one organ improviser in America

(and possibly the world). In June, Mr. Bruns will again be touring with the Methodist Northwest-Texas Conference Youth Choir "Spiritwind".

ENMU University To Host Women's Art Exhibition Titled "Creating Ourselves"

April 2-23 Eastern New Mexico University will host a New Mexico Women's Art Exhibition titled "Creation Ourselves."

The art exhibition is the second of its kind to be held at ENMU. Last year an exhibition of the same title was held hosting over 200 artists. The show last year was a national exhibition, however, while this year's show is devoted entirely to New Mexico artists.

Mary Finneran, curator and art professor at ENMU, says, "We wanted to show a stronger statewide representation of women artists in New Mexico. Our future goal is to organize New Mexico women to curate a show that will go to the National Women's Gallery. Our plan is to hold the exhibit every two years in New Mexico and on the third year go national in conjunction with the New Mexico Women's Studies Conference."

The purpose of the exhibition is to "promote the statement of women and to represent women and women artists." There will be two women jurors to select and award the artists.

Sandra Luehrsen will be the slide juror, selecting the artists and work which will be accepted into the show. She has a bachelor's of art and a master's of art from Northern Illinois University and a master's of fine arts from Arizona State University. She is currently the Assistant Dean of the Graduate College at Arizona State University.

Judy Sutton Kracke will be the awards juror. She will be awarding the Best of Show, 2nd, and 3rd places. Judy has a master's of fine arts and teaches part time at West Texas State in Canyon, Texas. She is a "site specific, public artist whose works are conceptual and interactional sculptural projects." Interested in global issues, Judy developed a world community project called "One Sun, One Earth,

One Peace." The project will consist of 10 sculptures in nine different countries on six continents. The first sculpture will be constructed during March in Argentina. Her work has been widely exhibited in the United States.

The exhibition will be displayed in the Runnells Room of the Golden Library. The exhibition will open with a slide presentation and reception, April 2. The reception and exhibition is open to all faculty, staff, students, and community free of charge.

Only Temporary
Strange how few of those movie stars who marry take their husband's name.

Oh, I suppose it seems hardly worth while for so short a time.

April Fool

All over the world people make jokes on April Fool's Day but there's no agreement where and how the observance began.

Some believe playing practical jokes derives from India (the Feast of Huli) where people are sent on foolish errands on March 31st. Others connect it with the spring equinox, others to a Roman custom, etc.

Whatever its origin, many in the United States enjoy observing the old custom this day to fool or startle the unsuspecting. Little children delight in fooling their parents and teachers.

Those fooled are called April fish in France or April gowks in Scotland--gowk being a cuckoo. The day is one for harmless fun--and good natured foolishness.

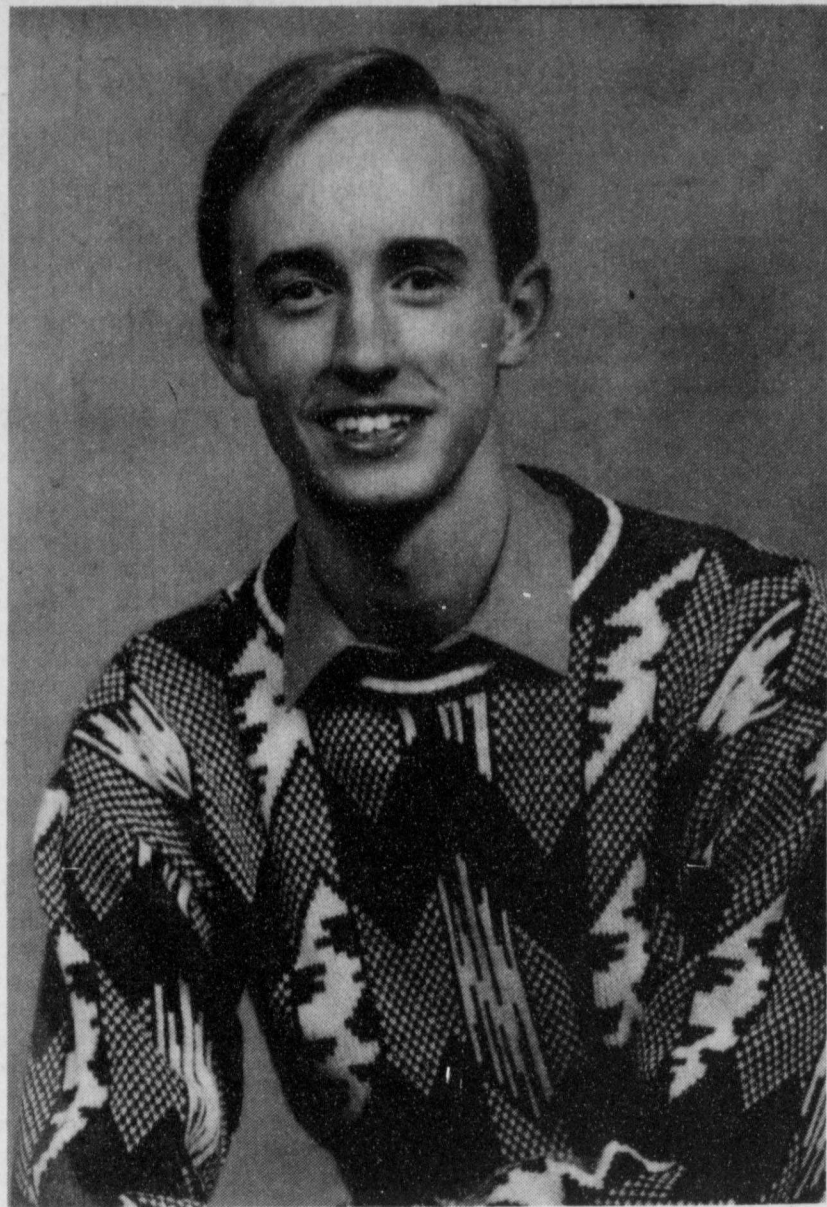

Area Writer's Group To Hold Second Meeting

An area writer's group will hold its second meeting Friday, April 2, 1993 at 7 p.m. at PattiLou's Restaurant, 600 Pile St. Clovis, NM.

Topics for the evening will include finalizing a name for the group, which include guest speakers, panel discussions and feedback sessions.

The first "Read and Feedback" session will be held following the business meeting. Participants with work ready for discussion may submit. Those with longer works may submit material to be read and discussed at the following meeting. Participants are responsible for providing group members with copies.

All interested writers are invited to attend. More information is available by contacting Patti Dobson at 562-2728 before 4 p.m., or 769-3033 after 6 p.m. Copies of the group's newsletter also are available by contacting Dobson.

The "Best Little Jailhouse In Texas"

by Danny Lara
I guess you have all heard of and seen the Andy Griffith show. Well, here in West Texas, there is a real live "Andy Griffith" type Sheriff, named Jerry Hicks, and a real small west Texas town named Muleshoe, Texas.

And...things are really very very similar to the television show...maybe even better, among the staff of the Bailey County Sheriff's Department. There is Chief Deputy Don Carter, Office Deputy Jan Pierce, Jail Administrator Peggy Bates and also Deputies Bennie Clifton, Joe Orozco, and Jailers Tommy Williams, Laverne Smyer, Lillian Street, and Eileen Campolli.

Anyhow, folks, I was brought to this place on February 1, 1993, feelin' kinda' scared, because of the fact that I didn't know nobody. You see, I'm from Littlefield, Texas. Turns out that I got to fallin' in love with this place called a jailhouse, and of course, the very wonderful and most loving bunch of people of the "best little jailhouse in Texas". Yes, folks, I am very proud to present this very fine staff of people.

And...as for the community of good ole' Muleshoe, Texas, in itself, is also a very fine or may I say, "the best little town in Texas".

I have been in this jail now for four months, and this may sound crazy but, do you know I am really in love with this place? I really don't know what I would do if I had to leave this very special new found place, and these most beautiful and loving people in which I call my beloved new found family of brothers and sisters.

Yes, you would be surprised to see what's in store for you...if you should ever come to visit what I call Muleshoe's finest hotel and resort.

Our very own honorable Jerry Hicks is your host. The sheriff has been in office since August of 1988, and as you can see by this article that he, with all probability, will continue to occupy this office for as long as he wishes to.

Sheriff Hicks is in my own words a very honest, sincere, trusting, not to mention kind and caring person as his staff also is.

I remember when I first met the sheriff, I asked him to turn on the ventilation system in my cell, and he trusted me enough to open my cell and run around door, which was even better.

I wrote him a letter asking him to let me be a trusty, and he did! Now, time has passed and as I aforementioned, "I love this place". This is the kind-of place, this is the kind of people, we need to run any kind of jail facility in any town, city and community.

I am talking about the lower section of the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center, where the jailhouse is based upon. Down in the basement, is the kitchen; Mr. Carter's and Mrs. Clifton's office (Criminal Investigation Division). Then, my friends, I am proud to present the Community Corrections Department (AKA Adult Probation Department). Presiding in these offices are Chief APO Mr. Bud Street, and his very lovely assistant, Joy Williams. Needless to say, they are indeed also, two of the most beautiful people. The other staff members of the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center, of 'good ole' Muleshoe are Bud and Joy, also a part of my new found family, in which I esteem with all of my heart, as I do everyone else here.

"You all have to come down and visit sometime, and see for yourselves just exactly what I am talking about! Have some of Martin's coffee, and chat with Peggy, Jan, Benny, Judge Jack Bates, and maybe even myself. But, do ask for the keymaster himself, our honorable Sheriff Jerry Hicks-get his autograph before he makes Hollywood with this story.

These are the finest people, and this is the finest, or may I say "the best little jailhouse in Texas.

"Healthy Choices For Kids"

America's kids are learning to eat their homework.

Parents and teachers are helping change kids' poor eating habits with a nutrition education program called "Healthy Choices For Kids", sponsored by the growers of Washington state apples.

The program is the first of its kind to integrate the latest Dietary Guidelines for Americans, created by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Health and Human Services. The food grouping system depicted in a pyramid by the USDA is adapted into a colorful, kid-tested and approved fan in the "Healthy Choices For Kids" curriculum.

Nutrition education experts Dr. Marianne King and Dr. Joan Walsh created the "Healthy Choices For Kids" grade school program to encourage children to "Eat a Wide Variety of Foods" in the first chapter of a four-part series targeting grades 1-5.

Three additional chapters will soon be available to teachers, covering exercise, increasing consumption of fruits, vegetables and grains, and healthy snacking.

"Now in its fourth year, the impetus for the program is simple," said Dr. Walsh. "Childhood eating habits form the basis for eating habits as adults, and many children are off to a poor start."

A recent survey of dietitians on the health of U.S. children ages 6-12 reinforced this concern. Of the 800 dietitians responding, 68 percent noted fruit intake to be low in this age group. Ninety percent cited vegetable consumption a problem as well.

This is hardly a surprise, considering 45 percent of the U.S. adult population eats only one serving of fruit a day, according to the National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey (NHANES II Survey), Walsh explained.

"We must raise awareness of the need for more fruits and vegetables in the diet, and this program teaches kids and their parents the importance of this," said Dr. Walsh.

"Healthy Choices for Kids" offers a uniform health message. The program was reviewed by a national advisory board, learner-verified in classrooms, and revised to incorporate teacher suggestions. The program also brings the nutrition message home by encouraging teacher suggestions. The program also brings the nutrition message home by encouraging kids to interact with parents through a variety of at-home activities.

This spring, a Home Activity Kit is being tested in schools and grocery stores. The workbook is a collection of activities parents and children can do together to help bring the nutrition message home. Spanish take-home materials are also being developed, with plans for release later this spring.

"If good eating habits are practiced at home, the time in school is more valuable," said Vicky Scharlau of Washington Apple Commission, creator of the program. "A recent Gallup poll reported kids today get 95 percent of their nutrition information from school, that's why it's important that a nutrition program supply 'healthy homework.'"

More than three million children have participated in the "Healthy Choices for Kids" program. The classroom materials are free to teachers. Teachers may write to: "Healthy choices for Kids" Nutrition Education Kit P.O. Box 550-HCFK Wenatchee, Washington 98807 Please specify grades.

Emily Winters, Cowgirl, To Headline Poet Breakfast

Working cowgirl Emily Winters of Dalhart, Texas, is scheduled as the featured poet April 10 at the Cowboy Poet breakfast, 9:00 at the Big Texan Steak Ranch. Rusty Nichols, Borger, entertains the crowd with his guitar and fiddle until Emily's performance begins at 9:15. New poets will then be spotlighted, followed by twelve year old student poet Renee Mobley, J.R. Garza, Tulia, one of the favorite Texas Opry performers, will then be featured, followed by participating poets in the audience. The regular meeting, associates and those interested in supporting cowboy poetry are urged to stay for the meeting. Reports on the trip to Alpine will be given, and--time permitting--some videos of the readings.

The headline Winters, 90 pound dynamo, came from Tennessee to the Panhandle, via northeastern New Mexico, determined to be a cowgirl. Working on a B.S. at West Texas State University, she met and married Frank Winters. He manages the JW Ranch southeast of Dalhart. Emily does cowboy work at several area ranches, and during the winter, she cares for around 2,500 head of cattle.

Winters wrote her first cowboy poem in January of 1991. Since then, she has read at the National Cowboy Symposium in Lubbock; at the Western Folklife Center Cowboy Gathering in Elko, NV; the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.; the Old Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium in Ruidoso, NM; Old West Days and the Cowboy Poets Breakfasts in Amarillo; and other poetry gatherings and events in Hobbs and Lovington, NM; at Dalhart, Stratford, and Channing, Texas. She is also featured on a tape called "Range Partners" along with Chuck Milner, another Cowboy Poet Breakfast headliner, of Willow, NM, along with books by other area cowboy/girl poets.

Folks interested in preserving the culture and heritage of the Panhandle will usually agree that the rollicking rhymes of cowboy/girl poets relating their experiences, real and fanciful, of humorous and pain-wracked episodes, create a nostalgia with their original poetry that brings back memories of long gone days. The breakfasts are held once a month on the second Saturday at 9:00 a.m. at the Big Texan Steak Ranch, 7001 I-40-E.

Cowboy-poets interested in participating can contact the SWCPA President Charlie Sinclair at 372-9672, or emcee Jake Holster at 354-9700. Gather up a couple of carloads of friends, neighbors and relatives for a memorable morning of outstanding family entertainment, and show your support for cowboy poetry.

to a group of gifted and talented students in Fort Worth (Cow Town). "They were a group of bright kids that I thought should know about agriculture. I ask, who knows what mohair is? Not a single hand came up. I thought, these are our leaders of tomorrow, and they don't know what mohair is. We are the fashion capital of the nation, yet we process few of the things we grow."

He encouraged everyone to write to those they have elected. "Let them hear from you, what you want and need."

Following his speech, Mike McDearmon presented Perry a Muleshoe belt buckle.

Celebrating Agriculture was the theme, which was carried out in all the decorations. Small tractors, with balloons attached, and wooden flower boxes accented the tables which were covered with white table cloths. Corn and sorghum grain was scattered down the center of the tables. The theme was carried out with an arrangement featuring a watermelon, and other fresh vegetables on the serving table.

In each corner of the coliseum, large tractors along with bales of cotton completed the setting. As you entered the coliseum, you were greeted by teams of mules.

Prior to the banquet, a reception was held in the green room of the Bailey County Coliseum, and those attending had a chance to visit with Rick Perry.

The 43rd Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture Banquet got underway at 7 p.m. Mike McDearmon, 1992 president, gave the welcoming address. Stacie Harris, member of Leadership Muleshoe, gave the invocation. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Jeanne Cox and the Pledge to the Texas Flag was led by Amanda Ashford, both are members Of Leadership Muleshoe.

Robert Montgomery, Mayor of Muleshoe, introduced Perry and gave a brief history of his background. Following Perry's speech and the response by McDearmon, Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture awards were presented.

Julie Cage presented the "Employee of the Year Award" stating, "This young lady takes her life and job seriously. She has one daughter and one son. She has worked hard, most of her life, holding down two jobs, when she found herself a single parent. She is prompt, considerate, uncomplaining, admired and loved by her co-workers, Delores Salcido, an employee of Joe's Boot Shop.

With tears in her eyes, a surprised Delores Salcido expressed her appreciation to Joe and Darla Rhodes for giving her the opportunity to be a part of Muleshoe.

"Business of the Year" goes to a business who is over 40 years old", said Charles Bratcher, in making the presentation to Hubert Kidd, manager of Five Area Telephone. Five Area supports the clubs and schools in the area and has trouble saying no. They serve parts of five counties. Bratcher also recognized the seven board members and 23 employees of Five Area Telephone.

Terry Pollard was named "Conservation Farmer of the Year." Sharon Dale made the presentation stating, "Pollard farms in the Stegall and Baileyboro area and has two sons who attends the Three Way Schools. The Conservation Farmer of the Year is recognized by Blackwater Valley.

Mark Morton presented the "Farm Family of the Year" award to Sam, Jean, Derek, Stacie, and Megan Harlan.

A very surprised Inez Bobo was named "Woman of the Year". Richard Edwards made the presentation and stated, "This woman once worked as a cashier at the bank, working there at the time of the bank robbery. She works long hours, days and nights. She never minded a lot of pressure. She is interested in her family and the community. She is a dedicated person and has always supported the businesses in the community. She is a member of the First United Methodist Church and sings in the church choir. She operates two businesses, Bobo Insurance and The Art Loft. Mrs. Bobo received a standing ovation.

The "Man of the Year" award came as quiet another surprise. In making the presentation, McDearmon said, "This man was born in Plainview in 1946, attended West Texas State University and the School of Banking. He is presently vice president of Muleshoe State Bank and he and his wife, Sharon, have two children, Amy and Chad. Our Man of the Year is Robert Montgomery.

Charles Bratcher, 1993 president, said, "A special Thank You goes to Mike and Brenda McDearmon; Mark Morton; the Leadership Muleshoe Group; The Carrousel of Good Foods, for the fine meal; J.D. and Julie Cage; the local tractor dealers, Muleshoe Co-Op Gin, Mike Riley, and Ricky Powell. Bratcher also reported that two representatives from Senator Teel Bivins office attended the banquet.

Leadership Muleshoe members include: Jon Robin Watkins, president; Summer Wiley, vice president; Stacie Harris, secretary; Amanda Ashford, treasurer; Brooke Barrett, Reporter; David Ramirez, Casey Estep, Jeanne Cox, Gilrobert Rennels, and Donna Puckett. Advisors for the Leadership Muleshoe Group are R.A. Bradley

Is Your Number Up? & The Cholesterol Challenge: Can You Cut It?

Every year more than one million Americans suffer heart attacks and more than half a million die of coronary heart disease. Research shows that high cholesterol levels in the blood are a primary factor of heart disease, but many people don't know what their cholesterol level is, or how to control it.

Is Your Number Up? examines the latest research on cholesterol and demonstrates ways to lower it. The one-hour special is accompanied by another one-hour program, The Cholesterol Challenge: Can You Cut It?

Is Your Number Up? travels to Framingham, Massachusetts, the home of one of the longest-running studies linking cholesterol to heart disease. Dr. William Castelli of the Framingham Study says, "If you lined people free of the disease up at the beginning of the study and watched to see what happened to them, the ones who had higher and higher cholesterol ran higher and higher heart attack rates. In fact, for each one percent you went up that scale, your subsequent heart attack rate rose two to three percent."

By following case histories in studies such as Framingham's, it's possible to predict the levels of risk. People with cholesterol levels above 240 are now considered by health care professionals to be "high-risk," those with levels of 239-200 are "borderline," while levels below 200 are least at risk.

Significant findings in cholesterol research occurred when doctors examined the bodies of American soldiers killed during the Korean War. They discovered that 70 percent had extensive disease in their arteries. Even more surprising, during a 20-year study of children and teenagers, researchers found the first signs of arteriosclerosis in children as young as three.

Is Your Number Up? looks at case histories of those who have heart disease due to high cholesterol. Profiles of senior citizens, middle-aged people, and children show that many have been able to stop the advancement of heart disease by lowering their cholesterol.

The Cholesterol Challenge: Can You Cut It? is a lively panel discussion with an interactive studio audience of health care professionals, including some of the top cholesterol experts in the country. Topics include the dangers of cholesterol, methods for lowering it, how much fat is too much in a diet, and how to achieve a healthier lifestyle.

Among those taking part in the discussion are Dr. Sandra McLanahan, a specialist who uses yoga and meditation to reduce stress; Dr. Robert Elliot, a heart-attack victim turned stress-control specialist and author of Is It Worth Dying For?; Dr. Robert Olson, former president of the American Institute of Nutrition and a leader in cardiovascular research; Gary Null, host of a nationally syndicated radio show in which he touts the benefits of a vegetarian diet; Dr. Luther Clark, director of Preventive Cardiology at the State University of New York in Brooklyn; and Dr. Dean Ornish, a noted cardiologist from San Francisco and author of Dr. Dean Ornish's Program for Reversing Heart Disease.

Is Your Number Up? will be broadcast Sunday, April 4th at 3:00 p.m. and Saturday, April 17th at 7:00 a.m. The Cholesterol Challenge: Can You Cut It? will be broadcast Sunday, April 4th at 4:00 p.m. and Saturday, April 24th at 7:00 a.m.

NWF Brings The Rain Forest To Millions Of American Kids

School Children across the nation will be introduced to the flowers, the trees, the animals, the birds and the people of the Earth's rain forests during the National Wildlife Federation's 53rd annual Wildlife Week, April 18-24.

Rain Forests: Help Save Their Layers Of Life, is the theme of this year's Wildlife Week kits, which are distributed through NWF's state affiliates to 620,000 teachers for use in their classrooms, nature centers and libraries.

Each kit contains an educator's guide, a colorful poster showing the four "layers" of a tropical rain forest, a sheet of NWF Conservation Stamps, and a full-color poster of a dozen endangered species.

Teachers who use the kits will pose the critical question, "Why save rain forests?" Children will be given 10 reasons, such as:

- * "People don't have the right to destroy the world's rain forests and other habitats for their own purposes."
- * Many scientists think that destroying tropical rain forests could drastically change world weather patterns."
- * "As rain forests disappear, so will the cultural traditions of many native peoples. These indigenous peoples have a right to live where and how they want."

The week winds up with encouraging words to kids: "You can help!" Suggestions for things that kids can do to help save our remaining rain forests include visiting a rain forest and sharing the experience with others; writing letters to senators and representatives to express concern about forest destruction; and contacting pen-pals in tropical countries.

"Our children's generation has a strong appetite for knowledge about the environment," said Gary San Julian, NWF Vice-President for Research and Education. "Wildlife Week is a great opportunity for parents and teachers to serve them food for thought about our role in preserving a healthy planet."

The National Wildlife Federation is the nation's largest conservation organization. Founded in 1936, the Federation, its 5.3 million members and supporters, and a national network of affiliated organizations, work to educate and assist individuals and organizations to conserve natural resources, and to protect the Earth's environment.

'Naturally Texas' Logo Wins Advertising Awards

The logo for the Texas Department of Agriculture's marketing program, "Naturally TEXAS," has won three Lubbock Advertising Federation regional Addy awards, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry announced.

"Texas is internationally known for raising fine cotton, sheep and goats. These awards prove that TDA is engaged in a high-quality, high visibility approach to marketing the fine fabrics and fashions produced from these products," Perry said.

The logo, designed by Phil Price Advertising of Lubbock, won in the 'Best of Show', "Brochure Using Four or Less Colors" and, "Graphic Design Product Trademark" categories.

Christy McClellan, director for TDA's Fiber Marketing program, said, "The logo is a high quality creative work-of-art that captures the essence of our 'Naturally TEXAS' promotional campaign."

"Naturally Texas" is aimed at helping farmers, ranchers, manufacturers and retailers promote textile and leather products made from natural fibers grown or assembled within the state's borders.

The "Naturally TEXAS" logo of warm brown and green inks on a beige background features stylized illustrations of cattle, sheep, goats and cotton. The logo is used on hang tags and special labels so consumers know they are buying fine, quality Texas-produced items.

The logo will go to the district Addy competition April 23 in Corpus Christi.

Bullock Names Two Family Advocates To Texas Boards

Lt. Governor Bob Bullock has named two Texans recognized for their dedicated work on behalf of families and children to state committees on recidivism and developmental disabilities.

Lila Thompson of Richmond was appointed to the Executive Committee of the Office for Prevention of Developmental Disabilities, while Mary Wathen-White of San Antonio was named to serve on the Role of the Family in Reducing Recidivism Advisory Committee.

Thompson, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Sam Houston University, has served on the President's Committee on Mental Retardation and many other boards dealing with mental handicaps. She was a member of the Texas State Mental Retardation Advisory Committee, the Governor's Task Force on Mental Retardation Planning and served two terms as president of the Texas Association for Retarded Citizens. This is her second term on the developmental disabilities board.

In 1986, Thompson was honored as the keynote speaker at the International Congress on Mental Retardation in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Wathen-White previously served as chairman of the Committee on the Role of the Family in Recidivism under Governors Mark White and Bill Clements. The committee advises the Texas Department of Corrections and the Texas Youth Commission. Bullock reappointed her in recognition of her dedication to rehabilitating inmates to ensure that they do not return to prison.

A graduate of St. Mary's University, Wathen-White also has served as a board member of the Texas coalition for Juvenile Justice and was legislative chairman for the San Antonio Alliance for the Mentally ill.

Women At Risk For Cardiovascular Disease

For menopausal women concerned about risk for cardiovascular disease, staying young at heart may require replacing hormones the body no longer produces.

"Women experience a four-fold increase in heart disease during the first decade after menopause," said Dr. Roxann Rokey, DeBakey Heart Center cardiologist and associate professor at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "Research indicates that replacing the estrogen a menopausal woman lacks can reduce the risk by 40 to 50 percent."

Rokey said menopausal women have two options for hormone replacement: estrogen alone or estrogen combined with progestin.

Women receiving estrogen maintain the lower levels of "bad" cholesterol (LDL) and higher levels of "good" cholesterol (HDL) that they had before their ovaries stopped producing the hormone. Researchers do not know exactly how estrogen protects a woman from heart disease, Rokey said.

However, since estrogen can increase the risk for breast or uterine cancer, many doctors prefer to add progestin, a male hormone, to reduce the risk.

The combination therapy has not been thoroughly studied for cardiovascular benefits, Rokey said.

"To date, large heart studies of menopausal women have focused on estrogen-only therapy, so we need to study how estrogen combined with progestin affects a woman's cholesterol levels and heart health," she said.

"There is some evidence, though, that using the combined hormones also reduces a woman's risk for heart disease after menopause."

Rokey notes that the cancer risk from estrogen therapy is usually far less than for heart disease for most menopausal women, particularly those with other risk factors such as high cholesterol with low HDL or high LDL levels, and a strong family history of premature cardiovascular disease.

"Five to 10 years ago, menopausal status was not considered a heart disease risk factor. Now there is no doubt in my mind that menopausal women are at increased risk for cardiovascular disease and should be evaluated for hormone therapy," Rokey said.

The DeBakey Heart Center is a joint program of Baylor College of Medicine and The Methodist Hospital supporting cardiovascular research, treatment and education.

Texas Senate Week In Review

March 23, 1993

The Texas Senate met Monday morning and passed SB 145 by Sen. Royce West of Dallas which would impose a Class B misdemeanor offense for recklessly discharging a fireman in any municipality. The bill will attempt to help combat instances where people indiscriminately fire weapons, such as on New Year's Eve or the 4th of July. Also Monday, the Senate passed CSSB 424 by Sen. Chris Harris of Arlington which establishes spousal support (alimony) after the dissolution of marriages that have lasted at least ten year. The bill limits the amount of support to $1500 per month or 25 percent of the spouse's average monthly net resources, whichever is less. Both bills now go to the House for further consideration.

The Senate met Tuesday and passed SB 232 by Sen. Frank Madla of San Antonio which repeals provisions for the performance of a marriage ceremony within 72 hours of the issuance of a marriage license. Currently, state law prohibits a marriage ceremony for at least 72 hours immediately following the issuance of a marriage license.

On Wednesday, the Senate met and passed SB 377 by Sen. Bill Haley of Center which would end regulation of AT&T as a long distance carrier by the Public Utility Commission. Currently, AT&T is the only long distance carrier--out of 195 in Texas--that falls under P.U.C. regulations for the approval of all major price changes and new service proposals. The Senate also passed SB 40 by Sen. David Sibley of Waco which will strengthen laws concerning "outcry testimony" in child abuse cases. "Outcry testimony", which is testimony from the first adult a child told of an assault, is currently only allowed if the child also testifies.

On Thursday morning, the Senate met and passed a package of eight mental health reform bills designed to end alleged abuses in private psychiatric hospitals and make the facilities more accountable for their actions. The bills are the result of a special committee Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock appointed last year to study allegations of patient abuse and insurance fraud by psychiatric facilities. Sen. Chris Harris of Arlington, Sen. Mike Moncrief of Ft. Worth, and Sen. Judith Zaffirini of Laredo were named to the original committee and were later joined by Sen. David Sibley of Waco and former Sen. Chet Brooks. The bills passed: set guidelines for patient admission; create a patient's bill of rights; restrict the use of controversial treatments such as shock therapy; establish whistleblower laws that require health care workers to report incidents of patient abuse; enhance the state penal code, making it a felony for hospitals, individuals, or companies to offer a bounty for patient referrals; require insurance companies to monitor billing for fraud; and establish a mandate that psychiatric hospitals examine a patient 24 hours after the patient requests a discharge. Also, Thursday, Senators drew numbers to determine the length of their current terms as required by the Texas Constitution every ten years after the redistricting process. The process is used to stagger the terms of the membership. Sixteen senators received four-year terms and fifteen received two-year terms. In the event the Senate redistricting map changes dramatically, all members will face reelection in 1994.

"Across the Atlantic, of course," replied her mother. "Trans always means 'across.'"

"Then I suppose," continued Clara, "that transparent means a cross parent."

Working Students and Taxes

Becoming an adult means taking on more responsibility, including tax responsibility. Students who work should look at their whole situation, not just how much they make on the job, when determining their tax liability. Working more hours, going from job to job, or even earning interest on a savings account could change a student's tax situation during the year.

A working student can complete Form W-4, "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate," to determine how much, if any, tax should be withheld from each pay check. Once filled out, Form W-4 must be given to the employer so he or she may withhold as necessary. Whether a student needs withholding to pay for income tax depends on many things, including:

- the total earnings the student will make this year at this and any other job,
- savings accounts or other investments that produce income,
- scholarships that may be partially or fully taxable for the year, and
- whether the student can be claimed as a dependent on someone else's tax return.

In general, a single student who can be claimed as a dependent by another person will owe no federal income tax if he or she:

- does not have more than $600 in total income, some part or all of which is unearned income; or
- is under age 24 at the end of the calendar year and earns up to $3,600 in wages, tips, taxable scholarships, and other earned income, provided he or she has no unearned income such as interest or dividends; or
- is 24 or older at the end of the calendar year, has no unearned income, and earns less than $2,300.

A student who is 24 or older at the end of the calendar year and earned $2,300 or more usually cannot be claimed as a dependent on another person's return. However, if this student earns $5,900 or more, he or she must file a tax return on which he or she can claim his or her own exemption.

For more information, get Form W-4 and Publication 4, Student's Guide to Federal Income Tax. Order them by calling the Internal Revenue Service at 1-800-829-3676.

"Egg-citing" Easter Fun

(NAPS)—Easter will be more "egg-citing" this year for many youngsters, thanks to new games, a new phone hotline and a contest that can add a lot to Easter fun.

Now at many local stores are "Eat 'n Treat Activity Play Packs" featuring an assortment of bendy toys, stickers, crayons and games to add hours of Easter fun. They're from one of the leading producers of chocolate novelties, Frankford Candy and Chocolate Company. Children are likely to love "Mr. Egghead's Playhouse," a toothsome, hollow chocolate egg; the "Colorin' Bunny Box"; and "Where's the Wabbit" mystery game.

Some 75 million chocolate bunnies hop off the candy company's assembly line each year. Now children can call a toll-free number—1-800-2-FRANKIE—to hear a pre-recorded message with holiday celebration tips from Frankie, the Frankford Easter Bunny. They'll also learn how to join the Frankie Bunny Club, free, and receive, by mail, an autographed picture of Frankie, a membership card and a free bendy toy.

Club members are also eligible for an Easter drawing. The winner will receive his or her weight in Frankford chocolate covered Eggheads.

Safety Last
"What's making you look so angry?"

Nothing New
"Do you know anything about those lie detectors?"

"Do I know anything about them! I've been married to one for 20 years!"

Tax Refunds Up
More than 6.3 million couples and individuals already have been certified this year for federal tax refunds that are averaging slightly more than in 1992.

Yard Care Tips and Tactics

North American Precip Syndicate
The grass could be greener on your side of the fence if you heed these tips from the Monsanto experts, makers of Greensweep Ten Minute Lawn Care Products.

- Water your grass early in the day and allow it to dry off by sundown to help curb the spread of lawn fungus and disease.
- To mow and grow a better lawn, be sure your lawn gets a half-inch of water every five days during the growing season. Deep, infrequent watering encourages deep, healthy root growth.
- Apply a selective weed and feed product in the spring to prevent broadleaf weeds like dandelion and chicken weed from robbing your lawn of nutrients and moisture.
- To minimize stress on your lawn, adjust mower blades to a cutting height of two-and-a-half inches in the spring and raise blades to three inches in the fall.
- To help control lawn damage, apply a lawn insecticide in early spring while surface feeding insects are active.
- The best way to control crabgrass, is apply a pre-emergent crabgrass preventer to stop it before it starts to grow.
- Aerate your lawn to introduce oxygen into the turf, and leave grass clippings on the lawn to decay and return organic matter to the soil over the mowing season.
- Collect and discard

It's easier to have a green thumb with the right lawn care products to give you a hand.

accumulated leaves, sticks and droppings from trees to help prevent lawn insects and diseases. Monsanto, the company whose Greensweep Ten Minute Lawn Care Products help many homeowners have a green thumb, is offering a once-in-a-lifetime challenge to the communities of Greenfield, CA and Greenville, TN. Those "green" communities will participate in a two-month competition in which each will create a city beautification program and get the entire town involved.

Called "The Great Greensweep Green-Up," the program stresses community pride and friendly competition. Monsanto will provide "seed" money to help community organizations get their beautification projects underway. Homeowners in each town will get free Greensweep Lawn Care Products to use in their yards. One of these "green" communities will be named "America's Emerald City" on May 15.

THEN NOW!

(NAPS)—Then: Back in 1946, columnist and broadcaster Walter Winchell created a cancer research fund in memory of his friend, writer Damon Runyon, who had a lot of cancer.

Now: Thanks to the Cancer Research Fund of the Damon Runyon-Walter Winchell Foundation, researchers have gained new insights into diseases such as colon cancer and leukemia. Biotechnology is working on ways to translate this knowledge into tests that could help physicians spot tumors sooner and treat them before they become untreatable.

For the future: To make a donation to the Fund, a bequest in your will or a gift to the Fund as a memorial to a loved one—100 percent of which will go to cancer research—write: Cancer Research Fund of the Damon Runyon-Walter Winchell Foundation, 131 East 36th St., Room E, New York, NY 10016.
