Morris Stephens Make Business Trip To South Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stephens spent last week in south Texas, where Morris purchased 200 head of stocker Brahma calves and 15 head of pure bred bull calves for re-sale in this community. The stock was shipped in Saturday. Morris said that south Texas is very dry, and the grass is poor on most of the ranches.

About six weeks ago Morris shipped in from Florida around 2000 head of Brahma calves and sold them out to people who had grass in and around Silvertown. He said most all farmers are interested in buying stock if they have grass land.

Mallows Spend Week in Colorado

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mallow and children and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Webster, spent last week in Colorado on a vacation trip. They returned Saturday and reported a very enjoyable trip.

Arthur Arnold one of the directors of Rural Telephone Association in this area is taking application of farmers for rural telephones, to date he has 62 signed up out of about 500 that should sign if they want rural telephone service.

Anyone wishing to sign application can see Arthur Arnold on the streets in Silvertown, Saturday afternoon, and anyone in the communities that want to volunteer to help get application will be appreciated, Mr. Arnold said.

The following article appeared in the Texas Co-Op Power, and pretty well sums up the situation in Lamb county:

Farmers Are Showing Little Interest in Rural Phones

Can it be that the hundreds of farmers living within the area that would be served by the Lamb County Rural Telephone Association don't want phone service after all?

Such appears to be the case, or at least the current situation seems to bear it out. Out of 2,600 or 2,700 application blanks sent out a few months ago to prospective telephone subscribers, only approximately 300 have been filled out and returned to the local REA office.

We well remember a year ago before federal loans were made available for rural phone projects—that residents in virtually every community in the surrounding area were clamoring at the top of their voices for phone service.

But when it suddenly became possible to make rural telephone service a reality instead of a long-standing dream, the majority of rural citizens merely shrugged and apparently adopted a very complacent attitude about the whole matter.

We don't know the reasons—maybe it's the prolonged drought, maybe it's the wrong season of the year or maybe a sufficiently strong organized effort hasn't materialized as yet—but whatever they are, more interest will have to be shown during the coming months if rural telephones ever network the area.

If more interest is shown on the part of prospective subscribers and a concentrated drive is brought to bear in each community, then the day will surely come when rural phone service will be just as extensive throughout the region as rural electrification is now.

But rural phone service will depend entirely upon the farmers themselves.

They hold the key to the situation.

A HOME TO LIVE IN

John T. Haynes Briscoe County Pioneer Dies

John T. Haynes, 68, rancher and resident of this county for more than a half century, died about 10 a. m. Tuesday, August 22, 1950, in a Lubbock hospital, he had been a patient for some time.

Death brought to a close a long and colorful career of public service and philanthropy, keynoted by many years of active leadership in Boy Scout work in this area.

Final rites were held Wednesday, August 23, 1950 at 3 p. m. at the high school auditorium, conducted by Rev. G. A. Elrod, Baptist Minister, with interment in Silvertown Cemetery under direction of Douglas Funeral Home.

Mr. Haynes was born near Fredericksburg, in Gillespie County. He came to the High Plains area when he was about 12 years of age. Boy Scout work was one of his primary interests, and for many years he devoted much of his time to Scout activities. Several years ago he donated about 80 acres of his ranch land northeast of Silvertown for use as a Boy Scout camp. The camp was named the Mamy Haynes Camp, in memory of his mother.

He also set aside land for use as a Girls Scout Camp.

After the outbreak of World War II, then in his early sixties, cut down on his age and enlisted in the Merchant Marines, serving about three years, relative said.

He originated the Haynes Bond awards which yearly are made to Scout troops within the South Plains area council having shown the greatest advancement.

The bond presented each year bears the autograph of Admiral Chester Nimitz and other high ranking military officials. Haynes was a schoolmate of Admiral Nimitz during his boyhood at Fredericksburg.

The bond is kept by winning Scout troops for a 12-month period, then presented to some other outstanding troop at the next annual banquet of the South Plains Area council.

Mr. Haynes is survived by two sons, Jack Haynes, of Lubbock and Jim Haynes, of Eagle Pass; and three sisters, Mrs. Kyles Holderness of Oklahoma City, Miss Bill Haynes, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Mary Daniels of Plainview.

Mrs. Daniels preceded her husband in death in 1922. A son was killed during world war II while flying the Hump and was reburied in the National cemetery in St. Louis last March. A daughter died in infancy.

Boy Scouts were honorary pallbearers.

Wheat Support Price for 1951 St at $1.99

Agriculture Secretary Brannon said Monday that the government will support the 1951 wheat crop at not less than $1.99 a bushel.

Brannon elected to assure farmers the highest lawful support price for the crop—at 90 per cent of parity—"in view of the world situation." Next year's price support level is the same as that prevailing this year.

The secretary could have brought the support level to as low as 80 per cent of parity, but kept it at the maximum to assure a strong wheat supply.

He said the support level, in line with a national acreage allotment of 72.8 million acres, is expected to encourage production of one billion, 150 million bushels. This year's crop is estimated at 996 million bushels.

P. T. A Committee Met With School Board August 14

Monday night, August 14, a P. T. A. committee composed of Mrs. Allen Kellum, Mrs. Wayland Fitzgerald and Mrs. M. G. Moreland, met with the school board and Supt. Moreland to discuss the subject of vaccinations for the entire school body and birth certificates for the first graders.

After a discussion it was decided the parents would be advised to have their children of school age vaccinated for small pox, diphtheria and whooping cough before school started, and that all beginners would be required to present a birth certificate.

B. by cooperating with the State Health Department in their X-ray Survey that starts September 30.

There were four visitors present. Herbert Pennington of Exeter, California, brother-in-law of Lion George Seane. Three Boy Scouts Joe Vardell, Victor Fogerson and Eddie B. Jasper.

Joe Vardell gave a report on his trip to Philmont Scout Camp in New Mexico. Joe surely must have had a good time according to his report. The Lions Club helped to make it possible for him to attend camp.

A THOUGHT WORTH READING AND REMEMBERING

The following editorial was lifted from the Memphis, Texas, Democrat and we are passing it along:

ADVERTISING

We heard a man make a silly—and rather stupid—slam against advertising recently. Referring to the price of a particular item, he commented that the advertising expense made the price about 30 percent more than it normally would be.

Now we don't know where he got his figures for these assertions but we seriously doubt their accuracy. Research has proven that the advertising expense on many items is less than one percent of the total cost.

Nor can we understand how this man could question the value of advertising to our economic growth. Actually advertising is one of the most essential elements in a country which bases its economic livelihood on free enterprise.

Ask any thoughtful tourist who has been to the European continent to tell you some of the difference between this country and those, and chances are he will comment on the lack of advertising there. And, partly as a result of this, there is a lack of automobiles, radios and other conveniences and necessities which are so common in this country. Advertising has helped build the big industries of this country which, in turn, have supplied you with the products that makes your living standard the highest in the world.

Large scale advertising is a comparative "youngster," even in this country. It is a growing field and has suffered—still does, in fact—the usual pains of its growth.

But it is a very progressive field and has done a great service to this country. It is honestly striving to correct its mistakes.

It is impossible to imagine an economic system such as ours without advertising.

SUPPLEMENT GRAIN IN HOG RATIONS—FEED FOR WIDEST MARGIN OF PROFIT

The present condition of rising prices makes hog production very profitable for farmers who have home grown grain on hand, and the pork producer who feeds a ration that will put the most economical gains on his hogs receives the widest margin of profit.

Farmers should not allow their attention to be diverted from the advantages of feeding a balanced ration to hogs by the present rising hog prices and favorable feed prices, cautions E. M. Regenbrecht, extension swine husbandman of Texas A. and M. College.

Neglecting to include the necessary amount of protein supplement reduces the digestibility of the ration, raising the feed required per pound of gain and reducing the margin of profit.

Regenbrecht says that a farmer who has home-grown grain can get economical gains by including only a good protein supplement and providing a good pasture to insure that the nutritional deficiencies of the corn or other grain are met.

He points out that corn or sorghum grain alone produces slow and costly gains, but when the grain is supplemented with the correct protein and mineral supplements, the rate of gain is speeded up and the cost of grain is reduced.

11,915 Persons Have Over Million Dollars, Report

WASHINGTON — According to government sources and compilers of mailing lists, there are 11,915 millionaires in the United States, and American business in 1949 paid at least 51 executives $200,000 or more a year.

Many argue that it is getting more difficult all the time to make a fortune, but the fact remains that each year since the end of World War II at least 75 more Americans amassed that universally coveted first million.

There are, according to available figures, 306 more millionaires today than there were in 1946. Which means that one American out of every 12,500 or so has a cool million.

According to one of the largest list compiling agencies, there are now 22,307 persons in this country worth between $500,000 and a million; 52,113 have between $250,000 and half a million; 130,439 have between $100,000 and a quarter of a million, and, all told, some 589,141 Americans could rustle up $50,000 or more.

American business paid 160 executives between $100,000 and $200,000 last year in addition to those who received $200,000 or more. The highest was $386,000 in salary, bonus and stock paid to the president of General Motors.

The president of GM was taxed $430,350 of his $586,000 by the federal government. But getting back to the wealthy persons in the United States, according to reports there are 2,566 millionaires in New York. Pennsylvania is second with 1,129. Ohio boasts 802 and Massachusetts' 775. Illinois comes fifth with 715, ahead of the 610 officially residing in California.

Miner's Glasses Take 1,000 Mile Journey

LONDON, Eng. — Alfred Thompson's spectacles went on a 1,000 mile journey, but came back, much to his relief. The glasses started their journey when he placed them in their case and set the case down on a halted conveyor belt at a colliery in Ashington, England.

No sooner had he put the case on the belt than the conveyor started to move. The belt dropped the glasses into a tub, which in turn was emptied into a railway car, which was moved to Blyth to be unloaded into a collier.

Then the ship set sail for the Isle of Wight. Dock workers there found the case with the glasses unbroken and Mr. Thompson's address inside. They sent them back to him.

New Zealand Hermit Has Perfect Atomic Hideout

DUNEDIN, N. Z. — Comes the revolution, or an atomic war, there is one human in this world who has an excellent chance of survival.

He is Jules Berg, a New Zealand hermit, who has lived on Preservation Inlet, probably the least susceptible area on earth to radioactivity, for the past 25 years.

Preservation Inlet is a fiord in the extreme southwest corner of New Zealand. A deep, narrow arm of the sea, it runs inland for about 20 miles between steep mountain walls which would tend to block radioactive clouds. Its dense rainfall would clear death-dealing matter out of the atmosphere.

Fiord county covers more than 3,000 square miles and has a population of eight. The only feasible access to the inlet is by sea.

Mr. Berg lives in the remote spot like a comfortable Robinson Crusoe. He has a cottage and extensive vegetable garden and gets fresh meat from a deer trap in the adjacent forest.

He also has a gold mine which he works when he feels like it. As civilization provides little that he needs, however, he usually lets the gold stay where it is.

Teaneck Theater Manager Bans Teen-Agers From Show

TEANECK, N. J. — Al Harris, manager of Teaneck's only motion picture theater, issued an ultimatum. Teen-agers unaccompanied by adults would no longer be admitted.

In the three weeks before the ban they set fire to the theater three times and countless other times he had to halt the movies and climb on to the stage to appeal for quiet.

"I am reluctant to take steps of this nature," he said, "but under the circumstances I have no alternative. Teen-age groups attending this theater not only have been destructive but extremely boisterous, denying the adults a pleasurable evening."

Teaneck is the town selected last September by the army as a model community and, as such, was photographed for an exhibition of American democratic processes for use in the government's reeducation and reorientation program in occupied countries.

The ban applied only to children between 14 and 18. Younger children, the manager said, caused no trouble.

Woman Turns Down Art Career For Plain Life

NEW YORK — A short, broad-shouldered woman with closely cropped graying hair, her hands rough and red from her job as a charwoman, recently had a one-man show in a Manhattan art gallery of her oil paintings.

She also had a chance at fame as a primitive painter, but the woman, Julia Asmus, 62, who earns $18 a week scrubbing apartments, turned it down.

She rejected a subsidy from an art patron which would have permitted her to quit charring and paint full time.

Started Painting in 1923

"If I was 20 and could put on nice earrings and pretty myself up, maybe," she said. "But I'm so old and ugly. I wouldn't stand that. I like a just plain home life."

And as her show opened, the woman who widely known artists called "one of the few genuine primitives since the great Henri Rousseau", continued to scrub floors.

Miss Asmus started painting in 1923. Until 1928 she was an attendant in a number of mental institutions. Then she wanted a place to go home to after a hard day's work and began doing housework by the hour.

"When I can't sleep," she said, "instead of reading a book like most people, I get up and paint."

She first came to the attention of the art world when an artist saw one of her paintings in the home of friends for whom she charred.

Doubts Their Worth

While other people rave over her paintings, she remained skeptical that her art was worth money, but did tell the gallery director that she couldn't afford to sell the smallest ones for less than $5 or the next larger size for less than $10.

The director, however, priced the paintings at $40 to $400 and opened to sell at least five or six.

Her largest canvas is a 34 by 52 inch painting which Miss Asmus titled "Walking in the Light of Man". It depicts God as a man with curly gray hair and beard, wearing a dark monklike robe.

Other paintings show landscapes with figures such as a child might draw. They are flat looking still lifes and portraits from her imagination. Artists have praised their color and texture.

Asked what she would do if her painting made her rich and famous, she couldn't think of anything she wanted for a few minutes.

She said finally, "Well, I would like to get over to London to see the queen."

Accepting Gifts Proper For Japanese Officials

TOKYO — It recently came to light that Japanese government officials have been accepting gifts, in some instances, totaling several million yen.

In the United States if an official accepts a gift it is looked upon as a bribe and is punishable with a prison sentence or fine, or both. Not so in Japan.

In any other period of history the investigation being carried on in Japan would not have caused a ripple of excitement. The Japanese have always considered it proper to show "courtesy" to officials of all ranks in the form of expensive entertainment, presents and gifts of money.

These presents, depending on circumstances, may or may not have been motivated by hope of securing profitable government contracts or influencing legislation.

The custom was widespread, extending even to low-rank officials, and generally was considered proper. Officials accepted these courtesies as their right and the gifts helped supplement the low salaries which all Japanese officials receive.

Another custom was the Japanese officials have been provided with a cash reserve which they could spend as they wished, for entertaining other officials, or for expenses while traveling on government business. An accounting was not required.

All these customs are made public with the announcement of an investigation into spending by Japanese officials. And it has brought the bizarre complaint from some Japanese leaders that the "democratic ideals" of the west are irreconcilable with the traditions of the land of the rising sun.

Dallas Newsboy Credited With Saving Twenty People

DALLAS, Tex.—Tom Bradley, 16-year-old newspaper carrier, is credited with saving 20 lives.

While making his morning paper route he heard the noise of leaking gas in an apartment house. He notified firemen who reused 20 sleeping tenants. All were evacuated.

A fire captain said the gas was strong enough in eight of the building's 12 apartments to explode at the turn of a light switch.

Apprehension May Cause Motion Sickness

Few persons suffer from motion sickness, but those who do find only misery in travel.

Alcohol taken before a trip disposes one toward motion sickness in any of its forms. People who think they will not be sick if they empty stomachs when embarking on a flight, a rail trip, an automobile jaunt or a steamship voyage use false logic, he says. A light meal of easily digestible food is preferable to no food at all.

Motion sickness is the general term for the nausea that afflicts some travelers no matter what kind of transportation they use. It goes under the name of air sickness for air travelers and sea sickness for steamship passengers and various terms for other modes of locomotion. But it is all the same thing.

The cause of motion sickness, like the cause of the common cold, has never been pinned down to an ultimate source. Some authorities believe motion sickness results from a confusion between the eyes and the body's stabilization mechanism. Others believe that abnormal motion, such as the swaying of an automobile or the pitching of a ship at sea, affects the organs of balance.

There is no question that apprehension plays a large part in many cases. But one's physical condition is perhaps more important at any given time. Alcohol, greasy foods, apprehension and morbid physical condition predispose the traveler toward illness.

How to Check Strength, Quality, of Turkish Towel

Samson's strength was in his hair; that's a well-known fact. Unlike Samson, the strength of a Turkish towel is in the backbone or ground weave of the towel. That's something many women don't know.

Women with no knowledge of this hidden towel strength fail to examine the fabric underneath the loops of a terry towel which makes up the ground weave or underweave. Yet, it is this ground or underweave which best indicates how well the towel will wear.

What this underweave does is to hold the towel loops in place, take the strain of pulling which accompanies towel use, and act in the capacity of a sponge in absorbing water from the surface loops. Only an underweave which is firm to the touch, closely and tightly woven, will impart strength to a Turkish towel and hold the loops securely.

Water Seepage into Ocean

How deeply does water seep into the ocean bottom? A great deal of the ocean floor is covered with sediments, of sand or mud, ranging from a few feet to many thousands of feet in thickness. The spaces between the individual grains are filled with sea water which was trapped when the sediments were deposited. Subsequent biological and chemical activity may often have modified such water so that it differs from that in the ocean above. Where there is no sediment, as on the edges of continental shelves and isolated banks and ridges, the sea bottom may consist of solid rock. Here the penetration of the water may vary from a fraction of an inch to several feet, depending on the porosity and permeability of the rock.

Atom First Smashed

Experiments made with elements (like radium discovered in 1898) showed that these spontaneously break up into other elements, with the liberation of various atomic particles and radiation. In 1919, with particles emitted from radium, Sir Ernest Rutherford, at Cambridge university, succeeded in producing changes in the nuclei of nitrogen atoms. The first successful "atom smashing" with artificially produced particles came in 1932 when two other Cambridge scientists, J. D. Cockcroft and E. T. S. Walton, used nuclei of hydrogen atoms (called "protons"), accelerated them with energies of 700,000 volts and fired them at lithium atoms thus smashing them to produce nuclei of helium atoms.

Ulcers in Pigs

About five out of every hundred hogs that go to market have a special reason for squealing. The reason, it seems, is that they're suffering from ulcers of the stomach. All species of large domestic animals, as well as pets, are susceptible to the type of stomach ulcers that afflict human beings. However, there are fewer cases in farm animals than in people, due to environmental factors and to the apparent ulcer-preventive effect of fresh green feeds.

"Gang Rule" in Children

"Gang rule" is never stronger, than in childhood. The wise parent who wants to combat an undesirable group influence on his child can use this very strength of the "gang" to his own advantage. His job is to redirect the interests of the entire group into wholesome channels rather than to forbid his child to play with others. In doing so, he achieves a lasting victory, and one of community benefit.

CREAM PEAS BEST TO FREEZE ACCORDING TO RECENT EXPERIMENTAL TESTS

Varieties and selections of peas in the cream group produced the more attractive packs when experimental freezing trials were conducted with varieties and selections of Southern peas grown at College Station.

These freezing trials were conducted by Thomas S. Stephens and W. H. Brittingham of the department of horticulture, Texas A. and M. College.

The group of cream selections and varieties were of excellent appearance when they were removed from the freezer at the end of three months and allowed to thaw at room temperature prior to opening the container. One cream selection was slightly chalky in appearance.

The researchers say that the brightness along with a light color which the cream group possessed could give them the advantage of "eye appeal" and consumer acceptance.

They found that the most attractive pack in the pigmented "eye" group was obtained by using varieties or selections with light (buff) eye color because the dark (maroon and black) eye colors diffuse into the body of the pea when frozen.

The peas were examined for splits and defects after thawing and after cooking, but there was no indication, except in case of one of the cream selections, that a variety or selection which had a low split and defect percentage after thawing would exhibit the same low split and defect percentage after cooking.

After being cooked, nearly half of the California No. 5 Blackeye peas were split, while one of the cream selections had a split percentage of only about 10 percent after cooking. The Jackson Purple Hull packages had the highest percentage of defective peas both after thawing and after cooking.

Stephens and Brittingham say that they consider Jackson Purple Hull the least attractive of the varieties tested for freezing preservation because of the tendency for this variety to mush, as evidenced by the highest percentage of defective peas before and after cooking, and because of the deep maroon color which diffuses into the body of the pea.

Light laundering of a garment before it becomes badly soiled will increase the life of the material by removing the dirt, dust and perspiration before they become deeply embedded in the fabric.

Planning, maintenance and repair plus good operation on the part of the ginner should result in better prepared cotton for the spinner and higher grades for the producer.

Farm animals get most of their vitamin A requirements from carotene which is found in green range or pasture grasses and hay or other forage. The carotene is changed to vitamin A within the body of the animal. Both carotene and vitamin are stored in the liver of the animal.

Shell color of eggs does not affect the flavor, the food value or the cooking performance. There is no advantage to the homemaker in paying more for brown or white eggs of the same quality and size.

A solution of one pound of dry sulphur in three gallons of water, applied to the trunk and framework branches of the trees with an old paint brush, is a good stop-gap remedy for controlling San Jose scale in orchards during the late summer and fall, but a 3 percent dormant oil spray, applied in the winter when the trees are dormant, is necessary for effective control.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE PANHANDLE:

I know you are tired of politics, but the decisive election is at hand as you select your Democratic nominee for congressman.

I entered this race a strong believer in local, self-government; I am alarmed at the power given to bureaus and boards, at your tax dollars wasted and at the dangerous trend toward centralization and socialism in your government at Washington.

As your congressman, I will do my part to check these trends, to abolish waste, to get our defense forces adequately prepared; I will do my best to return your government from the bureaus to the people. I pledge my efforts toward a sound, practical and alert administration in Washington, and my loyalty, and unstinted service to all the people of the district.

May I solicit your vote and support in behalf of these aims?

BADGETT'S PHARMACY

IT'S TIME for BROOKS! Because...

Something must be done now about the runaway cost of our state government—a cost which has increased more than 500 percent in the period between 1935 and 1950. Aside from the cost of World War II, the cost of the Federal government did not increase that much during the same period.

With the State plunging wildly towards a financial crisis, the Lt. Governorship is a business rather than a political office. It needs a business man with a business viewpoint.

Only by the election of a business man can the people of Texas be assured of a direct and vigorous attack on this runaway cost, useless waste, and needless extravagance in our State government.

Only a business man who has not been a part of the system which spawned this era of waste and extravagance can give the problem that searching inquiry and impartial analysis needed now. Pierce Brooks is that man.

The next Lt. Governor of Texas should be above any internal friction, beyond all cross currents of politics, and completely judicial when clashes of personalities arise among members of the Senate. He must be in a position to treat them all alike, to be fair to each, and also to be true to his obligations to the people. Pierce Brooks meets these tests.

Pierce Brooks is the only candidate completely free from the entangling alliances, political obligations, cliques, clans and groups which grow up when men stay in office too long.

The Lt. Governor to be elected in 1950 should not come from the confused atmosphere of the State government, but direct from the people with a program for the people. Pierce Brooks is such a man.

In these crucial times the next Lieutenant Governor should be answerable to the people of the State and not to any group of special interests that has made millions of dollars off the taxpayers.

J. C. Zeigler, of Honolulu, Hawaii, Visited Brothers Here

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Zeigler and family, of Honolulu, Hawaii, left last Thursday after spending about two weeks visiting his brothers, Dave and J. A. Zeigler and their families.

They brought the car tag from Hawaii with them and placed it on their car when they made the purchase. On their return home they will ship their car by boat.

During the first World War J. C. went to Hawaii and after the war ended he returned home, but according to his brother, he liked Hawaii very much and decided to return. He met and married a native girl, and this trip back to the states was the first visit in twenty-one years.

Mr. Zeigler is a barber and has concessions of Hawaii Island and adjacent outpost where American soldiers are stationed. He oversees the shops and makes the trips by plane.

Knowledge Pays in Search For Uranium-Ore Jackpot

Samples of uranium—the magic ore of the Atomic Age—are arriving at the U. S. geological survey in cookie jars, candy boxes, perfume bottles, and cigar boxes.

At least the senders of these packages hope their offerings assay 20 per cent or more uranium oxide. For there is a thirty-two thousand dollar jackpot, including a ten-thousand dollar bonus from the government, at the end of the rainbow for the lucky prospector who can turn up a 20-ton deposit with the required uranium content.

But all is not uranium that registers bonanza hope with the would-be fortune hunters. The 300 to 400 samples of rock and sand which the public sends monthly to be tested for fissionable materials in the geological survey's Washington laboratory are mostly "junk," according to John C. Rabbitt, chief of the trace elements section. Letters accompanying the samples often reveal current misinformation.

One farmer wrote that he believed there was uranium on his land because he felt badly and the cows were jumpy when he started milking.

Another correspondent sent in some rocks with the explanation that he had caught the sun casting two shadows from the spot where they lay on his farm. Did uranium make the sun act strangely?

Still another had seen a strange blue light one night in a marsh on his farm. It was—it must be—uranium, he declared.

Longevity Shows Increase Throughout Whole World

Life is longest in the English-speaking and Scandinavian countries, women live longer than men practically everywhere in the world except India, and Russia is at least a generation behind the United States in longevity.

First as to longevity is New Zealand, where the most recent data—that for 1934-1938—record an expectation of life at birth of 67 years, a level reached among white persons in the United States in 1945. Other leading records are: 65.3 years for Australia in 1932-1934; 66.5 for the Netherlands during the pre-war decade; 66.7 for Denmark in 1941-1945, the time of war and occupation; 65.6 for Sweden in 1936-1940; and 65.3 years for France in 1947.

For Germany the figure was 61.4 years in 1932-1934, which is practically the same as for the United States near that time. A somewhat lower level is shown generally for the remainder of Western and Central Europe, while Eastern Europe and most of the Latin American countries have a still poorer record.

The most recent information available for Russia in Europe is for 1926-1927, when the expectation of life was 44.4 years.

"Sucker State"

For years Illinois residents have squirmed at the unfortunate nickname, "Sucker State," which was applied to their fair territory in the early 1800's. However, the nickname isn't as bad as it sounds, because the earliest use of the term "sucker" was "one who lives by his wits." This meaning, explains the research experts, stems from the sucker fish which attaches itself to a large fish to obtain transportation and food. Illinois' embarrassing springs from the new meaning of the word "sucker," which is a greenhorn, dupe, or easy mark. This unfortunate change has caused the state to plug for its new nickname, "The Prairie State."

Meaning of "Gold-Filled"

The term "gold-filled" does not mean some other metal filled with gold, but a gold shell filled with a core of strong metal alloy. The process of gold-filling is made possible by the strange fact that a rod of metal alloy encased in gold can be rolled, drawn, and otherwise worked down to the smallest size without breaking or destroying the gold covering. The process starts with a tube of 12-carat gold, about a foot long and an inch and a half in diameter. Into this is pushed a solid rod of the alloy, and the two are united by a thin layer of solder.

Cattle X Disease

Animal health investigators are no closer to discovering what causes X disease in cattle, but they're pretty sure that DDT is not causing it. Statements issued a few months ago pointed the finger of suspicion at DDT, a widely used insecticide. But research has now proved that the suspicion was groundless. The presence of X disease before the use of DDT, its occurrence on farms where DDT has not been used, and absence of the insecticide in tissues of known cases of X disease is positive evidence that DDT is not involved.

Hot Water System

It is not advisable to drain the boiler and pipes of a home hot water heating system and to put in fresh water before using again in the fall. Draining and refilling a hot water system adds scale and oxygen, and it should not be done unnecessarily. When necessary to drain and refill, boiler compound should be added to the water to prevent rust and scale formation.

Former Russian Laborer Tells of Horrors

CINCINNATI—If those who advocate communism for the United States could live in Russia for a few years and get to know the conditions they would quickly change their minds, Mrs. Katherine Reitenbach asserts.

Reitenbach, who recently returned from Russia after five years as a slave laborer in Russian coal mines, Americans would find it hard to believe the true conditions of the country.

She was born in the United States and moved to Germany when she was a child. In 1918 she was living in Yugoslavia when she was taken by the Russians along with many other German and Hungarian girls, to work in a labor camp.

At the first labor camp to which she was sent, there were 900 workers, most of whom had been in the United States for two or three years.

Reitenbach said the workers were paid, but they had to give up their food, and then had to give up their clothing, and then had to give up their water, and then had to give up their bedding.

Under that plan, every worker would be free and workers would receive no pay, because there would be nothing to buy, she said.

Reitenbach said she was informed that she would be world-wide communitarianism by 1952, and then the realization of Communist objectives. Under that plan, every worker would be free and workers would receive no pay, because there would be nothing to buy, she said.

TEXAS FREEDOM CHIEF

Lieut. General Preston A. Weathered, Dallas, prominent attorney of the Southwest and retired former commander of the 36th Infantry Division, Texas National Guard, has been appointed Texas State Chairman of the Crusade For Freedom by General Lucius D. Clay, national chairman of the movement.

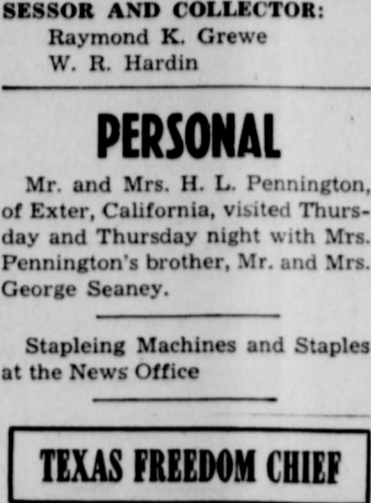

General Weathered said that he was pleased to take the post of directing the Texas program for the Crusade For Freedom, which will include an intensive nation-wide, six weeks campaign in September and October. Plans are being made now for a strong Texas executive committee to lead the campaign in every section of the state.

Designed to halt communism and to save freedom, the movement will enroll millions of Americans on "Freedom Scrolls," to be permanently enshrined in the base of a 10-ton, 8-foot high "Freedom Bell" to be erected in Berlin next October. It also will support a vigorous and continuous series of radio programs to pierce the Iron Curtain of Communist Russia and its satellite countries.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower and General Clay, who was American Military Governor of Germany during the Berlin airlift, together with a group of outstanding business, professional and civic leaders of the nation, are heading the National Committee For A Free Europe, the organization sponsoring the Crusade.

Business Leader With Great War Record Tells How Hadacol Has Rebuilt Him Physically

Was run-down, weak, after service in South Pacific due to deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin

Mr. Donald Hedburg, who resides at 1812 Parker in the fashionable Riverside District of Wichita, Kansas, has been an up-and-coming executive member of the staff of the great Wichita Eagle newspaper for over four years.

Mr. Hedburg has an enviable record of combat with the U. S. Army in the South Pacific in World War II. He is very active in civic affairs. And just as he was anxious to pitch in and do a job during the war—he now wants to help his fellow citizens who (like he was once), are physically run-down and weak due to lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron, and Niacin in their systems.

Here is Donald W. Hedburg's witnessed statement: "When I returned from service, I faced the problem of rebuilding myself physically. I was in a general run-down condition.

"In my present capacity of advertising salesman for Kansas' greatest newspaper, The Wichita Eagle, it's absolutely necessary that I have plenty of vitality—'get up and go.' I had real cause to worry. Nothing seemed to rebuild me constitutionally. Then a friend of mine on the national staff told me about HADACOL—he asked me to try at least five bottles. I'm on my fourth bottle and already I feel like my old self. I look forward to a day's work and go home—play with the children—work in the yard—fish until midnight! Thanks again to HADACOL, energy and vitality once again course through every fiber of my body. You bet, I too, am now a missionary for this great new HADACOL."

Get That Wonderful HADACOL Feeling Everyone is Talking About

HADACOL gives such wonderful results because it not only supplies deficient, weak run-down systems with more than their daily needs of important

Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron, and Niacin—but also helpful amounts of precious Calcium, Phosphorus and Manganese—elements so vital to help maintain good health and physical fitness.

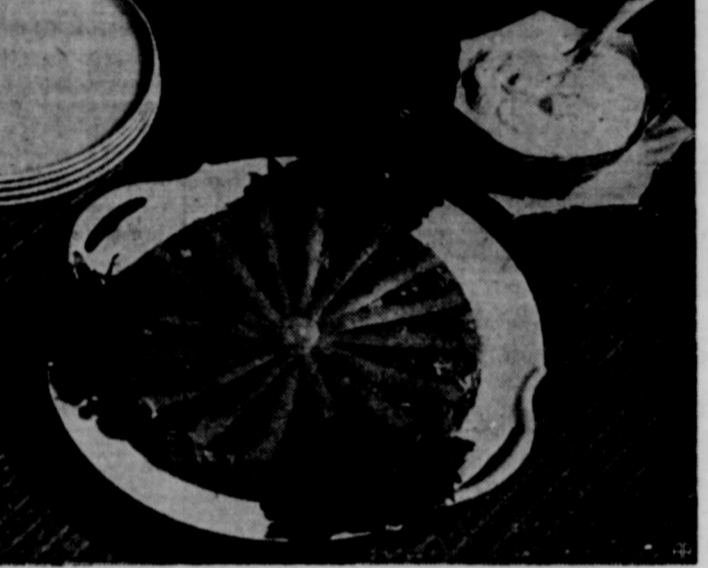

If you are a victim of neuritis pains, certain stomach and nervous disturbances, constipation, insomnia or a weak, run-down condition due to such deficiencies, HADACOL will start you on the road to feeling better often within a few days. Thousands upon thousands of records of grateful men, women and children proved this to be so.

Many Doctors Recommend It

HADACOL is recommended by many doctors not only to their patients but to members of their own families who have such deficiencies. Before giving up hope—you owe it to yourself to at least give HADACOL a chance to help you. Why keep dragging yourself around feeling "half-alive" when it's so easy to have that wonderful HADACOL feeling that everyone is talking about! Trial-size bottle, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes.

Cart Wheel Salad

Vegetable salad molded to cart wheel shape in your round layer cake pan, and "spoked" with carrot strips, makes an easy-to-prepare and dramatic dish to serve the family, to take as your contribution to picnics, pot luck or covered dish affairs, to make in honor of this year's fine crop of healthful vegetables.

Be sure to let everyone see it whole. Serve it in pie-shape wedges with plenty of smooth mayonnaise or salad dressing.

- Cart Wheel Salad
- 1 pkg. lemon gelatin dessert
 - 1 1/2 cups boiling water
 - 1 1/2 cups shredded raw cabbage
 - 1 1/2 cups chopped green pepper
 - Salt
 - 4 small carrots
 - Watercress
 - Mayonnaise or salad dressing
- Dissolve the gelatin in the boiling water. When cold and thickened, fold in the shredded cabbage and chopped green pepper, seasoned with salt. Pour into an 8-inch round layer cake pan and chill until firm. Peel and cook the carrots, and when cold, cut them into thin lengthwise strips. Unmold the gelatin on a round chop plate and arrange the carrot strips on it to resemble the spokes of a wheel, with a round slice of carrot in the center to simulate the hub. Garnish the plate with watercress and serve each portion with mayonnaise or salad dressing.

Continental Oil Company has awarded a contract for construction of a $2,250,000 research laboratories building in Ponca City, Okla., that will provide the Company with one of the most advanced development and research programs in the American oil industry. It has been announced by President L. F. McCollum. The new structure, as shown in the architect's sketch above, will be three stories and is expected to be completed in the fall of 1951. Approximately half of the building will be occupied by the Company's central research laboratories, which will include an organic chemical laboratory, comprised of a petroleum chemical division and a lubricating oil division; a physics research laboratory, for research in electronics, X-ray diffraction and mass spectrometry; an analytical laboratory, consisting of both chemical and physical methods units; and a colloid laboratory, for carrying on fundamental work on greases and allied materials.

Coal Shoveler Finds Money; Wins Trip to U.S.

WASHINGTON—Giuseppe Bortoletto, Italian coal shoveler from Italy, received a free trip to the United States all because he was honest.

Bortoletto was shoveling coal in a mine when he found a wallet. It had $35 in American money, a lot of money for an Italian. He turned it in and went home.

The wallet had belonged to Veal, a Virginia coal miner, who lost it over a year ago while working in the Clinchfield Coal field mines.

The Marshall plan officials about Bortoletto's honesty thought he should be rewarded before he realized what was going on. Bortoletto was on his way to the United States.

The United States he appeared on radio shows, saw a coal mine was toasted by Italian officials.

Large Crowd Hear Elder Degg at Church of Christ

A large and appreciative audience listened to Elder Degg last Sunday morning as he spoke from the pulpit at the Church of Christ. Brother Degg read from Romans 14 chapter broadening out on use of the "Talents," thus showing if we use our talents which God had given us, for the up-building of His cause on earth, they will be multiplied, some five, some tens. But if we fail to use our God given talents, we may be classed, as the one who digged in the ground and buried His talent, because he felt "God was a Hard Master," accusing Him of "gathering where he did not reap."

The community is most cordially invited to hear Brother Degg each Lords Day, 11 a. m. and 5 p. m.
