Melvin Heckman Returns From GM Training School

Melvin Heckman has attended the General Motors Training Center at Oklahoma City, Okla. to learn advanced automotive service techniques which he will use in his work at Simpson Chevrolet Co., Silverton, Texas.

Mr. Heckman spent two and a half days at the Oklahoma City school, one of a nationwide network of training centers being set up by General Motors to keep employment of its car and truck dealerships abreast of new mechanical developments and service techniques.

A mechanic with Simpson Chevrolet Company for 3 years selected the 1955 New Product course, taking advanced study in the new Chevrolet V-8 Engine and other engineering features incorporated in the new 1955 model.

J. E. Simpson, Jr., head of the company, said he sent Mr. Heckman to the Oklahoma City center to give his customers the benefit of improved service techniques taught there. Simpson Chevrolet handles Chevrolet cars and trucks.

The Oklahoma City training center, with more than 26,000 square feet of floor space, has eight specialized shop classrooms, for use by the Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick, Cadillac, GMC Truck & Coach, Fisher Body and United Motors Service divisions of GM. Each division supplies a highly trained instructor for its courses at the center, which is managed by Vernon Childers.

GM officials expect a total of 5,000 mechanics to attend the center each year. Similar attendance is expected at other training centers when they are completed.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, explained that the purpose of the centers is "to insure that the people who buy our cars and trucks will continue to receive efficient and satisfying service." He said that "the centers will make it possible for dealer service personnel to keep up to date on a systematic basis with improved service methods and technological advances such as air conditioning, power steering, power brakes and other major improvements."
