100 Carloads of Grain to Market

30 PER CENT OF CROP TO MOVE

As The Times goes to press Thursday morning, Scurry County has shipped almost exactly 100 carloads of wheat, averaging about 1,200 bushels to the car.

This total of at least 120,000 bushels has brought an average price of 90 cents per bushel, according to grain buyers, bringing county farmers at least $108,000 in cash.

The average estimate indicates that 30 per cent of the wheat remains to be harvested. If this estimate holds good, 36,000 bushels, valued at about $32,400, will yet move out of the county.

Total Return of $150,000.

Thus, the total value of wheat actually shipped will probably be in the neighborhood of $150,000, considering the shipped crop to be near 100,000 bushels at 90 cents per bushel.

The small percentage of the crop that is not being shipped out will probably bring the total county yield to upwards of 200,000 bushels.

Of course, this estimate of the wheat crop must be supplemented by the oats and barley yields, which are difficult to estimate with any degree of accuracy.

Ideal Weather Has Aided.

Ideal weather, with no hail or high wind, has featured harvesting of this year's crop, said by old-timers to be the biggest grain yield in the history of the county.

Less than five per cent of the wheat has graded below No. 1, according to buyers. Smit has appeared to a very small degree.

If fair weather continues, practically all the crop will be harvested next week, fourth major week of wheat combining.

Installation And Ladies' Night Is Planned By Club

Newly elected Lions Club officers, who will take their places July 1, will be officially installed at a ladies' night program scheduled for Friday night, July 9.

An entertainment committee composed of N. W. Autry, N. R. Clements, Earl Louder, Billie Lee Jr. and J. C. Smith was named at the regular meeting Tuesday by President Frank Farmer. Program for the affair will be announced by this committee at next Tuesday's meeting. The regular noon meeting July 6 will be omitted.

Accepting recommendation of the board of directors, the club voted to make June 29 the final "pay up" day for delinquent members. Semi-annual dues must be paid to Lions International this month. The directors also asked the club to consider sending a delegate to the Lions International convention at Chicago next month, this matter to be voted on at next week's meeting.

Entertainment for the day was provided by Mrs. John E. Sentell and Mrs. Elmer Spears. Mrs. Sentell sang "Trees" and "By the Bend of the River," with Mrs. Spears accompanying. Mrs. Spears played a Chopin waltz. Austin Erwin Jr. was also a club guest.

Hal Lattimore, slated to give a talk concerning his business, cancelled his oratory when club members decided on the spur of the moment to return to their places of business.

Constitution Group Chosen For Snyder

At the request of Sol Bloom, director general of the United States Constitution Sesquicentennial Commission, Washington, Mayor H. G. Towle has named the following Constitution Sesquicentennial committee for Snyder:

Captain J. E. Sentell, Lee T. Stinson, Frank Farmer, A. C. Preull, Mrs. J. D. Scott, Mrs. Wayne Boren and J. C. Smyth.

"I am sure that each one will work to the best of his or her ability to make the celebration a nation-wide success," declares Mayor Towle.

Colorado Mutual In New Snyder Office

A Snyder office has been established for the Colorado Mutual Aid Association, in which a number of Scurry County persons have policies. The office has been established over Towle's jewelry, northwest corner of the square.

H. L. Willis, who has been associated with the association for some time, has moved to Snyder to be in charge of the local office. Dale Warren, formerly of Snyder, is secretary-treasurer of the association, and Dr. H. G. Towle is vice president.

Sizzling Hot!

Spooled by unusually cool May and early June weather, Scurry County residents have been suffering this week from a heat wave of no mean proportions.

Highest temperature of the spell came Tuesday, when the mercury rose to 101 degrees. On Wednesday the high peak was 99 degrees, Monday's high was 99 degrees, and Sunday's was 97 degrees.

Enough breezes have come on most of the warm days to assure alleviation from the heat . . . and nights have been not-too-hot.

But the rising temperatures are helping get out the bumper grain crop . . . and cotton needs this hotness, except in scattered communities that did not receive their share of spring rains.

LOCAL SCOUTS GO TO CAPITAL

Billie King of troop 36 and Ardath Head of troop 35 left early this morning for Sweetwater, first lap on the national jamboree of Boy Scouts of America at Washington, D. C.

From Sweetwater the two top-ranking scouts will go with other boys of the Buffalo Trail Council to Dallas, where they will board a special train bound for the national capital.

No public donations were necessary in order to enable the scouts to make the trip. Treasuries of the two troops and money earned by the boys provided most of the funds needed to finance the jaunt.

Ardath and Billie recently became Eagle scouts, after a siege of study and examinations for several weeks. They are probably the first boys ever to become Eagle scouts in the county.

The building was formerly occupied by the Episcopal Church. It has been purchased by the local Church of the Nazarene.

The pastor issues an invitation to persons not attending services elsewhere to take part in the church's worship.

John Frank Sutton Victim of Lengthy Siege of Sickness

An illness of several months brought death Friday morning at 3:40 o'clock to John Frank Sutton, 73, at the home of a son, A. R. Sutton, one mile east of Snyder.

A native of Texas and West Texan most of his life, the retired rancher was born at San Saba. He moved to Floydada in 1886, to Muleshoe in 1924, and came to Snyder in October of last year.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Barbara Sutton; four sons—A. R. Sutton of Snyder, M. M. Sutton of Muleshoe, C. W. Sutton of Duntun, Colorado, and R. H. Sutton of Albuquerque, New Mexico; one daughter, Mrs. H. D. Foster of Muleshoe; and one sister, Mrs. J. T. Davis of San Angelo.

All the immediate survivors except the son from Colorado were present for final rites at the First Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, 4:00 o'clock. Rev. Lawrence Hays officiated. Burial was in Hillcrest Cemetery, with Maples Funeral Home in charge.

Palbearers were Joe Brown, J. E. LeMond, J. R. Popenjoy, Raymond Grimmitt, William Grimmitt and Shelton Holmes. Misses Lucille Grimmitt, Martha Lou Holmes, Nell Johnson and Helen Singletary were flower girls.

New Townsend Truck.

"Booger Red" Townsend, operator of Townsend Dairy, was driving a new delivery truck yesterday afternoon. He traded his pick-up, in which he has been delivering milk and his orange and grape drinks for some time, for a later model V-8 with full delivery cab. Protection from the severe summer heat persuaded Red to make the deal.

FIRE TRAPPED, MAN BURNS TO DEATH SUNDAY

G. M. Owens Fails to Escape From L. M. Lewis Home—Life Gone When Body Recovered.

The fire of undetermined origin that enveloped the L. M. Lewis residence in East Snyder Sunday morning about 1:15 o'clock, proved a death trap for Grady Marion Owens, who was asleep in the south bedroom.

Owens' body, removed from the four-room house after the flames had been conquered by firemen, was badly burned, the face and head beyond recognition.

Albert (Happy) Shields, who was in the house with Owens when the fire was discovered, told Sheriff Clyde Thomas that he dragged Owens to a door which he found was locked, dropped him there, and was unable to find the blaze victim again.

Asleep Near Radio.

Shields said he had fallen asleep in the living room while listening to a radio, after accompanying Owens home from L. M. Lewis' cafe, where he was employed. Owens was in a bedroom, which was gutted by fire. His body was found, however, in the kitchen, where he had evidently crawled before the smoke and fire overcame him.

Shields said he jumped through a window, breaking the pane, when the flames threatened to trap him. He was slightly injured by the broken glass of the pane.

Origin of the fire was not determined. Only the two south rooms of the Lewis home were badly damaged, all the contents being gutted, but neither walls, ceiling nor floor were completely destroyed.

Lewis' Go Fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis had left about 10:00 o'clock Saturday night on a fishing trip to the Concho River. They had left the cafe in charge of Owens, Mrs. Lewis' pick-up. At San Angelo the Lewises picked up Owens and Mrs. Lewis' only sister, Miss Johnnie Owens, who was to accompany them on the fishing trip.

The fishing party received news of the tragedy when they returned to San Angelo for a forgotten item. News of the tragedy was broadcast by San Angelo police radio in an effort to locate the Lewises.

Owens moved to Snyder in 1924 from Cooper and has since that year worked most of the time on the farm of his father, S. C. Owens, near Snyder. Owens was buried Monday afternoon, 4:00 o'clock, in Hillcrest Cemetery, with Maples Funeral Home in charge. Funeral services were conducted in the Maples chapel by Rev. Lawrence Hays.

Palbearers were Edwin Baker, Jim Hartley, Albert Shields, Bushey Hedges, Homer Chestnut and H. T. Moore. In charge of flowers were Lillie Fields, Lottie Maude Lewis, Mrs. Edwin Baker and Mrs. H. T. Moore.

Bill Holliday and Harold Mooney, charged with burglary in connection with loss of several hundred dollars worth of clothing from the J. D. Mitchell home here early this year, were brought to Snyder Friday from the Tom Green County Jail, San Angelo.

Sheriff Clyde Thomas and Deputy Sheriff Pop Galyean brought the two men to the Scurry County Jail. The two charged men are being held until the summer term of district court, which opens Monday.

Standing between two beautiful yucca plants is still more beautiful Grey Downs of Temple, who will reign as Texas Sweetheart No. 1 at Casa Manana during the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta, June 26 to October 16.

F. J. Helms Sold On Trench Silos On County Farms

F. J. Helms of the Cottonwood community is thoroughly sold on the value of a trench silo.

Last fall the frost and freeze got a field of feed before it had headed out. He dug a trench silo while waiting two weeks for it to dry out, then put it away in the bundle. Helms says that this silage certainly came in fine this spring with the stock clearing up every bite, whereas if he had cut and stacked it dry less than half would have been eaten by the stock.

Many stockmen consider first bitten feed of little value, but Helms made good use of this. And to see the work stock and saddle horses fight over this silage a person would see that the stock want it.

Helms plans to cut up all he puts in a trench silo this year, and he plans to dig at least another silo, too, because he believes that he will be able to feed the cut much quicker than the usual. Winter days are so short he doesn't get as much done as he would like to. The cut silage can be forked out very easily and quickly with the ordinary seed fork.

Gem Theatre To Be Open Again Friday

The Gem Theatre, east side of the square, will be reopened Friday after a shutdown of several weeks, according to A. M. Morgan, operator of the showhouse. A triple program will be presented Friday and Saturday, and the show will reopen again Monday, July 5, with a full schedule of pictures.

NEW PLAN FOR CITY HALL MAY BE INSTITUTED

Snyder Highly Complimented for Quality, Low Cost of WPA-Financed Projects.

The City of Snyder may slightly alter its city hall plans, pursuant to conference this week with district WPA officials.

Under the new plan, the building would be faced with native stone, resulting in a saving estimated at $2,000 according to members of the building and grounds committee and Mayor H. G. Towle, with whom the officials conferred Tuesday and Wednesday.

Immediate construction of the building, long considered, and for which a WPA grant has already been made, is expected by city officials when the new plan is worked out with WPA.

The WPA officials who visited here this week said, after an inspection of local projects in which WPA funds were used, that Snyder is among two or three top sponsoring units of the newly-formed Lubbock district, from the standpoints of quality work and economical operation.

The visitors were especially complimentary of the paving project, which they termed one of the outstanding projects of this nature in West Texas.

W. E. Burke supervisor of operations for the Lubbock district, and Carroll Jordan, an associate, were here Tuesday. Jordan and Mr. Rosdheimer were here yesterday.

The visitor is a graduate of Howard Payne College, Brownwood, and of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth.

Fielder has seen China through the Chinese revolution, the Red revolt, the invasion of Communism and the Japanese attack on Manchuria. He is making his home in Brownwood for a year. He will begin his return trip to China on August 4.

His health has forced Bailey to retire from active work, but he retains his connection with the company, and will return to service when he fully recovers.

Spain plans to move his wife and two boys to Snyder soon.

Revival At M. E. Church Swinging Into Final Week

The revival conducted at the First Methodist Church by Rev. George Tucker and E. H. Martin will close Sunday night. The meeting entered into the second and final week with bright prospects, report the leaders.

"Much good has already been done, and several have already been converted and united with the church," says Pastor H. C. Gordon. "Rev. Tucker has brought some great messages, and the large choir under leadership of Martin has proven a feature of the meeting, and his sweet solos have stirred the hearts of the people. Large crowds have attended the services."

"These men of God have won the hearts of the people of our city. Great things are expected in the last days of the meeting, and plans are being made to receive a large class into the church Sunday morning."

Albert Martin Has Big Crop of Plums

Two branches from as many trees were brought to the Times office as samples—branches that are loaded to the hilt with luscious ripe plums. One variety is an Indian plum with dark red pulp; the other, a sweet plum with green pulp.

The orchard of young trees has a double advantage as to moisture. It is located in the creek bottom, and is also irrigated with water from the swimming pool.

LIGHT DOCKET, LOW INTEREST

The summer term of district court will not give Judge A. S. Mausey and other attaches very much to sweat about, judging from the meagerness of criminal and civil dockets. The term opens Monday.

Only a few cases are slated to come before the court, and officers report that the grand jury will not have a surplus of "new business" to investigate.

Most important case on the docket is the trial of J. L. Heard, charged with the murder of Jim Reynolds late last year. The case was transferred from Borden County on a change of venue. The defense has asked for a continuance.

Other criminal cases slated are burglary charges against Fred Joyner, Bill Holliday, Harold Mooney.

District Clerk J. P. Billingsley has filed the following list of prospective jurors, from whom 12 will be chosen for an initial meeting Monday morning:

Man For Whom Pyron Is Named Died Last Week

Bob Pyron, the man from whom the Scurry County town of Pyron was named, died Monday, June 14, at Excelsior Springs, Missouri, reports Mrs. T. J. Weaver, manager of the Pyron Ranch. A heart attack claimed the former county landowner.

Final rites for the former rancher were held Thursday of last week at Mineral Wells.

Mrs. Pyron and three of the four daughters who survive were visitors Friday on the Pyron Ranch. They came by private plane of one of the daughters to Sweetwater, thence to the ranch by car. The daughters reside in Kentucky.

The late T. J. (Tom) Weaver worked for Mr. Pyron from 1900 through 1903. Mr. Weaver managed the ranch for Boatman's Bank of St. Louis from 1904 to 1908. Boatman's having purchased the place from Mr. Pyron. In 1908 Mr. Weaver purchased the place, and he operated it until his death last year. Mrs. Weaver has been in charge since her husband died.

Joyner Brought To Snyder By Officers

Fred Joyner was returned to the Scurry County jail Sunday night from Houston, where he was placed in jail Thursday by Houston officers at the request of Sheriff Clyde Thomas, who located Joyner in the South Texas city.

Joyner is charged with burglary in connection with loss of goods from the Perry Brothers store during the Christmas holidays. He was released from the city jail under $150 bond, but disappeared from the county before the case came before the district court grand jury. He was charged with burglary, and his bond set at $750. His case is slated for the summer term of district court, which opens Monday.

STINSONS SAY DRUGGISTS IN RECORD MEET

Declaring El Paso a perfect convention city, Mr. and Mrs. Lee T. Stinson and son, Billy Joe, returned home late last week from a week spent in that western-most Texas city as they attended the annual convention of Texas Pharmaceutical Association, held in connection with New Mexico and Arizona druggists in a tri-state meeting.

Mrs. Stinson, retiring president of the ladies' auxiliary, was presented a lovely leather-cased toilet set by the auxiliary, and beautiful corsages on every important occasion by various El Paso people. The local druggist, a past president of the Texas association, was made a member of next year's convention board, which will determine the 1938 convention city. Strong bids have been made by Abilene, Fort Worth and Galveston.

Outstanding speakers on the four-day program included presidents of the three state associations—Dr. B. E. Brown of Dallas, Texas; H. T. Bradley, New Mexico; and R. W. Stewart, Arizona. Dr. D. M. Wiggins, formerly of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, and now president of the El Paso College of Mines, spoke to the confab, as did a number of other prominent men.

Social features were numerous, according to the Stinsons. A special broadcast by Amos and Andy direct from Palm Springs Wednesday night was especially prepared to pertain to the convention and its activities and dedicated to convention attendants.

Besides the memorable convention program, heard by more than 1,000 druggists and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Stinson saw many sights of interest. Among them was a famous bull fight in Juarez, Elephant Butte Dam, which furnishes water for irrigation of thousands of acres of former desert land, and three of the oldest missions in the United States—Ysleta, Socorro and San Elizario, established many years before those at San Antonio.

Don't put up with useless PAIN Get rid of it

When functional pains of menstruation are severe, take CARDOL. If it doesn't benefit you, consult a physician. Don't neglect such pains. They depress the tone of the nerves, cause sleeplessness, loss of appetite, wear out your resistance.

Get a bottle of Cardol and see whether it will help you, as thousands of women have said it helped them.

Besides easing certain pains, Cardol aids in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from the food they eat.

Board Asks Care In Reporting S. S. Account Number

Get the right number when you list employees on your information reports, E. L. Tutt, manager of the Dallas field office of the Social Security Board this week cautioned commercial and industrial employers throughout the Dallas area who are seeking to obtain the social security account numbers of wage earners no longer in their employ.

Under treasury regulations, Tutt explained, employers must list employee account numbers on their information reports. Post offices are requesting that if an employee has failed to report his social security account number, the employer should file an application form (SS-5) with sufficient supporting information to establish the employee's identity beyond reasonable doubt. This application will be checked against the files to see if an account number has already been issued. If the employee has no account number, the employer must then file an application for an account number on behalf of his employee, stating on the form the reason for his filing such application.

Tutt urged that all employees who have not reported their social security account numbers to their employers to do so promptly. This applies also to workers who have worked for more than one employer since January 1, 1937, even though the period of their employments may have been one day or less.

Account numbers are being issued to workers through the facilities of more than 45,000 post offices which are being utilized in the assignment of account numbers until June 30. On July 1, and thereafter, application forms for account numbers can be obtained at any local post office, and at regional and field offices of the board, but assignment of account numbers will be made by the board through field offices. The Dallas field office is located at 1530 Allen Building.

Huge Scenery at Fort Worth Fiesta, Opens Saturday

Approaching completion on the Casa Manana stage at the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta as this picture was made was the "Lost Horizon" set, 41 feet high, of exotic Oriental design and color.

Heavy curtains, huge brass gongs and effective lighting add to the impressiveness. The "Gone With the Wind" set is even more huge—in fact, it weighs nearly 1,000,000 pounds and is the biggest stage scene ever built.

The Frontier Fiesta, of which Billy Rose is director-general, runs from June 26 through October 16. Other outstanding features will make the show greater this year.

Lower Prices Seen For Poultry, Higher For Eggs This Fall

A more seasonal decline in farm prices of chickens during the next three or four months, to be followed by a strengthening of prices in the last quarter of the year with December prices being higher than usual in relation to May, was indicated this week by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Larger stocks of frozen poultry now in storage have a tendency to depress prices, but the reduction in hatch indicates that fewer chickens are being raised for marketing in the latter part of the year.

The farm price of eggs, on the other hand, is near its low point for the year and by the end of June is likely to begin its seasonal advance to December, the bureau said. December prices are usually double the March-June average, but the rise may be less this year on account of the large stocks of eggs in storage.

Continuance in May, of the unfavorable feed situation was reported, since declines in prices of both feed and eggs—based upon prices at Chicago—kept the ratio near 11. This means that about 11 dozen eggs are the equivalent of 100 pounds of poultry ration, at present prices, compared with a little less than six dozen in May a year ago.

A decrease of 20 per cent in commercial hatcheries this May compared with last was estimated on the basis of preliminary reports from hatcheries. On May 1 there were about seven per cent fewer young chickens in farm flocks than on that date last year.

Habits of Child Responsible For Actions In Life

A child's habits are responsible, in a large measure, for their mental actions in later life, according to Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer. A child of five or six years may have a bad temper. He can be taught as he grows older to exercise self control so that it will not often be manifested. It would be better for him had he acquired a good temper instead of a bad one.

Today the medical profession understands more fully the enduring influence of habits that begin in the earliest years of life, in the nursery, or even in the cradle. In the young child, as a result of habit, certain types of behavior become established.

Perhaps the child had learned while yet an infant that he could get what he wanted if he cried long and loud. Perhaps he had learned, when a little older, that bad behavior, as tantrums, screaming, rolling on the floor or sulking, brought him what he wanted after his request had been refused or ignored. If he had this experience once, you may be sure that he would repeat the action the next time the occasion arose. If he found that such actions did not bring the desired results he would not try it again.

Other behavior habits, good and bad, are acquired from imitating older children and adults. In this way many likes and dislikes, tastes and ambitions which in later years become crystallized into character habits have their beginning. Calmness and poise, as well as nervous and panicky behavior habits established and made permanent by repetition.

The elders are responsible far more than they realize for the conduct of the child in the family. In this we see a new meaning of the old adage, "As the twig is bent, the tree is inclined."

Wouldn't it be fun if they wouldn't tell us how wonderful a new movie star is and let us guess?—Detroit Free Press.

The word "cleave" has directly opposite meanings. It means to adhere closely, and also means to cut apart.

Praises Fiesta

West Texas provided the greatest attendance of any section at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial last year and no doubt this year will flock to the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta by the tens of thousands, declares D. A. Bandeen, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"We regard the show with personal interest and pride because it is presented in Fort Worth, the gateway into the West Texas empire," he said. "The development of Fort Worth into the amusement center of the Southwest means a great volume of tourist travel through West Texas cities."

Bandeen pointed out that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Building last year at the Fort Worth exposition was visited by 750,000 persons and an even greater number is predicted this season when the WTCC will present "West Texas, Old and New," with approximately 150 cities having displays in the building.

Donor of $20 Prize Congratulates Local Paper on State Win

Congratulations were received by The Times this week from W. N. Beard, manager of the Home Color Printing Company, Fort Worth. It was Beard who donated the $20 cash prize won two weeks ago by The Times in the "best set ad contest" of the Texas Press Association. The Beard letter reads:

"My congratulations to you and your mechanical force on winning one of the W. N. Beard prizes for better set ads at the recent Texas Press meeting in Brownwood.

"You won against a great many competitive newspapers, and for this reason alone deserve commendable praise.

"Your town and county should be proud of such an outstanding victory."

Judge—"You say it was an accident that you shot your wife? How did it happen?"
 Prisoner—"She got in front of my mother-in-law just as I pulled the trigger."

Customer—"Have you any good pork?"
 Butcher—"Good pork? I've got some pork that will make better chicken salad than any veal you can buy."

Sergeant—"My mother-in-law left a note saying she intended to commit suicide with my old army rifle."
 Private—"That's too bad."
 Sergeant—"It certainly is. The darn gun is broken."

"What's wrong, Henry?" asked his wife.
 "My razor," boomed the voice within the bathroom. "It doesn't cut at all."
 "Don't be silly. Your beard can't be tougher than the linoleum."

 "Which one?" asked the hostess.
 "Yes, father," said the oldest daughter just back from college, "I'm sure you'll like Charles, he's a wonderful young man."
 "Has he any money?" he demanded curiously.
 "Oh, dad," said the girl, "you men are all alike. You're so curious. Charles asked me the same thing about you."

 Waiter—"That's being consistent, sir. We also have cottage cheese but so far as I know there's not a cottage in it."

Mother—"Well, Johnny, did you enjoy yourself at your father's club last night?"
 Johnny—"Yes, mother. But the men kept saying, 'Auntie, Auntie,' all the time, and I couldn't see any ladies there at all."

 "No," said the host. "The girl in the short frock is my mother and the young fellow in riding breeches is my wife."

Graciousness Conquers.
 A certain man in a big publishing house, whose duty it is to meet all people who have a real or fancied grievance against the publications which the house puts out, was asked how he managed the difficult job so efficiently. What was the magic touchstone which transformed irate readers of the press into staunch supporters?
 "Oh, it's quite simple," was the reply. "The easiest way in the world to conquer fault-finding people is to let them have their say, and be nicer to them than they expected."

 The name of Earl Brown was unintentionally omitted from the new list of Scurry County notaries public in last week's Times. Commissions were delivered to Brown and the other 49 notaries early last week.

THE WHOLE NEIGHBORHOOD LOOKS BETTER SINCE WE PAVED WITH CONCRETE

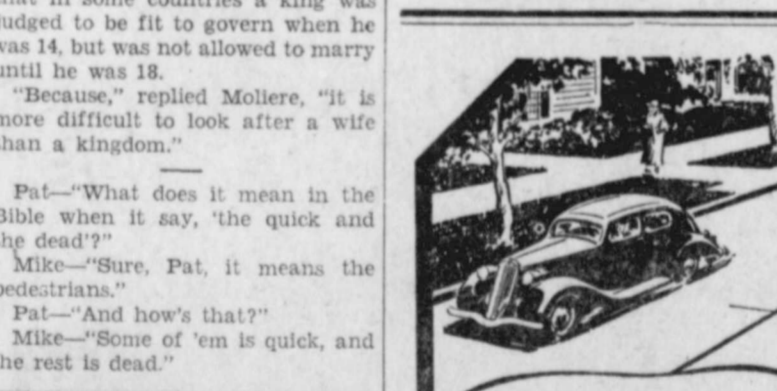

"I WISH we had put concrete on our streets long ago. Aside from being the best to drive on, it keeps itself clean, looks better, and has made our neighborhood more desirable. Property values are up."

That's not half the story. Your own experience tells you that concrete helps you to drive safely; that it effectively checks skidding; that its light-grey surface helps you see at night.

And concrete saves you money because it is moderate in first cost, low in upkeep and long lasting.

Be guided by your experience and observation. When your streets come up for paving—insist on concrete.

Texas Cotton Being Improved Through New Bale Tag Use

In America, two long and two short whistle blasts from a locomotive indicate that the train is approaching a crossing.

If all the land in the United States were to be equally divided, there would be 16 1/2 acres for each inhabitant.

A new type of bale tag, developed by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, is destined to make a major contribution to the improvement of Texas cotton, in the opinion of F. E. Lichte, ginning specialist of the Texas Extension Service.

The bale tag is made of indestructible metal on which is stamped the symbol which permanently identifies the bale. The tag is attached to a heavy 28-inch wire, which is laid in the bale by stopping the trapper momentarily when the bale is half completed. When the bale is taken from the press, the tag is pulled through the bagging.

The tag, which is a public patent, was tried in the field during the 1936-37 season and found to be satisfactory.

Texas Screw Worm Infestation Grows During Past Month

Screw worm infestations in the wounds of animals reported from Texas increased from 3,665 in April to 7,831 in May, which is a little more than one-fourth of one percent of the animals on which reports were obtained.

An infestation of two per cent or more of the animal population is considered as an outbreak proportion and one that can cause noticeable losses among animals.

Of the cases reported during May 3,518 of them occurred in cattle and 1,961 occurred in sheep. The greatest losses were reported among sheep, where the mortality amounted to more than three per cent of the infestations.

More than half (56 per cent) of the cases occurred in the navels of young animals soon after birth, which emphasizes the importance of controlling the breeding of livestock so that young may be born before screw worms appear. Snags, scratches and prickly pear furnished wounds which caused over 14 per cent of the infestations.

NEW HIGHWAY TERRACES CALL FOR UNIVERSAL COOPERATION

Editors' Note: This is the third and last of a series of articles by W. A. French, superintendent of the State Highway Department in Division 8. The full text of the articles was delivered as a speech at a recent terracing short course at A. & M. College.

It is predicted, in the future, entire drainage areas will be crossed by highways without ditches and without draining structures. Of course, this is the ideal design and it may be a time before an entire area will be so terraced, but there will be areas which are partly terraced and others which will be terraced, and the designing highway engineer should take this into consideration.

At present time the maintenance department of the Texas Highway Department is using a number of different methods to prevent erosion. Where the topography of the adjoining terrain slopes toward the road and the land is not terraced level, it is necessary to carry the water from the top of the hill to the drainage structure, or from the top of the hill to a point where the slope changes. In these ditches, grass or rock retards are placed across the ditch at sufficient intervals to break the velocity of the water. When the velocity of the water is broken a certain amount of silt will settle and therefore build up the ditch at this point. If the cross section and the grade line of the ditch can be maintained until the entire ditch is either artificially sodded with grass or until it is sodded by nature, the erosion will be practically eliminated.

All unnecessary ditches which were previously constructed are being filled as soon as money is available. All down hill ditches are filled from borrow pits outside the right-of-way. As soon as these ditches are filled the erosion along the highway is eliminated and as the concentration of the water at low places is eliminated a certain amount of erosion in the field below the highway is eliminated.

Division Dams.
On the uphill side when the adjoining property is not terraced level and when the slope of the property changes from toward the road to away from it, diversion dams of earth are being built with the permission of the land owner. These diversion dams or terraces are built level in order that the erosion will not be diverted from the highway to the property owner. They are tied into the slope of the road from six inches to one foot below the surface of the road and with flat slopes in order that a hazard may not be placed in the road. The ditches below these dams are then filled.

Where the adjoining land is terraced level, the terraces are extended across the ditches and tied into the slope of the road from six inches to one foot below the surface. The ditches are then filled from borrow pits outside of the right-of-way. Culverts which have been located at the bottom of high fills are being eliminated and small structures placed on the side of the hill to serve only as a spillway fill which will eventually silt up and also allow the highway department to flatten the slopes on the downhill side of the fill without lengthening the culvert.

Culvert Elimination.
Drop inlets are being placed on culverts where the flow line is below the natural surface. As soon as they are constructed the ditches and the land around them begin to fill up, and future erosion of the ditches and the land adjacent to the culvert is eliminated.

Cities, states and the federal government are spending millions of dollars yearly for prevention of floods. Most of this money is being spent on dams and levees where the floods occur instead of where they originate.

In order to prevent erosion, conserve the water and prevent floods, the work should start at the source and it can be done, as stated above, by level terracing of an entire drainage area. If this were done there would be a three-fold value. That is, the value of the land would be saved by preventing erosion; the production of the land would be increased by conserving the water, and millions of dollars in flood damage would be saved.

Comparative Costs.
It has been estimated that $50 per mile will build the ordinary terrace. If a $3,000,000 dam were built on a river to prevent floods, this same money would build 60,000 miles of terraces, and if a $30,000,000 dam were built the same money would build 1,800,000 miles of terraces. At is our opinion that the terraces would have a tendency to prevent the floods more than the dams.

The highway department wants to express its appreciation of the co-operation of the personnel of the United States Soil Conservation Service, the county agents and especially R. E. Dickson of Spur. The department realizes that without their cooperation it would be impossible to prevent erosion along the highways and that without their support it would be impossible to get the adjoining property owners to realize that the work they are doing along the highways will not only prevent erosion along the highways but will be of benefit to their property.

KNOW TEXAS

By F. L. McDonald, Texas State College for Women, Denton

A surprise awaits the stranger who travels from the western plateaus to the Rio Grande Valley. Without warning the desert suddenly becomes miles and miles of precisely planted fruit trees, vegetables and other greenery.

Driving southward from Del Rio the tourist can relax on a paved road through Uvalde and down to Laredo, one of the important gateways from Texas and Old Mexico. In this region are the first evidences of one of the most remarkable agricultural developments in America.

Converting the waters of the Rio Grande to irrigate these fertile soils made the valley a leader in the nation's citrus fruit and winter vegetable production. During any month of the year the sight-seeer can view well cultivated fields from the palm lined highways, since the climate makes the entire valley suitable for year-round agriculture.

After the ride down through Hebrille, San Diego, Palfurrias and Edinburg, one finds himself in the Lower Valley. Although this section teems with industries and trade it nevertheless presents a rather sleepy countenance to the world, and the visitor soon learns the importance of "siestas."

Brownsville, the most southern point in the United States, is the commercial center of Cameron County, which leads Texas in the value of its truck crops. It might also lead in the beauty of its crops, since nothing else quite equals the endless, rhythmical rows of citrus orchards and the abundance of well planned gardens.

Near Brownsville is Matamoros, another introduction to Mexico, and no trip to South Texas is complete without one or two visits "across the border."

A family visiting in Rome was driving past St. Peter's Cathedral when they were stopped by a great traffic jam occasioned by a magnificent religious ceremonial that was about to take place. They saw a most imposing procession coming out of the church. At its head walked a group of men in glittering ceremonial garb. The colored chauffeur gazed in open-mouth admiration at the magnificent display, and he said to his boss:

"Cap'n, who is dem grand lookin' men wid dem red hats?"
"Those are the cardinals," replied the gentleman.
The darkey's interest rose to fever pitch.
"Sho nuff, boss?" he said. "A been wantin' to see dem all mah life. Which one is 'Duzey' Dean?"

Uncle Jim Says

Title—Stable farm production makes for fair food prices. Lean and fat years help neither farmer nor consumer in the long run.

Legend—Despite the increase of farm purchasing power, S. A. McMillan, economist in farm management of the Extension Service, believes more than half of the 500,000 farm families of Texas fail to earn average farm incomes sufficient to permit them to live at a minimum comfort level. That the situation is better now than it was in 1932 no one will deny.

Since the dawn of civilization, history has recorded lean and fat years; lean years when farmers made poor crops and the consumers either went on short rations or paid high prices for food, and fat years when farmers made bumper crops and consumers bought food at rock bottom prices.

McMillan states that one county agricultural agent in a county where cotton constitutes the main source of income notes that the return from sales of cotton in 1936 amounted to an average of $20 for each man, woman and child on farms in the county. Since even this pittance was not evenly distributed, it is apparent that some families received less than the average cotton income.

The agricultural conservation program is doing much to remedy the situation. Through increasing fertility on the farm it tends to increase and maintain future farm income. Through stabilizing production it aims at eliminating the lean and fat years that help neither the farmer nor the consumer. And through providing benefit payments for planting soil conserving crops and for observing soil conserving practices it provides a measure of insurance against crop failures.

Two old settlers, confirmed bachelors, sat in the backwoods. The conversation started with politics and finally got around to cooking.
"I got one of them cookery books once, but never could do nothing with it."
"Too much fancy work in it, eh?"
"You've said it! Every one of them recipes began the same way: 'Take a clean dish—', and that settled me."

Miss Peek (to librarian)—"I have brought this book back. Mother told me it wasn't fit for a young girl like me to read."
Librarian—"I think your mother must be mistaken."
Miss Peek—"Oh, no, she isn't. I've read it all through."

Strawfoot—"And here for 20 years I thought I was clubfooted."

Tailor—"When your father sent you for samples of cloth, didn't he say what color and material he wanted?"
Small Boy—"I don't think it matters, sir. He wants to use them for pen wipers."

Rats Cause Fifteen Million Dollar Loss In State Last Year

Texas sustained a $15,000,000 loss last year, on account of rats, declared Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer. The figure is a very low estimate based upon the probable number of rats in the state, two for each person. No doubt many suffer losses that would take into consideration the losses from diseases, time and money caused by the rat.

Typhus fever is on the increase in Texas, said Dr. Cox, and the rat is the cause of its spread. Old World typhus fever has a high death rate, while the type we have in Texas, sometimes called Brill's disease, has a low death rate.

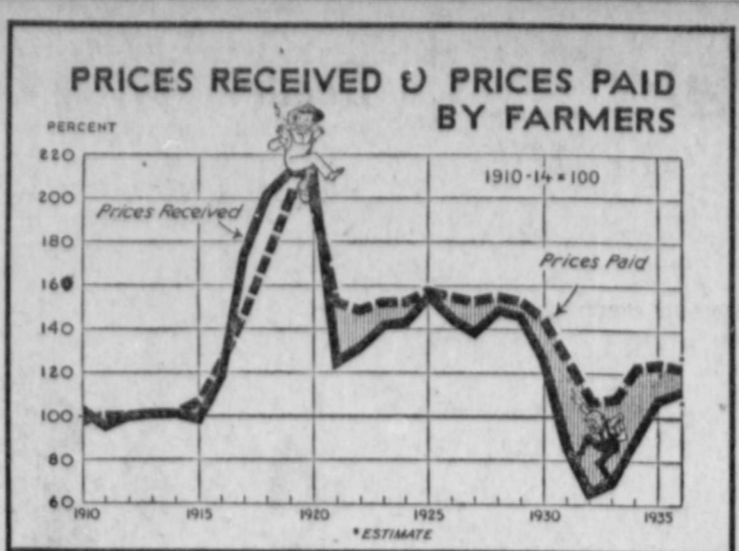

The control of typhus is very difficult and it depends upon the extermination of rats and this is no easy matter. Trapping and poisoning help, but the best results are obtained by starving the rats. This is done by having all buildings where food is stored rat-proofed. The State Department of Agriculture will be glad to assist communities in their program for the extermination of this pest.

Haskell Will Stage Holiday Auto Races

With the five-eighths mile race track in Rice Springs Park at Haskell in readiness for the automobile races to be held July 3 and 4, fans of this sport are assured plenty of thrills at the two-day meet, states Gene Tonn, chairman of the racing committee.

Sixteen drivers have already signed for the meet, and others are contemplating signing within the next few days. This will be ample drivers to insure plenty of competition.

At a board of directors meeting last week of the Central West Texas Fair Association, sponsors of the event, last minute plans were laid for the races, according to Walter Murchison, president. Murchison said that according to committee reports all plans were moving on schedule time and that when July 3 and 4 rolls around spectators are going to witness some of the fastest driving ever staged in Texas.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By Julian Capers Jr.

Austin.—When James V. Allred, then newly elected attorney general of Texas, filed penalty and ouster suits against 15 major oil companies and two associations, in 1932, charging that they had violated the Texas anti-trust laws, he launched litigation that has become one of the most famous cases in Texas jurisprudence, and, incidentally, attracted attention to himself which eventually made him governor of the state.

Allred tried the case in district court in Travis County, and lost it, the court holding the NRA had voided Texas anti-trust laws. The case was appealed by the state, and the court of civil appeals again decided in favor of the oil companies, but on different grounds, maintaining the state anti-trust laws were void because they excluded certain agricultural groups from the laws' operation. The state took an appeal to the supreme court of Texas.

A sweeping victory for the state came last week, when the highest court reversed the court of civil appeals, held the anti-trust laws valid, and sent the case back to district court for trial on its merits. The decision surprised oil company lawyers, including Dan Moody, governor, and John Black of Austin, rated as two of the state's ablest attorneys, as well as the attorney general, Bill McGraw, who prosecuted the appeal after he succeeded Allred. McGraw had so little confidence in winning that he had privately consulted legislators about enacting new anti-trust statutes, anticipating the existing laws would be held void by the supreme court.

The case now goes back to the lower court for trial, and will have to drag its weary way through the appeals courts, probably to the United States Supreme Court, for final decision, taking from three to five years additional time. Allred originally asked for imposition of $17,850,000 penalties, ouster from the state and cancellation of the charters of the defendant companies and associations.

Tax Session in September

September is the month set by the governor for resumption of work by the Legislature this week, as the anti-gambling session drew to a close with final passage of anti-dog racing and general anti-gambling laws. Another flare-up occurred in House and Senate as criticism was voiced toward Allred for a message he sent up, urging the solons to legislate against organized, commercialized gambling, instead of petty personal vice. The September date will enable the governor to complete a survey of the state's tax needs, including those necessitated by the anticipated adoption of constitutional amendments. There is a strong probability there will be two or more additional 30-day sessions, as many major legislative problems other than taxes, hang over from the regular session as a result of failure to pass bills, or of the vetoing of bills by Allred. These included among others, pardon and parole legislation, soil conservation, Big Bend Park, oil leasing of school lands and many others.

New Texas Industry

Extensive development of a neglected Texas industry was forecast this week by W. W. Halcom, ex-Texas editor, and more recently attached to the secretary of state's office. Halcom has joined forces with Jack Haie, Houston industrialist, who has chartered a company to "quick freeze" Texas fish, oysters and shrimp, which preserves their fresh flavor indefinitely, and permits shipment long distances in fresh condition. The plan is to stabilize the Texas coast's fishing industry.

Politics

Three rumors regarding the forthcoming gubernatorial race in Texas were laid this week. First, Governor Allred answered with an emphatic "No" a question by pressmen as to whether he would seek a third term; second, Chairman Robert Lee Bobbitt of the Texas Highway Commission declared he was "not a candidate" in a public address; and, third, Karl Crowley of Port Worth, solicitor general of the post office department, told reporters he "had never heard of" rumors he might run for governor, as he stopped off here to lunch with Governor Allred.

Clarence E. Farmer, radical Port Worth legislator, who favors pensions for all over 65, has told friends he expects to run for governor on a liberalized pension platform. The lieutenant governor's race is beginning to shape up, with Senators John Redditt of Lufkin and Will Pace of Tyler, and former Speaker Coke Stevenson of Junction regarded as certain candidates. No announcement has come from any of the rumored candidates for attorney general, although Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul continues busily indirectly campaigning with numerous speeches and other public appearances.

Pension Funds Short

Quiet trimming of the old age pension rolls throughout the state is under way, despite public announcements by pension officials that the pension fund is in good condition. There were approximately 130,000 pensioners getting checks last month. This figure was trimmed about 3,000 to 127,000 for the current month. On the basis of funds to be available for the remainder of the year, as shown by the statement of the state treasurer, further substantial reductions will have to be made to meet the payments. The pension administration is authorized, under the decentralization act, to purge the rolls of all who have the possibility of support from children, relatives or other sources. If necessary to meet payments, the pension question is going to be a live political issue in Texas for many years to come, according to every indication here. In political years the rolls will expand; in off years they will be trimmed, no matter how many official denials may be issued.

Dunn Looks at Its High Line

After almost three months of service to Dunn, Buford and vicinity, the electric high line similar to the one pictured here has been accepted by its patrons as one of the most worth while projects that ever came into the county. The Texas Electric Service Company, builder of this first truly rural electric high line in West Texas, has indicated that other lines will be built in Scurry County if customer leads are adequate.

ONE SURE WAY TO LICK RISING COSTS

Business men are becoming more exacting in truck purchases because operating costs in all departments of business are rapidly mounting. To pre-measure a truck's operating expenses is now good judgment and often avoids unnecessary losses. GMC, priced low at the outset, designed and built for long life at low cost upkeep, and famous for gas and oil economy, fits the careful business budget. GMC's wide line (1/2 to 12 tons) assures just the right truck for your service. GMC prices are now crowding the lowest!

The Public Library.

If Snyder men have been slightly diffident toward the public library idea that has been proposed by club women, it is the innate cussedness of their natures, not any unspoken opposition to the proposal. Snyder is in real need of a library. It is doubtful that any one project within the bounds of present possibility would be of more lasting benefit.

Those of us who have gone forth in an adulthood to earn precarious livelihoods would find a library comforting and invigorating. It would help keep us out of the intellectual and moral doldrums that often come with age.

But it is the youngster who will benefit most from a public library. If you would have an inkling of the true worth of such an institution, take a peek any time outside of school hours into any public library. An average of probably 50 per cent will be boys and girls between 10 and 17 years of age.

Let us hope with a vengeance that Snyder women will let neither summer heat, winter cold nor man's cussedness prevent them from continuing to push this worthy project.

Weather and man, and perhaps even the purse-strings of an entire community, will no doubt combine soon to help these women build a temple of ready worthwhile knowledge for a generation that demands knowledge of one kind or another.

Current Comment.

By LEON GUINN.

Scurry County produce houses are paying out $3,000 monthly to the butter and egg people of the county. . . . One is surprised, in surveying our produce markets, to discover that county cream and eggs are going to Abilene, Lubbock, Odessa, Pecos, Alpine, Marfa, Fort Stockton and El Paso. . . . With Snyder as a radii, Scurry County has a network of market points any West Texas county may well envy. . . . Since Alpine and El Paso are at the moment two of our best markets for cream and eggs, we ought to be rather strict in truck shipments, and rely on quality rather than quantity. . . . One crate of fresh eggs and a 10-gallon can of 34-test cream do more to boost Scurry County produce prices than 10 crates of eggs that almost chuck and 20 cans of cream that test about 26 in the shade. . . . The wise guys of any trade not only ardently woo and coddle their markets but give to that market the best quality goods they have for sale. . . . Produce men not only want to court that grand old pal of trade, Sale, but want to keep the blushing bride of commerce close to their hearts with quality affections. . . . The next time an El Paso housewife gets hold of Scurry County eggs that are almost at the feathered stage, we ought to give her a bonus, and ship her some eggs that are so fresh the shell will harden in the ice box.

Two months ago it was dry in the Texas Panhandle. . . . Spring trade winds up the ash fine dust, and started moving the Panhandle to Oklahoma and other parts of Texas. . . . Life magazine decided first rate news pictures would convey the true state of affairs in our Texas dust bowl to the outside world. Newsreel cameramen deciding the same thing.

And out of the shifting winds and swirling tons of sand grains was born one of the most remarkable pictorial biographies of the Texas dust bowl we have seen in recent years. . . . Representative Eugene Worley of Shamrock saw a chance to catch public fancy, and persuaded Austin law-makers to do some high voltage "resolving" to condemn any and everyone picturing the Texas Panhandle as anything else except the proverbial promised land. . . . President Millburn McCarty of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce joined the fray in one of the bitterest forensic forays yet leveled at newsmen, cameramen and news commentators in general.

Last fall Washington sent federal spies over to the Panhandle's Canaan of mile-long cotton rows, but the spies sent back reports of a land left desolate. . . . Federal investigators failed to find the Panhandle a country flowing with milk and honey, so Hopkins of WPA, Ickes of PWA, and Bennett of the Soil Conservation Service decided federal title (in the form of relief funds) must flow into the Panhandle until federal spies discovered the milk and honey gravy train. . . . Texans were irritated, however, and found two ready, able and willing apostles in Worley and McCarty to go forth and pour the sweet oils of oratory on the troubled, dusty desert of the marching dust bowl.

In Germany scientists are collecting dust to use in manufacturing processes, and if we could ship the Texas dust bowl to Germany some dark night, one could close an incident that has caused a minor earthquake in the Texas press.

Competition.

Ever since Jacob and Esau jumped at one another's throats over a birthright and a mess of pottage, competition has aggravated—or soothed—the lives of men. Competition is a devil or a servant, use it as you will.

Unfortunately for the well-being and reputation of most small towns and cities, a large number of merchants look upon competition as the ruination of their peace and prosperity.

All of us have competition of one form or another. Business is not the only yardstick by which competition may be measured. Many of us have discovered after years of endeavor that our own damnable natures are our chief competition.

When we learn this lesson of competition in its fullest meaning, we will cease to pan our so-called competitors for their securing of business we would like to have. The time we formerly devoted to panning will be turned to devised new legitimate ways of securing business.

Advertising, of course, is the bulwark of methods for securing new business and retaining old. Advertising in person or in newspapers has been proven to be the two stalwarts of all methods that may be used. . . . But this is not an editorial on advertising.

The point is that the sooner we accept our competition as friendly and even possibly helpful toward the conduct of our own business, the sooner will happiness come to the every-day grind of living. . . . the sooner will more prosperity come to businessmen and customers alike.

Editorial of the Week.

BRINGING RELIEF COSTS HOME.

Do local communities in the United States want WPA relief work projects badly enough to pay 40 per cent of their cost? A pending Senate committee amendment to the $1,500,000,000 relief appropriation bill would test out this question—and perhaps tie up the spending of most of the relief money in the process.

For municipal officials and administration spokesmen protest that cities and counties can not participate on any such scale and the limitation would defeat the program. They point out that state and local welfare departments are taking care of the so-called unemployables and providing cash relief under the agreement by which the federal government was to furnish work relief.

That agreement, however, was frankly experimental and transitional. It is clearly desirable that relief costs in the long run shall be borne as largely as possible by local and community units of government. That makes for economy and efficiency of administration.

This is not to say that cash relief should take the place of work relief. The findings of the American Institute of Public Opinion are that nearly four out of five persons favor WPA work rather than a dole. But this same poll shows that more than three out of five believe that state and local governments should pay a greater share of the cost of the relief.

If the WPA projects are as useful as their sponsors always assert, then those public improvements bought with relief money must be of value to the communities in which they are carried out. Municipal governments have long been familiar with the practice of levying "betterment assessments" on property benefited. For instance, by a new highway or sewer. The 40 per cent requirement might be considered a kind of betterment assessment on the communities which hitherto have been impelled to get all they could of the federal money.—The Monitor, Boston International Daily.

Nice Show, But . . .

The Pan-American Exposition at Dallas is a nice show—indeed, it's a great show in spots—declares a Snyderite who returned from the attraction a few days ago. But the exposition has the same faults as the Centennial Exposition last year—it was opened before it was ready to open. A bit of advice, then: See the Dallas event by all means, for it is greater in some respects than last year's show; but wait a few weeks if you want to see the show in full force.

Print That Ad!

When a client wished to advertise for sale "the sorriest car that ever came to Lubbock," Publisher Charley Guy said thumbs down because he doubted the veracity of the description. . . . and a lawsuit ensued. If Charley had seen any one of a dozen wrecks that parade Snyder streets almost daily, he would have accepted the ad without fear of misrepresentation.

Tomorrow I will live, the fool does say; today itself's too late; the wise lived yesterday.—Martial.

Sweetwater Trip For 16 Scouts of Local Troop 35

Sixteen members of Boy Scout Troop No. 35 made a trip to Sweetwater swimming pool Tuesday afternoon, along with Rev. James E. Spivey, acting scoutmaster, and W. J. Ely, district Boy Scout chairman.

Several members of the troop could not make the trip because they were working in cotton patches near Snyder.

After the swim, Scout Harri Job of Sweetwater escorted the group to an ice cream parlor, where they were fed on ice cream as a favor of Alfred J. Stiles, executive of the Buffalo Trail Council.

The troop will assemble at the school grounds at 6:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening for a softball game and for the purpose of re-registering for the coming fiscal year.

First Presbyterian Church

The pastor will preach at the morning service next Sunday on the subject "The Strangest Force." The evening preaching service in this church will be dismissed in favor of the closing meeting of the Methodist revival. It is an opportunity for all members of this congregation to take advantage of the service which will climax two weeks of evangelistic endeavor under the leadership of Rev. George Tucker.

The Christian Endeavor will meet at 7:15 p. m. on Sunday. At this time there will be a discussion of summer plans and Buffalo Gap Conference plans.

Regular quarterly Church Family Night will be held on Friday night, July 2. At this time the patches on the "conference apron" will be judged and opened. Those who have patches to sew on it should get in touch with Miss Virginia Egerton at once.

First Baptist Church

Rev. Wilson Fielder, 28 years a missionary in China, will preach at the morning hour on "Living Issues in China." Mrs. J. E. Sentell will sing "Sunrise Tomorrow." This service will inaugurate our school of missions, which will continue throughout next week, led by Dr. Fielder.

Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. There is a class for every member of the family.

At 8:15 Dr. Fielder will speak on "Christianity's Stand Against Communism in China." The Y. W. A. chorus will sing "I Can See the Lights of Home."

The B. T. U. hour is 7:15. Welcome to the training union—a place of training, service and usefulness.

The school of missions will continue through Friday evening of next week, a service each evening at 8:15 o'clock. We express the hope that all our church family will hear that all our church family will hear Dr. Fielder, and extend a cordial welcome to visiting friends.—Lawrence Hays, Pastor.

Wilhelm Dairy Moved.

Henry Wilhelm, dairyman and bottler of Bireley's orangeade, for several days has been moving his place of business a half mile west, to the place occupied some time ago by W. J. Gross. More pasturage and more house and barn room decided "Hank" in favor of the move.

"Had an Aladdin crying through the streets of New York in 1875 brought out of the lighted circle a mere glimpse of the comforts and enjoyments, the added leisure, the ease of communication and of travel in this year of 1937, what a spectacle that would have been! Yet we today take for granted the thousand and one machines for the shop, the farm, the office and the home," Herman H. Lind.

The Lost Generation.

Editors, The Times: What has happened to the adolescents of the late 1929 and early 1930? Those persons who were dubbed the "lost generation?" Where have they gone? Did we really ever have such a thing?

Certainly the youth of America was stunned by the crash and its reaction, but the way they have responded is nothing short of noble. To have that world of good times and enjoyment come crashing about their ears was indeed an unpleasant surprise. Then to face a world, from a business standpoint, that was in a tailspin was enough to knock anyone off balance.

No wonder they seemed lost; everyone did. But out of it all evolved business men and women of a distinct type, different in almost every way from the old.

The crime wave that swept the nation shortly after the crash ended a few of what might be called "depression's children," but very few. For the most part they went to work and helped support their families in a way that was worthy of praise. Boys and girls who had never done anything in the way of work began at a wage that was so low that it was almost discouraging. While the ex-business and ex-professional men, who were retired before the crisis took and filled every position worthwhile, the younger generation took any kind.

The mature men and women seemed to forget they had a younger generation and completely forgot the idea of giving youth a chance. But while they were forgotten, they were learning, and today the new type of business man and woman is rapidly filling all the places. They have learned a lesson in psychology they will never forget. The young business person today knows that when a business is established it must be basically sound or it can not last.

The return to prosperity that we hear so much about is not being brought about by the older business failures. In most cases the failures are still failures. Stable prosperity is being slowly brought about by the young people who once were called lost, and "going to the dogs." They never were lost any more than anyone else. The so-called "lost generation" had just paused to get its bearings.

Home to Your Own!

To the Editors of The Times: I have read Mr. Von Roeder's article on the new AAA farm bill. I have also read the bill and likewise noted the controversy over the measure between Secretary Wallace and Congressman Marvin Jones.

This bill will not be passed at this or any other session when the farmer realizes he is tied hand and foot. The absolute power given Secretary Wallace in face of prior failures and experimentation is sufficient warning. It would be enlightening for anyone who can do so to analyze this farm bill for the benefit of our people. Admittedly, I am incapable, nor have I found anyone else able to interpret the terminology of the many provisions therein.

There seem to be a few promises to the producer, but to them are attached the ball-and-chain powers of the secretary. The sooner our farmers realize that as a class they come nearer being the only freemen left in America the sooner it may be possible to attempt reconstructing an almost demolished democracy.

Today America is aflame with rebellion against constituted law and order. The next short while will prove to us whether we still have an elected head or if the reins of authority have been delegated to a powerful minority. The socialization of America under a labor government is already on the horizon. If our farm people are willing to still sell their liberty for the largest of

Free Philippine Islands, Mahon Urges Congress

Advocating complete independence for the Philippine Islands as a vital peace insurance policy for the United States, Congressman George Mahon last week asked the House of Representatives to consider legislation making independence possible in 1938 or 1939. The present law provides for complete withdrawal of the United States in 1946.

In his address to the house, Mahon stated: "We are legislating for neutrality. We are bent on preserving peace for America regardless of war in Europe or Asia. We are far from Europe, but as long as we maintain our sovereignty in the Philippines we are liable to be in the middle of a conflict in the Orient. This is most unfortunate, and this untenable position should be terminated at the earliest possible moment. It is one of the major threats to peace for the United States."

He also pointed out that in addition to being a war hazard, the Philippines have been and still are very expensive financially to the United States. The total actual cost to the United States for all departments of the governments which have made expenditures in the islands from 1898 to the present year was estimated at approximately $900,000,000.

Annual expenditures for the army and navy in the Philippines is $14,500,000, and under the present law this expense will recur each year until 1946. The congressman stated that these millions could best be spent in America in the development of the institutions of this country.

Mahon is a member of the house insular affairs committee, which has charge of legislation affecting the Philippine Islands.

Small House Burned.

A small house in Southeast Snyder, occupied by a negro family, was partially burned at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The house belongs to R. E. Gray. Quick work by the fire department saved the cheaply built house from complete destruction.

A spendthrift government then America is doomed. If we can weather the present crisis, those who own lands and homes will be grateful they still possess them.—E. J. Anderson, Snyder.

Social Security Question Box

Question: If an employer has less than eight employees must he file any reports under the Social Security Act?

Answer: All employers of one or more workers under the age of 65 in covered occupations are subject to the tax provisions of Title VIII of the Social Security Act. Their employees are required to obtain account numbers and will be entitled to federal old-age benefits.

All employers of one or more, regardless of age, are also required to make one original report to the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, Austin, Texas; although only those employers who employ eight or more, regardless of age, must make monthly reports and pay taxes on wages of their employees to the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Employers of eight or more, in addition, are required to pay a tax, under Title IX of the act, to the Collector of Internal Revenue. Employers may credit against this tax their contribution to the state unemployment fund, up to 90 per cent of the federal tax. In the case of Texas, the 90 per cent credited to employers of eight or more equals the amount of their contribution to the State Unemployment Compensation Commission.
