

Bureau Of AE Reveals Insect Control Must Be Pushed More

Revised estimates of the Texas cotton crop for 1946 were recently released by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics showing the lowest harvested acreage (5,900,000 acres) since 1895 and the lowest total production (1,774,000 bales) since 1889. The poor yield per acre of 146 pounds was largely due to insect damage including one of the most severe boll weevil infestations on record in Texas. The reduction from full yield was 12 per cent due to weevils and 18 per cent due to all insects. This loss amounted to 538,200 bales of lint and 219,000 tons of seed. Planters were, no doubt, lulled into a false sense of security by the low weevil damage which occurred during the two previous seasons and adequate control programs were not instituted.

There were large numbers of weevils in the fields of Central Texas last fall, but according to F. L. Thomas of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, A & M College of Texas, the survival, to this date, has been fairly close to the average for previous years. Field examinations indicate that weevils are in the fields and will begin to reproduce as soon as the squares attain sufficient size. Planters are urged to make regular inspections of their fields and start control programs when the pests become injurious. Well-planned control programs will prove economical and prevent the weevil from again taking a heavy toll of the crop.

Home Baking With New Flour Simple

The new 80 per cent extraction flour should offer no problem in home baking, according to Estelle Rabel. The cook who has been making good biscuits with the flour which has been on the market can continue to use the same recipes and methods with the new flour. Miss Rabel says that her experiments with the new flour include biscuits, muffins, and quick loaf bread. "With each product a little less liquid was needed," however, "the ordinary flour we previously used also requires varying amounts of liquid—depending largely on whether it is rainy or dry weather," she explains.

Tests of samples of the new flour made at the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics gave generally acceptable results, Miss Rabel says. They suggest that you follow your own recipe, unless the manufacturer gives specific directions on the package for his particular flour. Their experiments also showed that sometimes a little less liquid may be needed.

small numbers, especially in the earliest planted cotton, but, to date, reports indicate that this pest has not been found in sufficient numbers to cause much injury.

In some fields examined reductions in numbers of thrips and aphids were observed. The recent heavy rains were partly responsible for the reduction in numbers of these pests.

Texas Man Named To "Dairy Month" Plans Committee

Appointment of Bryan Blalock, the Borden Company, Marshall, as chairman of the committee charged with planning Texas' June DAIRY MONTH activities, was announced this week by B. A. Thomas, Louisville, Ky., regional Dairy month chairman.

Thomas will work closely with Blalock on the Dairy Month program in an effort to acquaint all Texas with the problems of the dairy industry.

Thomas told Blalock that the No. 1 problem this year was production. The public's insistent demands for nutritious dairy foods have placed a tremendous strain on the dairy industry. American consumers have become so conscious of milk and its products in maintaining health that consumption seems limited by the supply. In five years the amount of milk used per capita as fluid milk and cream has increased from 158 quarts per year to nearly 206 quarts.

"We are producing dairy foods at a rate exceeded only by last year's record breaking production," Thomas said, "and we still can't fill all the demands. Normally, our Dairy Month program would be centered around means of encouraging greater consumption during a time of plentiful supplies.

"This year, we can only say that there just isn't enough milk in the national milk pail to fill all demands."

Texas Vets Find Work At Fast Rate, Cited

Unemployed veterans in the Snyder area, in a majority of instances, are using every means offered, including their own initiative, in seeking jobs for themselves and going back to work as rapidly as they can, W. H. Donathan, District Supervisor of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, said today, reporting that there were 30 new applications for the $20-a-week readjustment allowances filed through the Snyder office during April as compared with 53 in March, and 75 in February.

Throughout the State, Donathan said, a total of 233,518 applications had been filed by returning veterans since the program started September 4, 1944. Only 3,113 of these veterans kept on filing until they had used up their 52 weeks entitlement allowed by the G. I. Bill of Rights.

More than 111,000 veterans stopped filing claims after they applied for their readjustment allowances. This meant they went back to work or to school, he explained. As of May 11 in Texas, a total of 119,261 veterans were receiving the allowances under the G. I. Bill of Rights. Of this group 27,000 were self-employed, 94 percent of them farmers.

By agreement with the Veterans Administration, the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission acts as their agent in handling the servicemen's readjustment allowances program in this State. Funds are supplied by the Veterans Administration out of monies voted by Congress for that purpose.

The statewide number of new applications had dropped off from an average of 10,000 weekly in December, January and February to an average of 6,000 during April. New Applications received in the State for the week ended May 11 totaled 5,226.

Texas had approximately 700,000 men in the armed services and between 400,000 and 450,000 are home now, which means that only a fourth of these are getting the allowances while they look for work. The rest of them have found jobs.

Recordings Made By Guinn and Williams

Preparatory to having their popular song, "When My Pickaninny Moon Shines Down," put on juke box records by their New York publishers, Leon Guinn and Eddie Williams of Hobbs had the number recorded locally last Monday evening.
The popular song was recorded by Frank Tengarden at the East Snyder home of Mr. and Mrs. Dub Everett. A number of friends were present.
In addition to holding contracts for juke box records and sheet music on "When My Pickaninny Moon Shines Down," Guinn and Williams will have two more popular songs published this summer. Leo and Hector Richard of Chicago Illinois, made musical rearrangement on Pickaninny Moon.
Guinn and Williams are just now branching out into the field of popular music. In the religious field, the authors have 14 numbers to their credit.
Henry Ford, at 82 years of age, helped farmers at Tecumseh, Mich., plant and harvest wheat crops.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON, May 29—(AP)—Almost daily Texans, individually or in groups come to Washington on official business.
Varied are the missions, both as public officials and as private citizens. By professions, lawyers naturally are more numerous. Some strike out at once for the Capitol. Others spend days here and never get "on the Hill."
If you accompanied any one group you would have a peep into only a small portion of the colossus that is our federal government. But if you went with all these visitors for a month or more you would get a first-hand look into the legislative, judicial and executive branches, seeing the little wheels turn as well as the big wheels.
Where is all this business transacted?
First, we might note the physical layout of all the government buildings. Although Pennsylvania Avenue stretches 10 miles across the District of Columbia, its mile and a quarter distance between the Capitol and the White House is the nerve center of the government. Here is the "federal triangle," bounded on the sides by Pennsylvania and Constitution avenues, and 15th Street at the base. The Commerce Department building, two long city blocks in length, is at the base. The "Apex Building," ubit to house the Federal Trade Commission, fills the point where the avenues converge.
Here in this triangle also are the justice, labor and postoffice departments, the Bureau of Internal Revenue and other agencies, such as the Interstate Commerce Commission. Originally planned to house the bulk of the governmental units, the buildings in the triangle now are supplemented by scores of other structures throughout downtown Washington and even out into nearby Virginia and Maryland. The Agriculture Department occupies a gigantic "horizontal skyscraper" across the Washington monument rounds from the Commerce and Labor Departments. Up near the capitol are massive buildings erected just before the war, housing the Office of Price Administration, the Civilian Production and War Assets Administrations. There the War Production Board formerly held forth.
Now for a cross-section view of the governmental machine in operation: Take for instance, the recent trip here of Texans concerned with the application of the Reynolds Pipe Line Company of Corpus Christi to export Texas natural gas to Mexico. Attorneys, geologists, engineers and financiers assembled in the low-ceiling conference room on the top floor of the 12-story FPC headquarters building. They spent days testifying before FPC commissioners on the engineering in data, amount of gas reserves and the estimated cost of the proposed pipe line. Part of the hearing was held in a 9-story converted residential apartment building taken over recently by the FPC, three blocks away from its headquarters.
Applications for radio station construction and operation permits are considered by the Federal Communications Commission at its offices scattered throughout the Postoffice Department building. Here engineers and attorneys wrangle over the merits and demerits of a proposed radio installation. With both the FPC and FCC, and with many other governmental agencies, official reporters are hired to keep a transcript of testimony.
Across the street is the U. S. Tax Court, where Rep. Luther A. Johnson of Corsicana soon will sit along side of former Texas Congressman Eugene Eback and their tax court judges. The Civil Aeronautics Board where Tom Wzenn of Sherman serves as an examiner, is the scene of much "official business" bringing Texans to Washington. Two miles away on Connecticut Avenue, is the headquarters of the United States-Mexican Claims Commission where Edgar Witt, formerly of Waco and one-time Lieutenant Governor of Texas, presides as chairman.
Supreme Court cases occasionally draw private lawyers and members of the Texas attorney general's staff to the beautiful, dazzling white marble edifice across the lawn from the capitol. In downtown Washington are several lesser courts, including the United States Court of Claims, located in an old red stone and brick building near the state department and White House. One of the members of the claims court is Judge Marin Jones, former Amarillo congressman.
Texans hold influential posts in virtually all of these government agencies over the city and whenever Texans come to Washington on business they somehow usually manage to get together. While their business may not take them to Capitol Hill with its continuous series of committee investigations, many of them do find time during their visit here to pay a brief call on their congressman and senators.
Few persons have sufficient wisdom to prefer censure, which is useful, to praise which deceives them.—Rochefoucauld.
Some natures are too good to be spoiled by praise, and wherever the vein of thought reaches down into the profound, there is no danger from vanity. Emerson.
Praise like gold and diamonds owes its value only to its scarcity.—Samuel Johnson.

JUST HOW DOES OPA GET THAT MUCH POWER?

No one denies the fact that OPA may have done some good for the country in its war career, perhaps helping to stabilize the country, and we think every one admits that it has done some harm to business as a whole. But we think there should be a limit to that harm. In short, we doubt OPA's constitutional right to carry harm to the extent of financially ruining any particular branch of business.
It appears to us that is what OPA is trying to do to the baking industry. Or is it just the little baker?
At a recent meeting of representatives of the flour milling industry, along with Senators of the wheat growing states, it was pointed out from a ruling "that not more than two-thirds and more likely one-half of the normal amount of flour would be produced this month for use in this country, and that none at all would be produced next month. Millers are unable to buy any wheat because the Government is paying 30c per bushel more than millers are allowed to pay, and is shipping all it buys to other countries."
That, frankly is carrying things too far. Many of the small bakeries will have to close. It is fine to help some of the countries that are deserving of help, but we think our American business firms should be given consideration before going all out for feeding Germany, Italy, and other countries so anxious to fight us. In fact, if some of the OPA Big-Wigs would spend a few months over there on the firing lines, they wouldn't be so anxious to fatten those kraut and spaghetti eaters.
Our home bakery is having a struggle to get enough material for a full line of bakery products—and now this new blow must hit. And there's another point: if our home bakery can be cut so low on flour, how is it that bakeries in the larger towns can get sufficient flour to fill their needs there and then send their bread wagons to Snyder peddling bread.
OPA has had a taste of power, and it's hard to give it up. Our candid opinion is that somebody is making plenty of "dough" out of the existing situation, and it isn't the little bakery. And you can bet it isn't "kind hearted sympathy that makes OPA so anxious to feed the foreign countries—because if they are that tender hearted they would give some consideration to the American people, and to America's small business. They have tried their hand at trying to ruin gas and oil dealers the dry goods men and grocers, and in fact about every type of business. When the Americans raise enough L the OPA boys back off from that particular line and head into something else. So we know that when the small bakeries fight back hard enough, they will get some relief, and some other line of business will be the next goat.
But why such a battle? Why do we have to keep fighting day after day just to keep small business going? If our Government has so much to give away, how about giving Americans a bit of relief from that bunk—relief is free.
MEMORIAL DAY THIS YEAR TO BE NATION'S GREATEST
America is a land of special days. We like servance of almost everything under the sun. This is not surprising, because we Americans are extremists; an intense, vital, driving people with an over abundance of interests, energies and activities, who must crowd a lot of living, a lot of feeling and emotion, into the shortest possible space of time.
For this reason we like special days. We like them, too, because they help us to remember that which we might otherwise forget. And also because, although we insist that we are rugged individualists and eschew anything that smacks of regimentation; we are at heart gregarious animals who love a crowd and enter into teamwork harmoniously.
Probably no holiday is more typically American than Memorial Day or Decoration Day. We originated it. Its roots go deep in our national character. We have a profound and abiding respect for courage and bravery which binds us closely to those who have died in battle. For here in America, more than anywhere else on earth, life—the life of each individual—is a very dear and precious thing, not to be taken lightly. And death, the antithesis of life, therefor assumes far greater proportion and significance.
Decoration Day, as it was first called and a name which still persists to some extent, originated in the South, shortly after the War between the States in 1865, to commemorate the dead of that war. Subsequently it was adopted by most of the Northern states and later came to honor the dead of other wars.
Memorial day this year assumes the greatest significance, because it is the first since the end of World War II. And it is safe to predict that this Memorial Day will be more widely observed than ever before and that far more people will visit the various cemeteries and shrines.
This renewed and unprecedented interest in the spiritual side of life augurs well for our future as a nation and tends to discredit the dire predictions of those alarmists who would have us believe that we are a decadent people. The observance of Memorial Day, the number and stately beauty of the monuments we erect, will always be a yardstick by which we can measure the greatness of America.

Texas Today

By MAC ROY RASOR
AUSTIN, Tex., May 25—(AP)—To the six monuments which have been erected on the state capitol grounds in the past half century, this fall will be added a seventh—a memorial cenotaph to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Symbolizing the four freedoms and dedicated to the social advances championed by the late president, the new Vermont marble $15,000 monument has been approved and will soon be assigned a permanent site by the state board of control which acts as judge, guardian and caretaker of all things pertaining to the capitol grounds. The sponsoring Texas Social Welfare Conference plans the unveiling tentatively for Labor Day.

Applications to the board of control on monument projects are scarce.

"The Roosevelt memorial is the only application the board has received in recent years," chairman Weaver Baker says. Considerations by the board on such an application, he says, are worthiness of the cause, style of the proposed monument and available space on the grounds.

There are no guiding rules or laws. The state simply relies on the board of control to act wisely on each application on its own particular merits.

"While Roosevelt had many policies everyone did not agree with, he was unquestionably a great man—probably one of the greatest in the history of our country," Baker said. "The board felt it was fitting that Texas should honor this great leader who was faced with many of the nation's most perplexing crises of all times."

Texas is the first state in the nation to honor Roosevelt, according to Glen S. Wilson of Austin, chairman of the Roosevelt Memorial Foundation which was organized to direct the work. The memorial will join those of the immortal defenders of the Alamo, heroic volunteer firemen of Texas, Terry's Texas Rangers, Hood's Texas Brigade, the Confederate dead, and the famous cowboy statue.

Oldest of the group is the Alamo monument erected in 1891 through a $15,000 appropriation by the 21st legislature. Names of all the defenders of the famous San Antonio fortress are engraved on the four pillars of the red granite memorial.

Next came the firemen's monu-

Texas Public Utilities Force Hosts At Lawn Party Here

Manager George Clark and the balance of his force at the Texas Public Utilities were hosts Thursday night to employees of the same Company of Lamesa, Sweetwater, and Colorado City. A number of Snyder citizens were invited to the party, and believe me they enjoyed it to the fullest—extent, in fact the writer hasn't been so completely filled with real honest to goodness food in goodness knows how long. Mr. Clark, better known as "George" is a real host, however. We are a little inclined to believe Mrs. Clark had something to do with the engineering of the extravaganza. Be that as it may, everyone had a fine time, and who wouldn't with such Texas hospitality. Due to the weather some of the expected guests did not come, but some fifty did arrive and thorough- ly enjoyed themselves.—Contributed

Sidelights From Washington

By GEORGE MAHON

This is Saturday noon. The President is scheduled to address a joint session of Congress at four P. M. today.

The intolerable industrial strife and strikes of recent months are regarding production, producing inflation, and wrecking the economy of the Nation.

A straightforward labor-management policy, which some of us have long advocated, would have avoided this tragic situation. Before Pearl Harbor, during the war, and since the war, the House of Representatives has passed legislation designed to protect the public from disastrous strikes and labor-management trouble and at the same time give labor and management a fair deal.

But the efforts of the House have been ineffective. Why? Because the U. S. Senate has willfully failed and refused to take favorable action on what the House has done. In fairness it must be said that the Texas Senators have not been parties to this inexcusable delay.

To be more specific: On June 7, 1940, the House passed a bill to revise the National Labor Relations Act by a roll call vote of 258 to 129. It went to the Senate Committee on Education and Labor and died there. On December 3, 1941--four days before Pearl Harbor--the House again passed a bill for this purpose by a vote of 253 to 136. This bill also went to the Senate Committee on Education and Labor and died there. On February 7, 1946, the House again passed a bill which is commonly referred to as the Case Bill. That bill passed the House by a vote of 258 to 155. It also went to the Senate Committee on Education and Labor and remained there until a few days ago. I am among those in the House who voted for each of these bills.

It is fervently hoped that those in the Senate who have blocked appropriate legislation in the past will now, at long last, join in a program of action for the common good of our Nation.

Our Subcommittee on Appropriations for Government-owned Corporations is now in the third week of hearings. It will be late in May before our bill will be ready for submission to the House for action.

We have concluded hearings on the seven corporations which operate in the interest of agriculture. The Commodity Credit Corporation is perhaps the most powerful Government Corporation which deals with agriculture. The CCC operates the price support and loan programs for cotton and grain and numerous other agricultural crops. Congress has guaranteed a support price, or loan, of 92 1-2 percent of parity on cotton for a two-year period following the year in which the official end of the war is declared. A support price of 90 percent of parity is similarly provided for other basic crops.

Loans and purchases through the years by the CCC on cotton, wheat, corn, peanuts, eggs, and other farm products run into the billions of dollars, but the SSS has sustained relatively few losses on crop loans and purchases. On cotton the CCC has made a net profit of $147,000,000. Cotton farmers will rejoice over the fact that practically all Government-owned cotton will have been disposed of prior to August 1st. This is particularly gratifying when it is recalled that at one time the CCC had on hand over 11,000,000 bales of surplus cotton.

Governor I. W. Duggan of the Farm Credit Administration has appeared in support of the four Government Corporations under his supervision, all having a direct bearing on the year-to-year operations of millions of American farmers.

Governor Duggan expressed alarm over the sky-rocketing of farm land prices. However, in contrasting the rise in farm real estate during World War I and World War II, he pointed out the encouraging fact that while the mortgage debt of farmers rose sharply during World War I, the mortgage debt of farmers went down during World War II. The mortgage debt of farmers is now 5 1-4 billion dollars, the lowest since 1916.

The remarkable war record of the farmers of America was made in spite of manpower and machinery shortages and often in the face of inadequate prices.

According to Governor Duggan, the total assets--real estate and otherwise--of farmers have increased from 53 billion dollars in 1940 to 90 billion dollars in 1946. He said that American farmers are now indebted for all purposes only to the extent of 10 percent of their assets. It is estimated that in cash, Government bonds and bank deposits the farmers of the Nation have a total of 15 billion dollars.

Of course, what we need in West Texas right now is not agricultural

Aerial Roundup To Push Legion '46 Membership To New Ceiling

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. -- The American Legion will take to the skyways, Sunday, June 2, in a dramatic climax to its 1946 enrollment campaign, to fly more than 200,000 additional cards to national headquarters to swell its membership well beyond the 3,000,000 mark.

In a revival of its pre-war annual national aerial membership roundup scores of aircraft of all types will converge from every section of the United States on Weir Cook Municipal Airport here Saturday afternoon.

Members of Aviation Post 171 at Indianapolis will serve as official greeters of the aviators for the arriving flyers.

Statistics but a good rain. Quite often these days Members of Congress from agricultural areas can be seen standing in front of a weather map which hangs just outside the House of Representatives and which records weather conditions throughout the Nation as of one-thirty o'clock each morning, Washington time. The red arrow, indicating fair weather and no rain, is too often apparent over West Texas.

By order of the President, American flags are flying at half mast for thirty days on public buildings in the United States and on our embassies, legations and consulates in foreign countries out of respect to the memory of the late Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone.

Army participation will be headed by General Carl Spaatz, commanding general of the Army Air Forces, who will be the chief speaker that night at the aerial round-up dinner.

To Award Trophies All participants in the aerial roundup will be presented with national round-up wing emblems by the national -aeronautics commission and headquarters membership division of The American Legion, Department colors will be presented to those ten states whose 1946 memberships on the basis of quotas rank the highest following the round-up.

Three additional new national trophies will be awarded. The National Commander, John S. ...

The Assistant National Adjutant Henry H. Dudley trophy will be presented to the department which flew in the greatest number of 1946 membership cards on a basis of its enrollment quota.

HR. COAST-TO-COAST MAIL NEW YORK--Eleven hour, non-stop coast-to-coast air mail service has been launched by one of the domestic airlines on its transcontinental route.

The National Adjutant Donald G. Glasscock trophy will be awarded the department which has the largest number of individuals in attendance at the round-up.

Veterans News

Q. How is a loan, guaranteed by the Veterans Administration made?
A. The veteran selects the property upon which he desires the loan, negotiates the deal with the owner until a fixed price and terms are agreed upon. He then consults a bank or other lending institution that will in turn seek guaranty by the Veterans Administration of the loan.

Q. May a veteran secure a loan guaranty in order to purchase property with a nonveteran?
A. Yes. The guaranty in this case would apply only to the interest of the veteran in the loan, and may not exceed 50 percent of his interest. Under no circumstances could it cover any part of the interest of the nonveteran.

Q. Is a veteran eligible for education or training who was discharged with other than an honorable discharge?
A. The law provides that the veteran shall have been released from active service under any conditions other than dishonorable. Only a dishonorable discharge bars him from such benefits.

Q. If a dependent or relative receives a government check after a veteran's death, should he cash it?
A. No. He will have to refund it and may be prosecuted. Send it back to the issuing authority with a request for information as to how it may be properly reissued.

Q. May widows or children of deceased veterans secure a guaranty of loan from the Veterans Administration?
A. No. This privilege is limited to veterans themselves; but a loan guaranteed for a veteran may continue after his death.

Q. May a veteran discharged from the service by reason of the dependency of his mother be entered in a course of education?
A. Yes. If the veteran is otherwise entitled, the fact that he was discharged for this reason would not matter.

Q. How does the Veterans Administration determine the amount of pension to be paid a disabled veteran?

A. The Veterans Administration has rating boards that review the veteran's medical records. These boards decide how much he is disabled and award him a pension based on the percentage of his disability. The awards range from $11.50 to $115.00 per month.

Q. When a veteran applies for a loan to buy a home does he have to pay the appraisal fee on the property?
A. Yes. However, the veteran may arrange with the lender for payment of this fee out of the loan.

Q. Can a veteran go to college or school as long as he wants to?
A. Veterans are entitled to one year of schooling, plus one month of schooling for each month of active duty in the armed services up to a maximum of 4 years.

Q. If a veteran becomes disabled while taking on-the-job-training, is this considered the same as a service-connected disability?
A. Yes.

Q. Are all veterans entitled to free private dental care?
A. No. Only veterans with service-connected conditions are entitled to this service.

Q. Can a veteran convert his National Service Life Insurance policy into a 20-year or 30-year endowment policy?
A. No. He can convert his term insurance only to ordinary life, 20-payment life or 30-payment life policies.

Q. Is the widow of a woman veteran entitled to pension at her death, and are the children entitled to any pension?
A. A widow is not entitled to pension under the present law, but surviving children may be.

Q. May a wife, widow, child, or other dependent of a veteran be granted hospital care by the Veterans Administration?
A. No. The person must have served in the armed forces.

Q. If a veteran dies after discharge from service, may a burial allowance be awarded by the Veterans Administration?
A. When a veteran of any war, discharged or released from active service under conditions other than dishonorable, a veteran of any war in receipt of compensation or pension, or a veteran of other than wartime service discharged for disability incurred in line of duty or in receipt of pension for service-connected disability dies after discharge, the Veterans Administration may pay for burial and funeral expenses and transportation of the body to the place of burial, a sum not exceeding $100.

Q. What veterans are entitled to special privileges under the homestead laws of the United States?
A. Any veteran who served not less than 90 days, and who was honorably discharged and makes a homestead entry, is entitled to have the term of his service in the armed forces, not exceeding 2 years, deducted from the 3 years' residence required under the homestead laws. Further information may be secured from the General Land Office, Department of Interior, Washington 25, D. C.

Q. May a veteran who has no service-connected disability be entitled to a pension?
A. A veteran may be paid a pension for a non-service-connected disease or injury only if the disability resulting therefrom is rated as permanent and total, and providing such condition is not due to the veteran's own willful misconduct. The veteran must have more than 90 days active military service terminated by a discharge under conditions other than dishonorable.

Q. May a veteran pay off a guaranteed loan before it becomes due?
A. Yes, the regulations give the veterans that right.

Q. Can a guaranty of loan be obtained if the proceeds are to be used by a minor or a person under legal disability?
A. This can be done only if the loan and liens are valid under the state law governing the transaction. Many states have enacted statutes removing disability of veterans, and for the wives of veterans who are minors, to enable them to make such loans.

Q. Are veterans of World War I eligible for benefits under the GI Bill?
A. No. Its benefits are for World War II veterans only.

Q. May funds from a loan guaranteed by the Veterans Administration be used to pay operating expenses on a farm?
A. Yes, but the veteran must actually operate the farm.

Q. Must a veteran put any of his own money into a business, a home, or a farm in order to get a guaranty of loan?
A. No, this is not a requirement for guaranty or insurance. It is a question which is settled with the lender. The only bearing it has on the guaranty or insurance of a loan is that in the case of a farm or a business it may affect the likelihood of the veteran's success in the venture.

Q. May a loan to buy an automobile or truck be guaranteed or insured?
A. Yes, but only is the automobile or truck necessary to the conduct of the veteran's own business or farming operations, or the conditions of his employment require that he have such a vehicle for use in carrying on his work but not merely for transportation.

FARMING "BY MAIL" IN MIDDLE AMERICA

DR. WILSON POPENOE instructing students at the School of Pan American Agriculture in Honduras in cultivating new crops that are being popularized through widely distributed circulars.

WHEN the postman makes his appointed rounds in rural Middle America, he is more likely to deliver a leaflet written in simple Spanish than a mail-order catalogue or a letter from Aunt Rosa. The leaflet will teach the farmer a new skill, or it will tell him about some new wrinkle in agriculture. By following the expert instructions, Mr. Middle American Farmer can increase the yield of his land and advance to a higher income bracket.

The spade-work for these unusual circulars is being done cooperatively by the United States Department of Agriculture and officials of the Guatemalan, El Salvadorian, and Nicaraguan governments, together with progressive interests such as the United Fruit Company. Their experimental plantations are carrying on research aimed at making the small farmer's lot a happier one by improving his diet, preventing crop diseases, encouraging better planting practices, and avoiding disastrous erosion. The major objective, however, is to develop new tropical crops. These are not competitive with northern products.

Dr. Wilson Popeno, director of the School of Pan American Agriculture in Honduras, has won wide acclaim for his School's part in this crop diversification program. Endowed and maintained by the United Fruit Company, the School has undertaken extensive experiments in natural rubber, oil grasses and palm oils, fibers, insecticides such as rotenone, and various tropical woods. Students return home to the ten Middle American republics trained to grow an astonishing variety of crops. Thanks to graduates, and to the efforts of R.F.D. Middle America is becoming a storehouse of new local products of increasing importance to the U.S.A.

A NEWER KIND OF OBSERVANCE FEATURED BY TEXAS HD CLUBS

A spirit of sharing and giving characterized observance of National Home Demonstration Week throughout Texas, according to reports reaching the home demonstration staff of the A. and M. College Extension Service.

A Dallas newspaper reported that women in that county were shipping 100 boxes of cotton clothing, towels, feed sacks, sewing kits, and other material to Manila for distribution throughout the Philippines. Miss Orene McClellan, county home demonstration agent, paid tribute during the week to Mrs. M. B. Sparkman of the Rose Lawn club who has been in home demonstration work 31 years, longer than any other Dallas County woman.

The Dimmit County home demonstration council announced it would contribute a case of canned food for overseas relief, and individual club women will donate clothing and sewing kits for the Philippines. A similar plan was adopted in Duval County and Brooks County, where collection boxes were placed at convenient places in the county seat, Palfurias for public contributions.

Tribute to the late Mrs. Maggie W. Barry, Extension adviser on rural organizations, was paid at a tea for Archer County home demonstration club women. Laura Underwood, Cameron County home demonstration agent, spoke on the observance from a Brownsville radio station and asked for cooperation in the nation's famine relief program.

Kieberg County clubs arranged educational exhibits in Kingsville store windows, on the week's theme, "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World," in addition to collecting cotton clothing for the Philippines. A similar plan was followed in Bell County. Club exhibits there featured leather tooling, hand weaving, bedroom improvement, and other topics. A Temple newspaper devoted three pages to the observance.

LAYMEN'S LEAGUE OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH MEETS

The Laymen's League of the Christian Church of Zone 2 had a splendid meeting at Brownfield last Sunday afternoon and evening. Some of the forward looking measures that came before the meeting were first, Evangelism. And that is the purpose of the Layman's League, not an independent organization, but a movement to give aid to the work of the church. So they give of their time and money to forward weaker churches here and there as is needed. Then, too, the resolution was passed by the League to curb and abolish this wide advertising of the liquor interest by press and radio. This to be done by writing our papers and magazines, and also to put our congressmen on notice of our displeasure. Six attended.

The Laymen's League will have its next meeting with the First Christian Church of Snyder, Texas.

LADY NEARLY CHOKED WHILE LYING IN BED—DUE TO STOMACH GAS
One lady said a few days ago that she used to be afraid to go to bed at night. She was swollen with stomach gas, which always got worse when she went to bed, and the gas would rise up in her throat after she lay down and would nearly choke her. She couldn't lie flat. Had to prop herself up on pillows. Recently this lady got INNER-AID and now says gas is gone stomach feels fine, bowels are regular and she can go to bed and sleep soundly.
INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get INNER-AID. Sold by all drug stores here in Scurry County.

Feed Situation Foreign Lands Is Major Study

"Every parent in Scurry County has a stake in the present food campaign to help feed millions of starving children in Europe and Asia," according to Joe B. Adams, Chm. County Committee.

"Homeless, starving children of these war-torn countries are the adults of tomorrow with whom the United States must do business," he explained, adding, "people must be strong and healthy to help make a peaceful world."

"Recent surveys reveal that of 70,000 school children tested in Poland, 40 percent showed signs of lung disorders, caused by malnutrition, and in Greece tuberculosis has increased nearly five times during the war. Many thousands more will be crippled for life by tuberculosis of the bones and joints. In addition millions of these hungry children also are homeless and they must have food now," he emphasized.

"Reducing bread consumption by a slice or two a day, and fats and oils by a spoonful is no sacrifice for us when we can substitute other foods that are just as nourishing," he said.

Until the harvest season in Europe and Asia, which still is several months away, civilians are asked to reduce consumption of wheat products by 40 percent and fats and oils by 20 percent.

Picture yourself in a home, well fed and well clothed, healthy and happy. On your table are appetizing and simple meals. Practically any food you fancy is found in your corner grocery. And there's more growing on the farmlands of the country. You are rich.

Down the street lives a poor family in a shack. They are shabbily clothed, their cupboard is bare, and their faces are haunted by misery and hunger. They are destitute and desperate.

As a good neighbor, what would you do? The American nation is Europe's happy, well-fed neighbor. Shall we grow more plump while they become more gaunt?

Lend a helping hand. Let charity begin in your home. Conserve food—eat less—sell any wheat you may have.

During 1945, 35,600 children below the ages of 12 died in Holland. There was a 300 percent increase in infant deaths from the preceding year.

America can change the blue deathly pallor on the faces of these children to a rosy, healthy glow by saving wheat products for export.

President Harry S. Truman said on a recent Nation-wide broadcast: "We cannot ignore the CRY OF HUNGRY CHILDREN. Surely we will not turn our backs on the millions of human beings begging for just a crust of bread. The warm heart of America will respond to the greatest threat of mass starvation in the history of mankind."

"America is faced with a solemn obligation. Long ago we promised to do our part. The time for talk has passed. The time for action is here. America cannot remain healthy and happy in the same world where millions of human beings are starving."

A "sound world order can never be built upon a foundation of human misery," he said. "Once again I appeal to all Americans to sacrifice so that others may live."

From the shattered ghetto town of Eboli in southern Italy, a Time Magazine correspondent cabled this description of the HORRIFYING WORK OF MALNUTRITION. "When you drag the children out of their hovels into the light of day, they all show the same familiar signs, narrow shoulders, protruding Adam's apple, spidery legs, earth-colored, leathery skin, huge eyes in huge heads. Worst of all, they have the dull fixed stare of children who have never laughed."

Malnutrition is slow starvation. Doctors agree that 1500 calories a day is rock bottom if the body is to perform even the primary function of keeping alive. Below 1500 calories the body begins to feed on itself. Fat layers between muscles and around vital organs disappear. Anemia sets in. As resistance is lowered, the system falls easy prey to tuberculosis, dysentery, blood poisoning.

While the body grows leaner and weaker, subtler, more dangerous changes occur. Vitamin deficiency causes bones to soften. Protein-deficient diet causes edema—a swelling of arms, legs and abdomen because of water logged tissues. Hair and teeth may fall out. Children stop growing.

50 million Europeans are on daily rations of less than 1500 calories. Let's be a good neighbor and help these starving people! myvidsa. Ou ckkak

Precautions In Use of Sprays Urged By Rabel

Dust sprays, gases and other insecticides will do much to promote the healthy growth of fruits and vegetables, but they often have just the opposite effect on man, according to Estella Rabel, County Home Demonstration Agent. Even though the container may not bear the skull and crossbones label, caution is necessary since many substances are harmful in some way to man, despite the fact that they may not be definitely poisonous.

Miss Rabel urged special precautions to avoid inhaling fumes or vapors from fumigants, which, if not poisonous, usually will prove irritating to humans. She put special emphasis on the necessity of proper labeling for all insecticides and safe storage where children cannot reach them.

Several precautions that should be taken are: 1. Follow the direction of the manufacturer in handling, mixing and applying.

2. Always spray dust downward. 3. Wear respirators which protect the entire face when there is danger of inhaling fumes. Only those approved by the U.S. Bureau of Mines for the particular job you are doing should be worn.

4. Gloves, long-sleeved shirts and clothing to cover the entire body are recommended. 5. Wash hands and other exposed parts of the body thoroughly with soap and water after using poisonous chemicals.

6. Store poisonous materials in strong leak-proof containers. Be certain that they are out of reach of children or livestock. Bury the unused portion.

7. Thoroughly wash or strip fruits and vegetables to which poisonous chemicals of a stable nature have been applied. 8. Unknown substances should not be used, nor should substances sold under trade names without complete information as to composition and proportions.

Snyder Veteran Gets Tractor In Fort Worth Sale

One local Veteran of World War II, Eulon G. Thompson, was among the successful purchasers of farm and construction machinery in a sale of $850,000.00 worth of items in short supply held by the War Assets Administration in Fort Worth a few days ago.

A total of 740 ex-G.I.'s from 12 states, some as far away as Rhode Island and Seattle, Washington, sent in orders by mail seeking to purchase tractors and other equipment.

Thompson purchased a Centaur Model KM tractor, and the price was given as $202.50. Order of purchasing was determined by an impartial drawing, since many of the veterans were seeking the same item. WAA officials safeguarded the interest of Texas veterans by seeing to it that all veterans from within the regions were successful in purchasing at least one item of their list before any awards were made to distant veterans from other regions.

The disposal resulted in a total of 298 pieces of machinery being awarded to veterans for a total price of $440,955.40. Most sought items were tractors, cranes, draglines and scrapers.

Texas leads the nation in allotments for REA loans for the year ending June 30, 1946, the USDA has announced. Loans are being made for construction of lines to serve new consumers. Allotment for Texas for the fiscal year is $12,151,589.

Paralysis Has Hit 26 Towns In Texas To Date

NEW YORK, May 29—Infantile paralysis has hit 26 Texas counties with 47 cases reported through May 4, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis made known this week.

All of the Foundation's chapters in the state are prepared as never before to cope with the disease by furnishing every possible aid to polio victims, the statement announces. "If polio breaks out in your community," the Foundation advises, "observe the following rules: Avoid new contacts; watch for symptoms such as headache, unexplained fever, a cold or even an upset stomach. Phone your doctor immediately if these symptoms occur. The chances are you may not have polio, but if it should strike, prompt action is the first step toward recovery."

Additional precautions include: Don't get overtired; avoid chills; observe strict personal and community cleanliness; avoid removal of tonsils or adenoids prior to and during the polio epidemic season; don't swim in polluted water; see that waste and garbage are covered.
