STEERS STEADY TO EASY

MODERATE SUPPLY ON SALE, INCLUDING FAIR SHOWING OF CAKE-FEDS.

PULP-FED STEERS AT $8.45

Texas Beeves Active and Generally Steady—Cows and Heifers Mostly Steady—Sharp Slump in Stockers and Feeders.

The week opened with a material increase in receipts of cattle at all points, which had the effect of creating a weak tone in the trade. Local arrivals aggregated approximately 1,500 head as compared with 831 head a week ago and 1,364 corresponding day a year ago. The five leading markets gave an aggregate total of 52,590 cattle, a gain of 29,100 over the supply in sight last Monday, while compared with a year ago, an increase of 18,000 head was noted. Chicago reported 22,900 cattle on sale, 19,000 in the southern division, four loads in the northwestern division on the native side, a few loads of pulp-fed Colorado and a moderate assortment of native corn fed steers. The market was characterized by the Texas quarantine offerings, a good early clearance being made at prices steady to a shade lower.

In the market the movement was dragsy with prices tending downward. The temperature was high and cattle took on a heavy ill which militated against an early trip to market. Prices were regarded steady to 10c lower than last week's closing basis, with the planer qualities showing grass hardest to turn. Nothing strictly new was on offer.

QUARANTINE DIVISION

Twenty cars of Texas cake-fed steers comprised the arrivals in this branch of the market today. The trade opened active and an early clearance was made. Prices were generally steady, full considered, with exception of the early trip to market. The bulk of the steers were bunched at $7.85 to $7.90. Ten loads in one string sold at $7.50, seven loads being delivered and three delivered. Everything was sold and weighed up early, buyers giving the Texas offering the right of way.

TEXAS STEERS STILL COMING

COGS, HELLERS AND MIXED

The undertone to the market for cows, heifers and mixed butcher classes was weak today but owing to the limited supply of cattle offered in this division, buyers had some opportunity to enforce a lower selling basis. Quality of the offerings, with very few exceptions, was plain, common to fair grade cows forming the bulk of the sale. Buyers were more successful in obtaining prices for bulls than for other classes of butcher cattle, a 10c to 15c decline being noted on the bulk of sales involving this class of stock. The trade in calves was comparatively quiet. Lines similar to last week's closing sessions, with a top of $9.25 on the choicer kinds.

HOG PRICES GO DOWN

QUALITY LESS ATTRACTIVE

"Packs" More Numerous—Top Lights at $8.85, With Bulk of Sales at $8.65@8.85— Few Pigs on Offer.

Receipts of hogs at this point today were estimated at 5000 head. The five markets had an aggregate of 7750 head, an increase of 23,000 over last Monday. The gain over a week ago was 2,200 at this point. Chicago reported 51,000 head on sale and a lower market, and declines were the rule elsewhere. Trade here opened mostly 5@10c lower and bulk of the day's business was done on this basis. Toward the close the demand showed more life and the finishing trade was on a stronger level, or mostly 5c lower than Saturday, with exceptions 7 1/2c lower. Quality was poorer than it has been running. There were more of the rough packing grades than usual in proportion to the receipts. These took the full discount and caused a wider range in prices than has been in vogue recently. Most of the heavy packing hogs sold around $8.65@8.70. Barring this class it was largely an $8.75@8.80 deal, with a top of $8.85 on best light offerings. Pigs were in mossier supply and the market quotably steady.

Prices for hogs averaging 140 lbs. and up ranged from $8.55@8.85, with bulk selling at $8.67@8.83. The bulk sold Saturday at $8.80@8.90, a week ago at $8.85@8.90, a month ago at $8.55@8.65, a year ago at $7.40@7.50, two years ago at $6.30@6.40, three years ago at $4.85@4.85, and four years ago at $7.70@7.90.

ACTIVE TRADE IN SHEEP

IDAHO LAMBS AT $8.10

A marked increase was noted in the run of around 2,100 head received here today including two double decks direct to packers, compared with last Monday and the same day a year ago when 370 and 356 head, respectively, were marketed. Early estimates placed the five market run around 45,400 head, 32,200 a week ago today and 43,100 the corresponding day a year ago. The big end of today's supply was made up of a four double deck shipment of Idaho range stock, the balance consisting of singles from native points. A good active movement was started in the trade at an early hour with the general run of prices showing little change compared with last week's close. Buyers entertained little preference in their dealings, all grades of sheep and lambs being taken over in good season. The supply of range offerings met with prompt attention and was soon on their way to packer pens, marked at prices indicating a steady affair. The range lambs brought $3.10 while the top on native stock, which were of only fair quality, was $7.90. Aside from two cars of range wethers direct to packers receipts included very few sheep. The salable supply of aged stock consisted mostly of native ewes which sold well in line with last week's close.

July seems to be living up to its reputation as a month of light hog marketing.

The war of grasshoppers in Kansas is getting almost as much space in the newspapers as the war in the Balkans.

As the supply dwindles prices for good beef goes up. 'Twas ever thus. The old law of supply and demand is the supreme price regulator.

One thing we miss in newspaper reports of the grasshopper invasion: There's been nothing said about the grasshoppers eating the green print off the buildings. Maybe, though, they use red paint, or possibly no paint at all, out where the insects are thickest.

A HOG-FEEDING EXPERIMENT

Prof. J. M. Eppard of Iowa Agricultural College was in Chicago last week and marketed 25 head of about 300-pound hogs at $8.55. These were fed in lots of 5 on different rations.

All had shelled corn. To every 100 pounds of corn the different lots had:

Lot 1—Skim milk, 100 pounds.

Lot 2—Oil meal, 12.5 pounds.

Lot 3—Oil meal and tankage, equal parts.

Lot 4—Tankage, 5 pounds.

Lot 5—Tankage from self-feeder at will. They took about 7 pounds.

Skim milk figured 25c per 100 lbs.

Tankage, $2.50 per 100 pounds.

Oil meal, $1.50 per 100 pounds.

Skim milk hogs made most gain but heaviest shrink. Home weights and shrink were:

Lot 1, 333 lbs., shrink 22 lbs.

Lot 2, 329 lbs., shrink 9 lbs.

Lot 3, 312 lbs., shrink 9 lbs.

Lot 4, 314 lbs., shrink 14 lbs.

Lot 5, 315 lbs., shrink 9 lbs.

The lot that ate tankage at will, balancing their own rations, made the most satisfactory record, producing better results than those that had tankage weighed out to them. They Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Dog That Talked Just Once.

"A plate of beef," said the dog.

As the children came up to him daddy laid down the magazine he was reading.

"What were you reading about?" Jack and Evelyn asked.

"About a gentleman who is trying to teach his dog to talk," daddy replied.

"As we are speaking about talking dogs, I must tell you a story about a once famous ventriloquist. A ventriloquist is a person who can speak in such a way that his voice seems to come from some other person or object.

"This man gave entertainments, but at this time it happened that people had not come to his shows very well and he was without money and tramping from one town to another.

"As he walked along the road a thin old dog, nearly as dusty and tired looking as himself, came out of some bushes and followed him.

"Hungry, old chap?" he asked as they neared the town. "Well, it will be too bad if between us we cannot get a good meal."

"Straight to the best hotel in town town tramped the man. He marched into the dining room and seated himself at a table.

"Up, sir," he commanded the dog, which skulked into the room at his heels. The dog leaped to the chair and seated himself.

"The owner of the hotel and a waiter rushed up. It was against the rules to bring a dog into the dining room. Before they could speak the ventriloquist had ordered his dinner.

"And, now, sir, what will you take?" he asked, turning to the dog.

"A plate of beef and a glass of water, thank you," the dog seemed to answer politely. Of course it was the ventriloquist talking for him.

"Can your dog talk?" the amazed hotel man asked the ventriloquist.

"Why, haven't you heard me?" the dog seemed to reply.

"I'll tell you what I'll do," the hotel owner said; "I'll give you $500 for that dog."

"The money was paid over, and the ventriloquist, who had come in without a penny with which to pay for his meal, went out with a pocketful. As he reached the door the dog, which was being held back by its new friend, seemed to say:

"You are no friend of mine to sell me to another master. As you were mean enough to play me such a trick, I shall take revenge by never speaking another word."

"And the dog never did, because, you see, it had been the ventriloquist speaking for him all the time."

dressed 75.5 per cent, being the highest of all. The skim milk hogs dressed 79 per cent, the lowest of all. Those fed on corn and 5 per cent tankage made the second highest gain, 74.5. The dressing was based on home weights.

LIVE STOCK SLAUGHTERING.

Total of 1,173,529 animals were slaughtered in the federally inspected establishments of Texas under government inspection in 1912. These consisted of 432,998 cattle, 181,035 calves, 184,827 sheep, 2,714 goats and 391,887 hogs.

The total number of animals inspected in the 700 slaughtering and processing establishments under Federal inspection in 226 cities and towns in 1912 was 57,628,491. This is an increase of nearly 5,000,000 over the figures for the fiscal year 1911. Since 1911, the number of inspected establishments including meat feed factories had increased from 313 to 449. Of the animals inspected in 1912, cattle numbered 1,245,385, calves 2,377,954, sheep 14,979,254, goats 72,871, and hogs 33,952,727.

The total condemnations at the time of slaughter for disease or other causes numbered 232,643 whole carcasses and 494,323 parts of other carcasses, or a total of 727,015 condemnations. In addition, nearly 18,000,000 pounds of prepared meats and meat products were condemned on reinspection because they had become unwholesome subsequent to the first inspection.

Chicago, with 12,910,504 animals slaughtered under Federal inspection by the Department of Agriculture, leads in numbers. The other principal points of Federally inspected slaughter are in the following order: Kansas City, 5,646,161; South Omaha, 4,509,656; New York, 2,934,685; National Stock Yards (East St. Louis), 2,565,292; South St. Joseph, 2,671,442; Boston, 1,826,944; Indianapolis, 1,598,593; Sioux City, 1,529,907; Buffalo, 1,281,271.

MEAT IS DELIVERED COOKED

Kansas Butcher Finds Way to Please Housewives.

Cottonwood Falls, Kan., July 14.—Chet Woodring, a local butcher, has introduced an idea in his meat selling business that is doubtless something new to the average town and which is winning the hearts of busy Cottonwood Falls housewives.

In addition to selling his customers meat, Woodring also does the cooking for them free of charge. He has converted the rear part of his shop into a small, clean kitchen which is furnished with a gas range and plenty of big porcelain cooking utensils.

These hot days the average housewife finds roasting or boiling, which requires several hours' time, anything but a pleasant task, and now, thanks to the ingenuity of their meat man, Cottonwood Falls women are "cutting" the whole business out. Instead, if they order a beef roast in the morning, they also order it well cooked and delivered to their tables at 12 o'clock. That's all there is to it. The rest of the meal, which will probably require but a few minutes' cooking, is duly looked after, and at noon the roast, or whatever variety of meat was ordered, is brought, steaming and done to a turn, to their tables by the butcher. Since putting his new scheme into operation a short time ago Woodring has been doing a land office business, as his patrons find it a great convenience, especially in the hot weather.

A PROMISE

FIND HISTORIC GRAVE

Jesuit Missionary and Indians Believed to Have Been Buried There in Seventeenth Century—Silver Cross Is on Bones.

Battle Ground, Ind.—Guy Fisher, a farmer boy living near Battle Ground, Ind., stumbled on to a strange find a few days ago near the mouth of the Tippecanoe river that may be of considerable historic interest.

Many small mounds of earth are to be seen in the neighborhood which is named for the battle of Tippecanoe between Gen. Harrison and Tecumseh's warriors. Some of these have been opened from time to time, and relics of the red men have been found in them, but the latest is considered one of the most important yet unearthed in that district.

Recent high water from the Tippecanoe and Wabash rivers and Wild Cat creek inundated the entire countryside. Young Fisher was on the joining of the Tippecanoe and Wabash rivers after the water had receded and found one of the larger of the mounds washed out. Uncovered by the waters but undisturbed were five skeletons. The center one of the quintet was larger than the others, and upon it rested a heavy cross known to antiquarians as the "Jesuit double cross."

The young man, after making these discoveries, dug lower into the spot and found a stone pipe, several hand-fuls of arrow and spear heads, two metal buttons and several other small stone articles, both implements of peace and war.

It is supposed by some that the larger of the five men—for all the skeletons have been determined as those of males—was a Jesuit missionary, while the others are supposed to have been Indians.

History tells of the burial of De La Salle, the French explorer who was in the Northwest territory in the year 1680, in the Mississippi river, after he had been disappointed in his venture of the Griffis, which he dispatched from the head of Lake Huron. The boat never returned from its voyage to Niagara and the Frenchman started on the long trip of 1,500 miles to Canada, first going down the Mississippi for supplies in two canoes with an Indian hunter and four French companions. It is supposed that the skeletons found are those of men who either were in De La Salle's party or who met the Jesuit missionary, Marquette, who later went through the section.

It is known that Marquette was through that part of the country and some students are of the opinion that the skeletons are those of four followers of the Marquette party and one of the Jesuit's group of missionaries.

Some have asserted the larger body is that of an Indian and not a white man, that he was the chief of a tribe and had been converted to the Christian religion by the Marquette party. The position of the body and its condition seem to indicate this, according to those holding the latter view of the case.

BIG FLYING BOAT IS FAST

Hammondsport, N. Y.—Harold F. McCormick's big flying boat, designed by Glenn H. Curtiss, was tried out here and proved successful beyond Curtiss' expectations. The new flying boat is large and heavy, as compared with previous machines of this type built in America. It has a spread of more than 40 feet and weighs, when loaded, considerably more than a ton. The power plant consists of a motor weighing more than 300 pounds and developing 104 horse power. It was expected that the boat would be seaworthy, but not particularly fast. The trials proved that it would make more than a mile a minute flying in the air and about 50 miles an hour when used as a motor boat in the water.

Mr. Curtiss made the first trip, accompanied by L. A. Vilas of Chicago and another flying boat owner. With things under way from the starting point the boat rose from the water and sailed gracefully down the lake.

It is said to be McCormick's intention to use the flying boat between his office in Chicago and his home at Lake Forest, 25 miles distant. The McCormick boat was taken back to the factory for the final touches and will be ready for shipment to Chicago within a short time.

Chicago Woman Praises Press.

Boston, Mass.—The further extension of the juvenile courts system was urged by Mrs. Frederic Schaff of Philadelphia at the convention of the national congress of Mothers' and Parent-Teachers' associations. At a round table on "The press in extension work," Mrs. Edgar A. Hall of Chicago took the position that the newspaper is one of the chief educators of the day.

MANY LOST ARTICLES HERE

Paris.—The wonderful depot of lost articles, which for thirty years had its temporary headquarters at the Prefecture of Police, is about to be removed to the Caserne de la Cite, with its stocks of 100,000 heterogeneous articles. According to these figures, one out of thirty adult Parisians loses something every day, and the police depot was really growing too small.

There is a story of one particularly oblivious lady who lost the same umbrella twenty-three times. She went to fetch it twenty-two times, but the twenty-third time she was too much ashamed to redeem it. However, a few days later she thought she would just go out of curiosity and see if her umbrella was there. Sure enough it was, and as all the employees by that time knew her, one of them said to her with a smile: "Madame, will you not come and take your umbrella?" She had to take it the twenty-third time, even against her desire. We are not told how many times she lost it after that.

Other stories which the police have to tell are scarcely less amusing. Loads of lost articles find their way to the depot after some great celebration. The day after the departure of the king of Spain the most astounding finds were made. The depot received two swords with damask blades and handles of solid gold, a neck chain of diamonds, rubies and emeralds, earrings with brilliants and two hats of naval officers.

On another occasion an employe at the opera found a bracelet with diamonds which formed part of the crown jewels, and belonged to a member of the Orleans family.

A general one found a purse in the Bois de Boulogne. He handed it to the policeman, and a year later the same purse was restored to him with the injunction that he was, according to the law, to be its depository for thirty years, after which time, in accordance with the statute of limitations, he would become the definite owner. The purse contained $125.

LIVE AFTER MONTH'S DEATH

Rate and Other Creatures, Congealed in Liquid Air That Fills Jar, Revived.

Baltimore.—A third state between life and death, a state of "latent life," or suspended animation, has been indicated by a series of experiments recently made in the psychological and histological laboratories of the Johns Hopkins Medical school. These experiments, which have been under way for a number of months, show, it is believed, a number of steps between life and death.

The fact that life in various organisms may be suspended by freezing in liquid air and by other processes and the possibility of it.

There are instances where such animals as frogs and rats, snails and even fish have their lives suspended by the freezing process, sometimes so thoroughly that their intestines can be taken out amass, and yet on being "thawed out" after a period of weeks revive most actively.

These animals are perfectly normal when placed in a refrigerating jar, just large enough to hold one animal. The jar is filled with liquid air at a certain temperature, and after a short time the animals appear lifeless. A month later they are removed and on being thawed out show signs of life, sometimes reviving completely.

No claim is made that after death life can be restored, but in many instances where life is thought to be extinct, it is only masked, and it remains for the scientists to discover through experiment whether he is dealing with death itself or with latent life.

RULES FEAT IS IMPOSSIBLE

Judge Declares That No Power on Earth Can Stop a Woman From Talking.

New York.—A magistrate presiding in a court of justice went on record recently as being of the opinion that no power on earth could stop a woman from talking. The opinion was expressed by Magistrate Murphy when Morris J. Klein, a resident of the Bronx, asked Murphy to issue some order that would silence a woman who lives in an apartment across from his and "who makes the days and nights hideous by talking and shouting across the roadway."

"It can't be done," declared Murphy. "I am but a magistrate; I have no supernatural powers. There is no power under heaven that will keep quiet a woman who wants to talk."

Lightning Hunts Its Man.

Gettysburg, Pa.—Lightning struck a telephone wire here, and traveled along it a distance of 12 miles before finding a victim. At Hanover, G. A. Leach, a lineman, strapped by his safety belt to the top of a pole, was struck and rendered unconscious. It was not until some hours later that the cause of his accident was ascertained.

Girl's Recipe for "Coroner's Cocktail."

Chicago.—Coroner Peter M. Hoffman has a recipe for the "coroner's cocktail." Here it is: "Mix three chorizo girls with as many men and soak in champagne until midnight; squeeze into an auto and add a dash of joy and a drunken chauffeur; shake well and serve at 70 miles an hour. Chaser: Coroner's inquest."

Clever Scheme of Two Young People to Get Free Summer Vacations.

By HAROLD CARTER. "You wish to speak to me, Mr. Galbraith?" inquired young Mr. Allen, looking up from his seat in the swinging hammock.

"Excuse me, girls," said Mr. Allen jauntily, and stepped out of the hammock. He followed the landlord till they were out of sight of the women guests.

"Now, see here, Allen, I'm not going to stand for any more of this confounded nonsense," he said. "You go back to that infernal bureau of yours and tell 'em I sent you back because you didn't do your work satisfactorily."

"Why, what's the matter, Mr. Galbraith?" inquired the other, in surprise. "Matter, sir?" thundered the landlord.

"Terms, fifteen dollars a week and board for as long as the season lasts," pursued the irate landlord. "And you was to take each girl out in turn for a moonlight sail, to build up my business and prevent Walt Smithers getting all my young women away from me, as he did last summer."

"Well, Mr. Galbraith," replied Mr. Allen deferentially, "wasn't I entertaining six of your young ladies out on the lawn? Didn't I occupy the hammock, and let them fan me and bring me ice water? Don't you suppose I know the game, even if I did go sailing?"

"Now you cut it out," cried the other. "You can pack up and get out this afternoon. I've spent fifty dollars on you and lost my best customer—Miss Jones."

"You may order a carriage for me at half-past three," she said coolly. "Why, certainly, Miss Moon," replied the proprietor, rubbing his hands.

HOUSON ASKS LARGER NAVY

Chicago.—The balance of power in the California land question lies with Japan because of the small navy of the United States and because there is no United States fleet in the Pacific now, according to the views expressed recently by Captain Richmond P. Hobson, Spanish war hero and congressman from Alabama.

"The small navy of the United States is entirely the reason for this," he said. "Japan is supreme on the seas right now and has everything its own way. It is impossible for the United States to make the Japs come to terms, and all we can do, as I see it, is to take what Japan chooses to give us."

"Two years ago I was in favor of sending a fleet to the Pacific ocean, and I have been an advocate of this plan all the time. It is too late to do anything now, as the Panama Canal is not opened and it's a long way around by the water route."

"That's him," said Galbraith, bitterly. "Well!" "We offer you the services of a young lady of superhuman beauty, to stay at Galbraith's hotel and wear this Adonis away from the other guests, thereby spoiling his business for the season. Our Miss Moon—"

"Moon!" yelled the other. "Moon! Why—tell me the name of that society again!" "The Summer Hotel Improvement society," said Mr. Smithers. "What's the matter? Aren't you feeling good?"

"No, confound you. Why, they both came from the same shop." "Darling," said Arthur Allen, "where shall we go for our vacation next year? Do you think the Adirondacks are played out yet?"

"I guess not," answered Bessie, snuggling up to him. "Perhaps we might try the Catskills, though, this year. Isn't it glorious having free summer holidays, Arthur? I don't know what we'd have done without them; and we'd never have gone away since our honeymoon."

England's Second Oldest Judge. Judge Greenhow of the Leeds and Wakefield County Court, Eng., has just completed his thirty-second year on the bench, and his friends claim that as he is eighty-three years of age, he is the second oldest judge in the empire, the premier honor being held by Lord Halsbury, the ex-lord chancellor.

HUMAN HEARTS SHOWN JURY

Witness in Trial of Doctor Accused of Wife Poisoning Presents Grievous Exhibit.

Springfield, O.—Two human hearts were exhibited in the court room here before the gaze of the jury and society folk in the crowded court room in the trial of Dr. Arthur B. Smith, charged with poisoning his first wife, Mrs. Florence Caviler Smith.

The testimony was offered showing that the doctor and Miss Mabel Marchant, a hospital nurse, formerly of Newton Highlands, Mass., now his second wife, were seen "spooning" in a sleeping car shortly after the death of the first wife.

After almost three days of expert testimony pertaining to the death of Mrs. Smith, the state succeeded in introducing motive evidence. Several witnesses were called to testify as to the relations between the doctor and Miss Marchant, whom he married five months after his first wife's death.

Miss Ora Beck testified that she saw Dr. Smith and Mabel Marchant "spooning" in a section of a Pullman car less than one month after the death of the first Mrs. Smith while on a train en route to Columbus. When asked to explain what she means by "spooning" Miss Beck said she saw Dr. Smith holding the hand of Miss Marchant and sitting near her as if asking her some question.

Slipping on a pair of rubber gloves Dr. H. M. Brundage, assistant pathologist for the state, just after court opened, reached into a suit case and removed a rubber sack containing the heart of Mrs. Florence Caviler Smith. He took a position where the jury could plainly see him. He described minutely concerning the post-mortem and pathological examinations and what he and his chief, Dr. J. J. Coona, found. The effect was startling. Dr. Brundage exhibited another heart, that of a man between fifty-five and sixty years of age, who died of myocarditis. The jury failed to reach a verdict and a new trial will be held.

Traveling Bed for Baby. Traveling with a tiny baby will be made much easier by fitting a small hair mattress into a suit case. The one used in a baby carriage will do. It will be very comfortable for the baby to lie on whenever the suit case could be opened. Tie a large cambric pocket in the cover to contain all the clothes and small things to be used for the baby on the journey. When not in use the case may be closed and easily put out of the way.

PLIGHT OF AN OLD COUPLE Pathetic Battle Against Almshouse Is Revealed by Death of Wife. Philadelphia.—How an old couple battled for years against the necessity of going to the almshouse while their strength declined, their eyes grew dimmer and sickness overcame them was revealed recently in the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Webb, seventy-five years old, who fell lifeless in the street while searching for work to buy food for her invalid husband. Even when the husband, Edward Webb, eighty years old, learned of his wife's death, he refused to allow himself to be taken to the Philadelphia hospital.

Stayed Away 37 Years. Philadelphia.—After an absence of thirty-seven years, Cornelius Hauth has returned here and was the central figure in a happy family reunion. Hauth left his home in Manayunk in 1876, when he was twenty-five years old, filled with a desire to avenge the massacre of Custer by the Indians. He took part in many battles, traveled extensively and finally settled in Portland, Ore., where he prospered in business.

VICE RUN BY TRUST

G. J. Kneeland Gives Secrets of White Slave Traffic.

"Well Kept Man Decked With Gems" is Typical Owner of Resorts in Gotham, Writer Asserts—Business is Specialized.

New York.—Commercialization of vice in New York city is described in the first four studies of the social evil to be published by the New York bureau of social hygiene. The book, published by the Century company, is entitled "Commercialized Prostitution in New York City" and is written by George J. Kneeland, the chief investigator of the bureau, who was also the chief of the workers under the Chicago vice commission.

The report, which is introduced by a foreword by John D. Rockefeller Jr., says 15,000 women of the under world ply their trade in one borough of New York alone. It scores the low dance hall as a chief cause of vice. Poverty is given a secondary place as a cause. Mr. Kneeland holds that of tenor women are victims in their ignorance of the agents of commercialized vice.

"It is idle," he says, "to explain away the phenomena on the ground that they are the results of the inevitable weakness of human nature; human weakness would demand far fewer and less horrible sacrifices.

"Most of the wreckage and the worse of it is due to persistent cunning and unprincipled exploitations; to the banding together in famous enterprises of madame, procurer, brothel keeper and liquor vender to carry off deliberately a cold blooded traffic for their joint profit, a traffic, but it added, from which the girl involved procures at the most, with few exceptions, her bare subsistence, and that only so long as she has a trade value."

"Prostitution has become a business," Mr. Kneeland writes, "the promoters of which continually scan the field for a location favorable to their operations, and the field is the entire civilized world. No legitimate enterprise is more shrewdly managed from this point of view, no variety of trade attracts itself more promptly to conditions transferring its activities from one place to another as opportunities contract here and expand there.

"While keepers of houses are also procurers, there is a group of men who devote themselves singly to this work. These are the typical 'white slavers,' whose trade depends entirely upon the existence of houses of prostitution. The cadet has not yet developed into a professional procurer or keeper of a house. He enters the business when he either ruins a young girl for his future profit or becomes the lover and protector of a prostitute already in the business.

"The women who run houses have, as a rule, risen from the ranks. They were once street walkers or parlor house inmates, who possess unusual business talents. They have learned the secrets of the trade; they know the kind of inmates to get and where to get them. They know how to deal with customers and how to make them spend money.

"For several years thirty $1 houses of prostitution in the tenderloin have been operated as a 'combine' under the direct control of 15 or more men. The individuals in question have been in business for many years in New York city as well as in other cities, both in this country and abroad. They buy and sell shares in these houses among themselves, and it is seldom that an outsider, unless he be a relative, can break into the circle and share in the profits.

"The value of the shares depends upon the ability of the owners to maintain conditions in which the houses, being unmolested, are permitted to make large profits. "If a composite photograph could be made of typical owners of vice resorts it would show a large, well fed man about 40 years of age and 5 feet 8 inches in height. His clothes are the latest out, loud in design, and carefully pressed. A heavy watch chain adorns his waistcoat, a large diamond sparkles in flashy necktie, and his fat, chubby fingers are encircled with gold and diamond rings.

MAY GROW "RAINLESS WHEAT"

Dr. Macdonald, South African Expert, Claims to Have Made the New Discovery.

London.—Dr. Macdonald of the South African department of agriculture declares that it is now possible to grow a "rainless wheat"—that is to say, a crop upon which no single drop of rain has fallen between seed time and harvest. It does not maintain its existence without moisture, but all that is necessary is obtained from the deposit of a previous season in "moisture saving fallows."

"This would mean a great boon for those areas where the rainfall is uncertain and irrigation, for various reasons, impossible.

Sovereigns Are Always Hosts.

London.—When the king and queen honor any of their subjects by being present at dinner the banquet differs from all others in one respect; the sovereigns, although actually guests, are nominally the hosts of their entertainer. It is they who lead the conversation and keep it up, for when royalty is disinclined to speech less exalted mortals perforce remain quiet.

NEW TROUSERS LEAD TO WOE

Motorman Falls Downstairs in Hallway "Dressing Room"—Gets Damages of $125.

Chicago.—A new suit of clothes almost led to the death of Martin F. Barry, 707 South Forty-fourth court limping and holding his hand to his back, he appeared before Judge Martin.

Wishing to visit his mother in Iowa in some of the glory ascribed to Solomon, he first joined a "suit club." He drew a suit and went to the tailor shop.

Later he made a second visit to the shop to try on his new suit. The coat and the vest caused no difficulty. He could see they had the correct lines without inconvenience. But he wished to try on the trousers. There was no vacant room for the accommodation of particular customers. So the tailor shoved Barry into a dark hallway to disrobe.

No sooner had Barry thrust his right foot into the right leg of his new trousers than he lost his balance. He fell down stairs leading to a cellar and lay a bruised, crumpled heap on a hard cement floor, one foot in his new trousers and one in the old.

Fifty-six days passed before Barry could take up his work as a motorman, and his visit to his mother in Iowa was postponed. He nursed his back and his grievance until he appeared in court craving $1,000 in damages from the tailor.

The jury returned a verdict awarding Barry $125.

LEAD DONKEY TO THE COAST.

Election Loser is Walking From Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon, in Payment.

Newburg, N. Y.—Paying an election bet, Benjamin H. Anderson, formerly general secretary of the chamber of commerce, and now secretary of the Butler Ad-men's club of Butler, Pa., is walking from Portland, Me., to Portland, Oregon, leading a donkey. He passed through Newburg.

Anderson is a strong admirer of Theodore Roosevelt, and was so certain that the colonel would be elected president that he made a wager with James Gillespie, a Democrat of Pittsburg, that Roosevelt would beat Wilson. The loser must walk from Portland, Me., to Portland, Oregon, leading behind him the animal emblematic of the victorious party. The wager also includes the stipulation that the loser must call on the president of the United States.

HOUSE FOR "DOWN AND OUTS"

Ground for a $50,000 Building is Broken in Philadelphia for Unfortunates.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Ground was broken on here for a building to be erected for the "Inasmuch mission," which was started by four converted "down and outs" several years ago in a section of the city known as "Hell's Half Acre." The building will be erected on the site where they started to care for their fellow outcasts in two small houses on one of the most notorious streets in the city. Bishop Rhinelande made the consecration prayer.

The new building, made possible by a gift of $50,000, is to be a four-story structure of brick and concrete. A chapel seating 350 persons will take up part of the ground floor. Baths, a lounging room and a lunchroom will be provided. The dormitory will occupy the fourth floor, where will be found lockers, baths and cots to accommodate 150 men. Meals will be provided at cost.

BITING FLY PROVES AN ALIBI

California Scientists Exonerate It as Paralysis Carrier After Experimenting.

Sacramento, Cal.—Sufficient evidence to convict the stable, or biting, fly as a carrier of the infantile paralysis germ has not been established through the experiments which the California board of health has been conducting. Thus far the fly, which Harvard and Rockefeller institute scientists declare is an agent in transmitting the disease to human beings, has proved an alibi in the California tests. Two full sets of experiments have been carried out by Professors Hunt and Sawyer of the state university. The flies have been permitted to bite each of 17 monkeys during all stages of the incubation of the disease.

Bride's Room in Church.

New York.—Plans for alterations to the Church of Incarnation, on Madison avenue, of which Rev. Howard Robbins is rector, provide for a bride's room, which is believed to be an innovation in church arrangements. The organ loft in the rear of the church will be removed, and in its place a beautifully equipped room will be built. Here the bride may arrange her attire after the drive from home and assure herself that she is in readiness for the march to the altar.

Fears to Be Soldier; Dies.

Geneva.—A Swiss, twenty years old, committed suicide at Schaffhausen by shooting himself with a revolver in a cafe because of his fear of military service. It was said at the inquest that he communicated his intention to his younger sister, aged eighteen, who offered to replace him secretly, but the young man refused the bargain.
