Year's economy gets dismal start

By R. GREGORY NOKES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices rose 1.3 percent in January, the worst increase in a single month in four years, signaling new trouble ahead for consumers and Carter administration inflation fighters.

The government's price report Friday got 1979 off to a dismal start from the standpoint of inflation. If the trend continues, the January increase would mean a year-long rise in wholesale prices of about 16 percent, compared with an increase of 9.1 percent

The Labor Department report said wholesale prices increased by 0.8 percent in both November and Decem-shoppers was that the price of food headed for supermarkets rose 1.8 percent, spurred by an increase of more than 13 percent for beef and veal. That surely will mean higher at-thecounter prices for groceries and meats in the weeks ahead. Gasoline prices also went up sharply, rising 3.2 percent during the month, and prices in all major categories rose by 1 percent or more, the first time this has happened since Price increases at the wholesale

'Frustration' ends for Murphy family

ODESSA — The parents and family of Catherine Ann "Fifi" Murphy, 19, of Odessa late Friday said they were "saddened and grieved over the death of their loved one" and that the "agony and frustration of not knowing what happened to her is over," said the family's adviser-spokesman, Odessa attorney Will Hadden.

The body of Miss Murphy, who had been missing since July 19, was found in a three-foot-deep grave near Imperial in Crane County.

Her 22-year-old boyfriend, Steve Fife, has been charged with murder in the death of Miss Murphy.

The woman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Murphy Jr., and family want to "thank" all who helped in the search for Miss Murphy, Hadden said, and extended particular thanks to Lt. Det. Kenneth R. Jones of the Odessa Police Department and to Chief Investigator Jerry Davis of the Ector County District Attorney's of-

The Murphys also gave blanket gratitude to the "the law enforcement people," including the Odessa Police Department and the office of District Attorney John Green. "Also, they want me to thank all of those people in Odessa, as well as elsewhere, both old friends and those persons with whom they have become acquainted during the last six months, for their letters, cards and telephone calls expressing their concern over the disapperance of 'Fifi' and their interest in helping the Murphys in any way they could," Hadden said.

'This concern and interest has been helpful to Mr. and Mrs. Murphy and their family in ways which cannot be measured nor expessed," Hadden said Friday in a prepared statement.

Murphy is a semi-retired real estate broker and co-founder of Murphy & Rochester Real Estate and Insurance Co. in Odessa. District Attorney Green earlier Friday said Fife led Davis and Jones to the Grave and "gave...Davis a Green said he extended "sympathy" to the woman's family.

Miss Murphy reportedly was last seen alive some time after she left an Odessa night spot with Fife in the early morning hours of July 19. Later, her car was found deserted on an Odessa parking lot.

Fife told police that he had last seen Miss Murphy when she dropped him off at his apartment after leaving the nightspot.

Green said Crane County Sheriff Raymond Weatherby and Peace Justice Mary Teague accompanied Davis and Jones to the grave.

Initially, the Murphys had offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to Miss Murphy's whereabouts, and later increased the reward to $25,-

American views 'split' by fears for Taiwan

By EVANS WITT

NEW YORK (AP) — The public is sharply divided over the new relationships with China and Taiwan, in large part because of fears about the future security of Taiwan, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

But despite these fears of trouble in the Far East, Americans overwhelmingly view the Soviet Union as the greatest threat to world peace, not

The poll, taken Monday and Tuesday, is the first national survey since Chinese Vice Premier Teng Hsaioping's trip to this country, during which he frequently spoke of the threats posed by the Soviet Union.

The public was split on the complex issue of the U.S.'s formal recognition of China, coupled with termination of the mutual defense pact and formal recognition of Taiwan, announced in December by President Carter.

Forty-four percent of those interviewed by telephone said they oppose those actions as a group. Forty percent approve of Carter's moves. Sixteen percent of the 1,600 adults interviewed were not sure.

The more important a person says the China developments are, the more likely the person is to favor the new moves. For example, those who said the new relationships are very improtant favor them by a 50-38 margin, while those who say they are not important at all oppose the new situation by a 27-56 edge. Moves in Congress to commit this of Taiwan have the backing of the public. Fifty-six percent favor a congressional resolution on the topic, while 31 percent oppose such a move. Thirteen percent are not sure. Teng spoke frequently during his country to safeguarding the security

U.S. visit of the threats to world peace posed by the Soviet Union. Americans also appear to see the Soviets as a major threat.

Two-thirds of those questioned said the Soviet Union is the greatest threat to world peace, while only 17 percent named China as the biggest source for possible trouble. Ten percent labeled the United States the greatest threat, while 7 percent were not sure.

As with any sample survey, the results of the AP-NBC News polls could differ from the results of interviews with all Americans with telephones because of chance variations

It has also shown film of the Alavi school, where Khomeini greets tens of thousands of admirers every day, and of huge pro-Khomeini demonstrations before the leader's return from exile.

Broadcasts run for about two hours daily. Local press reports say some of the film comes from striking state television employees, who make Khomeini footage and hand it over to the pirate station instead of the state broadcasting monopoly.

The government television network, meanwhile, has been forced to buy and borrow film.

Economist feels Iranian political situation will hasten energy crisis By LINDA HILL cools, and an effort is made to achieve maximum prodution again, Rostow Staff Writer said, it will be less efficient than

LUBBOCK — The cutoff of Iranian oil supplies likely will hasten the arrival of an energy crisis previously not expected to hit until about 1985, economist Walt Rostow said here Friday night

Rostow, author and former adviser to Presidents John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson, spoke Friday to the Lubbock Economic Council.

Before the drop-off in Iranian production, Rostow said, the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries was producing about 31 million barrels of oil a day, including Iran's six million. Somewhat less than one million barrels a day goes for Iran's homefront use.

'That (Iran's six million barrels a day) is just about what the reserve capacity of OPEC was, so...we're right on the edge of total demand and total production in the world," he

Iran probably will never again reach its pre-crisis export level of slightly more than five million barrels a day, Rostow predicted. Even if the political crisis there before - perhaps as much as two million barrels a day less — because of the exodus of foreign technicians. If Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, Iran's Moslem religious leader, takes power, indications are he will slow production down to 21/2 to three million barrels day, said Rostow.

That amount would provide enough oil for domestic needs and export

"we're on the edge of total demand and total producsufficient to continue economic development at a slower rate than under the shah's regime, said Rostow tion in the world.

But Rostow said the real impact of the Iranian crisis may well not be the loss of oil from that country, but rather on its psychological effect on other countries, such as Saudia Arabia and Mexico. Those countries have learned, "It's dangerous for a nation to move ahead as quickly as Iran did," Rostow

In the shah's rush to industralize Iran, Rostow said, he neglected agriculture and social services.

on behalf of the Heart Fund, the event is continuing watch or participate on a "donations possible"

Also, there was a sense among many in Iran that "this great surge was being unevenly distributed" and among others that "things were going away from them too fast." Another factor was "repulsion" of the large number of foreigners entering the country. Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo already has said his country will develop its oil resources slowly to keep its economy "in balance," the economist said. Thus, Rostow predicted, oil supplies will fall short of earlier predictions. And the world oil crisis, which most forecasters had said would come in the mid-1980s, will be upon the United States and the world sooner than expected.

On Sunday, The Reporter-Telegram will examine Rostow's analysis of the effects of a decline in oil production on the United States and Texas, and the reasons for his advocacy of an intensive program to develop U.S. energy independence.

Grand jury to probe alleged theft of money from attorney EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Federal grand jurors here will investigate reports of illegal gambling and allegations that a large amount of money was removed from the office of slain El Paso attorney Lee Chagra.

The flamboyant Chagra, well known for his defense of persons charged with drug-related crimes. was shot to death in his El Paso office Dec. 23.

U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd said Friday that when the grand jury convenes Monday it will work "in conjunction with an ongoing FBI investigation into allegations of interstate transportation of a large sum of money allegedly stolen from Chagra's office.'

The El Paso Times reported that a former secretary and a young lawyer, who joined Chagra's firm just prior to the slaying, have been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury.

The newspaper also reported that the panel would look into the continued investigation of the attempted slaying of Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr Jr.

Two black-gloved gunmen opened fire on Kerr's auto outside his San Antonio home last November, but the attorney ducked to the floor of the vehicle and was not hit in the fusillade of rifle and shotgun blasts.

Boyd said he would "neither confirm nor deny" reports the grand jury would look into the Kerr case. But he said has "no evidence that links the two (Chagra and Kerr cases) together in any way.'

$20 million suit lodged against judge

An Odessa man, Byron F. Patterson, alleging that the federal government is conspiring to convict him on income-tax evasion and of being a "tax protester," and fellow Odessan. Rita Duke, his would-be defense attorney, Friday in federal court in Midland lodged a $20 million suit against Federal Judge John H. Wood Jr. and four others. Patterson, indicted Dec. 15 on three counts of tax evasion, and Mrs. Duke, who alleges in the petition that the court denied her the right of being Patterson's defense attorney-counsel, maintain that they were denied certain liberties and due process of law.

In the petition, Patterson contends that Judge Wood on Jan. 31 signed an order prohibiting Mrs. Duke from assisting him "in any way, manner or form" as counsel in his defense.

Defendants named in the petition

-Federal District Judge John H. Wood Jr., San Antonio, presiding judge of the federal court in Mid-

-Carroll Roy Thompson, Odessa, vice president of manufacturing and general manager of NDT Systems Inc., Odessa.

-Lester J. Clampett, Midland, comptroller for OIME Inc., subsidiary of Parker Drilling Co., Odessa. -Edward D. Wentrchek, Lubbock, special agent for the Internal Revenue Service

-Logan Stroud, Tulsa, Okla., manager of accounting for Parker Drilling Co., Tulsa.

Patterson is to to go trial here Monday on two counts of failure to supply tax information via IRS Form 1040 for 1975 and 1976 and on one count of filing false information on Form W-4E for tax years 1975 and 1976.

The petition says the government alleges Patterson's income was $19,-000 in 1975 and $11,000 in 1976 and that Patterson worked for OIME and

However, Patterson in his petition denies he received and-or collected "any dollars, lawful money of the United States" from OIME or NDT in 1975 and 1976.

In the petition, Patterson alleges that the defendants criminally conspired: -To subject him to "malicious, unjust criminal prosecution for alleged violations" of federal laws.

-To "malign and defame Byron F. Patterson's good name and character...as a result of...prosecution." -To deprive Patterson of his property "without due process of law." -To deprive him of the "effective assistance of his counsel and attorney,...Rita C. Duke...."

To deprive Patterson of his "liberty without due process of law, by means of unlawful, unjust imprisonment in the event the conspiracy goes undetected and in the event the defendants are successful in perpetrating a fraud on the United States Court...

-To deprive Patterson of his liberty and-or right without due process of law to select his attorney-counsel.

-To deprive Patterson of his liberty to associate with individuals, including Rita Duke. -To deprive Patterson of his liberty or right to freedom of speech. -To subject Patterson to "severe mental anguish and suffering, intimidation, fear, persecution and punishment. Also in the petition, Mrs. Duke maintains that her liberty and due process of law were denied her and that she was denied the liberty or right to freedom of speech and to represent Patterson in a court of law. She also holds that she would be subjected to "severe mental anguish and suffering, intimidation, fear, persecution and punishment" should she attempt to exercise "any of her liberties and-or rights" in regard to the Patterson case.

Rockefeller's will provides $45,000 gift

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) - Nelson A. Rockefeller's will, leaving most of his estimated $66.5 million estate to his widow and their two sons, also forgave a $45,000 loan to a young woman reportedly present when he died.

The will, filed for probate Friday, stipulated that the 10-year, interestfree loan made in December 1976 and January 1977 to research aide Megan Marshack, 25, be forgiven. Miss Marshack, a former reporter for AP Radio in Washington while Rockefeller was vice president, was reportedly with Rockefeller when he died in one of his Manhattan offices of an apparent heart attack on Jan. 26.

The will said Miss Marshack borrowed the money to purchase a cooperative apartment in New York.

Shortly after Rockefeller's death, a family spokesman said Miss Marshack was working with Rockefeller on an art book at the time her boss

The circumstances of Rockefeller's death have been questioned because of conflicting statements made to reporters by Rockefeller spokesmen. Some statements indicated Rockefeller may have suffered his fatal heart attack an hour before rescue units were called.

On Friday, a New York Times report placed a second woman, local television personality and former Rockefeller employee Ponchitta Pierce on the scene the night of Rockefeller's fatal heart attack.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — During the height of the Vietnam war, Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., suggested that the United States simply claim victory and withdraw. Now, California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. is preparing to do the same thing in the state legislature with his embattled constitutional convention proposal.

Looking toward summer as the time to declare his presidential candidacy, the governor has decided not to risk an embarrassing home-state defeat on the issue he hopes will propel him to the White House

But a major defeat precisely is what Brown faces in the Assembly. Ways and Means Committee, where his inability to pick up two Democratic votes apparently has doomed the measure he has campaigned for up and down California.

So the solution is a semantic one: claim victory out of defeat.

The resolution Brown has been pushing would align California with the 26 other states that have called upon Congress either to write a bud get-balancing constitutional amendment of its own or convene a constitutional convention to write one.

Assembly Speaker Leo T McCarthy, a San Francisco Democrat, has led a liberal-based, all-out fight against a constitutional convention. Wednesday he unveiled an alternative to Brown's proposal - and consequently delivered its potential death blow.

McCarthy is expected to prevail meaning that as Brown campaigns for a constitutional convention in other states, he will be placed in the awkward position of having to explain why he could not sell the idea to his own legislature.

But is Brown worried? Not at all, at least publicly.

In an interview with the Los Angeles Times, Brown pounded on his desk and referred to the expected legislative adoption of McCarthy's proposal as "a major victory." Five times in six minutes, in fact, he called it a "major victory." (Two other times it was simply a "victory.")

NEW YORK (AP) - The decline in the value of the dollar means you'll probably be shopping less and spending more if you plan a foreign holiday this year. But new government regulations and programs should make it easier for you to get back into the country with the things you can afford.

The changes are expected to ease congestion and confusion during the peak summer travel period, but it still pays to learn the rules of the U.S. Customs Service before you go away.

If you are dealing with a travel agent, ask for Customs brochures and forms at the same time you ask for hotel and transportation information. If you are making your own plans, write to U.S. Customs, P.O. Box 7118, Washington, D.C., 20044, for a copy of "Know Before You Go -Customs Hints for Returning Residents.

The most important regulatory change for most people is the increase in the value of goods you can bring into the United.

States without paying duty. As a general rule, American residents returning from a foreign country now can bring in up to $300 per person, duty free. The next $600 worth of goods is subject to a flat 10 percent

In the past, the duty-free exemption was only $100. After that you were taxed on a sliding scale, according to the product. (Note: residents returning from the U.S. Virgin Islands, American Samoa or Guam can bring in up to $600 duty-free; the next $300 worth is taxed at 5 percent.) The government also has increased from $10 to $25 the value of each gift you can send back duty-free. (The limit is $40 for each gift from the U.S. Virgin Islands, American Samoa and Guam.)

If you bring in goods worth more than $900, you will have to pay duty according to a graduated tariff.

In a less-publicized but equally important move, Customs officials are working with the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service on an experimental "Citizen Bypass" program designed to speed up re-entry for U.S. citizens by eliminating dual inspections.

Instead of waiting, along with foreign visitors, in two separate lines - one for immigration and one for customs — U.S. citizens proceed directly to customs after picking up their baggage. The Customs inspector checks passport as well as luggage, using a computer system connected to a central terminal in San Diego.

Most people do not face detailed baggage searches or Customs' inquiries, but it is best to be prepared. Keep all receipts and have them handy in case you are asked to produce them; do not pack them in your luggage. If you plan to take foreignmade, U.S.-purchased items like cameras or jewelry with you on your trip, declare them before you leave. Forms are available at all Customs of-

Beef price rising at slower rate

By The Associated Press

No relief is in sight from rising beef prices for at least the next two years, but the rate of increase won't be as steep as last month's, say industry experts. They blame the sharpness of the January boost on bad weather.

"The weather...was much worse than last year and last year was bad," said Tommy Beall of Cattle Fax, which collects industry statistics. He added that supplies of beef are expected to continue declining through 1980 and possibly longer. Beall predicted on Friday that prices would go up at a relatively slow rate for the next several months, then

Gay Bulach of the National Cattlemen's Association said the group "expects prices to rise at least until the middle of the year, but not at a steady and veal prices at the wholesale level went up 13 percent - about half the entire 1978 increase.

Thus far, there has been no indication that consumers will stage the boycotts they did when prices soared in 1973 and 1974. There are signs, however, that people are eating less beef. Statistics from the American Meat Institute show, for example, that as prices for hamburger increased, consumption decreased from 23.9 pounds per person in 1976 to an estimated 20.4 pounds per person last year. During the same period, the price went from about 90 cents a pound to over $1, the institute said.

The weather is not the only reason beef prices are going up. Supplies have been declining because cattlemen started reducing the size of their herds after prices went down in 1975, which was the peak production year for beef. On Jan. 1, 1975, there were about 132 million cattle and calves on the nation's farms and ranches; this January, there were only 110.9 million

Regents approved the Beall said bad weather in January not only disrupted marketing, but also affected the size of the cattle. Many of the 650,000 to 750,000 head of cattle slaughtered each week weigh anywhere from 20 to 50 pounds below normal. That means less beef and higher prices.

It could, however, mean more beef and lower prices later on. Cattle that normally would have been marketed in January have been held until February, explained Beall. Some of the regular February supply will be held into March and so on. The spreading out of supplies should avert the sharp price increases that cattlemen had predicted for spring and early sum-

WASHINGTON (AP) - The farmer's protest has cost the government about $1 million so far with more than half that amount in damage to the mall that stretches between the Capitol and the Lincoln Memorial, U.S. Park Service officials said Friday.

Park Service spokesman George Berklacy said the grassy mall, which has been used as a campground by the protesting farmers, will have to be resodded at a cost of $500,000 because of damage done by tractors and other heavy farm equipment.

Police officials also said an underground sprinkler system was damaged by the tractors, 25 fledgling elms were cut down and some park benches were torn apart for fire-

There is a chain link fence a few feet inside the country. Those who are not inclined to climb it can walk along it until they find a place where it is cut and rolled back. For a short distance, the next barrier is called the Franklin Channel, a deep canal perhaps 10 feet one more chain link fence is the final obstacle to a day's illegal work.

Across the border is Juarez, largest of the border cities, about twice as large as El Paso's population of 350,-

There are plenty of statistics, but Charles Perez says it's "anybody's guess" as to how many enter the country illegally here on a given day. Perez is the district director for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service. He says as many as 16,000 a month are arrested in El Paso alone.

Most are simply returned to Mexico. If the same alien is arrested four or five times, he is arrested for deportation. Subsequent illegal entry is then a felony, subject to imprisonment, a status not unattractive to

Most of those jailed are taken to the federal facility called La Tuna, a few miles down the road. Some have a good deal there," Perez said. "They can learn a trade, eat fairly well and have a place to stay. They can earn money.

But the fence's objective is not to halt the flow of aliens. It is to force aliens to cross at more remote points outside the city limits, where electronic sensors and airplane surveillance can be used, giving Border Patrol officers better odds in policing the boundary.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department decided Friday to conduct a jury-tampering investigation concerning the lone juror who held out to acquit Rep. Daniel J. Flood of bribery and perjury

The Flood case ended in a mistrial last week when the jury declared itself deadlocked.

In a brief statement, the department said Assistant Attorney General Philip B. Heymann, who heads the criminal division, made the decision to conduct the jury-tampering probe. The statement said Heymann, "based on information reported about the statements made during the Flood jury deliberations has determined that in the best interest of the administration of justice an inquiry should be opened into those reports. The FBI is being instructed to conduct such an inquiry."

The department said it will decide later whether Flood should be retried. Flood, a Pennsylvania Democrat now in his 16th term in the House of Representatives, is undergoing tests in a Washington hospital and his office says he is suffering from exhaustion.

The Justice Department investigation will concentrate on reports that the lone holdout juror, William Cash, claimed he received confidential information about the case.

U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch declared a mistrial in the case on Feb. 3. Jurors said that 11 members of the jury favored convicting the 75-yearold Flood on at least some counts of the indictment, but Cash alone was steadfast in voting for acquit-

Jurors told the judge that Cash had said he had information from "a confidential source" which could be interpreted as helping to exonerate Flood. However, the New York Times reported earlier this week that Cash, in an interview, said the story he told to the other jurors was "all a joke."

Heavy snow, cold weather starving wildlife in Rockies

By JOHN MOSSMAN

DENVER (AP) — At least two states are undertaking massive feeding programs to try to keep starving deer, elk and antelope herds alive as heavy snow and bitter cold combine to threaten wildlife in a broad area of the Rocky Mountains.

Thousands of deer and elk are reported dying in western Colorado because they are unable to paw through snow and ice up to 10 feet deep in some places to get to their natural food supplies.

In Wyoming, an estimated 7,000 antelope have been forced out of the high prairies by the deep snow and are searching for food in populated areas, where many are being killed by dogs.

Both states have undertaken large feeding programs, and Idaho, where officials report game birds are threatened, also is putting some money into feeding animals faced with starvation.

In Utah, officials report that deer are in their biggest battle for survival in more than 25 years. Throughout the high country, deer, elk and bighorn sheep have taken to raiding barnyards and haystacks, which has angered ranchers. Others, too weak to forage, lie down and die in the snow. Some have been killed by vehicles after they staggered onto highways. Only in Montana and New Mexico are conditions reported near normal. While officials don't have accurate fatality figures. they expect the death toll to be dramatically higher than usual in some areas. Colorado could lose 60 percent of its 350,000 deer and 30 percent to 40 percent of its 125,000 elk, said Harris Sherman of the Department of Natural Reources. Normally about 10 percent die during win

"We're finding dead fawns at the present time (still early in winter) which is a bad indication," said Jim Houston, wildlife supervisor in the Gunnison area of southwestern Colorado where snowfall has been three times normal. "With 30 or 40 days of winter yet ahead of us, I feel we could lose the whole fawn crop."

He added: "I've never seen elk starve to death in the Gunnison Valley, and I've been here 20 years. But I've seen them this year."

Houston said temperatures of 20 to 30 below zero

Commissioners cool heals in Ohio jail

CARROLLTON, Ohio (AP) - Carroll County's three commissioners cooled their heels in jail Friday, after a judge gave them 10-day contempt sentences for refusing to give her all the money she wanted to run her office.

Commissioners Robert Kellogg, Robert E. A. Smith and Dale Williamson received the sentences Thursday after ignoring three orders from Judge Patricia Anderson. They pleaded guilty to contempt for appropriating only $40,784 of the $53,000 she demanded for her office this year.

She also levied a $500 fine in the civil action against each commissioner, then left for a weekend judicial conference in Washington. She said she was willing to forgive the remaining sentence and fines when she returns next week if commissioners agree to her

County Prosecutor John R. Heflin said he had spoken briefly to the commissioners Friday morning. "I checked to see if they had changed their minds and they said not," he said.

are not unusual for these animals, but the heavy snowfall is. "It's simply a matter of malnutrition," he said.

"We're having some serious problems, that's for sure," said Kendall Nelson, big game supervisor for the Division of Wildlife Resources in Utah. "It's hard to say how bad it will be, but we're already losing a lot of deer in some places.'

Nelson disagreed with Houston, saying he believes the biggest problem has been persistent below-zero temperatures, not snow. The cold has caused a heavy crust under the new snow, and animals cut their legs breaking through it or can't get through at

The Colorado Legislature's Joint Budget Committee gave the go-ahead this week for the feeding of starving deer and elk. Officials indicate at least $788,000 is needed to help the animals survive.

The appropriation includes funds for the use of snow vehicles and helicopters to get hay, alfalfa and food pellets to key areas.

The food program is complicated because deer, who normally eat rough foliage, have sensitive digestive systems and don't take to hay or processed food. A weakened deer sometimes cannot digest any food. Elk, by contrast, have hardy digestive systems and are very fond of hay, so much so that wildlife officials have been besieged with ranchers' complaints about elk eating their haystacks. Indeed, part of the Colorado appropriation is to reimburse ranch-

The Wyoming Legislature has appropriated $4 million for emergency winter relief, with an unspecified portion for wildlife feeding.

More new evidence on assassination

DENVER (AP) — An aide to the chairman of the House Assassinations Committee says a recently rediscovered film shot momments after President Kennedy was fatally wounded appears to lend support to the conclusion of acoustical experts that a second gunman may have been involved, the Denver Post reported Friday in a copyright story.

"The film tends to support the acoustical evidence" that a fourth shot was fired by a second gunman, The Post quotes Roger Gwinn as saying. Gwinn is an aide to Rep. Richardson Preyer, D-N.C., chairman of the Assassinations Committee that reported Kennedy probably died as the result of a conspiracy.

The Warren Commission had concluded that Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, was responsible for Kennedy's death in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963.

The movie in question - a 10-second, 176-frame clip of 8mm color film - was shot by Jack Daniel, a Dallas resident who had taken his sons to watch the presidential motorcade.

Crucial to the House committee's conspiracy finding was a tape recording of transmissions from the microphone on the motorcycle of Dallas policeman H.B. McClain.

From that tape recording, the acoustical experts concluded that four shots were fired from two locations. The Warren Commission said three shots were fired, all by Oswald from one location in a building overlooking the plaza.

McClain has said he accompanied the presidential motorcade as it sped from Dealey Plaza momments after the fatal shots. The acoustical experts, however, contended that McClain's motorcycle did not immediately follow the motorcade as it sped out of the plaza.

Jury selection begins for Greenawalt trial

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — A panel of 69 prospective jurors was called Friday as jury selection began for the second trial of state prison inmate Randy Greenawalt on four murder charges.

on property of the contraction o

His first trial in Yuma County Superior Court ended in a mistrial Wednesday when brothers Ricky and Raymond Tison refused to testify.

Before preliminary jury questioning began, Judge Douglas Keddie denied several Greenawalt defense motions, including requests for a change of venue and a change in the method of questioning prospective Greenawalt, a convicted murderer, is charged with the August slayings of four members of a Yuma family group near Quartzsite. The slayings occured after Greenawalt and Gary Tison, father of the Tison brothers and also a convicted killer, fled the Florence prison July 30.

Ricky and Raymond had pleaded guilty to one count of murder in the case Jan. 26 and, as part of the plea bargain, had agreed to testify.

Among those called to testify in the second trial is Joseph Tyson, brother of Gary Tison. Joseph changed his name several years ago.. Keddie on Wednesday revoked the plea agreement for the Tison bothers and ordered them to be tried at a later date on the four murder charges.

Part of the plea agreement was that Yuma County Attorney Mike Irwin guaranteed the prosecutor wouldn't seek the death penalty against them if they testified in all proceedings relat-ed to the slayings of Marine Sgt. John F. Lyons, his wife, baby and niece. Keddie declared the mistrial because the jury had been told by Irwin that the brothers would testify that Greenawalt and their father, Gary Tison, fired a shotgun 18 times into the Lyons' car on a dark side road off U.S. 95 south of Quartzsite.

Keddie said the Tisons and their attorneys told him late Wednesday morning the brothers would not testify headers they would not testify the content of the same than the s tify because they were afraid that they would incriminate themselves in matters where that haven't been charged.

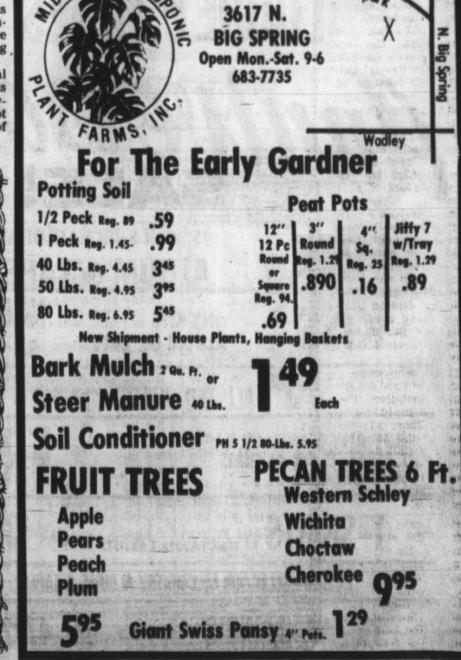

A court order summoning Joseph Tyson to testify said he "provided a vehicle and weapons used in the killing" of four people. The order was signed by Irwin.

Tyson, who has not been charged in the case, is serving a four-year federal prison term for conspiring to smuggle marijuana in an unrelated Ricky and Raymond Tison and Greenawalt were captured Aug. 11 at a roadblock south of Casa Grande following a shootout with law enforcement officers. Donald Tison, a brother, was killed in the exchange of gunfire. Gary Tison's body was found about a mile away in the desert 11 days later.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The owner of a sporting goods store that was dotted with machine-gun bullets fired by Patricia Hearst says he's not bitter over her release from prison.

"This store is a prison, too," he said. That's why Bill Huett is calling it quits after eight years of business at

No one was seriously injured in the May 1974 Symbionese Liberation Army shooting, but Huett says that since the incident he has had to face the curious stares of sightseers and the store has fallen victim to frequent burglaries, bomb scares and a high employee turnover rate. Huett's health is suffering as a result.

Huett said Thursday he doesn't begrudge Miss Hearst her freedom after her federal bank robbery sentence was commuted last week by President Carter. "I just wish she hadn't shot at me." Miss Hearst, 25, pleaded no contest to the shooting and was put on probation.

He said he is bitter, though, that he never heard an apology or an offer to make restitution from the Hearst family. "I really thought they would have the decency to call," he said. "We've gone through the same trauma they did, but had to make a living. Now

LOS ANGELES (AP) - John Wayne should be able to go home this weekend or Monday, after being hospitalized a month following surgery for stomach cancer, a UCLA Medical Center spokesman said Friday. The 71-year-old actor's release had been postponed so that doctors could treat a localized infection in the lengthy incision scar left by the Jan. 12 operation. "That kind of infection frequently happens in surgery and doctors like to have it cleared up before a patient can go home," said spokesman Al Hicks. During an elective operation in which his gall bladder was to be removed, doctors found cancer in the stomach and nearby lymph nodes of the longtime movie box office favorite. Wayne's stomach and the affected lymph nodes were removed during the 9½-hour procedure. A medical center spokesmen said last month there was no evidence the cancer had spread elsewhere.

The hospital said Wayne eats soft foods, and walks the equivalent of several blocks daily through hospital corridors.

The stomach cancer was the third medical crisis for the burly hero of over 200 films. Wayne underwent open heart surgery in early 1978 and a cancerous left lung was removed in a 1964 operation.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Bee Gees, a popular music trio idolized by thousands of adolescents, are tops on the police charts as well.

The brothers — Barry, Maurice and Robin Gibb — became the Police

Athletic League's 1979 Superstars Thursday night, the first musicians to win the organization's annual award.

A $150-a-plate dinner at the Sheraton Center attracted sports celebrities and a swarm of misty-eyed young people who descended on the dais for autographs between the chicken kiev and peaches flambe.

The Bee Gees, in a continuing commitment to the Police Athletic League, have so far contributed $100,000, including the proceeds from a Madison Square Garden concert and the New York premiere of "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band." "We make more money than we need and we can give some of it up," said Barry.

The brothers Gibb were also presented with honorary New York City police shields, and doffed their midnight-blue velvet dinner coats in favor of green Police Athletic League jackets and matching caps.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Former President Richard Nixon has contributed $1,500 to the Philadelphia's Roman Catholic archdiocesan school system over the past two years. The Rev. Leo McKenzie on Friday confirmed reports that Nixon made three contributions of $500 each. "A great deal of the time Nixon was president, Cardinal (John) Krol (archbishop of Philadelphia) was president of the American bishops. In that capacity he was in touch with the president on several occasions," McKenzie said. He said that on June 22, 1972, Krol, then president of the U.S. Catholic Conference, met with Nixon, and shortly afterwards the president announced the endorsement of legislation to give tax credits to parents of non-public school pupils. McKenzie said handwritten notes from the former president accompanied the contributions. On Aug. 30, 1978, McKenzie said Nixon wrote: "Once again Mrs. Nixon and I wish to indicate our continuing interest in your archdiocesan parochial school program by means of the enclosure. With our very good wishes. Sincerely, Richard Nixon.'

WATERVILLE, N.H. (AP) - President Carter's daughter, Amy, and her older brother Chip braved 5-degree temperatures Friday as they began a three-day ski vacation.

Amy, 11, and Chip were joined by an unidentified girlfriend of Amy for a private lesson with two instructors on the cold but sunny day at the Waterville Valley ski area. Tom Corcoran, owner of the White Mountains ski resort, also skied in the party.

Ruth Chapman, a spokeswoman for the ski area, said the instructors were told Amy and Chip were in the novice to intermediate class. The Carters were staying at an unidentified friend's condominium.

LOS ANGELES - Michele Triola Marvin's attorney said Friday he will ask the judge trying his clent's case against actor Lee Marvin to allow him to add a count of fraud for "defrauding her emotionally and with the promises he made."

Marvin Mitchelson said he will ask for $1 million in punitive damages for the alleged fraud. The amendment to the complaint can be added only with the approval of Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Arthur K. Marshall, who has been hearing the contro-versial trial for the past four weeks.

Ms. Marvin, 46, sued Marvin, 54, for breach of contract, claiming she agreed to give up her career to care for him on the promise that she share in the property acquired in the more than five years they lived together. She wants half the estimated $3.6 million he earned then, plus Marvin, who took the stand as a "hostile witness" for his former livein girlfriend, has testified he told Ms. Marvin he loved her but he didn't mean it. He later modified the testimony, saying, "I may have said it on a number of occasions. I might have meant it on some.

At one point, asked to define love for the court, he compared it to the gas gauge on his car and said his love for Ms, Marvin never got beyond "half a tank" during the more than five years they were together.

He also defended himself against the loving implications of several letters he wrote to Ms. Marvin by referring to his wish to "spend the rest of our lives hiding in bed" as an "idle male

Flamboyant flourish sometimes necessary

Writer-critic Alan Tate dies in Tennessee hospital at 79

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Alan Tate, a poet and critic and one of the most distinguished figures in contemporary American literature, died Friday at age 79.

The Kentucky-born Tate, one of the five Vanderbilt University Fugitive poets, died about 5:30 a.m. CST in Vanderbilt Hospital of what doctors said was systemic failure. Hospitalized 10 days ago, he was bedridden with emphyzema for the past four A novelist, teacher, lecturer and editor, Tate moved to Nashville in 1976 from Sewanee, three years after retiring from the position of senior tutor at the University of the South. In the 1920s, Tate and four other rebellious young poets made literary history and brought fame to Vanderbilt by beginning a school of "fugitive poetry. Tate's best-known poem is "Ode to the Confederate Dead." His single novel was "The Fathers."

Lamesa gas rate to climb

LAMESA - The Lamesa City Council this week granted Pioneer Natural Gas Co. a 14.88 percent rate increase.

The council also approved charges for gas cutoffs and reduced from 150 to 75 feet the distance for which the company is obligated to extend main lines to customers.

The steps were recommended by the steering committee hired by West Texas cities to study a request last August for a 26.3 percent rate hike.

Pack sacks Cougs for 5-4A title, 62-35

Sports Writer

There's no question who wears the District 5-4A basketball crown.

Coach Don Humphrey's Midland High Bulldogs put on quite a show as they destroyed the Abilene Cooper Cougars, 62-35, before more than 2,200 fans in Chaparral Center on the Midland College campus Friday night.

The tall and talented Bulldogs put on an impressive show while chalking up their 15th straight victory and 13th win without a loss in the 5-4A race. Next Tuesday's game with cross-town rival Midland Lee will be only a tune-up for the Class AAAA state playoffs when the Pack takes on the Wichita Falls Coyotes in bi-district action.

Balance was the key as it has been all year long for the classy Bulldogs with four players in the double figures. Paving the way were the Johnson brothers -- Charles and Herbert but the 6-4 junior only managed eight with 12 points each while Walter Bry- with six of those coming from the free son and Milton Sanders chipped in with 11 each. Charles, a 6-foot-4 senior, picked up eight points in the second half while Herbert, a 6-8 sophomore racked up 10 of this 12 markers in the first half.

Midland now moves into the state playoffs for the first time in four years. Abilene and Abilene Cooper had won title for the past three seasons after Midland and Midland Lee held a five-year strangle-hold on the 5-4A crown. Lee last won the title in 1975 and Midland in 1974 and it is the first district title for Humphrey.

The Bulldogs made it look so easy it was almost frightening, to say the least. The key was holding top scorers Mike Anderson and Kyle Stuard to only 12 points between them. Stuard had gunned in 37 points the first time the two faced each other in Abilene, throw line. Anderson flipped in four and two second period field goals. MIDLAND TOOK a 16-10 first period lead and led at halftime. 29-16 in holding the Cougars to only six points in the second quarter. Things didn't get any better for Coach Marc Case and his team as the Purple Pack outscored the Key City team, 15-7 in the third stanza for a commanding 33-23 lead going into the final eight minutes of play.

It was close only in the early part of the first period when the game was tied 4-4 woth 5:08 left on a bucket by Stuard. The Cougars did get to within two points --- 10-8 with 2:58 remaining in the period, but Charles Johnson's slam dunk shot made it 12-8 with 1:44 left and on a fast break, temmate Sanders also brought the crowd to its feet with another slam dunk on a feed from Roy Lee Jefferson.

Bryson hit a basket with 27 seconds left after David Williams, the only Cooper player in the double figures, hit a 12-foot shot from the corner. Williams, the shortest player on the court at 5-7, tallied 16 points as the Midland defense put the wraps on the rest of the Cougar offense.

Midland pretty-well had things its own way the rest of the game with Tim Spirling getting playing time as 10 Bulldogs got into the scoring column. Jefferson hit a 30-foot shot and Sanders hit on a couple of 20-footers in the third period.

SPIRLING ALSO added a slam dunk in the fourth period with 4:58 left in the game and the Bulldogs holding on to a 51-26 lead. Cooper's Williams sank a pair of free throws to make it 51-28, but Charles Johnson hit a field goal and free throw for a 53-28 lead. When the senior hit two more free mined sometime this weekend.

tosses, Humphrey took out four starters, leaving Herbert Johnson in the game with the big scoreboard reading 55-28. Charles hit another charity toss for a 56-28 advantage and when the ball fell in, Humphrey finally relaxed and tossed the yellow towel high into the air, knowing that he was the proud owner of his first 5-4A basketball

The victory gives the Bulldogs a 25-8 season record while Cooper is now 16-13 and has a makeup game tonight in Big Spring with the Steers. The Cougars drop to a 3-2 reading in loop play with its game tonight and season finale with Abilene High next Tuesday.

Midland, meanwhile, can look forward to the Lee game on the MC campus Tuesday and then the big bi-district confrontation with the Coyotes at a time and place to be deter-

MIDLAND'S BULLPUPS, under Coach Eddie Shirley, maybe gave the crowd some idea on what was coming by whipping the Cooper JV, 62-40. That gives the Pups and sparkling 26-1 record and is their 16th win in a row since a loss to the Odessa Ector junior varsity in the Midland Tourna-

Anthony Carroll and Perry Bolger were the big guns for Midland with 16 and 13 points while Dick Carrigan tallied eight for Cooper's JV.

Indians invite four to camp

CLEVELAND (AP) - The Cleveland Indians have invited four nonroster players to report to the major league team's Tucson, Ariz., training camp Feb. 24.

They are catcher Chris Bando, right-handed pitcher Eric Wilkins and left-handed hurlers Rick Kreuger and Todd Heimer.

Bando, the Indians' No. 2 selection in the 1978 June draft, hit .228 with four homers and 21 runs batted in in 76 games at Class AA Chattanooga last season. The three pitchers all played for Class AAA Portland, with Wilkins leading the Pacific Coast League with a 15-5 record in 26

Midland Golden Glove fighters take it on chin

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Sports Writer

ODESSA - They are calling this the Golden Gloves, but all the action in the Ector County Coliseum these days have Midlanders turning blue. They are having a hard time winning

Through the first three days of action, Midland boxers have entered 22 events and won only once, and that came from Alamo's Monty Earl. Friday Midland fighters were zero-forseven, including two losses by technical knockout and another by a first

With two days remaining in Golden Gloves action, Midland boxers better dig out their tire chains and brass knuckles. That may be the only way to save face. There will be a 2 p.m. matinee today prior to the 7:30 p.m. regular slate and Monday night will be the finals at 7:30 p.m.

Midland Alamo's Jimmy Phillips was the first Tall City entry to take to the ring Friday in the Junior High Football Division and that was a preview of things to come. Phillips, 150, was KOed by Odessa Hood's Tommy Notley, 148, with only 29 seconds gone in the first round. Notley had knocked Phillips down once before the crashing blow came.

Things didn't get much better in the High School Football Division as Midlanders lost six bouts. However, Midland Lee's Tom Williams, 170, lost a tough decision to Andrews' Ronnie Bohannon in what was one of the best matches of the night. The fight ended with the two boxers standing toe-totoe and slugging it out. Midland coach Rick Fleetwood was obviously distraught over the decision, but it was a good close fight.

Also Lee quarterback Gary Butler, 158, lost a decision to Odessa Permian's Butch-Shelton, 153, in another good battle. That was another decision that could have gone either way. The rest of the fights, however, were not that close.

Ector's Victor Walker, 172, easily outpointed Lee's Larry Ledbetter, 166, even though Ledbetter had a good third round.

Midland High's Jessie Benavidez, 160, showed form and style, but threw too few punches in a loss to Odessa High's Jesse Gore, 160.

Lee's Mark Matlocke, 135, lost on a first round TKO in 28 seconds to Ruben Avila, 135 of Pecos-Barstow, and Lee's Larry Latch, 160, lost on a third round TKO to Odessa High's Raul Yzaguirre, 165.

Johnny Abila of Midland, 105, did win an Open Division decision over Ricky Rubio of the Pecos Evening Optimist, but Abila is fighting for the Odessa Boxing Club which leaves the Midland name out of the picture.

Friday Crockett's Romeo Trevino, Pecos' Henry Avila, and Crockett's Gary McCoy were other fighters to produce TKOs. Odessa High's Arthur Powell, 138, had the other knockout over Pecos' Harvey Martinez, 135.

Critical Mrs. registers Sports Banquet complaint

The only complaint we've heard about the Midland Sports Banquet the other night came from the Mrs., but then you've got to remember that she always worries that the coach won't replace the safety man when he signals for a fair catch.

Her complaint was that "Lefty Gomez didn't speak long enough, but maybe that's what made it so good. It left you wanting more."
Midland Cubs General Manager

Bill Rigney, Jr., put a lot of blood, sweat and tears into assembling the celebrity-studded program and he fretted right up until game time that the weatherman might sabotage his

Midland Cubs Manager Jack Hiatt braved a snowstorm Monday to drive in from Kerrville, the last leg of his trip from Fort Lauderdale, Fla. And Bobby Layne was off on a hunting trip in Mexico and the weather there was even worse than it was in Midland. Layne wasn't sure he'd be able to fly back in time. Ernie Banks was flying in from Chicago, but no one can ever be sure of the Windy City weather at this time of the year, even if Ernie shows up at snow bound Wrigley Field ready "to play two," And Art Howe was in Houston, which meant any kind of bad weather and he could be scratched. "It may be just Tom Brahaney, Jim Hall, Bobby Hillin and me at the speaker's table making small talk and trying to entertain everybody,' he worried as late as Monday.

As it turned out, the fates were kind to Bill and everything went off with-

BUT THE Mrs. was right about Lefty. He never got around to telling the chicken story, which he had pro-mised. And he could have told about his bet with Babe Ruth, the time he wanted to prove how good he was with

"Yes, we had a bet," Gomez related. "He bet I wouldn't get five hits all season. I went four-for-five opening day and didn't get a hit the rest of the year...and lost the bet."

He did tell how he almost got into his first major league game, a fright-ening experience for a 20-year-old who was brought up on a dairy farm and was told to warm up in the Yan-kee Stadium bullpen with 70,000 howling fans in the stand. Lefthander Herb Pennock, an estalished great, was going good until the seventh when two runners got on base. Then a line drive doubled Pennock over and the signal went out to

"When I arrived at the mound, Manager Bob Shawkey was waiting. 'I know' I said, 'The bases are loaded and you want me to get the double play and get out of the inning.' Shawkey said, 'No, just give Pennock your glove, that line drive broke the webbing on his, and get back out there to Gomez said he found out how lucky he had been to spend his career with the Yankees, where if you held the opposition to five runs, you'd win, when he was traded to the Boston Braves of the National League.

"With the Yankees, we played for the big inning. At Boston, they played for the big week. It was a rally if they got a base-on-balls and a hit batsman in the same inning.' Lefty recalled his first start for Boston. "I made one pitch and the bases were loaded. That brought Casey Stengel out of the dugout. In the American League only the catcher came out to the mound and he had the ball. In the National League the catcher and all the infielders came to the mound."

Gomez said after Stengel and the infielders left, he was alone on the mound. "Okay, I give up," he shouted at shortstop Tony Cuccinello. "Whatdaya mean you give up?" Tony yelled

"I mean, who has the ball?"

THEN THERE was his first managerial job at Binghamton, the Yan-kees farm club in the Eastern League. Lefty had a catcher who couldn't remember faces, but knew

One day on a play at the plate, Cliff Mapes slid home and avoided the catcher's tag, but also the plate as well. "The umpire didn't make any signal and by this time Mapes had gone to the dugout. My catcher ran over to the dugout and didn't know who Mapes was so he started to tag everybody. As he neared Mapes, Cliff got up and made a dash for the plate. By this time my pitcher was covering. It was the first time I'd ever seen a rundown between the dugout and home plate."

opposing players by their numbers.

UNLIKE MANY old-timers, Gomez believes the game is better today, at least the pitching. "They are much better prepared when they get to the majors. We had a specialty pitch, the good curve, the knuckleball, spitball or palm ball, but these kids today have them all. And what really makes it tough is that the batter is always facing a fresh pitcher. In my day, Ruffing and I pitched in relief between starts and we might come in as early as the second or third inning.. Johnny Murphy got a reputation as a fireman, but he had been a starter originally. Now, they pick out a youngster early and make him a relief pitcher."

Gomez was in the Yankee dugout that day in the World Series in 1932 when Charley Root was on the mound for the Cubs and the Babe pointed his bat toward the stands. Did he call his home run shot? There's no question in Lefty's mind, "He called it."

Gomez admits he was in demand as a speaker even before Joe DiMaggio came along. "After the 1932 Series, I went into vaudeville the next week in New York City. My wife June (O'Dea) had the lead in Of Thee We Sing, right around the corner. Funny thing, the lead off act in the vaudeville show. was Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy and the closing act was Russ Columbo."

Lefty proved his memory was no fluke when a fan mentioned he had sat up in the third deck the day DiMaggio tied Willie Keeler's consecutive game hitting streak in a doubleheader against the Red Sox. "We lost both games," he recalled, the hurt still showing, "Grove beat me 1-0 that NF

The Washington Post O. J. Simpson, the San Francisco 49ers wounded running back, once again was the highest-paid player in the National Football League, according to a salary survey for the 1978 season obtained by The Washington

Simpson, who missed half the season with a shoulder injury, earned $733,358 for the 1978 season, a year that saw NFL salaries more than keep pace with inflation. The figures, computed by the NFL's Management Council, show the average NFL salary rose 13.2 perent — from $55,000 in 1977 to $62.585 in 1978.

The Management Council's dollar figures on the average and median (mid-point) salaries by position, made public recently, did not include performance (incentive) clauses or playoff money.

The Management Council also broke down salaries from first-year players to 20-year players, by posi-tion, listing the highest salary paid, the lowest salary paid, the average and the median salary.

Using those figures (which were not made public), previously published salary estimates and interviews with several highly placed NFL sources, it is possible to deduce some of the game's highest paid players.

In the running back category, for example, were only three 10-year veterans still active in 1978 - Simpson, Larry Csonka of the New York Giants and Rocky Bleier of the Pittsburgh Steelers. Simpson generally has been acknowledged as the league's highest-paid performer.

WALTER PAYTON, the Chicgo Bear back, was the next highest-paid NFL player, at $431,500. Redskin fullback John Riggins earned $300,000 last season and Houston Oiler rookie sensation Earl Campbell was paid $199,666.

Fran Tarkenton of the Minnesota Vikings was the highest-paid quarterback at $360,000, barely edging Houston's Dan Pastorini ($358,333) and Oakland's Ken Stabler ($342,000).

Redskin reserve quarterback Billy Kilmer earned $230,000 in 1978. Harold Jackson of the New England Patriots was the highest-paid wide receiver at $237,657.

The Patriots also had the league's highest-paid offensive lineman-offensive guard, John Hannah, at $173,- Mel Blount, the Steelers All-Pro corner back, is believed to have earned $141,870 in 1978 to lead defensive backs.

Ken Houston, the Redskins' perennial All-Pro strong safety, earned $98,-000 in 1978. The incentive clauses in his contract, however, likely increased his wage considerably.

EAGLE ALL-PRO Bill Bergey led the linebackers with $213,333, followed closely by another Pennsylvania terror, Jack Lambert of the

There were only two 14th-year linebackers in the NFL in 1978 and both were Redskins. Chris Hanburger earned $125,000, with Mike Curtis at Pittsburgh's Joe Greene was the best paid defensive lineman at $174,-000. Diron Talbert, the Redskin defensive tackle, is believed to have earned $105,000 in 1978 according to NFL sources, and defensive end Ron McDole $100,000.

Garo Yepremian, the baldheaded Dolphins' placekicker, was the highest paid in his specialty at $90,000, probably as a result of a generous Dolphin contract offered when the club was trying to protect its players from the defunct World Football League in 1974.

A breakdown by positions shows average salaries of quarterbacks increased by $13,000 over 1977, running backs by $2,000, receivers by $6,000, offensive linemen by $8,000, defensive linemen by $7,000, linebackers by $8,-000, defensive backs by $7,000 and kickers by $7,000.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL players Association, said he thought the figures released by the Management Council "on the whole are accurate. I have no reason to doubt them.

fith, who long jumps in addition to running quarter-miles and relay legs, took the 440 in 54.04 seconds, smashing the indoor best for an automatically timed race of 54.21 set by Laura Forde two years ago.

This time, however, Forde couldn't keep pace with the fast-striding Grefith, a native of Guiana. Forde finished second in 54.9.

Paige, unbeaten in 880-yard and 1,000-yard races since 1977, extended his winning streak to seven while ending Belger's skein at 20. It was the first time the two had met in an individual race.

Coghlan's 3:55 Red Hosses Wins Latin series grab wins SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Oakland A's

NEW YORK (AP) - Ireland's Eamonn Coghlan ran the second fastest indoor mile in history Friday night, surging to victory over Olympic 1,500meter champion John Walker and five others in 3 minutes 55 seconds in the Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden.

Coghlan, posting his 21st victory in his last 22 major indoor meets and his eighth triumph in a row, barely missed the world record of 3:54.9 set by Dick Buerkle last year. Buerkle finished sixth this time, two places behind Walker.

The steady Coghlan bided his time behind the fast early pace of Paul Cummings, the American recordholder. Cummings set blistering times of 58.3 for the first quarter, 1:58.5 for the half-mile and 2:58.5 for three-quarters before completely fading out of contention and finishing last in the elite seven-man field.

Coghlan seized the lead in the famed Wanamaker Mile just after the three-quarter mark — with 2½ laps remaining in the 11-lap race - before a wildly cheering sellout Garden crowd of 18,301. At that time, Walker was right behind him.

Kenya's Wilson Waigwa, previously unbeaten this year, wound up a distant second in 3:56.3, followed by Villanova sophomore Sydney Maree in 3: 57.1, Walker in 3: 57.3, collegiate champion Steve Scott of California-Irvine in 3:59.6 and Buerkle in 4:03.2. Cummings' time was not announced. Earlier, Don Paige bested former Villanova teammate Mark Belger in a record-setting 1,000-yard race, Renaldo Nehemiah stretched his winning streak to 14 with a victory in the 60-yard high hurdles and June Griffith of Adelphi set a women's world indoor record for 440 yards.

Nehemiah set the mark of 6.89 in last month's U.S. Olympic Invitational at Madison Square Garden. It was originally announced as 6.88, but Friday night it was disclosed that the photo of the race had been reviewed and Nehemiaah had lost one hunstart drew away steadily. Dedy Cooper of San Jose State finished second in 7.04, followed by veteran Charles Foster in 7.10 and Mike Shine in 7.30. Greg Foster, who had finished in a dead heat with Nehemiah last month in Philadelphia, hit the first hurdle this time and stopped between the third and fourth.

Nehemiah had to be cautious in the final after being called for one false start. That may have cost him a shot at another indoor record. In his previous five races, the 19-year-old from Score by periods:
Scotch Plains, N.J., had lowered his San Angelo
San Angelo 60-yard hurdles record from 7.07 to 7.02, then to 6.95 and finally to 6.89. He also set records of 6.04 for 50 yards and 6.36 for 50 meters.

Although Nehemiah did not break another indoor world record, he did smash the meet mark of 7.07 which he set last year. Meanwhile, Houston McTear, the indoor world record-holder at 60 yards with a time of 6.05, set a meet record with a 6.09 clocking. McTear, holder of the old Millrose mark of 6.11, beat a standout field in a close fin-Harvey Glance of Auburn University was second in 6.13 with Steve Rid-

Bowman's big gamble pays off against USSR

NEW YORK (AP) - Pushed to the of the Challenge Cup series. background by the superlative on-ice display of the National Hockey League all-stars was a virtuoso per-formance by the man behind the bench, Coach Scotty Bowman of the Montreal Canadiens.

Bowman took a big risk Thursday night, dressing only four defensemen and gambling their size, strength and conditioning would survive the rigors of 60 full-speed minutes against the Soviet national team.

The risk went well rewarded, as have most of the moves Bowman has made in leading the Canadiens to three consecutive NHL titles. The defense, helped by the determined fore-checking of the forwards, combined with the volatile offensive skills of Montreal's Guy Lafleur and carried the NHL to a 4-2 triumph in the opener

"HE ALWAYS puts his neck out," said Canadiens left wing Bob Gainey, whose goal at 15:48 of the first period gave the NHL an unbeatable 3-1 lead. 'He always puts himself in a position where he's in charge — a position where he'll take the criticism if things don't go right."

Things went right Thursday night as Bowman's charges surmounted the obstacle of just three days' preparation to defuse the Soviets' timebomb offense

"They couldn't adjust to our style of observed assistant all-star play," general manager Harry Sinden of Boston. "They did exactly what we thought they'd do. We prepared our game plan accordingly, and it worked

Even Lafleur, the explosive right wing whose offensive power is known throughout the hockey world, contributed to the defensive effort.

"I think we'll play better the next two games," said Lafleur, referring to this afternoon's second contest and the game Sunday night that concludes the three-match series. "Some guys were nervous for the first game, but we won't be next time. We'll be up for all three games. We don't want to lose any."

Most NHL stars expect a different type contest today. First of all, an NHL triumph would clinch the Challenge Cup. Second, the contest will be refereed by Victor Dombrovski, who often skates with the Soviet team when it practices.

"We'll have to play better," said Colorado defenseman Barry Beck, one of many standouts Thursday night. "We stopped skating in the third period and we can't have that kind of let-down again.

"But they'll definitely have to play differently to beat us. They'll have to forecheck a lot more. They weren't forcing us so much, so the defensemen had time to make the plays."

The Soviets also will have to do better on faceoffs. NHL centers won 54 of the 79 draws, earning the puck for their teammates nearly 75 percent of the time.

Quiet revolution underway in basketball

By TERRY SHEPARD The Los Angeles Times UCLA loses to Stanford. Marquette loses to Wisconsin. Kentucky loses to A sort of quiet revolution has been building in college basketball and the peasants are winning more and more of the battles. Upsets are not new, of course, but the aristocrats of the game - such as the Bruins, Wárriors and Wildcats - usually lose only to one another, not to the rabble. There are increasing signs, nowev er, that the absolute monarchy at UCLA that John Wooden abdicated in 1976 is becoming a democracy in which more and more teams are created equal.

"Throughout the country this is a very true statement," Oregon State coach Ralph Miller said. "This has been changing in recent years. Since the NCAA tournament has been enlarged, a lot of teams that were supposed to have been standouts have not turned out to be standouts. There are so many fine players in colleges today that it's hard for anyone to maintain a dominant position.

Or, as former Marquette coach Al McGuire puts it: "There'll never be another John Wooden and they'll never be another UCLA. That's yesteryear, Lone Ranger and Tonto stuff. It's long gone."

MILLER AND McGuire were among 10 prominent college coaches asked about the increasing balance in college basketball. Not just the absence of an invincible UCLA, but the presence of an upstart LSU or Cal State Fullerton, of so many teams capable of competing with the traditional powers.

All agree there is such a trend. And their explanations range from legislation (freshman eligibility and the 15scholarship limit) to administration (recruiting and scheduling changes) manpower (increased) money (greatly increased).

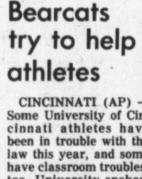

Of course, the most visible sign of balance has been the release of the Bruins' death-grip on the NCAA title, which Wooden won 10 of his last 12 years. A strong majority of the coaches agreed with McGuire that no one will duplicate that record.

Some were cautious. "To win 10 national championships?" Washington State's George Raveling said. "I wouldn't say it would never happen again, but I think it would be very

And only the man who did it, Wooden, was sure someone will do it

'Those things don't happen very often, but it'll come back sometime, he said. "Look in other sports. Back in the 30s, the Yankees dominated base-ball. They they didn't for a while, but then they did again.

Some University of Cincinnati athletes have been in trouble with the law this year, and some have classroom troubles, too. University spokesman Lawrence Hawkins says a brain trust is studying ways "to determine how we can help these athletes in terms of being ... just regular human beings.'

Hawkins is the university's vice president for administration. He thinks it's time studentathletes start acting more like students.

"One of the things I feel strongly about is that athletes are in a unique position," Hawkins said. "Everybody else goes home and an athlete just sits there in the dorm. People don't understand how athletes make sacrifices like

THE BEARCAT basketball program is under a two-year NCAA probation for recruiting violations, and two players were dismissed from the team last month after being arrested in St. Louis on charges of burglarizing a hotel gift Earlier this week, two Cincinnati football players were charged with receiving stolen property, a felony. University Athletic Director William Jenike refused comment when the charges were filed, saying the arrest was a police matter. "Some of the fellows get in a situation where they become like hermits in their dorms," Hawkins said. "Either that or they'll just get together with each other and talk about how lousy they're feeling.

"There are people who would like to have an athlete home for Thanksgiving dinner and take him out to a movie, but NCAA regulations pro-hibit that."

Hawkins said some university leaders have been asked to come up with recommendations to help athletes feel more like other students and to involve them in activities side athletics.

the "watermelon" group is sliding through its sophomore, junior and senior years, the coaches said, is the freshman eligibility rule. Starting in the 1972-73 season, freshman were allowed to play on the varsity. Now, the most talented of them have turned that permission into a demand.

"A boy looks at a team and asks what they lost," DePaul's Meyer said. "If they lost a forward, he'll say, 'Good. I'm a forward. I can go there and play right away.' But if UCLA gets all its team back, he'll say, 'I'm not going to UCLA because I won't be able to play for two or three years.' They look for the opportunity to play as freshmen.'

And if they don't play, they might not sit on the bench, either.

"A lot of kids are transferring," Notre Dame coach Digger Phelps said. "Look at Kentucky. Their center, Chuck Aleksinas, wants to leave. And Kyle Macy came there from Purdue. Kids no longer have loyalty to a school. They have loyalty to playing

THUS, IT is hard to keep a deep, steady flow of talent into a school. An entire class, such as the Alcindor-Allen-Shackelford group that beat the UCLA varsity, cannot be brought in and put on hold for a year.

"You can't recruit too many players because they'll get unhappy if they don't play as freshmen," Illinois coach Lou Henson said. "So, instead of recruiting five or six, you recruit one or two, because you can't use five or six right away.'

The result is the talent is spread around more. And another rule, the NCAA limit of 15 scholarships to a school, has had the same effect.

"The limitation is a factor," UCLA coach Gary Cunningham said. "A lot of schools used to have 18, 20, 22 players in their program. Now, it's down to 15 for everyone.

The increase in top-flight players is not only due to the population boom. It also has to do with their training.
"We went through the era of the war babies," Washington State's Raveling said. "Now we're in the era of the camp babies. They're schooled in the fundamentals in camps as well as in high school."

"High school coaching is better," said Arkansas coach Eddie Sutton. "Coaches are going to clinics and learning. And basketball camps in the summer have had an effect. If a player wants to become really good, it's not so hard for him now.

Wooden again: "There's lots of tal-ent. I feel it's almost a disgrace for any school that has a basketball program to have a poor team. They ought to have a good team. I'm not saying a championship team, but they ought to have the talent for a good team.'

Coaches having a losing season might think those words harsh. But others agreed with Wooden for a simple reason.

"You don't need 40 people," Oregon State's Miller said. "My last Iowa team that went undefeated in the Big 10 had six players that played. The rest I only needed for practice. That's why a San Francisco or a Fullerton can come out of the blue. You don't need a lot of people to have a great

THE EARLY rise of Illinois this season is another example, and the coach of the Illini provided a third.

"It's just like Michigan State last year," Henson said. "They recruited two freshmen and went from sixth to first in the Big 10.'

Those are reasons why there can be many good teams in college basketball. But Oregon State's Miller pointed to a main reason why there are.

"If I had to point to one thing, it's money," he said. "More people are paying to watch basketball than any sport. Arenas are increased in size. We're making great inroads with television. Better teams have a better THAT LIMIT has not necessarily chance to make money. Especially if brought the Bruins down. "We were usually under 15 anyway," Cunningham said. "The most I remember is about 17 or 18 one year.

But it has helped other schools up. 'When they reduced the scholarship limit from 26 to 15, it put a lot of good players on the market," De-Paul's Meyer said. "That's 11 players from each of the Big 10 schools, 110 more players that we could go after. That's what helped us, putting a lot more quantity on the market with quality.'

Another factor: more players. "It gets back to the population ex-plosion," Notre Dame's Phelps said. "There's so much talent for everyone because, while there's been an explosion of population, there hasn't been an explosion of new colleges." That means more for each existing

"Maybe 15 years ago there weren't really too many outstanding play-Oregon State's Miller said. 'There were enough to take care of UCLA, but not enough to go around. Now there are too many good players just in Los Angeles for UCLA to take care of.' Cunningham, a former Wooden assistant who sat out two seasons before becoming UCLA head coach 1 1-2 years ago, won't argue.

"There used to be three or four guys in Southern California that could play," he said. "Since I've been back in the game, there's been at least 10 each year that could play, that were blue chippers."

AND IT isn't just Los Angeles. "Every city you go to, there are four to five outstanding players," De-Paul's Meyer said.

Still, there are hot spots. "UCLA is in the middle of the Mecca of talent," Washington State's Raveling said. "UCLA and USC are like the Arabs. They're sitting on top of the oil."

Like that oil, however, a lot of the top players in areas such as Los Angeles, Chicago and Philadelpia are exported.

"That's one of the things that has made a difference," Texas coach Abe Lemons said. "Cross-recruiting. Everybody's recruiting nationwide. No longer are the powers the only ones diving into the talent pool.

"Budgets for recruiting have gone up and it's become more sophisticated," McGuire said. "Whereas there used to be 12 teams recruiting in a big way, now 70 or 80 go after the so-called blue-chippers, the untouch-ables. Iona picked off Jeff Ruland. Rutgers picked off James Bailey. These schools didn't even use to try for that kind of player."

NOW THOSE schools are not only trying, they are succeeding. And that has the dual effect of helping them while hurting the old-line powers.

"UCLA has a problem now," Notre Dame's Phelps said. "Because they're in the Pac-10 now, Arizona and Arizona State can go in and recruit in Southern California for kids they couldn't get before. You've seen that already with guys like Greg Goorjian going to Arizona State and George Hawthorne to Arizona." you make the NCAA, where the more games you play the more you get

The widening of the NCAA tournament field from 16 teams to 32 to 40 this season has increased the incen-

"People are playing for that pot of gold," Texas' Lemons said. "Schools are realizing there's money in basketball. Last year, the final four in the tournament got $250,000, plus the pleasure and prestige of being The dollar signs around basketball, the coaches said, are relatively new. "Up until now football had to carry the load," Miller said. "If you had a track program, football had to pay for

"Now the money our program makes is going to women's sports. Title IX required every athletic program to get more money. And there's only two sports that can do it.

"In most schools, if you have the arena, percentagewise basketball is making more money than football. You may have a football program that makes $500,000 and a basketball program that makes $250,000. But you spent over a million to make that $500,000 in football and in basketball you spent maybe a quarter of a million to make a quarter of a million."

BECAUSE OF that smaller investment, and the fewer players needed to succeed than in football, basketball is getting big at schools of all sizes.

"More schools realize they can't compete in football but can in basketball," Arkansas' Sutton said. "A lot of schools that don't even have football teams are finding they can have a great basketball program."

The rise of all the new good teams gives the traditional powers yet another problem.

"It's very hard to pick a schedule for easy wins," said McGuire, who usually opened Marquette against a school such as Belmont Abbey. "You schedule a sure win and they pick up a couple of junior college kids and you get your clock cleaned.

'Take the Southwest Conference schools, like Arkansas or Texas. Normally, you book Texas and say, 'OK, we win at home and have a 50-50 chance on the road.' Now, that's sound scheduling. But you can't do that anymore because Texas has gotten good.'

BECAUSE IT'S harder to program breathers into schedules, and because of the improvement of teams in general, undefeated teams may become endangered species. The only top 20 team now without a loss is Indiana State, one of the nouveau riche.

"The undefeated team with any kind of a schedule is gone," Marquette's McGuire said. "There's too much intensity. Basketball is big whether you're in Oregon or Louisiana or Puerto Rico.'

Lemons saw one possibility of going

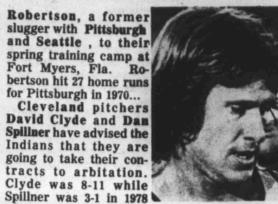

"The teams that will have the best chance are the indepenents," the Texas coach said. "They can play who they want. If you're in a conference, you have to play 16 or 18 tough conference games."

Auto racing owners pile into CART for protection

Championship auto racing has come to the crossroads in this country, and the power play of auto racing history will be made in 1979, and it appears at this time that there can be only one

The United States Auto Club (USAC) has been the governing body of championship racing in this country for many years, but there has been a growing disenchantment the last few years among the bread and butter of the USAC championship trailthe car owners, who have to carry the major burden of expense in an expensive sport.

THE OWNERS would like to have more control over their own destiny. They want a larger say in matters of purses, entry fees, rules and regulations. It was to these points that many of the top racing teams in the country approached the USAC Board of Directors last November in an effort to work out their problems. In essence, the owners were sent packing by the allpowerful board.

Thus, Championship Auto Racing Teams (CART) came into existence, and they will run at least an eight-race schedule under a sanctioning body other than USAC. Their first race is March 11 in Phoenix, Ariz., and they have already acquired an NBC-TV contract for that race.

Two Midlanders are members of the new CART organization, Jim Hall, owner of Chaparral Cars Inc. and last year's Indianapolis 500 champion; and Bobby Hillin, principal owner of the Longhorn Racing Team. They are not alone in their quest for change in this country's championship format.

Other notable entries include Dan Gurney, Jerry O'Connell, Roger Penske, Pat Patrick, Carl Gehlhausen, Tyler Alexander and Robert Fletcher.

THIS LIST, by no means complete, comprises the top racing teams in the country, and leaves the USAC cupboard practically bare. The popular A. J. Foyt orginally joined the CART group, but has since switched his allegiance back to USAC. The CART people must guard against this kind of mutiny if they are to survive, and they know it.

Hall, who is on the CART Board of Directors, and Hillin recently spoke out on the CART-USAC struggle.

"The teams that are putting up the big bucks haven't been represented on the USAC board," Hall stated. "The race tracks and car owners have a major investment with very little to say in how the money is split, much less having a say about rules and regulations that we have to live and die by on

"I think we could sit down and work our problems out. We certianly don't want to destroy racing; we want to make it better. But we couldn't do that with USAC. They just wouldn't lis-

"USAC has a big board, and a lot of people on the board don't know anything about racing. Some of them never come to a race during the course of a season. I don't think they really know the problems that we have. They have a lot of masters to serve, and we need to get away from that."

HALL continued, "CART will use the same exotic turbocharged engines that have made this sport so popular, and I think it should stay that way. We know there has to be regulations in our sport, but limiting the field to stock block engines just isn't the answer, and that's what USAC wants to do right now. But they keep changing their minds on a daily basis almost, so we don't really know what USAC will end up with." USAC wants the stock block engines in the cars to reduce speed, and hopefully, make racing more competitive with that kind of restriction. CART wants to develop the turbo-charged car with a limit of 75 inches of engine manifold pressure, compared to the 50 inches proposed by USAC for the V-8 turbo-charged engines.

Al Unser, Hall's driver and the first winner of USAC's Triple Crown last year also disagrees with the USAC limitations on engine boost. "I think we have to have restrictions, but these cars are safe and the idea of racing is to go out and beat the other guy. If they bring back the old cars, you still have to go out and race whether it is 200 miles per hour or 55 miles per hour. Which would you rath-

HILLIN FEELS that CART is the answer for the American racing scene, and he feels strongly that USAC will be the ultimate loser in the fued.

"I really don't feel like USAC's championship division can survive. They can't ask promoters to go out and spend money to sell and eight-team field. If CART can keep from having some kind of mass defection, they won't be able to make it. There are just not that many teams around in the championship division, and most of the top ones are with CART.

"CART is not like the World Football League. We are starting with proven racing teams, and we already have the proven stars. We are in a much stronger position than USAC at this

"OF COURSE, we want the Phoenix race to be a big success with a big crowd and a strong competitive race. We are going to promote the event the best way we can. I know I'll have my driver (Tom Bagley) out there early to help promote local interest. When you have the Patricks and Halls of the racing world in an event like this, you can't ignore it, and NBC hasn't ignored it since they are going to televise it."

Of course, the Indianapolis 500, the ripest plumb in auto racing, is still under USAC control, and most of the CART members, including both Hall and Hillin, will run there in 1979. It will be the only USAC event CART members will participate in this year.

Weatherl aces Hogan's No. 13

By REX WORRELL Hogan Park Golf Pro

We had a hole-in-one, the second of the year, scored at Hogan Park Golf Course this week. Sunday, AJ. Weatherl scored an ace on the 165yard, par three No. 13 hole with a perfect four-iron shot. Witnessing the ace were partners Fred Ramirez, Herb Langley, and Clarence Young. This is the first ace A.J. has scored in his golfing career. Congratulations.

Project update on Hogan's clubouse construction—Contractor Walt Thibeau was slowed down by January's weather, but has managed to stay pretty much on schedule with the clubhouse construction. The clubhouse is completely framed in, insulation board is up in the areas where brick will be laid. The clubhouse is completely framed in, insulation board is up in the areas where brick will be laid. The roof trusses are all up and the roof deck has been nailed on. The electrical, mechanical and plumbing subcontractors are on the job and the installation of wiring, ducking and plumbing is in progress. The roofers and brick-layers have been notified and should be on the site working on their phase of the construction soon.

New nine holes construction—Item 1A clearing is 100 per cent complete. Item 2A, stripping and stockpiling is 80 per cent complete. Item 2b, exca-vation is 80 per cent complete. Item 3A, fairway development is 15 per cent complete. Item 3b, rough development is 15 per cent complete. Item 4, greens construction is 25 per cent complete. Item 5, Tees are 50 per cent

For those who are watching the construction closely, we will run through a hole-by-hole coverage of the site inspection conducted Jan.

Hole One—Shape the fairway bun-ker as discussed, blocking the line of vision and the shot along the left rough line to the green from the tee. Hole 2-Continue on the tee mounds, enlarging their size by not height. Hole 3—Continue on the tee mounds, enlarging size but not height. Check drainage in front of the tees. Both bunkers are to be constructed as sketched, making them a series of flat bunkers separated by a strip of sod. The bunkers on No. 3 shall be tiled and have bunker sand installed in them. The left fairway bunkers on holes 6 and 9 shall be deleted in exchange for the additional work on No. 3. Raise the front of the putting surface six Hole 6-Cut a saddle in the mounds on the right side of the tee and roll that runs perpendicular across the fairway in front of the tees. Work on a swale towards the first landing area from the lake to help visibility into the lake. Run green drain tile into a sump on the back right side of the green and not the lake.

Practice area-Flatten the area immediately in front of the tee to give a minimum total area of double the size of the back tee. Practice green-Shape the green as discussed, keeping the putting surface low with mounds surrounding the green. Putting surface should have the same character as No. 5 green and an area of approximately 10,000 square feet.

THE HOGAN Park Women's Golf Association held a Point System event Thursday with the following results-18-hole division: 1. Wilma Cox. 2. Sandy Wilkerson. 3. Dede Plank. Nine-hole Division: 1. Betty Reimers. 2. Char Richter.

The ladies will hold a Low Putts event Thursday and all will make their own pairings.

For the 18-hole division there will be a board meeting in the home of Alvina Hill Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. A business meeting for the 18-hole divisidon will be held Thursday at the golf shop at 9:30 a.m. Hogan Park Pro Rex Worrell will give a talk on the rules and etiquette of golf. The yearbooks for the 18-hole division will be distributed after the meeting.

The nine-hole division will have a board meeting Wednesday Feb. 21, at 10 a.m. at the home of Mary Davis. The business for this division will be held after play Feb. 22at 1 p.m. in the home of Peggy Mattina. The yearbooks for the nine hole division will be distributed at the meeting Feb. 22.

Auburn ready to barter with NCAA on penalty

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Auburn University athletic officials are working on plans to negotiate the National Collegiate Athletic Association's proposed two-year probation against the school's football program, The Huntsville Times said today.

The Times said athletic department officials and school administrators hope the NCAA can be persuaded to lighten the two-year recruiting violations sentence by means of negotia-

As an example, the newspaper said, school officials perhaps could lop one year off the verdict by accepting certain other sanctions, such as the loss of a specified number of scholarships for the coming recruiting year.

IF THE school does decide to negotiate the proposed penalties, it likely would come in the form of an appeal to the NCAA Council. Auburn has until next Wednesday, the last day of a 15-day period, to appeal the penalties which were delivered to Auburn President Harry Philpott on Jan. 30.

Auburn officials are bound to make no comment on the NCAA letter, but the proposed penalties reportedly involve two years for football and one year for basketball.

The Times story by Sports Editor John Pruett said Auburn officials don't believe the one-year sentence would have an adverse affect on the basketball program, but they are dissatisfied with two years in football particularly since Auburn has been under a two-year investigative cloud

Cuba uses sports as sounding board

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) - "Sports is also an expression of the revolution," reads a sign outside the impressive athletic facility where the U.S. Boxing Team is training for its match against Cuba Sunday.

A sign also could say, "Sports is a heartbeat of Cuba."

Ride out Fifth Avenue en route to the U.S. team's training site, past a small amusement park known locally as Coney Island and gymnasiums and athletic fields are never far from the eye. Look down a side street and there are uniformed school children in foot Show up to watch the U.S. boxers and see a stream of Cubans flow from initiates named after Geraldo Cordoba Cardin, a young boxer killed while fighting for the Castro forces in July

"They're really into sports," Ali Allen, a heavyweight from Paterson, N.J., said admiringly. "They train seriously here. Boxing is big."

So is baseball big, so is track and field, basketball and on and on. Competition counts in this town and Cuban vs. Cuban doesn't seem to take off

INTO THIS competitive atmosphere - one that is tempered by hospitality - comes an American squad peppered with talent but lack-ing overall experience in top international competition.

"We're trying to build," said Pat Nappi, the head coach of the great 1976 U.S. Olympic team, who is advising this squad coached by Joe Clough

'We're trying to scramble a little bit to see what we've got the next couple of years," said Bob Surkein, boxing chairman of the Amateur Athletic Union. "The only way you're going to learn is to fight stiff opposition. You don't learn biting yo-yos."

The U.S. policy of greatly varying the composition of teams for international meets, which worked so successfully leading up to the 1976 Olympics, still is in use.

"We have three or four guys in each division and we want to look at all of them," said Surkein. "You don't know who's going to turn pro. Our problems are school and jobs (which cut into training and time)." The makeup of the Cuban team has not been announced yet for the match which will be televised live in the United States by ABC from 2:15 p.m. to 3:45 p.m. But one of the Cuban fighters will be two-time Olympic and world amateur heavyweight champion Teofilo Stevenson of Cuba. He will fight Bill Brown of New Orleans. In another heavyweight bout Ali Allen of Paterson, N.J., is scheduled to meet Angel Millan, who beat Greg Page, a top U.S. amateur who is about to turn pro. Other U.S. boxers scheduled for action are 106-pound Israel Acosta; 112-Jerome Coffee; 119-Jackie Beard; 125-Danny Tidwell; 132-John Bumphus; 139-Djuan Johnson; 147-Donald Bowers: 156-Jeff Stoudemire; and 178-Tony Tucker.

Details of 'secret' Russian base in California being uncovered

By CHARLES HILLINGER The Los Angeles Times

FORT ROSS, Calif. - There are Russians living in the Soviet Union who can trace their roots to California

And, there are Pomo Indians living in Northern California who can trace their heritage to Russian blood lines and to this day, have a number of Russian words in their language.

This is but one of the fascinating sidelights to the story of the Russian outpost that existed in California from 1812 to 1841.

THERE ARE MANY facets of the strange saga of Imperial Russia's control over 125 miles of Northern California coastline that only now are being uncovered, nearly a century and a half after the Russians abandoned their settlement here, 90 miles north of San Francisco. Providing much of the new information about Russia's eastward penetration and its only base in the continental United States is Nicholas Rokitiansky, 60, a Russian history professor at Foothill College in Los Altos Hills in the San Francisco Bay Rokitiansky has spent the past 40 years reaching the Russian episode in California history.

The professor delivered the U.S. Bicentennial lectures in 1976 at the Moscow Academy of Sciences and Moscow University. His subject was "Fort Ross and the Russian Settlement in California."

Rokitiansky returned from that trip to the Soviet Union with photographs of sketches and paintings of California Indians by Russian artists who visited Fort Ross when it was a Russian outpost.

THE PROFESSOR ALSO came across an extensive collection of Pomo Indian artifacts - garments, crafts and ornaments - while doing research at the Ethnographic Museum in Leningrad.

"Most of the Russians who were assigned to Fort Ross came here without wives," noted Rokitiansky. "Many intermarried with local Indians. Their offspring were the great grandparents of present-day Pomo

"Other Russians stationed at Fort Ross returned to their homeland with their Indian wives and Russian-Ining in the Soviet Union today.

Rokitiansky was appointed to the Fort Ross State Park Advisory Committe by Gov. Ronald Reagan in 1970. A book recently was published at Fort Ross entitled, "Fort Ross: Indians, Russians, Americans."

THE BOOK IS FILLED WITH maps, paintings, sketches and information about the Russian settlement in California. The information is the result of Rokitiansky's research in the Soviet Union in 1960, 1972 and 1976. Rokitiansky corresponds with historians and ethnographers in the Soviet Union in his search for new information about Fort Ross. Because of his work, he is known as the California

For Russian-Americans throughout the United States, Fort Ross today represents the major cultural contribution of prerevolutionary Russia to

Because of that, the state park is a mecca for Russian-Americans. Special Russian Orthodox church services are held here during the year. The fort also has special meaining for political leaders, dignitaries, historians and other visitors from the Soviet Union and Communist bloc na-

MARINA ILYISN, A RUSSIANspeaking state park ranger, conducts Russian-language tours of the historic fort for visiting Russian groups.

Almost every time a Soviet merchant ship docks at San Francisco or Oakland, members of the crew visit Fort Ross.

Rokitiansky is often called upon by the U.S. State Department or the Russian consulate in San Francisco to lead officials of the Soviet Union on visits to the historic site.

Within the fort complex, the 1835 commandant's house, the chapel and the eight-sided and seven-sided blockhouses are filled with artifacts of the Russian period.

In 1812, the Russians laid claim to the 125 miles of California coast from Point Reyes, just north of San Francisco, to Point Arena in Mendocino Nikolai P. Rezanov, head of the Russian mission to San Francisco at the time, returned to Alaska and urged the colonization of the Northern California coast as a base to raise food for the Russian settlements in Alaska and on the Siberian coast.

Another reason for establishing BARON FERDINAND VON Fort Ross was to extend the Russian WRANGEL, governor of Russian fur trade to California and to bring Alaska, went to Mexico City in 1839 to

Aleuts from Alaska's Aleutian Islands to hunt sea otter in this part of the

By 1841, the Russians had decimated the California sea otter population. Farming along this part of the California coast proved to be marginal at best, although the Russians did have vegetrable gardens and apple, pear and peach orchards that still exist. They also raised grain and had several thousand head of cattle, sheep and negotiate with Mexico for new, more productive land in the Sacramento Valley, Mexico agreed to let the Russians expand their holdings in California in return for recognition of the independence of Mexico from Spain. "If the Russians had held on another seven years with the coming of the Gold Rush, the course of world history could have been dramatically different," said John C. McKenzie, 69, state park historian at Fort Ross from 1948 to 1976.

Many years ago an old shepherd died. His dog was at the train depot when the man's casket was placed aboard the train. For years after the dog lived at the depot . . . he met every train, watching each passenger, always disap-

MEET THE MINISTER

'Bill' Hedrick embarking on third year with Trinity Presbyterian

By ROGER SOUTHALL Staff Writer

William K. "Bill" Hedrick recently completed his second full year as minister of Midland's Trinity Presbyterian Church - and has embarked on the third year with enthusiasm and anticipation.

The Warren, Ark., native came to the Midland post in December, 1976, after serving six years as minister of St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Longview. Before that, educational and pastoral assignments or commitments had taken him to such nearand-far spots as Central Texas, North Carolina, Louisiana, West Berlin and Northern California.

After completing high school in Warren, Ark., Hedrick enrolled in Davidson College, a small but academically-excellent institution in North Carolina. He had his initial theological study there, and then enrolled in the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary at Austin, where he received the Bachelor of Divinity de-

RELIGION

Between his second and third academic years at Austin Seminary, however, Hedrick availed himself of a Rotary Foundation Fellowship to attend classes at the Kirchliche Hochschule in West Berlin — equivalent to an American seminary.

He looks back on that year (1963-64) as an "absolutely fascinating time of my life, which enabled me to make a lot of fascinating observations not only in West Berlin but on frequent day trips across the border to East

After returning to this country, Hedrick completed his seminary studies at Austin and then embarked on his first pastorate - in Natchitoches,

Following two years in that post, Hedrick became a student again, this time in the San Francisco-Berkeley area of California where he enrolled in the Graduate Theological Union, a theology school "complex" made up of nine theological and related insti-tutions, centered in Berkeley.

Having received a doctoral degree in New Testament studies from that school, Hedrick in 1970 accepted a call to the pastorate of St. Andrew Presbyterian Church at Longview, where he remained until accepting the ministry of the Midland church in late 1976.

Since moving to Midland, Hedrick has been active in Midland Association of Churches, an organization involving local units of a number of different denominations.

He has served the association as chairman of public meetings, and was dean of the association's annual School of Christian Living held here in early January.

Within his own denomination (the Presbyterian Church, U.S.) Hedrick has served as chairman of the "Commission on the Minister" for the PCUS Presbytery of Tres Rios which, includes the Midland area. Hedrick has long been interested in music and, in fact, received his undergraduate degree in music. He and his wife both are singers and they have been members of the Chorale of the Midland-Odessa Symphony for the last two seasons

'Music has been my hobby and one of my great pleasures for many years," he said. He also lists spending time with his family as one of his favorite pastimes, and he enjoys reading for relaxation when he has

Hedrick's wife, Jane, is a native of Brownsville and a graduate of Trinity University in San Antonio. She had additional study at Austin Theological Seminary and later served as director of Christian education for a church in

Still later, after the couple was married, she was employed as a social worker and probation officer in both Austin and San Francisco, and at the present time is a medical social worker at Medical Center Hospital in

The Hedricks are the parents of a son, Mark, 8, and a daughter, Joy, 6. Both are students at Bowie Elementary School here.

Ministerial Association officers installed

New officers of the Midland Ministerial Association have been installed, to serve during 1979.

The association is an organization of local clergy of various denominations who meet together to hear presentations on various aspects of community life and learn how the Church can serve community needs, said the Church. Rev. Chuck Redger, new president. Redger is director of Teen Challenge of Midland.

Also serving during the current year are the Rev. Gordon Garlington of Covenant Presbyterian Church and CINCINNATI, Ohio - A paper proposing more than a dozen ways for church members to work and worship across denominational lines will be presented to the 14th Plenary session of the Consultation on Church Union scheduled here next month.

The COCU executive committee, in a two-day meeting here recently, approved presentation of the proposals at the March 5 through 9 plenary event. Called "Beyond Affirmation to Action," the paper offers guidelines based on a previously-adopted concept for mutual recognition of mem-

A second major paper, dealing with ordination and ministry in a united church, will be presented at the March meeting for extensive study but not for vote.

Delegates will be asked to "think through the issues and make their views known as fully as possible," said Dean Lewis Mudge of the McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, to assist the COCU Theology Commission in preparing a further draft. Dean Mudge is chairman of the commission.

The ordination-ministry document grows out of a longer one titled "In Quest of a Church of Christ Uniting," and deals with some of the thorniest of the church union issues. The larger document was accepted by the 1976

Rev. Williams will serve as interim pastor

The Rev. James H. Williams of Santa Fe, N.M., has arrived in Midland to serve as interim pastor of Christ Presyterian Church, 2801 N.

He fills the vacancy created by the departure several weeks ago of the Rev. Bob Stalcup who resigned to accept the pastorate of a church in Metairie, La.

Williams, who is retired from the active ministry in the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., is a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., and holds degrees from University of Pittsburgh, the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary and Hartford Theological Seminary.

Following his ordination, he served as a pastor in Pittsburgh, Hartford, Conn., Dodge City, Kan., Ardmore, Okla., Farmington, N.M., and Ouray, Colo. He retired in 1974 and he and his wife, Marge, moved to Plaza Del Monte, a Presbyterian ministerial retirement center in Santa Fe, N.M. He has since filled three interim pastor-

During his years in the active ministry, Williams has worked in various levels of church governement within the UPCUSA denomination. He has twice been a commissioner to the denomination's General Assembly.

Plenary session with the request that further work be done on the section dealing with ministry.

Now in the final stages of editing, the new paper was presented to the COCU executive committee for comments but not formal action, and is to be revised by the theology commission between now and 1980 on the basis of suggestions to be received at the March plentary gathering. It is due to go to the plenary in three main sections: "The Ministry of Christ and the Ministry of His People," "The Ordained Ministries" and "The Ordering of Ministries."

Chandelle is a Nice Place to Call Home...

WHY BUY A CONDOMINIUM?

Condominiums afford quality living in prime locations. They allow the owner all the financial and tax advantages of owning a home without the headaches.

Condominiums are designed for a more flexible lifestyle. Most important, you have greater control over your housing costs when compared to renting.

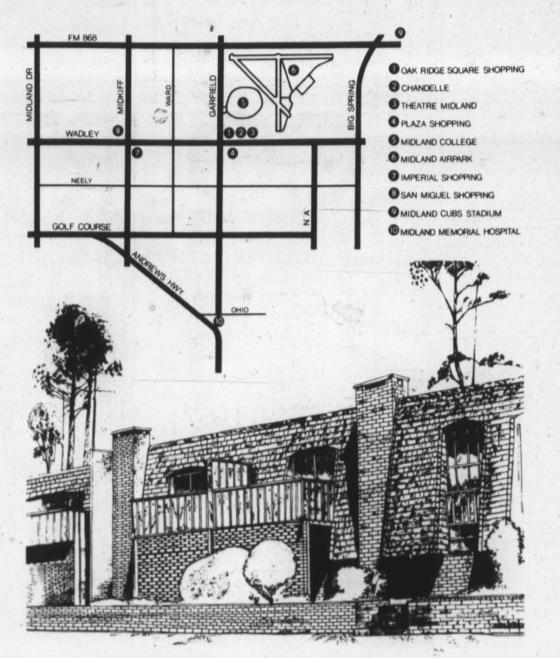

WHY BUY A "CHANDELLE" CONDOMINIUM?*

"CHANDELLE's" location at 2100 West Wadley is within minutes of downtown, theatres, recreational areas, shopping, restaurants, schools, churches, the college, and Airpark. At "CHANDELLE" you get an equity investment, the same tax breaks as a home owner, and greater control of your housing costs. "CHANDELLE" is the only real away from the maintenance problems - of home owning, and doing it with style. Come out to 2100 West alternative people have to get

Wadley or call 684-7884 to find out why "CHANDELLE" is a nice place to call home. Models are open from 12:00 noon until 6:00 p.m. seven days a week.

"CHANDELLE is Elegant Living"

* The 20 people who have decided to call "CHANDELLE" home will tell you why.
