The Christmas Market at the Hilton over the weekend was a big success, according toreports. A large "thank you" is due JoAnn Cermin and Lisa Moore for their hard work in organizing and overseeing the annual event. Helping with registration was Tanya Pence. Crowds were good both days with several people attending from out-of-town.

J.E. and Sue Johnson hosted an early Thanksgiving dinner in their home Saturday night. Enjoying the turkey and dressing with all the trimmings meal were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson, Stacic and Jennifer of Tye; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Carlton, Brandie and Lindsey of Eastland; Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Conger and Cayla of Cisco; and Doug Kirby of Glen Rose. Also visiting were Rebecca Elliott, Othella Kile, Helen Boles, Randy Boles and Bradlee Rains.

Hargrave Insurance Agency had a customer "walk-in" drawing Friday, Nov. 16, to give away a Thanksgiving turkey to one of its customers to show appreciation for their business. The lucky winner this year was Kora Agnew, 900 West 5th Street, Cisco. Hargrave Insurance Agency employees certainly hope this makes a good holiday for Kora and family.

Philip Wesley Shackelford of Cisco joined an elite group of FFA achievers recently. Shackelford received the highest degree of membership awarded by the National FFA Organization, the American FFA Degree. Along with 1,056 other degree recipients, the Cisco Chapter member was honored at the 63rd National FFA Convention in Kansas City,

One of the highlights of the convention, the American FFA Degree ceremony, included the presentation of a certificate and gold key to Shackelford as he walked across the convention stage with thousands of FFA members in the audience. The American FFA Degree is presented annually at the national FFA convention to the top two-tenths of one percent of FFA membership. Awarding of the degree is based upon a member's Supervised Agricultural Experience (SAE) program in agribusiness or production agriculture and his leadership ability as demonstrated through involvement in FFA and community activities.

Cisco countered early in the fourth quarter with a scoring pass from Bland to Robert Brown.

Up 21-to-20 early in the fourth quarter, Bland teamed with Burt Evans for an 18yard touchdown pass to give Cisco a 28-to-20 lead with less than three minutes remaining.

But Ranger's Pettigrew hit four long passes, then scored on a keeper from 8 yards out. Needing a two-point conversion to tie the score, Ranger went to the ground and knotted the contest 28-to-28 when scatback Lenard Leviston crashed into the end zone on the option.

The Rangers got a final chance to win the game when Bland fumbled after a hit. But the Cisco defense held and forced a 25-yard field goal attempt by Lee Potts. Cisco's Tomur Barnes got a hand on the ball and the kick sailed

The last article that was in your newspaper told you about the marvelous body that God gave you. Today I want to speak about you and your living faith and tell you about something else that God has given to you. And that is that God gave us a soul.

The word "soul" has several meaning. Sometimes it simply stands for a person, as when someone says, "Not a soul was present." Years ago, in their statistical reports, Penalties-yards: Cisco 6- pastors referred to the total number of persons, they served as that many "souls."

In the Bible "soul" sometimes refers to life, or the life principle. God, having formed Adam's body from the ground, "breathed into his nostrils the breath of life and man became a living being" (Genesis 2:7). The Hebrew noun her is NEPHESH, translated in the King James Version as "living soul." But in the Bible "soul" means more than life. Included in the concept is intelligence and reason. The mind with its faculties can be said to be a power of the soul.

The soul is spiritual. As the essence of being, or as the seat and center of a person's inner life, it transcends what is earthly, the Greek Orthodox Catechism speaks of "the double composition of man,

You And Your Living Faith who made up of a destructible body and an indestructible spirit, stands between the visible and invisible world." The New Testament used soul (psyche) and spirit (pneuma) interchangeable, speaking of those who have departed this life as either souls (Revelation 6:9) or spirits (1 Peter 3:19). In life, soul and body are most closely united and form one person. Death occurs when the soul leaves the body. To the rich landlord God said: "In death the believer's soul is carried by angels into heaven, and in the resurrection (Judgement Day) (Last Day), it will be reunited with the body, a new glorified body (The same type of body that Jesus has). God lays on us the importance of caring for our immortal souls. It is when we believe in Jesus Christ as the Savior that our souls are provided for. "As the outcome of your faith you obtain the salvation of your souls" (Pe-

Aren't we having some beautiful weather? Doesn't seem much like Thanksgiving weather. As the weather is usually cold and rainy, but the sunshine in the day time and cool nights, the weather has been ideal. A good rain would be welcomed. Now to get ready for Christmas, as the saying goes, it is just around the corner. Do enjoy this pretty weather as it will be changing. Remember the cold spell that we had just before Christmas last year?

Faith Baptist Church To Have 'Friend Day' On December 9

Faith Baptist Church, West 18th and Ave. Jin Cisco, will have its annual "Friend Day" on Sunday, December 9. Members of the church are making an effort to bring at least one, if not more, friends on that day. Emphasis is on the Sunday School hour and morning service, but friends brought on Sunday night will also count.

Each one who brings a friend will be given a lapel card saying "I Brought a Friend." Each visitor will given a matching card saying, "I Am a Friend." Everyone present will be given a book-marker memorializing the day. Even those who attend without having been personally invited by a church member will be assigned as somebody's "Friend" of the

This special day is being observed annually by many churches now, and many report attendance more than double their usual average. Pastor M. H. Baby Blues

Q.Is it true a mother experiences more cavities, or even loses a tooth, with each new baby? A. No. It is also not tue that the baby orbs calcium from the mother's teeth, thereby weakening them. If a woman has more decay while she's pregnant, it's probably due to more sugar consumption and less atten-tion to her teeth. During pregnancy, it is very important to maintain a healthy diet, and to brush and floss regularly. It is true that the chance of gum disease is increased bacause of hormonal changes during pregnancy.
An expectant mother needs to continue with her regular dental checkups, and ask her dentist about special instructions on dental care for her-

Q. What are Identity Achievers like? A. Identity Achievers are a more diverse group than Forecloures.

Many factors and circumstances cause the formation of a self-made idnetity.

Psychological growth involves increasing autonomy from the parents and increased individuation from the pre-adolescent self.

The adolescent has internalized the parents values. Further growth involves re-working the internal self. This is the process of individuation

Although the adolescent gains in autonomy and freedom, some security and proctection as a child is relinquishe.

Individuation is painful because it involves gibing up trusted aspects that feel like the self. There is a sense of uncertainty and rootlessness. In return the adolescent gains possibilities, but freedom can be terrifying. They feel relativity and risk in life 'decisions. They are free but vulnerable.

Identity Acievement women have gone through this process during adolescence. They have forged identities on their own terms. They have reworked the identities assigned to them as children. They are not necessarityly achievers in the work world. They are women who choose lives after sifihrough options and have a life plan they can claim as their own.

Identity Achievement women are considered payers of the way

This area had been hit hard and just a step away from an disaster area designation.

It was estimated that around 500 people had lost their jobs or businesses. All over the towns, people were loading up and leaving town, some were colleagues and friends.

But there was nothing to do but find new jobs and start over in a new place. John had been a executive in his company. The company closed. Mary was a teacher.

A lot of businesses had closed, taking their merchandise with them. The chain stores were the first to go. When things started to collapse, they got out in a hurry. Some of the privately-owned businesses stayed but were

Oil And Gas Drilling Permits Issued Increase In October

A total of 1,474 drilling permits were issued by the Railroad Commission in October, according to RRC Chairman Kent Hance. In September, the total was 1,339. October 1989's total was 1,275. The October total included 1,004 permits to drill new oil and gas tests, 49 to re-enter existing well bores, 46 to deepen existing holes, 134 to plugback existing holes, and 123 for other wells. Operators were also issued 118 amended drilling permits.

Hance said permits issued for new oil and gas holes in October included 50 in the San Antonio area (District 1), 42 in the Refugio area (District 2), 51 in Southeast Texas (District 3), 66 in deep South Texas (District 4), 33 in East Central Texas (District 5), 55

Heavy Television Viewing Can Harm Children

Too much television viewing can have a negative impact on children, especially during the summer when school is out, warns the Texas Medical Association. That negative impact can take several forms, particularly violent behavior and obesity, as well as early early sexual activity and alcohol and drug abuse.

"What children see on TV, they imitate in life," said Fortunato O.Sunio, M.D., a Cleburne pediatrician and TMA member.

Television's influence on children is partly a function of how much time they spend watching it. According to recent Nielsen data, American children 2 to 5 years old watch commerical television 25 hours a week, children 6 to 11 watch 22 hours a week, and youth 12 to 17 watch 23 hours a week.

Heavy television viewing reduces the time children spend in other activities, such as bicycle riding and playing outdoors.

Allergy

According to allergy specialists, Texas is not unique in its number of natural enemies to allergy sufferers. However, word that other people, too, suffer from itchy eyes, runny noses, sneezing, headaches, general fatigue and other symptoms hardly improves an allergic Texan's disposition.

For many Texans, one of the most miserable seasons of the year is about to arrive, with the onset of cold weather. At about the time of the first frost, "cedar fever" will descend with the wind-blown pollen that causes it.

> Cisco Press - Eastland Telegram Ranger Times Thursday, November 22, 1990

Cedar fever is an allegic reaction to pollen of the male mountain cedar. The mountain cedar, which is actually two species of juniper, is indigenous statewide, but is especially concentrated in Central Texas. In a typical year, these wild shrubs release pollen from mid-November to mid-March. Dennis Perrotta, director of the Texas Department of Health's (TDH) Epidemiology Division, said that cedar fever is second only to ragweed allergy in the number of Texans it affects. "The severity of cedar allergy may be greater in individuals than is ragweed allergy," he said. "Even people able to resist other allergies may suffer from cedar fever. Also, the severity of their reactions may vary from year to year."

For people with numerous allergies, cedar fever may compound earlier reactions to ragweed and fall elm polien in November, and be further aggravated by oak, elm, pecan, and other pollens in March. In addition, humidity at any time can increase the number of mold sporesanother allergen-in the air.

"People in the midst of a pollen allergy attack may wonder about its seriousness. If there is any consolation for them, it is that while most reactions are uncomfortable, they are temporary. Relatively mild cases may be controlled with over-thecounter antihistamines," Per-

Perrotta added, however, that anyone with severe or persistent symptoms should consult a physician. He said that prolonged irritation of the sinuses or throat can predispose a person to infections, or may be signs of another ill-

Cable TV Company Launches Annual Food Share Campaign

Officials at TCI Cablevision of Texas, Inc. have announced the kickoff of their holiday Food Share campaign. This event brings the cable company together with the Eastland, Ranger, Cisco and Olden communities in an effort to make the holiday season better for hungry children, adults, and the elderly. TCI is working with the Eastland County Food Pantry to distribute non-perishable food to those in need in our commu-

"What better way to celebrate the season of giving than giving to our less fortunate neighbors?" said Robert Moore, System Manager, "Everyone knows what it feels like to be hungry. It's great to know a small donation of food can make such a difference in someone's day." The cable office at 201 N. Seaman in Eastland will be the collection point for all food donated through the cable system to needy people. Those who donate non-perishable food valued at $10.00 or more, will be offered free installation when subscribing to basic or premium service. This offer expires December 19.

Robert Moore observed that by extending this offer, TCI thanks the community and wishesall of Eastland, Ranger, Cisco and Olden a very special holiday season. TCI Cablevision of Texas, Inc. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Tele-Communications, Inc. located in Englewood, Colorado.

What's In A Rating?

by Joseph Walker This is not a newspaper column. This is a novel.

No - really. It is. I know it looks like a newspaper column. And it reads like a newspaper column. Actually, it has all the characteristics of a newspaper column, right down to the printer's ink that is probably rubbing off on your fingers even as we speak.

But it isn't a newspaper column. It's a novel - because

I decided to call it a novel because everyone knows that novelists make more money than newspaper columnists do. So I figure if I call it a novel people will be willing to shell out three or four bucks to read it (and much more if I could just figure out a way to go hardback) as opposed to the pocket change they'll pay for a newspaper.

Brilliant, huh? OK, OK - so maybe the idea isn't exactly original. I stole it from the Motion Picture Association of America, which recently eliminated the X rating for movies and replaced it with something called "NC-17," which theoretically bars anyone under 17 years of age from seeing the film - the same thing the abolished X used to do. The theory behind the change, according to various industry sources, is that "serious" filmmakers were being "injured" (that's show biz talk for "they weren't making as much money as they thought they should") because audiences tend to shy away from X-rated films, a classification dominated by pomographic movies. So rather than ask those filmmakers to tone down the graphic violence and sex in their movies to get a more marketable R-rating the MPAA is simply changing the rating designation. Eliminating the X rating doesn't mean there won't be any more X-rated movies. It's just the name that has been changed - to protect the guilty.

"It's a great step," said Philip Kaufman, director of a sexually explicit film that will be among the first to carry the new NC-17 rating. "I'm just really delighted that we can show this film uncut in America."

In other words, Kaufman was prepared to edit his film to avoid the financial devastation of an X rating. With that threat gone there will be no editing - but now it's a matter of high artistic prinicple. It sort of reminds me of what Adam said to Eve (according to Mark Twain) just before he took his first bite of forbidden fruit: "I guess principles have no real force unless they're well-fed." Or financially promising.

When the ratings system was established, its purpose was to provide audiences specifically parents - with more information about the movies they and their children might want to see. But it appears now that ratings are being offered more for promotional purposes than informational value. And the sad thing is, a lot of film-goers will fall for this cinematic sleight of hand. Just as people who would never eat snails will sample escargot and people who would be horrified at kiddie porn will stand in line to see sexually explicit photographs of children that have been deemed "art," there are lots of folks who would never even consider going to an X-rated movie who will now go ahead and try out an NC-17 flick.

Even though a dirty movie by any other name is still a dirty movie.

Don't get me wrong. There's nothing wrong with a movie that is geared toward adults, tackling sensitive subjects in a mature, honest slowly panning away from way. But there's no reason them to a record on the phofor the explicit language, nograph, which keeps skipsexuality and violence that ping. And skipping. And skipdominates so many films today, particularly those of the X...er, excuse me, NCtively and creatively. And 17-rated variety. Not only everyone keeps their clothes does such voyeurism diminish us all morally and spiritually when we view it, but with art. Limitations, from the creatively it's a cop-out. Take romantic intimacy, for example. The easiest, least-creative way to make the dramatic point that a man and a woman are "in love" is with sex. You don't need clever dialogue or plot development, and the only real requirement for the actors is that they be uninhibited. Sure the camera angles can be tricky, but when you're doing NC-17 stuff and you really don't care what you show, where's the challenge?

By contrast, think back to the wedding night scene in Frank Capra's classic holiday film, "It's a Wonderful Life." Remember? Newlyweds James Stewart and Donna Reed were about to

But I didn't. No sir, I'm going to keep writing these novels - one each week. The way I see it, if Hollywood can get away with it, so can I.

INSECTS SEEK WINTER HOMES

Unusually warm days are confusing the insects as well as most people. When the cold weather arrives to stay most insects will be seeking places to spent the winter.

Most of the insects are just looking for a place to overwinter and are not establishing permanent residences. These insects will be a nuisance and most of them do

Staying active physically seems to help older people stay mentally active, too, researchers found in a study at ripps College in Claremont, California.

Recurrent peptic ulcers may be due to an infection of the stomach with Campylobacter, a common bacterium, the New England Journal of Medicine reports. New combination therapy pairs an antibiotic with bismuth.

New drug against migraine, widely tested in Europe, is now being tested in the United States. Sumatriptan, in pills or faster-acting injection, seems to have few side effects.

New infertility treatment uses surgical balloons to clear blocked fallopian tubes. Study at the University of Southem California reports success with the procedure.

New contact lenses are said to change eye color more subtly for a more natural look than earlier opaque lenses. The center of the lens is clear for good vision.

Contact lens wearers know they'll find the cleansers, lubricants and other eye-care products they need at Wal-Mart Pharmacy, Hwy. 80 East, Eastland, 629-3347. Happy Thanksgiving to all!

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

A closed hospital in Cisco has the people in the area running scared. For the first time in the memory of senior citizens, Cisco has no Emergency Room to turn to in time of disaster. And this when time has made the difference between death and life for many of our friends and perhaps a family member! Each minute saved under such circumstances increases the patient's chance of survival.

Moreover, people are distressed that our hospital is closed. Having to go out of town of town for hospital care is frightening to many. Care in a local hospital is more personal, more convenient, and less expensive in many. Care in a local hospital is more personal, more convenient, and less expensive in many ways. And access is assured! With the crisis in health care throughout the nation, overcrowded urban hospitals at times have to turn patients away for lack of rooms or Cisco can beat that! The same civic pride and determination which built E. L. Graham Memorial Hospital can surmount the difficulty reopening the hospital board has workable, plausible plan through Preferred Management Corporation which makes the 50 cent tax rate necessary to success.

If you support the hospital, vote AGAINST a tax roll-
