Fidel Castro arrives in New York

Castro arrives for U.N. address

'Happy to be in the U.S.,' says Cuban dictator

NEW YORK (AP) - With the familiar eigar tucked in his mouth, Cuban President Fidel Castro arrived in New York early today, tipped his military cap, and said: "I'm happy Castro was greeted by one of the tightest security nets ever woven for a dignitary visiting New York. He is here for an address to the United Nations on Friday.

The Cuban dictator, dressed in green fatigues, tipped his cap as he descended the stairs of his Russian-made Ilyushin-62 jet at Kennedy International Airport. "I'm happy to be in the U.S.," the 53-year-old leader was heard to, say as he was greeted by government and U.N. officials. It is Castro's first trip to the United States in The United States and Cuba do not have diplomatic relations, and Castro is officially visiting the United Nations, which is headquartered on international soil. An angry group of about 30 anti-Castro demonstrators shouted "Murderers! Murderers!" in Spanish as the Cuban leader's 42-car motorcade arrived at the Cuban Mission to the United Nations about 2 a.m. EDT. Castro will stay at the newly acquired mission less than a mile from U.N. headquarters on Manhattan's East Side during his two-day visit. More demonstrations were expected. Police said pro-Castro groups and anti-Castro groups - including those from the more than 90,000 Cuban-Americans who live in New Jersey — would be separated.

U.N. spokesman Rudolf Stajduhar said Castro, the president of the Non-Aligned Movement of 95 Third World Nations, on Friday would stand on the same United Nations podium he did in 1960 to address the 152-nation assembly for about 75 minutes.

Because of "genuine threats" against Castro and reports that teams of assassins were en route from Florida to New York, police set up a four-block, barricaded "frozen-zone" around the Cuban Mission.

Officials said Secret Service agents and the more than 2,000 policemen assigned to protect Castro were more tense over this visit than any by a foreign dignitary in recent memory, including last week's 29-hour stop by Pope John Paul II.

Secret Service agents with submachine guns concealed in their briefcases were scattered around the mission area, and residents or those doing business there were escorted to

Castro's entourage was said to include more than 200 aides and bodyguards. Officials said police boats would patrol the East River near the United Nations, bomb experts would rove with trained dogs, sharpshooters would man rooftops and all seven police city helicopters

The 2,000 policemen, operating under the code name "Marlin," were to be kept on "mobile reserve" in case Castro decided to change his quarters or visit other parts of

Leaders of anti-Castro groups predicted that an assassination would be attempted: "Everybody wishes to do that," said Dr. Hector Wiltz, who heads the Bloc of Cuban Organizations, an umbrella group representing more than 100,000 Cuban exiles in the metropolitan area.

'He has killed thousands and thousands of innocent people who have relatives here. They hate him so much, Wiltz said. .

On the 1960 visit, the communist leader, brash from having overthrown Fulgencio Batista 20 months earlier. created havoc when he moved his entire delegation from the Shelburne Hotel in mid-Manhattanoto the Hotel Theresa

A U.N. spokesman said Castro would meet with Secretary General Kurt Waldheim on Friday morning and then with General Assembly President Salim A. Salim.

After the scheduled 11: 30 a.m. address Friday, Castro is to have lunch with Waldheim, according to a spokesman. The United Nations will be closed to the public while

School trustees face the people to answer questions on bond issue

By SUSAN TOTH Staff Writer

Three Midland school trustees fielded questions ranging from "is this really necessary" to "what took you so long" at a sparsely attended League of Women Voters forum Wednesday night.

The trustees turned out to address a crowd of 12 on the $10.2 million school bond election scheduled Oct. 23.

After a brief summary of the ele ments in the all-or-nothing, one-vote bond package, trustees Parker Humes, Ed Runyan and Johnny Warren answered questions from the audience, all of them concerning the proposed expansion of Midland High

Responding to sharp criticism of the apparent emphasis on athletics and physical education at MHS in the bond package, Warren pitched for a "a well-rounded program in the high

"I think it's criminal if we're talking about equal educational opportunities in our high schools, to look at what we have here (at MHS) compared to what is at Lee.

'If we want to back up and have a downtown sidewalk high school, that's the voter's choice - but I'll move my kid across town," Warren contended.

Midland High School, on a 13-acre campus, has one playing field which serves all physical education classes, band and on-campus athletics needs. Some athletes are bused to Memorial Stadium for practice, but the stadium has no dressing facilities for girls' athletics, Warren pointed out.

Lee, on the other hand, is situated on a 40-acre campus, and has practice and playing fields with adequate dressing facilites for boys and girls.

The bond package includes $5.5 million to renovate the 50-year-old MHS building, add about 11 acres to the

"That backed us into building a new physical education facility. If you build that, you have to have room around it." Runvan said.

'But we started with the academic program at the high school, not the practice fields," he added.

Humes pointed out the bond proposal calls for a half-million dollars to remodel the gym into a learning center, $50,000 to renovate the science labs and another half-million for gen-"If we want to back up and have a downtown sidewalk high school, that's the voter's choice but I'll move my kid across town." - School

"We didn't start out to build a gym," Runyan answered to queries about the expense of the added playing fields and $2.4 million athletic

"We started out to bring this physical plant up to support the academic program.' The current MHS building has no study hall, an inadequate library and no place for students to work during free classes, Runyan claimed Wednesday night.

A study showed the current gym as the best place to put those facilities. since the gym itself is inadequate to handle all the newly required athletic eral classroom improvements at MHS in addition to the physical education facilities and added campus. Reminding Warren of a campaign promise to "make Midland High School one of the best schools in the state" five years ago, one questioner wanted to know "what took you so "I won't take the criticism or the praise for that," Warren answered. The bond package, he said, "is the result of a lot of long-range plan-

And improvements have been made at MHS during his tenure on the board, Warren said.

One questioner raised the issue of the American elm trees lining Illinois Avenue on the Hill property recently purchased by the school district.

The trees became a popular cause in 1976 when the city planned to cut them down to widen Illinois. The trees finally won a reprieve, causing a narrowing of the newly widened street for a one-block strip between E and F

Would the trees be cut if the baseball diamond planned for that corner is constructed?, the questioner want-

'We plan to leave the trees unless they're going to die anyway." Warren noted. "But I don't think that has a lot to do with our education system in

"I would hope someone would assess the needs and the facts, and look a little beyond the trees and into the forest where we have the real problems," he said.

Even if the bond election were to fail, Runyan added, "there is no way the status quo can be maintained. That neighborhood is going to

"Trees die, houses get old. The prices we're seeing in that neighborhood indicated the whole area is not residential anymore.

'Whether the schools buy it or not, it's going to change.

Also included in the bond issue are $1.3 million for renovation and land for Lee High School, $2.1 million for a new elementary school in the growing northwest portion of the city, $431,000 for vocational facilities and $844,600 for other capital improvements.

Fed member suggests slow effort for economic recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) - U.S. recovery from an expected recession should be purposely slow to avoid fueling inflation, says Henry C. Wallich, a member of the Federal Reserve Board.

Wallich, in a speech prepared for delivery today in New York City, said the nation no longer can shift rapidly between restraining inflation and avoiding a recession. A copy of the speech was released here.

"The traditional policy of leaning against whatever wind blows is no longer appropriate," he said. "The wind now seems to be blowing from all sides. Greater steadiness is need-

Wallich joined his six colleagues in voting unanimously last weekend to increase the board's lending rate from 11 percent to 12 percent and to alter dramatically the way it controls the availability of money and credit.

The moves, designed to slow down inflation and limit excessive credit, led to immediate surges in other short-term interest rates, including the prime rate banks charge their best customers. The prime rate is now 14.5 percent.

"The United States seems to be facing a moderate recession," Wallich said in his speech to the Investor Bond Conference. "In the interest of reducing inflation, the recovery certainly should not be hectic."

Wallich also warned that rapid expansion of the Euromarkets - money markets in Europe that deal in dollars - affects domestic monetary policy and needs to be watched very careful-

Odessans appeal school bond case

ODESSA-A citizens' group trying to overturn the 1978 Ector County school bond election will take its case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Notice of appeal was mailed Wednesday to the Texas Supreme Court, according to a spokesman for Gloria Svanas, attorney for the contestants.

The top Texas court recently upheld a lower court's finding against the citizens' group. The group is alleging illegal financial contributions by corporations and misrepresentation of need for the bond election project by

.. Rejection of the treaty by the Senate would be a grave disservice to the country," he said. "For rejection would furnish the Soviet Union with a propaganda trump card to play against us all over the world, and it would have the most unsettling effect on our alliances, especially NATO."

Church said his proposed understanding "will put squarely to the Soviet Union to decide which matters most, the SALT II treaty or a brigade of combat troops in Cuba. If it is the latter than we had best know it before committing ourselves to the treaty.

He said nothing in his proposal "requires that the Soviet government submit to humiliation, or even to acknowledge the existence of Russian combat forces in Cuba. Just as the brigade has been covertly configured and equipped to perform a combat role, so can it discreetly cease playing

While maintaining his insistence Harold Brown made a final plea for speedy ratification of the treaty Wednesday during a closed door session which brought the committee's long series of hearings on the treaty to review of American defense and fora virtual end

Since last July 10, the panel has heard from some 100 witnesses on the 2,000-page treaty.

Brown told reporters after the hearing the administration does not intend to buy votes for the treaty by increasing defense spending by 4 percent to 5 percent over the inflation rate as some senators demand.

But at the same time he said defense needs could cause a boost in military spending beyond the 3 percent real increase President Carter has promised. Before a final vote on SALT II, the Hudgins leased regular, above-ground homes around the lake for eight years. The last one burned down. Hudgins said he then dug his home out of the earth with a pick and shovel. He put in a makeshift fireplace.

Last June, government surveyors found that the bunker-home was on federal land, and told Hudgins he

Then the buildozer came and finished the job. "I'm not completely decided yet what I'm going to do," Hudgins said. "I'll just have to dig out another place somewhere else.

Mortgages currently average about 11.5 percent, the home loan bank board said.

Housing starts as recently as August were holding up under alreadyrising interest rates. They averaged about 1.74 million units on an annual basis, still far less than the 2 million starts of 1978, according to the National Association of Realtors.

Gravlee said starts next year could be as low as 1.5 million with the cost of construction loans to builders reaching 17 percent to 18 percent.

That increase in financing will boost the cost of building a typical home by about $1,000, he added.

A direct result of the housing construction slowdown will be higher unemployment. Gravlee predicts the layoff of about 500,000 workers in construction-related jobs.

U.S. would use nuclear weapons Europe as an extension of our own

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a speech reminiscent of the Cold War era, presidential adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski says the United States would not hesitate to use nuclear weapons against the Soviet Union in the event of a Soviet attack on Western Europe.

Brzezinski told a State Department gathering Wednesday that the Soviets may be tempted to declare war against the NATO allies unless they match the Soviet buildup of nuclear weapons in Europe. Brzezinski is President Carter's national security

His speech to the Atlantic Treaty Association, a private group that supports NATO, was given against a background of growing European concern over the reliability of the U.S. defense commitment

The Western European allies have been debating the issue in connection. with a U.S. proposal to deploy medium-range missiles in Europe to counter Soviet deployment of comparable weapons.

"Let there be no question about our commitment, nor of our determination to help defend Europe by all means necessary, nuclear and conventional," Brzezinski said.

'The United States commitment to the security of Europe is unshakable, it is organic, it is complete," he said. We view the security of Western security. European concerns about the U.S. commitment were heightened recently when former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger publicly questioned whether the NATO allies could continue to count on U.S. security Brzezinski said the alliance would be left at the mercy of the Soviets if it refused to match Moscow's "substantial and sustained" buildup of theater nuclear weapons, particularly the SS-20 mobile missile which is capable of reaching targets in Western Europe from Soviet launching sites.

"The true test of NATO's purpose lies with our allied parliaments and our publics," he said. "Are they willing to pay the political price required to avoid the infinitely more costly alternatives of intimidation at best and even war at worst?"

Brzezinski said the Soviets have been deploying one SS-20 every other day, a rate which he said was far beyond legitimate Soviet defense means. He described the SS-20 missile as an "enormous advance" over previous generations of missiles.

At the same time, he said, NATO has done "virtually nothing" to upgrade its own theater nuclear weap-far from heaven, so close to the United States!" never is forgotten for long in the republic which borders our own country

Our relationship has never been easy, and it is not easy today, especially from the Mexican viewpoint.

Octavio Paz, the brilliant Mexican poet and critic, expresses for his countrymen their feeling of exasperation with the United States in a recent issue of The New Yorker magazine.

"Our countries are neighbors, condemned to live alongside each other. They're separated, however, more by profound social, economic and psychic differences than by physical and political frontiers...We are two distinct versions of Western civilization."

It is the Mexican writer's belief that because of its history the United States has always ignored the "others," the minorities inside as well as the marginal countries and nations outside the United States. He also believes that kind of ignorance must give way. to knowledge and acceptance of group differences if American foreign policy is going to become more successful in the future.

The need to improve this nation's relationship with Mexico is very much on our minds because WASHINGTON - The nation's banks spend millions on advertising and free toasters to promote a friendly image — no mean assignment, with Pike's Peak interest rates.

Fortunately for the money men, they have a defender - and a free one at that - in the No. 2 spot at the Treasury Department. He is Deputy Secretary Robert Carswell.

The Treasury sleuths found that there certainly were. The Miami region's banks showed a suspicious cash surplus. Almost alone among the nation's banks, they regularly wound with a gigantic hoard of old currency to turn in for new greenbacks from the Treasury

The New York, Chicago and Detroit regions, by contrast, regularly required far more in new currency to do business than they had old bills to

The conclusion was unmistakable,

at least to the seasoned, suspicious professionals in the Treasury and the Drug Enforcement Administration: Organized crime - and particularly that part of it engaged in the drug trade - was withdrawing millions in eash from banks in the north and using it to buy narcotics smuggled in from Latin America. .

The cash paid to the narcotics smugglers was then deposited in Florida banks, which accounted for the - especially 20s and 100s - that these banks were turning in to the Treasurv. Since underworld payoffs are routinely made in cash, instead of easily traceable checks, organized erime was the most reasonable explanation for the Florida banks' huge cash surpluses.

Carswell, a quiet-spoken, bespectaled prototype of the Wall Street law yer he used to be, admitted as much to our associate Dale Van Atta. Asked about the unusual flow evidenced by the study, he said, "You and I know that it may very well be because of drugs," he said, but added that such a conclusion had no place in what was intended to be merely a "statistical"

Other sources were less sure of Carswell's motives, pointing out that he once had represented Citibank, one of the two largest banks in New York. These sources suspect that the bankers' image could stand a little downgrading - that some banks are fail-more impressive.

INSIDE REPORT:

MIAMI - The surprising amount of political power that President Carter has focused here to avoid defeat by Teddy Rennedy in the Oct. 13 caucuses belies the moribund state of his presidency.

"If Carter would only work Congress or the Russians over like he's working Florida, he would have less to worry about," one neutral observer awed by the sheer power of the Carter performance told us. There are reasons to spare for his doing so, even though the muscled drive for success here is raising eyebrows of politicians and voters dismayed by the string of Carter failures in other endeavors of his presidency.

Reason No. 1: A loss to Kennedy who's almost-candidacy could be damaged but not possibly destroyed by even a big Carter victory, would finish Carter off as a national leader. It would render the balance of his presidency all but superfluous, particularly in view of Carter's natural constituency in much of the state that borders Georgia.

That explains the phenomenal and seemingly effective - political engineering plotted by Hamilton Jordan in heading off Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. Jordan's work in the stretch drive to the non-binding but psychologically important Oct. 13 caucuses proves that in the game of elective politics, the flawed White House chief of staff is still very much in command.

By no means is a Carter victory positively assured in the obscenely confusing process that will select 879 delegates at 67 county caucuses Oct. 13. These, along with 838 non-elected delegates, will then choose their favorite for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination in a legally meaningless straw vote at the party's November mock convention. Next March, the legal Florida primary election will select the actual delegates to the party's New York convention next summer.

But the Oct. 13 caucuses ("a wild animal" in the words of Richard Swann, Carter's chief fund-raiser here) contain so much potential for Carter's political demise that he has galvanized his whole administration to help him. He has also commadeered 99 percent of the highly-effective state administration and political apparatus of popular Gov. Bob Graham, while pulling in money and workers from all over the country.

In the past few weeks, ousted Unitd Nations Ambassador Andrew Young personally telephoned three 43 percent of the elected delegates, black delegate-candidates on slates and his top managers — disenchanted committed to Kennedy. His stern message: Don't desert Jimmy Carter cut into the traditional, non-liberal now. Carter backers have been flown off to a full day of frilly "briefings" on world problems in the White House all expenses paid — to soften them up. A Kennedy leader in Jacksonville's Duval County told us that a contributo the Kennedy campaign asked to appoint him to a state commission.

What is unique is not such routine -political arm-twisting but its eye-popping volume. "What we really want, said one of Carter's chief political operatives here, "is not just to defeat Kennedy but to Schapp him.' Carter's spectacular ascent four vears ago started right here in Florida when he swept the party's mock convention. His only serious opponent was then-Gov. Milton Schapp of Pennsylvania. Carter swamped Schapp with 67 percent of the vote. The "Kennedy '80" leaders, stripped of any public help from the senator, will pull heavily in Carterhating Jewish precincts, particularly the three large counties of Dade (Miami), Broward (Ft. Lauderdale) and Palm Beach. That is Kennedy country. Capturing the caucuses in all three big counties would give him 1976 Carter activists — are trying to

They might conceivably do that, in political process that defies accu-Scores of Carter and potential rate forecasting, they might even do better. If they do not, Carter will have proved that even a president flattened by political reverses in Washington can still focus the awesome power of his office to score a local victory. Such. a triumph would portend little if anything for the serious Kennedy conbe relieved of his $1,000 pledge on tests next winter, nor would it visibly grounds that Graham was about to delevate the benighted presidency of Jimmy Carter.

Massachusetts town meeting votes to raise taxes

Funds will pay for firefighter's heart transplant

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (AP) - The governing body of this city of 70,000 has decided to raise taxes so Framingham can provide $60,000 to a sick, retired firefighter who needs a life-saving heart transplant.

After a 45-minute town meeting debate Wednesday night, members lifted their hands and voted 104-13 to approve the appropriation for Frederic Kelley, a 39-year-old father of five.

The vote showed the people of Framingham have a heart," said John DelPrete, chairman of the Framingham Board of Selectmen, whose decisions are ratified by the 210-member town meeting.

Doctors had given Kelley six months to a year to live without the operation. He had suffered two heart attacks on the job since July 1978 and retired on disability last month

"It's over finally," said Kelley, who stayed home from the debate because physicians feared the tension might bring on another heart attack. "It was a long wait but it was worth it. It's the biggest thing that ever happened in Kelley's wife, Evelyn, 38, and daughter Kathy, 20, silently watched the debate in the Framingham Memorial Hall. Mrs. Kelley trembled as the vote was taken, and when it was over, cried out in relief, embraced her daughter and wept.

"I can't say anything," she said. "I just want to call my husband and tell

Although most speakers favored giving Kelley the money, the town meeting members had demanded a debate to discuss setting a precedent for other municipal employees with extraordinary medical expenses

"I am wondering what floodgates we are opening up here," said Jay Gordon, who voted in favor of the appropriation. "Once we vote this, there are bound to be other requests.'

'If he dies in the line of duty, his survivors get $4,000," said an opponent, Earl Wadsworth, referring to the town's compensation agreement for police and firefighters. "Why should we treat this gentleman dif-

'It's a moral obligation for the people of Framingham...to pay this

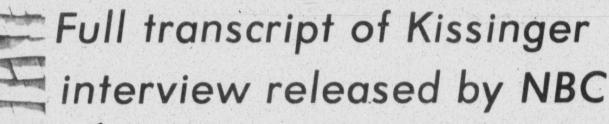

The appropriation will increase local property taxes 10 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation, officials said. Framingham's town meeting, a limited version of the 200-year-old form of government still popular in many Massachusetts communities, had previously agreed unofficially to pay the money, but Wednesday night's formal vote was required.

When the seriousness of Kelley's condition was diagnosed, doctors at Stanford University Medical School in Palo Alto, Calif., agreed to perform the transplant. But Kelley must still undergo tests to determine if he can withstand the procedure. Kelley asked the town for help when Massachusetts Blue Cross-Blue Shield refused to pay for the surgery because it considers heart transplants experimental.

Under state law, communities may — but are not required to — pay for the medical bills of firefighters and police who suffer job-related disabilities, town officials said. Kelley now awaits a match with a heart suitable for transplant. "They

Tough questions coming,

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Prosecutors say the toughest questions are yet to come for Cullen Davis, who has spent three days on the witness stand proclaiming he is innocent of murder conspiracy

Prosecutor Jack Strickland, who began questioning Davis on Wednesday, said his most important questions would concern tape recordings of meetings between Davis and informant David McCrory and Davis' activities during the four days before his arrest Aug. 20, 1978.

That's really the guts of the case - where our hardest questions will come. I think that's where the defendant is most vulnerable," Strickland said.

Defense attorney Richard Haynes ended three days of questioning Davis on Wednesday. In Strickland's opening round of questioning, he asked the wealthy 46-year-old industrialist if he discussed killings on meetings with McCrory Aug. 18 and 20 in

Squatters expelled from grove

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli troops today expelled about 30 rightwing Jewish squatters from an Arabowned olive grove beside their settlement on the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River, the Israeli state

The radio said the squatters, from. the Kedummim settlement 25 miles north of Jerusalem, left the grove peacefully, but promised more land seizures to push their demand that the government expropriate up to 50,000 acres to expand controversial Jewish settlements on the West Bank.

The squatters, members of the ultranationalist Gush Emunim or Bloc of the Faithful, put up makeshift cinderblock shelters in the Grove Tues day night.

Their demonstration was seen as a challenge to Prime Minister Menachem Begin's fragile coalition government, which is deeply split over Gush Emunim demands that the West Bank settlements be expanded.

"If the government falls, I will sleep very well," Gush Emunim spokesman Elyakim Heatzani said in a radio interview Wednesday.

Gush Emunim hopes expanded Jewish settlement in the West bank will foil plans to give Palestinians home rule over the region, which it sees as part of the biblical land of

The demonstration was the third in two weeks. Last week, Gush Emunim settlers from two other settlements tried to take over neighboring fields, but returned to their enclaves when the army threatened to remove them by force

Both the United States and Egypt have criticized Jewish settlements on the West Bank, calling them obstacles

In Cairo, President Anwar Sadat expressed hope that Egyptian and Israel negotiators will be able to reach agreement.

The uprising began after one Ata died and another was tortured, apparently by government soldiers fighting the Maoist New People's Army, a leftist organization active in the area. A joint civilian-military panel reportedly began investigating the incident last month, but has not yet disclosed its findings.

Otang announced the latest fighting Wednesday in an interview with a local radio station, and said his figures came from police at Pakibato, a village in 37 miles from here in the middle of the Ata homeland.

Otang refused to give further interviews after he was summoned to military headquarters following the radio interview, and police at Pakibato refused to discuss the situation with reporters.

Davao City Mayor Luis Santos led a delegation which met with Ata tribesmen Monday, but military sources said they did not make contact with the leader of the uprising.

The tribesmen, many of whom were converted to Christianity by Roman Catholic missionaries, are known as fierce fighters.

Midland fireman Capt. Corbie D. Friday, left, receives the Firefighter of the Year Award for 1979 from Ray Gwyn, president of the Downtown Lions Club, at the club's luncheon meeting Wednesday. Friday, a Midland High School graduate and State Certified Firefighter who served with the Midland department for 33 years, retired earlier this year. (Staff Photo)

Corbie Friday selected 'Fireman of the Year'

The Downtown Lions Club recognized its "Fireman of the Year" and heard a talk on "Today's Arson Problem," as it marked the observance of Fire Prevention Week at its Wednesday noon meeting in the Midland

Capt. Corbie D. Friday, a veteran of 33 years with the Midland Fire Department, was inroduced as "Firefighter of the Year." He received a plaque and a check for $100, awarded by the club and presented by Ray Gwyn, president.

Jerry Petree, assistant fire marshal, discussed the arson problem in an informative address. He defined arson as the malicious burning of property. He mentioned various reasons for such action, and said that regardless of reason, "you and I suffer the burden of loss in multiple ways.

"Arson is the fastest-growing crime in America today," Petree said, explaining that arson is responsible for 40 percent of the nation's building fires.

"It is increasing at a rate of 20 to 25 percent annually," the speaker said. "It has increased 325 percent over the past 10 years.

"Arson is a serious crime, yet it is one of the hardest crimes to solve," ne continued.

He said that "fire for hire" is a profitable business for the "profess-onal" arsonist. He also cited numerous ways in which the arsonists work.

Petree mentioned that an increase in automobile arson has been noted in recent months, adding that 90 percent of all care fire "are set."

He said all of this has resulted in increased arson investigation nationwide, using improved methods of detection. He said that since last Sept.

1, Texas laws have become more favorable for prosecuting the arson-

Friday, one of the club's "Firefighters of the Month" from whom the "Firefighter of the Year" was selected, served as a volunteer fireman for five years prior to serving the city's organized fire department for 28 years. He retired from active service earlier this summer.

The 53-year-old fireman is a native of Canton, Texas, but has resided in Midland since he was 6 years old. He and Mrs. Friday, who reside on Star Route A, have a son and a daughter.

He was graduated from Midland High School and attended Midland

College for two years, taking fire related courses. He has attended the Texas A&M Fireman's Training School. He is a Certified Firefighter and a State Certified Class "B" instructor.

Friday has been a first aid instructor for the American Red Cross for 25 years and has been active as a leader in Boy Scout and Cub Scout activities. He is a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge and is affiliated with the North Main Street Church of Christ.

Named Junior Lioness of the week is Shelley Paxton, 17, daughter of Bob Paxton. The Midland High School senior maintains a 4.3 grade average and is captain of the Packbackers, corresponding secretary of Student Council and a member of French Club, National Honor Society, Junior Council, track and junior varsity volleyball teams. She was junior class president, sophomore class secretary and was an exchange student in Greece.

Practice assault on Cuba put off

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — Bad weather and other problems delayed the deployment of 1,800 Marines bound for a mock assault on Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, but a Camp Lejeune spokesman said they would be under way this afternoon.

The exercise, ordered by President Carter last week as a show of United States military muscle in the face of Soviet troops stationed in Euba, was dubbed "Operation Reinforce."

But several setbacks cropped up along the way. The three ships for the expedition were assigned on Oct. 2, but they arrived Tuesday at Morehead City—one week late. It had taken four days to load food and one ship arrived without the required combat supplies.

Bad weather created high seas Wednesday, making it tough for pilots to land crafts used to ferry soldiers and equipment to the ships.

The unit was scheduled to move into the Atlantic late Wednesday night for the trip to Cuba, but officials said the loading of ships continued past midnight.

"This was a complete surprise to us," said Navy Commander Bill Shannon, in charge of supplies on the USS Nassau, one of the three ships. "It took us four days to load the food."

He said food was loaded from barxes at sea near Norfelk. Usually, he said, it is loaded from a dock, where it can be driven aboard by tractors, a quicker process.

The actual date of the mock attack is being kept a secret, according to Col. Lou Piantadofi, commander of the operation. The Marines began moving equipment into Morehead City from Camp Lejeune, Tuesday night and troops from Camp Lejeune, the New River Air Station and Cherry Point arrived by bus on Wednesday.

The Marine unit is made up of 1,200 combatequipped personnel, a 300-member logistics support unit and a 300-member helicopter squad.

It was equipped with five tanks, 15 halftracks, a battery of 105mm howitzers, eight antitank guns, eight 81mm mortars, 35 heavy machine guns and 26 helicopters. It carried 40 tons of live ammunition, said by officials to be enough to last three to five days under battle conditions.

Military officials said the exercise is no different in size or in routine than other regular deployments.

Youth center pair reinstated by board

ODESSA — The Ector County Juvenile Board today voted to reinstate two employees of the county youth detention center accused of abuse of office. The meeting this morning was in County Court at Law Judge Phillip Godwin's office.

The decision was made after "a thorough investigation including polygraph tests of both employees." Godwin said today.

Both employees passed the polygraph tests. Godwin said, but the board voted not to release the contents of any reports on the investigation.

District Attorney's Investigator Jerry Davis had conducted a two-week investigation of allegations that the two employees, a man and a woman, were involved in two separate incidents with teen-agers in the detention center.

The two were suspended without pay when the allegations were made public, but will be reinstated with full pay retroactive to their suspension date after today's decision, Godwin said.

Other members of the juvenile board include County Judge Gary Watkins, 244th District Judge Joe Connally, 161st District Judge R.L. McKim and 70th District Judge Gene Ater.

Arson suspected in Pizza Hut fire

Arson may have been the cause of a fire early today at Pizza Hut, 427 Andrews Highway, fire officials said.

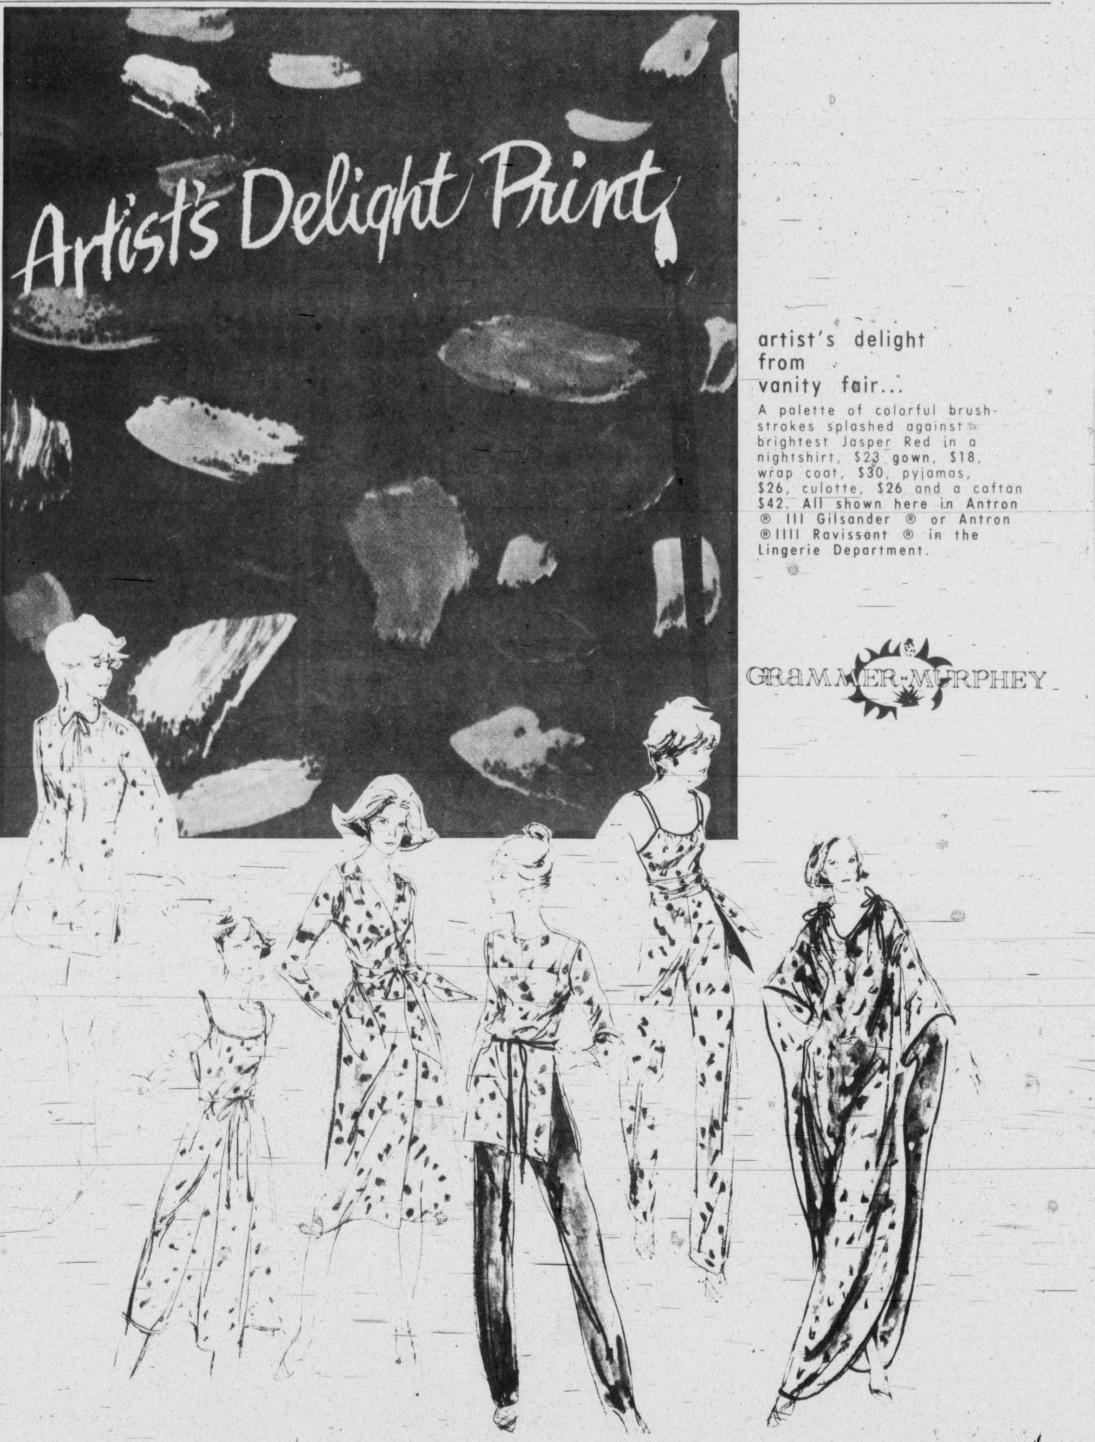

"At this point in our investigation the fire seems to have been set," Fire Marshal Herbert L. Bloomer said early today.

The attic, rear door and wall of the business were damaged by the fire about 3 a.m. today, according to a fire department report.

The interior of the building was damaged by smoke, the report added.

Six firefighters were at the scene of the fire until 4:29 a.m., officials said.

Good smoked bacon can be mail-ordered

By MERLE ELLIS

There's a saying in the southeast part of this country that goes: "If you die and go to Heaven from this part of the world, you have to pass through Atlanta." It stems from the fact that airline routes to and from most of the cities in the southeast do, indeed, pass through Atlanta.

I was on one of those flights not long ago. As I passed through the airport on my six-mile trek from one gate to another, as I journeyed from Eastern over the Delta, across the National and on to points Western, I was strengthened, refreshed, revived (as were, I'm sure, our forefathers as they crossed the plains on their way to the Golden Gate) by the strong aroma of good smoked bacon. I thought for a second I had died and gone to Heav-

THERE, IN THE MIDDLE of the Atlanta airport, like a trading post in the middle of the prairie, was a stand selling provisions

Hams and bacon hung from the rafters, filling the corridor with a pleasant aroma reminiscent of breakfast cooking in Grandma's kitchen. Jellies, jams and preserves, along with sacks of popcorn and grits, lined the shelves like a farmhouse pantry. It was all more than my nostalgic nature would let me pass by, even if it meant missing my plane.

I BOUGHT A five-pound slab of Callaway Gardens bacon and have, for weeks now, been treating myself to a couple or three rashers every day or two. This is bacon as bacon ought to be. Bacon as far removed from the mild, thin-sliced, watered-down, insipid stuff we find in most supermarkets as Atlanta is from Heaven. Even if it is on the way, that's quite a

Hawaiian-style vegetables with pineapple a big find

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

DEAR CECILY: Because it's expensive to keep our two children at colleges away from home, I keep a watchful eye on my husband's and my household budget. He appreciates this, but amusingly enough he can't resist bringing home foods that I consider extravagant. These come from 'gourmet' shops or he discovers them in supermarkets.

His latest "find" was a package of frozen Hawaiian-style vegetables with pineapple in a sauce. We both liked the combination so much that I want to make it at home. I suspect I'd be saving only pennies, but I'd enjoy duplicating - and improving - it. Do you have a copycat recipe for it? -I-LOVE-TO-COOK.

DEAR I-LOVE-TO-COOK: I love your request because I hadn't thought of copycatting that Hawaiian-style food. I think you'll like the recipe that evolved. You're right in assuming that the homemade version doesn't save much money, but it has other virtues. For one thing, although many frozen foods are fine, nothing tastes better than fresh vegetables served as soon as they are cooked. In addition, our sauce is thinner than the original - and that's all to the good.

country cured bacon. Callaway Gardens will ship a slab anywhere in the country; so will a lot of companies. Following is a list of companies around the country that provide good country cured bacon by mail order.

Their products are not inexpensive as a matter of fact, you could probably build your own smokehouse for the price of some - but they are good. Some I have tried myself and enjoyed, others have been recommended to me over the years by readers. Most of these companies also produce products other than bacon; country hams, sausages and smoked meats of one kind or another, all of which make good eating and great gifts. ## What's cooking for Sunday brunch?

AP Food Editor

In many households nowadays, the big old-time Sunday noontime dinner is a thing of the past. Sunday cooking is limited to the late breakfast called "brunch" and guests may be invit-

As mainstay of the brunch menu, eggs are usually included. They may be used in the filling for a quiche or in a cheese souffle. Or they may be poached and used for Eggs Benedict. Or shirred and served with mushrooms or chicken livers or both. Or scrambled and offered with bacon, ham or sausage.

For some time we've been on the lookout for a new and interesting brunch accompaniment for simply made scrambled eggs. And now we've found it. It's a casserole, easily put together, calling for sausage, sweet potatoes, apples and apple cider. Great to serve with the eggs and cornbread or biscuits. There are some good juices at the bottom of the casserole that mop up well with the hot

Light snow continued to dust parts of northern New England today and fall flurries were expected in upper Michigan.
Isolated thundershowers fell in west-central Florida with widely scattered rain in parts of Virginia, western North Carolina and the lower Great Lakes.

Light rain was reported from Wisconsin across sections of Illinois, northern and eastern Missouri, eastern North Dakota and northeastern South Dakota. Skies were clear or partly cloudy over most of the rest of the nation. Wednesday's early snowfall in the East dumped as much as 13 inches of snow in portions of Virginia, where apple growers were checking today for crop damage.

Electricity was out in parts of several states as tree limbs made heavy by the snow fell on power lines. Slush up to 4 inches deep in Washington, D.C., made driving hazardous.

Temperatures were chilly across the northern United States this morning with readings in the 30s from Minnesota across to the North and Middle Atlantic states.

Early morning temperatures around the nation ranged from 26 at Alpena, Mich., and Montpelier, Vt., to 81 at Key West, Fla.

ARANYAPRATHET, Thailand (AP) — A man who says he is a cousin of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the former Cambodian chief of state, is a leader of the new National Movement for the Liberation of Cambodia, a band of refugees who dream of driving both the remnants of the Communist Pol Pot regime and the Vietnamese out of their homeland.

Vietnam and Cambodia.

The four groups total several thousand armed men and women and have attracted large numbers of civilian refugees. But they appear to have no chance of defeating Pol Pot, whose Khmer Rouge guerrillas took over Cambodia in 1975, or the Vietnamese invaders who installed a pro-Vietnamese government in Phnom Penh early this year and now are beginning a new offensive to try to wipe out Pol Pot's holdouts.

Soriavong is vice president and premier of the Liberation Movement, which on its flag shows a mythological figure gobbling up a red Communist sun above the motto "Nation - Religion - Liberty.

Twenty-three of the movement's commandos, including a girl in pigtails, lined up at attention when the visiting reporters passed into their territory in a disputed area along the 500-mile Thai-Cambodian frontier. They were armed with U.S.-made M-16 and Soviet-made AK-47 rifles and wore an assortment of jungle fatigues, street pants and T-shirts.

Soriavong, who speaks fluent French and was educated in Paris and Lyon, walked barefoot through the mud and rainpools. Some of the people he introduced as his cabinet ministers were barely out of their teens.

Their camp was a collection of flimsy thatch shelters housing about 20, 000 people. All were described as survivors of Pol Pot's Cambodia.

The Liberation Movement has about 1,500 soldiers, Thai officers say, but not all are armed and most had been rice farmers. About 150 young women, many of them widows according to camp guides, were going through drills in the rice fields but none had weapons. At one point during the tour, Soriavong picked up a sharpened bamboo stake and shouted, "We'll fight and destroy the Vietnamese with this if we

"The Khmer Serei simply don't have the means to win," said one Thai military commander, "but Cambodians appear to be fed up with everything in their country. They are grasping at alternatives.

Artillery units moving closer to the Thai-Cambodia border

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - Viet- the artillery movements were in prepnamese artillery units were reported moving closer to the Thai-Cambodian border today in preparation for a drive against the remaining forces of ousted Premier Pol Pot.

Thai military sources said the Vietnamese artillery has been moving in recent days from the area of Sisophon, about 35 miles from the frontier, to within striking range of Pol-Pot areas in the Malai Hills.

The sources said the Pol Pot troops were digging defenses and there were unconfirmed reports that the Vietnamese had used air drops to resupply Poipet, opposite the key Thai frontier town of Aranyaprathet.

The region to the south of Poinet was reported still flooded by monsoon rains and the sources speculated that aration for ground attacks once the ground firmed up.

They also said the Pol Pot side was using bamboo rafts to move supplies through flooded areas and spreading out into smaller guerrilla units in the Malai region.

On Wednesday, a Vietnamese artillery and mortar barrage drove an estimated 15,000 Cambodians into Thailand. The Bangkok command said 10,000 women and children among them were given temporary sanctuary but that the 5,000 Pol Pot soldiers in the horde were being pushed back across the border.

Vietnam invaded Cambodia Dec. 25, toppled Pol Pot-and installed a pro-Hanoi rgime two weeks later.

Impact of pope's visit to be felt for years

By ROGER SOUTHALL Staff Writer

Pope John Paul's American visit is now history, but the influence of that visit will remain for long years to come, local Catholic pastors believe.

The Rev. Cliff Blackburn, pastor of St. Ann's Church in Midland, said: 'My feeling, and that of practically everyone I have met, regardless of religious affiliation, has been one of deep appreciation and respect, for many reasons - his outspoken defense of human rights, his forthright stance against abortion and inviolability of human life in all stages, the exercise of his great charisma as leader and lover of people, his endearing charm with children, his staunch defense of clerical celibacy and, what is almost unbelievable, his seemingly endless energy and his drive to be with and among all peo-

"Pope John Paul II has taken a place in the hearts of all people, alongside Pope John XXIII. He has done much in the short space of a year, and one week in the United States, to bring men of all faiths

"He has shown himself already to be exactly what the cardinals wished when they elected him, a pastoral pope, one whose mission is worldwide and not confined to the Vatican, a man who is keeping his promise of 'taking God's message everywhere."

"I was disappointed at the outburst of Sister Theresa Kane, speaking for a small minority of American Catholics, in her insistent plea for the ordination of women

"It was neither the time nor the place for such an issue, but John Paul did well in not deviating from his text. I do not know how many Catholic sisters she was speaking for, but it was evident from the few who stood to support her, that her feelings were not shared by many

"This advocacy for the ordination of women is more strongly felt in the U.S., and is, I believe, more an American concern than it is a universal concern," Blackburn declared.

The Rev. Charles J. Hassenauer, pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church, said of the pope's American visit: "I think it was a very beautiful occasion for Catholics and others in the United States to receive inspiration during a time when we see so much unrest, so much corruption in the world. At a time when the world problems are almost insurmountable for humans to try to overcome, I feel that the pope has given us all inspiration and new hope that we can trust God to lead us.

"Imother words, what it has given most of us is a vision of hope," he

As for the the controversial issue of the ordination of women, Hassenauer said: "I think there is a definite place for women in the life of the churchfor example, in areas where there is a shortage of priests, as in South

"In such areas, women can fill many duties, such as serving as chaplains in hospitals where they can do everything except hear confessions. And of course women can be teachers and can carry on many associate pastor duties," he pointed out.

TVA to wait until fall harvest before closing Tellico Dam gates

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - The Tennessee Valley Authority says it will probably wait until after fall crops are harvested before closing the gates of its Tellico Dam to flood 2,500 acres leased to farmers.

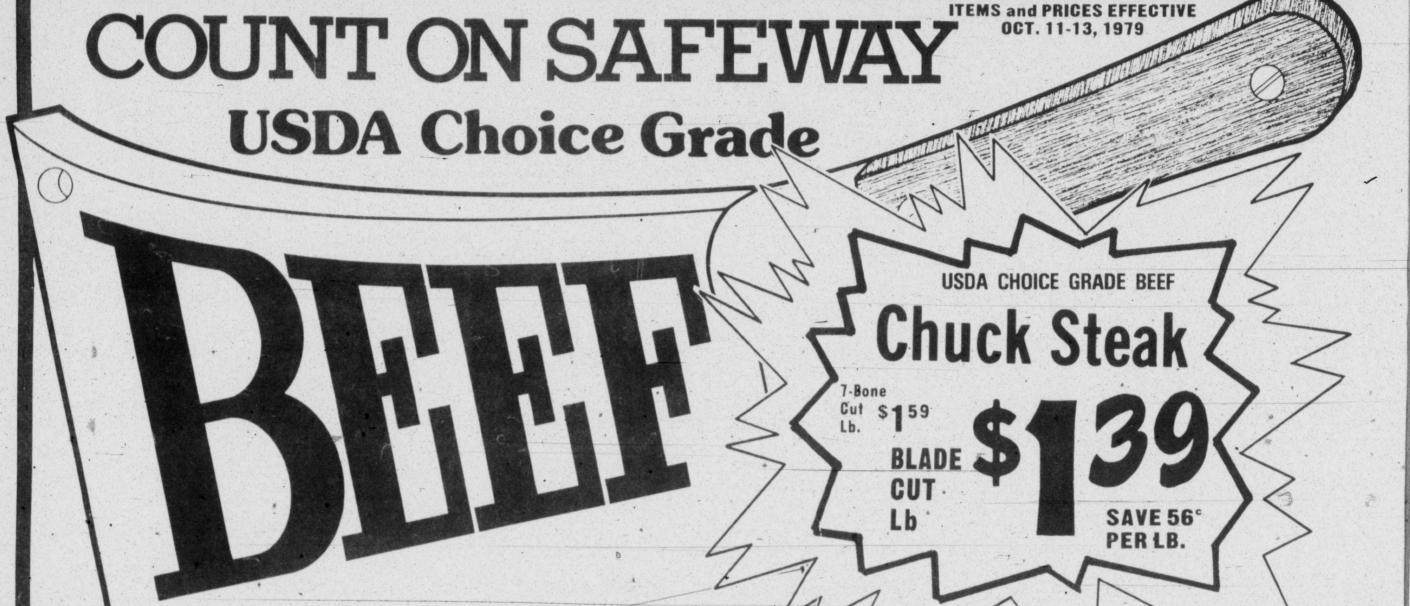

TVA Chairman S. David Freeman said weather conditions will play a role in how fast new archaeological studies can be completed before the gates are closed to turn the Little Tennessee River into a 16,000-acre

'We are under a mandate from Congress to go ahead with the project," Freeman said Wednesday, "but we'll do all we reasonably can to let farmers get these crops in and to obtain key archaeological information before filling of the lake begins.'

TVA has been leasing cropland in the reservoir area back to farmers who were moved off their land while the project has been in doubt the past three years because of its threat to the snail darter. Louis Gwin, a TVA spokesman, said the 2,500 acres were leased to farmers this year before Congress and President Carter exempted the dam from the Endangered Species Act. The $130 million dam was 95 percent finished when a court halted construction in January 1977 with a ruling that the lake would illegally destroy the river home of the snail darter, a rare 3-inch fish.

Attorney claims Chagra was killed in drug dispute

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Lawyer Lee Chagra was killed after he pulled a gun during a drug deal gone sour, the attorney for capital murder defendant David Leon Wallace argued in Wednesday's opening day of the Attorney Michael Gibson began Wallace's defense after the state rested its case in the fifth hour of the trial after calling only three witnesses.

The state, seeking the death penalty for the 20-year-old soldier, introduced a statement in which Wallace said Chagra was shot to death last Dec. 23 while he and another soldier were robbing him in his plush, securitytight office in downtown El Paso.

But Gibson disputed that Wednesday, saying Wallace signed the statement only after he was shown a similar statement signed by the other soldier, Donald White. Gibson said Wallace believed he would be in "dire danger" if he mentioned narcotics in the statement.

If Gibson convinces the jury Chagra was killed during a dispute over cocaine, he could argue that his death was not capital murder.

Opening day witnesses said Chagra used cocaine, gambled heavily and was afraid of being "set up by Drug Enforcement Administration agents." Witnesses also testified Chagra had about $200,000 in his office the day before he was shot.

Prosecutors contend Wallace and Donald White — both stationed at the Fort Bliss Army installation in El Paso — shot him during a robbery. White has pleaded guilty in the case and awaits sentencing. A third man, Louis Esper, has been convicted of conspiracy in masterminding the rob-

After prosecutor Gary Weiser rested the state's case, Gibson told jurors he would attempt to show the shooting occurred after Chagra pulled a .38-caliber pistol during a deal involving 10 pounds of cocaine.

Gibson said White "had a falling out with Chagra over $150,000 or $200,000 and Chagra pulled a pistol and was

Gibson called Sandy Messer, Chagra's secretary and bookkeeper, to the stand, and she testified her boss used cocaine two or three times a day and kept the drug in his desk. But she said she thought it impossible Chagra would have 10 pounds of cocaine at the office

The attractive blonde said Chagra won $50,000 gambling one day. She said he was "paranoid" about the possibility of federal drug agents setting him up. Chagra defended many drug-related cases.

Ms. Messer said she saw about $200,000 in $100 bills in a bag in Chagra's office bathroom the day before the slaying.

Wallace, wearing a long-sleeved white shirt and tie, kept religious pamphlets on the table in front of him and occasionally shook his head in disagreement with prosecution testi-

Prosecutors arranged their case around a statement Wallace signed after his arrest last March in Compton, Calif.

Ms. Messer's testimony indicated that it would be "strange" for Chagra to open up to strangers without appointments.

In the statement, Wallace said he and White used the ruse of having Chagra draw up a will in order to gain entrance to his office on the Saturday he was killed.

Wallace's statement said he and White told Chagra: "Freeze! We don't want to hurt you. We just want

In the statement, Wallace added: "He (Chagra) kept bringing his hands down and White shot him

Wallace said he and White removed the dead man's boots looking for money, but found it in a brown case and spread the money on a bed in the offices. He said he and White took about $20,000 each and gave the remainder to Esper. Gibson, arguing that a 10-pound bag of cocaine was removed from Chagra's office and placed in Chagra's car, called detective George Drennan to the stand Drennan testified that Chagra's brother, Joe, removed the late model Lincoln Continental from the parking lot for about 45 minutes during the initial hours of the investigation. At the request of police, Chagra's brother returned the car and a bag containing legal papers Drennan said.

Bruised Rebs cross fingers on San Angelo invasion Friday

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Sports Writer

SECTION C

SAN ANGELO - Midland Lee's high rolling and undefeated football express will make its next District 5-4A pit stop at 8 p.m. here in San Angelo Stadium Friday, hoping to survive a week of further injuries to some vital cogs and the pesky, but here-to-fore luckless, Bobcats.

This is supposed to be one of those "breather" weeks in the murderous 5-4A championship run, but the Lee Rebels are taking more than one deep breath for this one.

First of all, the Rebels have to guard against looking ahead since they face Abilene Cooper in a Homecoming game next week at Memorial Stadium. After all, Cooper is No. 1 in the world while San Angelo has been relagated to the role of an also ran with its 1-3 record. Everyone also knows that no 5-4A championship is going to be won without beating Coo-Lest one forgets, no one is going to win a 5-4A title without beating San Angelo.

Secondly, the Rebels are entering this contest with a disturbing amount of injuries, especially in the linebacking corps. And the way the Rebs play defense, that hurts. Defense had been the bread and butter in 1979.

'We are really hurting for linebackers," an anxious Lee coach Gil Bartosh says. "James McGarritty, David Cornelius, Mark Thompson and Clyde Smith are all nursing injuries and all are linebackers. We are getting a little thin there right now. We need to get some people well in a mainstays of the Lee defense, has a pinched nerve in his neck. Sophomore Terry Thompson will move in to replace McGarritty while Scott Collinsand Craig Ellis will be at the other linebacker positions. Collins will also have to play fullback some, and that puts more drain on the defense. Also out with injuries are guard Keith Brown and defensive end Bill Dern.

Brown is a two-way starter. Although San Angelo has won only one game this year and has team statistics to prove it, Bartosh says that San Angelo isn't all that bad. "During the off week, San Angelo changed their offense from the Houston Veer to a split-T with a split end. I think they want to take advantage of the speed of their fine running backs Glenn Payne and Doug DeWitt with a power offense instead of the option

"They should execute their new offense better this week since they now have a game under their belts. Since they did change offenses, it left us a little unaware. We're not totally sure they will stick with it or use the veer

Payne, a class runner in any league, is explosive, but has only 166 yards rushing in 63 carries this season. DeWitt has only 99 yards in 27 carries. San Angelo hasn't thrown the ball well either this year. Sophomore quarterback Kel Crain has completed only eight of 27 passes for 76-yards. This could explain why the Bobcats have opted for a new offense.

First year San Angelo coach Jimmie Keeling thinks the Rebels will be a very tough opponent for his Bob-"They (Lee) are undefeated. That should tell you something right off the bat. They have been doing, something right," Keeling says. "Lee is physically strong and they have a good program. We just aren't as physically strong as they are.'

Keeling is also impressed with Lee quarterback Gary Butler. "The quarterback (Butler) does a good job. He throws the ball very well and he runs good. He just doesn't make many mistakes.

Butler, although he hasn't thrown the ball an exceptional amount this year, has completed 20 of 33 passes for 312 yards. And when he does throw, he has hurt Lee's opponents. He has hit for three touchdowns (two to Wade Cartwright and another to Larry Linne) and has been intercepted only twice. He has also rushed for 100 yards this year.

Tailback Steve Waldron leads the Lee rushing attack this year with 273 yards on 61 totes, but the Lee offense suffers some when fullback Thompson is out. Thompson has rushed for 185 yards, but his thigh injury has kept him out of a lot of action. Fortunately, Collins and Rodney Hemphill have been solid at the fullback posi-

Lee will be playing to win this one, but they would probably rather have the week off to get everyone healthy. The Rebs are 4-0 on the year, but they just can't take too many more in-

Stubborn Flanagan holds off Bucs for Birds

By THOMAS BOSWELL

The Washington Post

BALTIMORE - Mike Flanagan of the Baltimore Orioles pitched one of the most courageous games in World Series history, beating the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-4, on an 11-hitter in the first game of this 76th classic here Wednesday night before 53,735 in Memorial Flanagan got the final out at four minutes before midnight by getting Pirate captain Willie Stargell, who had homered off him earlier, to pop up with Dave Parker on third base.

Flanagan, who threw 138 pitches, 100 of them strikes, allowed a one-out single to Parker in the ninth -Parker's fourth hit of the game. Flanagan then picked the Pirate giant off first, only to see him barrel into fragile Mark Belanger at second base and knock the ball free. The Orioles' 23game winner then got cleanup man Bill Robinson to ground out before

Stargell's final pop The Orioles scored all their runs on this frigid night with temperatures in the mid 30s in the first inning with a five-run outburst against starter

It was the largest scoring total in the first inning of any Series opener in history. Two Pirate errors helped the uprising. And that was all the Birds got, as four Buc relievers got the last 26 Baltimore outs without allowing a run, after a two-run Doug DeCinces homer finished the Baltimore scoring fifth, sixth, eighth and ninth.

The southpaw, whose 23 wins led the majors, got next to no support from his defense as DeCinces made two errors, good for two unearned Pirate runs in the sixth.

Each team made three errors and played like escapees from a meat locker on this brutally cold and numbing night. The only warm man in the joint was Flanagan, who stranded 10 Bucs and was swept off the field by his jubilant mates.

Of all Series sins, walking .167-hitter Mark Belanger must rank high. So Pittsburgh starter Bruce Kison did it; on four pitches.

Then, Kison dug his own grave. Ken Singleton snapped a perfect double-play ball back to the mound on one long 30-foot hop. Kison dropped, chased it to the flatlands in front of the mound and got only Singleton at first. One out squandered.

Nibbling, Kison walked Eddie Murray to load the bases, perhaps not an unwise move since Murray hit .417 in the AL playoffs. Then came the inning-changing, and perhaps game-ehanging, play. Gimpy John Lowenstein, the perfect man to double up with his still-swollen ankle, dribbled another DP grounder to second baseman Phile Garner. How many breaks could the Bucs request? Garner grabbed the ball, then developed a case of either frozen fingers or series paralysis. He bobbled the ball, grabbed it again, then flipped it so far to Tim Foli's left that the shortstop didn't even lunge for it. As what might have been the inningending ball rolled to left, two runs scored. And two more gift outs had been given the hosts.

AS THOUGH trying to hand some thing back, Lowenstein went midly berserk rounding first, getting himself trapped between sacks for no apparent reason. Foli, however, dropped the throw in from the outfield, Lowenstein dove back to first and another out had been wasted.

If Kison was totally unhinged by those doings, he certainly showed it. First, he wild-pitched home Murray from third for a 3-0 Oriole lead on a ball that rookie catcher Steve Nicosia should have blocked, but didn't.

Finally, Kison threw that unenviable cripple - the fast ball down the pipe with the batter swinging from DeCinces seldom will hit a ball farther than his two run blast that landed at least 25 rows up in the left field bleachers, fair by about 15 yards. Had the air not been so chill and dead Wednesday night, with no ball traveling well, the blast might have traveled far more than its ample 400

If Baltimore's Flanagan, the New Hampshireman with the 23-9 record, has one trademark, it is not his great curve, his good fastball, his nasty slider or even his new-found slip

It is his guts. Flanagan may be the No. 1 bulldog in baseball. In his college days at the University of Massachusetts, his buddies called him "Instant Karma," from the song "Super-Parker," they'll say. "Cracking up star," because he seemed so certain

After that escape in the sixth, Flan-

Los Angeles Times Syndicate BALTIMORE - Four about 48 of the 50 ballplayers taking part in this World Series, winning the car for the MVP would seem simple: get 8 or 10 hits, don't muff too many ground balls, throw to the right base and score a winning run or two. For a pitcher he may just have to win the seventh game.

If Dave Parker has a World Series like that, he may be the goat. Dave Parker is the highest-paid player ever to play in the World Series. Hé makes more per inning than Babe Ruth made in a month.

He makes $67,000 every two weeks. That may come to $10,000 a hit if the pitching is good that fortnight. He gets six-months vacation every year. He keeps a fleet of Mercedes-Benz on the highways around Pittsburgh. In a workingman's town, the wages, hours and working conditions are ideal. He never has to lift anything heavier than a bat. He doesn't have to glare into a blast furnace or haul a molten ingot out. Andrew Carnegie never had it so good. Or Andrew Mellon. Maybe some day Dave Parker will have his own library or art gallery, too.

IF THIS is the working man's World Series, Dave Parker is miscast. Dave Parker cannot have a Series in which he gets a measly half a dozen, or even dozen, hits, drives in a run or two. Dave Parker is not supposed to hit anything sub-home-

If he gets a ground-ball single, he's expected to decline it as under fimits. Babe Ruth could strike out and the crowd would cheer him. Dave Parker strikes out and they get mutinous. Dave Parker gets cheered about as ... often as a member of the Krupp family. He occupies the same warm spot in the hearts of the fans as a munitionsmaker or a Greek shipping magnate.

Usually, guys who make the kind of money Dave Parker does — a million dollars a year, give or take a few grand - come to work on a yacht and are as popular with the masses as Marie Antoinette.

Babe Ruth made more money than the president of the U.S. but Dave Parker makes more than the czar of Russia. People like to throw snowballs at guys in top hats and Dave Parker qualifies. You used to have to own railroads or corner grain or chair the board of General Motors to command the salary Dave Parker does.

NOBODY LOVES a Rockefeller or a guy who gets a million a year catching fly balls. Dave Parker never had a mine disaster or foreclosed a mortgage or watered stock or fleeced widows for his stash but this seems to make Americans all the madder.

It's almost as if it were un-American. You're supposed to start out with a shoeshine box and work your way up. Dave Parker is not your typical American success story. He started out playing the outfield for Wilson Freight in Cincinnati. He never rescued any heiresses from runaway horses or kids from orphanage fires, he just started to hit home runs against industrial league pitchers and, the next thing you knew, the big leagues were throwing sockfuls of money at him.

BUT FOR the guys in the shop to be sullen is one thing. You can always hope they won't find out about the polo stable or the wife's sable and But what about the stockholders?

It's all very well to shrug off the hard hats but what about when the boardroom gets mutinous? If GM falls behind Ford, they don't blame the assemblers, they go to the top. Dave Parker is making chairman-of-the-board money and the executive suite wants performance, wants the sales curve to go up. All the guy at shortstop has to worry about if the Pirates lose the Series is, he might blow the rowboat at the fishing hole or he won't need the trailer hitch

But when the Baltimore Orioles burst out with five runs in the first 32-minute first inning Wednesday, the directors begin to scream. "Where's Parker? What's he doing about this? What are we paying him all this money for? Don't let him blame those

You make an executive a millionaire to be able to mount a sales campaign boasting, "We're No. 1" in sales. You don't pay him to turn out the Edsel. The old steel barons of Pittsburgh never lost any marketing fights to a bunch of short-money operators out of Baltimore.

Charlie Schwab never had to beat the Baltimore Orioles. No Mellon ever had to hit Mike Flanagan's slow curve. But the interest better stay high, the carloadings up, and the x-dividends steady.

They played the first sub-arctic

World Series game in a long while Wednesday night. The game should have been played on skates. For Pitfsburgh, the first two innings were the 1979 Ice Follies. First you had to break the ice on it before you could throw the ball.

Dave Parker had an outstanding Game, a double, three singles.

But corporate types look for the bottom line from their fat-cat officer employees. After all, Baltimore doesn't have a single millionaire. Baltimore is more of a co-op. The Pirates owner John Galbreath could get eight Orioles for what he pays Parker plus a horse and two skyscrapers.

Parker batted .800 for the game, was on third base with the tying run when it ended 5-4 Baltimore.

But the shareholders don't deal in doing-your best. They call their million-dollar men on the carpet when the ink is red. "What in heaven's name is going on down there, Parker?! Better shape up that division or we rattle the chairs. What are we paying you for?!' Parker may expostulate, "But I went 4-for-5 on a field we should have played in bobsleds!"

Back in the home office, they'll look at each other significantly. Beginning to worry about old

I'd say. For a million a year we don't of his athletic destiny want 4-for-5s. We want a championship - net after taxes. Tell him to shape up! If he ever wants to be a full partner in the firm."

Buffs seek second 5-A football win

The Stanton Buffaloes will try for victory number two in District 5-A play Friday night when they host Shallowater at 7:30.

The Buffs, 3-0-1 for the year and 1-0

In other games Friday involving area teams, Andrews of District 2-AAA, 5-0-0, entertains tough Kermit of 7-AA, 4-1-0, in an 8 p.m. encounter. Andrews slipped past Brownfield last week despite playing without the services of starting quarterback Keith Brooks. Senior Kevin Bartley filled the void and will likely start again if Brooks isn't healthy

Meanwhile, Lamesa will try to shake their losing streak which was extended to five games last week when the Golden Tornadoes dropped a 20-10 heartbreaker to Lubbock Dunbar. Unfortunately for coach Julian Bush's charges, the chances of their winning this week are quite slim as the Tors of District 3-AAA travel to Lubbock for an 8 p.m. tussle with perennial power Estacado.

A pair of 6-A teams will be in action as McCamey, 3-1-1, ventures to Eunice for an 8 p.m. assignment and Rankin, 3-1-0, goes to Menard for an 8 p.m. engagement. Both Rankin and McCamey posted solid victories last week

Crane of 7-AA and Reagan County of 9-A are area outfits with the week

Other 2-AAA games have Gadsden, N. M. at Fort Stockton while Monahans is at Sweetwater, Ector is at Lake View and Snyder hosts Pecos. In 3-AAA, Brownfield is at Hereford

Over in 7-AA, Ozona entertains Iraan while Sonora travels to Wall. Beside the Stanton-Shallowater matchup in 5-A, Seagraves entertains O'Donnell while Anton hosts Plains and Ropesville hosts Forsan.

Joining McCamey and Rankin as 6-A teams in action will be the other three loop units. Clint is at Fabens while Iraan goes to Ozona and Marfa hosts Alpine join Reagan County as 9-A teams that are dormant. By the way, 9-A opens league play next week.

Highly-ranked Mason and Eldorado

Those in action are Wall, Menard and Junction, which hosts Llano.

"I threw a hard outside his composure while facing the heavy hitting Pitts- curve, and he must have been waiting for it. burgh Pirates in his first World Series, but it was a different story when the Baltimore pitcher got a rare chance to bat.

"When you feel you can do things, I don't think you should get excited," Flanagan said, explaining his seeming lack of nervousness while pitching the Orioles to a-5-4 victory Wednesday night in the opening game the Series.

"I thought I could get them out, so there's no sense in jumping up and down," he said, even though it was not that easy, as he allowed 11 hits and stranded seven runners in scoring position.

But even after retiring the dangerous Willie Stargell for the final out with the potential tying run on third base, Flanagan wanted to talk about the hit he days rest now," Weaver said, "I'll have Steve Stone

With the designated hitter rule not employed in this Series, Flanagan got his first at-bats since joining the Orioles late in 1975. He was retired on a tapper in front of the plate to end Baltimore's five-run first inning, then grounded the ball past first baseman Stargell while leading off the fourth.

When I got to first base, I was figuring out my batting average and I asked Stargell if they were going to stop the game and give me the ball." Flanagan said. "I didn't get any response from him. Later, when I went to the dugout, I was shaking everybody's hand, but they weren't shaking back. Then, I looked at the scoreboard and found out they had scored it an error.

Flanagan did get some response from Stargell at the plate when the big first baseman, who after striking out two of his first three at-bats crashed a homer deep into the right field bleachers for Pittsburgh's final run.

When a Texas A&M comes to Lubbock for a SWC game, Jones Stadium is stuffed with 52,000 volatile, partisan fans that cause the concrete arena to rock with excitement and drama, such as Tech's 21-20 come-from-behind win last Saturday. Above something good must have happened for Red Raiders, judging by cheerleaders' reaction.

The only show isn't necessarily good football. Tech's colorful band is always a halftime highlight and the Aggies' band, masters of intricate precision marching, is always a rare treat.

Mustang Mania gives SMU big boost

SMU athletic director Russ Potts, addressing a sports promotion seminar attended by Midland Cubs' General Manager Bill Rigney, Jr., in El Paso recently, told the promotion-minded assembly that "We won't reach our goal of averaging 60,000 per game this year." Before you shed a tear for the Mustangs, who only a couple of years ago were averaging 17,000, Potts added, "It looks like we'll have to settle for 57,000.

Potts revitalized the University of Maryland's sagging program before being summoned to SMU in classified as a success.

Of course, the arrival of the Dallas Cowboys and the popularity generated by their winning ways was the easy excuse for SMU's attendance woes, but two prime draft choices to go after John Dutton, the Potts contends SMU is not in competition with the Cowboys, pointing out, "The Cowboys sell out to 64,000 season ticket holders, which leaves a big market still to be tapped in the Metroplex.'

AS A BAROMETER of the Mustangs' progress, 'Two years ago people would have thought I was crazy, if I said we'd draw 50,000 fans the night after a Texas-Oklahoma game in the afternoon, but we are expecting that many Saturday night in Texa's Sta-

ABC-TV isn't making it easy for fans, or writers, Big D by catching both games: By switching the Texas-OU game from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. to modate the World Series, ABC is taxing the ingenuity of writers particularly. The battle of Red River won't subside until somewhere around 6 or 6:30 p.m. and the SMU-Baylor game kicks off at 7:30 p.m., which doesn't leave much time to visit a dressing room, write a story and make it to Irving ..

SMU-Baylor may have trouble topping last year's thriller when Baylor took a 21-0 first half lead and had the ball on the SMU one in the third period. The Bears, about to sew it up, fumbled instead. SMU recovered, drove 99 yards for its first touchdown and went on to win 28-21. But maybe not, in three previous years, Baylor won 9-6 and 27-20 while SMU won 34-31..

Ford says Carter showed weakness

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) - Former President Gerald Ford said Wednesday President Carter's reponse to he presence of Soviet combat troops in Cuba was mere "window-dressing" and showed

"Quiet diplomacy" with Cuba would have been a better way of handling the issue than Carter's establishment 'of a Caribbean command post in Florida and dispatch of troops on maneuvers to U.S. base at Cuba's Guantanamo Bay, Ford-said.

'Saying they're (Soviet combat troops) unacceptable, then accepting them, shows a weakness," the former Republican president said.

An "acceptable" solution to the problem, he said, would have been diplomacy leading to a significant reduction in the number of Soviet troops in Cuba and an obvious departure of some of them.

Ford denied there already was intelligence inforforces were in Cuba, as Carter has indicated.

New York planning to publicize 'Johns'

NEW YORK (AP) - Names of men convicted of patronizing prostitutes in New York are going to be broadcast over the city-owned radio station, says Mayor Edward Koch, who hopes embarrassment will do more to stop the sex trade than some judges

"We're going to call it the 'John Hour," the mayor said, using the slang word for those who hire prosti-

Koch said publicizing the names would be similar to the early American custom of locking lawbreakers in wooden stocks and putting them on public

That was a deterrent because who wants to be in stocks," Koch said. "But we're not allowed to put people in the stocks any more, so instead, what I'm going to do is to focus public attention by putting their names in the stocks, meaning reporting them on the radio," he said.

The city operates radio stations WNYC-AM and FM. Sources close to the mayor said that no specifics had been determined on the format of such broadcasts or when they would start.

Koch also said he hoped newspapers would print the names.

The mayor criticized judges for failing to enforce a two-year-old state law increasing the penalties for customers of prostitutes to a maximum 90 days in jail. He said many judges "set their own standards on what the law should be."

"I believe that it is unfair that we assess criminal penalties for prostitutes, but that we don't assess criminal penalties against the Johns, the men who use prostitutes," Koch said.

The mayor said he came up with the proposal after a survey of "john cases" handled by Manhattan Criminal Court in April, May and June found that charges were dismissed in 311 of 384 cases.

Koch's proposal was praised by Queens District Attorney John Santucci, but was criticized by a religious leader and the New York Civil Liberties Union, which supports eliminating criminal penalties for prostituion.

You don't have to spend a lot of money to save energy.

All the little things add up. Suppose your heating bill last winter was $700 — a reasonable figure for a three-bedroom home in a moderately cold climate. If you use the same amount of energy this year, you'll probably spend about $900.

Here's how you can trim that bill maybe even cutting it below last year's: (Your savings, of course, will vary depending on what you've done already, where you live and how much you pay for fuel.)

-Turn down the thermostat. See how low you can set it and still stay comfortable. Make the change gradually, reducing the setting a degree at a time. Each degree should mean a 3 percent cut in your fuel bill. Going from 70 degrees to 67 degrees would trim that $900 fuel bill by $81.

-Keep cool at night. Setting-back the thermostat by 10 degrees during the hours you sleep can cut heating bills by 9 percent to 15 percent. On a $900 fuel bill, you'd save $81 to $135. You can make the adjustment manually or you can do it automatically by converting your existing thermostat or buying a new one with a setback device. Prices for converters and thermostats start at under $50 and go to over $100, depending on complexity and installation charges.

-Insulate your water heater. Adding an inch and a-half of insulation can cut the cost of operating your water heater by 25 percent. About a-fourth of your $900 in fuel pays for hot water; cutting that by 25 percent would save just over $56. Do-it-yourself refit kits generally cost under $20 and are available at building supply and hardware stores. -Check doors and windows for drafts. Caulk and weatherstrip where necessary. Inspect for possible air leaks in joints between steps and porches and the main body of the house, around plumbing pipes and in spaces between window air conditioner units and window frames. The one-time cost of a complete, do-ityourself job should be under $100; the annual savings on a $900 fuel bill could be as high as $90. -Tape heavy-duty clear plastic to the inside of window frames as an alternative to storm windows. The air pocket keeps the cold out and the heat in. Cost: About $10. Potential savings: $90 to $135.

-Learn where your money is going. On the average, here's how the energy used in American homes - the oil, gas and electricity - is consumed, according to a Pennsylvania State University study:

Heat 58 percent Hot water 15 percent Refrigeration 6 percent Cooking 6 percent Air conditioning 4 percent Energy saving can pay off at tax burned. time if you know what you're doing. The Energy Tax Act of 1978 provides tax credits of up to $300 for energy conservation expenditures.

Congress is considering legislation that would expand the credits to $1,-000. Meanwhile, here's how they

Lighting 4 percent

Miscellaneous 7 percent -If you have a fireplace, keep the damper closed when you don't have a fire going. An open damper in a 48inch square fireplace can let up to 8 percent of your home's heat escape through the chimney. Unless you have a recirculating device, 90 percent of the heat produced when you do light a fire will go up the chimney. The fire also will draw warm air from the rest of the house - up to 20 percent an hour. Glass doors - from $75 up — cut the loss; if you have a fire going for five hours a week, you could trim a $900 bill by $9.

-Check the temperature on your water heater. Most heaters are set for 140 degrees Fahrenheit; a setting of 120 degrees is adequate for most families. Reducing the temperature by 20 degrees can cut operating costs by 18 percent or about $40. (Note: You may need hotter water if you have a dishwasher; check the manufacturer's instructions.)

Take advantage of your own heat. The human body gives off more than 300 Btu's of heat per hour — about half a percent of the amount produced by the typical home furnace. Dressing wisely can help you retain natural heat. Closely woven fabrics add half a degree in warmth; a light, longsleeved sweater equals almost 2 degrees in added warmth. (A couple dancing, incidentally, gives off 1,700 Btu's of heat per hour; invite 36 couples to dance, and you won't need your furnace at all.) -Install a flow restrictor - about $5 - in your showerhead; the spray will feel just as strong, but you'll use less water. Reducing the flow of the shower from eight gallons per minute to three gallons per minute would save the average family about $24 a

-If you have an oil furnace, make sure it is serviced at least once a year. Have the technician check the nozzle to see if it is too large, meaning that the furnace is burning oil at a faster rate than necessary. Reducing the nozzle size and modifying air handling parts can trim heating costs by up to 14 percent or $126 on a $900

-Fix dripping faucets. One drop per second from a hot water faucet adds up to 200 gallons per month or 2,400 gallons per year. One study in Pennsylvania estimated the cost of the loss at $14.95 — $6.25 for the water and $8.70 for the energy to heat it.

Some energy savings can be measured in pennies, but even the pennies will add up. Among energy-saving -Replace incandescent bulbs with fluorescent ones. More than 16 percent of the electricity we use in our homes goes into lighting. A 40-watt fluorescent bulb gives off more than five times as many lumens as-a 60watt incandescent bulb. Make it easy to reduce light intensity with solidstate dimmers or high-low switches.

-Heat only the rooms you are actually using. During the day, keep and the clothes washer.

bedroom doors closed and turn the radiators off.

-The average dishwasher uses 14 gallons of hot water per load. To avoid waste, run the dishwasher only when you have a full load, let the dishes air dry by turning off the control knob after the final rinse and scrape the dishes before you put them in the washer so you won't have to rinse

-Dust or vacuum radiator surfaces frequently; dirt can block the flow of heat. If the radiators need painting, use flat paint, preferably black; it radiates heat better than glossy.

-Use exhaust fans in bedrooms and bathrooms sparingly. While they remove odors, they also remove heat; in one hour, they can blow away an entire houseful of warm air.

-If you are considering buying a gas stove, look for one with an automatic ignition system instead of pilot lights. You will use up to one-third

-Turn the refrigerator to the warmest setting that will keep food from spoiling. As a general rule, you can keep the refrigerator section at 38 degrees to 40 degrees Fahrenheit and the freezer compartment at five degrees. (A separate freezer for longterm storage should be kept at

—If you have a forced air heating system, clean or replace the filter once a month. Check duct works for leaks; minor problems can be solved by covering holes or cracks with duct

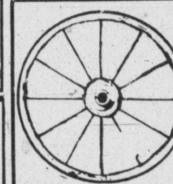

-Go through your home and make a checklist of all your appliances. Which ones are necessary? How much energy does each one use? An electric toothbrush may seem like a wasteful gadget, but it uses, on the average, less than a kilowatt hour of electricity a month. The potential for real savings lies in the major appliances like the stove, the water heater

Robbery verdict reversed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals said Wednesday a trial judge erred by allowing prosecution witnesses to testify they saw an aggravated robbery defendant at another crime scene.

The appeals court reversed the conviction of James Alvin Murphy and sent the case back to the Dallas County district

Murphy was sentenced to 45 years in prison for stealing a car and $8,600 in checks and cash from a Dallas department store manager on July 7, 1976. Luke Bradley was robbed at gunpoint by a man wearing women's nylon hose over part of his face. Murphy testified he was with Sheryl Davis, his girlfriend, when the robbery was committed. Miss Davis corroborated Murphy's testimony.

The prosecution attempted to raise doubts about the testimony by calling three witnesses who said they saw Miss Davis and Murphy in the getaway car at a May 1976 robbery of a convenience store clerk.

The trial judge said the prosecution witnesses' testimony was allowed only "for the purpose of touching upon the motive, weight, credibility and such" of Miss Davis and Murphy.

But the appeals court said the testimony improperly prejudiced the

Connally fund drive going well

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former Texas Gov. John B. Connally is raising money at the rate of slightly more than $22,500 a day in his bid for the 1980 Republican presidential nomination, federal records show.

A Connally campaign report filed Wednesday with the Federal Election Commission listed contributions for the months of July, August and September at $2.08 million

To date, Connally has raised $4.3 million to finance his drive for the White House, far more than any other announced or unannounced candidate has reported.

By contrast, President Carter's campaign committee reported contributions to date of $2.4 million, including $875,000 for the last three months. #### Connally addresses truckers

CHICAGO (AP) - John B. Connally was like a fundamentalist preacher urging his congregation to tithe. "Be for somebody in 1980," he told the trucking industry.

He walked away with something for his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination — promises of $15,000 in contributions.

Connally took a popular stand Wednesday in a speech to a crowd of 1,600 at the American Trucking Association's annual meeting. He opposed deregulating the trucking industry.

'If it (the trucking industry) ain't broke, don't fix it," the former Texas governor said, as truckers cheered loudly. "I'm not the least bit interested in deregulating the trucking indus-

Others pledged another $5,000. Connally also preached on the themes of a smaller federal deficit, more nuclear power and more defense spending.

Excessive federal spending "is what's feeding the rate of inflation, and who do they want to make pay for it? They want to make the American people pay for it," Connally said.

He said the credit-tightening moves by the Federal Reserve Board, which raised interest rates but resulted in a plunge in stock market prices, will not solve the nation's economic prob-

Prisoner privacy affirmed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The state Court of Appeal has ruled that persons awaiting trial in jail are constitutionally protected from indiscriminate, secret monitoring of their conversations with visitors.

In a 2-1 ruling, the court overturned a lower court decision dimissing a suit by the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of a one-time-prisoner at the county jail and his wife who visited him. The appellate court ordered a new hearing.

.. The detained citizen does not automatically forfeit his basic civil rights as soon as the jailhouse door clangs shut," Presiding Justice John T. Racanelli wrote in a majority opinion.

The ruling hinged on the 1972 privacy amendment added to the state Constitution by voters.

The suit was filed after disclosures made at the trial of kidnapped newspaper heiress Patty Hearst on bank robbery charges During the 1976 trial, San Mateo County Sheriff John R. McDonald testified that recording prisoners' conversations with visitors was a routine practice.

A year earlier, the ACLU said, the U.S. attorney disclosed that he possessed recordings of conversations between Ms. Hearst who was held at the San Mateo facility, and a jail visitor, Patricia Tobin.

What else is new?

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter says there is a good chance worldwide crude oil production will decline in the fu-

Overall, there is "the very strong possibility that the trend in production will be downward," the president said Wednesday.

He told a delegation of community leaders at the White House the amount of oil produced by members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries likely would decline for a number of reasons.

Among them, he said, was the possibility that some OPEC nations would simply find it more profitable to let the oil stay in the ground.

He said the United States is not the only country that is running out of oil, and noted crude has become a political weapon for some oil-producing nations. Meanwhile, the administration was expected to announce it today it has succeeded in stockpiling 240 million barrels of home heating oil and diesel fuel before winter, according to The New York Times. The newspaper said in today's editions the administration was to release statistics showing it already has met the goal set for the end of October.

Last week, the American Petroleum Institute announced that the nation's inventories of heating oil and other "distillate" fuels jumped by 8.6 million barrels - to 226.8 million barrels - in the week ending Sept. 28. That marked the largest weekly increase of the year.

Industry sources said that substantial gain meant refiners were likely to meet Carter's stockpile goal by mid-October, two weeks early.

Distillates are used for diesel fuels as well as for heating oil. A barrel contains 42 gallons

Oil-decontrol policy faces crucial test in Congress

By TOM RAUM

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter's oil-decontrol policy, twice repudiated by House Democrats, is facing its most crucial test yet in Congress The full House was to vote today on whether to reverse the president and slap price lids back on home heating oil, diesel fuel and domestically produced crude oil.

The showdown was on proposed amendments to a bill authorizing Department of Energy spending for fiscal 1980, which began Oct. 1.

Organizers of the back-to-regulation move cited soaring energy prices especially of home heating oil - as their chief motivation. But the White House, aligned with Republicans and oil-state Democrats, mounted a lobbying counterattack in hopes of squelching the effort.

Congressional sources said the White House was making it clear to wavering Democrats that Carter deemed decontrol critically important to his overall energy program.

The sougces asked not to be named. "It's one of those issues on which he's keeping track of our votes," suggested one Democratic member. Deregulation, despite its predictable effect on consumer prices, has been portrayed by the administration as needed to help spur the search for alternatives to OPEC oil. Close votes were forecast by leaders on both sides of the issue. A majority of House Democrats has already gone on record, in two separate non-binding votes, in favor of reimposing price controls on petrole-

But this is the first time the issue has been squarely before either the full House or Senate since the president, invoking a 1975 law, began removing price controls from domestic - CROCKETT COUNTY Cities Service No. 1-BY University, id 9206 feet in lime and shale, tested tubing, loaded casing and set packer dent, invoking a 1975 law, began re-price lids, the battle will shift to the Senate, where Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., are waging a similar campaign to overturn the president's deregulation policy.

It is an issue on which Carter and Kennedy, the president's potential rival for the 1980 Democratic presi- DAWSON COUNTY dential nomination, are on opposite

Two amendments are involved in the House debate. The more sweeping, by Reps. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., and Bob Eckhardt, D-Texas, would block the president's oil decontrol plan entirely and keep EDDY COUNTY price lids in place on U.S.-produced oil, at least through Sept. 30, 1980 the last day of the fiscal year.

Less ambitious but generally given better odds of success is the other amendment, by Rep. Peter H. Kost-mayer, D-Pa. It would freeze the prices of home heating oil and diesel fuel at current levels - and in some cases roll them back slightly - for six southast of Lovington.

"That would get us through the winter," Kostmayer said.

President Gerald R. Ford removed price controls from these so-called 'middle distillate'' fuels in 1976. Carter has the power to reimpose them administratively but has declined to do so.

Kostmayer's amendment has solid backing from Northeastern members and is also drawing considerable support in the Midwest, where the cost of diesel fuel is a big concern of farmers and truckers.

The White-House is entering the battle without help from its traditional No. 1 ally on energy issues. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, like other members from New England, finds himself under heavy pressure from constituents to do something about rising home heating oil prices. O'Neill is a Massachusetts Democrat.

In most of the Northeast, the price of heating oil has risen to more than 80 cents a gallon since last winter, a climb of about 60 percent.

House supporters of a return to petroleum price controls said the time was ripe to strike in view of recent actions by the Senate Finance Committee to water down the president's "windfall profits" tax. Moffett contended that decontrol would lose its attractiveness in the absence of a strong windfall profits tax.

The House-passed tax would soak up some of the additional revenues oil companies will reap from decontrol and channel the money into social and energy-research programs.

But the Senate panel whittled down the tax to where it would raise about $65 billion through 1990, about half what the House and administration

The vote was 12-5 against a proposal by Sen. John Danforth that would have added an estimated $4 billion to the government's tax revenue over the next decade.

The committee is working on a tax that officials estimate will produce about $65 billion through 1990. The House approved a "windfall profits" tax earlier this year with estimated revenue to the government of about $104 billion.

The Senate committee has voted several exemptions from the tax as it has gone along, including one earlier for oil owned by states or local governments.

American, Briton share Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) - The 1979 Nobel Prize for medicine was awarded jointly today to an American and a Briton for their development of computer-assisted tomography, an X-ray system that has revolutionized medical diagnostic methods

The winners are Allan McLeod Cormack of Tufts University, Medford, Mass., and Godfrey Newbold Hounsfield of the British company EMI. Cormack, 55, born in Johannesburg, South Africa, and Hounsfield, 60, share

The announcement came an hour late, after a lengthy debate within the awarding body over two alternatives.

In an unusual tug-of-war, the candidate or candidates put forward by the Institute's Nobel selection committee were voted down by the more than 50 Institute faculty members taking part in the deliberations, informed sources said. The identity of the original nominee or nominees was not publicly Americans have heavily dominated the Nobel Prize for medicine in post-war years. Cormack is the 53rd American to win the medicine award.

Hounsfield, a research engineer, was cited by the institute as the central figure in the development of computerized tomography, an X-ray system that has proved particularly useful in brain examinations.

The system, known as CAT, involves the X-raying of successive cross-sections of the body to build, with the aid of a computer, a three-dimensional image for examination.

'It is no exaggeration to state that no other method within X-ray diagnostics within such a short period of time has led to such remarkable advances in research and in a multitude of applications as computer assisted tomography," the Caroline Institute said in its citation.

One committee member explained that the method has enabled quicker and surer diagnoses of brain damage. It has been used in hospitals for only about

The method has been used to prove that alcoholism leads to damage to the brain, the committee member said. It was recently used to ascertain that -- Ingemar Stenmark, the Alpine skiing world champion, did not sustain brain damage after a bad spill.

The Swedish professor said that although the equipment for computerized tomography is expensive, the cost to operate the system is low.
