Auction Sale Ring Re-opens Here Aug 20

The Muleshoe Livestock Auction under new management, will be re-opened at the ring here Thursday, August 20, and sales will be held each Thursday thereafter, it was announced this week.

New owners and managers of the auction are John Starkey and Lester Smith, who have said that they plan to make the weekly sales event one of the biggest affairs of its kind in this section of the country. Both Starkey and Smith are widely known throughout this area.

The sale ring has been under management of E. J. Killough. It was closed for the season about three months ago.

The new managers announce that the rings have been reconstructed and everything put in readiness for the opening sale, scheduled to get underway at 10 a. m. Thursday of next week.

Farm implements, household goods, and so forth, will be disposed of first. The stock sale will open at 1 p. m.

The opening sale is being amplified. Buyers are expected from a wide area.

Buyers are expected from a wide area. Farmers, stockmen and other agents of Muleshoe and territory are invited to bring in livestock and miscellaneous goods for sale.

W. D. Wanzor, veteran auctioneer, will be in charge of the sale of all stock and merchandise offered. J. J. Williams will clerk the sales.

"It is our intention," said the new managers, "to make this a weekly event—an event which will prove beneficial not only to every resident of Muleshoe and surrounding territory, but to the public's cooperation in making each sale an outstanding success."

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jones, of Beaver, Mo., are here for a few days' visit with their son, Clarence Jones, and wife. It is Mr. Jones' first trip to this part of the country, and he likes it very much, he says. He stated that he especially enjoyed the cool nights, since the weather in Missouri is sultry. They say and night at this time of year.

Battle School

REAL BULLETS make the course authentic for officers of the British and Allied forces who go back to the Battle Schools in Britain. "Attack" is their watchword. As shown in this picture, snipers with Bren machine guns fire tracer ammunition within inches of the "students" in the assault boat. Charges of gun-cotton are also exploding in the lake around them to give the effect of bursting grenades and bombs as they paddle their way to invade the "hostile" shore.

Clark Harvey Writes From Air Station

A recent letter from Aviation Cadet Clark Harvey to members of the county agency office will be of interest to many in the county.

"I just finished the latest edition of the 'Muleshoe Gazette' and decided to send my regards back to the home town. Because it is a unique name, 'Muleshoe' is becoming a rather widely known metropolis around here. Probably it is also becoming infamous, because of one of its products.

According to County Agent Sam Logan, the county seems to be well infested with grasshoppers. We have several interesting elements around here but they couldn't be classified by species. The first complaint I could mention would be the confinement, which is a little depressing, mentally. The second queer thing about the set-up here is the Yankees, (the term usually has a prefix for emphasis). Here are some of the monikers I copied off the flight board at random:

Gutenkunst, Fzizakowski, Stanowski, Angolopopolow, Breeuwigam—(Editor's Note: Our typewriter blew a fuse here, so the other American name will have to be published in some future edition).

Did Notre Dame ever have a more formidable looking roster? The third most irritable thing that our fatigue trousers have no hip pockets—and we sit 13 to a table. I have been told that all these ills can be remedied by time and endurance, and it is surprising how the pains are lessening.

Summer precipitation has now brought on another unwelcome cousin. This is a culture that masquerades under the general term of mosquito. I am enclosing a junior specimen—Here, Mr. J. C. Smith of the local office. (Continued on Back Page)

LIBRARY RE-OPENS

The Muleshoe Library is open again after being closed for the past week or ten days. Several days ago the WPA librarian was taken off as the result of a reduction in the WPA rolls. Arrangements have been made by the Muleshoe Study Club to re-open the library, and an effort is being made to keep it open. Those having books which are due, should bring them in at the earliest opportunity.

FARMERS' MEETING

A farmers' meeting will be held Friday night, August 14, at the Progress school auditorium. An entertainment program will be held in connection with the meeting. The question of continuing the lunch room will be discussed, and for this reason patrons are urged to attend.

Mrs. Jim Pace and Mrs. Henry Scarborough have gone to Carlsbad, N. M., to spend a few days with their husbands.

Bailey County Usually Votes Less In Run-off

If Bailey County votes in the August 22 run-off election as it has voted in the past, no amount of political balderdash and ballyhoo is likely to raise the total vote above the 1,100 cast in the July 25 primary. Because in only one election year have more Bailey county citizens cast their ballots in a run-off than in a primary. That was in 1936.

In 1940, 1,978 votes were cast, the highest total in the county's history. But these votes were counted after the July primary. In the run-off, only 1,041 voters went to the polls, a decrease of more than nine hundred, attributable no doubt to the lack of interest in the only run-off races. The run-off contests were for railroad commissioner and state representative.

Four years ago, in 1938, 1,300 votes were cast in the primary, but a few weeks later at the run-off polls, this figure dropped to slightly more than one thousand. Run-offs that year were for lieutenant-governor, attorney general and railroad commissioner.

The 1,178 voters who made their way to the polls in 1936, picked up 136 converts the day of the run-off election, and 1,314 votes were cast. This increase in the number of voters was brought about by the interest aroused in two county run-off races. In addition, there were run-off contests for the state offices of railroad commissioner and secretary of agriculture.

In 1934, a total of 1,425 votes were cast in the primary, and in the run-off, 1,312 voted. This was the year James V. Allred and Tom Hunter, candidates for governor, entered the run-off with Allred emerging victor. Bailey county voters favored Clint Small of Amarillo in the primary, giving him 496 votes to 309 for Hunter and 273 for Allred. In the run-off, Allred carried the county with 749 votes to Hunter's 663 votes.

In 1932, Bailey county cast 1,395 votes in the primary and 1,352 in the run-off. Two years earlier, 1930, they cast 1,238 in the primary and 1,161 in the run-off.

Salvage Drive Begins In Area Next Week

Members of the Bailey County Salvage Committee attended a district meeting in Lubbock Wednesday, where plans were completed for the scrap metal drive, which is to start here next week.

There is a vital need for scrap metal of all kinds and a united effort is to be made to get every piece of idle material in the manufacture of war material.

There are thousands of pounds of junk around farms and homes in the towns, which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once for guns, tanks and planes.

There may be many pieces of old scrap iron or steel around your farm or home, which means nothing to you. This can be quickly melted with new metals in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

The local committee stated yesterday that unless six million tons of additional scrap can be contributed just as soon as possible, production of necessary war supplies cannot be increased.

Every community in this county is asked to start now to check up on scrap metal, and be ready to put this county over with its contribution just as soon as possible. Collect all the waste material you have, then sell it to a junk dealer, give it to charity, or take it to the nearest collection point. These places of concentration will be announced next week.

Bailey county did a grand job in the scrap rubber drive, and we can do as well with scrap metal. You will be paid for all metal turned in at a price set by the War Board. Farmers should consult the county war board or their implement dealer in regard to pieces of old farm equipment.

Arrangements have been made for an elaborate program, on which some of the outstanding authorities on Texas cooperatives will be guest speakers.

In announcing the first annual membership meeting, it was declared by officials of the cooperative that a special invitation be extended to every person on the South Plains, members and non-members alike. It was further stated that following the program, ice cream would be served, and that the hospital would be open for public inspection.

REVIVAL BEGINS SUNDAY AT METHODIST CHURCH

Despite many interferences, the Methodist series of protracted meetings will begin Sunday. The pastor will preach Sunday and the evangelist will come Monday to carry on the meeting. The community is not only invited, but is urged to be present.

Wendell's demand for faith and loyalty to the God who alone can bring a peace with righteousness. Our people need to return to the faith of our fathers. Not necessarily their doctrinal divisions, but their confidence in the God of love and justice. We must give God more than a lip service. Our whole life and action must be undergirded by the strength of the Lord.

Coast Guard And Army Personnel Increased By Nine

The United States Coast Guard increased its personnel by six last Monday, when that number of young men left here to be sworn in as members. They went to Amarillo early Monday morning and shipped out with about 25 other West Texas boys that afternoon for Fort Worth.

Word from them Wednesday was to the effect that they would be sent to the New Orleans training station, and all were pleased and rearin' to get started.

Those going from here were R. L. Harrison, former employee of the REA; L. C. Gulley, farmer; Arles Graham, former employee of the REA; Joe Smith, farmer; Horace McAdams, farmer and dairyman; and Robert L. (Bob) Jones of the Journal staff.

Three Muleshoe men will leave Friday for Fort Hill, Okla. where they will report for army assignments. They are Jim Aboop, Young Hammons and Herman Sterling.

New Generation Of 'Hoppers' Seen

It's getting to be a monotonous warning to many farmers, states County Agricultural Agent Sam Logan, but a new generation of grasshoppers are now hatching in cradling numbers in some parts of the county. Farmers are urged to search out these hatching grounds and poison these young 'hoppers' before they have a chance to spread.

These young 'hoppers' are easily eradicated if the poison bait is applied properly. Baiting now will save a lot of grief later when feed gets into the grain stage, which is the stage when the 'hopper' can do the most damage. Mixing stations at Muleshoe and Needmore are still operating and are ready to aid farmers in any way possible.

For the information of those who don't believe grasshoppers will destroy cotton and feed crops, Logan suggests that a check be made with some of the farmers north of Muleshoe.

REV. SHAW TO PREACH

Rev. Melvin Shaw of Hull, Tex., will preach at the Muleshoe Baptist church Sunday, August 16, at 11 a. m. and at 9 p. m. Everyone is urged to be present.

Cong. George Mahon was a visitor to Muleshoe Tuesday, arriving just before noon to be welcomed by a delegation of business and professional men. The congressman was taken to the Muleshoe Coffee Shop banquet room, where a dinner of good old Texas style fried chicken with trimmings was served.

Mr. Mahon was genuinely surprised by the welcome and after the lunch, talked to the group on national and world conditions. The whole thing became informal after Mayor R. L. Brown had greeted the visitor and made a few introductions.

Mr. Mahon talked at length on the war effort, discussing many phases which were more or less familiar to the average citizen. There were several things, however, which were "off the record" and desired to be only personal opinions. Questions were asked and answered, with some points being fairly well cleared up for the homefolks.

On the production front, Mr. Mahon frankly admitted that many mistakes had been made, but said that many had been corrected. There are still many things, he said, which are not at all satisfactory, but efforts are being made to bring about a change.

He assured his listeners that the American soldier, sailor, marine and airman was getting the best equipment in the world, and in ever-increasing quantities. Combat tests, he said, had brought out many faults in planes, tanks and guns, but these, although not serious, had been corrected quickly.

The congressman deplored the fact that much information had been released which was of vasty more interest and help to the enemy than to the Allies. On the other hand, he believes that there is much which the public should know, but which is withheld.

Being a member of the congressional farm bloc, Mr. Mahon has worked for the use of farm products in the manufacture of synthetic rubber. However, he and his colleagues have not as yet been entirely successful, but he believes that in the near future, some revision of present plans will be made, so that rubber may be produced both from synthetic products and grains.

Mr. Mahon has been back in his district only a few days, but has visited several counties already, meeting the people and discussing his problems with them. There is no doubt that the job of congressman today is anything but a snap, but he is making an effort to see as many of his constituents as possible to get their views on present conditions. He will probably return to Washington within the next ten days or two weeks.

Local Scouts Swim In Lubbock Meet

The South Plains Council, Boy Scouts, held their annual swimming meet at Lubbock Tuesday night, with about 130 in attendance.

Five boys made up the team from Muleshoe, but only one, Frank Foster, was among the winners. He placed third in the back-stroke event.

Scouts making up the Muleshoe team were Irvin St. Clair, Billy Jim St. Clair, Herbert Griffiths, Billie Renfrow and Frank Foster. After the contests, a big watermelon feast was enjoyed. The next meet will be held in Littlefield in 1943.

MARINE HERE ON VISIT

Delbert Parsons, U. S. Marine Corps, is here this week for a few days' visit with homefolks. Delbert is stationed in California, and likes the Marine Corps fine, although he is anxious to be on the move like so many of his buddies.

Many of the Muleshoe boys who went into service some months ago are already in action zones, and Delbert is getting the 'goin' places blues'.

very highest officials—and members of their families—to disrupt the customs of the South. If this policy continues it is bound to bring about a situation which will be regrettable, to say the least.

Other developments, which are causing some comment, is the readiness of a crowd—and they are very few—to cheer Mr. Hitler and his gnat-brained flunky, Musso. We are not sure, of course, but just "in case" there might be two or three whose peanut minds have warped a-around in the wrong direction, suggest that crawling in a good deep hole and pulling it in after them might be safer around these diggins. Attendance Good At Convention of Walther League

Seventy percent of the Walther Leaguers of Clovis, Rhea and Larlat were present at the first session of their convention. A number of visitors also were present at the convention, which convened in Clovis at the public library.

The meeting was opened with an address on the convention motto, "Be Strong in the Lord," delivered by Rev. Rudolph Weiser of Larlat.

The welcoming address was given by the president of the Clovis society, Melvin Pzyetzi; Miss Velma Schueler gave the response.

The business of the convention centered about the following: Message of the president of the Lutheran Church, Dr. J. W. Behken; message of the president of the International Walther League, Henry W. Buck; the Golden Anniversary report. The assembly passed a resolution to collect a dedication offering during this convention. The offering will be sent to the Youth Building Fund show. However, it is understood—and this is for the benefit of the so-called white officer—that there are, or will be, a few hundred white boys also fighting for the same cause as the Negroes. It is our opinion that the Negroes have about as much at stake as anyone.

For a white man or Negro to pretend that he does not know the rules on such questions as social equality in the South is to play with fire of the most dangerous sort. As a rule, colored people in this section have no desire to be fed at cafes for white people. Both native whites and blacks understand these things, and live and work together in peace and harmony, with very few exceptions. However, there seems to be a move on in this nation, sponsored by a few of the

THE STORY SO FAR: Ellen Carey seems interested to invade the countryside and kill without trial all suspected rustlers. By mistake, Terry and his foreman, Larry, are attacked by the invaders. Jeff, thinking them rustlers, comes to help them, is wounded.

INSTALLMENT NINETEEN

Texts excerpts officers to invade the countryside and kill without trial all suspected rustlers. By mistake, Terry and his foreman, Larry, are attacked by the invaders. Jeff, thinking them rustlers, comes to help them, is wounded.

The voice was that of Lee Hart. He barged forward, and pulled up abruptly as he recognized the two ranchmen. His gaze slid to Yancey. They could see understanding of the situation filter into his eyes. He opened his mouth to shout, and was a fraction of a second too late.

Terry had plunged forward, his right lashing at the man's jaw. Hart went down, and Terry was on him instantly, his fingers closing on his hairy throat to prevent an alarm. Calhoun dragged the heavy body into the aspens.

"Give me your bandanna," he said to Yancey, and with it gagged the prisoner, and rode from the saddle he used to tie the man.

The moon came out for a moment, then went behind a cloud. Yancey was boosted to the saddle and Terry swung up behind him.

CHAPTER XXXVIII

Ellen found it impossible to sleep. After tossing in bed for two or three hours she got up, dressed, and went down into the hotel lobby. Roan Alford passed through it, on his way from the bar to the street. The gray-haired little man's beady eyes fastened on the girl.

"What you doing up this time of night, Miss Ellen?" he asked. "I can't rest, Mr. Alford. I'm worried about father. I want to go back to the ranch, where I'll be nearer him if anything happens."

Alford agreed to ride with her. As they rode up through the darkness to the ranch house Roan caught at the rein of Ellen's horse and pulled it to a halt.

"Wait a minute. There's someone there—on the porch."

Already Ellen's gaze had picked up two horses at the side of the building, vague and shadowy in the gloom. The object on the porch stirred. It was a man. Or was it two men?

"Who is it?" Alford called. "Calhoun Terry," the answer came back. "He's the man who's been pulse beating to beat in the girl's throat."

"Is that father with you?" she asked. Terry rose from where he had been crouching. "No. Your father is all right, Miss Carey. This is a wounded man. He slipped out of the Wagonwheel Gap Ranch with a message, and they wounded him as he was trying to get through the line."

"The Wagonwheel Gap," she repeated. "Yes. Ellison's men are surrounding about here, and a telegram sent to the Governor."

"Has there been a battle?" "Not yet. The settlers are besieging the invaders, who are pretty well forced up. I'm afraid there will be a heavy loss of life if the troops don't stop it."

"Where is father?" "He is with Bill Herriott's men. We offered to mediate, but they wouldn't let us."

Ellen looked down at the man on the floor. "Is he badly hurt?" she asked. "Shut in the leg. Could you take him in here, until I can arrange to have him moved?"

"Of course." "I hate to trouble you, ma'am," Yancey said. "Don't worry about that," she told him.

The men carried him upstairs and put him to bed. They dressed the wound as best they could, after which Ellen joined Calhoun on the porch.

"I'll rope one of your horses, if you don't mind," he said to her. "I have to get this message off to the Governor."

She took instant alarm. "You're not going back to Round Top?" "No. I'll send the telegram from Jim Creek. It would probably be held up if I tried to get it off from Round Top."

"Will you send a wire to Doctor Harris and ask him to come up and look after our patient here?" "Yes. He'll probably be needed at the Wagonwheel Gap Ranch too. On the way there he can stop here."

Ellen walked down with him to the corral. Roan Alford was taking care of the wounded man, and for the time she could be spared. She moved with a fine animal vigor, shoulders and hips in a straight line vertically. Calhoun noted the rhythm of the slender figure. He had never met another woman like her, so fine and gallant and animated with life. There strummed in his blood a strong desire for her—for the dark beauty, temperate as a Toledo blade, for the sweetness and the courage that she carried like a banner. There would be gifts in her eyes for some lucky man, but they would not be for him.

"Larry Richards and I are buying a slice of the Diamond Reverse B," he told her. "I've been thinking we might have a place for Jeff Brand here, if he's able to work."

She flashed a quick look at him, surprised. "Do you think that would curse hung at him and his associates. He stood on the porch and waited for a chance to speak, and when the angry shouts died down hung back defiance at the enemy.

"To call me a murderer doesn't make me one," he said, no more disturbed than if he had been sitting with cronies at the Cheyenne Club. "We're honest men fighting for our rights. Some of us have been honest men of the Indian days. Every cattleman among us has helped build up this territory and has been a good citizen. I can call by the names of a dozen thieves I've seen among you scoundrels who came here without a cent and have obtained herds at our expense, every hoof of them stolen from some of us. He waited till the roar of rage had spent itself, then went on hardily. "I'd do just what I have done again. The time has come when the honest men of the territory have to get out, and by God! stand for hanging every rustler, and find until the law will punish them by putting them behind bars. We are not fighting small settlers but thieves. If I have to go to prison for what I have done, I'll still say I did right in trying to rid this country of outlaws."

Neither Collins nor any of the other invaders went to the penitentiary. Their trials were postponed for many months. Witnesses vanished. The intensity of the feeling against the cattlemen declined. Moreover, the cost of the trials was so great that there was likelihood of county bankruptcy. In the indictments were dismissed.

It was plain that the ranches were doomed. One after another they followed the exan of the Diamond Reverse B and out of business. With the increase in the number of small cattlemen the ranches were being run by men who were not fighting small settlers but thieves. If I have to go to prison for what I have done, I'll still say I did right in trying to rid this country of outlaws."

Jeff Brand joined a cattle outfit in the Argentine. At long intervals his friends heard of him. He came back to the States to enlist for the Spanish-American War. A bullet took him in the throat as he was going up San Juan Hill.

In the reorganization of the country after the break-up of big ranches Calhoun Terry took an important part. He was recognized as a strong man, and as the passed his influence became local. Washington Snapshots

JAMES PRESTON

Official Washington considers the immediate future as the most critical of the war in terms of both military and domestic activities. Armed with almost unlimited war powers, as reaffirmed by the U. S. Supreme Court's military sabotage trial ruling, the President now stands ready to tackle control of cost elements which include the regulation of prices and wages.

The zero hour of the anti-inflation drive may be at hand. Justice Rosenman, the President's favorite fact-finder and phrase-maker, is on the job and the stabilization plan is reported drawn.

WPB emerges as the czar of raw materials in the WPB-Army and Navy Munitions Board realignment. Chairman Nelson will say how much material goes into civilian production. ANMB continues to discharge basic duties outlined in the Army-Navy agreement and takes on others requested by WPB. WPB and ANMB are not rival but complementary to each other and the latter reports to the President through Mr. Nelson.

ANMB continues as the primary military body for reconciling and presenting to WPB Army and Navy requirements. It will continue granting priorities to the military services and their suppliers subject to WPB directives. WPB material and industry branches will be strengthened by direct military cooperation. up of representative industrialists responsible for maximum war production, has been increased.

A "priority accounting" system for the rigid control of priorities, one goal of which is to achieve efficient allocation within an industry, is under consideration. Watch for developments.

With the clarification of WPB functions comes farm bloc agitation to override the expected Gillette alcohol-rubber bill veto. The bill would set up a separate agency, independent of Mr. Nelson, and powerful enough to siphon off materials for new construction. The President is "planning a move in addition to a veto."

With Congressional activity subsiding, this being August of a political year, two major domestic fronts remain—taxes and patents. Senate Finance Chairman George is preparing a tax bill for presentation to the Senate early in September.

Senate Patent Committee Chairman Bone, abetted by Thurman Arnold, is striving to lead a reluctant committee to scrap the present patent system. Unable to get any bills reported out, Mr. Bone reopened hearings this week. Arnold set the stage by proposing a new bill which would give the Justice Department supervision over the patent system and permit the Government to rescind a patent if it were used to dominate or restrain trade "unreasonably."

While the Justice Department is reported preparing another bill giving a patent commission power to set price ceilings on patented articles, Chairman Bone is planning to produce another bill which would embody a "complete reorganization of the patent system." Meantime the committee plans to continue open hearings with the Justice Department presenting data on alleged patent abuses.

NYA Work Center at Ranger Trains Boys And Girls

As a part of the national program for training young men and women for work in war industries, the National Youth Administration has a resident training center for both boys and girls at Ranger, Tex. Training is offered in radio, airplane sheet metal, welding, machine shop, and woodworking.

Jack D. Wester, NYA counselor, stated that work experience and training in any of the above units would qualify assigned youth for later transfer to a war production center at Corpus Christi for further training preparatory to job placement with Naval Air Station there. It also offers employment opportunities in the various war industries in Texas.

Any young man or woman who is between the ages of 17 and 24½ years, in good health, out of school and willing to accept full-time employment in defense industry on completion of training period, is eligible to make application for entrance to the center.

proposing an Amendment to Article V of the Constitution of Texas by providing that the Legislature shall have the power by local or general law, in counties having a population in excess of two hundred thousand (200,000) inhabitants to create other courts having exclusive jurisdiction or concurrent jurisdiction with the county court in civil, criminal or probate matters; fixing the time for an election therefor; prescribing the form of ballot; providing for a proclamation of such election and the advertisement thereof; and making an appropriation therefor.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

"Section 22-a. The Legislature shall have the power by local or general law (without the necessity of advertising any such local law), in counties having a population in excess of two hundred thousand (200,000) inhabitants according to the last Federal Census, to create other courts having either exclusive jurisdiction or concurrent jurisdiction with the county court in civil, criminal or probate matters."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Texas at a special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1942, at which time all voters favoring such proposed Amendment shall sign their names or printed on their ballots the following:

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and to have it published as required by the Constitution and existing laws of this State.

Sec. 4. The sum of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated out of the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated to pay the expenses of said publication and election.

H. J. R. No. 1 A JOINT RESOLUTION

proposing an amendment to Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas by adding a new section there to be known as Section 49a, requiring all bills passed by the Legislature on and after January 1, 1945, appropriating money for any purpose, to be sent to the Comptroller of Public Accounts for his approval and fixing the duties of the Comptroller with reference thereto; authorizing the Legislature to provide for the issuance, sale and retirement of serial bonds, equal in principal to the total outstanding, valid, and approved obligations owing by the General Revenue Fund on September 1, 1943; providing for the submission of this amendment to the voters of this State, prescribing the form of ballot; providing for the proclamation and publication thereof; and providing for the necessary appropriation to defray necessary expenses for the submission of this amendment.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto, immediately after Section 49, a section to be known as Section 49a, to read as follows:

"Section 49a. It shall be the duty of the Comptroller of Public Accounts in advance of each Regular Session of the Legislature to prepare and submit to the Governor and to the Legislature upon its convening a statement under oath showing fully the financial condition of the State Treasury at the close of the last fiscal period and an estimate of the probable receipts and disbursements for the then current fiscal year. There shall also be contained in said statement an itemized estimate of the anticipated revenue based on the laws then in effect that will be received by and for the State from all sources showing the fund accounts to be credited during the succeeding biennium and said statement shall contain such other information as may be required by law. Supplemental statements shall be submitted at any Special Session of the Legislature and at such other times as may be necessary to show probable changes.

"From and after January 1, 1945, save in the case of emergency and imperative public necessity and with a four-fifths vote of the total membership of each House, no appropriation in excess of the cash and anticipated revenue of the funds from which such appropriation is to be made shall be valid. From and after January 1, 1945, no bill containing an appropriation shall be considered as passed or be sent to the Governor for consideration until and unless the Comptroller of Public Accounts endorses his certificate thereon showing that the amount appropriated is within the amount estimated to be available in the affected funds. When the Comptroller finds an appropriation election to be held throughout the State on the third day of November, 1942, at which all ballots shall have printed thereon:

"For the Constitutional Amendment permitting the accounting officers of this State to draw and pay warrants for salaries to officers of the United States Army or Navy who are assigned to duties in State Institutions of higher education."

Each voter shall scratch out one of said clauses on the ballot, leaving on the one expressing his vote on the proposed amendment.

Sec. 3. FSA Authorized To Take Loan Applications

Authority to immediately resume receiving applications from low-income and needy farm families in Bailey county for loans with which to carry on their farm and home operations was received here recently by J. W. McDermott, rural rehabilitation supervisor for the Farm Security Administration.

The information that loan funds for the FSA's supervised lending program for the current fiscal year are immediately available was received from Jesse B. Gilmer, regional director, with headquarters at Amarillo.

The FSA lending program, it was learned, will continue its policy of making small Food for Freedom loans to farm owners, tenants and part-time farmers. These loans are designed to assist families to produce food for home consumption. Production of food for sale will continue to be of secondary importance.

Food for Freedom loans are limited to $500 for each family. Borrowers may use funds for the purchase of dairy animals, feed, seed, small farming and gardening implements, canning supplies, repairs for livestock and poultry housing facilities, food storage space, medical and dental care, and so forth.

In addition to the small Food for Freedom loans for fall crops and gardens and other immediate needs, the FSA, according to Mr. McDermott, will continue making its regular rehabilitation loans, and community and cooperative service loans.

Farm owners, tenants, and part-time farmers in Bailey county who need to borrow funds for fall and winter operations or to meet their farm and home needs much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State not otherwise appropriated to pay the expenses of said publication and election.

Section 4. The sum of Eight Thousand Dollars ($8,000), or so next spring should make application to Mr. McDermott, with offices in the courthouse at Muleshoe.

Workers Urged To Exercise Care With SS Account Cards

It's up to the worker himself to determine whether he is interested sufficiently to assist his government in saving money time, white paper, and other valuable items used in the issuance of duplicate social security account numbers because it is the worker's fault if he loses or misplaces his number and is therefore compelled to request us to issue him a duplicate, according to John D. Palmer, manager of the Lubbock Social Security Board field office.

"The ever-increasing number of requests for duplicate account numbers is creating a difficult problem," Palmer said, "which involves loss in money and manpower, and until the worker makes up his mind that he will be more careful in safeguarding his account number, the situation will remain unchanged."

It was pointed out that very often a worker, when wishing to obtain a duplicate account number, fails to specify on the request form that he wants a duplicate instead of an original number by an individual who already has an account number," explained Palmer, "means that individual has established two old-age survivors insurance accounts—a situation which results in confusion, difficulty, and the possibility that the worker's future benefits under the Federal insurance system may be jeopardized."

Sergeant: "What is the fine thing you do in cleaning a rifle?" Private: "Look at the trigger."

"What's the number one rule in a game?" "I cleaned another man's excrement."

Love is not altogether common therewith.

There's Profit In Feeding Mash To Laying Hens

Many people question the profit of feeding hens all the mash they will eat when feed prices are high. County Agricultural Agent Sam Logan says that hens should always be fed all the mash they will eat and he presents the following figures to back him up.

These figures are based on an experiment conducted at the Southwest Poultry Experiment Station, Glendale, Ariz. White Leghorn pullets of a reasonably high egg production strain were fed on an all-mash diet and were kept in comfortable houses. Three groups were used in the experiment.

Group One had free access to mash and ate all they wanted. They averaged 182 eggs per hen; consumed 4.4 pounds of feed per dozen eggs produced, at a feed cost of 13.2 cents per dozen, giving a profit of $1.79 per hen, figuring feed cost at $3.00 per 100.

Group Two was limited to 87 1/2 percent of that consumed by Group One. They produced 124 eggs, or 32 percent less than Group One, at a cost of 16.8 cents per dozen eggs; required 5.6 pounds of feed to produce a dozen eggs, with a profit of 85 cents per hen (a feed cost increase per dozen eggs of 27 percent).

Group Three was limited to 75 percent of Group One's diet; produced an average of 88 eggs per hen (52 percent less than Group One); cost 20.4 cents per dozen at a profit of 34 cents per hen, or 54 percent less than profit per hen in Group One.

Logan urges poultry raisers to avoid making the mistake of limiting the amount of mash to laying hens and thereby reducing the profit of the flock.

Clark Harvey—

(Continued from page 1) D. A., displayed a pelt resembling that of a coyote. Said specimen was caught trying to extract his proceeds from the sole of a shoe. I haven't been able to capture a large one. Some times they turn our dog tags over to see if we have the right type of blood and the proper inoculations. They carry their own transfusion equipment.

All in all this isn't such a bad life. In fact, it is rather interesting. -- -- We have good living quarters, good food and it is our fault if the uniforms don't fit.

Because the educational requirements were rather high (and married men excluded) the Naval Air Corps has a rather high class group of young men. The personnel represents as great a variety of professions as a community quilt. There are at least three All-American foot ball players; a Detroit Tiger pitcher; track stars; lawyers; politicians; et cetera.

Don't let anyone take you in about how easy the going is down here. Ground school is rugged, and lots of it. We study everything from radio telegraphy to weather prognostication, and believe me the courses come fast and furious.

I have about 120 hours of flying time now. I don't know whether I have pronounced me as safe for solo, or whether they are just afraid to ride with me. I am doing instrument flying in link trainers at present.

My love to all the single girls, and best regards to the rest.

Sincerely,
Cadet Clark Harvey,

DO BANK SERVICES AFFECT YOU?

Bank services affect every man, woman and child—whether bank customer or not. Our economic system is based on money, credit and banking. Our food, our clothes, our homes, are made possible by credit to the farmer, the shipper, the manufacturer and the merchant. Banks, and the credit they supply, have helped to make possible the American standard of living. And in so doing they have contributed to the well-being of every person in the country.

This bank will continue its policy of providing helpful service for its community.
