PANTHERS TO OPEN SEASON FRIDAY NIGHT

To Meet Paducah Dragons Under Lights

The Quitaque High School Panthers will open the 1936 football season Friday night, when they play the powerful Paducah Dragons. The game will be played at Paducah under the floodlights. This will be termed as a practice game, and will have no bearing on the 1936 conference standing.

Coach Roy Morris announces the tentative line-up to face the Dragons are Starkey and Persons, ends; E. Grundy and Cutbirth, tackles; Henderson and Self, guards; McCutcheson, center; and J. Hutcheson, Hollis, Young, and Bogan in the backfield.

Virgil Hollis, who directs the play from the fullback position, will act as captain in the opening game. Coach Morris announces that a new captain will be appointed for every game.

Reserves, who will likely see action in the battle Friday night are Vinyard, Taylor, Herrington, Kelly, B. Hutcheson, Tiffin, Gowin, Castleberry, Powell and B. Grundy.

Five first string men are ineligible for the 1936 squad, Coach Morris stated Monday. The new Inter-scholastic League 19-year age limit gets three of these boys, while others failed to come up to the scholastic requirements.

Reports from the Paducah camp state that the Dragons are strong this year and Coach Morris is expecting a defeat in the first game. However, Morris assures the local fans that Paducah will not have a "push-over," as every member of the Panther squad is determined to put Quitaque on the football map this year.

According to the present schedule, the local fans will not see the Panthers in action on the home grounds

AGRICULTURAL BRIEFS

BY THE BRISCOE COUNTY AGENT

Time waits for no man—neither does the rain. Many wheat farmers who waited for a rain to break their stubble will now have to wait for a rain to bring up volunteer wheat, and they may have to wait a long time for rain enough to sow on. The farmers who broke their stubble early though have already got their volunteer up and many of them have enough moisture to sow on now.

New Developments
Many problems presented themselves at the General Meeting last week in Plainview. Some of these problems may have to be referred to Amos & Andy for solution—County Agents aren't smart enough, and it looks like the State and Washington offices cannot help us out a whole lot.

The Washington office requires that all the CROP land on every farm under the work sheet be measured. In making this requirement, tho, they failed to make sufficient

Highway Meeting Held In Quitaque Tuesday Afternoon

Road boosters from three counties gathered here Tuesday afternoon to lay plans for further improvement of Highway 86. A small, but enthusiastic group met at the Methodist church at 2:30.

Towns represented were Dimmitt, Nazareth, Tulla, Silverton and Quitaque. Andrew Acker of Castro County is president of the organization and T. A. Singer of the same county, is secretary. Both were here for the meeting.

The organization is highly pleased with the progress made by the State Highway department on 86. Grading and drainage structures are being rapidly completed in Briscoe, Swisher and Castro Counties and Palmer County is requesting a survey of the road so they may join with the other counties in this work.

Interesting talks on the work of Highway 86 were made by practically every one present. Plans were discussed to interest towns east of Quitaque in the work, and have them assist in securing a hard surfaced highway.

It was brought up by members of the organization that by traveling 86 tourist would save many miles in going from Fort Worth, Dallas, Oklahoma City, and other eastern places to New Mexico and the West Coast.

The members of the Highway 86 Association pledged themselves to leave no stone unturned until this important highway was hardsurfaced from the end of the paving on the Hall County line to the New Mexico State line.

Time and place for the next meeting will be announced shortly by the secretary.

A LETTER IN RHYME

By ESTELLE BEDWELL, Age 13, of Morton, Texas, to Mrs. L. J. Bedwell, Gasoline.

This old bed is getting awful mean. And I am mighty tired, for these old bones are very lean. And my pillow getting terribly hard.

Mother says when I am well I'll be as tall as she, for ever time the Doctor comes He pops another knee.

I never did like chiropractic Until he saved my life, But you tell 'em' I now like it Because they use no knife.

My bones have all been adjusted, They'll soon run like new. If I don't canker and turn rusted Before I bid this bed adieu.

My old neck has been popped Until I feel like a dummy, But just so I soon get something In this old empty tummy.

If I can ever sit up I'll be sitting on top of the world, I'll have this hair of mine All washed, kinked and curled.

And then to school I'll go, How happy I will be, To see if my playmates Have all forgotten me.

Daddy says when I am well We'll come to see you all, But how can we now tell If it will be this fall.

It may not be till winter But that is O. K. with me, For then I'll get to attend Your grand and glorious Christmas Tree.

My letter is getting rather lengthy, So guess I had better stop. But just remember, Auntie, I love you a great big lot.

APPRECIATION

We take this means of sincerely thanking our many friends for their kindness and words of sympathy during the illness and death of our dear husband and father. Your deeds helped us bear our greatest burden. May God bless each one of you. Mrs. D. M. Miller and family.

BANK GROUPS MAKE NATIONWIDE SURVEY

American and State Banking Associations Collaborate in Investigation

LOAN SERVICES STUDIED

Activities of the Government in the Banking Field Are Reviewed and Position of Banks Analyzed

NEW YORK.—Detailed bank researches, covering all phases of practical operating and economic facts and conditions related to banking, are being made by the American Bankers Association. The resulting material is being placed at the disposal of all state banking associations, which in many instances are extending the researches of the national association in their own states. These activities are said to be a part of the general program of banking development which is being carried on by the organized banking business.

Among the most extensive researches being conducted by the American Bankers Association is that of its Committee on Banking Studies, which is making a detailed survey of Federal Government lending agencies and policies. The basic material, which is kept up to date by continuing studies, shows where the Government agencies get the money they lend, what liability the Government assumes, what subsidy it extends, what return it gets, for what and to whom the money goes and on what terms it is loaned.

The Government in Banking

"It is not the intention of the committee to express its viewpoint about any agency," says the foreword to this material. "Its intention is only to determine the facts. These facts properly assembled and presented should help banks to meet Government competition if and where it exists. The committee believes the Government entered the lending field at a critical period in order to aid banks and financial institutions. If the time has come for the Government to withdraw, it is the duty of bankers to demonstrate their readiness to take care of all sound credit needs."

It adds that the banks must be equipped with full factual material as to the Government's emergency lending activities and practices, and that full cooperation has been given the committee by Government agencies in obtaining facts. Binders of the material gathered have been placed by the committee in the hands of state associations.

Investigation of Postal Savings The Committee on Banking Studies has also made a survey of the Postal Savings System throughout the United States to ascertain to what extent it is competing with chartered banks. Questionnaires were sent to banks in all places where Postal Savings depositories are operated and their answers will be analyzed as a basis for the committee's findings.

The Bank Management Commission of the American Bankers Association has made a nation-wide survey covering the movement among banks to increase their earning abilities "through fair and legitimate rates for services they render their depositors." It has developed a plan of account analysis as a basis of fair charges.

"All business in order to justify its existence is founded on the economic principle that a reasonable return should be expected from services rendered," the commission says.

Personal Income Loans

The Bank Management Commission has also formulated methods for installing and operating personal income loan departments in banks. "This plan contemplates making loans primarily to individuals and small business concerns, based upon the character and assured incomes of the borrowers, as distinguished from the usual basis for commercial loans," the commission says.

It points out that a large part of the population is not now making use of available bank credit and that "to these people the personal loan department extends a valuable service which at the same time is profitable to the bank." It adds that it is "the duty of the banks to educate the public to come to the bank for all financial services. Small borrowers should be informed that the local bank is willing to care for their demands."

Other Researches

Other researches are being made by the Economic Policy Commission of the association dealing with shrinkages in liquid commercial loans caused by economic changes in the nation's business methods while the National Bank Division has made studies of the lending and investment powers of this class of bank, the present status of the real estate investment field and of detailed data by states on earnings and expenses.

The Savings Division has gathered the facts showing savings in banks of all types, the number of savings depositors, the per capita savings for the country as a whole and the effects of current economic and social changes upon the savings habits of the American people.

The association's State Bank Division has issued the most recent figures available as to the detailed conditions of state banks, showing steady improvement in the position of the state banks, with marked expansion in their aggregate resources, while the Trust Division has compiled a guide to fees with a recommended cost accounting system.

BANKERS WILL MEET IN ANNUAL COUNCIL

Business Men Also Invited to Present Their Views on Services of Banks to the Public

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Robert V. Fleming, President American Bankers Association, has announced that the organization's annual convention will be held at San Francisco, September 21-24, and its program will call in not only bankers but speakers from various lines of business to present their viewpoints and advice.

The plans for the convention discussions take into consideration the fact, he said, that one of the major problems of banking today is to develop its operations along lines that will create greater public understanding of its methods and services.

"It is my earnest conviction that such public understanding of banking is not only an essential defense against attacks from whatever source, but is also requisite to reestablishing it upon a firm and satisfactory basis of profitable operations," Mr. Fleming said.

General Improvement Cited "The improvement in general conditions which is now taking place should be of material aid to bankers in carrying forward a constructive program for increasingly useful relationships between banking and business, as well as one of more helpful personal business services to all our people. Sound banking conducted in ways the public need and understand must be the aim of successful bank management.

"How can the banker make his operations and policies more understandable to the people of his community? How can better and broader financial services be soundly provided? How can banking improve its operating methods and income? These and many similar questions demand the earnest attention of all bankers. They call for a fresh counselling together and a new interchange of experience and advice among the members of our profession.

"With these thoughts in mind, we have built the convention program with the view of also calling into our councils speakers from various lines of business to give us their viewpoints and advice. I can say without reservation that this is to my mind one of the most crucial years in the evolution of American banking, and that we are passing through a period demanding, as never before, cooperation and mutual exchange of viewpoint among our members and others."

to our gold mining story. Our contract with Mr. Marshall was, he paid all expenses except our own eats and we went out there to help set up the machinery, wash out the gold until we got ready to come home, for certain percent of the gold we washed out until we left there. Well when we got ready to come home our individual amounted to sixty two and one-half cents. Yes they can split pennies into ten equal parts in Mexico. They take the dollars and split the pennies with you.

The newspapers out there don't give the wheat market, cotton market or hog market. Only the mining markets. There is as large a percent of people around Pinos Altos that are interested in mining as there are white people to negroes in Floyd County.

Gold mining there reminds me of dry land farming here. You spend one dollar and a quarter to make one dollar. After you get started you can come as near getting one place as the other.

I'll bet there is a little gold in any cubic yard of sand and gravel (you couldn't find a cubic yard of pure dirt) in Pinos Altos territory. Each miner is employing his idea as how to get the gold out in paying qualities. Some are spending a few dollars, others thousands of dollars. All seem to be friendly toward each other and try to help each other.

All in all it cost us boys about $7 each for a three weeks vacation. It was the finest I ever had. You might say we were initiated to a new world it was so different to what we are used to. As Milton Smith says, it would sure be a fine place to live if there was only some way to make a living.

We came back by San Rita and saw the largest copper mine in the world. They have simply moved a mountain one mile across, and now the hole where the mountain was, looks like a big amphi-theatre as it has 13 rows of railroad tracks up each side from the bottom. From San Rita to Hillsboro there is a new mountain road through some real scenery. Deer along road was positively thick. On about 100 yards (air-line) from across a canyon refused to let us stop and he still refused to run! We had guns along but we didn't shoot him as we wanted to come back to Texas. When deer season opens you boys that are interested should be there the first day.

We came on to Hot Springs and took a motor boat ride in Elephant Butte Reservoir. Went North to San Antonio and back to Carizozo crossing the Lava Beds. Actually they hauled dirt (probably from Texas) to make the road across that rock pile. I thought Lava was white but that was black as tar.

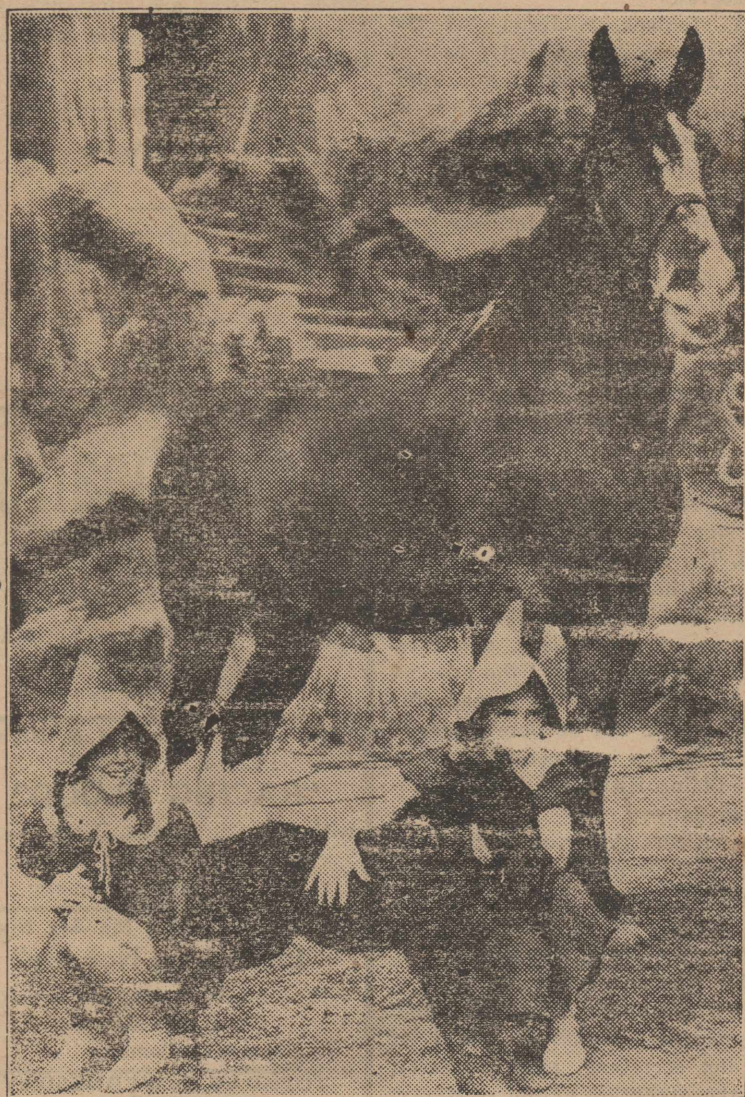

To know or work for Mr. Marshall is to respect him. We surely do thank him for the vacation. If he finds some rich dirt he will make plenty of money. He has a few miles of Bear Creek leased, it has the gold but getting it out, Oh Boy! Mr. Marshall sure has the nerve to "Dig-in." Jim Curry and D'nty Moore stayed with him.

I have had my cows grazing green cane for the last week. I simply give them some dry feed each morning with one teaspoon full of soda. No trouble yet. I'm not advising you to do this however.

The average battle ship cost in the neighborhood of 60 million dollars.

Tiny Horse Has Giant Godfather

"Tinymite," smallest horse in the world, was christened at the Texas Centennial Exposition recently. The 21 pound pony was chosen mascot for the Southwestern All Stars in their game against the Chicago Bears at the Exposition. "King," 2,400 pound Clydesdale international champion, one of the biggest horses in America, acted as godfather. He is owned by Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer. Ann Combs, who named "Tinymite," is shown holding him in the picture.

Amarillo Fair

Preparations are being made to put on a Briscoe County Booth at Amarillo this year. The show stuff that we expect to display will be carried to Amarillo this Saturday. It has to be in place 9 a. m. Monday, September 21st. The response to my call for Agricultural products for show has been anything but pleasing. Remember if we make a "Bum Show" at Amarillo, you will be partially to blame. This isn't a one-man booth, it is to be a COUNTY BOOTH. How about putting your shoulder to the wheel and helping us out with this show? We need you.

Trench Silo—Again

Too much emphasis cannot be put on the importance of trench silos. It now looks like we will have some feed to put into a silo. It keeps better in a silo than any place else. Feed will keep indefinitely in a trench silo. The proof of how good and how practical trench silos are may be found in the fact that every man who has one is sold on its use. He continues to refill and quite often digs others to be filled.

Briscoe County farmers have been quite backward when it comes to taking advantage of this means of preserving feed for rainless years.

Turkey Hints

Now is the time to begin putting the finish on your turkeys. The Thanksgiving market will be opening up almost before you know it now. A little extra feed just now will finish those turkeys up to where they will all grade No. 1, and bring a better price. Don't overlook this bet for you'll be sorry pay day.

Markham Scores Modern Art

"It won't last," said Edwin C. Markham, 8-year-old poet, when he eyed Grant Wood's "American Gothic" at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas. He declared it belonged to a rapidly vanishing era and the author of "The Man With The Hoe" much preferred Millet's famous painting of the same name.

Old Settlers To Meet Wednesday At Tri-State Fair

On Wednesday, September 23rd, more than 2,000 members of the Panhandle Old Settlers' Association will gather on the grounds of the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo. The program will begin promptly at 10 a. m.

W. H. Fuqua, pioneer cattleman and banker, who is president of the Association, will deliver the president's address and have charge of the program.

J. C. Estlack, publisher of the Donley County Leader and president of the Panhandle Press Association, will deliver the principal address at the president's request. His subject will be "Early Newspapers of the Panhandle." Estlack resided in Tascosa in 1883, and later became a rider of the range with such celebrities as Will Rogers. His knowledge of the Panhandle over this period of 53 years will enter into his address.

Group singing, and musical numbers that were popular in the old days will be on the program.

Roll call by dates will be an interesting feature.

Each year the program is dedicated to some group, industry, or individual. The newspaper fraternity will be in the spotlight this year.

Mrs. Marvin McCullough will be in charge of registration, and Mrs. Lillian Steele will record the proceedings. A complete record is made for the files of the Old Settlers' Association, and a copy is placed in the Panhandle Plains Historical Society Museum at Canyon.

The officers this year are: W. H. Fuqua of Amarillo, president; Delea Vickers of Pampa, first vice president; Joe Rorex of Panhandle, second vice president; Landon Doak of Claude, third vice president; Mrs. Mary E. Snider of Amarillo, fourth vice president; Floyd V. Studer of Amarillo, secretary and treasurer. With the exception of the secretary, new officers are elected each year.

COTTON HIGHWAYS

Completion of a twelve-mile cotton highway between Tuscaloosa and Reform, Ala., is another step in the 'new uses for cotton' program.

Cotton highways are still in the experimental stage. Ten years ago highway engineers, casually experimenting on some way to prevent cracking and shifting of bituminous surfaces, used a heavy cotton fabric as a base on a road 100 feet long. After the highway was rolled well, it was covered with tar. Then the fabric was put down, followed by a topping of stone and bitumen. Last year—nine years later—the road was in perfect condition with no cracks or signs of deterioration. A sample of the fabric was taken up and found to be in perfect shape. For nearly a decade this road had required no upkeep expense.

Engineers estimate that cotton highways will reduce upkeeps of roads in the South more than half of the $200 per mile per year now required. This will be no insignificant saving to the taxpayer. There are said to be 600,000 miles of improved dirt roads available for such treatment which, at eight to ten bales a mile, means a potential market of 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 bales cotton.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace has allotted $1,300,000 out of department funds to furnish State highway departments with fabric bases for cotton road construction.

Foreign countries are expanding cotton acreages annually and bidding for export trade. America must encourage domestic consumption as a safeguard against declining export business. Industry and science in the last twenty-five years have created more than 900 new uses for the crop, making everything from intricate plastics to sponges and smokeless gunpowder. The leaders in the cotton industry are constantly alert for new outlets for this product.

TERRACING INCREASES COTTON PRODUCTION

WELLINGTON—"My terraced land yielded about 60 pounds per acre more cotton than the land not terraced," recently stated John M. Morgan of the Prairie View community in Colingsworth County.

Morgan, with the help of the county agricultural agent, John H. Stovall, ran terrace and contour lines on his farm last spring at a cost of approximately $1 per acre.
