HOMER MORRIS TO END 26-YEAR TENURE AT EDINBURG HIGH SCHOOL

Homer J. Morris, brother of Mrs. Dick Hooks, 1933 graduate of Quitaque High School, ends a 26-year tenure with the same school system on July 1 when he becomes principal of McAllen High School.

He has been principal of Edinburg High School for the past 12 years.

Morris leaves the Edinburg school after 26 years of service there. He began his professional career as a classroom teacher at the Sam Houston School in Edinburg following his graduation from Sul Ross State College at Alpine. Later he became head football coach and after that he was assistant principal, then principal for 12 years.

He has a bachelor degree from Sul Ross, a master of education degree from University of Colorado at Boulder, Colo. and he has also done graduate work at the University of Texas.

Homer was one of the better basketball players ever to graduate from QHS and he also played four years at Sul Ross.

His wife, Mrs. Ruth Morris, is a member of the faculty of Pan American College in Edinburg and directs the college choir. Mrs. Morris and her choir recently completed a nine day tour of the major cities of Mexico during which time two television shows and seven formal concerts directed by Mrs. Morris were presented for large audiences where "standing room only" prevailed.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris will move to McAllen and he will assume his new duties July 1.

ACCENT ON HEALTH

AUSTIN — Officially, summer doesn't arrive until the later part of June, but you couldn't tell it by the weather.

Hot weather is here for the summer, but if you follow a few simple health rules your summer can be a bit more bearable.

First of all, avoid heavy, fat-loaded meals. They are difficult to digest during hot weather. Emphasize fruit and vegetables on your summer menu rather than protein foods—eggs, fish and meat—which your body needs for fuel during the winter months.

Perspiration helps cool the body, but at the same time it drains the body of vital fluids. To replace these fluids, drink plenty of water and other liquids. Fruit juices are a pleasant way to make up the loss. But don't gulp down large amounts of ice water when you are overheated.

The body also loses salt through perspiration. Replace your salt loss at meals, or if your work or exercise causes you to sweat profusely, take salt tablets—about one every half hour with a glass of water.

Parents can place extra salt in children's diet with salted nuts or crackers plus a little added salt during meals.

Rough clothing plays an important role in keeping cool. Loose, light clothing is highly recommended for summertime wear. Normal body temperatures are dependent on the evaporation of sweat.

Avoid wearing clothes that inhibit evaporation. Also, remember that white or light colors are cooler than dark ones, since they do not absorb hot sun rays so readily.

Exercise is an essential part of a well-rounded, healthy life, but it can easily be overdone in the summer. Use common sense and start gradually if you are initiating a summer exercise program. Also, confine any long periods of hard work or active tennis games to the cooler parts of the day.

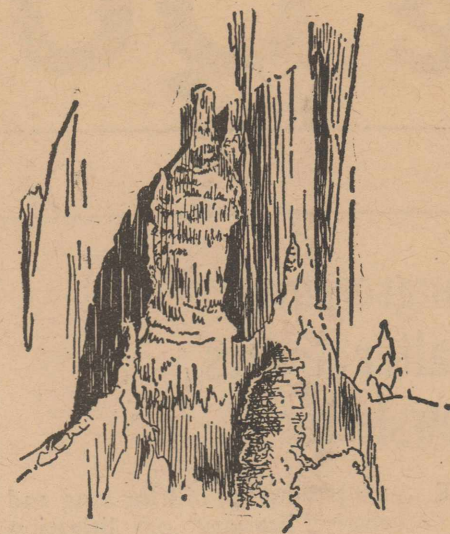

Swimming is one of the best summer sports, provided the proper safety rules are followed—including not swimming alone, getting chilled, waiting at least an hour after meals and avoiding tiredness.

All in all, summer can be one of the most enjoyable seasons of the year . . . provided you use your head as well as your body.

"LET'S GO!"

... to a hidden world in General Telephone Country

Carlsbad Caverns National Park

Renowned throughout the Nation, Carlsbad Caverns is proclaimed by millions to be the world's first natural wonder. Created through countless centuries by giant earth upheavals and water erosion, the Caverns have rooms as big as 14 football fields and ceilings as high as a 22-story building. Several tours are offered visitors. There is even elevator service, to a lunchroom deep in the heart of the cave. Overnight accommodations in hotels, motels and trailer courts are nearby. Shops, restaurant, nursery and kennels are at the service of visitors. Situated in Southwestern New Mexico, open the year 'round, Carlsbad Caverns is readily accessible by major highways from any point. It is an underground fairyland — one of the truly great places to go and things to see in General Telephone Country.

Two major items of business will be before the 8-state South Central Jurisdiction of The Methodist Church when it meets June 29 in Dallas at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel.

The conference will elect a bishop to fill the vacancy to be created by the retirement of Bishop Wm. C. Martin, who has served the North and Central Texas Conferences of The Methodist Church for 16 years. Bishop Martin also headed the Northwest Texas Conference for 12 years.

Also before the conference will be the General Conference Recommendations for integration of the geographical or "white" jurisdiction with the Central or "Negro" jurisdiction. The knotty problem before the delegates will center around the degree of integration to be recommended to the annual conferences.

Some favor transferring the Negro conferences as conferences into the South Central Jurisdiction. Others favor transferring the Negro congregations into the White annual conferences within the jurisdiction. A few whites and negroes may push for integration at the congregational level, but since Negroes may now join white congregations if they choose, a strong effort to merge existing white and negro congregations is not likely to develop.

The Jurisdictional Conference, which will be presided over by each of the bishops of the 8-state area, is under a mandate to develop a plan of voluntary integration of the Central Jurisdiction into the geographical jurisdictions by 1968. If integration has not been achieved by that date, the General Conference has asked a committee of 36 to bring a report to its 1968 session outlining mandatory abolition of the Central Jurisdiction. Acceptance of the report, however, would depend upon the action of the General Conference, and the acceptance of a constitutional amendment by the several annual conferences.

According to the rules adopted by the General Conference which met in Pittsburgh in April, the newly elected bishop cannot serve for at least four years in the area from which he was elected. A minister now serving in the North or Central Texas Conferences, if elected to the episcopacy, could not be assigned to the Dallas - Fort Worth area to succeed Bishop Wm. C. Martin. Assignment of bishops to the Episcopal Areas is made by the Committee on Episcopacy composed of laymen and ministers.

The conference which is expected to draw more than 1000 delegates and visitors (338 are elected delegates begins registration at 9 a. m. June 29. The first session will be at First Methodist Church, Dallas, at 4 p. m. The sessions are open to the public.

Mary Lou Williams Is Bride of Joe Seay

Miss Mary Lou Williams of Whiteville, N. C., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Williams became the bride of Richard Joe Seay, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Persons of Quitaque, in a single ring ceremony performed in the home of the brides parents on Thursday, June 9. The Rev. Clarence Cribb, pastor of the Welcome Freewill Baptist Church, performed the ceremony with a number of friends and relatives present.

The bride was attired in a turquoise sheath dress with black and white accessories. Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for Texas by bus, where they are visiting his parents and other relatives. They will return to North Carolina, where the bride will remain with her parents until her husband completes his duty with the armed forces. He is stationed with the 78th Combat Engineering Battalion in Karlsruhe, Germany. He reports back for duty July 1.

Mrs. Claude Hickey of Memphis, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Eddleman, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Eddleman and Blaine of Silvertown, visited Mr. and Mrs. Reg Cushmanberry and Mr. and Mrs. Murry Morrison and family Sunday.

Hi-Plains Hi-Lights

NEWS from the High Plains Research Foundation

Research results from mechanical topping of semi-open boll varieties of cotton indicate that the practice can be profitable to cotton producers in the High Plains of Texas, according to James Valliant, Water Engineer at the High Plains Research Foundation. Increases in net returns have approached 50 dollars per acre when compared to standard grown stormproof varieties of cotton.

The staple length was increased by topping, which may help expand the cotton market of the High Plains. Fertilizer response was increased when the cotton was topped. Other benefits obtained from mechanical topping are the elimination of the top foliage and small immature bolls which furnished food and shelter for insects. There is also uniform crop height for harvest.

Research tests indicate that topping of stormproof cotton is not considered profitable. Valliant said. Details of the cotton topping results on Gregg, Lockett 88-A, and Paymaster 88-90 for 1963 are available in the 1963 Foundation Research Report No. 112 on the "Comparison of Yield and Quality of Mechanically Topped Cotton with Untopped Cotton." Cotton topping research has been underway at the Foundation for the past three years.

"Farm Centered Research" on cotton topping is underway on a small acreage basis at the following farms, according to Valliant: Terry Green, Earth; Charles Frye, the Easter Community south of Hereford; and James Stair, Providence community northeast of Plainview. The following farmers are testing this practice in the immediate vicinity of the Foundation farm at Halfway: James McDaniel, Don Graham, and Claude Fargason.

At the Foundation, Valliant has enlarged the cotton topping research program to include 7 varieties for the year 1964. Five semi-open boll varieties in the research work at the Foundation are as follows: Paymaster 88-90, Paymaster 111, Austin, DeKalb 108 and Lockett 47-89. The long staple cottons in the cotton topping experiment include: Acala 442 and Acala 1517-BR2. These two varieties are popular in New Mexico and California.
