HOME NOTES (By Becky Hall)

Briscoe County Home Demonstration Agent

To focus attention on the farm and home safety problem, this week, July 24-30 was proclaimed National Farm Safety Week by the President. We are all asked to recognize and vigorously attack the hazards and unsafe practices that cause farm and home accidents. Public acceptance of safety as a part of every activity in daily living could improve human performance and remove many environmental hazards often related to accidents.

Accidents are caused. Since they are caused they can be prevented. Therefore let us make a determined effort toward the vital task of reducing accidents at work, in the home, at recreation, and on the roadways.

We've had a series of articles for you on the safe use of pesticides. For emphasis remember no pesticide container is ever completely empty, so if you keep them, lock them away.

If you only have a few smaller containers (quart size or less) or two or three "bug bomb" aerosol pushbutton cans around the house, you may think that special storage is unnecessary. Pesticide products in any size can be equally hazardous to anyone, especially children who come in contact with them without knowledge of their content.

A central storage area with a lock and key for the "pesticide door" is a very important and inexpensive purchase.

After the pesticide products are locked away, keep the key in a place where only adults will be able to find it.

If you do not like to build things, an army footlocker from a surplus store or any lockable container will do.

The grape harvest season has arrived. You should find several varieties at your favorite food market this week to aid you in menu planning.

The pale green Thompson seedless grapes are plentiful now. You'll also find good quality red cardinal and early-season black grapes on the market.

Look for grapes that are plump, fresh looking, bright in color and have well - formed bunches with mature berries firmly attached to the stem. High color for the variety indicates good sugar content and flavor. White or green grapes are at their best in flavor and sweetness when they begin to turn amber. Dark-colored grapes should be free of any green tinge.

Grapes are a fragile, highly perishable delicacy. Buy them in small quantities and use them within a day or two. If you plan to keep them several days, sort them carefully, and refrigerate them.

For table use, wash grapes in a colander or hold the cluster directly under running water. Turn and shift them so that each berry is washed. Pick off any berries that are overripe or imperfect.

You can use grapes in salads and desserts or in colorful centerpieces. Good fruit choices this week besides grapes are peaches, cherries, plums and bananas. Cantaloupes and watermelons are in fairly good supply, too.

Hot weather has slowed down the volume on most locally-grown vegetables.

Beef is still the best overall red meat value. Fryers are expected to be among meat counter specials.

Dianne Davis shares with us a refreshment idea using Thompson seedless grapes.

1. Wash grapes and remove stems and chill.
2. Soften a 4 oz. package of cream cheese (use a small quantity of cream or whole milk if desired).
3. Coat the grapes with cheese.
4. Chill and serve.

Boundaries of the various communities where elections will be held are: The same as previous years, except community F (Antelope) has been combined with Community E will now be all the land north of the Tulia Highway (No. 86) and east to the Caprock.

The Rev. Clarence Wainwright of Plainview officiated at the funeral service and burial was in Rest Haven Cemetery under the direction of Quitaque Funeral Home.

One day the Harmons visited in Douglas, Ariz. and drove over into Old Mexico. They visited at Bisbee, a mining town built on the side of a mountain, one of the oldest towns in that state. It was built as a stronghold against the Indians. They visited a copper mine there. Another day they went to see the famous old town of Tombstone, Ariz. and saw many historical things of interest, including "Boot Hill." They took a trip into the mountains and saw a lot of beautiful scenery.

The Harmons took their son, Robin to Tucson on Monday where he boarded a bus bound for Oakland, Calif. to report back to duty in the Army. He will be sent to Viet Nam from there. While in Tucson the Harmons toured "Old Tucson", where many western movies are filmed. A movie had just been finished there the preceding Saturday, so the Harmons didn't see any movie stars.

On their return home they spent two nights in Ruidoso, N. M. They report the weather better here than any place they visited in Arizona.

If Ben Franklin were around today, he'd be amazed at what's happened to some of the things he innovated.

His fire insurance idea, for instance, has mushroomed into thousands of companies protecting millions of Americans.

His adventure with lightning has helped create myriads of electrical servants that make life easier and more fun.

And tens of millions of American families live by his principle of thrift, and save by investing regularly in U. S. Savings Bonds. At maturity Bonds pay $25.00 for every $18.75 you invest. Or, as Mr. Franklin might have said it, "1,875 pennies saved is 2,500 pennies earned."

And while the money is piling up for retirement, or an emergency, or your children's education, Uncle Sam is using it to strengthen the foundation of freedom Ben Franklin helped build.

Begin saving your pennies. Only 63 of them a day for one month, and you've got your starter Bond.

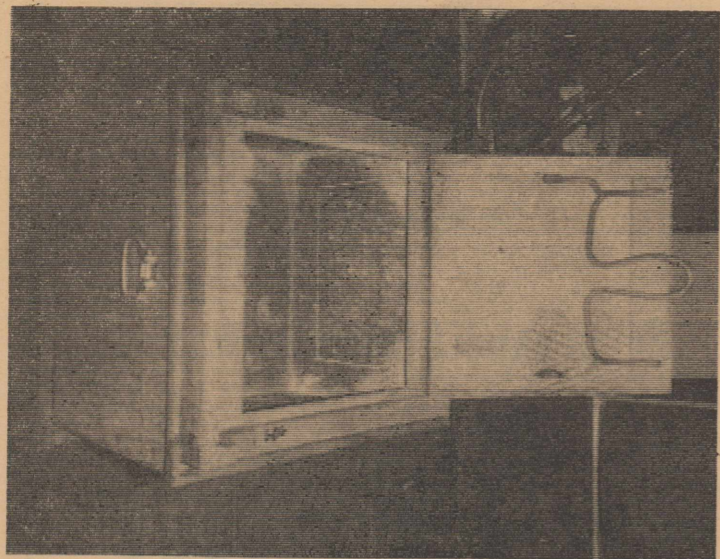

For your information: Series E Bonds pay back $4 for every $3 at maturity, are protected against loss, provide tax advantages, can be purchased where you work or bank. For current income on your investment, ask about Series H Bonds.

Would you believe — a Washing Machine?

Pictured above is the very latest in washing machines—that is it would be if this were the year 1910.

tom side of the lid in the lower photo. A push-pull motion of the handle caused the agitator to work back and forth to clean the clothes. Of course, the harder the operator worked, the more vigorous the machine worked. About the only improvement we can see over the old stand-by rub board method is that the operator could sit down to work and did not have to keep her hands in the water all of the time. Too, there is a drain plug on the side which lets the water run out instead of having to lift the tub in order to empty it.

This antique, in very good condition, now belongs to Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hawkins and is on display at their store.

The washing machine originally belonged to the wife of the first county judge of Briscoe County, Judge Stalbird. It was purchased from A. J. Dyars at Lockney in 1910.

Judge Stalbird's daughter, Miss Emma Stalbird, made her home for 25 years with Mrs. Hawkins' twin sister, Mrs. Nora Ayers at Lockney. Miss Stalbird presented the machine recently to Mrs. Hawkins.

There is also a wringer that goes with the machine but the Hawkins do not have that at the present, but will pick it up later.

Sam Ross and Jimmy were in Skellytown Saturday night to attend a statewide Masonic meeting.

WMU MET TUESDAY FOR BIBLE STUDY

The members of W.M.U. of First Baptist Church met Tuesday morning for Bible Study.

The meeting was opened with a song, followed by the reading of the Scripture. Mrs. Jim Stroup led a prayer, then began the study of the reign of the kings and the fall of the nation Judah. The study covered 40 chapters in the Bible and needless to say, the study had to be condensed and only the highlights of the fall of Judah, and the events that led to its destruction was covered.

The ladies were given a number of Scriptures covering the chapters and each lady participated in the reading. Mrs. Stroup presented a very interesting and enlightening study. We feel the ladies who were absent missed a blessing and urge them to put forth a greater effort to attend each week.

There were 10 ladies present Tuesday morning in Bible study. Next Bible study will take up the Israelite Nation after its fall into captivity.

GA GIRLS AND SPONSOR SPEND LAST WEEK AT CAMP

Mrs. Murray Wise and five Junior G.A. girls from the First Baptist Church attended camp at the Baptist Assembly at Floydada last week. The girls were Eva Cheatham, Cheryl Merrell, Velda Woods, Kena Rucker and Cheri Brown. Jo Anna Wise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monte Wise, who had been visiting at Lubbock, joined the girls at camp and returned to Quitaque with Mrs. Wise for a visit here.

The Intermediate G.A. girls are planning a cookout in the near future for their summer recreation now that softball is not their recreational activity.

(Your reporter listed Mrs. Bruce Price as being with the girls at camp last week. Both have the first name "Betty", thus the reason for the mixup).

DAUGHTER AND FAMILY OF MR. AND MRS. JOHN ROGERS ARE ON TEN-WEEK TOUR OF WEST

(Two years ago your editor, Mrs. Owens, had the pleasure of meeting and talking with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Burns of Norwalk, Calif., and of all the unlikely places to meet, it was at the laundry. The Burns were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers, and other relatives. Mrs. Burns is the former Cleota Rogers. I found a conservation with Mr. Burns, who is a school teacher, about the trip they were on at that time most interesting. The Burns family are visiting here again, and are on another camping trip and I was privileged to once again talk with them about the trip they are on. I will give you some of the highlights as it was told to me.)

Mr. and Mrs. Burns, Patricia, Joan, John and Jim left Norwalk June 24. Their first stop was at Lake Meade, near Overton, Utah. In Overton there is a reconstructed Indian Village and museum which was of great interest to them. Mr. Burns explained that the purpose of this trip was to study the geological construction of the places they visit, and since they are camping out in tents, they feel they can understand and appreciate nature more by really being a part of it.

After leaving Overton their next stop was at the Zion National Park in Utah. The steep cliffs they observed there are believed to have been 120,000,000 years in the formation. In Bryce, Utah, they saw formations believed to have taken 60,000,000 years to form. Where the cliffs were sheer and steep at Zion Park, the ones at Bryce were more like spires or church steeples.

Their next stop was the north rim of Grand Canyon. It is believed that nature took 150,000,000 years to create the wonders found in that canyon. Enroute to Grand Canyon, the Burns drove through Monumental Valley. They report a great contrast going from this beautiful valley, suddenly into the mountains, then the Canyon.

Lake Powell was visited next.

which is located behind Glen Canyon Dam, the second largest dam in the United States. From there the Burns visited Canyon Lands, and Arches National Park, just out of Moab, Utah.

Other stops were at the Black Canyon of the Gunnison in Colorado between Grand Junction and Montrose. Three dams are being built on the river now. They visited Mesa Verde near Durango and saw the cliff dwellers, which proved to be a remarkable sight to them and they were impressed to see they were still being lived in after 700 years.

After leaving Mesa Verde the Burns drove down to Santa Fe, N. M. where they found many points of interest. They had visited Santa Fe two years ago and didn't spend as much time there this trip. Leaving Santa Fe they drove to Tucumcari and Amarillo, then on to Quitaque, arriving here about noon on Tuesday of last week.

The Burns family left today (Thursday) to visit points of interest in Oklahoma, planning to visit Red Rock Canyon near Oklahoma City, visit the museum there, also the Will Rogers Museum. They plan stops at Anadarko, Lawton and Fort Sill. They will return to Quitaque on their return home and will possibly be here for the Quitaque Homecoming.

Ouchless Bandage Triumph of Science

New to the language of our times is the word "ouchless." Behind this rather effective new expression which may one day work its way into the dictionary there lies an amazing story of scientific research and accomplishment.

Fresh in the memory of every person over 25 is the familiar and painful sensation which frequently resulted from the removal of a bandage. Along with the adhesive would come tiny hairs, and often, enough of the scab to re-open the wound. Then, the whole process had to be repeated.

To combat this pain and trauma, scientists in the research laboratories of the Kendall Company worked for years. Today's ouchless Curad and Telfa bandages are the result.

New Idea: Plastic On Wounds

The major breakthrough came when they determined to try placing plastic immediately next to the wound, a completely fresh concept in the treatment of open wounds. The reason for the decision: plastic would not adhere to the cut or to the scab.

A plastic called "mylar" was finally selected because it was sterilizable — an important consideration. The next step was to find a way to capitalize on the plastic's natural resistance to adhesion without sealing off air from the wound and without restricting nature's flow of exudates.

To do this, researchers finally hit upon exactly the right number of perforations per square inch in the mylar plastic. Next, they backed it up with a cotton filler for absorption, and, in turn, backed up the cotton with another perforated plastic cover which held the bandage to the wound and protected both. Then, the whole bandage was sterilized and sealed in a sterile wrapper.

The nation's doctors and hospitals then had to be convinced that the new concept of placing plastic next to an open wound would be safe and beneficial. Much research was done in hospitals and, finally, the doctors placed their approval on the new product when they saw it come off, time after time, without re-opening wounds.

The first major change in bandages in generations was a reality by 1956. Within a decade, the same basic concept has carried over in many other procedures for protection of wounds of all kinds.

Merciful for Burn Treatment

From the small finger-size Curad bandage to very large dressings, doctors and the public now have available many convenient sizes. Latest of these now common on drug store shelves is one which is self-adhering — the Telfa adhesive pad. It can be quickly applied with only one hand — often an important consideration.

Even the mylar plastic is used in sheet-form, without any backing, in the treatment of wounds caused by massive burns. It has proved an effective and merciful aid in burn treatment.

Today virtually every hospital in the United States, and every drug store in the nation, stocks bandages developed on this principle.

Millions of the new bandages are used every day in the protection of wounded men, women and children — and the scientists who had set out to create a better bandage, are happy that they have, in the process, produced an "ouchless" one as well.

BANK NOTES by Malcolm

DID YOU KNOW?

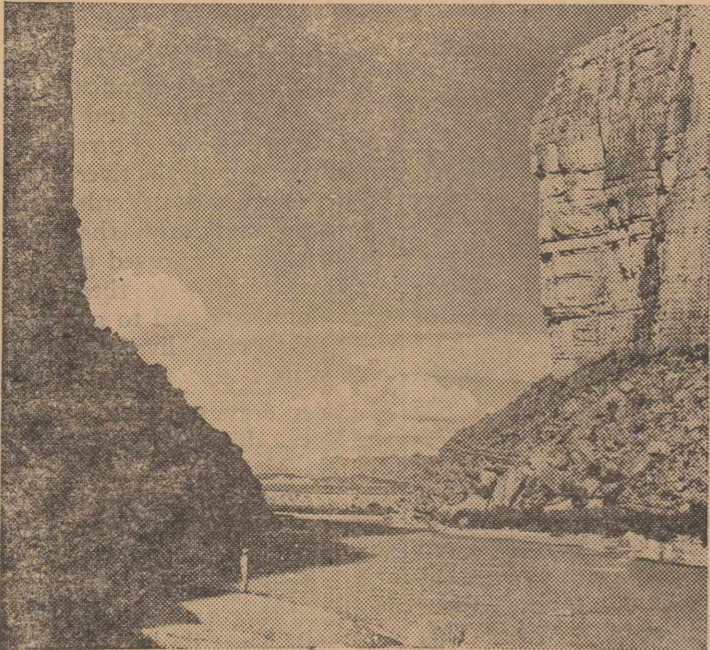

AMONG THE MANY BANK SERVICES IS THE SELLING OF FOREIGN EXCHANGE, MAKING IT POSSIBLE FOR BUSINESS FIRMS OR TOURISTS TO ACQUIRE FOREIGN MONEY FOR IMPORTING OR TRAVEL.

ALTHOUGH THEY'RE OFTEN REFUSED AS PAYMENT AND OCCASIONALLY SHUNNED AS BAD-LUCK OWNS, $2 BILLS ARE PERFECTLY LEGAL MONEY. THERE ARE ABOUT 39,000,000 OF THEM IN CIRCULATION.

A SENTIMENTAL HOUSEWIFE ONCE WROTE OUT A $100 CHECK ON A PORTION OF HER HUSBAND'S OLD AIR FORCE SHIRT. THE BANK PROCESSED IT, REMARKING, "WE ENJOY THE HUMOR OF THE SITUATION, BUT HOPE IT DOESN'T BECOME A COMMON PRACTICE."
