Girls Win Two At Silverton

Quitaque's Pantherette A and B teams took a pair of wins over Silverton at Silverton last Friday night.

The B girls started the ball to bouncing and at first it appeared that the Quitaque lasses were going to give the Owlettes a real good licking, holding their opponents to a single field goal in the first quarter and scoring 8 points. In the second period however, the two teams ho-hummed for 2 points apiece and at halftime the score was 10-4 with the visitors leading. Business picked up a bit during the third period and the Pantherettes shot themselves into a 23 - 11 lead. During the fourth quarter the Owlettes outscored the Pantherettes 11-4, the final tally being 27-22.

Cheryl Mason led the scoring parade for the Pantherettes with 12 points. Sherry Stark, playing for the first time since breaking a bone in her hand in the second game of the season, scored 11 points, Billie Cheatham scored 2 points and Gwen McKay scored 2.

The Owlette - Pantherette tilt was a pretty good ball game. The Owlettes jumped into an early lead and maintained a lead through most of the first period of play although Quitaque managed to pull even just before the end of the quarter and the score was tied at the first stop, 9-9. The girls from under the Cap went ahead in the early minutes of the second quarter and gradually pulled away from the Owlettes, winning 41-26. This was the first time in several years that the Pantherettes have been able to win over the Owlettes. The Silverton crew did not have an outside shooter who could hit Friday night and guards Shirley Dowd, Lynette Taylor, Barbara Reagan and Jill Johnson, who divided her time between guard and forward, did a good job of keeping the Silverton forwards from getting shots in close.

Patricia Brunson tossed in 17 points to lead all scoring. Jill Johnson was runnerup in the scoring department with 13 points; Carol Myers tallied 9 points, Jo Beth Merrell and Barbara Chandler each scored one point.

Friday night the local teams host Paducah High in a double header in the local gym. The Panthers will be trying to get back on the winning side of the ledger and the girls will be trying for a win over the Paducah Dragonettes, a team they have been unable to win over the past couple of years.

Next Monday night the Silverton High boys and girls come to Quitaque for a pair of games and on Tuesday night the locals go to Paducah. The reason for the Monday night games next week is to avoid having games during the Thanksgiving holidays.

New Cotton Program For 1966 Announced

A new program for cotton for 1966 announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, based on the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, was signed into law last week by President Johnson.

Incorporating several new features, the program is designed to bring about a better balance between supply and demand, to prevent runaway cotton production, to keep cotton priced competitively on domestic and world markets, to protect the income of cotton farmers, and to reduce Government costs.

As in past years, the program must be approved by cotton growers before it can be placed in operation. A national cotton referendum is set for November 23, 1965. In this referendum at least two-thirds of the cotton farmers must approve cotton marketing quotas for 1966 before the essential provisions of the new program can go into effect. If more than one-third of the growers disapprove quotas, the only cotton program will be price support at 50 percent of parity for growers who do not exceed their acreage allotments.

In the same referendum cotton growers in each cotton county will have an opportunity to vote on whether they want to permit local cotton acreage allotments to be sold, leased or transferred out of the county. Unless two-thirds or more of the growers in a county favor sales or leases out-of-county, such transfers may be made only within the county.

The new cotton program is voluntary. The farmer who wants to take part in the program and thus become a "cooperator" agrees to divert at least 12.5 percent of his effective cotton acreage allotment into soil conserving uses. For this, the cooperating farmer will be eligible to receive price support loans and payments and acreage diversion payments.

In addition, there will be special provisions for small cotton farmers which will protect their income but require no reduction in acreage. Another feature of the program allocates a limited acreage to farmers who want to raise cotton solely for the export market. These farmers may receive an additional acreage allotment for this purpose. However, they would not receive loans and other benefits of the cotton program available to cooperators.

The price-support payment rate will be 9.42 cents a pound. This payment will be earned on the domestic allotment which will be 65 percent of the farm's effective allotment. The total payment will be 9.42 cents per pound times the projected yield per acre times the domestic allotment (or times the acreage planted if this is less than 90 percent of the domestic allotment).

The diversion payment rate will be 10.5 cents per pound. This will be earned on the acreage diverted from cotton production and put to conserving uses. This will be in addition to the acreage in the conserving base for the farm. The payment will be 10.5 cents times the projected yield per acre times the acreage diverted. However, the acreage diverted for payment may not exceed 35 percent of the acreage allotment.

Price support loans will be available to "cooperators" in the cotton acreage diversion program, the loan rates of individual quantities will be based on a national average loan rate of 21 cents per pound for middling 1-inch cotton at average location.

The relatively low loan rate will continue "one-price" at around world price levels. This makes it possible for U. S. cotton to move in either domestic or export channels without the need for either an equalization payment or an export payment. Price support and diversion payments to growers will maintain farm income. The payments the farmers earn will offset the lower cotton loan rate.

Farmers with larger cotton acreages will have the choice of diverting either 12.5 percent, or 25 percent, or 35 percent of the farm's effective allotment from the production of cotton. They will receive payments based on the acreage diverted. Unless farmers divert the acreage they sign up for they will not be eligible for full program benefits.

Small farms under the program are those with an allotment of not more than 10 acres, or on which the projected production is not more than 3,600 pounds. No acreage reduction is required on these farms to receive program benefits. However, small farms that do voluntarily divert up to 35 percent of their farm allotment will receive additional diversion payment for such acreage. Farms from which any acreage is released for reapportionment will not be eligible for small farm benefits.

Voluntary sign-up: All cotton farmers both large and small must sign up for the program during a period to be announced in order to be eligible for the 1966 cotton program benefits.

Export market acreage: A national export acreage reserve of 250,000 acres is established for 1966. A producer may request and be allotted a share of the export acreage reserve, thus enabling him to plant more than his allotment. However, all of the farm's cotton production must then be exported. No price support would be available for cotton produced on that farm, or on any other farm in which the operator with export market acreage has a substantial or controlling interest.

Cropland Adjustment Program: Cotton producers will have an opportunity to divert their cotton acreage from production for a long-term period under the terms of this program. This new program is designed to supplement the commodity programs by offering cotton, wheat and feed grain producers agreements running from 5 to 10 years for retirement of crop acreage from production.

REPORT ON BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL PROGRAM

A recent boll weevil report from W. L. Owen, entomologist with the South Plains Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, has reaffirmed two facts about the High Plains boll weevil.

One, the High Plains weevil is a "different critter" from the boll weevils found in South Texas and other parts of the cotton belt.

Two, without the diapause control program carried out in the Fall of 1964 the pest would have laid waste to many thousands of previously uninfested acres of cotton on the High Plains.

The report was primarily related to the winter survival rate of weevils in this area. Weevil "cages" were installed in various locations under different conditions. The cages were filled with weevils from both the High Plains area and from near College Station to determine which would live through the winter in greater numbers.

The High Plains reared weevil won hands down, proving beyond reasonable doubt that ours is a separate strain of weevil which has adapted himself to area conditions.

The two paragraphs from Owens' report which deal with what might have happened this year without the 1064 diapause control program are quoted below.

"The delayed emergence from hibernation allowed most of the weevils to immediately move to cotton for feeding. A good portion of the population emerged after the cotton had squares large enough to allow egg deposition. The delayed emergence and the much higher survival than in 1964 resulted in field infestations only 35,000 acres less than the acreage included in the 1964 control program. This spread occurred following a 90 percent reduction of diapausing weevil populations and by far the best in-season control program yet attempted.

"It would, therefore, appear that had the 1964 diapause control program not been used the spread of the weevil during the summer of 1965 might have proved disastrous. If only 10 percent of the possible overwintering population was left, as a result of the fall program, and a good in-season control program still allowed such wide spread infestation, lack of the reductions effected by the two programs would have released weevil populations that would have brought saturated conditions of infestations much earlier than yet experienced. Earlier migration would have occurred, with the pest spreading over much wider areas than previously recorded. A longer period of reproduction and spread would have occurred on the High Plains cotton and this would possibly have made the cost of the diapause control program seem small."

An even more intensive diapause control effort this fall is now in the closing stages, with hopes for as much as a 99 percent reduction in the number of weevils left to overwinter.

The program, costing over a million dollars per year, is jointly financed by producers and the Federal and State governments. The producers' part in keeping the weevils off the Plains is at the rate of 40 cents a bale paid along with the compress receiving charge. In addition, producers, through Plains Cotton Growers, initiated and are coordinating the control program.

Veal Cutlets And Rice Lombardy

Give a male cook some boneless veal steak, some hot cooked rice, a bit of sliced American cheese and a can of tomato soup and he is well on his way to preparing a flavorful casserole known as Veal Cutlets and Rice Lombardy.

Slices of veal steak are dipped and cooked until lightly browned in a covering of egg and cereal crumbs flavored with Parmesan cheese. The meat is then arranged in a baking dish atop a bed of hot cooked rice, covered with cheese slices and tomato soup sauce and baked to mingle the flavors.

Rice which forms the base of this casserole, is the ideal partner for zesty foods. It absorbs their flavors and adds its own interesting texture. Because it keeps indefinitely on the shelf and is ready to cook as it comes from the package, it is a convenient addition to any food or as a food to be served by itself. For this recipe choose any type of American grown rice — brown, regular milled white rice, parboiled or precooked rice — and prepare according to package directions.

Menu suggestion for the meal that features Veal Cutlets and Rice Lombardy: antipasto or green salad and for dessert fresh fruits and espresso coffee in the northern Italy fashion.

VEAL CUTLETS AND RICE LOMBARDY

- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 cup fine rice cereal crumbs
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 1/2 pound boneless veal steak or cutlets, 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick
- 1/4 cup shortening, melted
- 3 cups hot cooked rice
- 1 lb. sliced American cheese
- 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) tomato soup

Blend egg with milk, garlic salt, and pepper. Combine cereal crumbs and Parmesan cheese. Cut meat in serving pieces; pound until double in area. Dip cutlets in egg mixture then in crumbs. Cook prepared cutlets in hot shortening until tender and lightly browned on each side. Spoon rice into a greased baking pan. Arrange cutlets on rice. Top cutlets with cheese slices and cover with tomato soup. Cover and bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

H. W. Harris probably does as much fishing as anyone in this vicinity. And, if there are fish to be caught in a lake he usually brings home a nice stringer-ful. He reports that he has had pretty good luck all this year fishing at Lake Theo. In the pictures above are shown part of recent catches brought in from Lake Theo. He reports that he has caught bass weighing up to five pounds and also one blue cat weighed over four pounds.

QUITAQUE STUDENTS TO VOTE ON A STANDARD CLASS RING

In a recent trustee meeting, the proposition of allowing the students to design and standardize a class ring was discussed and was decided to allow them to do so if they so desired.

The officers of the top six grades (excluding the present seniors) have met several times in the past two weeks to discuss this idea along with Mr. Mason.

At this time, the students are most favorable toward the adoption of such a ring and this Friday the students will vote on two propositions:

Proposition No. 1 will be to vote for or against the adoption of a standard ring.

Proposition No. 2 will be to vote for or against a Round-type ring or a Square-type ring.

When these two propositions are settled, the students will meet to set up already discussed styles and engraving for the type ring selected.

There are several good advantages to selecting a standard ring, namely, recognition of Quitaque graduates; price reduction of some $3 per ring; and elimination of a lot of dissatisfaction at each meeting as to the kind, shape, color, etc. of the ring when selection time comes for each class.

There are disadvantages, too, each of which has been fully discussed before the students. The fact that students might want to change in the next few years is one. This, of course, is something that would have to be faced and discussed at the time, presented to the administration and ultimately to the Board of Trustees under the contract signed with the company.

It appears to the students with whom this was discussed that the advantages far outweighed the disadvantages and this week's election will test the feeling of the student body from the sixth through the eleventh grades.

Sketches of rings similar in style to the ones most favorable (round and square) have been on display in the high school hall the past few days.

How to make a holiday last all year long

"How often do you call Long Distance to friends or members of the family?"

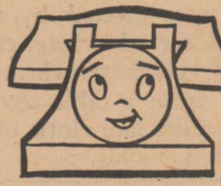

"Well, I expect to make some calls on Thanksgiving and maybe on Christmas."

"Why wait for a holiday or special occasion to call — that's the old fashioned way!"

"How come? Is the phone company having a sale just now?"

"No, not that. New low-cost long distance rates are now in effect all day Sunday and every night after eight — so now for a dollar or less, you can keep in touch more often."

"Say! That's a good idea! Tonight I'll make some important calls I've been putting off."

"Fine! Thanks to new low rates you can call anywhere in continental U. S.* station-to-station and talk three minutes for $1.00 or less. This is the big communications bargain — the modern way to keep in touch at all times."

* Except Alaska.
