COLLEGE LOAN PROGRAMS ARE EXPLAINED

High school juniors and seniors were reminded today that they may be able to obtain financial help to go to college under one of four Federally supported programs.

Dr. C. V. Galbreath, Director of Higher Education for Region VII of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, urged that seniors who are planning to attend college this fall and who need financial assistance to meet educational costs get in touch immediately with the financial aid officer at the college of their choice and apply for a job, loan, grant or other assistance for which they may be eligible.

The four major Federal programs of financial aid to students, available to eligible students in any field of study, are: The National Defense Student Loan Program, the College Work-Study Program, the Educational Opportunity Grants Program, and the Guaranteed Loan Program.

During the 1967-68 academic year it is expected that these four programs will assist about 1,175,000 undergraduates students throughout the Nation to attend institutions of higher education, at a total cost of over $1.1 billion.

National Defense Student Loan Program

"Most colleges and universities in the United States take part in the National Defense Student Loan Program, the oldest major program of Federally supported student assistance," Dr. Galbreath said.

Under this program students borrow directly from their colleges. Repayment and interest do not begin until after the student has ended his studies, and may be extended over a 10-year period. An undergraduate student may borrow up to $1,000 each academic year to a total of $5,000. Graduate students may borrow as much as $2,500 per year to a maximum of $10,000. There is a special cancellation provision for student borrowers who become teachers.

For the academic year beginning this fall, an estimated 16,550 students in Texas, in attendance at 84 institutions of higher education, will borrow an estimated $11,600,000. College Work-Study Program

The College Work-Study Program provides jobs on campus or off campus for students who need employment to help pay for college expenses. During the present school year it is estimated more than 184,000 undergraduate students are employed in this program, earning an average total salary of about $700 a year. During the present school year an estimated 9,980 students attending 77 colleges in Texas were employed in College Work-Study programs, at an approximate Federal cost of $6,550,000.

Educational Opportunity Grants

"Educational Opportunity Grants," Dr. Galbreath said, "is a new program that began operation in the fall of 1966. It is intended for undergraduate students in such extreme financial need that without the grants they could not attend college."

In its first year of operation, $58 million in Federal grants enabled 134,000 students to attend college. These students, so long as they remain in good standing, are eligible to apply for grants each year of undergraduate study. The grants range from $200 to $800 a year.

During this school year 5,037 students are attending college in Texas with the help of Educational Opportunity Grants.

Guaranteed Loan Program

The Guaranteed Loan Program, which began operation in the summer of 1966, provides a means for students to borrow directly from their bank, credit union, savings and loan association or other eligible lender. While any student may borrow, the program is intended primarily to ease the heavy burden of educational costs for middle-income families. For students whose adjusted family income is less than $15,000 a year the Federal government pays the entire interest (6 percent during the school years, and half the interest (3 percent) during the repayment period, which begins when studies are terminated. The loans are "guaranteed" by a State agency, or a private non-profit agency designated by the state.

"In spite of the 'tight money market' which existed as the program got underway, and still exists," Dr. Galbreath said, "Between July 1, 1966 and February 28, 1967, throughout the Nation more than 260,000 students borrowed a total of more than $206 million in loans. During this time, 7,725 students in Texas borrowed $5,167,290 for their college expenses."

"A few years ago a college education was a luxury reserved for the child of affluent parents or youngsters with outstanding scholastic ability or athletic skills," Dr. Galbreath said, "but fortunately for our young people and for our country's future this situation has been changed."

Dr. Galbreath urged citizens throughout Texas to look for talented young people who might not know of these opportunities for higher education and to encourage them to finish high school and go on to college.

RALPH WAYNE REPORTS FROM STATE CAPITOL

Representative Ralph Wayne writes to the editors reporting on the happenings down at Austin. He said:

The 60th Session of the Legislature is going into the final stages with less than two weeks left. I thought I might take this opportunity to bring you up to date on some of the more important issues which you might be interested in.

First, I'm happy to say that Representative David Crews and I have passed four of the major bills in the Governor's Safety program. The major bill, HB 354, was passed today. It provides that with driver education, a person can get his drivers' license at the age of 16. Otherwise, he must be 18. However, I retained the hardship exemption in order to protect the cases where it's necessary for one member of the family to get his license at an earlier age.

The re-examination clause was removed at my request in the subcommittee. It would have been impossible to pass the bill with the re-examination feature in, it and statistics did not bear out the need. The bill also provides for "provisional" drivers licenses until the age of 21. This type of license will be of a different color and the driver's color picture and thumbprint will be on the license. This should cut down on the purchase of alcohol by minors, using altered licenses.

We have revised the Criminal Code in order to correct some of the errors we made last Session. In addition, we have tightened up the parole laws, making a convict stay in prison longer.

HB 692, which I authored, setting up the Western Information Network, passed the House last Friday. It allows 18 colleges and universities to form a television network for education and industrial purposes. Wayland College will be one of those participating, as well as Texas Tech and West Texas State.

Representative Jim Nugent and I have introduced a resolution for phasing out the State's share of the ad valorem tax. This tax is inequitable, and our resolution would allow the voters of Texas to decide on repealing the State's share.

I was fortunate to be selected by Speaker Barnes to address the State-Federal Tax Sharing Conference in New York recently. My resolution on these tax-back programs has now passed the House. It calls for 5 percent of the Federal Income Tax to be returned to the States so as to lessen the tax burden on State Citizens.

In connection with Governor Connally's proposal that we pass a one year appropriation bill and thereby not have a tax bill this session support is building up rapidly. Then at the end of our next fiscal year, our normal growth in taxes should give us a small surplus, and we would not need too large a tax bill next year.

This proposal would actually put the State on a more

"business-like" basis of operation. It would not be necessary for various State Agencies to "pad" their requests for a two year period. We could operate on a one year basis and save the tax-payers money.

We should have the appropriations bill out this week for House floor action. In addition, we should lay out the re-districting bill within the next few days. If we can dispose of these measures, we should get by without a special session until the budget session next year.

I hope this letter has given you some insight to some of the issues facing us. If I may be of further service, please call on me.

Best personal regards.

Sincerely,

Ralph Wayne

HOUSE COMMITTEE ACTS ON SAFETY LAWS

Austin — A greatly strengthened driver license law and an expansion of the State's driver education program have been recommended by the Highway and Roads Committee of the Texas House of Representatives.

Under the proposed law, regular driver licenses will be issued to persons 15 years of age when the existence of an emergency or hardship can be proven. Instruction permits will be issued to teenagers who have completed the classroom portion of driver education. Operators of motorscooters and motorcycles with five horsepower or less will be licensed at age 15.

Regular driver licenses will be issued at age 16 to teenagers who have completed driver education courses or who present a certificate from their superintendent of schools showing that driver education is not taught in their school. This provision will apply until June 1, 1969 in order to permit schools to gear up for the vastly expanded driver education program.

The minimum age for the issuance of chauffeur and commercial licenses will be 17.

Other provisions of the proposed driver license law contained in House Bill 354 will require that all motorcycle operators be licensed; that a birth certificate, thumbprints, and a description of the applicant be submitted with all original applications for driver licenses; and that provisional driver licenses be issued for all persons under 21. Regular tests must be passed before new drivers can be licensed.

Other provisions of the proposed law provide for the establishment of rehabilitation schools by the Department of Public Safety to be attended by persons whose driver licenses have been suspended or revoked and the creation of a four-year driver license plus two-year commercial and chauffeur's driver licenses.

The Highways and Roads Committee recommended passage of House Bill 357, which provides for strengthening the State's inspection program.

Safety legislation recently passed by the Texas House includes the requirement that all motorcycle operators wear approved types of helmets and

APRICOT SNACK LOAF

- 1/2 cup chopped dried apricots
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 1/4 cup margarine
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 1/2 cup orange juice

Soak apricots in hot water 15 minutes; drain. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together into mixing bowl. Add nuts and drained apricots. Set aside.

Blend margarine and sugar, then blend in egg, corn syrup and orange juice. Stir into flour mixture, mixing well. Turn into greased (8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 inch) loaf pan. Bake in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven until loaf tests done, 60 to 70 minutes. Cool in pan 10 minutes. Remove pan. Cool completely.

that the State Department of Health study the medical aspects of driving, licensing, enforcement of traffic safety laws, and accident investigation.

"The 60th Legislature can go down in history as the one that helped save the lives of thousands of Texans," Robert F. Miller, President, Texans for Traffic Safety, said in commenting on the action taken by the House Highway and Roads Committee.

"A total of 3,406 persons were killed in Texas traffic accidents last year. This was an increase of 12 per cent over the previous year. The dollars-and-cents cost of traffic accidents in our State last year exceeded $550 million. The remedial legislation now being considered by the Texas Legislature can be the first step in checking our State's terrible traffic toll." "I hope that all Texans who believe we should slow down the slaughter on our highways will let their legislators know how they feel.

"If the 60th Legislature will give the people of our State good, modern traffic laws and if these laws are enforced and obeyed by Texans, I am confident that our traffic accident rate will nose-dive. When this happens it will mean that the lives of hundreds of Texans will be saved, thanks to the enactment of forward-looking laws and their enforcement," Mr. Miller concluded.

Green Thumb Tips

As you transplant seedlings into the garden, give a thought to future watering. Rainfall or water from the hose will gather in depressions in the soil. If you leave a slight depression around each newly set plant and eliminate any nearby, you'll insure the moisture so necessary for the growth of the plants.

It is a great mistake to garden when the soil is wet. If it should happen to be largely clay, working it while wet will result in a product closely resembling concrete — certainly not a medium in which plants will grow happily.

The time to eliminate weeds is when they sprout. Then it's simple to dislodge the roots with a cultivator. Later, when weeds have grown, the weeding job takes both time and effort.

Some annuals bloom so quickly when sown from seeds that several sowings should be made to keep their flowers in your garden all summer. These include annual baby's breath and candytuft.

Do you know that both of these flowers may be grown in colored forms as well as the usual white? There is a rose-colored baby's breath and a mixture of seeds of candytuft available that will produce plants with lilac, pink, carmine and cardinal flowers as well as white.

For a different ingredient in salads, why not plant endive? It's as easy to grow as lettuce, but don't bother to use the seedlings that you thin because they do not taste sweet. Wait until plants have grown and then use only the center leaves, which will be tender and delicious.

An unusually dainty climbing plant for use in window boxes, hanging baskets or just to cover a bare bit of soil is the black-eyed susan vine. Flower colors are yellow, orange, buff or white and most blooms have the black eyes of their namesake.

This vine grows in sun but also does very well in light shade.

Transplanted Southerners and Northerners who want to grow that Southern delicacy okra — often called gumbo — should know that the seeds will not sprout well as long as the weather and soil are cool. Delay planting seeds until the soil warms up and you'll have no trouble getting plenty of seedlings.

Looking for a quick cover for that hot dry spot? Plant seeds of portulaca, nasturtiums, or sweet alyssum. These plants enjoy sun and poor soil.

NOTES FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

Representative W. S. "Bill" Healy, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, has said that an additional $23 million in government funds will be dumped into Texas welfare by virtue of Title 19 Bill passed recently. The bill, which implements the federal program with state aid, contains legislation providing assistance to patients over 65 in the state mental health institutions. In addition, tubercular patients over 65 and 400 to 500 mentally retarded who are confined to infirmaries may qualify for the welfare assistance. "The federal government pays 4 to 1," Healy said, "and this means that an additional $23 million of government monies will recirculate through our institutions every year. In addition to enhancement of our Mental Health and Mental Retardation program, there may be a major enhancement in our Youth Council program and an increase in welfare payments."

Mental Health His "Pet"
Healy said the additional funds under Title 19 Bill will help immeasurably to further many needed mental health programs. "Mental health has always been one of my pets," he added, "and I have worked diligently in that area during my seven terms as a legislator."

Another "pet" project of Mr. Healy's is assisting college young people to secure part time jobs. He said he continuously works at getting employers and students together in all 22 state colleges and universities. "I consider this a personal project," he said, "one that doesn't stop when the session ends."

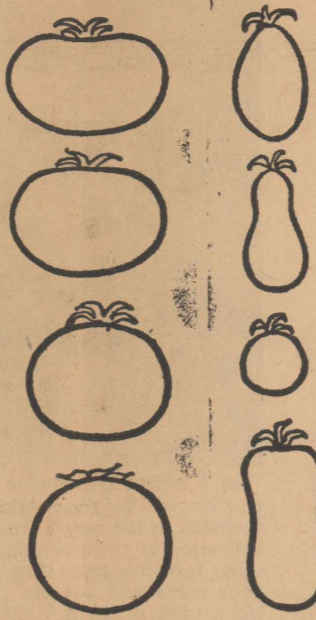

One Year Budget
Commenting on the Governor's proposed one-year budget, Healy said in his opinion it is "wise and logical." He added, "It is very difficult to appropriate the right budget for 30 months in advance and do so with accuracy."

Citing two major factors in state budgeting, Healy said, "So many things now are contingent upon the federal health, education and welfare programs, it is logical for the state to budget once a year in accordance with the annual budgeting of these programs." He said of equal importance is the continued rapid growth of the state. "Our present growth makes biennial budgeting unrealistic," he said.

The House passed a constitutional amendment to provide for annual budgeting in the future. If the Senate approves, the amendment will be put to popular vote in November.

Healy said no further tax

The Shape Of A Tomato

Tomato shapes vary both within the large and the small-fruited types. Most tomato varieties are globe-shaped, 3rd from the top in the left hand column of the outlines above.

Have you ever thought of the varying shapes in which tomatoes are formed? And how those differing shapes often indicate either the flavor or the use to which the particular variety or varieties are put?

The first four shapes, from top to bottom of the left hand column in the illustration, have descriptive names: oblate, deep oblate, globe and deep globe. The leading variety of oblate shape is Ponderosa with immense fruits. Some gardeners will grow no other slicing tomato. Other gardeners wouldn't grow Ponderosa if it meant they grew no tomatoes. Controversy has raged for years about its mild flavor.

Earliana is an example of a tomato with deep oblate shape. This variety is grown not only for its early fruiting but also for medium-size, uniform fruits and heavy productivity.

The globe-form tomatoes dominate the field. Here belong such popular varieties as Pritchard and Rutgers, Jubilee, John Baer and Bonny Best.

Marglobe was named partly for its shape — the deep globe shown at the bottom of the left column in the illustration. The chief tomato crops of both gardeners and commercial growers are of globe shape.

In the second column of the illustration are the forms of the small-fruited tomatoes. The top outline represents the shape of the red or yellow plum tomatoes, the second drawing the pear tomatoes and the third the red Summer Cherry tomato. All three of these are known as "cocktail" tomatoes for their frequent use as accompaniments to drinks.

But fruits of Tiny Tim or Patio, both developed for growing in flower pots, are similar in shape to those of Summer Cherry and Roma, a tomato used for making paste, also is pear-shaped. However, the prime paste varieties, Early Paste and San Marzano, are formed with the straight sides like the bottom outline.

is necessary for the current budget; however the "unpleasant but necessary tax issue" will be reckoned with next session to support the budget that will be proposed for fiscal year 1968-69.

State Employees Raise Significant

According to Healy, the Appropriations Committee has recommended a "very generous increase" to all state employees, and particularly for those in the lowest echelons. The lower echelons will receive the highest percentage increase in pay, he said. "This includes personnel in the wards of our state hospitals and institutions and will give us the holding power we sorely need to retain competent people," he said.

Interim Committee Service
Healy, now serving an unprecedented fourth term as Chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, has also served four terms as a member of the Audit Committee, as well as other interim committees. With the exception of 1961-62, he has been a member of the Legislative Budget Board.

Healy practices law in Paducah, where he also owns an abstract plant and farming and grass land in the surrounding area. District 82, which he represents, includes nine counties: Briscoe, Motley, Hall, Dickens, Childress, Cottle, Foard, Wilbarger and Hardeman.
