"Dry Spell" Permits Valley Farmers To Start Planting

At this writing (Wednesday morning) the Valley area has had the longest "dry spell" in quite some time and as a result farmers are taking advantage of the lull in wet weather and are trying to get some crops planted. Last Friday night rains measuring a reported three to four inches fell across lands that were already well soaked from previous rains. The five day lull in the wet weather, the longest time without rainfall, is most welcome to farmers in the Valley for the time is getting near to being quite late here. Farmers on the Plains are very much in trouble for the first freeze on the Plains is usually around two weeks earlier than here, thus giving a shorter time for crops to mature.

Most farmers were trying to do some planting Tuesday, picking the higher and dryer parts of their fields in which to start. Many fields have water standing, especially along terraces and there will be spots where it will take quite awhile for those spots to dry up, so planting in most cases will be spot-by-spot. Farmers say there is still time to plant crops to mature barring an unusually early freeze so hopes are for no more rain for awhile.

Most of the area received a round ten inches of rainfall since May 27 and much of the rains were heavy downpours and washed the land badly in spots. In Turkey proper, up to seven inches or more has been reported, in addition to a lot of hail damage the evening of the first storm. South and east of Turkey report totals of around ten inches of rain and also hail damage during the two-week period. Quitaque, Gasoline and the Folley communities report ten inches or more, with Gasoline and Folley also in the hail area which started south of Quitaque.

There are a few crops up and growing in the area but not many. A few planted some cotton before the recent rains began but most are not so fortunate. A few planted during the few days between rains but the ones with whom the Tribune staff talked stated that everything planted between rains would have to be replanted. Meanwhile, Old Sol is beautiful and everyone hopes to see a lot of that sunshine.

Land Fault Forming Near Estelline

(from the Amarillo Daily News) Twelve miles west of Estelline there is a crack across Farm Road 2639 that geologists believe may be a new land fault forming.

The crack begins in a pasture, traverses the farm road diagonally and progresses several hundred feet into another farm field.

A fault is a fracture or zone of fractures in rock strata. Pressure within the earth can cause movement along the fracture which could be felt as a tremor or earthquake.

"It's kinda strange," said Alvin D. Alexander, maintenance engineer for the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation in Childress. "Most depressions are straight across a road, this one is a jagged crack."

Alexander said road crews have to repair the crack, which is only a few inches wide, about three times a year.

"I was talking to some of the road men and they said the thing's been going on for several years," he said. "It was just patched recently and already there's a hole forming where the crack is."

Chuck Hood of the Tuthill and Barbee geologist firm in Amarillo said if the crack is a land fault, it would be "very unusual."

Hood, a native of Estelline, said "sink holes," or depressions caused by underground erosion, are common in the area.

"There are a lot of natural depressions down there. If you went to look for this particular crack, I doubt if you could find it," he said. "In fact, I'm not sure if I could find it, and I know basically what to look for."

Many Hall County residents were not aware of the crack, which is four to five feet deep.

When asked if she knew about the possible fault, Mrs. J. W. Hood told the Globe-News, "I sure haven't heard anything about it."

"I haven't felt any tremors or earthquakes, either," she said.

Dr. Jack Hughes of the Geosciences department at West Texas State University said tremors would not necessarily be felt if the crack is a new fault.

Hood said it would take investigation by a team of geologists to determine if the crack is a fault.

"I'm not a geologist, but this is not a normal depression," Alexander said.

He said the crack, at one point, extends across several plowed terraces and the farmer has used earth moving equipment to try to fill the crack.

Alexander said the actual crack is four to five inches wide but the patch across the farm road is about two feet wide.

Cluny lace filled the stand-up neckline, created the cuffs of the fitted lace sleeves and outlined the deep oval lace yoke. Embroidered bridal pearls traced the lace designs of the center of the yoke and full length of the sleeves. The contoured princess-line panels fell into a bouffant fullness, sweeping to the back in a graceful chapel length train. Appliqued Venise lace motifs enhanced the flared skirt above a deep lace hemline flounce. She wore a headpiece of Nottingham lace which extended the full length of the elbow length veil. She carried a cascade of white rosebuds surrounded by baby's breath and full blown white roses with a shower of white satin streamers tied in lovers' knots.

LYNDIA

Lynda Fogerson
Briscoe County Extension Agent

Briscoe County is ahead of schedule on the "baby boom" predicted in the United States for the mid-1980's.

A number of families are selecting furnishings for a nursery for their "new addition." Safety for the new baby is of primary concern.

Check safety standards before selecting a baby bed.

Recent federal standards require beds manufactured since February 1, 1974, to meet certain safety standards.

For example, crib slats can be no more than two and three-eighths inches apart so that babies are not able to slip through the slats.

Also, no rough edges are permitted on metal hardware.

In addition, the locks and latches on the dropside of the crib must be safe and secure from accidental release.

Strict warnings accompany new beds advising the owner to use only a mattress that fits snugly.

BAPTIST WOMEN HAVE REGULAR MEETING

The Baptist Women of Quitaque met Tuesday, June 12, at 9:30 a.m. for Mission Study. Mrs. R. J. Harmon read the scripture from Proverbs 8:1-11.

Missionaries names were read who had birthdays and a special space as possible between the slats. Take a tape measure along when shopping.

★ Look for rounded slats rather than squared ones. There are fewer sharp edges to bruise a baby.

★ Be sure that the mattress fits the crib snugly. If more than two fingers fit between the mattress and crib, the mattress is too small.

★ The raised top rail of the crib should be at least 26 inches from the top of the mattress.

★ Look for a foot release that is hard to operate. Avoid one that could be operated by a sibling or the baby himself by reaching from within the crib.

★ Beds without teething rails or any sort of toy plastic balls attached to the headboard are best.

★ Select a sturdy crib with everything firmly attached.

Remember to take safety precautions for your baby since he can't protect himself.

THE CRUSE FAMILY

Cruse Family To Present Concert

The Cruse Family will present a concert Tuesday, June 19, at 8:00 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Silvertown.

Many times when God calls men into full time evangelism, they leave their families behind, but in the case of the Cruse Family, God called and each member responded with, "Here Lord, send me." Theirs has truly been a case of an entire family yielding to God's call to full time service.

It is not surprising, however, that God would call this entire family, because theirs is truly a "Family Talent." Within this close knit group of nine people, God has brought together every talent necessary for the dynamic and clear preaching of His word. He has given them an exciting, yet comfortable, gospel music sound that manifests itself in a variety of solo, group and instrumental styles.

Many of their songs are original compositions by individual members of the family.

Along with the latest in contemporary sound equipment, God has also provided, within the family, the technical expertise necessary to produce a complete and vibrant, yet pleasant sound for any size gathering—large or small.

The Cruse Family has led in revivals and evangelistic services in many churches across the United States. They've led and participated in crusades at the association and county level. Most recently, their music and gospel presentation has generated an enthusiastic response at concerts on college and university campuses. They appear several times each year at the Grand Ole Opry and are recording artists for Word Records of Waco, Texas.

The family as individuals consists of:

Joe Cruse, a graduate of Howard Payne College. While at Howard Payne, he played fullback for the Yellow Jackets and was listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." He was also a jet fighter pilot who served his country during the Korean Conflict.

An ordained Baptist minister, he knows full well the heart of a pastor and the feelings of a church because he pastored for 15 years before God called him into full time evangelism.

Nancy Cruse, Joe's wife, readily admits that the number five has special meaning for her, especially as it pertains to God's grace and blessing. Nancy and Joe's five children are Joe III, Karen, Janie, John and Cindy.

In addition to working faithfully by Joe's side, Nancy does most of the scheduling for the group.

Joe III is a 1972 graduate of Jacksonville, Texas High School. In addition to his studies there, he was a member of the high school football team, choir president and for two years was a Texas All-State Choir member.

He leads the music and does solo work in all the evangelistic meetings and is married to the Cruse Family's exceptionally talented pianist, Becky Cruse, the former Becky Brieden of Freer, Texas.

Jeff and Karen Cruse Adams share different responsibilities with the family. While Jeff maintains and operates the up-to-date sound equipment, Karen not only sings with the group but also lifts your heart and spirit with her beautiful and meaningful solos.

Jeff has recently surrendered his life to a full time Christian ministry and left his teaching position to serve with the Cruse Family. Jeff also oversees John and Cindy's education and shares his testimony at many of the revivals and crusades.

Janie Cruse is the vibrant young lady with the big voice. She too has a musical ability that allows her to sing both solo and group numbers in a sensitive, unique style that's straight from her heart—a heart that knows the Lord and loves to sing His praises.

John Cruse, the younger of the two sons, does both instrumental and singing duty with the group and enjoys every minute of it. John's solo work is perhaps the most distinctive of all the Cruse's and is very popular with the youth group.

Cindy Cruse is both singer and composer of many of the family's musical numbers. Though she's the youngest of the five children, Cindy is an energetic and accomplished performer. Cindy is . . . well, when Cindy sings, she makes everybody happy.

Royce Denton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, invites the community to share in this evening of inspirational music. A love offering will be received at the conclusion of the concert. Records and tapes will be available after the concert.

Control Range, Pasture Weeds And Brush

Control grassland weeds and brush to boost your grazing program, says Buddy C. Logsdon, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Logsdon says many herbaceous weeds and some woody weeds are good because they supply livestock forage high in phosphorous. Unwanted weeds and brush, however, cause considerable losses in forage production, adding to operating costs.

Logsdon suggests broadcasting pastures with 2, 4-D amine or a low volatile ester, granular dicamba 5% (Banvel 5 g.), liquid dicamba (Banvel), dicamba, 2, 4-D (Weedmaster) or picloram 10% (Tordon 10K) pellet and simazine. Kerosene, ammate and 2, 4-D may be used for spot treatments.

Products containing 2,4,5-T (Banvel 2+2, Tordon 225E and silvex) were suspended from use on forestlands, rights-of-way and pastures on February 28. The Environmental Protection Agency defines pasture as "land producing forage for animal consumption, harvested by grazing,

Dad Likes Beef For Father's Day

According to tradition, on Father's Day the man of the house gets to choose whatever he wants for dinner.

Chances are, it'll be beef. A thick steak or juicy roast is sure to put a smile on dad's face on his special day.

The Terra Cotta CowBelles say that dad likes beef because it tastes so good. But there are other reasons to like beef, America's favorite food. One big reason is that beef gives plenty of eating enjoyment, lots of good nutrition, and not a lot of calories.

For example, a 3-oz. serving of cooked lean beef provides a man aged 23-50 with 45% of his daily requirement of protein, 32% of his iron, 59% of his vitamin B-12, 21% of his riboflavin, and other which has annual or more frequent cultivation, seeding, fertilization, irrigation, pesticide application and other similar practices applied to it."

Logsdon says it has been determined that all cultural practices must be carried out before a plot is a pasture. Also, any grazing land with a woody plant problem can be treated with 2,4,5-T because, by definition, it is rangeland.

West of the East Texas Pineywoods, rangelands can be broadcast with 2,4-D amine or a low volatile ester or 2,4,5-T compounds, says Logsdon. Spot treatments with kerosene, 2,4-D or ammate can be used on specific weeds.

Water, plus a commercial surfactant, is the standard carrier for pasture weed control. A water-diesel emulsion plus a surfactant is needed for woody plant control. Herbicides can be applied with hand sprayers or by aerial or ground broadcast.

For herbaceous weeds, apply herbicides when the weeds are young and soil and air temperatures are 70° F.

Control woody plants after leaves mature but before they develop a waxy coat.

Logsdon suggests Weedmaster or Tordon 225E for hard-to-kill rangeland weeds such as nightshades, yankeeweed, dogfennel, prairie coneflower and broom snakeweed. Tordon 225E and Tordon 10K pellets are restricted herbicides and should be applied by a certified applicator.

Easy-to-kill weeds (bitter sneezeweed, cocklebur, annual broomweed, pigweed, ragweed, snow-on-the-prairie, sesbania and croton) can be treated with 2,4-D. When weeds are slightly mature or under stress, Weedmaster produces better results, says Logsdon.

Cool-season annuals, such as western bitterweed, can be treated in late winter or early spring before plants bloom. Make sure soil moisture is adequate and the air temperature is about 70° F. for herbicides to be effective.

Treadleaf groundsel, goldenweed and broom snakeweed can be treated in spring or fall.

For satisfactory and economical weed control, know which herbicide to use on which weeds, stresses Logsdon.

important vitamins and minerals.

Yet this same 3-oz. serving of beef contains only 10% of the average man's daily calorie allowance.

That means dad can enjoy his favorite food without having to worry about his waistline. (Don't forget, the same good taste and nutrition of beef is important for mom and the kids, too.)

Beef is versatile. A juicy roast one day can be sliced and served as hot roast beef sandwiches the next. Or served as creamed chipped beef over toast at breakfast.

This way, the enjoyment of Father's Day can last all week long.

This year, Father's Day is June 17. Serve dad the food he's right to like . . . beef.

Insects Abundant Due To Wet Weather

Thrips "like" young, stressed cotton. And if current cool, wet weather continues long into June, a lot of cotton from the Blacklands to the South Plains will be under stress from one source or another. Excessively wet fields, possible herbicide damage, seedling diseases and cool nights will all take their toll, points out Buddy Logsdon, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Watch for movement of thrips into late-planted cotton, especially from nearby maturing grain and hay fields that have just been cut. The 30-day weather outlook indicates that better growing weather for cotton is coming up, so perhaps the thrips problem will end. Thrips need not be controlled on vigorously growing cotton.

Fleahoppers from the Blacklands to the Rolling Plains will also be a problem until cotton makes good growth, says Logsdon.

June weather, on the average, will be on the dry side for all of Texas, according to the National Weather Service. Temperatures will be on the cool side in South Texas but are expected to be near seasonal levels elsewhere.

Cotton in South Texas, including the Lower Valley, is past the danger stage for thrips and fleahoppers but is heading into mid-season insect problems. Dry weather would help farmers, since cotton that is on the dry side is not as attractive to bollworms and tobacco budworms as lush cotton. Also, survival rates of eggs and young worms are lower in dry weather.

Boll weevils have a tougher time in dry weather, too. Squares that are shed tend to dry out before the boll weevil can complete his life cycle. Since most cotton growing areas have good moisture, the potential is set for mid-season insect problems.

Sorghum will have midge problems as a result of weather delays in planting, explains Logsdon. Some sorghum planting dates in the same area varied by more than one month. Regardless of June weather, past weather has set the stage for extensive midge control.

Greenbugs and cornleaf aphids have not been major problems so far in sorghum. Frequent, heavy rains in most central areas have effectively controlled these aphids. Watch out for population increases if the weather turns dry, though, cautions Logsdon.

Screwworm potential will remain high as long as mild, wet weather persists. Survival rates of pupae and adults are enhanced by moist soils and mild temperatures. Logsdon advises stockmen to take good care of herds, be careful to dress wounds from surgery, check stock frequently, and send suspect larvae samples to the Mission laboratory. Tick populations tend to be up in wet weather, so wounds from ticks will have to be treated.

Grasshoppers shouldn't be as big a problem this year although there has been some scattered buildups of lubbers in the Permian Basin and other West Texas areas. If the weather does turn dry in June, grasshoppers could become more of a problem; otherwise, wet weather should keep them largely in check, believes Logsdon.

Insects will continue to thrive on abundant grasses, wildflowers and other native plants as a result of a wet spring through most of Texas. Some may migrate into crops if a dry spell develops; otherwise, only one potential problem comes to mind. Peach growers need to control grasses and weeds in orchards to cut down on population potentials for leaf-footed plant bugs and stink bugs. These have moved into peach trees in the past and damaged fruit when their preferred food plants dried up.

Homeowners will continue to have insect problems until wet weather ends. Cockroaches, ants, termites, fleas and ticks all are favored by mild, wet spring and early summer weather. And, of course, mosquitoes are widespread, adds Logsdon.

We'd be lost, wouldn't we, if suddenly computers were withdrawn from our daily life? We have become dependent on them to schedule airplane flights, point out scholastic aptitudes and aid the Internal Revenue Service in checking income tax returns.

But there are things a computer can't do. It can't make a home a better home or a man a better man. A computer can't heal sorrows and disappointments. It can swallow up a lot of statistics and clank out a lot of conclusions, but it can't direct a man to God's love.

As today's world is run more and more by automation, we need the help of the Church to guide us in the spiritual realm of life. We need to experience God's great love for all men. In our mechanical world, only the Church can help us find God's love.

FERTILIZER BOOSTS PASTURE PRODUCTION

Too often the billfold guides pasture fertility, says Buddy C. Logsdon, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

A good fertility program can increase the carrying capacity on any given pasture, believes Logsdon, and with current livestock prices, that can mean added profits.

Most summer or permanent pastures respond readily to a good fertility program. During excess growth periods, hay can be harvested, providing winter forage.

Logsdon says fertility is the one growth factor an individual can control compared to rainfall and temperature. However, not every pasture needs fertilization.

MRS. KERR APPOINTED TO NEW POSITION WITH PIONEER CORPORATION

Pioneer Corporation has announced the appointment of Judith Kerr as Director of Corporate Communications.

Native grasses such as Little Blue Stem, Big Blue Stem, Side Oats Grama, Indian grass and Switch grass don't respond as well to fertilizer as do improved pastures such as Coastal bermudagrass, Bahia grass, Kleingrass and Dallis grass.

Nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium are the major nutrients needed by pastures. According to research, minor elements aren't a problem in Texas.

About 50 pounds of actual nitrogen are needed to produce one ton of dry matter. For every ton of hay, about 12-15 pounds of phosphorus are required. Plant growth response to potassium parallels that of nitrogen; so its application must also be similar.

Apply fertilizer during periods of moderate temperatures (70 to 90 degrees F.) and adequate moisture, such as spring, advises Logsdon. Late summer or early fall is the next best growing period because of the unusually dependable rainfall says Logsdon.

Moderate fertilizer applications twice a year spread the pasture's production over a longer time period. Also, nitrogen is made available throughout the year instead of only in spring, says Logsdon.

Mrs. Kerr's appointment fills a vacancy resulting from the retirement of Bob Mills, Director of Public Information for the past 12 years.

The Corporation's section has been changed to the Department of Corporate Communications and, under Mrs. Kerr's direction, will provide additional information services for the Corporation and its subsidiaries.

Concurrently, Lee Wilcox was promoted to Assistant Director of Corporate Communications.

Mrs. Kerr previously was Director of Marketing Communications for Plains Machinery Company, the heavy equipment distributing company with executive offices in Amarillo and branch facilities in 10 major Texas cities. Plains is a subsidiary of Pioneer Corporation.

Prior to becoming associated with Plains and Pioneer, Mrs. Kerr was a newspaper and magazine editor. She has received numerous awards for her work in print, visual and business communications.

WESTWARD DOUGH!

OR how DO you COVER A Wagon?

The wild, wild West. Land of hope and opportunity to thousands of courageous settlers. But, if it weren't for the dollars of thousands more Americans taking stock in their country, there might never have been a West to go west to.

You see, money raised from the sale of government securities helped us purchase the Louisiana Territory from the French. Other securities helped buy the states of California, Nevada, Utah, western Colorado and most of New Mexico and Arizona from Mexico. Even settlement of the Oregon Territory was made possible through the issuance of United States securities.

Today, you can still take stock in your country's growth by buying U. S. Savings Bonds.

Just sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. There's no easier, safer way to save or help your country. After all, U. S. Savings Bonds are still a great way for you to go West. Or East, North and South.

Now U Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Save $50 if you buy before August 1, 1979.
