FARMERS ADVISED TO BUY SAVINGS BONDS

Nationally speaking, the cash income of American Farmers in 1946 will be the highest in history. With few exceptions, bumper crops have been evident throughout the year. With a national income of all Americans totalling 20 billion dollars more than goods and services available, it is imperative that this surplus cash be put into purchasing power for the future.

With this condition prevailing, the U. S. Treasury is conducting the promotion of Savings Bonds during the period between Armistice Day and December 7. During this promotion, every effort will be made to divert excess income which inflates prices to a drastic degree, into Savings Bonds. Special appeals are going forward to farm communities which are enjoying their highest incomes in history.

In Texas, a quota of 35 million in Series E Savings Bonds has been set. To reach this goal is of importance to every individual and every community in the years to come. With Series E Savings Bonds still drawing the same rate of interest as during the war ($4 for every $3 invested), this great backlog of savings will provide a source of individual financial reserve at all times and will insure cash for purchases of now scarce items.

"Savings Bonds are still the best investment in the world," said Nathan Adams, Dallas banker, who is chairman of the Texas Advisory Committee on Savings Bonds.

"No matter how much money a farmer has today," Adams continued, "there are many things that he cannot buy on present market prices. A wise farmer will invest his income now in Savings Bonds and take advantage of future normal supply and prices for his equipment and buildings."

Fruit Tree Planting Time Almost Here

Fruit tree planting time is almost here, and nursery stock for new orchards or tree replacements should be ordered now.

Good nursery stock is scarce, Mrs. Laurette A. Williamson, county home demonstration agent for Bailey county says, and if fruit growers want to get early December delivery on the varieties of stock they want, they should place their orders this month.

In replacing old orchard trees with new ones, not only the old tree but the old soil that supported it should be removed and replaced with new, rich, sandy leaf mold, Mrs. Williamson said. New trees planted in old soil can result in disease attacks that may have caused the old tree to "pass out." Nursery stock should be examined closely on arrival. If there are knots or bead-like growths on the roots, the order should be rejected. If it is necessary to hold the young trees a few days before planting, they should be "heeled in" and watered. The roots need moisture and protection from the heat.

A well drained sandy loam site is desirable for the new orchard plot, Mrs. Williamson says. Soil should be prepared well by breaking, disking and rowing before the trees are set out. For instructions in laying out and handling the young orchard, a copy of Extension publication B-73 "Orchard Management" can be obtained by coming in the County Extension office.

Masses of gum, mixed with bits of sawdust on the bark of peach, plum or apricot trees is an unmistakable sign of peach tree borers.

Entomologists of the Texas A and M College Extension Service say that the peach tree borer, small white worms with brown heads, can cause the death of a tree by eating out the living tissue in the trunk. There are two species of borers—the peach tree or base borer, which feeds on the tree trunk, and the lesser borer which feeds under the bark of large branches or on the trunk where the limbs fork.

For fall treatment of both the borers, Mrs. Williamson recommends ethylene dichloride emulsion, which has been found effective at low soil temperatures. The emulsion treatment requires a very little preparation of the soil before application and can be applied either by spraying or pouring. In some cases, cupping the soil to prevent the liquid from running off, or loosening the earth around the base of the tree to allow it to soak in, will give better results.

Mrs. Williamson warns that the quantity of ethylene dichloride used should be carefully regulated, since applications in excess may cause tree injury. For trees of average size and larger that are six years old and older, an emulsion of 25 per cent strength is safe. Small trees of the same age should be dosed with a 20 per cent emulsion. Four or five year old trees also take a 20 per cent dosage; two and three year old trees, 15 per cent dosage; one year old trees seven and one half per cent dosage.

Local county Extension offices have copies of MS-769, "Peach Tree Borers," which gives details on treatment.

Tilling with a Hundred Teams of Steel

MORE power on the farm means more food — more jobs.

If a farmer had three teams of horses twenty-five years ago he was well equipped. Now, with over two million tractors and thousands of other power producers, most farmers demand the equivalent of . . . a HUNDRED TEAMS.

Wise use of their power, which can be packed into a few tons of steel, is enabling U.S. farmers to keep abreast of unprecedented food requirements. It is one of the secrets of national progress.

Steel horsepower does more than produce bigger crops with less labor. It has released, for production of human food, millions of acres once needed to feed horses and mules, and has created thousands of new jobs for town and city people who process and sell the increased harvests.

The benefits of farming with steel are the result of teamwork between farmers and industry. The farmer knows what he needs; industry knows how to supply it at a price he can afford. This teamwork must continue if America is to remain a land of abundance.

Farmers need still more power. The country needs still more food. Uninterrupted industrial production will permit industry to catch up with the pent-up need for more farm power.

Veterans' News

Veterans of World War II are to be given a double barreled buying opportunity starting Monday, November 25 when $2,500,000 worth of surplus property will be offered at the Fort Worth Q. M. Depot.

Certified veterans will be waited on in order of oldest dated certificates for the many items of textiles, hardware, housewares, and other surplus to be offered.

The Veterans Administration will provide the most modern facilities to aid deafened and hard of hearing veterans, according to announcement of VA's medical director.

The program is designed to aid these veterans in rehabilitation, economic independence and adjustment to society and their own communities.

There are already 36,000 veterans of World War II who are ear casualties. About 12,000 veterans of World War I are still receiving compensation because of deafness. VA anticipates that there will be about 300,000 veterans in need of attention due to impaired hearing in the next 20 years.

Veterans who wish to assign terminal leave bonds to the Veterans Administration as payment on their GI insurance should get the necessary assignment forms from their nearest VA office.

Although VA does not issue the terminal leave bonds, under the Armed Forces Act of 1946, the law authorized VA to accept the bonds as insurance payments.

Fixing Up the Farm

by BURTON WILLIAMS

Fall Is Building Time

FALL and winter, in the nature of farm operations, is traditionally a period in which the wise operator sets things in order for the next summer's growing season. Gear is mended and machinery repaired. Buildings are put into serviceable condition and plans made for the summer's rush of activity.

Building small or portable farm structures is a year-end chore that yields rich dividends in time, labor and money savings. By utilizing the comparative leisure of the fall and winter months, the farmer can put together a variety of small farm structural units. Made with good materials these buildings will be useful for many years.

Asbestos cement board is an ideal material for this purpose. It is easily worked with ordinary hand tools. Its mineral composition is highly resistant to weather and impervious to insect and rodent damage. In addition, it is fire-proof. Its rigidity adds to the structural strength of the unit.

Range shelters, milk houses, brooder houses and farrowing houses are a few of the units to which asbestos board lends itself. It also is excellent for building hog and poultry self-feeders.

Good Health Of U S Thanksgiving Motif This Year

AUSTIN—The first Thanksgiving Day in this country was proclaimed for the purpose of expressing thanks not only for the bountiful harvests which the colonists had reaped, but for the sturdy health and endurance that had permitted them to survive the hardships and exposure, that first rigorous year in America. On the occasion of this Thanksgiving Day, the State Health Officer, Dr. George W. Cox, is appealing to every citizen of Texas to give serious thought to the preservation of his own health and that of his community.

"We have much to be thankful for, in that our national health level has remained high despite the nervous tension, the sacrifices, the deprivations of a post-war period," Dr. Cox stated. "Our people have maintained a remarkably high health level and even under existing conditions, Texas has shown a continued decline in maternal and infant deaths."

The people of Texas have reason to be thankful for the steadily increasing interest and cooperation being shown in matters pertaining to general sanitation and the control of communicable diseases," Dr. Cox asserted. "Responsibility for advancement of the public health program lies not with the State Department of Health primarily but with the people who support and encourage the local community efforts exerted and who apply in

Farm Income 58 Cents Per Hour in 1943

1943 farm operators in a recent year received an average net income of $2250, as compared with $2243 in wages earned by workers in steel mills, according to figures released by the American Iron and Steel Institute and the United States Department of Agriculture.

During the base year of 1943, workers in steel mills worked an average of approximately 2240 hours, while farm workers averaged more than 3900 hours during the same period.

The farmers' income in 1943 figured out to an average of about 58 cents per hour of work, compared with slightly less than $1.11 per hour paid in the same year to the men working in a steel mill.

The net income of about 5,400,000 farm operators was made possible by an investment in land, buildings, machinery and equipment in excess of $36,000,000,000, of which more than 2 billion dollars represents an investment in labor-saving machinery and equipment.

Farm requirements for machinery and tractors are mounting and will approximate 736 million dollars in 1946, according to estimates.

HEREFORD—Sale of lumber, plumbing and electrical equipment from the recently dismantled Prisoner of War Camp at Hereford to veterans and contractors buying material to erect homes for veterans opened last week under jurisdiction of the War Assets Administration.

In the first two days of buying by holders of HH priority certificates, Panhandle buyers obtained critically needed material to complete many individual dwelling homes which had been partially erected but could not be completed until the materials made available by WAA could be obtained.

Among the early buyers from Muleshoe, who obtained building materials was Carroll D. Black, of Route 1.

Dr. Cox pointed out that one direct result of public health efforts in this nation has been the lengthening of the normal life span by more than 15 years.

"Certainly this is something to be thankful for and it should lend incentive for further efforts to promote and maintain community as well as statewide public health programs."

Why Bert Won First Prize

Folks weren't surprised when Bert Childers won first prize for his corn at the county fair.

Yet the judges admit it wasn't just because Bert had the finest ears of corn. He knew how to display them: neatly arranged, with the husks cleanly trimmed, and the booth white and spotless.

"Trimming" sure make a difference no matter what you're offering—as Andy Botkin, keeper of the Garden Tavern, well knows. Andy doesn't just sell good beer. He sells it in a place that's clean and attractive...in nice surroundings that bring with the enjoyment of a wholesome beverage of moderation.

And Andy, of course, is a whole-hearted supporter of "Self Regulation." That's the system by which the Brewers and tavern keepers themselves make sure that taverns selling beer are clean and orderly.

From where I sit, people like Andy also rate a "First prize." Not just for the quality of the product—but for the "trimmings" too.

Howdy, Folks: The telephone is one of the world's greatest inventions. It connects you with so many strangers.

A man should be very careful about marrying a telephone operator, though. She seldom rings true.

Her job is neither a trade nor a profession. It's a calling.

She comes close to being a saint. There's a continual halo around her head.

Of course a party line keeps the neighbors well informed.

The telephone has made a sucker out of the nickel. It causes the poor old jitney to get so many wrong numbers.

It may save become dollars, you know. That's why it's good business to have your Electric Iron and other appliances repaired at our shop. Next time you have an electric troubles call us.
