U.N. approves U.S. resolution threatening Iran

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - The Security Council approved a U.S. resolution Monday threatening economic sanctions against Iran unless American hostages in Tehran are freed by U.S. Chief Delegate Donald F McHenry said the United States met with other council members later in the day to work on a sanctions resolution for presentation if the hostages are not freed.

McHenry was asked at a news conference if the Soviet Union, as one of five permanent council members with veto power, might block approval of sanctions, and he replied, "I would think that a country that is now engaged in the rape of another country would be ill advised to exercise a veto." He referred to massive Soviet intervention in Afghanistan.

The approved resolution — which says the Security Council "deplores the continued detention" of the hostages — was approved by a vote of 11-0. The Soviet Union and its ally Czechoslovakia abstained, as did Bangladesh and Kuwait, two overwhelmingly Moslem countries.

A half hour after the vote, which gave Szcretary-General Kurt Waldheim a mandate to negotiate the hostages' release, the Austrian diplomat

After arriving in Paris, where he spent the night, Waldheim spoke by telephone with President Valery Giscard d'Estaing and met with Foreign Minister Jean Francois-Poncet. A spokesman said the foreign minister asked Waldheim to convey his "feeling of fraternity and solidarity" to the Waldheim, expected to arrive in Tehran Tuesday afternoon aboard a U.N.-chartered plane, said before leaving New York: "There is enough reason to hope that the new year will bring the release of the hostages."

Speaking with reporters as he left his Sutton Place apartment, Waldheim said he was "very encouraged" by some reports that he will be able to see Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. U.N. diplomats believe Khomeini holds the key to releasing result of an initiative announced by President Jimmy Carter on Dec. 21.

"I'm very pleased to have the vote," Vance later told reporters. "And I join with everybody else in wishing the secretary-general good fortune. We all hope and pray that he will have a fruitful trip.

Waldheim has been trying to end the U.S.-Iranian crisis under a resolution the council adopted unanimously on Dec. 4 calling for release of the hostages, held at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran since Nov. 4.

Their freedom has also been called for by the U.N. judicial organ, the International Court of Justice.

The new resolution, submitted Sunday after Waldheim's trip was announced, requests that Waldheim "intensify his efforts" to gain the hostages' release and "in this connection takes note of his readiness to go personally to Iran." Shortly before the vote, it was amended by the United States to say the council "deplores" rather than "condemns" the hostage situation, language used in

The resolution says the council agrees to meet Jan. 7, next Monday, "in order to review the situation and in the event of non-compliance with

Bloodied Soviet troops meet stubborn resistance

By The Associated Press

Soviet troops, bloodied in their first encounters with the Afghan resistance, were fanning out into Afghanistan's rugged countryside to help government forces put down a stubborn rebellion by anti-communist Moslem tribesmen, diplomatic sources in New Delhi, India, reported

In London, representatives of the United States and five other Western nations declared they will recommend that the issue of "naked aggression" by the Soviets in Afghanistan be brought before the United Na-

Moscow in turn accused the United States of providing support for the Afghan rebels

One diplomat in New Delhi, quoting a reliable informant in Kabul, Afghanistan, said some 250 Soviet soldiers were killed or wounded last Thursday when Moscow's expeditionary force joined in the violent overthrow of one Marxist regime in Kabul and replaced it with another. Afghan rebel sources said a large number of Russian troops were killed in weekend fighting with rebel forces in the mountainous northern province of Takhar, just south of the Soviet border, a Pakistani newspaper re-

"The Russians can ge bogged down, and they'll be bloody fools if they don't pull out," said one Asian diplomat in New Delhi experienced in Afghan affairs.

Western diplomats in Kabul said an estimated 45,000 Soviet troops are now in Afghanistan. State Department spokesman Hodding Carter put the Soviet commitment at between 30,000 and 40,000 men and said substantial additional troops are available in Soviet areas adjacent to Afgh-

U.S. government sources said reports reaching Washington mentioned continuing sporadic sniper fire in the Afghan capital

Western diplomats in Kabul said last Thursday's street battles were primarily a showdown between Soviet and Afghan troops. The extent of continued Asighan army resistance against the Russians was unknown.

Kabul diplomats said many Afghan troops were disarmed in the wake of the coup, and the State Department spokesman said there were reports of large-scale desertions from Afghan army units.

International condemnations of the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan mounted.

Chinese officials summoned the Soviet ambassador to the Foreign Ministry in Peking and sternly demanded a Soviet withdrawal from Afghanistan, saying the "invasion" poses "a threat to China's security." The borders of China, Afghanistan and the Soviet Union meet in the heart of central Asia.

The government of Pakistan, bordering Afghanistan to the south, issued its harshest denunciation yet of the Soviet intervention. Official sources in Islamabad said the Pakistanis filed a protest note with the Soviets demanding a withdrawal 'forthwith.

India, whose early comments on the situation had been relatively restrained, for the first time called for a speedy Soviet withdrawal, saying the Afghan operation would have "farreaching consequences" in the re-

Deputy U.S. Secretary of State Warren Christopher met with envoys from five other Western allied nations in London to discuss a joint response to the Soviet intervention. Afterward they issued a communique denouncing it as "a flagrant violation of international law" and saying the issue should be raised before the United Nations "at an early time."

The official Soviet news media con tinued to defend Moscow's role in the Afghan turmoil, denouncing what it

Americans celebrate arrival of 1980s

By The Associated Press

Happy New Year and Happy New Decade! Americans welcomed the arrival of the 1980s on Tuesday with parties, parades and some salutes to days gone by.

In Pasadena, Calif., people started lining up Saturday night tm get a good view of the 91st annual Tournament of Roses parade. The final crowd was expected to reach 1.3 million. This year's theme is "Music of America"; the grand marshal is Frank Sinatra.

After the parade, in California and elsewhere, will be football. Four bowl games - Sugar, Cotton, Rose and Orange - were scheduled for New Year's Day. The Bluebonnet and Peach bowls were played on Mon-

Parties ranged from small private gatherings to huge celebrations like the one in New York's Times Square. Police said in advance they planned extra security to keep the revelers — expected to number 50,000 — under control.

A smaller celebration was planned atop Pike's Peak in Colorado. Fourteen members of the AdAmAn Club and 16 guests climbed up the 14,110-foot mountain. The annual New Year's Eve climb began in 1922.

Members of the Todds Road Stumblers of Lexington, Ky., meanwhile, got ready to "run out the old year and run in the new." Alex Campbell, who organized the running group about 10 years ago, said the club is basically ... just a bunch of nice people who would rather be out running than spending time in some bar."

For those who prefer bars, police in a number of cities organized transportation for merrymakers too drunk to drive home. "We figure this service sure cuts down on the wrecks," said Sgt. Harry Hoppen of the Bogalusa, La., police force, which provides chauffeur service for New Year's Eve partygoers who have had one too many and call for help.

In Jamestown, Calif., 200 railroad buffs signed up for a nostalgic journey on the Sierra Railroad steam passenger train. The excursion service — featuring a pair of locomotives built in the 1920s — is closing down in 1989.

The Seamen's Inne in Mystic, Conn., also planned a nostalgic celebration — a New England New Year's Eve party patterned after events on Dec. 31, 1879.

At the Inner Harbor in Baltimore, five 100-foot-high balloons were set for launching from the top of the 29-story World Trade Center. Special music and lights were arranged to accompany the launch.
You may not have noticed it, but the last day of 1979 was

Bureau of Standards offices in Boulder, Colo., explained that it is necessary to add one second to atomic clocks to keep them in line with solar time. The leap second is important mainly to people who work with very accurate clocks, including operators of transportation and com-

U.S. also finds support for its Afghan position

LONDON (AP) - The United States has found broad support among its Western allies for a U.N. debate on the "naked aggression" by the Soviet Union in Afghanistan, Deputy U.S. Secretary of State Warren Christopher said Monday.

Christopher met for six hours Monday with representatives of Britain, Canada, France, Italy and West Germany to discuss a joint response to Moscow's intervention in the central Asian nation, where thousands of Soviet troops helped topple one Marxist regime last Thursday and establish

U.S. Mexican treaty expires today and now American shrimpers can't catch 'camaron'

BROWNSVILLE (AP) - Mexican waters will be off limits to American shrimp fishermen beginning Tuesday as a three-year-old U.S.-Mexican shrimp treaty expires.

At one time, Texas shrimpers caught 10 million pounds of shrimp annually in the winter fishing grounds south of the border.

Since the treaty took effect in 1976, Mexican fishing officials gradually have cut back the number of American vessels permitted in their

In the last few months of 1979, only 95 boats were allowed to haul in 759,- 000 pounds.

The Mexican government maintains there is not enough shrimp for both American and Mexican boats. American officials have reached similar conclusions - that not enough shrimp abound off 7 U.S. waters to allow Mexican trawlers in on the Texas Shrimp Association Director Ralph Rayburn says American and Mexican scientists agreed at a meeting held earlier this month that a suprius of shrimp exists off the coast of Tampico, about 250 miles south of Port Isabel, Texas.

Between 1,500 to 2,000 metric tons of shrimp could be harvested in the rich fishing grounds without jeopardizing the Mexican shrimp fleet, Rayburn

"Although I hesitate to be very optimistic, I think it's a good sign, at least on the part of the scientists, that they could see that there's a surplus," he added.

"But we don't know yet, on the political side, what the government of Mexico wants to do with this surplus," he said. Mexico established a 200-mile fishing limit off its coast when the treaty took effect. The United States at the time extended its 12-mile fishing territory to 200 miles offshore.

Rayburn says the Mexicans have not shut the door on a possible second

"We would hope that through the historical fishing of our fleets and the Mexicans' desire to fish surplus stocks, that we could work out some kind of fishing treaty," he said.

U.S. shrimpers who fished in Mexican waters had to pay more than $2,000 for an annual permit to operate off Tammico.

Department of Public Safety officials, bouyed by a holiday traffic toll running behind predictions, warned Monday the most dangerous driving period of the long New Year's weekend was yet to come.

KC officials want firefighters cited

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - City officials on Monday asked a judge to find Kansas City firefighters in contempt of court for refusing overtime. Only 16 of the city's 900 firemen reported for duty, and police and National Guardsmen provided fire protection.

Meanwhile, city officials remained steadfast against granting amnesty to firefighters taking part in the job. slowdown and sickout.

Seventy firemen, including officers of Firefighters Local 42, face contempt of court charges stemming from a Dec. 24 court order that they work overtime. Some of the 70 appeared in court Monday, others are scheduled for hearings on Wednesday and Thursday.

A crowd police estimated at 300 persons circled the Jackson County Courthouse fire abreast Monday prior to a hearing for 26 firefighters. About 200 persons swarmed into the courthouse for the session, filling the small courtroom and hall.

The marchers - mostly firefighters and their families - vented their anger at City Manager Robert Kipp, the man they say is the culprit in the impasse. They carried signs saying: "Ayatollah Kipp. Release our Hostages" and "I'm a Fired Fighter" and chanted "Fire Kipp.

After Circuit Court Judge Laurence R. Smith rejected a request from the firefighters' attorney for a continuance, the city called the fire chief, a battalion chief, a payroll clerk and a city investigator in its attempt to show that firemen violated the Dec. 24 order by rejecting overtime.

After nearly three hours of testimony, Smith recessed the hearing until Wednesday morning when the firefighters' defense is to be heard.

The firemen began refusing to work overtime 12 days ago to protest the city's contract offer, and the day after Christmas, they began calling in sick. The National Guard was called in the day after the sickout began.

Police spokesman James Treece said there had been eight cases of confirmed arson the last two nights. He said the city normally averages about 11 cases of arson a week

City officials said fire protection was adequate, but union leaders said it was "practically non-existent."

Only 16 firefighters reported for uty Monday - 11 on the 7 a.m. shift and 5 for the 3 p.m. shift, compared to a normal contingent of 190 on each

Police and National Guardsmen manned 17 fire stations, battalion chiefs were at five, seven stations were closed and two stations were being operated by union firefighters. Some 34 pieces of equipment were being manned to protect the 316 square miles of the city of 500,000 people, compared to 53 pieces of equipment at full strength.

Union officials insisted Monday that amnesty was the key to settling the dispute.

'Amnesty is the big thing," said John Finn, a member of the union's executive board. "I think we can work our way through the dollar fig-

Union president John Germann said the city's contract offer over the weekend was rejected because it did not contain provisions for amnesty.

Mayor Richard Berkley and City Manager Kipp, however, reiterated their stand against amnesty for any firefighter dismissed or suspended for refusing overtime. They said 46 firefighters had been fired for refusing to work overtime twice, and 285 of the city's 906 firemen had been given three-day suspensions to be served later for refusing once. Meanwhile, city officials told people who had taken the qualifying test to become firefighters to report to a tions Monday. The city said it wanted to fill 50 vacancies that existed before firefighters were fired. The firefighters' job action followed months of negotiations over a con-doctor's office for physicial examinatract that expired last May 1. Germann said last week that a settlement could be reached if the city came up with a $5.8 million pay raise. The city had offered $5.1 million but increased that to $5.75 million during weekend negotiations Asked why the two sides were still apart following the improved city offer, Berkley said: "That's the whole history of this situation. They say they'll settle for something and then they won't.

"We should have been a helluva lot closer. We were told we were, but it/ didn't work out that way.'

The city's $5.1 million raise offer would have boosted pay and benefits by 19.3 percent over two years for a work week increased from from 40 to

Annual pay for firefighters now ranges from $12,132 to $17,982.

Iran officials prepare for Waldheim's arrival

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini met with the ruling Revolutionary Council in the holy city of Qom on Monday as Iranian officials prepared for the arrival of U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim on his peace-seeking mission.

A spokeswoman for the Moslem militants occupying the U.S. Embassy for the 58th day said they would not meet with the secretary general "unless Imam (Khomeini) wishes so."

The militants, who insist they will not negotiate with Waldheim about the Americans they hold hostage, earlier had refused to comment when asked whether they would meet with him under any circumstances.

As Waldheim left New York for Tehran, the U.N. Security Council adopted a resolution threatening the Iranians with economic sanctions unless they release the Americans by Jan. 7. The militants say they will not free them until the deposed shah is returned to stand trial for corruption.

The shah is in Panama In Tehran, Foreign Ministry spokesman Ebrahim Mokalla said Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh and other members of the Revolutionary Council would meet with Waldheim. But officials at Khomeini's office refused to say whether the religious leader would see the secretary general.

The afternoon Tehran newspaper Ettelaat quoted well-informed sources as saying Waldheim "most likely" would visit the hostages.

"We will not under any circumstances allow Waldheim to come visit the hostages," a student spokesman told The Associated Press.

'We expect you to talk about the evil nature of the U.S. government and its savage crimes and its support for the executioner (shah) Mohammad Reza (Pahlavi), instead of any other talk ...," the students said in a broadcast statement directed at "Our people, as a nation with a representative in your organization, will ask you as your duty to find a solution that realizes the rights of nations ... not the interests of governments." the student statement said It said Waldheim failed to see the crimes committed in the shah's regime when he visited before the ruler was overthrown.

The militants said Waldheim should visit the graves of victims of the shah's regime in a huge cemetery south of Tehran. Iranians say many of the 100,000 persons they claim were killed during the shah's reign and in revolutionary uprisings against the shah before his ouster last winter are buried in the cemetery

A student spokesman, asked whether the hostages had a special program for New Year's, said "nothing is planned. It's a quiet night, just like any other night.

Another Revolutionary Council member has spoken out on the possibility of a spy trial of the hostages. The council's policy has been obscured by contradictory statements about the trial in recent days, with Ghotbzadeh saying it was certain if the United Nations imposes economic sanctions on Iran.

"The trial is not out of the question," Hojatoleslam Javad Bahonar was quoted as telling Ettelaat in an interview

A dispute over the number of Americans being held hostage remained unresolved. The State Department says there are 50, the students say there are 49, and three U.S. clergymen who visited them over Christmas said they saw only 43. Ghotbzadeh on Sunday reiterated a pledge he made to the clergymen to try to determine the number. In other developments:

-During the clergymen's Christmas visit four Americans were filmed reading statements critical of the United States. The films, made by Iranians and shown on American networks today, showed the four reading statements with little evident emo-

DC-10 with engine trouble lands safely with 79 aboard

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A Northwest Airlines DC-10 with 79 persons aboard lost power in one engine over Florida on Monday, landing here safely as firefighting crews stood by, airline officials said.

The jet developed engine trouble as it approached Tampa from Fort Lauderdale, according to Brent Baskfield, a spokesman at the airline's headquarters in Minneapolis.

Those aboard the jet and 175 other persons waiting for the flight in Tampa were put on other planes to Minneapolis and Winnipeg, Manitoba, said a Northwest reservation supervisor who asked not to be identified.

Baskfield said the crew shut down the jet's left wing engine after an indicator light showed a malfunction in the engine compressor. The engine will be replaced and examined in Minnesota, he said.

Peace Justice John Biggs, a Midland resident since 1944, has announced his intention to seek another term as peace justice Biggs has served in this office for five terms and is now seeking his sixth. The Biggs moved to Midland in 1944 and managed a dry goods store for eight years. For the next eight years, he served as assistant manag-

Answer Line By Franchelle Moore

I would like recipes for something different in the way of hors d'oeuvres. Can you help? — Mrs. S.D.

ANSWER: Here are two. They are for Sambousiks and Souffle Mushrooms. Maybe you have not tried

The ingredients and directions for the Sambousiks are as follows:

One and one-half cups all-purpose flour; three-fourths cup (one and one-half sticks) butter; one and one-half teaspoons salt; three tablespoons ice water; one tablespoon curry powder; three-fourths cup milk; one and one-half cups chopped cooked chicken; two tablespoons whiskey; salt and pepper.

Set aside one tablespoon each of measured flour and butter. Sift remaining flour with salt, cut in butter with pastry blender until mixture looks like small peas. Add ice water, shape dough into bowl. Wrap in waxed paper, chill 15 minutes. Roll dough out, fold into thirds. Rewrap, chill.

Melt reserved butter in saucepan, stir in reserved flour and curry powder. Stir over low heat for a minute. Gradually add milk. Cook, stirring constantly with a whisk until mixture simmers. Add chicken and whiskey, simmer five minutes, stirring occasionally. Taste for seasoning. Cool.

Roll chilled dough one-eighth inch thick, cut into two and one-half inch rounds. Place a rounded teaspoon curried chicken mixture in center of each round, fold in half moons, seal edges with water. Arrange on baking sheet. Bake in a moderate (375 degree F.) oven about 15 minutes, until golden. Yield: About 36.

Now for the Souffle Mushrooms. Twenty-four large mushrooms; three tablespoons butter, melted; three-fourths cup grated Swiss cheese; three eggs, separated; three-fourths cup milk, salt and pepper.

Wash and trim mushrooms. Remove stems and chop enough to make three-fourths cup. Saute in one-half tablespoon butter for a few minutes and add to cheese and crumbs in a bowl.

Blend in egg yolks, milk, salt and pepper. Beat egg white until stiff and fold in. Dip mushroom caps in remaining butter and fill with egg/cheese mixture. Arrange on a baking sheet and bake at 400 degrees F. 10-12 minutes, until puffed and brown. Serve immediately. Makes 24 servings.

Recession, higher rate of unemployment seen

ATLANTA (AP) - The new year will see unemployment increase to 8 percent and only a slight improvement in the rate of inflation, said some leading economists who met here.

They also said that if the country was not already in a recession, it soon would be and there was little chance of a cut in federal taxes.

The economists are members of the American Economic Association, one of 31 organizations in the Allied Social Science Associations, which met over the weekend.

"The rest of the world has declared war on us; we just don't want to admit it," said Albert Wojnilower, chief economist of First Boston Corp.
Oil "is the money of our day," he said, adding that the dependence on foreign oil represented a loss of power by the United States. "The real price of oil will continue to rise in fits and starts," predicted Alan Greenspan, a former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and president of Townsend-Greenspan & Co. Joseph P. McKenna, an economist and professor with the University of Missouri, said, "The economic machine is grinding to a halt."

Robert Eisner of Northwestern University predicted a "worldwide breakdown" in the competitive practices that make the economies of the Western nations go.

The economists said: -A recession is expected by early next year if the country is not already experiencing one. The economy may decline anywhere from 0.5 percent to as much as 2 percent. Housing and auto production likely will be hit hardest, with sharp declines in -Inflation will improve slightly from the current annual rate of 13 percent but will not drop to a level of 8 percent or 9 percent until 1981.

Abandoned girl found

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A "grossly retarded" 12-year-old girl who weighed only 39 pounds was found Monday in an unheated and abandoned house. Police said the screaming child was curled into a fetal position among debris infested Officers responding to a report of a possible burglary discovered Kimberly Bowle in a rear upstairs bedroom of a two-story brick rowhouse, said Capt. Dorothy Cousins of the Juvenile Aid Division.

The girl's mother, Denise Bowie, 27, surrendered to police Monday afternoon and was charged with attempted murder, recklessly endangering another person, endangering the wel-fare of a child and abandonment, according to the Juvenile Aid Divi-

She was arraigned Monday night and held in lieu of $25,000 ball for a Jan. 9 hearing.

Ms. Bowle, who has four other children, told police she had gone to her mother's house about 15 blocks away for the holidays. She said she had not taken Kimberly because she "felt ashamed and guilty and upset," police said.

Ms. Bowie said she had tried to get help for her daughter through a mental health agency. She said she had sent food back every day and had left a gas heater on, adding she didn't have money for oil, police said.

Neighbors told police Ms. Bowie left with the other children Sunday afternoon. The house had no electricity or heat, and temperatures overnight

Taiwanese dissidents suffer bad setback in riot

TAIPEI, Taiwan (AP) - Taiwan's small dissident movement suffered its worst setback in years after an anti-government riot in the southern industrial city of Kaohsiung, and its chances of making a strong comeback are considered poor.

Most of the dissident leaders were arrested in a crackdown that followed the Dec. 10 riot and it is felt their supporters will need at least five years to organize another effective leadership.

The government is not likely to encourage this, although it has said it would welcome formation of a political opposition to the governing Kuomintang (Nationalist Party). The Kuomintang, or KMT, has had an iron grip on politics in Taiwan since 1949, when the nationalists were defeated on the Chinese mainland and fled to this island.

To counter criticism of the KMT's one-party rule, the government has pointed to the existence of two minority parties, the Youth Party and the Socialist Democratic Party. Both, however, are regarded as "paper parties" to lend support to the government's statements of political tolerance here, since neither offers true opposition to the KMT.

In contrast, the dissidents have been outspoken on a number of sensitive issues that still are discussed only privately here and without much public enthusiasm or support.

Those issues include a demand for the "independence" of Traiwan, or a government renunciation of its claim to the Chinese mainland and acceptance of the reality of Peking. For the nationalists, technically still at war with the Chinese communists, such a notion remains unaceptable.

Western experts here feel any move in that direction could upset domestic stability, hurt Taiwan's economy and further isolate this nation internationally

Colleagues, hometowners mourn Richard Rodgers

NEW YORK (AP) - Richard Rodgers, the composer who helped revolutionize the American musical theater and spread the songs of the nation around the world, was mourned Monday by his city and his colleagues.

"Richard Rodgers, through his music, will live forever," said Mayor Edward I. Koch. "He was a good friend to this city and we shall never forget him."

"Rodgers contribution was gigantic, when you think of the span of years, the enormous variety of music that influenced the whole musical world," said Yul Brynner, star of the original production of Rodgers' "The King and I" and now in London with a revival of the 1951 hit.

Composer of some of the most towering successes of stage history — including 'Oklahoma!' "South Pacific" and "The Sound of Music" — Rodgers died Sunday night at his Fifth Avenue apartment at age 77.

His wife of 49 years, Dorothy, was at his side at the end of what was described by a spokesman as a long illness. Rodgers was operated on for cancer of the jaw in 1955 and underwent a laryngectomy in 1974. Five weeks ago a pacemaker was installed for his heart. He was too ill to attend the opening Dec. 13 of a revival here of "Oklahoma!"

The funeral will be private.

His great collaborators, Lorenz Hart from 1920 to 1942 and Oscar Hammerstein II from 1942 to 1960, preceded him in death, but Rodgers continued working, both alone and with other outstanding lyricists right up to this year, when "I Remember Mama" was mounted.

Alexander Cohen, who produced the last show, said that "we lived our lives to his music.

"He remained a man of the theater to the end," Cohen said in London, where he was on business.

Sheldon Harnick, who wrote the poorly received "Rex" with Rodgers in 1976, said Monday that he approached the collaboration with awe

"I was afraid to give him the first lyric. I was afraid I was going to be graded on it," said Harnick, 52 at the time, with credits including "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Fiorello."

"He was very flexible and modest, with a delightful sense of humor and very warm," said Harnick. "He had an impeccable ear."

Brynner recalled that "The King and I" was in desperate trouble in its out-of-town tryout but "Rodgers and Hammerstein rolled up their sleeves

Once, on the way to lunch, Rodgers "wrote a whole song," Brynner said. "I mean, the lyrics required a different kind of melody, so he simply wrote one on the back of an envelope."

Rodgers always denied stories of the speed with which he worked. He was reputed to have written the songs "Bali Ha'i" in five minutes, "Happy Talk" in 20 minutes, "It Might as Well Be Spring" in 60 minutes and the full score of "Oklahoma!" in three days.

"The song situation had probably been going around in my head for weeks. Sometimes it takes months," he said. "I don't believe that a writer does something wonderful spontaneously."

But wonderfulness and a sense of spontaneity were part of any Rodgers score for 43 shows, 10 movies and four television shows.

In aggregate, Rodgers added more than 1,000 songs to the American scene, his shows ran a total of more than 43 years on Broadway and brought him an estimated $100 million in his lifetime.

It is likely that not a week goes by without a Rodgers musical in production somewhere in the world.

Particulary in the latter half of his career, Rodgers steered the Broadway musical toward a tight integration of music, plot and character.

A Rodgers musical could have cads for heroes, darkly pathological villains and deal with race relations and fascism - departures unheard of on the Broadway of sketches, reviews, lightweight comedy and high-kicking chorus lines.

In addition to his wife, Rodgers is survived by two daughters, Mary Guettel and Linda Breckir, and six grandchildren. His daughter Mary also is a composer, whose credits include the 1959 musical "Once Upon a Mattress," which made a star of Carol Burnett.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Dwindling resources raise some questions

Dear Dr. Solomon: We are constantly hearing logical. Dr. Barnes suggests additional research be about the extent to which the world's population is increasing. We are also warned that we will eventually run out of food and other natural resources, and that we will even run out of space. At the risk of being considered cruel and inhuman, I suggest that the medical profession is largely responsible for this situation. More and more people are being kept alive answer on epilepsy and fever. Most recent studies to share in the world's dwindling resources. What's the sense in saving people from various diseases if they are going to starve to death anyway? - Mr.

Dear Mr. S.: You raise an interesting question, one that physicians, too, have been discussing. For example, Dr. Allen Barnes, chairman of the Guttmacher Institute, warns that if the present rate of population growth continues, 600 years from now every person in the world will be allotted an average of one square foot of space. Furthermore, he says, if you exclude the polar ice caps, it will take only 400 years to come about.

For those who feel 400 years is too far away to worry about, Dr. Barnes points out that the world's population will number 16 billion people only 55 years from now, a figure which is estimated to be the saturstion point. This contrasts with one-quarter billion people at the time of Jesus, one billion in 1830, two billion by 1930, three billion by 1964 and more than four billion by 1977.

This population explosion, as you indicate, has come about in large measure because of the success Meryl Streep achieved by modern medicine in keeping people alive. During the last century, the death rate dropped markedly as new drugs were developed and as better sanitation, vaccinations and other medical innovations were introduced.

The solution to this dilemma, however, is more than a medical problem; in fact, it is largely socto-

"Within 20 years we expect these fixtures will be saving hundreds of millions of gallons of water each day," Flacke said over the weekend. Water-saving fixtures can save 20 gallons of water per person per undertaken into improved methods of contraception, abortion and sterilization. Other people may have different approaches. but the problem is one we cannot afford to ignore.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I would like to amplify your suggest that children with recurrent "febrile" seizures are indeed at great risk of having "epilepsy" or a chronic seizure disorder. The problem here is, I believe, definitional. Most children with recurrent "febrile" seizures probably have a lowered threshold for seizures in general and, during childhood, may suffer seizures at times of fever. As far as prophylaxis for children with recurrent febrile seizures, Dr. Livingston's studies at the Johns Hopkins Hospital strongly suggest that anticonvul-sants should indeed be used in many such instances. This is particularly true in instances where the 'febrile' seizures were prolonged (i.e. greater than 5 minutes), complex (focal, Jacksonian, etc.) or multiple. In these cases, the child's fever was probably an incidental stressful event. - Robert J. Lerer, M.D., Fairfield, Ohio.

Note to readers: I would like to wish all my readers a very healthy and happy New Year. - Neil

Doctor says drugs prescribed for Presley often discarded

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - Many pills prescribed for Elvis Presley to control insomnia and weight gain were either discarded or replaced with harmless substitutes, the late entertainer's personal physician said in papers filed Monday.

The papers were filed with the state Board of Medical Examiners by Jawyers for Dr. George Nichopoulos, who faces accusations that he indiscriminately prescribed drugs for Presley and 15 other people. Nichopoulos is scheduled to appear before the medical board in Memphis on Jan. 14. The doctor's medical license could be suspended or revoked because of the accusations. In his response to the charges, Nichopoulos acknowledged he frequently prescribed drugs to help the late rock 'n' roll king sleep and control his appetite.

The lawyers' document said Presley "possessed a constitution and metabolism such that for drugs to have any effect on him, quantities greatly in excess of normal quantities were necessary. The document said a nurse employed by Nichopoulos was assigned to the Presley mansion to dispense drugs prescribed by him. However, it said the contents of many drugs were discarded and replaced by placebos, inactive substances.

The 13-page document did not say in what amount the drugs were prescribed or why they were not all given to the entertainer, who died Aug. 16, 1977 at age 42. But Nichopoulos claimed the still-secret Presley autopsy report will show that none of the drugs he prescribed were present in anything other than therapeutic amounts. The response accuses officials of the medical board of beginning an investigation into Nichopoulos' medical practice to accommodate ABC

News, which has alleged Presley died of drug problems. Nichopoulos and the Shelby County medical examiner, Jerry Francisco, maintain Presley died of a heart ailment.

In his reply, Nichopoulos reviewed his medical career and denied he has ever engaged in unprofessional or dishonorable conduct.

Old hotel operating in new way

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—
It was an unkind enough cut when the proud Monte Carlo Casino abandoned the black tie. But now, Old World values be hanged, the Hotel de Paris has computerized its wine cellar and is sending out for croissants.

"It is not funny," sniffed one resident chef of the celebrated hotel, for more than a century the standard of excellence for Monaco's vacationing rich and titled. "The croissants of a bread baker are not the croissants of a pastry chef."

Nor has computerizing the wine stocks delighted Orlando Zampi, cellar captain of some 140,000 bottles of champagne and chateau-bottled wines from Bordeaux and Burgundy. Presented with the morning printout, Zampi waved it off with the same disdain he might show for an upstart wine from California.

At any other hotel these changes, along with the fresh remodeling and computerized telephone system, might be hailed as great steps of economy and efficiency in the triumphant March of Progress.

But at the 115-year-old Hotel de Paris, glistening gold in the rarified sunshine of this Mediterranean fairyland of Prince Rainier and Princess Grace, this kind of "progress" often leaves an uncertain aftertaste.

"We stopped home-baking croissants as an economy measure," said an official of the Societe des Bains de Mer, which manages the Hotel de Paris, the casino and other Monaco institutions. "I'm not sure it was a good idea."

In the early 1960s when the adjacent Monte Carlo Casino abandoned its black-tie requirement, there were dire predictions here of the imminent fall of the West.

NEW YORK (AP) - Five years ago, Lisanne Falk sent a 99-cent "su-permarket special" photo to Ford Models of New York City. Ford signed her on. Lisanne was 9 years old.

When Lisanne was 12, she and another 12-year-old model named Brooke Shields did test shots for-Betsy Cameron, a young Ford model who was trying her hand at photogra-

One of Betsy's photographs of Lisanne and Brooke was published in October 1978 in the first issue of the revived "Life" magazine. A four-page spread was featured in the first issue of the revived "Look" in Febru-

Now Betsy, along with writer Diana Lewis Jewell, has published a book, "Lisanne, a Young Model." The book, which follows Lisanne as she goes from home to school to work, includes 150 pictures, 50 of them in color.

Today, Lisanne is an active 14year-old who rises at 7 a.m. to attend public school in Long Island before catching the commuter train for an afternoon of modeling in New York

She hasn't had much trouble juggling, school and work. She's an A student, loves sports, going to con-certs, and playing the piano and the

"So far I haven't had any problems," Lisanne said. "Now I'm in high school so I guess it's harder, but it's not that much trouble because my teachers give me the work beforehand if I ask for it because I know I'm going to be out some, so it hasn't been any trouble yet.'

Lisanne lives with her mother. Her parents are divorced. She has two older sisters who no longer live at

'My mom and I are like best friends as well as mother and daughter. What really made us close was when we used to go into the city together for my modeling assignments. Even though she stays home now, I still tell her everything that happens," Lisanne said.

The money Lisanne earns goes into the bank - "unless there's something special I want to buy myself - and my mother approves it," she said.

She's not into heavy dating, yet. She eats pizza — "who says all models-diet?" — and has a poster of Farrah Fawcett on the wall of her rot decided against it because the part involved doing nude scenes.

She'd like to do adult modeling, but she's also interested in acting. She has other plans, too — "definitely finishing high school" — and maybe going to college to study archeology.

Ms. Cameron said she got interested in photography through her modeling work. She still enjoys doing both.

"I didn't realize how much I learned until I picked up a camera and started taking pictures, so after 10 years it all sinks in," she said.

"Modeling is a really wonderful profession," Ms. Cameron said, "as long as you keep your feet on the

These farms not popular |

GREENE, R.I. (AP) — Anyone planning to purchase a cranberry farm doesn't have too many places to look these days. The tangy little red berry is now commercially cultivated in only five states — Massachusetts, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Oregon and Washington — with at least one notable exception.

Here, in this rural community in west-central Rhode Island, Virginia Siener owns and works one of the few cranberry bogs in the country outside those five states. Her Coventry Cranberry Co. consists of one 72-acre bog.

Four or five decades ago, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York all had thriving cranberry industries, but today Ms. Siener's bog, and a tiny one in Connecticut, are the only two commercial bogs in the East outside Massachusetts and New

She began running it five years ago and now heads an all-woman operation including four women farmhands who work alongside her during the harvest season and a woman manager. The bog produces an average of 3,500 barrels of berries annually - 100 pounds to the barrel.

Today is the first day of reorganization

By ERMA BOMBECK

Let the word go out. Today is the first day of the reorganization of my stressful life. My family has insisted upon it. They say I'm a bundle of stress. They can tell by the way my muscles tighten in my neck and jaw, the frequent headaches and an occasional loss of words.

That's why I have set up a program of six goals.

First, I'm going to spend more time meditating — especially before I put a fattening lunch on my charge card which arrives at the same time as the bill for exercising it off. I'm going to stop trying to do two or more things at a time. This includes listening to a phone conversation while taking the burrs out of the dog's rump, eating my lunch, and closing the door with my foot while listening to my husband telling me why the car is knocking.

Whether it be working, eating, listening, or playing, I'm going to allow myself-plenty of time to do things well and provide myself with an environ-have to break the door down to tell the kids to cool it with the ster-

I'm going to take time to nourish a few of my acquaintances and friendships. This includes people who have borrowed my books and never returned them. Another goal is to learn to spend time enjoying things such as music, reading, and hobbies. In fact, I have set a deadline for myself to read ten classics by March.

And finally, I'm going to develop a philosophy of living. I've been living a long time, but I never had a plan for it. That's why I'm going to establish life goals for myself and bring back rituals and traditions that hold meaning in my life.

Yesterday, when I told my husband that, I said, "Beginning with New Year's Day, I'm going to revive a wonderful old custom my mother used to observe.

'What was that?" he asked. "She always used to serve pickled pig's feet and sauerkraut to bring

Happy New Year!

Yes sir, another brand New Year has made its appearance in a blaze of glory, but more significant even is the birth of a brand new decade.

This is all the more reason then for people here, across the land and around the world to celebrate young 1980's birth with resounding enthusiasm. Inflation is perfectly in order when it relates to enthusiasm.

"Happy New Year" is the popular, cheerful salutation as people everywhere greet neighbors, friends, acquaintances and the man on the street in a friendly, smiling, good-natured manner on this festive occasion.

It is time for celebration, and it all takes place because the New Year and the New Decade offer the opportunity of erasing the old and getting a fresh start in most any phase of one's life or situa-

And it isn't always because the previous year was a bad one, but rather because we always are anxious to improve lifestyles, conditions and situations for ourselves and others.

Hope, enthusiasm and expectancy reign supreme in the hearts and minds of most persons at this particular time of the year...and isn't it marvelous that we can in our own minds discard the bad and determine to do a better job for ourselves and others, including the living of better and more productive lives in the months ahead. The choice is with the individual.

This is why New Year's resolutions hold such a position of prominence and popularity as the old year bows out and a new one moves in to take its place. Whether or not the resolutions are achieved completely, and many of them are not, is something else, but the fact that many persons on this particular occasion establish lofty goals for themselves, and then make an effort to attain them, is the really important aspect.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if the cheerful, friendly spirit of New Year could pr vail among mankind for an entire year, or even a part of the year, rather than just at the birth of the New Year! And it could if only.....

For the nation as a whole, 1979 brought multiple problems and frustrations at home and abroad, but hopefully, conditions will improve promptly and abundantly during the coming months. America cannot and must not lose confidence in itself. The fact that Americans have been pulled closer together in recent months than they have been for a long time is most encouraging as we look ahead into the '80s. We have the greatest nation on earth and it is up to us to strengthen our faith and confidence in it in the new_ decade which now is opening be-

The year just ended was another extra good one for Midland, West Texas and the Permian Basin Empire, with records in practically all economic areas once again having been shattered, as growth and development continued unabated.

And the beautiful part of it is that 1980 promises to be an even better year for Midland and this particular region. There has been no slowdown in business generally. The search for and the production of more and more oil and natural gas continue to lead the way, backed up by increased activities in the areas of agriculture, industry, retail trade, distribution, general business, and construction:

Again, faith, confidence and enthusiasm are the watchwords as Midland and area residents bid farewell to 1979 and greet young

It is no wonder that this particular occasion is celebrated in such a joyous manner. We have so very much for which to be thankful, even as we look ahead into a brand New Year and Decade with hope and expectancy.

We again would remind, however, that the real meaning of the New Year and the opportunity of a fresh beginning rests with the individual. In other words, its up to Now, let's get on with those New Year resolutions.

ART BUCHWALD New Year's Day? Here's how the observance began

WASHINGTON - It is ironic that although we celebrate New Year's Day with such joy, no one knows how it was started or who was responsible

This is the story, and I'm sticking to it, until someone can prove me

About 35,000 B.C. there was a tribe of cave people who lived in what is now France. Although they knew the difference between day and night, they had no idea of what a year was. To them it was an eternity. On his deathbed, a man might say, "Well, it's been a good year," meaning the entire span of his life.

But one day (WE know it was January 1st - but THEY didn't know it) a man named Stone woke up with a tremendous headache and could hardly talk.

Stone's wife, Stick, said, "Well, you certainly made a fool of yourself last Stone, holding his head, said,

'What did I do?' "You put an iron pot on your head, took off your bearskin and danced all night with Ladle.' 'I don't remember a thing. It must have been something I drank. What did they put in the boar soup?" 'Don't give me that. I saw you drinking from the clay bowl of rotten grapes that was standing outside for the last six months." "I was thirsty and I thought it came from the Perrier spring.

'What do you mean 'New Year'?" "It's the name of a new holiday I just made up. Why should we spend all our lives with just one year? If we had a new year every 365 days we could all drink rotten grape juice the night before and put on silly hats made of leaves, and say next year will be better and feel terrible the next

'But why every 365 days?" "It's just a figure I came up with. It could be 220 days if you want."

'And I'm supposed to tell everyone in the cave that that is what you were

"I don't care what you tell them. I don't want to talk to any of them today - not with this headache. By the way, if you're going outside bring me a piece of ice.'

In order to save face Stick told everyone in the cave that Stone had been celebrating the New Year, except for Ladle to whom she wasn't speaking. The men who had nothing to do that day except make paintings on the walls and drag wood in for the fires thought it was a great idea to have a holiday and congratulated Stone for thinking of it. Now they didn't have to die to decide whether it was a good year or not.

Other caves heard about it and the next year on the night before New Year, they decorated their walls with goats' udders, and each cave vied to see who could make the rottenest grape juice. One enterprising caveman made everyone pay a piece of coal to get into his cave, and this became the first cover charge in the history of mankind.

One small footnote: About two years after the Cro-Magnon people began to celebrate New Year, a group of men started throwing dried belly of pig around on the afternoon of New Year's Day.

The women became very angry and said, "What are you men doing?

They didn't have an answer until one of them saw Ladle walking by with a bowl of roses.

'We're playing for Ladle's Rose Bowl," one of them jokingly said. finally made New Year's Day offi-

HEMISPHERE REPORT:

U.S., Mexico ties not the most cordial

By WILLIAM GIANDONI Copley News Service

WASHINGTON - Why did the United States make such a fuss about Mexico's refusal to let the shah of Iran back into that country?

President Jose Lopez Portillo explained the situation as Mexico saw it in a press conference early in December, at least to the satisfaction of the foreign correspondents.

Asked why Mexico had changed its mind, Lopez Portillo declared:

'The explanation is obvious. ... The conditions existing at the time of the first entry of the ex-shah into the country, at the moment in which he was given a tourist visa, changed

'The ex-shah is the center of a olitical torment of international character and of really critical dimensions. It is a problem to which we Mexicans are totally foreign. We do not want to see ourselves involved in a question in which we have no part. 'And I, as president of the republic, could not run the risk that anywhere in the world a single hair of one Mexican was touched for a cause to which we are foreign. It is that sim-

Earlier in the conference, Lopez Portillo had pointed out that Mexico closed its embassy in Iran, after the U.S. hostages were seized there, "in view of the disorder that reigns in Tehran, taking into consideration that, for the first time in recent world history, diplomatic locales are not being respected, something that did not occur even in a state of war.'

The Mexican president's exposition seemed to answer the doubts of his questioners, including Steve Downer of the Times of London, who asked about the shah, and Slobodan Pavlovic of the Yugoslav newspaper, Borba, who had inquired about Mexican relations with Iran.

Yet, two weeks later, State Department sources began expressing contempt for Lopez Portillo and releasing derogatory information on the controversy with Mexico.

To judge by the reaction of Mexico's ambassador to the United States, Hugo B. Margain, what particularly grated on Mexican sensibilities was the repeated insistence of U.S. sources that Lopez Portillo had visited the shah' to urge him to invest in Margain called that "such an absurd affirmation.

The ambassador declared that 'President Lopez Portillo never made one lone trip of such a nature and certainly he would not lower himself as chief of state, concerned over the problems of his people and his inconvenience to shelter. If that is the case, why should Mexico, or Panama where the deposed rule was taken Dec. 15, be expected to give him more than temporary refuge? Although it may not have been widely reported in the U.S. press, the Panamanian government of President Aristides Royo has been plagued with frequent student protest demonstrations and riots since the shah arrived

Lopez Portillo, who was a university professor before entering Mexican politics, obviously recognized the threat of student agitation, were the shah to have ben readmitted to his country, and chose not to risk it.

None of this, though, explains why President Carter's anonymous spokesmen feel it timely to express contempt for Lopez Portillo.

A charitable explanation would be that, as some observers in Latin America see it, the Carter administration is divided against itself so far as the rest of the American republics are concerned, and that the contempt represents only that of the anti-Latin-

A less charitable version would be that Mr. Carter and his advisers have decided they have nothing to gain, at least in an election year, by maintaining much of a dialogue with Mexico at this time.

Sen. Robert Dole pushes toward debate on Iranian crisis

WASHINGTON - Sen. Robert Dole, a presidential aspirant, broke the "unity" barrier with his modest criticism of President Carter's handling of the Iranian crisis. Alas, it's possible that the President will get more of this, in highly political January, because people are becoming impatient with the hostage situation and will demand action After Dole received a State Department briefing on the crisis, he announced that President Carter "bears a heavy responsibility for the problem," and said he wasn't sure but that Carter was "just waiting for something to happen.

Dole's assessment is that the American people were first outraged over the taking of the hostages, then settled into a unity effort supportive of the President, but that a second wave of frustration is developing. "During Christmas season," Dole told me, "it was great to be ringing the bells for the hostages and sending cards and saying prayers, but now I think it's going in another direction. After two months, people are asking what are we going to do, and when are we going to do it?

People feel it is drifting, that Carter is succeeding by doing nothing. I support the President, but out there, while it hasn't shown in the polls yet, it's going back to square one. Carter is riding a crest now on the back of the hostages, but it can't last forever. He went up in the polls, looked like a leader, but this bubble will burst one day.'

A State Department official told Dole how the Administration is using diplomatic and economic means to get the hostages released, and how a nuclear aircraft carrier and 21 other

Nick Thimmesch

Navy ships are on station in the area. Dole is skeptical of what the U.N. Security Council will do with President Carter's request to impose economic sanctions on Iran. The United Nations isn't that chummy with the United States these days.

As a Kansas senator, Dole feels farmers, while concerned about profits and markets, "aren't greedy and would support a food embargo on Iran," Dole does not favor cutting off shipments of medical supplies and drugs to Iran.

He mulls over how the capture of the U.S. Navy ship Pueblo by Communist North Korea in 1968 also angered the American people. There were shouts in Congress about bombing Korea in retaliation. "It didn't take too long before the Pueblo story was off the front page, however," Dole says, "And then it was like a sore - it pained every time you touched it."

The Pueblo was seized Jan. 23, 1968, and it wasn't until December that year that the 80 surviving crew members and two civilians were returned, but then only after brutal treatment and torture. One crew member was killed during the action.

President Johnson had his hands full with the Vietnam war at the time and did not yield instinctively to the cry for punishment of the erratic North Koreans when they assaulted and took the ship. There was the question of whether the Pueblo had strayed into North Korea waters, but that question wasn't justification for its seizure and the incarceration of

As with the Iranian crisis, the United States sought resolution of the Pueblo crisis by going to the U.N. Security Council, the Soviet Union and our allies. None of these moves helped much. North Korea insulted the United States in so-called negotiations which dragged on and on and also made life miserable for the Pueblo's men in the interim.

There was an initial jingoistic demand to 'let 'em have it' across the country," recalls Clark Clifford, then secretary of defense, "and the cry came back in a second wave. But Johnson, despite his brave Texan's feelings - the Alamo and all - exercised restraint. We did absolutely the right thing. The North Koreans were impossible, very difficult people to

Those who now cry that President Carter should do 'more' should also tell us what 'more' is. I am so happy that he has not responded the way the Ford Administration did in the Mayaguez crisis when we lost 38 men to save 39 who probably would have been saved anyway.'

Crises like the Pueblo, Mayaguez and the American hostages in Iran are complicated and also potent. Ratification on SALT depends a good deal on how Iran comes out. U.S. relations with its European and Japanese allies are being tested. The degree of trouble we have with the Soviet Union is also connected to the Iranian situation. The political fortunes of Carter, Kennedy and the GOP aspirants are involved. Finally, the status and respect of the United States in the world are at stake.

Wrong moves or lack of moves can damage U.S. world standing, U.S.-Soviet relations, our friendships and the 1980 ratings of the presidential candidates. And nobody is forgetting the lives of the hostages, though it should be remembered that the Pueblo crew slipped out of the national conscience for a while. Still, we live now with the agonizing ordeal in Tehran, and Dole is correct when he says that people are getting itchy. "When Congress convenes Jan. 22," he says, "there'll be plenty of talk about what they heard back home. Hopefully, Congress will respond responsibly.

'But we can't have a moratorium on debate over the hostage situation. We have to raise questions. Otherwise Carter just walks away with RIAL

1980 economy outlook dims

WASHINGTON (AP) - The outlook for the U.S. economy in the new year dimmed as the government reported on Monday that an index designed to forecast economic activity fell sharply in November for the second consecutive

The drop of 1.3 percent in the Composite Index of Leading Indicators in November followed a 1.4 percent decline in October, according to a Commerce Department report.

It was the worst two-month drop since the ones that ushered in the 1974-75 recession, according to senior Commerce Department economist Wil-

He added that it was "in accordance with our general perception that we can expect some limited contraction of gross national product in

Gross national product is a measure of the nation's economic well-being because it is the total value of all U.S. goods and services.

There had been a sharp drop in inflation-adjusted output in the second quarter of 1979, leading many analysts to conclude that a recession had begun. But the economy rebounded in the third quarter and was expected to show slight growth in the fourth, postponing what many believe is an inevitable downturn because of rapidly rising foreign oil prices and the Federal Reserve's tight-money policy.

The November decline in the index confirmed predictions both in and out of government that the long-forecast recession was probably immi-

"It seems to be flashing some correct signals at the moment," said Robert Gough, director of national forecasting for the nation's largest private forecasting firm, Data Resources Inc. of Lexington, Mass.

Data Resources is predicting that national output will decline about 2 percent from the peak of the recession to its end, less than half the severity of the 1974-75 economic plunge.

Gough and other forecasters expect that as industrial activity declines, unemployment will increase by some 2 million persons by late 1980. Inflation, most analysts predict, will continue at double-digit levels well into 1980.

Recovery is expected to begin in the third or fourth quarter and progress slowly into 1981. The November decline was the fourth in the last five months and pushed the index down to 136.6, or only 36.6 percent ahead of its 1967 base That was the lowest level since July of 1977 and the weakest since the index peaked at 143.6 in October of 1978, Commerce figures showed.

Seven of 10 components of the indicator contributed to the November decline, with building permits falling the greatest amount, the agency said. Others were average workweek, layoff rate, stock prices, money supply, new orders and the percentage of companies reporting slower

Three of 10 increased: liquid assets, sensitive prices and contracts and orders.

Supporting the belief that the economy could show some growth in the fourth quarter was the Composite Index of Coincident Indicators, which attempts to parallel the nation's output.

The coincident index rose 0.2 percent in November, making up for the 0.1 percent drop in. October, the report showed.

High court upholds co-op's penalties against farmers

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court upheld on Monday the right of agricultural marketing cooperatives to extract payments from farmers who fail to grow the crops they promised.

The high court ordered a new trial of sugar grower Ross Campesi's suit against Rio Grande Valley

Campesi sued the cooperative after it withheld $129,349 from its payment for his 1974-75 sugar cane crop. The money was withheld because Campesi had failed in 1973-74 to meet his contractual obligation to raise and deliver 26,121 tons of sugar cane. Campesi produced only 252 tens because his seed cane crop failed. The cooperative withheld the money under terms of its standard marketing agreement with member

Lower courts said the damages provision of the marketing agreement was not valid because the cooperative's by-laws did not specify it had the right to collect such damages.

But the Supreme Court said the association was within its rights under common law to include the damage provision in its marketing agreements and

The court observed that the cooperative spent $42 million — half of it borrowed — to set up the sugar industry in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

"It is usually necessary, as in the case before us, that enormous sums of capital be secured before the necessary mills or plants can be built to process the products. A secure supply of the raw product is required to attract this capital," the court said.

A member's failure to deliver his promised crop to the cooperative's mills can have a "disrupting effect" on the ability of the association to function, the

The growers association said in its appeal that the court's decision would have a "far-reaching impact on the agricultural marketing industry throughout the state as well as on this association's continued

It said Campesi, a third generation sugar grower, suffered his 1973-74 crop failure because he did not heed the association's advice to plant at the proper time. A freeze in early 1973 destroyed much of his available seed cane and left him without enough for the 1973-74 crop, the association said.

In another decision, the court ruled that a fireman's or policeman's ex-wife has no claim on his death benefits under a city pension program.

The court upheld a decision of the 5th Court of Civil-Appeals in Dallas without writing a new opinion.

Town has Mule Man

By DELORES BALLARD The Jackson Sun

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP)

— His friends and neigh-bors call Charles Payne the Mule Man. "My daddy and granddaddy were both mule men," Payne, his sun-burned face splitting in a grin, told a reporter. "Naturally I had to be a mule man, too.' Among the 40-odd horses and mules on the

Payne farm near Westover are a handsome sorrel pair named Bob and Ada, and a hulking, 2,500-pound, 4-year-old named Big Ben which he exhibits at fairs and livestock shows. The mules' names don't indicate their sex because mules, the offspring of a mare and a jack, are neuter. Payne believes mules are making a comeback. The big animals, known for strength and stubbornness, were once beasts of burden, born to pull the plow, considered ugly parodies of horses and held in high regard by few. But mule fever is sweeping the country, Payne said. A well-matched pair sells for $5,-000 to $6,000 at mule shows and auctions.

"Mules aren't worked in the fields hard like they used to be, so they last longer," he said. "A good mule can live 30 years, and where a 25-30-year-old mule used to be considered worthless, you can now get $300 to $400 for one."

Payne, his wife, Patsy, and sons Charlie and Sammle are involved in the mule-raising operation. They sell some of the mules to movie companies in California. Some wind up pack ani-mals on tourist expeditions into the Grand Canyon of Arizona. Some, like Bob and Ada and Big Ben, they keep to take to parades and mule

"We like to hitch a pair of mules up to our old 1905 Coca-Cola wagon and go driving," Mrs. Payne said. "We have a good time."

The Paynes said the resurgence of mule fever is producing a demand or show and recreation, animals.

Old Man 1979 was kind to Tall City teams

As he heads into the night, his flowing white beard dragging the floor, Old Man 1979 wasn't a bad sort for a guy who left be-hind so many disappointments. Still, the old buzzard gave us some thrills and excitement, and, after all, the thrill of the chase is what it's all about. Even a championship isn't that much fun, if it doesn't take a little sweat to get it. However, in looking back, the guy who wrapped up the decade could have done it with a little more style.

AL UNSER, driving a Jim Hall Chaparral-Lola, missedmaking winning the Indianapolis a habit because of an 80 cent seal cap that slipped off midway through the race with the Mid-land team winning. Unser-Hall were seeking their second straight 500 after the Hallcombo won it all the year before in Jim's very first try at the

And how about that Midland

High basketball team. Coach Don Humphrey's Bulldogs took a 24-10 record into the regionals. got off to a horrendous start from which it never could quite recover, losing 81-74, coming home from Abilene not entirely convinced the best team had

Fort Worth Dunbar, the team that did beat Midland, however, was good enough to go on to win the state AAAA championships.

In tennis, Midland's Vicki Vasicek and the doubles team of Jeff Bramlett-Pierre DeChaud made it to the state finals. That may be success enough for most, but for Vicki, making her third trip to state, the championship once again proved elusive. However, three trips to state...that may be a record for a Tall City tennis player.

MIDLAND AND Midland Lee battled it out for the first girls District 5-4A basketball championship. Midland and Abilene tied for the first half with Midland winning the eventual play-off. Midland Lee then roared through the second half and beat Midland in the title playoff. The Rebel girls beat Carrollton Turner, 50-38, as Coach Shirley Stephenson's team boosted its record to 28-7, but then, alas, lost to Plainview, 57-48.

Midland College's basketball team also advanced to the junior college regionals at Big Spring, beating Weatherford before losing to WJCC champion Western Texas College for the right to go to nationals. Coach Jerry Stone's Chaparrals took fourth place in the WJCC and finished with a 21-12 record.

GREENWOOD'S Rangers made headlines, reeling off a 26-0 record before losing to Channing, 41-40, in the regional piling up 126 points to 91 for second place Abilene.

There were also district titles in swimming and golf for the local high schools in what was a banner year.

Midland's Cubs enjoyed their most successful season since the 1975 pennant winning team which boasted Cy Young winner Bruce Sutter; Dennis Lamp and Mike Krukow, both starters on the Chicago Cubs' staff. Under Manager Randy Hundley, the one-time major league catcher, Midland missed winning the first half by .003 points, but then walloped San Antonio by five games in the second half. However, in the playoff, all three games at San Antonio the games at San Antonio, the Dodgers' farmhands won the best-of-three series, 2-1.

First baseman Jim Tracy. plucked from the club by Wichita in midseason, had a shot at the Texas League triple crown (homers, rbi and batting) when he left. Jim left before he could swing it, but not before he sewed up the batting title.

MIDLAND CUBS General Manager Bill Rigney, Jr., re-ceived the Texas League Executive of the Year award, as se-lected by the TL GM's. Then, later, the Sporting News named him Class AA Executive of the Year after a season in which Midland set a new paid atten-dance record at Cubs Stadium. Although neither Midland nor

Lee won any championships, Midland pitcher Kelly Lilly did pitch a no-hitter, winning 3-1

Midland College's tennis team finished second in the regional meet held at MC, which qualified it for the nationals.

And during the year, there were personnel changes in the Midland Schools System. Jack Stephenson, a longtime assistant under Paul Stueckler at Midland Lee, returned from Snyder to take over as Midland High basketball coach after Humphrey decided to go into private business.

GIL BARTOSH was named athletic director for the Midland School System, succeeding Sam Cox, who asked for reassignment after three years, and he was immediately confronted by the task of finding two head football coaches. Bartosh was moved up after compiling a 7-3 season at Lee, his second season in which his Rebels were a district contender all the way. The school board moved not to rehire Midland High Coach Dennie Hays, who finished 5-5 in his second season at the Buildog helm.

ON THE auto front, there was a shuffling of drivers with Unser moving to Bobby Hillin's Longhorn Racing team while Johnny Rutherford signed with Hall, the net effect should give the Tall City two bonafide contenders in this year's Indy as well as the this year's Indy, as well as the other major CART races.

Baylor wins Peach Bowl

ATLANTA (AP) - Freshman quarterback Mike Brannan, who threw only two touchdown passes during the regular season, equaled that Monday, striking for a pair of quick secondquarter scoring tosses to power the 19th-ranked Baylor Bears to a 24-18 victory over No. 18 Clemson in the nationally televised Peach Bowl.

"We put a 10-man rush on them," Teaff said. "We just put a lot of heat on them. He (Clemson punter David Sims) is an excellent punter. But we block a lot of kicks.'

Clemson Coach Danny Ford said it was only the second and third blocked punts of Sims' career. Sims was the fourth leading punter in the nation.

"Baylor had a more effective kicking game and that's where we lost the ball game," Ford said. "Anytime you go into a ball game that's going to be close you have to have a better kicking game. You can't have two punts blocked and expect to win."

But it was more than the blocked punts that led to Baylor's victory, its eighth of the season against four losses. The Bears' defensive pass

Nebraska three-point favorites today over Houston in Cotton

DALLAS (AP) - Nebraska rated a field goal favorite today over Houston in the 44th annual Cotton Bowl Classic, featuring two 10-1 teams who each lost a bitter conference show lown that killed any national championship hopes

The New Year's Day showdown was strictly for pride, particulary for the Houston Cougars of the Southwest Conference who blew a 34-12 lead to Notre Dame in the fourth quarter of last year's Cotton Bowl.

The last-second 35-34 loss to the Fighting Irish was a psychological spur to the Cougars in a regular season where a 21-13 loss to Texas was the only it," said Houston Coach Bill Yeoman Monday. "We played at Michigan where you have lots of bad weather, but that (Cotton Bowl) game last year was the worst I've ever been exposed to.' Both teams field solid defenses and boast 1,000-yard rushers in Nebraska's Jarvis Redwine and Houston's Terald Clark. Houston defensive coordinator Don Todd said, "The thing that pops out in our concern about Nebrasis that we have not done a good job on the sweep play and they run the sweep well with the Redwine kid.

"Another concern is how we'll work against their offensive line. They make adjustments at the snap of the ball and we have not faced that." Nebraska defensive coordinator Lance Van Zandt said, "What concerns me about the Houston offense is that they run the triple option. The one team that we played that ran the triple option was Oklahoma and we didn't do very well against them."

The top individuals for each team include first-team Associated Press All-America tight end Junior Miller of Nebraska and second-team linebacker David Hodge of Houston. Miller is from Midland, Tex.

Purdue outlasts Vols in Bluebonnet, 27-22

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

AP Sports Writer HOUSTON (AP) — Purdue quarterback Mark Herrmann, who watched a 21-0 lead disappear, hit tight end Dave Young with a 17-yard touchdown pass with 1:30 to play Monday night for a thrilling 27-22 victory over Tennessee in the 21st annual Bluebonnet Bowl.

TENNESSEE'S GAMBLING Volunteers rallied behind the fourthquarter heroics of quarterback Jimmy Streater and running back Hubert Simpson to take a 22-21 lead Purdue appeared to have the game wrapped up in the fourth quarter. But down 21-6, Streater pitched out to wingback Phil Ingram, who unbelievably squirmed from a Purdue tackler's grasp and passed 15 yards to tailback James Berry for a touchdown with 8:39 left in the game.

Simpson then ran over the two-point conversion, narrowing Purdue's lead

Teammates still prefer Roger at quarterback

Staubach may retire after disappointing loss to Los Angeles

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas' 37-year-old quarterback Roger Staubach, the master of last-second comebacks who couldn't muster any magic against Los Angeles Sunday, will decide this spring whether to retire. But his teammmates already are begging him to come back one more time.
"We can't lose Roger," said Cowboy wide receiver Drew Pearson in the wake of a 21-19 playoff loss to the Rams.

Pearson said, "When I think about 1980, the first thing that comes to mind is that I hope all our people are back. And when I say all our people, obviously I'm talking about Roger. He's such a great player I want him to go out a Super Bowl winner one more time.'

Tony Hill, Dallas' other wide receiver, was more to the point: "I'm praying he doesn't retire. 'Staubach won't decide until the disappointment of the playoff loss

"I'll start shooting a few baskets next week and check my bumps and bruises," said Staubach. He added, "I'll be 38 years old in a few weeks and retirement is something to think about. We're in good shape at quarterback with Danny White and Glenn Carano.

What happened against the Rams won't make any difference. When it's time to retire, it's time to retire.

Staubach said after Dallas defeated Washington 35-34 to clinch the NFC Eastern Division title that he had never been so excited at a football

But he was knocked out twice this season and said his wife Marianne was getting tired of seeing him take that kind of punishment.

Landry was queried last week about Staubach's retirement possibilities and joked, "I'm not staying if he retires."

"Wouldn't it be ironic if the last pass of my career was completed to an offensive lineman?" Staubach joked. The Cowboys, playing with a revamped defense because of retirements, injuries and linebacker Thomas Henderson's dismissal, never stopped the big play all year although they compiled an 11-5 record. "We did well to get as far as we did," said Landry.

"What I said to him, you couldn't write it," said the coach. "I jumped his butt but good."

The salvo was aimed at Tony Franklin, the Texas sidewinder, who disobeyed Vermeil during the closing minutes of Saturday's playoff game with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. With more than three minutes left "Tony's a great talent, but he's going to have to grow up. What his problem is, is that he might be taking his talent for granted. It's so easy (for him) to do what he does that he might take it for granted.

McKay feels that Bucs have chance

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Reporters were trying to find out Monday just how confident Tampa Bay Buccaneers Coach John McKay really is.

He was asked if earlier in the year he thought his fourth-year club would be on the verge of Super Bowl XIV. 'I felt we had a good chance to win our division," McKay replied. "After that, it depends on how the cards fall. You only have to win two games. But I've been in it long enough to know anything can happen. "But I'm not saying I'm surprised.

That didn't suffice, and a little while later during his news conference, McKay was asked the same question again in a different way: Had he made any plans for January he would have to cancel or was his calendar free?

"I don't make any commitments. My calendar was free until March when we have league meetings, and April, the draft.

'Other than that, I was thinking of going to Iran to talk to my fan club over there.

The three American clergymen who held Christmas services for the hostages in Tehran came back saying the captives were surprised to learn the Bucs were in contention, and wanted to be kept posted.

National title on line in two bowl games today

By The Associated Press

There may be a lot of piling on Tuesday as the nation's top college football teams, under the watchful eye of the television cameras and the pollsters, not only go out to win, but go out to win big in the New Year's Day bowl games.

SECOND-RANKED Alabama meets No.6 Arkansas (10-1) in the Sugar Bowl at 1 p.m. CST on ABC, kicking off the final jockeying for the national championship. Alabama, led by quarterback Steadman Shealy and its rugged defense, is favored by 91/2 points. A victory - big or small may be enough for the 11-0 Crimson Tide to win the national title for the second year in a row.

Then again, it might not be since Ohio State, also 11-0, pulled ahead of Alabama by a mere 1½ points to occupy the No.1 spot in The Associated Press' final regular season poll early in December. An impressive victory by Ohio State over No.3 Southern California (10-0-1) in the Rose Bowl, or by Southern Cal over Ohio State, for that matter, might crown either of these teams cham-

OHIO STATE, which is guided through the air by quarterback Art Schlichter, is a 7½-point underdog against the Trojans and their Heisman Trophy-winning tailback, Charles White.

The Rose Bowl game kicks off at 4 p.m. CST on NBC, so Ohio State and Southern Cal will know where each stands. Both these teams can't lose, so one would probably capture the national title should Alabama lose or win unimpressively.

Bobby Bowden, coach of the 11-0 and the fourth-ranked Florida State Seminoles, has one shoestring scenario that could have his unsung team rising to the top. Alabama would have to lose, Florida State would have to beat No.5 Oklahoma (10-1) in the Orange Bowl and "Southern Cal and Ohio State would have to play the dullest 3-3 tie in history," he said. Since the Orange Bowl kicks off at 7 p.m. CST on NBC, Bowden will certainly know if his pipedream has any credence. Oklahoma, whose awesome Wishbone offense is paced by shifty halfback Billy Sims, is a 71/2-point

THE OTHER bowl game Tuesday will not help unscramble the issue of "Who's No.1?" but it will make a difference for the final positioning in the middle levels of The AP's final Top Ten. The Cotton Bowl game on CBS at 1 p.m. CST matches seventhranked Nebraska and No.8 Houston. Both teams have 10-1 records. Oddsmakers favor Nebraska by four

THERE WERE two bowl games Monday as the college football season bid farewell to 1979 before ushering in 1980 with a quadrupleheader.

In the Peach Bowl Monday afternoon, Baylor took a 24-18 victory over Clemson while Purdue eased its way past Tennessee, 27-22 in the Bluebonnet Bowl game in Houston Mon-fensive tackle Keena Turner. Streater was runnerup to Herrmann for the offensive honor.

Tennessee had crossed the midfield stripe only once and trailed 21-0 late in the third quarter when Streater hit Anthony Hancock on a 56-yard pass to the Purdue 22 that set up Streater's touchdown pass to Ford with 2:55 left in the quarter. A two-point conversion attempt failed.

STREATER AGAIN took the Volunteers 70 yards in the fourth quarter, with a 16-yard pass to Reggie Harper, a 14-yard run by Berry and a 13-yard

After Berry caught the touchdown pass, Streater was short on a plunge for a two-point conversion try, but a defensive holding penalty gave a sec-ond chance, and this time Simpson bulled his way over. Streater ran 13 and 3 yards on the

Cuba fishing over

KENNY REDIN'S

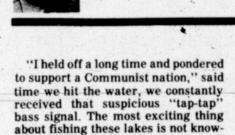

Fin & Feather

This will be the last article on the subject of fishing Cuban freshwater reservoirs for largemouth black bass. But not to be forgotten, these lakes offer, without a doubt, the best possibility in the entire world of catching a trophy bass of more than 10-pounds. And after fishing Cuba's Cuyaguateje for three days, we can assure you someone in a fishing party will likely latch onto a huge wall-hanger.

The reason we can say this is because our test trip with 21 Americans, including outdoor writers, professional fishermen and some fine amateur anglers, proved the fish are waiting to be caught.

Five bass more than 10-pounds were taken. Bobby Murray, who's world famous for his bass fishing expertise said, "I've fished the world over and have caught thousands of bass. Even some large ones, time to time, but this Cuban chain of lakes is the best set of lakes I've ever fished. And, although I didn't catch a trophy bass on this trip, I caught enough 7-8-pound fish that I'm convinced these Cuban lakes are truly trophy

Of course, fishing for trophy bass is just for a few people. Most bass fishermen would rather go out a catch a in hopes of snagging a huge one. But Cuyaguateje is not just a trophy bass lake. It's full of filler fish. From the all those things like U.S. dollars going long plastic worm.

Other current handicaps include inexperienced fishing guides, as this group was the first the locals had guided. Also, outmoded outboard motors were used. A long bus ride from Pinar del Rio to the lake was another worry.

The Cuyaguateje series of lakes was discovered by Ron Speed. He fished most of Cuba, inquired about the best facilities, and he's now standing firm on this chain.

Speed. "But when it comes down to it, I'm in the business of taking people hunting and fishing. Many told me they wanted to fish in Cuba and I now have more than 180 on the list. "If I do begin such an operation,"

Ford announces recall of 3,000 cars, 80,000 trucks said Monday it was recalling 3,000 cars to install larger brakes of the correct size and about 80,000 light trucks to fix a faulty transmission that could fail to stick in the park position.

Ford spokesman John Emmet said the transmission defect had "absolutely nothing to do" with 9 million Ford cars which some critics have alleged have automatic transmissions that can slip out of park.

The cars recalled Monday - Ford Thunderbirds, Mercury Cougar XR-7s, Ford Fairmonts and Mercury Zephyrs from the 1980 model year received rear brake drums intended for the Ford Mustang, a smaller model.

The drums are one-sixteenth inch less in diamater than they should be As a result, Emmet said, the cars do not meet federal standards for stopping distances "by a few feet" if specified pressure is applied on the pedal.

Emmet said he did not know how the smaller drums were discovered. The installation, he said, was believed to have been the result of "drums delivered to the wrong plant, or something.

The trucks - Broncos, vans and F-series pickups from the 1980 model year - have transmissions with parking pawl actuating rods with defective welds, Emmet said. As a result, pushing the lever into the "park" position might not actually lock the transmission and the truck could roll

Tut movie signs Ellis for McShane's part

ENTERTAINMENT

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Robin Ellis has been signed for "The Curse of King Tut" to replace Ian McShane, who fractured a leg filming a scene in Egypt.

McShane was driving a vintage automobile with co-star Eva Marie McShane was driving a vintage automobile with co-star Eva Marie Saint as a passenger when it went out of control and crashed. Miss Saint escaped injury.

"I am sure it's the Mummy's curse." McShane said from his hospital bed in London. He was playing Howard Carter, the English discoverer of King Tut's tomb in 1922, for the two-hour NBC movie from Columbia Pictures Television.

Meredith gets 'Buelah Land' role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Meredith Baxter Birney will be a guest star in a key role of "Buélah Land," a six-hour Civil War saga about a great-Southern plantation.

Miss Birney plays the beautiful flirtatious sister of the mistress of Beulah Land to be played by Lesley Ann Warren. David Gerber Productions is making the series for NBC.

Keach to star in 'Hughie'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Stacy Keach will make his professional stage debut in London in Eugene O'Neill's "Hughie" for England's National Theatre on Jan. 18.

He previously played the role in 1965 while a Fulbright student at the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Act.

The play will be directed by William Bryden, a co-writer for "The Long Riders." Keach and his brother James were also co-writers and executive producers of the movie, in which they played Frank and Jesse

Blake, Cannon to share lead

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Robert Blake will co-star with Dyan Cannon in Paramount's "Coast To Coast."

Blake plays a truck driver with whom Miss Cannon flees cross-country in a film described as being in the tradition of the 1930s film come-

'Raise the Titanic' gets Bashin

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Soviet actor Elya Bashin plays a major role. in "Raise the Titanic!," based on the novel by Clive Cussler.

Bashin, who left Russia three years ago, was in "Being There," 'Butch and Sundance: The Early Years," and "The World's Greatest Lover.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - The 25th anniversary of Disneyland will be celebrated on a special next April on CBS.

It will be the first time Walt Disney Productions has had a show on CBS since a Christmas special in 1951.

Dwight Hemion and Gary Smith will be executive producers and Buz Kohan and Phil May will be the producers.

The show will feature many of the performers who got their start at

Ceremonial uniforms cause problem with Klan funeral granddaughter of a longtime Ku Klux Klan member says if a funeral home allows Shriners and other groups to hold funerals in ceremonial uniforms it has no grounds for denying a 'Klan funeral.'

Four Klansmen picketed the Laurel Land Funeral Home during the weekend after it refused to allow the group to attend services dressed in Klan robes and hoods for Addie Barlow Frazier.

Mrs. Frazier's granddaughter, Beverly Pitt-man, said Monday more demonstrations would be held at the funeral home, but she said the time had not been decided.

Mrs. Frazier, who helped organize a Klan rally in downtown Dallas on Nov. 3, died Saturday night in a Dallas hospital, where she was admitted Dec. 7 with viral pneumonia.

Mrs. Pittman, who lives in suburban Car-rollton, said her grandmother had paid $685.51 for a burial policy with the funeral home in January 1976.

"They allow robes at funerals of Shriners, beanies at Jewish funerals, and it it's a military funeral, they allow uniforms, but they flatly refused to give her a Klan ceremony because of the robes," she said.

'They wanted no robed Klansmen there. They said they wanted no trouble," she said.

At the family's demand, the funeral home returned the money for the policy, and another Dallas funeral home agreed to allow a Klan funeral, she said. Robert McNatt, general manager of Laurel Land, said it refused to allow the Klan funeral because "by them being dressed as Klansmen, that would have created a disturbance.

"We could not have them robed in the chapel

ICC rejects employees

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Interstate Commerce Commission rejected on Monday a plan by employees of the Milwaukee Road to take over the financially cripgled railroad and continue its service to the West Coast.

The commission, acting under a congression-ally imposed deadline, ruled that the New Milwaukee Lines had failed to come up with a financially viable plan for running the railroad.

Stock market loses

NEW YORK (AP) — Gold and precious metals stocks rose sharply today as the broader market ended 1979 on a steady note in fairly slow trading.

Analysts said many traders took the day off for an extended holiday. Stock markets will be closed Tuesday for New Year's Day.

The market showed little reaction to the Commerce Department's report that the November index of leading economic indicators fell sharply for the fourth time in the past five months.

The index is designed to forecast economic trends. Analysts said its latest 1.3 percent decline came as no surprise to Wall Street.

Precious metals mining stocks got a boost from record high prices in commodity markets. The price of gold rose $15 an ounce to a record $533 for spot contracts on the Commodity Exchange in New York. Silver prices also reached a peak $34.45, up $5.10 an ounce.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials slipped .17 to 838.74. The blue chip index finished 1978 at 805.01.

The NYSE's composite index rose .07 to 61.95 today. A year ago it finished at

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained 1.46 to a record closing high of 247.07. That was up more than 96 points from its year-ago level of

In today's trading, there were 763 gaining issues and 755 losers on the New York Stock Exchange

Big Board volume totaled 31.53 million shares, against 34.43 million on Friday.

Medicare premiums going up will have to pay higher monthly premiums starting in July, the government said Monday The premium for Part B of Medicare will jump from $8.70 to $9.60, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said. Part B covers doctors' bills and certain outpatient medical expenses. There is no premium for Part A, which covers hospital bills. The new year also will mean higher Social Security taxes for the 14.9 million American workers, or 13 percent of the work force, who are expected to earn more than $22,900. That was the wage base, or cutoff, on Social Security taxes in 1979, but in 1980 the cutoff will be $25,900. The tax rate will stay at 6.13 per-cent, but the higher cutoff means that the maximum payroll tax for a work-er will jump from $1,404 to $1,588, an increase of $184 or 13 percent. The 9.9 percent premium increase for Part B of Medicare is the same percentage that Social Security benefits went up last July. The law that required the increase also limited it to paying all the costs of their cover-

Social Security recipients may console themselves with the near certainty that they will be getting a record cost-of-living increase in their benefit checks next July. The Consumer Price Index already is up 8 percent with four months to go in the 12-month period on which the increases are figured, and some experts are predicting a 13 percent increase for the 35 million Social Security recipients.

The Social Security Administration said that in 1980, a person aged 65 who paid the maximum Social Security taxes and retires will draw a monthly benefit of $572, up from $553 in mid-

That amounts to a maximum individual benefit of $6,864 a year.

Workers ages 65-71 will be able to earn $5,000 in 1980, up from $4,500 in 1979, without losing any of their Social Security benefits.

Benefits are reduced $1 for every $2

Gold and silver prices end year at record level LONDON (AP) — The prices of gold and silver ended the 1970s by setting new records Monday as the threat of war and fears of recession overshadowed the market. The U.S. dollar was stable for the day.

Gold rose above $530 an ounce and silver above $34 an ounce for the first time on the final day of the decade, which saw the dollar decline along with America's dominance of the world economy.

The price of gold closed at $533, up $15.20, in trading for January futures contracts on New York's Commodity Exchange. In spot trading, the price rose $16 to close at $529, according to Republic National Bank.

In earlier London trading, the price rose $19 from Friday's closing to an all-time peak of $527.50 a troy ounce, then slipped to end the year at $524.50.

Gold closed 1978 in London at $226.375, for an annual gain of 132 percent. As the decade began, gold was selling for about $36 an ounce. Two years ago, the price The real gold rush began in mid-1978 with deteriorating confidence in the U.S.

economy and accelerated with the oil crisis and the Iranian revolution. It was capped by the U.S.-Iran confrontation over the hostages at the U.S. Embassý in Tehran and, finally, by the Soviet military incursion into Afghanistan.

Dealers say oil-rich Arabs and wealthy overseas Chinese in Asia have been big gold buyers, but a great deal of the volume has also gone into middle-class hoards, from France to the United States. Silver's increase has been even sharper. Spot silver futures closed Monday on New York's Commodity Exchange at $34.45, up $5.10 for the day. London silver prices closed at $32.00, up $4.80 for the day. As recently as Dec. 7, silver closed at $18.80. A decade ago, it stood at $1.80.

Zurich's trig gold market was closed for the holiday. The Friday Zurich closing of $5.19 an ounce was a record there.

For those who held dollars, the news was less cheery.

Against the mighty West German mark, the American currency wound up the decade in Frankfurt at 1.7315 marks - up from Friday's 1.7250 marks but down 5 percent for the year and down 57 percent for the decade. In New York, the dollar slipped to close at 1.7255 marks, down from Friday's 1.7278. The Swiss franc, beneficiary of near-zero inflation, was not traded in Zurich Monday but in New York the dollar slipped to 1.5935 francs from 1.6050 Friday. The dollar was down 2 percent for the year and 63 percent in 10 years.

A looming steel strike knocked the British pound for losses. It ended Monday at $2.2225 in London and $2.22 in New York — up 9 percent against the dollar for the year but down 7 percent for a decade blighted by strikes, inflation and stagnant production. Last Friday a pound cost $2,2340 in London and $2,2248 in Only against Japan's troubled yen, victim of Japan's dependence on oil imports and manufactured exports, did the dollar succeed this year. It closed Monday in Tokyo at 239.85 yen and in New York at 240.15 yen, compared to 239.50 in Tokyo and 240.75 in New York on Friday. The dollar was up 23 percent against the yen for the year, but is still down 33 percent for the decade.

The dollar slipped to 4.0225 French francs in New York from 4.0375 Friday. The Paris market was closed, having finished the year at 4.0225 francs on Friday. The dollar dropped 4 percent against the franc during the year and 28

In Milan, the dollar eased to 804.25 Italian lire from Friday's 804.30 and finished down 3 percent for the year but up 29 percent for the decade. Dutch markets were closed Friday, but the dollar finished the year Friday at 1.9020 guilders, down 4 percent for the year and 47 percent for the decade.

In New York trading, the U.S. dollar finished at $1.16825 Canadian, down from $1.1718 Friday and down 1.4 percent for the year. But for the decade the U.S. dollar was up 26 percent as Canada encountered inflation problems even worse than those of its southern neighbor.

Crude oil prices also at record level

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Posted prices of crude oil reached a new high Monday in Oklahoma at $34.50 a barrel.

Cities Service posted the top price per barrel for sweet crude and $32.50 for sour crude, which has a higher sulfur content. The previous high was $32.50 for sweet cirude.

Cities Service's price is retroactive to Nov. 1 and also applies to portions of Arkansas, Kansas and Texas.

Exxon passes Amogo WASHINGTON (AP) - Nearly 28 as leading gas seller million persons covered by Medicare

NEW YORK (AP) - Exxon Corp. the world's biggest oil company, apparently has edged out Standard Oil Company of Indiana (Amoco) as the nation's leading seller of gasoline, a survey reports.

The Lundberg Letter also reported the national average price of a gallon of leaded regular gasoline at full-service stations climbed to $1.0509 in December from $1.0114 a month ear-Exxon captured 7.77 percent of the U.S. gasoline market in the third quarter, the newsletter said in its Dec. 28 issue, up from 7.49 percent in the second, while Amoco slipped to 7.31 percent from 7.78 percent.

One-one-hundedth of one percent of the U.S. market is equal to 3 million gallons of gasoline, the industry newsletter said.

Exxon's climb to the lead was aided by its steady supply of relatively cheap Saudi Arabian oil. That supply kept Exxon's retail prices 2.4 cents a gallon below the national average in the third quarter and 4.6 percent below average in the fourth quarter.

Before the recent Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries meeting, Saudi Arabia charged $18 for a 42-gallon barrel of oil, against an OPEC average of $22. Saudi Arabia's current $24 price still is $2 below the OPEC average.

Most of Saudi Arabia's 9.5 million barrels-a-day production is sold to Exxon, along with smaller retailers Standard Oil Company of California, Mobil Corp. and Texaco Inc.

Gibbs & Hill, Inc., of New York City was hired about a month ago by the South Texas project's management committee after an angry Mayor Carole McClellan of Austin demanded an "independent audit." She pressed for the audit of the project's financial and engineering records when a $400 million cost overrun was announced in August.

The mayor said Monday she was unaware of who had been selected for the audit and that it had been associated with Brown & Root at the Comanche Peak nuclear project near Glen Rose, Texas. 'If there is someone else as qualified, I would certainly think it would be preferable" to hire them instead of Gibbs and Hill, she said. She declined further comment until she could look into the matter.

Sam Graham, chairman of the city's electric utility commission, said the situation "stinks" and the city council should have been consulted before Gibbs & Hill was hired.

Gibbs and Hill is the design engineer at the Comanche Peak project, located about 40 miles southwest of Fort Worth near Glen Rose, where Brown & Root is the contractor.

Brown & Root is both engineer and contractor of the South Texas

R.L. Hancock, director of Austin's electric system and a member of the management committee that hired Gibbs and Hill, said the firm is already doing the audit and that the company has "no relationship with Brown & Root" at Comanche Peak. owner of Comanche Peak.

The senior vice president of Brown & Root in charge of the South Texas project, Steve Grote, said Monday his company has "no relationship with Gibbs & Hill on that (Comanche Peeak) project because Texas Utilities is managing it."

American College helps you to Happy New Year

One of the doors to a satisfying future available to Midlanders and others in the Permian Basin area is the American Commercial College, an institution accredited by the Texas Education Agency and the Accrediting Commission for Independent Colleges, Washington, D.C.
The reason for the existence of the college is to train men and women of the community for business careers which will provide advancement, success and security. To this end, training compatible with the students' potential abilities is provided.

Enrollment is open throughout the year, and the individual student learns his job skills at his own pace. Upon successful completion of a course, college placement assists the graduate in finding a job. Graduates are much in demand.

Many financial aids are available. The National Direct Student Loan, Basic Educational Opportunity Grants, Supplementary Educational Opportunity Grants, College Work-Study and Federal Insured Student Loan programs are some of the sources of help.

The school of business enables a student to begin a career immediately after graduation with a good position, income and opportunity. The entire cost of an education at American Commercial College can be repaid by the extra earnings enjoyed during just the first few weeks of employment. The school qualifies for Veterans Training and Vocational Rehabilitation Training.

Twelve courses may be followed in preparation for jobs which are al-ways available to the well-trained. Business Administration, Executive Accounting, Executive Secretarial, Legal Secretarial, Medical Secretarial, Senior Accounting, Stenographic, Office Machines and Complete General Drafting. Depending upon the course followed, it will take approximately three months to one year to complete a course.

It is always a pleasure to receive a prospective student for a tour of the facilities of the school and to explain details of courses, schedule of classes and opportunities offered. Director Kenneth R. Purifoy will also be happy to meet students, parents, school officials or businessmen who would like to interview prospective employees any time during office hours.

Visit American Commercial College very soon, and enter the door to a brighter future.

Joe Chung, owner of Blue Star Inn, wishes all his many very good and faithful friends, as well as new ones and ones he has yet to meet, a very Happy New Year. The past years have been good ones for him and the Inn, and he plans to give all the fine service of excellent food in the future. He invites all to come and enjoy the dining which is an enduring tradition at Blue Star Inn. 2501 W.

They were then put into a boat which was dragged across the perilously thin ice to shore where Zak was put into a bathtub and Dvoracek into a small dingy filled with water in the basement of a lakehouse.

He said the skaters fell through inch-thick glare ice into 8-to-10 feet of water. Rescuers were hampered by the extremely thin ice, cold temperatures and strong winds, he said.

At one point, the boat containing the bodies of the two men capsized and sank, but the bodies were retrieved immediately and transferred to another small boat, which was then pulled across the ice to shore.

Barry said that after locating the bodies, the divers had difficulty getting back onto the ice, as it repeatedly broke away under their weight.

Other rescuers, including Barry, waited about 100 yards away, fearing too many people near the hole would cause more breaks. Dr. John Bentwood, a surgeon from nearby Plymouth, supervised the lifesaving efforts. Officials said there was a chance the men might be revived because of recent successes involving apparent drownings in cold water. Freighter still resisting scuttling KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — Authorities can-celed plans to scuttle the drifting freighter Lee Wang Officials said Monday that they had suspended the Zin offshore Monday and tried to resume towing the search for 28 Taiwanese crew members still missing overturned ship out to sea for sinking in a watery after the ship rolled over during a ferocious storm tomb more than 11/2 miles deep.

The tow line snapped Sunday, just outside Dixon Entrance, sending the ship and its estimated 200,000 Fire kills two, hurts eight gallons of fuel drifting toward British Columbia's Queen Charlotte Islands and officials made plans to sink the vessel.

Sixteen rounds fired from five-inch guns on the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Munro failed to sink the freighter early Monday, so authorities decided to have a diver plant explosive charges and sink the Lee Wang Zin in about 1,200 feet of water.

They changed their minds a few hours later, however, and said divers would try to reattach the tow line so the vessel could be hauled to its originally intended burial point, in an 8,200-foot-deep ocean canyon 70 miles west of Dixon Entrance.

"I speculate that they decided that if they're going o put divers into the water anyway, they might as well try to proceed with the original plan," said Coast Guard Petty Officer Phillip Franklin. The National Weather Service reported winds of 25

Barge with deadly cargo aground near San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A barge carrying 35 tons of deadly chlorine gas, 38,000 pounds of explosives and other chemicals broke loose from a tugboat in stormy seas and ran aground near the Golden Gate Bridge on Monday, authorities said.

Efforts to retrieve the cargo or attach a tow line to the 400-foot barge were hampered by fog, wind, rain and waves. Three tugboats, helicopters and a lifeboat were sent out with salvage experts. The Coast Guard said salvage crews planned to remove the cargo and place it aboard another barge or trucks after the storm, which was expected to continue through Monday night.

Meanwhile, the barge was aground on the rocky shoreline, bent in the middle and in danger of splitting in half, authorities said.

The Coast Guard said some chemicals were washed ashore by a 15-foot surf breaking over the barge, which was on jutting rocks about three miles northwest of the bridge near Point Bonita in Marin Coast Guard spokesman Dave Cipra said the explosives - nitrocarbonitrate - were "very difficult to detonate." He said the chlorine gas was housed in sturdy steel cylinders.

Also aboard the barge were containers of corrosive chemicals, including a carton of potassium hydroxide, three boxes of sodium hydroxide and a box of hydrofluoric acid.

Fire Chief Andrew Casper said the combination of chemicals loaded aboard the barge "could cause an

One tanker plunged into the Smith River, and the second poured its contents into the stream, the highway patrol reported.

The patrol closed Highway 199, the road that links Crescent City with Grants Pass, Ore. Water supplies to the small communities of Gasquet and Hiouchi, both with about 1,000 residents, were shut off. Authorities said the water in Crescent City, about 20 miles southwest of the accident site, also might be in peril. The truck driver, who was not immediately identified, suffered minor injuries in the accident, which occurred about 7 a.m. when he swerved to miss a rock slide, the highway patrol said.

FOREIGN BRIEFS

Faisal says Saudis don't want 'Reds'

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Saudi Foreign Minister Prince Saud Al Faisal strongly reaffirmed Monday his country's continuing policy of not establishing diplomatic relations with communist countries, Riyadh state radio reported.

The statement was viewed by Middle East observers as significant, coming at a time of Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, a Moslem Saudi Arabia, guardian of Islam's most sacred shrines at Mecca and Medina, has denounced in its newspapers "Soviet meddling in the internal affairs of an Islamic country.

Last March, Prince Faisal aroused speculation of a shift in Saudi Arabia's non-recognition policy toward the Soviet Bloc when he said in a Beirut magazine interview that the kingdom recognized that the Soviet Union had an "important role in world politics."

Italians snap up telephone slugs

ROME (AP) - Italians trying to double their money were snapping up the slugs used for public telephones on Monday before a new price increase went into effect.

The government, in a new round of austerity measures, raised the price of the tokens from 6 to 12 cents, effective Tuesday. Banks, swamped by requests, were limiting sales to 10 to a customer.

Bridge now respectable in China

PEKING (AP) - The card game of bridge is among activities that have become respectable in China again.

China's sports newspaper gave front page prominence Monday to a competition in which Vice Premier Wang Zhen played Saturday. 'Comrade Wang Zhen plays cards the way he leads soldiers: He dares to attack," it said. Those competing included central and Peking government and Communist Party officials, "noted patriotic personages," and intellectuals from scientific and news organizations, the paper added:

One of the stories circulated about senior Vice Premier Deng Xiaoping during one of his periods of disgrace was that he once sent a plane to a distant city to pick up a fourth for bridge.

Danes' mood worries queen

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) - Queen Margrethe II, concerned about her nation's mood, tried on New Year's Eve to shake the Danes out of their "strange despondency" in the face of the new decade.

In her traditional New Year's address, televised from the Amalienborg royal palace, the 39-year-old monarch said the general reaction to the energy crisis and economic recession of the 1970s appeared to result from a sense of human uncertainty.

Reminding her listeners that even in the deepest gloom there are rays of light, the queen said she believed an inheritance for the 1980s is a "new attention to the individual, a reawakening care, not just for nature, but for the value of every single human being as a unique personality, as an irreplaceable note in the large sea of harmonies.

Doctors abandon people in insurance program

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Insured medical care for 30,000 people in northeastern Colorado ends Tuesday because almost all the area doctors abandoned the local health maintenance organization.

The doctors' decision to pull out of ChoiceCare Health Services Inc. left subscribers scrambling for coverage, federal officials fuming and creditors holding a debt of more than $1 million.

Physicians Service Corp., which represents all but 20 doctors in Larimer County, is the same group of doctors that set up the HMO four years ago. The doctors say continuation of ChoiceCare would divide the medical Federal officials say the organization was poorly run and never really functioned like an HMO.

Other observers say ChoiceCare offered subscribers too many services and was doomed to fail from the start.

HMOs have sprouted in the last decade, heralded as one answer to galloping medical costs. Subscribers pay a pre-set monthly fee, and for little or no extra fee they get all their medical care - including routine visits to the doctor's

Many HMOs were founded, like ChoiceCare, on federal loans and grants. Their aim was preventative medicine, keeping patients healthy and out of hospital, and the method was to offer participating doctors financial incen-

HMO doctors control some of the subscribers' monthly premiums and are responsible for paying their fees and patients' hospital bills from those funds. When monzy is left over after bills are paid, the doctors share it in the form of bonuses. But when expenses outpace premiums, the doctors are paid less for treating HMO patients. The federal government - which began subsidizing HMOs in 1973 - next year will spend $60 million in loans and grants to HMOs.

Despite that financial show of interest, the Health, Education and Welfare department has only recently begun close examination of the HMOs to see if they are following federal regulations. What it found has not, in every case, made officials happy. ChoiceCare is a case in point. HEW last summer sent a team of investigators to Fort Collins to find out why ChoiceCare was running in the red. "The team found that ChoiceCare was not functioning like an HMO should. The physicians were sending their bills in to ChoiceCare's administrative office, and the management was paying them," said Norm Lizotte, regional director in Denver of HEW's program for HMOs. "It was fee for service, like a private insurance company. I don't believe the physicians were participating in ChoiceCare's financial losses.

The team also found that doctors weren't keeping track of how many ChoiceCare patients they admitted to hospitals or how long they stayed. HMOs are based on the concept that doctors, given financial incentives, will reduce medical costs by admitting fewer patients to the hospital and getting them out of the hospital quickly.

HEW told ChoiceCare's doctor-dominated board of directors that they would have to play by the rules. If ChoiceCare patients exceeded a certain number of hospital days per thousand, the doctors would get less money for treating ChoiceCare patients.

The doctors balked. Last month, they voted 87-24 against renewing the corporation's contract with ChoiceCare for 1980.

ChoiceCare quickly asked the remaining 20 doctors in the county of 150,000 residents to come in as participating physicians. They refused.

-"We were already doing everything an HMO is supposed to do in this community," said Dr. John Maloney, chairman of Physician Service Corp. 'The cost of health care and hospital utilization is low here to begin with. We decided ChoiceCare would be divisive to the medical community and would Ted Weinberg, HEW's director of compliance for the HMO program, said from Rockville, Md., that he is "very upset" about the decision.

Extraordinary Value

With home prices spiraling, Idlewilde Village is a great value, affordably priced, within the budget of most homebuyers. If your income was less than $30,000.00 in 1978 or 1979, you may be able to buy under a unique mortgaging program.

. 95% financing Featuring . Approximately 91/8% interest . 30 year loan

Apartment dwellers paying as little as $225.00 per month may be surprised to learn that they may be wasting over $600.00 per month by renting, instead of buying.

Don't Delay

Stop by our office at 4501 W. Wadley for a free computerized personal budget analysis, or write P.O. Box 5185, Midland, Texas 79701.

Duplex ownership gives many people the opportunity to buy their first home, with the tenant helping pay the mortgage.
