Iranian students still seek Laingen

TEHRAN (AP) — A delegation of the students holding American hostages at the U.S. Embassy traveled to Qom today for a meeting with Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, and there was speculation they might discuss their demand that U.S. Charge d'Affaires L. Bruce Laingen be turned over to them for questioning.

Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh has asked Khomeini to rule on the students' demand for custody of Laingen and two U.S. aides who have been held under virtual house arrest at the Foreign Ministry since Nov. 4, the day the embassy and the estimated 50 hostages were seized.

The students have said they will accept Khomeini's ruling, but Iran's revolutionary and Shiite Moslem leader has not yet announced a decision and has declared he will not receive visitors for 15 days beginning Saturday.

An American Indian activist visiting Tehran says he hoped to visit the embassy hostages in the next few

John Thomas, 35, vice president of the International Indian Treaty Council, was invited to Tehran by the militants who seized the embassy and ever since have been demanding the return of the shah.

'This will probably make me the most hated man in America," Thomas told a news conference Wednesday as he denounced U.S. policy at home and abroad and blamed the American government for precipitating the taking of the hostages.

If Thomas does see the Americans, he will be the first outsider to do so since a group of clergymen paid them a Christmas visit.

In the troubled northwestern city of Tabriz, meanwhile, shops and schools were closed today in a general strike against Khomeini's militia, the revolutionary guard, a spokesman for the anti-Khomeini Moslem People's Republican Party said. 3 The strike call came a day after street clashes in Tabriz, central city of the Azerbaijan region, that left between three and 10 persons reported dead and 60 to 100 wounded.

Western journalists returning to Tehran after witnessing Wednesday's violence said revolutionary guardsmen had fired into an approaching crowd of supporters of Ayatollah Mohammed Kazem Shariat-Madari. It was one of a series of street battles between Khomeini supporters and followers of Shariat-Madari, the religious leader of the 10 million ethnic Azerbaijanis and the country's No. 2 ayatollah.

The spokesman for the Moslem People's Republican Party, which seeks greater autonomy for Azerbaijan, told a reporter the Tabriz general strike would continue until the revolutionary guards leave Tabriz. "We can control our own security," he said. "We don't need anybody else's interference.

A revolutionary guard spokesman in Tabriz confirmed that many shops had been closed but said testily, "Even one is open, then you can't say that all have been closed.'

Tabriz hospitals reported six dead and 41 younded, the national news agency Pars said the toll was three dead and 100 wounded, and two independent Tehran newspapers said 10 people were killed and 60 wounded.

There also were conflicting reports of the fighting.

An American TV crew that watched from a nearby rooftop reported about 20,000 anti-Khomeini demonstrators marched toward Tabriz University, where a similar number of Khomeini supporters were holding a rally. Revolutionary guardsmen arrested the first few marchers, who appeared to be unarmed, then fired tear gas into the crowd, the Americans said.

"The air was thick with tear gas, but the wind blew it back into the guards," said cameraman.

U.S. wins anti-Soviet vote, but won't get Iran sanctions

drive to arraign the Soviet Union before the General Assembly for its military intervention in Afghanistan, but the Russians announced that they would veto any resolution in the Security Council calling for sanctions

With Security Council action on Afghanistan blocked by the Soviet veto, the council adopted a resolution Wednesday night asking for an emergency session of the 152-nation assembly to deal with the situation in the Central Asian

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim announced that the assembly, which ended its regular 1979 session on Monday, would meet at 3 p.m. EST

The emergency session is expected to last several days, and the debate is expected to be a replay of the debate in the Security Council last weekend, with most of the members attacking the Soviet action in Afghanistan and the Soviet Union and its communist allies defending it.

The United States and its allies were reported confident that they could muster the two-thirds majority necessary for adoption of the resolution vetoed by the Soviet Union in the Security Council. The big-power veto does not apply in the assembly, but adoption of the resolution will have only moral and propaganda value since the assembly has no power to order punitive action.

The resolution deplored the armed intervention in Afghanistan and called for the withdrawal of all foreign forces

The opponents of the Soviet action took their case to the General Assembly under a procedure established in 1950 to deal with situations in which a veto prevented the Security Council from taking action to preserve or

The resolution asking for the assembly session was submittted by the Philippines and Mexico, and the vote in the 15-nation council was 12-2, with the Soviet Union and East Germany voting no and Zambia abstaining.

The council vote Monday on the resolution calling for withdrawal of the Soviet troops had been 13-2, with Zambia voting with the majority. But that was an issue of substance on which the negative Soviet vote counted as a veto, while the resolution to go to the General Assembly was a procedural matter exempt from the veto of the five permanent council members the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and China

Meanwhile, Tass, the official Soviet news agency, announced that U.S. plans to get the Security Council to vote sanctions against Iran were doomed to defeat

'As regards the USSR, it will not tolerate any interference from the outside in the internal affairs of Iran, and will not allow the United States to impose a decision to apply economic sanctions against it," said Tass.

A senior American official in Washington said if the Soviets vetoed the sanctions resolution, the United States would try to get its European allies and others to join it in a program of sanctions outside the U.N.

The Soviet Union abstained when the Security Council adopted a resolution on Dec. 31 calling for the release of the hostages and committing the council to consider measures against Iran if they were not freed by Jan. 7. The Americans at the time expected the Russians to abstain again when the sanctions resolution came to a vote, but that was before the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan and the hostile American reaction to it.

The United States wants an embargo applied to all Iranian imports except food and medicine and all Iranian exports except oil, the country's chief source of income. President Carter earlier this week called on the Security Council to vote sanctions "without delay," but so far the U.S. delegation has given first priority to the crisis in Afghanistan.

Soviet bigwigs may not have been involved in Afghanistan decision

President Leonid I. Brezhnev and Prime Minister Alexei Kosygin, both ill and aging, may not have had a hand in the Kremlin's decision to send thousands of troops into Afghanistan, according to a senior U.S. official. Acknowledging that intelligence information is sketchy, the official told reporters at the State Department it was not clear whether there would have been an intervention under the firm rule of Brezhnev, who also has been known for efforts at detente with the United States.

Russia's decision to intervene in Afghanistan, according to some European reports, was taken by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, Defense Minister Dmitri Ustinov, potential Brezhnev successor Andrei Kirilenko and a handful of others.

The intervention, which President Carter calls the greatest threat to peace since World War II, has plunged U.S. Soviet relations into sharp decline. Carter has ordered economic and diplomatic reprisals and halted Senate consideration of the SALT II treaty to limit strategic nuclear weapons

Brezhnev, 73 and in failing health for sometime, had trouble hearing and stumbled in public last June at the Vienna, Austria, summit meeting with Carter. Seldom seen by outsiders over the last several months, Brezhnev was reported officially in December to have a cold.

Kosygin, at 75 one of Brezhnev's closest colleagues, was also said to be ill, possibly having suffered a stroke. Under Brezhnev, the Soviet Union has pursued a policy of detente with WASHINGTON (AP) - Soviet the United States, reaching agree-vowed to block the U.S. drive for ments in a number of areas even amid tensions in others.

> Asked about the Afghan intervention, the U.S. official, who asked not to be named, said, "I don't think any of us can say whether this results from a change in the leadership.

But he added, "It is quite clear, insofar as the leadership is concerned, that both President Brezhnev and Kosygin are not playing the part that they played in the past.'

Meanwhile, on Wednesday, Carter suspended all licenses to export high technology to the Soviet Union and froze all further shipments.

Jody Powell, the White House press secretary, said this went beyond an initial suspension of about 500 applications for licenses valued at some $155 million. The new order will affect millions of dollars worth of American-made goods.

Reporters at the State Department briefing were told Australia, Canada and Argentina all would not make up the loss to the Soviet Union of a cutoff of 17 million metric tons of American

'It is going to have a real bite," the official said of the U.S. sanctions. At the same time, he said it was unrealistic to expect an immediate reversal of the slump in U.S.-Soviet relations or a prompt Soviet withdrawal from Afghanistan. 'I see this as not something that's happened and I expect to end shortly," he said. "I see this as a protract-On a related front, the Soviets also international economic sanctions against Iran.

A Tass dispatch, received here, said that while the Soviets favor peacefully settling the dispute over the 50 American hostages in Iran, "Washton prefers other means, pressing for an economic blockade of Iran and exercising military and political pressure on it."

The Soviet news agency account said that "as regards the USSR, it will not tolerate any interference from the outside in the internal affairs of Iran, and will not allow the United States to impose a decision to apply economic sanctions against it.' The senior U.S. official said that a Soviet veto of sanctions in the U.N. Security Council would not stop the administration. In the event of a veto, he said, U.S. ailies and other countries would be asked to join in an informal boycott of Iran.

In this regard, he left open the possibility that the United States might try to impose a naval blockade to interfere with shipments to the

"I am not ruling out anything at this point," the official said.

If the Soviets veto sanctions in the Security Council, the issue could be taken to the General Assembly. However, that would have virtually no practical effect since the assembly cannot impose sanctions.

Nugent criticizes eastern states

Incumbent commissioner announces for re-election

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

Criticizing the East Coast states for their reluctance to drill for oil, James E. "Jim" Nugent announced Wednesday he will seek a full term on the Texas Railroad Commission.

Nugent made his announcement during a news conference at Chaparral Aviation. The Midland-Odessa stop was part of a four-day campaign swing through the state which will end Friday.

An 18-year veteran of the Texas Legislature, Nugent was appointed in 1978 by then-Gov. Dolph Briscoe to fill a RRC vacancy left by the resignation of Jon Newton.

Reading from a prepared release. Nugent said he "favors production of Texas petroleum at the maximum rate and expediting development of alternative energy sources and research in less conventional fuels such as solar, gasohol, geothermal and coal gasification.

"We cannot conserve our way out of energy dependence, and we can't produce our way out of it," Nugent said. "We must do both."

To accomplish that, Texas must come first in the eyes of the Railroad Commission, he said. "Now that energy sources are no longer sufficient to meet the needs of the entire country, other areas should share some of those costs and risks," He explained those "other areas" mean sections like the East Coast. "Not a new refinery has been built on the East Coast in 10 to 15 years," he charged. "And it took years to get a permit for drilling. They said it would hurt their fishing rights and their banks. "We've drilled (in Texas) for years and it hasn't hurt our fishing or coasts. It's time they (Northeast) did something to help themselves" and to stop "robbing us (Texas) for their benefit," he added.

Instead of seeking its own sources of energy, the Northeast "would rather fix the game so they can get our energy at bargain basement prices,' the railroad commissioner charged.

Dressed in cowboy boots and a navy pin-striped suit, Nugent denied any knowledge of the Waste Isolation Pilot Project proposed for Carlsbad,

When questioned about the safety of transporting nuclear wastes by rail through Midland and Odessa, Nugent replied he sees nothing wrong with it "as long as it is being done in a proper manner that is safe.'

Nugent prefers a free market for energy instead of government regulating the oil industry. And the windfall profits tax should be used for additional exploration and development, he said.

The decline of natural gas production in the state has stopped, and production is increasing, he noted.

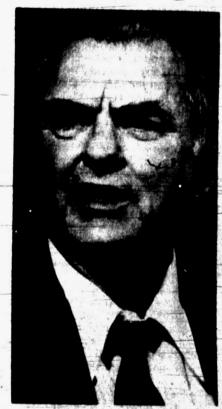

If elected to the RRC post, Nugent claimed he would work to hold utility bills to a minimum by cutting utility company profits to the lowest level that can be sustained.

"In 1976 the commission gave gas utilities 69 percent of the revenue increases they requested," he cited. "In 1978 the figure was 50 percent. During my tenure, we have allowed them just 35 percent."

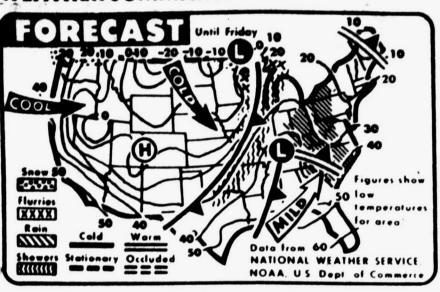

Under the regulated transporation industry, Nugent pointed out the commission has been responsible for removing thousands of overweight trucks from the highways.

Jim Hightower — also a candidate for the Railroad Commission — was criticized by Nugent for getting cam-paign money from the Northeast instead of Texas.

In concluding his announcement, Nugent pointed out that "energy and transportation are like the blood and breath of the good life: They are so basic that we happily ignore them until they began to run out or break

Prices plunge on grain exchange

CHICAGO (AP) - For the second day in a row, wheat, corn and oats futures plunged today to the lowest price trading regulations allow as traders continued to worry about the impact of a partial grain embargo against the Soviets

'No one on the floor is going to rest until the markets are moving freely," said veteran trader Sam Roller of Bache Halsey Stuart Shields Inc., a major brokerage firm. 'When corn moves (from off the lowest price limit) the markets will start operating again," he added.

Traders are worried that the glut of corn in the domestic market because of the embargo will keep prices depressed for some time. Instead of trading in the grains, brokerage firms began buying soybeans today, with prices for future delivery contracts remaining unchanged from Wednesday to 9 cents lower at the beginning

Once the trading limit was reached in corn, wheat and oats, trading came to a vitrual standstill. "Needless to say, it kills business," said another veteran trader.

Today was the second day grain markets had a chance to react to the government's embargo of 17 million metric tons of grain destined for the Soviet Union

Less than half a minute after trading opened Wednesday, wheat, corn and soybeans dropped by the daily limit permitted on exchanges in Chicago, Minneapolis and Kansas City,

The limit in Chicago allows daily prices to fluctuate up or down to a maximum of 20 cents a bushel for wheat, 10 cents for corn and 30 cents for soybeans and March wheat closed at $4.25 1/2 a bushel, corn at $2.74 1/4 and soybeans at $6.13.

President Carter on Tuesday tried to minimize the impact of his action on grain prices by raising federal price supports. But the sharp drop in prices indicated that traders didn't believe that was sufficient, according to Chicago Board of Trade President Robert K. Wilmouth.

The decline may hurt many farmers who have held crops off the market, hoping to get more for their grain. They also face higher grain storage costs because larger supplies will strain facilities.

It is unclear how consumers will be affected. Mills and other grain processors usually buy under long-term contracts, and will not immediately benefit from cheaper prices. Beef producers may save on the corn fed to cattle, but it will be months before any impact might be felt at the retail WESLACO (AP) — State Sen. Raul Longoria, D-Edinburg, today convened a special Senate committee to find out why the state's liquor control agency turned thumbs-down on a proposed gasohol plant near here.

Though a law was passed in the last legislative session that was thought to clear the way for such an industry, administrative interpretations caused the firm planning to build such a plant to withdraw from Texas," Longoria said.

It was the second time the Senate Committee on Gasohol tried to get answers concerning the fate of the plant, which was planned for Santa Rosa.

At the first hearing, in November, ABC administrator Sherman McBeath did not arrive in time to answer committee ques-

Sugar cane growers had hoped the plant would give them a new market, but a Kansas company pulled out of the project in October.

At that time, President C.L. Cray of Midwest Solvents Co. said the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission had made it impossible for his company to continue with the project.

He said the ABC would not guarantee his company could market the alcohol it produced as a beverage, if demand for gasohol fell.

Reporter-Telegram executives Bill Collyns, Lou Lindsey to retire effective Jan. 15

Retirement of two Midland Reporter-Telegram executives, William H. "Bill" Collyns, editor, and Lucien D. "Lou" Lindsey, promotion director, was announced today by William C. Thomas, publisher. They both become effective Jan. 15

"Both men have served this newspaper with distinction," Thomas said in making the announcement. "As editor for more than 33 years, Bill Collyns has played a major role in the development of Midland and the Permian Basin. His contributions to West Texas have been no less significant. As a leader in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and other regional and state organizations, he has been a supportive voice and a hard worker for the entire West Texas area for many years.

"In recognition of his long service, we are proud that Bill has agreed to serve as editor emeritus following his retirement. In addition, he will represent the newspaper this year at functions of organizations with which he has long been associated," Thomas

"Lou Lindsey likewise has played a major role in helping make the newspaper what it is today during his 19plus years of service," the publisher said. "As advertising director and later as director of promotion, his work has been invaluable through the years both to The Reporter-Telegram and to those whom it has served. We would like a listing of the meeting places available in Midland for politically-oriented groups that are free of charge. Our group has had a great deal of trouble in the past finding places to seat about 50 people. — S. Connors

ANSWER: The Midland Chamber of Commerce suggests you check with the Midland banks, Texas Electric Service Co. and Pioneer Natural Gas Co., which have meeting rooms available without charge. Of course, the availability has to be considered. Another alternative is the Midland Independent School District, with which arrangements can be made. In this situation, according to the Chamber of Commerce, there may be a minor charge for janitorial service. Possibly, the former American Legion Hall can be rented, but the chamber thinks you would have to pay for the cost of rental of chairs.

Where and how does anyone find the correct time in Midland? The TV cable, the TV networks, the times at the bank's phone number and posted on the banks all have different times (if you set your watch by one and then go by the others). & What and where is the official correct time? Thank you so much for printing the answer soon. - Mrs. R.E.T.

ANSWER: Contact Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., 684-1511, and ask for Phillip Riddle for the correct time. This information was obtained from a spokesman for the bank's time service.

Can you tell me how to go about giving my daughter my power of attorney? I am 74 years old and, although I'm still able to make decisions, I want to be prepared in case something should happen to me. -

ANSWER: Now, while you are capable of doing so, you should execute the power of attorney giving your daughter all the powers and authority you wish her to have, according to the State Bar of Texas.

Your lawyer can include a provision which will make the power of attorney continue in effect should your ability to make decisions become impaired. This type of power is known as a Durable Power because it is written to survive disability.

Snelson schedules childhood hearings

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - Midland Sen. Pete Snelson's special committee on Childhood Intervention Services heard reports Tuesday from state agencies involved in providing those services and agreed to call a series of public hearings on the matter.

Snelson, who chairs the special panel, called the presentation "very helpful" and said it was "pleasantly surprising that there is a lot of interest and things going on to reach these particular groups.

Representatives of the Texas Education Agency, Department of Human Resources, Department of Mental Health-Mental Retardation and Legislative Budget Board described existing programs for children up to the age of three. Several urged that consideration be given to providing more certain and persistent state funding to such efforts and asked that technical assistance be provided to new community programs by using existing programs. The committee set four public hearings, with Snelson saying that additional hearings may be

Andrews area gas rate hike wins state approval

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - The Railroad Commission has approved a $19,893 rate hike requested by Andrews Gas Co. for the unincorporated areas in the vicinity of Andrews.

The new rates, effective Dec. 1, 1979, are the same rates approved by the city of Andrews Dec. 13, 1979, for the city's incorporated areas, a RRC spokesman said. These rates also were effective Dec. 1, 1979.

The new rates, which will affect 104 customers, will increase the average monthly residential bill for 9,200 cubic feet of gas from $25.27 to $25.55. Andrews Gas Co. also was allowed a maximum 5 cents per 1,000 cubic feet surcharge to all residential and commercial consumers within its Grand Prairie distribution system, with 7 percent simple interest per year to recover the new revenue lost since Dec.

NBC closes 'Files' on James Garner

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Rockford, the laid-back private eye, undoubtedly will be dragged into one last fray tonight as "The Rockford Files" are closed after a nearly six-year run on NBC.

The illness of star James Garner forced the abrupt cancellation of the series. Its production ended in late November when Garner, 52, was unable to report for work at Universal Studios.

Garner already had said this season would be his last.

The popular Rockford character hated guns and violence but was always being forced into a case when he would have rather gone fishing. He was a little seedy, cut corners, always in trouble with the law, was always getting his car banged up and was a winner only when it came to solving his cases

"The Rockford Files" was a consistently popular show, although it was seldom in the Top 10 in the ratings. It aired on Friday nights on NBC since September 1974 — although it was once aired briefly on Saturday — and closes out with its first and only Thursday appearance.

NBC had decided some time ago to move the show to Thursday. But beginning next week its time slot will be filled by a new series, "Skag," starring Karl Malden.

Meta Rosenberg, executive producer of "The Rockford Files," said Garner is suffering from a stomach virus, ulcers and sinusitis.

'He had a virus for about two months," she said. "A severe stomach virus. And he worked all the time. He never quit and it debilitated him completely. He got a bad ulcer and sinusitis and he was really sick, just generally sick, and the

After Garner failed to report for work, rumors began to circulate that he was terminally ill.

But a source close to the actor said, "He isn't terminally ill, which is what a lot of people were sort of believing. He is sick. He'll recover, but it'll take some

Mrs. Rosenberg said the rumors probably started because Garner had visited the Scripps Medical Center in La Jolla. She said Garner was now resting at his home.

Mrs. Rosenberg said Garner had a contract with NBC for a new series and probably would take a year off before returning in September 1981 with a new

PBRPC approves funds for suspension centers

By DAVID CAMPBELL Staff Writer

LAMESA — Funding for on-campus suspension centers for the two Midland high schools passed with favorable comment in the Wednesday afternoon session of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commmission held in Lamesa's Community Building.

The commission's officers and representatives to serve on the board of directors for the 1980 term were also elected. The on-campus suspension centers are another option where school administrators can handle student discipline problems before using off-campus suspension as a final solution, the report said.

Students from each of the three junior high schools, two freshman schools in addition to the two high schools will be subject to assignment to the centers. Principals or assistant principals from each of the schools will determine the assignment of students to the centers, according to the Total cost of the centers is reported at $68,636. The Texas Criminal Justice Division would supply $66,916 and the Midland Independent School District will supply the balance of $1,720.

Classrooms in each of the two high schools will be equipped with 20 individual study carrels, 10 student desks and audio-visual equipment. Each center will be staffed with a director and a truant officer.

In 1978-79, the MISD recorded 355 suspensions from the seven upper education schools, the report noted. The report also included that 1,572 days were missed as a result of students being suspended from school. The school district lost $7,577 from the state, the proposal concluded.

Officers elected for the 1980 term were chairman, Gene Cummings, Fort Stockton mayor; vice-chairman, Gary Watkins,*Ector County judge; and secretary, Jim Mathis, Martin County judge. Midlander Reagan Legg was re-elected to represent the school and college districts. Dayton Elam of Seminole will serve as the representative for the hospital districts. Gene Cummings of Fort Stockton, G.L. McQuire of Kermit and Jack Smith of Big Spring will serve as representatives of cities with less than 50,000 population. The commission chose Fort Stockton as the site for its July semi-an-included.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices for food and other goods apparently rose more than 12 per-cent in 1979, the harshest inflation at the wholesale level in five years, sources in and out of government say.

The Producer Price Index, being released today by the Labor Department, was expected to show an increase for December that boosted its growth for the year to the highest level since the 18.3 percent rise in 1974 following the Arab oil embargo.

Prices at the wholesale level rose 9.2 percent in Georgia State University, which each month pre-dicts price changes, said its data showed wholesale prices up 0.7 percent in December. Food was unchanged, but non-food items were up 1 percent, it

Wholesale prices had risen 1.3 percent in November, Labor Department figures showed.

The Producer Price Index is watched closely because price increases at the wholesale level often show up in a month or two in higher prices at groceries, drug stores and other retail outlets.

Consumer prices have been rising slightly faster than wholesale prices and could show a 1979 increase in excess of 13 percent, or the worst inflation rate since World War II price controls were lifted in Conditions in 1974 and 1979 were not dissimilar. An embargo by members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, followed by price increases, greatly affected the price of energy products in the United States in 1974. Last year, OPEC members doubled their charges for crude oil, again sending price shocks through the U.S. economy.

The full impact was not passed on to consumers in the mid-1970s because of then-President Richard M. Nixon's price control system. Consumer prices in 1974 rose 12.2 percent.

The Carter administration had hoped to slow the rise in both wholesale and consumer prices with a series of measures that included monetary and budget restraints and voluntary wage and price guide-

The guidelines, however, do not cover the components that have pushed prices up the most: food, fuel and housing costs.

Meantime, the housing market began to show the effects of the Federal Reserve's decision Oct. 6 to fight inflation by tightening credit.

Sales of newly constructed single-family homes plunged 13.5 percent in November to an annual rate of 604,000 units, according to a report released Wednesday by the Commerce Department.

It was the sharpest one-month drop since February 1970, when the economy was in a recession, and pushed sales to 25 percent below the level of November 1978, the report showed.

The report also indicated that sales prices were

Eight jurors seated in Ford Pinto trial

WINAMAC, Ind. (AP) - Three more jurors have been selected, bringing to eight the number seated so far in the trial to determine if Ford Motor Co. is criminally liable for a fatal Pinto automobile

Selection of the 12-member panel and three alternates was expected to be completed today, said Pulaski Circuit Court Judge Harold R. Staffelt, who is hearing the case. Five persons were dismissed Wednesday because they thought the automaker was innocent of the reckless homicide charges stemming from the flery rear-end collision on a northern Indiana highway in August 1978.

Several other prospective jurors were dismissed because of physical disabilities and previous dealings with attorneys in the case.

Prosecutor Michael A. Cosentino said he was surprised at the number of prospective jurors who said they could not serve. "We hadn't anticipated this at all," he said.

The charges against the No. 2 automaker stem from the deaths of three young women who were fatally burned when their 1973 Pinto sedan exploded in flames after it was rammed by a van. The prosecution contends Ford knew the Pinto fuel tanks were unsafe but failed to protect the public.

The trial was moved to this rural community of

2,400 in April after a judge decided widespread publicity would make it impossible for Ford to receive a fair trial in Elkhart, near the accident

Fuel payment aid defended

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government insists there is nothing illegal or even improper about a new energy program that makes fuel aid payments to thousands of poor people who don't have heating

Most Supplemental Security Income recipients — the aged, blind and disabled — are eligible automatically for the one-time fuel aid checks, which range up to $250.

But some of them live under conditions - such as nursing homes or adult foster care homes — in which they are not required to pay fuel bills.

Joyce Sylvester, who operates a home for mentally handicapped men in Antrim County, Mich., said the checks should be recalled. "This is a huge boo-boo on the part of the federal government," she said. "These checks are supposed to be for heating bills, not an allowance for them to spend on candy and non."

But officials maintained that Congress was aware of the potential for payments to people without fuel bills. They say the SSI mailing list was used because it presented a quick way of getting the money to those who did need it.

"Those persons who are not experiencing direct costs related to energy may use the special allowance for other things such as warm clothing," said Jim Brown, a spokesman for the Social Security Administration, which administered the SSI part of the program. "The intent of Congress and the president was to get these payments out as quickly as possible this winter. The important thing was to help needy people."

Ceil Frank, another Social Security Administration official, said the checks were mailed deliberately without regard for the recipients' living arrange-

"The work it would take to distinguish between SSI recipients would be so time-consuming that the funds might not get to people in time to do any good," said

There are 3.9 million SSI recipients and all are eligible for the fuel assistance unless they live in institutions where money from another poverty program, Medicaid, is used to pay for most of their living and medical expenses.

Another skyscraper!

Another exciting development for the Tall City was announced Tuesday, adding to Midland's already impressive skyline and providing additional office space for interested firms and individuals.

JAMES N. ALLISON (1902-1975)

We refer, of course, to the new Empire Plaza building, which will be constructed by the HBF Corp., in conjunction with First Savings and Loan Association.

The major downtown office building will be located on the northeast corner of the intersection of Wall Avenue and Pecos streets, immediately west of First Savings and Loan.

It will be a 12-story structure, giving downtown Midland an additional 180,000 square feet of office space.

Larry Bell, president of HBF Corp., said "The Plaza will be built to fill an expanding need for prestigious office space in our Construction work is scheduled to begin in the near future, with completion expected by mid-1981.

The entire building is said to be designed for top energy efficien-

According to the announcement plans, the first three floors of Empire Plaza will surround a glass atrium and lobby area, complete with central fountain and hanging greenery. Parts of the ground floor will be designed for offices, but most of the first three floors will enclose 90 executive parking spaces.

It was announced that an additional 240 parking spaces will be available to Empire Plaza tenants and visitors two blocks away at Indiana Avenue and Pecos Street.

This is but another evidence of Midland's fantastic growth and development in recent years. Office building construction was almost unbelieveable in the 1950s and early '60s, but the more recent construction has surpassed even that. And no let up is in sight as the 1980s take over in grand style.

Five or six major office buildings were completed last year or are nearing completion at this time. And now comes the announcement of Empire Plaza. Other edifices reportedly are on the drawing boards.

It is, indeed, an exciting, thrilling development on which Midland and Midlanders thrive.

It is noted, too, that the Tall City last year experienced another record year in building, with permits for construction peaking out at $94, 353,133. This was $7.4 million ab ove the previous year's $86,-935,762, and $32 million above the 1977 figure of $62,408,629. The two years before that also were in the $60 million range.

Optimism continues to soar, and there are those in the know who clairn that the outlook for 1980 is brighter than ever.

Midland definitely is on the march forward, and this is the fall on the United States again. way Midlanders like it.

Marxists? Could be the Iranian militants holding the American embassy in Tehran are Marxists certainly will not come as a surprise to many Americans. This has been the general feeling by many persons for sometime

This further substantiates Mr. Carter's belief that the militants are beyond the control of Avatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. This thought also has been expressed by many persons in recent weeks.

One Washington official said the militants "are operating in a sea of support from the Iranian government and people."

Anyway, it is reported that the conclusion concerning the milltants has reinforced the administration view that adoption of mandatory global economic sanctions

President Carter's belief that against Iran is the best hope for the eventual release of the 50 A.merican hostages.

A news release from Washington says the Carter administration believes it can "separate" the militants from Iranian government support through United Nations-imposed economic sanc-

Hopefully this will work in the best interests of the hostages and the U.S. government, since nothing else tried or threatened has produced the desired result.

White House press secretary Jody Powell's comment that the militants adhere to "a rather radical and certainly Marxist line," has been denied by an Iranian embassy spokesman, who claims the students (if they are students) are Moslems and not Marxists.

We will have to go along with Powell on this one.

WASHINGTON - The people who speculate on the price of gold are a weird lot. They're actually betting on disaster. Any bad news which drives up the price of gold is good news to them, and whether they want to or not, they have to root for wars, pestilence, droughts and revolution.

It's a miserable way of life to keep hoping things will get worse before they get better but you get used to

"Are you crazy? You don't know anything about people who invest in precious metals. We never say to anyone, 'Have a nice day.' We want them to have a miserable day. That's the only way you can drive up the price of gold. Every time someone predicts there is going to be a recession I feel great. But when the recession doesn't come, I get sick. You must understand that gold bugs have to march to a different drummer."

"I do understand it, and I envy you. Your fortune depends on chaos. The more catastrophies there are in the world, the more secure you feel. But isn't there some point when things could get so out of hand that even gold won't save you?'

"When you're into bullion, you can't think that way. You have to be an optimist. You have to believe that no matter how bad the situation gets, there will always be a market for gold. I didn't plan the invasion of Afghanistan, and I had nothing to do with oil prices going out of sight. But as long as it happened, somebody had to profit from it.

"Let me ask you something, Don't you feel the slightest twinge of guilt about making money from everybody else's misery? Isn't it difficult to wake up in the morning and say, 'I hope the rice crops failed in India?'

"I never say that. What I say is, 'I wonder how many dollars the Japanese are going to sell today?' If the answer is 'a lot,' I call my broker and tell him to buy more gold. The worst thing a gold speculator can do is get emotional about his investment. If I worried about all the people who get hurt when gold goes up, I'd be in nothing but pork bellies.

You can't talk to a person when he has gold fever, so I decided to end the conversation. "Goodbye, Doomsday - and, peace."

He yelled, 'That's a lousy thing for you to say.

The Des Moines debate termed windfall for Republicans

WASHINGTON - The Republican presidential aspirants put on a good show in Des Moines last Saturday night. They were earnest, well-informed, articulate and presentable. There were no bad moments, en ough humor to keep it human, and it was good television. My hunch is that if more people had seen this "debate," the GOP would have won many converts.

Alas for the Republicans, only one major network broadcast the Iowa proceedings, and at a time on Saturday night and Sunday morning; when the God-fearing are in bed and other folk are out on the town. To put a political show on Saturday Night Live time and beyond is really to test the civic-minded market.

The networks originally agreed to televise the GOP debate and one planned for the Democrats (Carter, Kennedy and Brown) on prime time. This greatly pleased the sponsor, the Des Moines Register & Tribune, which, by the way, deserves a salute for staging this show. But Carter pulled out, Kennedy followed, and Jerry Brown stood gaping. Faced with only showing the Republicans and losing prime-time bucks, the major networks backed off. Only Public Broadcasting provided live coverage. CBS did a night owl rerun from 11:30 p.m. until 1:30 a.m. So much for commercial television's notion of civic duty.

There was no reason to yawn, even at that late hour. The six aspirants on hand (Reagan, the lone absentee, claimed it's divisive for Republicans to argue issues) wrestled with the problems of U.S. world posture, Iran-Afghanistan, grain sales to the Soviets, inflation and energy. They even fielded a dumb inquisitorial demand by a lightweight member of my trade to repent for past sins.

All candidates present gained. Ronald Reagan, who is increasingly becoming a sort of enigmatic Howard Hughes constantly aloft, lost. Reagan may become the popular vapor who gets blown away by voters who like their candidates in the game.

Sen. Howard Baker gained the most. He was forceful, coloquial, and at ease. Baker proved that he knows his stuff, and one can visualize him giving President Carter a tough go in

Rep. Phillip M. Crane's intellectualism shone through, and while he's a bit rightward for rank-and-file Republicans, the man deserves respect. He is a man of the right, but not extreme. Crane's approach is within today's political boundaries.

Sen. Bob Dole, as expected, flashed his wit, but still talked sense, particugrandfatherly liberal nag, but so what? He is welcomed and respected by fellow Republicans, thus proof that the GOP has come a long way from the Jacobin days of 1964. Anderson has been adopted as a Kewpie doll by liberals of every occupation, including journalism, because they either don't like Carter, or are afflicted by a generational antipathy toward any Kennedy — dating to Old Joe or the late R.F.K.

The man primed to shine last Saturday night, didn't. George Bush, who could surprise Reagan in the Iowa balloting, looked tired and was a bit preachy. Perhaps he's been driving himself too hard in lowa's county seat towns. It wasn't his best night, but he still came off better than, say, a Jerry Indeed, if the Democrats - Carter, Kennedy and Brown - had been up against the Republican Six of last Saturday night, the GOP would have won the Iowa audience and possibly the national one as well.

The Des Moines Register & Tribune debate was a modest windfall for the GOP. It would have been a major blessing if the networks would have cooperated. Bad luck for Republicans. Newspapers in other states where primaries will soon flourish would be smart to schedule similar debates. This one was absorbing enough to compete with most of the trivia which runs on television at any given night.

Carter will delay 1980 campaigning

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — President Carter might forego personal campaigning until well into the 1980 presidential primary season — even beyond Illinois' March 18 primary — as long as crises continue in Iran and Afghanistan, his national campaign manager says.

Tim Kraft said Wednesday he thinks Democratic voters perceive Carter as working hard to solve the problems — Americans held hostage in Iran and the hardening of U.S.-Soviet relations since Russian troops moved into Afghanistan last month.

The first test of feelings about Carter's recent performance will be in Iowa on Jan. 21, Kraft said, when Democrats hold caucuses to select delegates to the national nominating convention next August. "My assessment is (Iowa) is a horserace" between Carter and Sen.

Edward M. Kennedy, Kraft said. "It's too close to call." Kraft filed Carter's slate of 152 delegates for the Illinois primary with the state Board of Elections on Wednesday. A handful of Kennedy delegates, from areas outside Chicago, also filed, a board spokesman He said many Republican delegate candidates filed during the first day of the filing period, which ends next Wednesday. A new "blind primary" law, allows GOP delegates to keep from disclosing which presidential candidate they support. Kraft said Carter considers Illinois "a critical state. It's the first major industrial state outside the candidates' home turf."

He said Carter might forego personal campaign trips to early primary states and instead stay near the White House until the Iranians release their captives and the Soviets leave Afghanistan.

"You run a definite political risk in not campaigning personally in those states," Kraft said. "That is an unfortunate possibility. Despite Carter's failure to so far stump for re-election, Kraft said he doesn't think Iran's religious ruler, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini "has pinned the president in the White House."

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The U.S. 10th Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver, Colo., convicted a Madill motorcycle club leader of federal charges he operated an interstate prostitution ring, an Oklahoma City newspaper reported. The Thursday edition of the Daily Oklahoman reported that the court issued the opinion upholding the May 1978 conviction of Carl Eugene "Gino" Hines and John Ahern.

Hines, the leader of the "Death Barons" motorcycle club, is in the Carter County Jail in Ardmore. He will stand trial on Feb. 14 on felony assault charges for allegedly attacking Roger S. Taylor, 21, Madill, at the Madill City Hall on July 3, 1979.

The alleged assault on Taylor was cited as an argument to revoke bond during a hearing for Hines in Muskogee last August.

He was denied an appeal bond after he was declared a threat to the community. Besides the attack, witnesses testified Hines threatened the whole community with arson.

ganizing the Reagan campaign in Midland while popular enough with the public that will get them out Sara Robbins will lead the Ector County group, Monaghan said.

Mrs. Robbins served in the same capacity during the 1976 campaign. She has been an Ector County GOP chairman.

Hunnicutt has a list of 50 Midlanders for the local steering committee, while Mrs. Robbins has a committee of 15 Odessans, according to Monaghan.

Monaghan made the announcement today in place of Ernest Angelo Jr., mayor of Midland and state chairman for the Reagan campaign. Angelo is on the campaign trail with some national Reagan

Quoting statistics from a Gallup Poll released Sunday, Monaghan said Reagan is gaining ground among the voters with 40 percent listing the former California governor as their choice among Republican candidates.

In backing his candidate, Monaghan said there is a great difference between Reagan and former Texas governor John Connally.

"I have been for Reagan since 1964. He's an honest Christian with firm beliefs that haven't changed over the past 10 years," Monaghan said. And whoever wins the GOP nomination will get Monaghan's support, he said, even if it might be Connally.

Reagan is the type of candidate that will be to vote, Monaghan contended. "Ford and Nixon had no coat-tail effect — no charisma or drawing power," he added.

This coat-tail effect subsequently can mean more Republicans elected to local and state offices and to Congress, according to the oilman. If Reagan had won the GOP nomination in 1976 and the general election, Monaghan charged the U.S. would not be in its situation today with the hostages in Iran and Soviets pouring into Afghanistan. Reagan's noticeable absence last Saturday from the Iowa debate should only serve to give him more publicity, said Monaghan.

Reagan's age - 68 - wouldn't be a detrimental factor to his work in the office of President. "He's a strong man," said Monaghan. "The press is trying to find things to put a man down," the oilman charged. "Reagan has never been favorable with the media controlled by the Rockefeller group up north.' Monaghan, in quoting from an interview with Reagan printed in the Texas Advocate, said his candidate opposes wage and price controls, mandatory gas rationing, national health insurance, abortion, Equal Rights Amendment, Salt II treaty and the military draft. Reagan favors deregulation of oil and gas, nuclear power and a balanced budget.

DALLAS (AP) -Southwest Airline and union negotiators will try to avert a threatened walkout Sunday by mechanics, cleaners and stock clerks when they meet today in another attempt to reach agreement on a new contract.

However, airline offi-cials said if the negotiations fail there is a strong possibility the workers will strike at 12:01 a.m. Sunday.

The airline is negotiating with the International Association of Machinist and Aerospace Workers, which represents 106 airline employees. The Airline employs about 1,-600 persons.

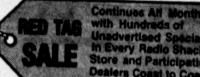

Airline officials hinted any decision to continue limited operations if a strike is called could depend on how many non-AM workers honor the picket lines.

Southwest President Howard Putnam, in a Jan. 5 letter to em ees, said the airline has a contingency plan calling for the operation of "at least 12 planes, all of them 737s.

Approximately 75 ranchers and other key people in agriculture in a 10-county area will be participating here Friday in a program on recommendations for controlling brucellosis, otherwise known as Bang's disease, which infects cattle and leads to barren cows and/or defective offspring.

Storms kil cause delay

By The Associated Press Pacific storms have whipped up wind and rain in Hawaii and Southern California and stunned the Northwest with enough snow and freezing rain to sink more than 100 boats.

At least 12 persons were killed and two others missing in weather-related accidents over two days. Tens of thousands were without power as ice and snow downed lines.

Some 125 boats sank and numerous roofs collapsed under the weight of the snow in Oregon and Washington state, where many schools, businesses and highways were closed Wednesday.

Stranded motorists jammed hotels and motels throughout the Northwest. In Boardman, Ore., the Dodge City Inn was full but offered adults sleeping-bag lodging for the night for $1 a late Wednesday.

In the Portland area, the storm knocked out electrical service to at least 85,000 homes. At Ventura in Southern California, at least 2,000 customers were without power due to the heavy rains. In Southern California, more than 3 inches of rain were blamed for muds-lides and creek flooding that closed several roads and highways and caused some drowning deaths.

Hurricane force winds and nearly 6 inches of rain lashed the Hawaiian Islands on Tuesday and Wednesday in what one resident described as the worst storm since World War II.

Trees were uprooted, electrical and telephone service was interrupted and damage from winds of up to 75 mph was expected to reach into the

—In California, a Huntington Beach woman was killed late Tuesday when her car skidded on a rain-slick highway in Carson; at least one person was missing after two cars were swept into a rushing creek from a flooded Orange County road near Mission Viejo, and a Riverside man was killed Wednesday when his compact car overturned in a deep puddle on State Highway 60.

—An Omak, Wash., man was killed Tuesday when he was struck by a car; and a 79-year-old woman was found buried in snow outside her Woodland home Tuesday. Cowlitz County deputies said she apparently fell when she went out to get the mail and could not get up.

Portland Mayor Connie McCready declared a limited state of emergency as schools were closed and 9 inches of snow forced the closing of most of Portland International Airport, leaving only one runway open.

More than 4 feet of snow was re-ported at Hood River, Ore., 60 miles east of Portland, with accumulations of up to 2 feet at nearby towns.

Klutznick commerce's new leader

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Chicago business leader who has served in government under seven presidents is the new secretary of commerce.

Philip M. Klutznick, 72, was sworn into office Wednesday by President Carter.

Speaking of his age, Klutznick asked: "Can you think of anything more enjoyable than getting an opportunity at age 72 to come back to an active life and help your country?'

As commerce secretary, he will head a $3 billion agency that overees activities ranging from the census to international trade.

Carter described Klutznick as "a man who is still young in every measurement of human life," who is "well-known for his business accomplishments."

Klutznick took a leave of absence as president of the World Jewish Congress to take the government job and gave up a limited partnership in Salomon Brothers in-vestment firm. He also resigned as a board member of a Milwaukee mortgage insurance corporation and as presi-dent of the Chicago Bulls basketball team. Other holdings went into trust.

His previous public service jobs came under every president since Franklin Roosevelt, with the exception of Richard

Great Britain will produce

own uranium

LONDON (AP) — Britain will start producing its own highly enriched uranium for the first time since 1963 to power the Royal Navy's fleet of 15 nuclear submarines, the Defense Ministry said today.

The plant, to become operational by the mid-1980s, could also produce the high quality uranium needed for nuclear bombs and missile warheads. There was speculation in the British press that the plant could also provide the material for a new generation of Brit-ish nuclear weapons.

"Obviously it could," said Defense Ministry spokesman Martin Helm. But he said the purpose of the plant is to provide uranium for Britain's growing fleet of nuclear submarines including four equipped with Polaris missiles without relying on foreign supplies.' The ministry said state-owned British Nu-clear Fuels Ltd. will start building the plant this year at Capenhurst, near Chester in northwestern England, already the site of a nuclear complex producing lower-enriched uranium for civil purposes.

AFTRA promises notice before strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Members of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists have promised to give the three major television networks five days strike notice before they yank performers from soap operas, network news shows and the "Tonight" show.

No strike deadline has been set, said Allan Davis, executive secretary of the Los Angeles local of

The AFTRA members have been working since Nov. 16 without a contract, which Davis said was being extended on a day-to-day basis during the negotiations.

"We are negotiating on a fairly constant basis," Davis said Wednesday. "We're meeting daily and we anticipate sessions through the weekend."

AFTRA represents 40,000 television and radio employees and is prepared for a strike that could put Johnny Carson, the network news anchormen and correspondents, stars of the soap operas, game show hosts and others on the picket lines.

Will says no new lyrics for Rodgers' melodies

NEW YORK (AP) - The will of composer Richard Rodgers, who wrote the music for some of Broadway's greatest musicals including "Oklahoma!" and 'South Pacific," directs that no new lyrics be added to any of his songs.

The will, 74 pages with six added provisions, was filed Wednesday in Manhattan Surrogate's Court. Although formally stating the value of Rodgers' estate at "more than $500,000, the composer was believed to have earned more than $100 million before he died Dec. 30 at age 77.

The direction on added lyrics was made by Rodgers' widow, Dorothy, a co-executor of the will. She can, however, add lyrics to any of her husband's songs that were composed without them. Included are "The Carousel Waltz" and "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue.

Mrs. Rodgers will receive the income from a trust fund composed of the bulk of the estate. Most of the remaining assets go to the composer's daughters, Mary and Linda, and their families.

The problem is that we live some distance away, and when we visit them once or twice a year the linens in their guest room haven't been changed since their previous guest visited. (Lots of friends and family visit them.) Wash-and-wear linens never look

As soon as I hit the bathroom in the morning, my arms make a wide sweep over the sink, taking with them used nose tissue, clumps of hair, empty boxes and toothpaste caps.
On the way to the kitchen, I walk

In the kitchen, I dispose of opened mail that is never put away, gym shoes held together by knots, yesterday's lunch bags, empty cereal boxes, assorted paper bags, bottle caps, crumpled telephone messages and pens that don't write anymore.

It's that way in every room of the house. Either no one has the strength to walk the litter to the waste can or there is an unwillingness to let anything go to the big Hefty bag in the sky. Whatever it is, I'm stuck with

By BARBARA MAYER AP Newsfeatures

Once upon a time, owning a woodstove was all the evidence necessary to indicate you were a rugged individ-ualist living in the backwoods.

Today, you could own a woodstove and be from anywhere.

The energy crisis and the high cost of home heating have helped make woodstovės status symbols for suburbanites and city dwellers. The number of woodstoves has escalated to the hundreds.

And the look of stoves can vary widely. Some models closely resemble the old, 19th-century Franklin stoves. Others look like miniature

The popularity of woodstoves is not hard to fathom when you realize they are far more efficient producers of heat from wood than fireplaces. The newer, airtight models are capable of heating a home efficiently without any additional source of heat.

On a scale of 100, for example, fireplaces could register at zero while a properly installed woodstove could be extracting as much as 80 percent of the total combustion energy available in the wood.

Energy crisis makes woodstove a status symbol

Fireplaces, it has been shown, actually draw already-heated, warm air from the room up the chimney to provide combustion for a burning log. To maximize the amount of heat delivered, it would be necessary to install an airtight woodstove. For a family that already has a fireplace and a chimney, installing a woodstove is quite simple. It's merely a matter of buying the stove and hooking it up to the chimney.

If there is no fireplace, a stove must be installed with proper clearance from combustible walls and a chimney and flue must be built.

People who object to losing the pleasure of watching an open fire can opt for a combination stove and fireplace unit, known as a combi-stove, which, though airtight when the doors are closed, allows for viewing the fire through open doors when the occasion warrants it.

Among other advantages of a stove over a fireplace is that it uses fewer logs, burning for as long as 12 to 14 hours on one load of wood. A number of the newer models are capable of taking either wood or coal as fuel. And a few models convert to oil heat

Many wood stoves are used primarily for heating; others are used primarily for cooking. But some stoves combine the two functions in one unit.

Prices for stoves vary widely, depending on the size of the unit, the ease of cleaning it, heating capacity and durability. One dealer estimated that the prices range from a little over $100 to about $1,000. The majority of stoves appear to be in the $300 to $600 range, he said, not including installation.

The question of whether to purchase a steel or a cast-iron stove is debated on both sides. Each material has its adherents. But most authorities agree that cast-iron stoves are longer-lasting and less subject to the warping that plagues steel stoves. In all cases, the better stoves are lined with firebrick to protect them from deformation in the case of steel or cracking in the case of cast iron.

Although there are many American woodstoves, this is one product line where imports have achieved major distribution. The European stoves, which often feature a raised design and bright, porcelain-enameled colors, have attracted many consum-

No matter what kind of stove is used, the importance of proper chimney maintenance cannot be overemphasized. Creosote deposits are more likely to build up inside the chimney with woodstove operation than they are under normal fireplace usage. Consequently, switching to a woodstove is likely to lead to a fire hazard unless more attention is paid to maintaining a clean chimney.

Before making a final purchasing decision, it is wise to consult several retailers and to do some reading on

"Pineapple Honey-Wheat Bread" is an exciting two-toned loaf that's perfect for sandwiches, toast or a go-along bread for hearty soups, stews or baked beans. Sesame seeds give the top crust a pleasant crunch, and canned crushed pineapple adds moistness and flavor to the basic dough.

Pineapple Honey-Wheat Bread is colorful loaf

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. - When it comes to making bread, an imaginative cook will always come up with a new "twist" to an old recipe. 'Pineapple Honey-Wheat Bread" is so unusual-looking that it's hard to believe it can be made so easily and econom-

The "twist" to this recipe is literally just that. Two strands of dough, one of enriched white flour and one of whole wheat flour - each made from the same easy basic dough - are twisted around each other, making a colorful, two-toned loaf.

Besides the exciting look of this two-toned bread, canned crushed pineapple in the basic dough adds moistness and flavor, while a sprinkling of sesame seeds on top just before baking gives a pleasant crunch.

"Pineapple Honey-Wheat Bread" is perfect for sandwiches, toast or as a go-along bread with hearty soups, stews or baked beans. No matter how you serve it, the unusual appearance and delicious flavor of this colorful bread will be a topic of conversation at any table.

PINEAPPLE HONEY-WHEAT BREAD

1 can (81/4 oz.) crushed pineapple 1/4 cup warm water 2 envelopes active dry yeast

1 large egg, beaten 2 tbsps. honey

21/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour 3 tbsps. melted butter or mar-

1½ tsps. salt 21/4 cups unsifted whole wheat flour

1 egg white 2 tsps. sesame seeds

Spoon off 1 tablespoon syrup from pineapple, and combine with warm water in mixing bowl. Sprinkle with yeast and let stand 5 minutes to soften. Add remaining undrained pineapple, egg, honey and 1 cup all-purpose flour; mix well. Stir in butter and salt. Measure 1 cup of the mixture into a separate bowl, and stir in 1 cup whole wheat flour, mixing well. Gradually blend in remaining whole wheat flour, mixing to a moderately stiff dough. Turn out and knead on lightly floured board until dough is smooth and rounds up. Return to bowl, and cover. Gradually blend remaining 11/4 cups all-purpose flour into the remaining cup of pineapple dough. Turn out, and knead smooth. Cover, and let both portions rise in warm place until doubled, about 1 hour. Punch each down, and divide each dough into 2 equal-size portions. Shape each into a 12-inch strand. Twist together 1 whole wheat strand and 1 white one, pinching ends together, and place in greased pan (7%x3%x21/4 inches). Repeat with remaining dough. Brush tops lightly with oil, cover and let rise in warm place until dough is doubled, about 1 hour. Beat egg white lightly and brush over tops of loaves. Sprinkle each loaf with 1 teaspoon sesame seeds. Bake below center of moderately hot oven (375 degrees F) about 35 to 40 minutes, until nicely browned, covering tops loosely with a sheet of foil, if they begin to brown too deeply.

Frozen foods industry observes 50th

By TOM HOGE

In 1912, a naturalist named Clarence Birdseye noted during an expedition to Labrador that fish frozen in this subzero region regained its freshness when thawed. Birdseye spent the next decade experimenting with fish and other foods and finally came up with a primitive freezer. He sold his idea to the food industry and half a century ago, on March 6, 1930, the first assortment of frozen foods, including meat, fish, fruit and vegetables, went on sale at retail in Springfield, Mass.

Today frozen food has become a multibillion-dollar industry featuring more than 1,500 items. As the industry prepared to mark its 50th birthday, I talked to two leaders in the field.

I asked Thomas B. House, president of the American Frozen Food Institute, whether he expected any immediate changes in frozen foods. A big jump in microwave cooking, he replied, and a big saving in energy.

"Microwaves are expected to reach 25 percent of U.S. households by the fish fillets cooked in a microwave oven, for example, will save 90 per-cent of the energy required to cook in a conventional oven.'

Recalling that during World War II stores selling only frozen foods cropped up all over America, I asked Murray Lender, a veteran in the field and chairman of the 50th anniversary celebration, whatever had happened

"Frozen food stores fell by the wayside with the coming of the one-stop supermarket," he said. "It's significant to note that the typical market today devotes much more area to frozen foods than the entire frozenmuch time is saved using frozen foods and I don't mean TV dinners, necessarily. ## Is it souffle, or isn't it? No, it's fondue entree that looks like a souffle really isn't. It's a baked cheese fondue, and it puffs like a souffle because the egg whites are beaten separately.

Preparation of the fondue is similar to, but easier than, a souffle. It begins with an easy white sauce flavored with Swiss and Cheddar cheese, onion, mustard, Worcestershire sauce and enriched with egg tard yolks. Along with cubes made from whole or cracked wheat bread (use white if you prefer), the sauce is folded into the beaten egg whites, then baked in a souffle

The fondue is an economical entree because it's made from eggs (which cost only 7 or 8 cents a piece), leftover cheese and bread and other ingredients you probably have on hand. Yet it is rib-sticking satisfying because it's high in protein (one serving

Mrs. Gandhi returns to Indian Parliament

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indira Gandhi returned in triumph to the Indian Parliament today and appealed for national reconciliation in a speech to her wildly cheering and applauding supporters.

"We are not small people, we are not petty people," the prime minister-designate said after a landslide election victory that returned her to power as dramatically as she left it 34 months ago.

"We do not think in terms of vendetta and personal vindictiveness," said Mrs. Gandhi, who ordered thousands of her political opponents jailed during the 19 months of emergency rule that capped her previous 11 years in office and led to her ouster in a 1977 election. She has accused her successors of waging a vendetta against her in the form of still pending court cases alleging misconduct in office.

In her speech, Mrs. Gandhi claimed former Prime Minister Morarji Desai's government had shattered India's economy. "We have to pick up the pieces that have all been shattered and broken, and start the battle against injustice and poverty," she said. The last time the 62-year-old stateswoman appeared in Parliament was December 1978, when she went to the lower house to answer contempt charges involving harassment of officials during the 19-month emergency. After that last appearance she spent a week in jail.

She returned victoriously today, with a two-thirds parliamentary majority, to take command of the Congress Party delegation and receive the formal invitation of President Neelam Sanjiva Reddy to form a new

With races for all but one of the 525 parliament seats decided, Mrs. Gandhi's party held 351 votes. Parties loyal to her won another 22 seats, giving her a working total of 372 votes.

India's two communist parties and other leftist groups won 52 seats and several went to minor parties and independents. Another 17 seats in the house will be filled later. Polling in two snowbound counties was put off until the summer and voting was suspended in 15 districts in Assam and Meghalaya states because of violence in which two candidates died.

Guerrilla hundreds stay hidden

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) - Hundreds of guerrillas remained hidden in mountains, caves and forests today despite warnings they can be shot as outlaws under the Rhodesian cease-fire, British military

Rhodesian military commanders said if they spot the guerrillas out of authorized assembly camps they will call on them to give up and join their comrades. "If they don't agree we can zap them," said one commander.

The combination of a mailed fist and a velvet glove has had quite remarkable success in bringing some very nasty incidents to a happy conclusion," a British source said.

However, most of the 20,000 guerrillas were believed gathered at 16 assembly camps monitored by a five-nation British Commonwealth force, the sources said.

The guerrillas had until midnight Friday to gather at the camps under the cease-fire. The truce, worked out in London, aims to end seven years of war and establish black-majority rule in the British colony.

After the Friday deadline, the holdout guerrillas were deemed outlaws by the British governor, Lord Soames, who is in charge of the cease-fire and will organize elections leading to black-majority rule next month. A cease-fire commission set up by Soames and comprising British, Rhodesian and guerrilla military chiefs is to rule on truce violations but has has yet to produce a report.

U.S., Turkey initial defense pact

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkey and the United States initialed a new defense cooperation agreement today covering U.S. military assistance to Turkey and American operation of five key defense installations for at least five years.

U.S. Ambassador Ronald Spiers and Turkish defense ministry official Faruk Sahinbas initialed the pact and called it "another milestone in Turkish-American relations.

Certain technical details, particularly the status of the bases and the privileges of the American personnel working there, are still to be worked out in a series of agreements the negotiators hope to reach within the next

Spiers said he did not foresee any problems hampering conclusion of the remaining agreements. The amount of aid to be given Turkey was not revealed, but Spiers predicted there would be an increase in economic and defense assistance to Turkey above the $450 million granted this year. He said the United States would try to provide "the maximum that

Carter swore change: Khadafy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy says he'll ease up on his anti-American policies this year because President Carter has promised to make "radical" changes in America's policy toward the Middle East, according to a published interview.

Khadafy didn't say how he got the information but said he referred to 'almost precise promises" and "not just general statements," according to an interview in today's editions of The Washington Post.

'As I understand, I believe President Carter promised to radically change American policy in the Middle East," Khadafy said. However, an unnamed high White House official was quoted as saying Carter made "no commitments direct or implied about a radical change in American policy." The official said Carter simply expressed "an interest in improved relations.'

The United States and Libya are sharply divided on Mideast policy. Carter helped bring about the Camp David peace accords between Egypt and Israel, which Khadafy opposed. Libya is a leading supporter of the Palestine Liberation Organization and wants Palestinians to take back Israeli occupied territories.

El Salvador junta enlists civilians

SAN SALVADOR, El Salador (AP) - The two colonels heading El Salvador's government enlisted three civilians for their junta and began forming a new Cabinet after eight days of political crisis.

A military spokesman said Hector Dada Hirezi, an engineer, Jose

Antonio Morales Ehrlich, a lawyer, and Dr. Jose Ramon Avalos Navarrete were sworn in Wednesday. Dada Hirezi, the foreign minister in the previous Cabinet, and Morales Ehrlich are Christian Democratic Party

They replaced three civilian junta members - Guillermo Manuel Ungo, Roman Mayorga and Mario Antonio Andino — who quit in protest last week, claiming the government was giving in to "rightist tendencies." CAIRO, Egypt (AF) — American psychics believe they have found remains of Cleopatra's palace at the bottom of Alexandria harbor, and their leader. Stephan Schwarz, reports on the discovery at an underseas archeology conference in Albuquerque, N.M., today.

The group, in interviews and press statements in Cairo, said that in the silt at the bottom of the harbor they had found a pillar and the remains of a large house believed to be the palace where Cleopatra won Mark Antony's heart

The psychics said historical documents suggested Alexandria harbor was the site of the palace, and that they worked with the Mobius Group, a research and film outfit from Los Angeles, and four archeologists — three Egyptians

They said they made the find in October after diving in Alexandria's eastern

harbor for several months

Schwarz, in a recent interview, said the group relied on parapsychology techniques to find what apparently were the ruins of the palace complexes of Cleopatra and Mark Antony, plus something related to the Pharos Lighthouse, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world.

He said the psychics studied questionnaires submitted by researchers and then were asked to locate specific sites. Some of the psychics drove around the harbor in cars and boats trying to pinpoint ruins or artifacts, and the group used divers and sonar scanning equipment.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a breather today from Wednesday's near-record pace and struggled to gain ground as it digested the federal government's latest inflation news.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off 1.62 Wednesday, was up by 1.79 at 850.09 at noon today. Advances had a 7-5 edge over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

NYSE noon volume was a moderately active 21.05 million shares, a day after Big Board volume had surged to 65.26 million shares in its third-busiest day ever. Wednesday's noon volume was 33.03 million shares.

The government said wholesale prices climbed by 8 percent in December after a 1.3 percent gain in November. For the year, wholesale prices were up by 12.5 percent, with energy prices up by 62.7 percent.

Home prices decline, but not for long

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans seeking a new home may find some relative bargains right now, as house prices decline in many parts of the nation. But that trend is not expected to last beyond the summer, says the National Association of Realtors.

The median price of an existing, single-family home fell from $56,300 in October to $55,600 in November, the association reports.

The median price of a new house was $63,800 in November, up slightly from October but down from $66,100 in September, the Commerce Department said Wednesday.

Since 1968, the price of a single-family house has risen by 185 percent, the realtors' association says.
"Tight money, declining sales, and sales of smaller homes are directly responsible for the modest decline in prices," said Jack Carlson, executive vice president of the association. Michael Sumichrast, chief economist for the National Association of Home Builders, said another cause for the price decline could be that during times of tight money, homebuyers turn to loan programs insured by the Federal Housing Administration or guaranteed by the Veterans Administration. Both programs have ceilings on mortgages.

Carlson predicted, "Further modest declines may be recorded during the next few months before housing prices begin to escalate by summer. This means that homebuyers can find bargains both in lower price and more selection during the next six

He said the price declines occurred in every region of the country, with the fall-off steepest in the West. Prices there slipped an average of $1,000, followed by a $700 decline in the North Central region, a $300 drop in the Northeast and a $100 decline in the South.

Sales have dropped significantly since October, when the Federal Reserve Board took sweeping action to fight inflation.

In November, the Commerce Department reported, sales of newly built single-family homes plunged 13.5 percent, the sharpest one-month drop in almost a decade. The realtors group said sales of existing homes were off 10.8 percent in November.

The Federal Reserve's tight money policies led to sharply rising mortgage rates, which shut off many people, particularly young adults, from the housing Interest rates have reached 13 percent to 14 percent in many parts of the nation, with mortgage commitments in early December averaging just under 13 percent, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported.

The high mortgage rates deter many people from taking advantage of the unusual lull in house

Still, many experts advise people to buy if they can afford the high rates. That's because house prices are expected to rise significantly once mortgage rates begin to fall in late 1980, according to many forecasts. The expected explosion in house prices would be due to two related factors, experts believe.

Housing construction is down sharply because of high interest rates and this will create a shortage of

In addition, demand for housing is building up during this period of tight money. When rates slackmarket and compete for a limited number of

Much of this pent-up demand is found among oung adults, aged 25 to 34. These are usually first-time homebuyers, with limited financial resources and no equity from other real estate. They are not able to handle the extra burden created by a 3 percent or 4 percent increase in mortgage rates.

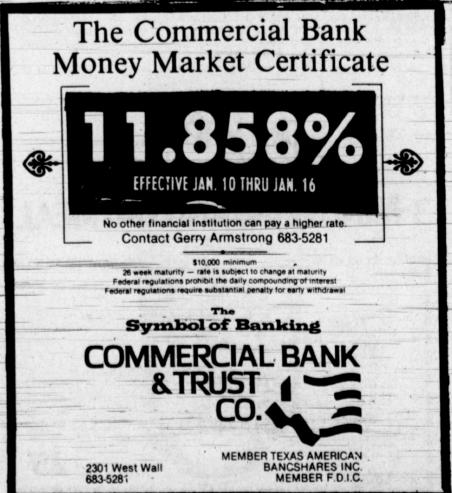

For example, monthly payments on a 30-year, $50,000 mortgage at 10 percent interest come to about $440 a month. They rise more than $100 a month at 13

The decline in house prices also may be attributed to uncertainty over the economy. Many potential homebuyers may be unwilling to invest in an expen-

The expected recession could lead to considerable layoffs, with the unemployment rate expected to rise from its current level below 6 percent to anywhere from 7.5 percent to over 8 percent.

A living monument

WASHINGTON (AP) - Consider just two of the options - serious or silly — open to the recently unemployed Bert Parks: He can become the nation's first living national monument or let a feminist attorney try to get back his job as emcee of the Miss America Pageant.

As a national monument, Parks would be eligible for federal aid for "restoration and renovation" — even his own brass plaque.
"It's a symbolic spoof," admitted Chris T. Delaporte, director of the Interior Department's heritage conservation and recreation service, who made the proposal Wednesday to the keeper of the National Register of

"I don't know if I can take Miss America without Bert," said Delaporte. "In fact, if they don't have Bert, I think they should show a rerun."

But Delaporte may not have to watch reruns if Karen Decrow has her way. The Syracuse, N.Y., lawyer and past president of the National Organization for Women says she is willing to argue an age discrimination case for Parks in the courts. Pageant officials said Parks was ousted in favor of an emcee with a younger image.

Ms. DeCrow says she would relish arguing a case against the pageant, which she says portrays women as "young, skinny and twirling

Godunov, 30, said he had been so downcast and frustrated during the four months since his defection from the Bolshoi Ballet in New York City that he has not kept up his training.

His American debut has been delayed because of a labor dispute

Iowans take wait-and-see attitude

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Many Iowans, adopting a wait-and-see attitude about President Carter's decision to limit grain shipments to the Soviet Union. say the domestic grain market will determine who wins their support in that state's Democratic Party

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has been hammering hard this week at the partial embargo ordered by Carter in retaliation for Soviet intervention in Afghanistan. He drew favorable reaction at every stop Wednesday when he said the embargo would "hurt the taxpayer and hurt the farmer and is not going to hurt the Soviet transgressor. The Russians are going to eat a little more chicken and a little less meat."

But many who heard the Massachusetts senator said their votes at the Jan. 21 Iowa caucuses, which provide the first real test in the 1980 presidential race, will on domestic grain prices. Prices are expected to plummet due to the unexpected influx of some 17 million tons of grain previously destined for Soviet markets.

The administration is moving to cushion the eco-nomic impact of the partial embargo by purchasing the excess grain.

Meanwhile, in Pensacola, Fla., Republican presi-dential candidate Ronald Reagan blamed both the Iranian and Afghan crises on "the administration's foreign policy - or lack of it." Reagan, generally considered the Republican front-runner, called both the partial grain embargo and a threatened U.S. boycott of the Olympic Games in Moscow "feeble" moves. The former California governor suggested putting U.S. Air Force units on bases in Egypt, Israel and Saudi Arabia, saying, "I don't think the Soviet Union

KALISPELL, Mont. (AP) — Two Missoula, Mont., men have been rescued by helicopter from a wilderness cabin where they huddled in sub-zero cold for three days; authorities say.

James Beck and Robert Page, both 28, were taken Wednesday to Kalispell Regional Hospital by an air ambulance that fought snow, wind and cloudy conditions to reach their campsite.

The men were stranded in Pendant Cabin, a Forest Service shelter in the Bob Marshall Wilderness, since Monday when Beck suffered a frostbitten foot while crossing the backcountry on skis, authorities

Beck, a Forest Service employee, was reported in good condition at the hospital Wednesday night. Page, a New Hampshire native now working as a logger, was not hospitalized.

Before pilot Ted Parod and emergency medical technician Al Kale reached the two, they had endured three bone-chilling days at the cabin, located about six miles northeast of Holland Lake.

The skiers' plight was reported Tuesday by a trapper who came upon them and hiked six miles to a telephone to start the rescue efforts. Initial efforts to reach the men Tuesday failed but supplies were dropped in hopes the weather would improve. It didn't, and Wednesday's attempt was made in equally bad weather - with warnings that it would only get worse.

Witch trial jury picks going slow

PLAINVIEW, Texas (AP) — A court official predicted jury selection could last another week in the trial of Loy Stone, a self-described witch on trial for murder.

Attorneys agreed on a preliminary group of prospective jurors, and Wednesday began requalification, asking further questions to choose the final panel of 12.

Stone and his wife. Louise, claim to be witches. They are charged with the Halloween 1977 shotgun killing of Roxanne Casas, 15, at their Dimmitt home.

The Stones were conducting a previously announced witchcraft seminar at the time. Sheriff's deputies were called to the Stone home to chase away carloads of teenagers who were yelling and cruising by. The officers left before the shooting.

The girl died when a shotgun blast ripped through the cab of a pickup truck in which she was riding with three friends. The truck was in the Stones' driveway, but they deny they even heard the shot fired.

State District Judge John Thomas Boyd hoped to have a jury seated by Friday, but one court official Wednesday said that was highly unlikely. She said the selection process could continue well into next week. The trial has been delayed twice. Boyd ruled Tuesday that Stone's wife, Louise, would have a separate

The case was moved here after witnesses said the Stones could not get a fair trial in Dimmitt.

Indonesia's fading army now being revitalized

By KENNETH L. WHITING

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) Fewer generals at the top and better trained troops at the bottom is the plan for Indonesia's army of the fu-The new look also promises a fully professional officer corps with no outside business interests and more military equipment stamped "made in Indonesia." "Abri," an acronym for Armed Forces of Indonesia, is also undergoing a generational change as the socalled "1945 generation," who won independence from the Dutch, is phased out. Younger commanders are known as the "Magelang generation" after the army academy in central Java.

Diplomats at some Western embassies in Jakarta say the changes are overdue. The military machine was showing signs of neglect because of more important national priorities, they said, and morale suffered in the lower ranks.

It was last tested in battle during Indonesia's takeover of Portuguese Timor in 1975. Several observers said an inept performance against illtrained rebels had led directly to the current shakeup.

Most credit for revitalizing Abri is given to general Muhammad Jusuf, 50. He served in relative obscurity in the cabinet for 13 years before being named defense minister and armed forces commander 20 months ago. Jusuf has been trying to create a new esprit de corps, an effort that ranges from improving the welfare of foot soldiers to threatening to dismiss officers and enlisted men who mistreat the public, abuse their power or flout regulations.

He has also tried to modernize equipment and create a better image of the military among civilians by stressing austerity and simple liv-forbidding officers on active duty to dabble in private business. The estimated 200 to 300 men with such sidelines were told to choose between their uniform or civilian careers.

Jusuf recently enforced a regulation issued more than five years ago

Senior officers formally assigned to non-military posts in state-owned corporations or government departments were not affected. The policy of having them take on social-politicaleconomic jobs as well as their mili-tary one is called "dwi fungsi" or dual The military role in civilian affairs was formally written into the broad guidelines of state policy adopted in March 1978. About one-third of the army is engaged in civil and administrative duties, according to one Jusuf's well-publicized actions have made him a popular media figure in addition to being, at least nominally, the second most powerful man in a government essentially controlled by the military. Abri includes the army, navy, air force, marines and police. It has been cut back from about 500,000 men when President (formerly general) Suharto took power 13 years ago to between 300,000 and 350,000 now. The second military strategic plan, which started in April, calls for a still more compact force of professionals with the latest weapons. The officer corps is being enlarged at the bottom and thinned out at the

The plan is to reduce the number of high-ranking officers from 1.5 percent to 1 percent of the total officer

Indonesia also expects to make more of its own military equipment. Research and technology minister B.J. Habibie said the country could manufacture aircraft, boats, small arms and motor vehicles

As one of the founding nations of the non-aligned movement, Indonesia has no defense agreements. Abri is strongly oriented toward the West, however, and its members have taken part in training exercises with the United States and Australia.

Diplomats say as long as the armed forces remain united it will be the mainspring of the power structure.

Duke 'soft touch' for prowling Tigers

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Well, they can't denigrate the Clemson Tigers for an 'easy" home schedule now.

Criticized by some observers for playing such soft-touch home games in December as Baptist (S.C.) College, Rider and Georgia Southern, the Tigers certainly went bigtime Wednesday night in Littlejohn Coliseum with a date against Duke.

And, furthermore, they beat the nation's No.1-ranked college basketball team, 87-82 in overtime.

"Just another dull win," joked Clemson Coach Bill Foster, taking dead aim at those who had questioned his December home schedule. "One of these days, we're gonna have to get somebody in here who can play this

More than 13,500 fans — an arena record — watched the important Atlantic Coast Conference game.

Duke's Bill Foster called it "one heckuva ballgame." Added the Blue Devil coach: "I think it goes to show what we all have been saying all along — there are an awful lot of good teams in the country.

BOBBY CONRAD made eight of Clemson's 15 foul shots in overtime to lead the upset. The Blue Devils held the ball four minutes for one last shot in regulation play with the score tied at 66. But Chip Engelland'a 40-foot desperation shot bounced off the rim at the buzzer.

The loss was the first for Duke after 12 victories. Clemson, ranked No.18 in the county, won its 11th game in 12 this season.

Missouri, the country's 13th-ranked team, also suffered an upset, losing 69-66 to Kansas in a Big Eight

Elsewhere, No.4 Kentucky tripped Mississippi 79-73; No.5 Syracuse whipped the University of Baltimore 94-64 and No.15 North Carolina defeated Wake Forest

Darnell Valentine and Tony Guy combined for 30 points and reserve Keith Douglas scored seven points down the homestretch to lead Kansas' upset of Missouri. The Tigers led by as many as nine points in the first half before the Jayhawks rallied.

Kyle Macy scored 29 points to lead Kentucky over Mississippi in a Southeastern Conference game. Ole Miss closed to within 73-71 behind the shooting of John Stroud with 2:32 left, but the Wildcats were able to put the game away with foul shots in the last minute.

Tony Bruin scored 19 points and keyed a 20-0 spurt in the second half to pace Syracuse over Baltimore. Al Wood scored 14 of his 16 points in the second half to power North Carolina over Wake Forest in the ACC.

We wanted to get Al the ball more in the second half." said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith: "Wake did a good job defensively in the first half of keeping the ball

IN OTHER games, Willie Jones scored six points in the final 46 seconds to lead Vanderbilt to a 66-57 victory over Auburn; Tony Lehman's dunk shot with 55 seconds remaining gave Miami of Ohio a 62-61 victory over Bowling Green; Kenny Jones led six players in double figures with 16 points as Virginia Commonwealth routed Navy 87-67; Reggie Johnson's 15 points powered Tennessee over Florida 69-58 and Dan Callandrillo scored a career-high 33 points to trigger Seton Hall past Manhat-

Harvey Knuckles' 20 points led Toledo over Ohio University 69-62; Fordham defeated Vermont 66-63 as Edward Bona scored 17 points; South Carolina defeated William & Mary 74-67 behind Cedric Hordges' 20-point performance; Herb Andrews' driving layup with four seconds left lifted South Alabama over Jacksonville 64-63 and Alex Bradley and John Tinone teamed for 35 points to lead Villanova over Massachusetts 92-59.

Rickey Brown scored 25 points and collected 19 rebounds to lead Mississippi State past Georgia 88-75; Les Henson came off the bench to score 22 points and help Virginia Tech beat West Virginia 73-71 in overtime; Andre Smith's 21-point, 14-rebound effort led Nebraska over Iowa State 58-50; Earl Belcher's 34 points powered St. Bonaventure over Penn State 89-75; Kansas State defeated Oklahoma State 60-59 as Rolando Blackman scored 16 points; Peter Moss' 36 points led Brown over Providence 65-64; Lennie McMillian and Dwayne Wallace scored 16 points apiece to lead Pittsburgh over George Washington 82-61; Stan Wright's team-high 29 points helped Boston University beat Colgate 72-65; a 30-point performance by Michael Brooks led La Salle over West Chester 111-70 and Kurt Alston hit a pair of free throws with three seconds remaining to lift Florida Southern to an 83-81 decision over Holy Cross.

Larry Peel takes Boerne football job

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Sports Writer

Coaching changes continue to rock the sports scene in the Midland high schools, but this time the Tall City is

Larry Peel, who was an assistant football coach at Midland Lee last fall under Gil Bartosh, has accepted the head football post at Class AAA Boerne. Peel will report to Boerne Feb. 4. It will be Peel's first head football coaching assignment.

Peel was head baseball coach at Midland High the last three years, but resigned that position after last season to move to Lee as a football assistant. He was also a football assistant under Dennie Hays at Midland High for two years.

Peel has also been head baseball coach at San Antonio Sam Houston and San Antonio Jefferson. He was also an assistant football coach at the two schools.

Despite being a head baseball coach for six seasons, football has always been his first love, and now he has the opportunity to do it his way portunity to return back to his roots, so to speak

Peel graduated from high school at San Antonio Highlands in 1964 and coached in the Alamo City for four years after graduating from Texas Christian University in 1969. Boerne is just outside of San Antonio

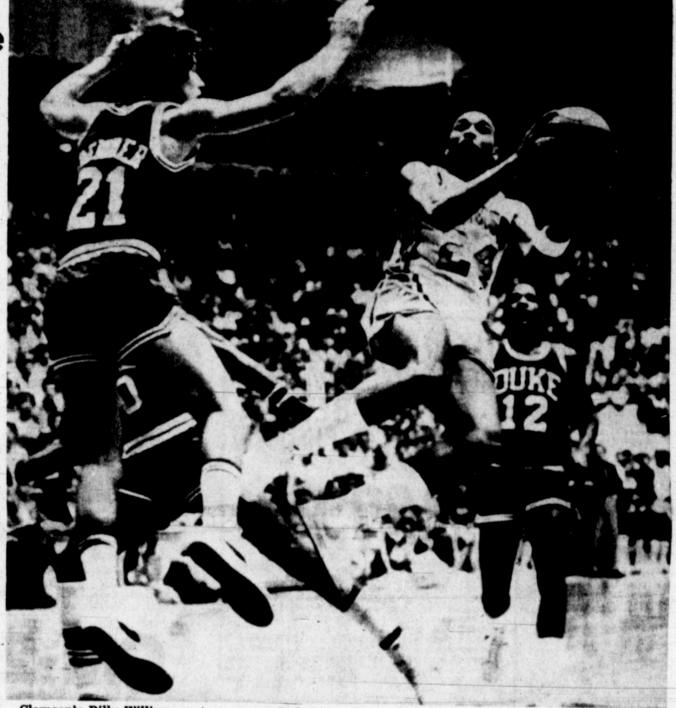

"I'm just very excited about the prospect of getting the chance at a head football position," Peel said Wednesday after learning of his acceptance by the Boerne administration. "Sandy (Peel's wife) and I have mixed emotions about leaving Midland, but the head coaching job is what I have wanted. And it's kind of like returning home for us."

Peel will not have to be replaced at Midland Lee since newly appointed Spike Dykes is being allowed to bring two assistant coaches with him. Pat Culpepper, the new head man at Midland High, will also be able to select two of his own assistants, according to Bartosh, Midland's new athletic director of the school system.

Boerne is in the district with Kerrville, Cuero, Gonzales, New Braunfels and New Braunfels Canyon.

Peel was a graduate assistant at University of Texas at El Paso in 1974 under Bartosh, who was then the head coach at UTEP, and he spent a year in private business before coming to Midland High in 1976 to assume his baseball role.

The Peels have one child, Ryan, 2.

On how to crack nation's top 20

Like a lot of other Midlanders, Midland College President Al Langford did a double take when the first Junior College Top Twenty rankings of the year were released back in De-

Midland College's Chaparral basketball team was unbeaten and unlisted. Unlike a lot of other Midlanders, the MC prexy did something about it. Since the top 20 is picked by regional voters around the nation, President Langford got on the phone and demanded, "How come, why not and what for?" of the regional rep in

He was informed, "Hey, man, like you gotta do something sensational to crack the top 20. It's not for dogs, you know." That quote may not be accurate, but it's in the ball park, if it's a big enough park, like the LA Colise-

President Langford responded, "Isn't 12-0 sensational enough?" And then preceded to detail the manner in which the Chaps accomplished the Impressed, the regional represen-tative advised the MC president to forward the data and he would submit it for consideration. Langford not only submitted the information to the Tulsa voter, but to all the other regional voters As a result, MC appeared in the Top Twenty, tied for No. 13, in the most recent balloting.

So after a long Christmas layoff, Coach Jerry Stone reassembles his squad and hopes the team has retained its undefeated edge as the Chaps resume competition with the three-night ABC tournament at Big Spring through Saturday. Primarily, it's a tuneup for the resumption of the Western Junior College Conference basketball race next week, which after all is what counts. However, there's a little more at stake in this instance.

Midland College faces Western Texas College at 7 p.m. Friday and the Westerners not only share the WJCC lead with MC, but are ranked No. 1 nationally.

While the game doesn't mean a thing in the league race, it can answer a lot of questions about this year's Chaparral squad for Coach Stone and you can bet that if the Chaps happen to spring an upset, the regional voters in the JuCo poll will be the first to hear about it. President Langford will make sure of that.

Even in defeat, Bum's Oilers catch Houston's fancy

By BLACKIE SHERROD Dallas Times Herald

DALLAS - The sporting crowd certainly took note of the 55,000 wildeyes who welcomed the Houston Oilers back home, with half that many more clamoring outside the Astrodome for admittance. And, mind you, this wasn't to celebrate a victory. These greeters left warm hearths in the evening chill to fight expressway traffic and darkening parking lots to hail a bunch

Now, you dassn't use the word "losers" in the current connotation, as in, these guys were such losers they bought a turkey farm the day before the government outlawed Thanksgiving. Or — he was such a loser, he bought a suit with two pair of pants and burned a hole in the coat.

The Oilers, a few hours before, had been eliminated from the NFL playoffs by the Steelers, as the smarts had reckoned. But when they drew 75,000 well-wishers in defeat, you could scarce label them "losers" any more than you can work up a pang of sympathy for Mr. Carlo Ponti when the bars close and he has to go home to his old lady. The Oilers now have captured the fancy not only of home folks, but of the NFL populace in general. They were on the climb in public favor, anyways, mainly by the fashion they warred against mighty Pittsburgh the last couple of regular seasons. Then when Houston upset San Diego in the first playoff round with its entire offense wounded, the landslide began. Now, to have the patchwork Oilers struggle so gamely against the Steelers, they gained even more votes. And when you saw the official's apparent blunder in a crucial play, perhaps costing the Oilers the game, well, they became the ragged hero from Horatio Alger Jr, the square-jawed paperboy in the snow, worn brogans lined with cardboard, hoarding his coppers to buy his sick sister a baby doll for Christmas. The Oilers became the darlings, not only of their partisan thousands, but of the national elector-

The Cowboys know the feeling, the older ones. Back before they became The Establishment, back when they bloodied their young brows against the Packers, they enjoyed the same universal warmth.

You'll likewise notice that even the Steelers expressed empathy. Joe Greene felt the victory was "tainted" because of the controversial ruling. Terry Bradshaw thought the call should have gone in Houston's favor. (Last year, when the Cowboys complained that a Superbowl call cost them dearly, they were branded as "crybabies" by Steeler vocalists.)

With the Houstons, it's different. Why?

Well, there's the underdog syndrome. The Houstons are warring against the magnificent Pittsburghs, just as the Cowboys once chal-lenged Green Bay.

Then, there's another underdog factor. For almost 20 years, the Oilers played second fiddle to the Cowboys in their home state. While the Cowboys were playing Green Bay for all the NFL marbles, the Oilers were wallowing around in a high school stadium. Tom Landry, as you may have heard, is the only coach the Cowboys ever had; the Oilers had a dozen named Lou and Wally and Pop and Sammy and Bones and whoever. Even in Houston and outlying possessions, polls showed the Cowboys had more television followers than the hometowners. The Oiler inner circle came to hate the image and symbol of the Cowboys.

This later was to spread league-wide among coaches, players, administrators, eyen press, as the Cowboys became dominant prayoff and Superbowl figures. They became the shah of Iran.
The Houstons were the gypsies. And the public switched its allegiance. In one newspaper story about the Oilers, you would find the adjectives "tough" and "gallant." The same typewriter would describe the Cowboys as "cold" and "mechanical."

Snider, Kaline were bargain basement performers

By HAL BOCK
NEW YORK (AP) — Based on today's baseball economy, Duke Snider and Al Kaline, the newest members of the Hall of Fame, were bargain basement performers.

The two brilliant outfielders of the 1950s reminisced about their best salaries Wednesday after being voted into the Cooperstown, N.Y., shrine.

"My highest salary was $46,000 and a Cadillac when I played in Brook-lyn," said Snider. "And I was happy to get it."
Why didn't he make any more than that? "The Dodgers told us they didn't have that kind of money," he said. Kaline said he made just over $100,000 in each of his last three years in Detroit and at one point resisted a

"I was just under $100,000 and the media was pointing out how every club in the league had one guy over that figure," he said. "The Tigers wanted to give me the difference but I had an off year ... I only batted about .280 ... and I told them I didn't want it that way. I said I'd come back and have a better season and then they could give it to me."

THERE WEREN'T many off years for either Snider or Kaline, who won decisive election to the Hall of Fame in voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America. Kaline received 340 of the 385 votes cast and Snider, who missed by 13 votes a year ago, got 333 this time. Both were well beyond the 289, or 75 percent, required for election. Don Drysdale finished third with 238 votes, 51 short of election. Gil Hodges was fourth for the second straight year with 233, followed by Hoyt Wilhelm with 209.

Snider said salaries never were a subject of discussion among the Dodger teams that dominated the National League in the 1950s. "Nobody cared what the other guy was making," he said. "Pee Wee (Reese) didn't care what Jackie (Ro-Snider said if he ma binson) got and Jackie didn't care what (Carl) Furillo got."

BOTH KALINE and Snider endorsed the high salaries that have swept baseball since the free agent revolution

"I'm not against anybody making as much as he can," said Kaline. "But I am against taking the money and running. If you take, you should give

Snider said if he made $1 million a year, he'd sweep the stands, wash the uniforms, manage the team and play, too, "If the owners want to give that kind of money out, I don't blame the players for taking it," he said. "But I don't think it's healthy for the game."

Kaline became the 10th man in history elected to the Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility.

ABC's Chet Forte discusses problems TVing pro games

By STAN ISAACS

SADDLE BROOK, N.J. — In the recreation room of ABC director Chet Forte's home here Sunday afternoon, the screen flashed the image of the controversial play in the Pittsburgh-Houston game televised by NBC. The live shot showed Houston's Mike Renfro catching a pass in the end zone. and the official ruling it no catch.

The replay of the original shot showed Renfro getting both feet in bounds before going out of bounds. The replay from the end-zone camera showed the same thing, and analyst Merlin Olsen came down hard that the officials had blown the call.

Forte said, "But the replays don't show if he had control of the ball. The angle shows the feet but not control. The ref might have seen no control from where he was watching the

I asked Forte what he would do if he were in the truck directing the televising of the game.

"I'd show those replays just the way they are doing," he said. "And I'd tell my announcers to make the point that the official might have seen no control from where he was watching the play."

At the end of the game, NBC pro-ducer George Finkel rounded out the coverage with Vito Stellino, the Pittsburgh pool reporter who relayed the officials' ruling, which corroborated Forte's suspicions: Renfro had juggled the ball, he didn't have possession before going out of bounds.

FORTE SAID, "The only way to cover that play properly on TV would be to put two cameras, one in each end zone, on the far side of the field. Normally you wouldn't be using a camera angle from the other side of the field because it would confuse viewers. For something like the Super Bowl, it would be worth the expense, perhaps, because you would then have the camera in position on a controversial call like this. That's something for CBS to consider when it positions its cameras for the Super event, the work of people like Forte, burgh's Mel Blount, the NBC cover-Nathanson and Grossman dazzles.

FORTE, generally complimentary of the work of his colleagues, provided an insider's insights of some of the coverage.

When a replay isolated on an animated reaction by Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw, Forte said: 'You always get a reaction from Bradshaw. Kenny Stabler used to be good for a reaction, but no more." On a big interception by Pitts-age showed in rapid order these color shots: Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini, the crowd, Blount, a scoreboard animation, and then Blount again. "Good," Forte said. "I might have shown the Houston coach Bum Phillips after Blount, because they had set up on Phillips earlier."

He paused and said, "You'll notice they stay away from Pittsburgh coach Chuck Noll. I'll tell you something: They aren't on him because Noll is one of the coaches who doesn't like the hand-held camera near him. Bud Grant doesn't, either. Don Shula and John Madden loved it."

During Los Angeles' yawning victory over Tampa Bay, Forte said: "I feel for the guys doing the game. This is a terrible game to work. You can't do anything with field goals. But they are doing a good job with what they have. And the announcers are not trying to hype a dull game." A shot of a woman sleeping - it livened the coverage, if not the game - drew an observation from announcer Pat Summerall: "Not too good, is it?"

EARLY IN the Houston game, when Pittsburgh drove to the 20-yard line, Forte said: "I think Teddy Nathanson will go to a wide shot soon. All the shots have been tight. We know it's on the 20, we need a wide shot here to show the ball in relation to the goal line. It gives perspective.' Moments later, a wide shot of the field showed up on the screen. Forte smiled. "Ah, that Teddy. He doesn't miss a beat. Teddy won't make any mistakes.' Through the long afternoon in the warmth of that recreation room, Forte — one of the great basketball shooters in history, an all-America at Columbia in the 1950s - watched the screen, experted the games, shot pool, tended the fire, and heaped food and drinks on his guests. "Would you rather be here taking it easy or working the game from the truck, Chet?"

"No question about it. I'd rather be in the truck."

A's sale dangling

OAKLAND (AP) - Charles O. Finley says the sale of his Oakland A's to Denver oilman Marvin Davis depends soley upon approval from the Oakland Coliseum of a plan to buy out the team's lease - approval which so far has not been forthcoming.

The Coliseum board of directors tabled the $4 million buyout proposal Wednesday, and city officials joined in the effort to keep the American League team from leaving town.

'The agreement between Mr. Davis and myself is based entirely on our getting approval from the Coliseum," Finley said Wednesday night from his home in Chicago.

'We hope they'll reconsider it," he said, adding, "There's no need to sign into an agreement if you can't move the club."

Coliseum president-elect Jack Maltester said following the board meeting he was told Davis had pulled out of the deal because the Oakland City Council refused to withdraw a lawsuit binding Finley to his Coliseum

The NCAA, at its convention in New Orleans this week, voted to initiate championships in five sports in its Division II and Division III schools, the smaller ones, beginning in 1981. If we can show them that the AIAW is a unique organization, we can gain their support and get the NCAA motions reversed next year.' ~Lopiano, who became presidentelect and will take over the AIAW next January, agreed with Grant, saying that the AIAW can do a better job for women than the NCAA.

"In a very short time, we've come a long way," she said.

Midlanders compete in Austin's All-American swimming meet

AUSTIN-Three City of Midland swimmers will compete in the All-American Invitational meet Friday though Sunday at the Texas Aquatic Center.

Outstanding college and AAU swimmers have been invited as well as some members of the Russian National team. Open rather than age group competition will make it more difficult for young swimmers to qualify.

Representing the COM will be Robin Franke, who will compete in the 50, 100, 200 freestyles; Carda Marco 20, 200 freestyles; Carda rie Mayes, 200 and 400 individual medleys as well as the 100 and 200 breaststrokes; and Lori Thompson in the 100 and 200 free, the 200 back and 200 and 400 IMs.

Preliminary heats will be conducted in yards, which is the custom for American indoor or winter season meets. However, the finals will be in meters in preparation for the Olympic trials. Olympic Games competition is in Former Midlander Gary Schatz, whose parents still live in the Tall City, is one of the top swimmers in the meet. Schatz is training full time for the Olympics after two years absence from swimming competition, so his performance will hold special interest for Midlanders.

Schatz is the first swimmer in the world to break 20 seconds in the fifty freestyle.

Tracy Austin picked as top athlete.

Hope golf washed out by downpour

GOLF-A rare desert rain flooded the courses and forced an overnight suspension of play in the first round of the $304,500 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic. Only two pros, Peter Jacobsen and Jerry McGee, returned 18 hole scores. Jacobsen shot a par 72 and McGee struggled to an 80, both at La Quinta.

TENNIS-Top-seeded John McEnroe defeated eighth-seeded Harold Solomon 6-3, 7-5 in the opening round of the $400,000 Grand Prix Masters tournament. In other matches in the round-robin event, second-seeded Bjorn Borg of Sweden outslugged No.6 Roscoe Tanner 6-3, 6-3; No.3 Jimmy Connors blasted No.7 Jose Higueras of Spain 6-3, 6-0, and Guillermo Vilas of Argentina outlasted No.5 Vitas Gerulaitis 6-4, 6-7, 6-3... Top-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd crushed Bettina Bunge 6-2, 6-1 and second-seeded Tracy Austin eliminated Sylvia Hanika 6-2, 6-2 in the opening round of a Cincinnati tournament. In other action, Dianne Fromholtz defeated Betty Stove 6-3, 6-1; Carolyn Stoll whipped Laura DuPent 7-6, 7-5; Billie Jean King downed Pam Shriver 7-5, 2-6, 6-4; Cathy Jordan ousted Mima Jausovec 6-1, 6-4, and Wendy Turnbull defeated Ann Kiyomura 6-4, 6-3.

SKIING-Daniel Simoneau of Livermore Falls, Maine, grabbed first place for the second day in a row in a men's cross-country competition in Quebec. Simoneau covered the 12-kilometer course in 40 minutes, 38 seconds to beat Pierre Harvey of Canada, who registered a time of 40:46. In the women's category, Lynn Spencer of Anchorage, Alaska, duplicated her first-place performance of scored a total time of 1:38.51 to win the season's second World Cup special ski slalom, beating two Italian women. ## Tracy Austin named top fem athlete

NEW YORK (AP) - Tracy Austin, the youngest person ever to win the U.S. tennis championship, has been voted The Associated Press Female Athlete of the Year for 1979.

She is a junior in high school in Rolling Hills, Calif., and with her mother as chaperone and companion, she tours the world playing tennis. At age 16, Austin won the U.S. Open last September, beating long-reigning champion Chris Evert Lloyd in straight sets in the final.

Now 17, Austin is ranked third in the world by the Women's Tennis Association, behind Martina Navratilova and Lloyd - a very close grouping according to the computer points used to make the ratings.

In the nationwide balloting by sports writers and broadcasters, Austin received 72 of 205 votes. The next highest total was the 50 for golfer Nancy Lopez Melton, The AP's Female Athlete of the Year in 1978.

Navratilova, the two-time Wimbledon winner, was third with 33, fol-lowed by Old Dominion basketball star Nancy Leiberman with 13 and marathon swimmer Diana Nyad with Lloyd, who has been chosen AP Athlete of the Year three times (1974, 1975 and 1977), received four votes. This is the 50th year The AP has chosen Athletes of the Year.

Austin first commanded notice at Wimbledon in 1977 when, at age 14, she reached the third round, then lost to Lloyd. In those days, the sub 5footer wailed away at the ball with pigtails and pinafores flying. She was big news at that tender age, but she was so shy she could barely conduct an interview.

A player most distinguished by her steadiness, Austin has steadily improved - both on the court and in the interview room. Last winter, having grown to 5-foot-4, she beat Lloyd for the first time, and in the Italian chanpionships last spring, she decimated

Austin is a tour veteran now. She jokes and talks a mile a minute when she's pleased with the questions, is careful and businesslike when she'd rather be doing something else.

She is a remarkable teen-ager in that she is so sure of her ability. Last week after the U.S. Tennis Association named her the third-ranking American player behind Navratilova and Lloyd, she said simply: "I think I should be No.1."

Diehard Houston fan files suit against NFL

HOUSTON (AP) - If you're look- damages each from the NFL, Rozelle ing for die-hard football fans, look no and Orr.

Case in point: William R. Pabst who says he is a minister and a 'consumer advocate" - and his friend Diane Simons are hopping mad about the Pittsburgh Steeler's 27-13 victory Sunday in the National Football League's American Conference

So mad, in fact, they filed a $6 million lawsuit in federal court Wednesday and asked for a federal injunction to halt the Super Bowl.

Pabst, who names the NFL, commissioner Pete Rozelle and official Donald Orr, is irked by a third-quarter call that cancelled an apparent Oiler touchdown.

On the play, wide receiver Mel Renfro hauled in a Dan Pastorini pass deep in the corner of the end zone that would have tied the score 17-17. But Orr ruled the pass incomplete, leaving the Oilers down six.

On Tuesday, Rozelle said NFL films showed Renfro bobbled the ball momentarily as he crossed the end stripe, but Pabst says it was a bad call and terms it "consumer fraud."

"I noticed several bad calls last year in the Super Bowl," Pabst said, and then this one came closer to home and I went to the courts.

Pabsts' suit asks for $2 million in

The suit alleges Orr "stood there in a state of bewilderment, appeared confused and disoriented. It appeared to be an act of cheating. The defendants violated the duty to be truthful and accurate and gave advantages to the Steelers.

Then there's Nick Clayton, who's taking the write-in route.

Clayton says his petition asks for a replay of the Oilers-Steelers game, and that he has 3,000 signatures and is shooting for a million.

"National television," states the petition, "has already indicated that the judgement call was wrong. So, for the benefit of fair play ... we hereby request you sanction a re-match of the American Football Conference playoff game.

Oilers Coach Bulm Phillips is teed off, too, but not because of the nixed touchdown. He says there was flagrant pass interference on the play that should have been called.

Phillips, armed with the films at his weekly press conference, says he noticed the interference prior to the call when he viewed Oiler films early this

New "Seein's Believin" finishes have been applied to Arbogast Jitterbugs.

The 1970's saw the bass fishing industry boom to the point that fishermen were beginning to think there could be nothing more added to the bass fishing world. That's because everything or supposedly all those fancy gadgets to enable a bass fisherman to catch more bass were already invent-

But 1980 finds the bass fishing market still booming, more new lures, reels, rods, depth sounders, boats, and motors.

To top off the 1980 line of bass angling products, the Fred Arbogast Bait Co. has come to the rescue by featuring "Seein's Belie-vin" finishes in some new and exciting natural colors and de-

The color pattern and action of the sparrow, redwinged black-bird and chipmunk have been captured in the Arbogast Jitterbug and Hula Popper. "The new terrestrial bird-like finish, has been developed for the fisherman looking for trophy size bass," said Dick Kotis, president of Arbo-

Also new from Arbogast this year are a striper-size Mudbug and a 1/4-ounce Hyla Spinner.

Bomber Bait Co. of Gainesville, Texas, predicts its hottest bait for 1980 will be the new crawdad photo finish Bomber, which will be available in 15 different colors and three depth ranges.

The folks from Pico Lures have designed a new 5/8-ounce Striper Jig. Early tests found this new jig to be devastating on seven and eight-pound hybrid white/striped bass on Texas' Lake Calavaras, bays Pico president Ed Henckel. For you plastic worm fishernen who'd like to repair those torn-up worms, J & L Tool of Shelbyville, Ind., has designed their new "Worm Welder." It not only mends plastic worms, but can also be used for joining any combination of different worms into a single section.

Rebel Lures, a famous maker of the ever-popular Deep Wee R series of diving baits, now has hit the surface hard with a new product that is certain to put a trophy bass in the boat.

Their new Weedless Moss Master is designed to work smoothly wherever an angler is confronted with heavy vegatation. It weighs 1/2-ounce, is available in three frog colors, and features a highly buoyant plastic shirt that allows the lure to sink very slowly.

Bass Busters' newest entry in the angling market is the Flicker Frog, a soft bait with teaser blades on the hind legs.

For the buzzing bait angler, Bill Norman Manufacturing Co. of Greenwood, Ark., has designed a new triple-wing bait adaptable to any retrieval speed.

One of America's oldest bait companies, James Heddon's Sons, has introduced a natural minnow, Heddon's Top Sonic. This new bait resembles a natural minnow and features a special lip on its underside that causes the bait to jump out of the water during retreival.

And for you saltwater experts, two companies have introduced new baits that will be certain to attract various species of ocean-going gamesters.

Fleck Products of Birmingham, Ala., has designed a new Natural Mullet. Buck Buchanan, president of Sevenstrand, had no idea how tough it would be to create a saltwater artificial that precisely matched the true colors of live baitfish. But they came up with what they now call their Clone" series

That's not all the baits introduced for the 1980 fishing season, but that's a good start. Most of these baits should now be available or will be in the near future at your favorite tackle store.

In the next article, we'll take a look at new reels, rods, lines and other fishing accesories.

Mail fraud is possible in ASU football scandals

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) - An investigation is being conducted by the FBI into allegations Arizona State University officials violated federal mail fraud statutes by falisfying documents for a controversial college-extension course in California, the Arizona Republic said Wednesday.

The newspaper quoted law enforcement sources as saying the investigation is aimed at determining if the mails were used illegally by past and present ASU employees or officials of Rocky Mountain College, which offered the extension course to eight ASU football players.

The players never attended the outof-state classes, but received credit.

Theobald's torrid 714 series sets bowling pace

By RANDY ISENBERG

Bill Theobald's 714 series in the Oil Star league was the high three-game series reported this past week. Jimmy Ledbetter took runner-up honors with a fine 696 series in the Civic Commercial league. Ledbetter also rolled a 661 series in the Petroleum National league while Leonard Rodriquez rolled a 265 in the Chicano Mixed league for high-game laurels.

Theobald and Jim Newton teamed to defeat Brent Gallagher and Arthur Correa for the championship of the Air Park Lanes New Year's Day scratch doubles sweeper. Linda Williams, fast becoming a top notch bowler, strummed a sizzling 266 to take high-game honors and just finished four pins off the two-game mark. Correa took two-game honors with a 470 set. The deadline for the Ladies' Invitational to be held at Super Bowl is Jan. 13. The event will be the weekends of Jan. 26-27, Feb. 2-3 and Feb. 9-10.

By BECKY WILSON, ANGELA TOMPKINS, AMY DAVENPORT and TRACY BEEBE

Welcome to the dawn of the new dacade. Seniors this is our year so let's make the most of it. We'll make it 100 percent great. Now that you've made your New Year's resolutions, add one more to the list. Visit your Youth Center regularly. Come shoot some pool, turn on some tunes and munch down on the goodies that are only available at the YC. It's a great way to get school off your mind and hang out with your friends. So come on down and keep Rasco

EVERYBODY BE SURE to attend all the basket-ball games (this includes you, too, Packbackers). Both the boys and girls teams are doing super this year. So far, the boys' record is 20 and 4 and 2 and 0 in the district. In the Texas Basketball Tournament our own Herbert Johnson received the Most Valuable Player Award, and Perry Bolger came away with All-Tournament.

The mighty Bulldogs punched out those puny Permian Panthers in the district opener last Friday with a 78-70 victory. This past Tuesday night the 'Dogs took on those stubborn Big Spring Steers and corraled them, 84-40. Way to go, Pack! Keep on struttin' your stuff Friday when you head for Abilene. We're behind you all the way.

In girls basketball action, the mighty JV stomped the Big Spring girls 29-17, while the Varsity came away with a 58-35 victory Monday night. The girls play Abilene High tonight in the MHS gym, with the JV starting at 6:15 and the Varsity at 8. Everyone come on out and cheer them on to another big

ALONG WITH THE new year came many new faces and new blood to good ol' Midland High. We wish to extend a big Bulldog welcome to Pat Culpepper, the new head football coach, Tim Wilson, the new baseball coach, and Pete Barizon, the new tennis coach. We know that you will be a great asset to our fine teams. Welcome to Midland High!

Hey gang, Catoico is right around the corner (Feb. 8), so anyone interested in entertaining the Catolco crowd, please sign up with Mr. Hixon in the office of Mr. Mac in the choir room. Guys, you better start getting your date lined up. It's not that far off.

Attention, senior women: Keep informed on all the meetings. They are very important and it is essential for you to attend. We want this to be the best Senior Girls Party ever. If you have any questions at all, get in touch with Margaret Schafer or Page Perry.

CONGRATULATIONS to those who participated in the McCamey Speech Tournament. Outstanding students were Don Stroud, first in humorous; Ralph Keeney, first in extempore; Scott Morris, third in poetry; Phillip Coffield, fifth in poetry, and Candy Baimbridge, fifth in humorous.

That about wraps it up for this week. Hope everyone had a great holiday. And now it's time to get down and finish the school year. Keep your chins up and truck on through.

'Til next week, Becky, Amy, Angela and Tracy

P.S. Happy birthday this week to Burgess Stengl, Chris Burchett and Connie Caton! Congratulations to Peggy Scribner and Puck Ankerholz, Junior Rotarians of the week.

No lunches this week for Cleveland schools

CLEVELAND (AP) — Public school pupils, back in class for the first time since last October, are being told to bring their lunches this week while the schools settle accounts with disgrantled food service

Nearly a dozen food companies, unhappy over unpaid bills totaling more than $900,000, refused to make deliveries until they are paid, school officials

George J. Mazzaro, business manager for the schools, said Tuesday that checks that were held up because of a conflict-of-interest controversy now are being issued, and the youngsters should have hot lunches again by Friday.

The food bill payments were suspended in November, when the school board questioned the legality of food contracts because one board member, George Dobrea, had private business dealings with a food contractor. Dobrea, who resigned in the wake of the controversy, had cast the deciding vote on the food

Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan said his investigation failed to establish any violation of law. However, Mazzaro said former treasurer Michael J. Hoffmann continued to withhold payment of the bills because the board had not officially lifted its suspension.

Hoffmann, whose contract was not renewed by the board, left the job Friday as teachers returned following the end of an 11-week strike.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I know that Braille helps blind persons read, but I don't understand how it works. Can you explain? — Dotty.

Dear Dotty: Each letter in the Braille alphabet consists of one or more raised dots (up to a total of six) arranged in various patterns. For example, the letter "A" is one dot, "B" consists of two vertical dots and "C" is made up of two horizontal dots. Blind persons "read" these dots with their fingers.

Dear Dr. Solomen: My doctor has prescribed medication for gout, but I am reluctant to start on something that I might have to take the rest of my life. Is there some way the condition can be controlled through diet? — Mr. G.D.

Dear Mr. D.: While gout is a highly treatable disease, failure to treat it can have serious consequences, including renal stone formation. Patients with gout should consider themselves fortunate that safe and effective drugs for its treatment are Having said that, I should point out that many patients with gout are overweight, about a third have high blood pressure and many consume excessive amounts of alcohol. For these patients, loss of weight, restriction of the amount of salt consumed and some mild sedation may control their hypertension, thus precluding the need for antihypertensive drugs, which tend to aggravate a gout condi-

I advise my patients with gout to reduce or eliminate completely the use of alcohol and to avoid eating visceral meats with a high purine content, such as liver and kidney.

Dear Dr. Solomon: There are many people with serious, even life-threatening conditions waiting for a miracle cure — possibly a new drug. With government approval as slow as it is, are potentially important new drugs held up in the pipeline together with relatively unimportant drugs? — Mr. F.D.

Dear Mr. D.: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) employs a priority classification system in its review of new drugs. For example, a new drug that review of new drugs. For example, a new drug that might provide a significant gain over those already available is rated "A," drugs that offer the potential of only moderate gains are rated "B," while those that will probably provide little or no additional benefits are rated "C." The drugs that offer potentially important new therapies are thus given priority treatment.

Ratings are assigned at the time the new product is submitted to the FDA for approval, but may be changed at any time during the review process as new evidence is disclosed. A final classification is made at the time the application for marketing the new drug is approved. The result, according to the FDA, is that some new drugs are being made available for public use as much as a year earlier than those without the potential for real health ple.

Now, according to Roger Stevens, chairman of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, a few regional or semi-professional companies remain, but only one permanently touring professional repertory company is still bringing live theater to small cities that rarely get to see it.

That organization is known as The Acting Company. On Tuesday, the Kennedy Center — culture's big tent — took The Acting Company under its canvas.

Museum at Rio features art by schizophrenic patients

By BRUCE HANDLER

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) -There's a museum here which the general public barely knows about but which contains one of the most unusual and controversial art collections in the world. It's called the Museum of Subconscious Images and features 150,000 paintings and sculptures done by schizophrenic mental

Every year, psychiatrists and psychologists from many countries quietly visit the museum, which is located in this South American city's King Pedro II Psychiatric Center. There is intense professional medical debate over whether the museum's works of art are of any actual value in curing insanity.

"Through painting, we can pene-trate the hermetic world of the schizophrenic," says Dr. Nise da Silveira, 74, a Brazilian psychiatrist and the museum's founder and main driving force. "The schizophrenic is a disconnected person. His verbal relation to the real world is difficult," she explained. "But through images, he can express a torrent of emotions.

R.D. Laing, a renowned British psychiatrist and expert on schizophrenia, was at the Museum of Subconscious Images last year and called it "a major contribution to the scientific study of the psychotic process." And in the 1950s the late C.G. Jung, one of the giants in the development of psychiatric theory, spoke highly of paintings from the museum's collection that were sent to a psychiatric congress in Zurich.

On the other hand, traditional psychiatrists - especially disciples of Sigmund Freud - see this type of artistic expression as little more than harmless, time-passing therapy. "The mainstream of modern psychiatry still regards us as art gallery organizers," Dr. Silveira complained.

Dr. Silveira, who started the museum in 1946, makes no miraculous claims about her work. What she does say is that through art, a schizophrenic can show the so-called sane world "the tendencices toward order and organization that are hidden inside his brain."

In fact, many of the paintings at the museum - done by obviously disturbed and sometimes uncontrollable patients - stress symmetry, circles and repeated orderly designs. Others reveal concrete real-world subjects, such as flowers, horses, clowns and musical instruments. One of the center's most talented patients once drew a picture of a man playing a piano. But first he sketched just the piano. Then, much later, he added the man, saying: "The piano needed someone.'

The main purpose of the museum, as Dr. Silveira explains it, is to serve as a base for the interdisciplinary study of schizophrenia and its poten-

WASHINGTON (AP) - Jimmy Carter appears weary of turning the

Maybe it was all those weeks of watching militant Iranians shout "Death to the U.S." on the evening news. Or perhaps it was caused by years of anti-U.S. fulmination around

Sitting in his Sunday school class at Washington's First Baptist Church, the president heard his teacher, Fred Gregg, ask the class whom the Israelites had blamed for their troubles in the days of the prophet Jeremiah. Carter answered unhesitatingly:

"If it was today, they'd blame us. Everybody else does.'

ALTHOUGH Carter hasn't been campaigning in Iowa, where presidential selection caucuses come up Jan. 21, he made certain that he gave a big smile and a wave to a choir visiting his church from Clinton,

MARINE GUARDS at Camp David, Md., inadvertently "bugged" them-selves during the president's stay there over the holidays. Someone left a walkie-talkie radio transmitter on, broadcasting everything that was said in the shelter near the main

About all that could be heard was rock music. Sentry duty on a mountaintop apparently doesn't stimulate much in the way of conversation.

ALSO UNSTIMULATING was the task faced by the four news agency reporters and photographers who doggedly followed the president to Camp David during the holiday period. Thurmont, Md., the nearest town to the president's retreat, was so thoroughly closed on Christmas Day that reporters had to drive 17 miles to the larger town of Frederick to find an open restaurant and a place to buy a newspaper.

exciting the rest of the year. Carter guards his privacy and seldom makes news during his weekend and holiday stays on the mountain. For the most part, the reporters who follow him there find themselves with little to do between Carter's arrival and his departure. Dinner is ordinarily the highlight of the day. On warm days, it is common to wash and wax one's automobile on the parking lot of the Cozy Motel, headquarters for the press.

There is a story, probably fanciful but told and retold nonetheless, that a photographer came to Thurmont without his own car and was so bored that, just for something to do, he waxed his rented auto.

What made the city of Saco, Maine, go broke?

By JON HALVORSEN

SACO, Maine (AP) - On the 16th day of 1979, voters in this little Maine city eagerly passed a property tax limit styled after California's Propo-

On the last day of 1979, Saco defaulted on a $2.1 million tax anticipation loan.

Residents were shocked. Officials scrambled to pay the bills. Few argue that the tax limitation directly caused the default. But one year later, residents are sharply divided over the merits of the referendum and the direction their city should take.

The municipal default climaxed a troubled year for Saco: Scores of public employees were fired, city and school programs suffered deep cuts and the City Council weathered almost a complete turnover of members. Over it all rang unending, often bitter public debate.

Former City Councilor Robert Cas-sette, who led the tax revolt, blames past "mismanagement" for Saco's

"It was certainly not the tax limita-tion," Cassette said. "Thank God we had put a limit on what they (City Hall) can do to us.'

School Committee Chairwoman Glen Roth felt differently: "By clamping that tax cap on, it brought all the underlying problems - mismanagement and lack of revenue - to the surface" more quickly.

And, she added, the prohibition on raising taxes will make it harder now for this town of 13,000 to solve its financial problems. City Administrator Curtis Tripp, the third person to hold that job in little more than a year, had no blame to assign. "It's done, and my objective now isto cure the problem," said Tripp, who on Tuesday signed an emergency

WASHINGTON — Every day for two hours, the huge transmitter at Greenville, N.C., beams Voice of America news broadcasts into Iran

What began in April 1979 as 30 minutes of news grew to 90 minutes last November, two hours in December, and will be given three hours of air time beginning Jan. 20.

"The downfall of the shah, the hostage crisis and now the Soviet inva-sion of Afghanistan explains the growth," said Clifford Gross, a VOA

The VOA is part of the International Communications Agency, an independent government agency.

The broadcasts are in Farsi, the common language of Iran, Afghanistan and the Soviet Republic of Tadzhikstan where Moslems live on Afghanistan's northern border.

The program content is primarily news, Gross said, featuring reports from an Iranian broadcast journalist "who is able to do pretty free reporting."

"We're not exactly sure why he's been left alone," he added.
The VOA's main competition for getting outside news into the two, countries is the British Broadcasting Corp.

Burma's pluses may outweigh its primitive standard of living

RANGOON, Burma (AP) - Inflation isn't a problem, nor is energy. Pollution, traffic and crime are negligible. The young still respect elders and just about everyone heeds old customs and traditions. Where is such a place?

But it should also be noted that common consumer items, such as soap and coffee, are difficult to come by except on the black market. Modern entertainment is limited to Grade B foreign films shown in attractive," says one Western diplomat. packed, often dirty theaters. The morning newspapers carry only items that are carefully censored.

And some of the reasons for the low inflation rate, the lack of pollution, traffic jams and crime may not be so attractive to anyone coming from the West: Burma has rudimentary transport and few neon lights, thus no energy problem. -There are few factories, thus little pollution, and vast forests that are intact.

-There is little crime, but in part because the police and intelligence services have their eyes and ears in many places. Some of the government's economic policies are considered ruinous by outsiders, but the gap between the rich and the poor, between the capital city and the countryside is nowhere as great as in many developing nations. -Because foreigners, except businessmen, can stay no longer than seven days, Burma is losing out on the tourist dollar and other foreign currencies and it may not be up on the latest in Western - or for that matter Asian — thinking. But it has preserved the traditions of close family ties, reverence for Buddhism and native dress. Some say there may even be a connection between living small and being happy. This unique Southeast Asian nation has been frequently portrayed by outsiders as benighted and isolationist, a place directed by a military-dominat-ed regime which has ordered it out of step with the produced a 5 to 6 percent growth in gross domestic rest of humankind and quick-marched one of Asia's potentially richest countries to the rear of the devel-

the Burmese have managed to avoid.

Diplomats outside the Soviet orbit have also given the Burmese high marks for genuine neutrality — a fact dramatically underlined when Burma in October pulled out of the non-aligned movement which it helped found, claiming the Third World nations had distorted their original principles.

"For a long time people have been looking into Burma from the outside and judging it by their own yardsticks. But what about the Burmese looking out at the rest of the world? What they see is not very

The Burmese rarely issue the standard praise about interdependence of nations and the need to learn from others, but there has been a slowly growing foreign input which has led to recent improvements in at least the country's economy.

Japan, West Germany, the World Bank, the Asian Development Bank and other international donors have provided Burma with a record $400 million plus in loans and grants during 1979. This aid is expected to continue since not only does the country possess extensive and untapped natural resources, but also maintains an excellent record of loan repayments and has implemented several recommendations by international agencies in fiscal policy and streamlining of government-run corpora-

Foreign aid projects include everything from new rice mills to ocean freighters to a Japanese-built oil refinery which has permitted Burma to export oil for the first time in years.

A communications satellite system went into operation this year, and with Japanese know-how, television will be introduced in 1980. These developments are expected, for better or worse, to increase links with the outside world.

This foreign involvement and other factors product in each of the past two years.

Austell may win new trial

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - The Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday delayed final action on appeal of Sherrell Gene Austell, con-victed in Upton County of extortion and sentenced to 99 years in prison, to allow a decision by the trial court on whether a new trial is needed.

In its opinion, the court noted that the trial court, after notice of appeal had been given, dismissed the appeal on the state's motion because Austell had escaped from custody. He was sentenced Aug. 3, 1972.

"The trial court did not have jurisdiction to dismiss the appeal," the opinion ssys, noting that appeals court had ordered Austell be granted 'delayed appeal.

The opinion says Austell apparently was returned to custody before his appeal was filed with the appeals court.

Austell contended in his appeal that he was "deprived of the record on appeal" and that therefore his conviction should be reversed.

"The record is in such a state that we cannot properly determine whether the appellant's ground of error has merit," the opinion states, saying Austell 'has been represented by several appointed attorneys at different times.

And, the opinion adds, "the transcript before us includes only two pages of the court's docket. It is obviously not a complete instrument.

Therefore, the court ordered the appeal back to the trial court (noting the judge now is not the one who heard the case originally) to determine whether Austell has been deprived of "portions of the record to which he is entitled."

Entire coast may be hit

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) -Mexican crews have seven weeks to may be too late to avoid a repeat of last summer's oil spill along Texas beaches, say U.S. Coast Guard officials and scientists.

And if the oil starts washing ashore this summer, it could plague the entire Texas coast through mid-September, experts said Wednesday.

'If we get beyond March 1 and the well is not capped, there's a reason-able possibility of oil," Dr. John Robinson of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration told a news conference.

"By May or June (with the well uncapped) it's alsmost certain to return," he said. Robinson and other members of an interagency team met to discuss strategy and compare notes on when to expect more oil from the cantankerous well in the Bay of Campeche. Since the well blew out June 3, at least 100 million gallons of thick crude between Brownsville and Corpus Christi caught were stained by oil in August and September. U.S. Coast Guard Capt. Gerald Hinson, head of the anti-spill team, said he is planning for the worst. "We're re-establishing a command post in Corpus Christi, beefing up staff, preparing to enlist contractors for clean up work and will be staging Navy equipment used last summer against the spill at four locations,"

Hinson said. Lack of information from Mexico on well site operations makes it difficult to pinpoint when to expect a return of tarballs, thick sludge and light oil to the coast, the team said. Attempts at capping the well with a giant steel cone, plugging it with metal balls or killing it with relief wells have failed.

215 oil, gas tests announced last week in Basin counties

were staked last week in the Permian Basin of West Texas and southeast New Mexico.

Seventy-four of the locations were spotted in wildcat areas, while the other 141 were staked in proven field areas.

Forty-one of the wildcats were staked in District 7C of the Railroad Commission of Texas. The San Angelo headquarters for the district said 11 of the wildcats were spotted in Runnels County, with eight going to Reagan. Schleicher County gaines seven wildcats. The other District 7C explorers were staked in Coke, 5; Irion and McCulloch, four each, and Tom Green 2. District 7C's 37 field operations gave that district 88 new projects.

NEW YORK (AP) - The Associated Press incorrectly reported Wednesday that Eastman Kodak Co. was raising the suggested retail price of a roll of 35-millimeter Kodachrome slide film, with 20 exposures, from $4.95 to $6.20.

Those prices represent the increase in price of a 50-foot roll of Kodachrome Super 8 movie film. The correct increase for the slide film roll is from $3.07 to breath. Unable to find his pulse, he moaned "I must be dead."

A dozen photographers, reporters and television crews crowded over the Republican presidential candidate as he murmured "I knew campaigning in New Hampshire was rough, but this is absurd."

It was painful, but the 55-year-old former ambassador and CIA director said he loved it. Some of the 75 people participating in the afternoon YMCA fitness class Wednesday gathered around the sweat-drenched contender and praised his endurance. "You've proven you're a good run-ner in here," said one young woman.

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — George "Let's hope you run as well against Bush lay on the floor and gasped for Ronald Reagan."

Former Gov. Hugh Gregg, Bush's state campaign manager, jumped at the invitation to participate in the "We're not doing this to emphasize Reagan's age," he said. "We're just letting the world see what great shape George Bush is in.' Unable to keep a straight face, Gregg added, "Just to be fair, I hope they invite Governor Reagan to the same class next week.'

Reagan, considered the GOP frontrunner, is 68.

Mrs. Gandhi said the Soviets were

"deeply worried about China's trend and the developing friendship between China and the U.S.A." and that as a result of the China-U.S. relation-

Sit-ups, push-ups, jumping jacks -

Bush did them all, sometimes a little behind the rest of the younger men and women in the class. Although he was the oldest in the class, he held his own in the "aerobics" class.

One exerciser on the floor mat next to Bush's commented: "You'll love it. This will be good not just for your campaign, but also your body!"

You're doing well." He also told him the agony would be over quickly. "Just two more minutes of this and we'll cool down." Bush seemed to enjoy the repeated laps around the gym, and up and down three flights of stairs. He shook hands with many of the other runners "Keep it up, George," one runner said. "Running in circles is great training for the White House."

As the pack jogged around the gym, weaving through photographers who always seemed to be standing in someone's way, Bush threw off his sweat-shirt. His T-shirt said: "I'm running with George Bush.'

Gregg watched his candidate circle the room, and chuckled "Look at him run. Reagan will never catch up.'

Although the media played a little havoc with the ordinarily smooth class, it accomplished what Gregg

Bush's staff grew more excited as each additional magazine or newspaper photographer entered the gym.

"Where the hell is NBC?" Gregg asked, then relaxed when the television crew dashed in and started filming Bush doing push-ups.

"Of course it's a media event," Gregg said. "But Bush takes his excercise seriously. He jogs at least three miles each day."

Ghandi staying out of Afghanistan

NEW YORK (AP) - Indira Gandhi, newly re-elected prime minister of India, said Wednesday that the Soviet military presence in Afghanistan is an issue best'resolved by Afghanistan

"That is for their own (Afghanistan's) people to decide," Mrs. Gandhi told ABC News' Barbara Walters in an interview aired on the network's evening news program.

The Used Car They Buy Is A New Car.

In many cases, a family budget just won't stretch to include a brand new car. And this is where a quality used car makes good sense. As far as we are concerned, that used car is really a new car to the family that buys it.

To Our Customers,

And we take extra care to make sure our used car customers enjoy every bit as much satisfaction and pride as our new car customers.
