Higher prices leads to revival of dying Monahans oil patch

By the Associated Press

Several years ago, Exxon Co. USA could not find a buyer for its dying oil patch, Sand Hills.

But time resolved the problem and Sand Hills is now a thriving oil field. A rig is drilling a new well about every nine days now and Exxon may drill as many as 64 new wells the next 18 months. Since the days a declining Sand Hills was up for sale, the field's oil production has been increased from about 850 barrels a day to 2,200 and natural gas output has moved from about 50 million cubic feet to 60

The Sand Hills field is located 20 to 25 miles southeast of Monahans

Russ White, a division supervisory engineer, says Sand Hills is more of a study of new economics than new technology "Under the old prices, we couldn't afford to drill this field," White said. Since the Arab oil embargo of 1973-74, prices of $3 a barrel for oil and 15 cents a thousand cubic feet of gas "Sand Hills is a classic example of higher prices making possible higher production," White said.

The higher prices, he said, are financing the $19 million stepped-up drilling program and an $8 million gas processing plant expansion.

Each well in a field frequently tells geologists and engineers something about the characteristics to be expected of the next well to be drilled in the area.

But geology at Sand Hills is said to be so complex most wells drain only small areas in that pores in the webbed carbonate formation are so poorly connected pockets of oil are often left between wells.

'What you learn from one well doesn't necessarily tell you anything about the next one you'll drill," said Joan Williams, senior project engineer.

The problem is being resolved in part by reducing well spacing from 80 acres to 40 acres and there may be one well every 20 acres in some sections of the field by the time the drilling program is completed.

Engineers say each Sand Hills wells taps from 25,000 to 30,000 barrels of oil in its lifetime.

Karakoram highway, the little known road across the roof of the world, has achieved instant strategic importance" following Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, the Press Trust of India said.

PTI quoted unidentified sources as saying that civilian traffic has been banned on the Pakistan side of the Chinese-built mountain highway linking Pakistan and China.

There was no immediate confirmation from Pakistan but a Western expert here noted that the Karakoram road is normally closed by snow from December through February. An Indian correspondent back from Afghanistan reported meanwhile that about seven divisions of Pakistani troops are at the Afghanistan border, that Pakistan has moved a large armored force to the frontier region south of Peshawar, and that all Pakistan forward air bases have been alerted. Military observers in Kabul were quoted in the dispatch by United News of India correspondent Virendra Mohan.

Mohan also reported that on a road trip from Kabul, the Afghan capital, to Ghazni, 100 miles to the south, he found that "Soviet troops have almost completely disarmed the Afghan army, from which many have defected in the last few months, along with their weapons."

Center to begin staff hunt

By DAVID CAMPBELL Staff Writer

Midland County Hospital District board of directors agreed Thursday afternoon to "go out and search" for qualified medical personnel to staff the Allison Permian Basin Cancer Therapy Center.

They also agreed to purchase $73, 593 of hospital equipment, to transfer $130,000 from the hospital tax district to Midland Memorial and accepted the fact that $88,973 would have to be dropped because of had debts and indigent care.

Ed Magruder, president of the district directors, reported that efforts should be directed toward the hiring of a qualified director and medical staff for the $3.5 million Allison Permian Basin Cancer Therapy Center.

Director John Mast, M.D., was chosen to represent the directors on a steering committee whose purpose was to investigate methods used in other cancer centers to recruit medical and administrative personnel.

Magruder reported on a noon meetingwith Dr. Nylene Eckles of M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston. Dr. Eckles explained what approach the cancer center should take in the treatment of cancer.

'The concern of the MMH medical staff (and the committee) regarding the cancer therapy center," Magruder said, "was to do it right so it is a blessing to the patients and not a

The directors authorized the purchase of 19 items of hospital equipment worth $73,593. Items which would be purchased by the hospital include seven portable monitors and recorders to be used in recovery and operating rooms, a floor scrubber, seven constant care stretchers and four anesthesia machines. The directors also recognized the efforts of the Women's Hospital Auxilary in the purchasing of $390,000 approved by the directors. The funds would be used to help pay off deficits which occurred during 1979.

CHALMETTE, La. (AP) — An equipment supervisor directing traffic outside the strikebound Tenneco Oil Co. refinery here was shot to death early today by a striker, officials said.

The directors examined and approved the writing off of $88,973 from the hospital's books. This "write off" was the result of services offered to indigent patients and bad debts owed to the hospital.

According to Robert Abernethy, MMH assistant administrator for finance, bad debts account for $65,637 of the $88,973 written off. Indigent care services accounted for $23,336 of the write-off.

Write-off or charge-off accounts are those accounts where the hospital is not able to collect revenue for services offered by MMH. Several charge-off accounts involved cases where several indigents were admitted to the emergency room for treatment of drug overdoses, according to Wayne Ulrich, MMH administrator

In other business, the directors learned the hospital was awarded for holding patient costs below 1977

The Texas Hospital Association established a goal where hospitals would try to hold down the average cost of patient care to $1,348. Patients who stayed in Midland Memorial during 1979 were charged an average of $1,293, according to Ulrich.

Four new trustees were also approved by the directors to serve fouryear terms. Dr. Brent Blonkist, John C. Dorn, Mrs. James H. Purvis and Robert Bledsoe were chosen by the Midland Memorial Foundation's board of governors. Dorn, chairman of the hospital's building committee, was re-elected.

Carter wants U.S. grain loaded for Soviet Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is urging longshoremen to abandon their boycott and load 3 million tons of grain destined for the Soviet Union to relieve a backlog he says is clogging the nation's transportation system.

The action is calculated not to help the Soviets, but to relieve pressure on American farmers

The administration continues to press forward on other fronts for punitive measures against the Soviet Union in reprisal for that country's military intervention in Afghanistan.

A high administration official said Thursday, for example, that the United States and its European allies may try to have the Moscow Olympic Games postponed, shifted or broken into parts in retaliation for the Soviet action.

The top two officials of the U.S. Olympic Committee were scheduled to meet at the White House later today with Carter aides.

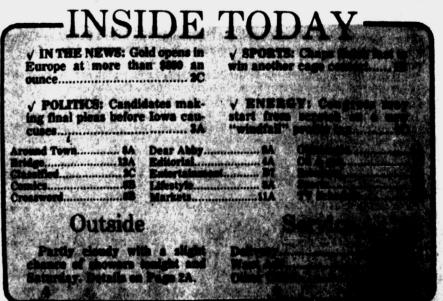

The grain the president wants loaded is not part of the 17 million metric tons Carter has ordered embargoed from the Soviet Union, but is a portion of some 8 million tons the Soviets are to be shipped under previous agreements.

Thomas Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, said Thursday he would check with his union and report back to the president.

He did not promise that the 80,000 ILA members would end their nineday refusal to load grain on ships bound for the Soviet Union.

Administration officials said the ILA boycott, affecting ports on the East and Gulf coasts, has resulted in barges, railroad cars and grain elevators being chock-full.

As a result, the officials said. American farmers are reaching the point of being unable to ship other grew by 2.3 percent during the year, the Commerce omy Department reported today.

The economy grew at an annual rate of 1.4 percent in the fourth quarter last year.

While a recession was avoided, the increase in the nation's gross national product — the total value of all goods and services produced — was lower in the last three months of 1979 than had been expected. This indicates a recession may actually be coming in

However, to maintain purchasing power in the face of rising inflation, Americans saved only 3.3 percent of their income in the fourth quarter at an annual rate. It was the lowest savings rate for any three-month period since the Korean War in 1950.

A recession is said to occur when there is negative GNP growth for two consecutive quarters. The average 2.3 percent growth for the year compared with 4.4 percent growth in 1978 and 5.3 percent in

A good report card

It's good to live in a state in which the elected officials exhibit fiscal responsibility.

Texas' officials have been doing just that, according to information provided by Comptroller of Public Accounts Bob Bullock, and as a result it appears the state will enjoy a $124.4 million surplus at the end of this budgetary period.

Some eight months ago, Bullock said, after the Legislature approved more than $21 billion to run the state for the two-year period ending in August 1981, his office estimated that only $1.7 million would remain after the state paid its bills.

But items Gov. Bill Clements vetoed added $142 million to that surplus figure. The state then subtracted $21.8 million for increased highway program costs and $24.4 million for increased foundation school costs, important and needed items.

When the state's books were closed on the immediate past budget period, the leftover balance was $43.8 million less than had been predicted, however.

All those calculations would leave the state with a $53.8 million surplus in 1981. However, other figures also are changing.

Bullock's office estimates that oil will bring in some $555 million more than had been previously forecast and increased natural gas production taxes will add another $91 million to state coffers. But sales taxes should bring in $139.6 million less than planned and motor vehicles sales taxes have been reduced $143.3 million. The net result is that $70.6 million can be added to the $53.8 million to be left over in 1981 bringing the state's total surplus to $124.4 million. The Legislature may choose to do one of several things with that money. It could spend the money, carry it over to the next budgetary period or use it for tax re-

What it all boils down to is that the state is in good, solid financial condition and that's important. Undoubtedly inflation is biting into the tax dollars that run the state government just as it is every family's budget. But when a surplus is realized at the end of a budgetary period it means that the beneficiary - be it the state government or a family - can wisely select how those

"leftover" funds will be used.

We are certain that the state's legislators will weigh all the choices carefully and make the right decision about what's to be done with our surplus tax dol-

When surplus tax monies are realized and can be carried over to the next year's budget or taxes can be cut, all Texans reap the benefits. Certainly Texans want their legislators to continue providing all necessary services and institutions.

Texans just do not want their tax dollars spent in a frivolous

But the fact that the state has a surplus is a favorable reflection on our elected officials, being indicative of fiscal responsibility.

When the state's taxes are lower and when business is good, industries and businesses are encouraged to locate in Texas. That expanding industrial base creates an even healthier business climate, which results in an expansion of the goods and services we all need and enjoy.

All the residents of the state, therefore, experience a higher quality of life as a result of careful use of state funds.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Shah was 'Santa' to the powerful

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - During his glory days, the shah of Iran showered official Washington with gifts and goodies with lavish abandon. He was Santa Claus incarnate to the high and His incomparable generosity constituted a massive assault on the U.S. laws against gift taking. Under the latest statute, a federal official cannot accept gifts of over $100 in value.

But the shah was no such cheapskate. He never gave handouts worth less than $100. His most modest giveaway was a magnificent book of color photographs entitled "The Splendors of Persian Carpets." This has been appraised at about $150.

The shah, however, was just as likely to offer actual Persian carpets rather than mere pictures of them, to people of prominence. Records left behind at the Iranian Embassy indicate these gift rugs were worth up to

He distributed watches, jewelry and paintings that would cost thousands at Bloomingdale's. His most abundant offering was choice Iranian caviar, which he had flown to Washington for regular distribution. The retail value runs around $700 per kilo, and he never gave less than one kilo. At his last Christmas in office, for example, the shah sent three kilos to President Carter, two kilos to Vice President Walter Mondale, two kilos to ex-President Richard Nixon, two kilos to ex-President Gerald Ford and one kilo apiece to a host of other

Washington bigwigs. Cables to the embassy indicate that the gifts were distributed "on the command of His Imperial Majesty," Shah Mohammed Riza Pahlevi, who usually specified precisely who was to get which gift down to the last kilo of caviar. His man in Washington, Ardeshir Zahedi, maintained a gift list of 4,000 names, including White House officials, Cabinet officers and one-third of the members of Congress. In an earlier column, I reported that Zahedi spent the shah's money for the lavish entertainment of high Washington officials. He provided special guests with the attentions of young women companions. The above the $100 gift limit.

The shah also invited a glittering array of American officials and celebrities to Iran for all-expense-paid excursions. Jacqueline Onassis went on a shopping spree in Tehran, charging tens of thousands of dollars worth of purchases to her hotel bill, which one of the shah's aides obligingly paid.

The list of Washington worthies who sipped the shah's champagne, nibbled his caviar and accepted his expensive baubles is far too long for publication in this space. Not a one has been investigated, let alone prosecuted.

Apparently the Justice Department feels the eminent takers of the shah's gifts were above being influenced by such trivial offerings as diamond bracelets, Persian rugs and tins of

This attitude is known in the back rooms as the John Connally theory. Some Justice officials believe Connally was acquitted because the jury refused to believe a man of such wealth and stature would sell out for $10,000 from the milk producers. How less likely, the officials argue, would a jury be to convict a president, senator or Cabinet member for accepting a $700 tin of caviar? Yet the shah wanted military aid, political support and other favors from the U.S. government. Many of the people on his gift list were all too willing to give him anything he want-While Nixon was in the White House, his family received many valuable gifts from the shah. Some of them were turned over to the State Department as the law requires. But the records at the Iranian Embassy indicate that the Nixons accepted gifts, including a rare artifact of antiquity, that my staff couldn't find on the official State Department gift

His Secretary of State, Henry Kissinger, was a regular consumer of the shah's caviar, and at least one small Persian rug wound up in his home. Nixon and Kissinger, in turn, gave the shah a blank check to purchase any military supplies he wanted from the United States.

Another caviar eater, Sen. Abra ham Ribicoff, D-Conn., was quoted in a cable to the shah as praising him to the rafters at an embassy soiree. Stated the Nov. 5, 1978, cable: "Ribicoff said - loudly so that Mr. (Robert) Strauss the presidential adviser could hear it - that he admired the shah... Mrs. Ribicoff also admired Her Imperial Majesty and said she would call the Shahbanou between 11 and 12 Washington time tomorrow.

CIA Director Stansfield Turner was quoted in a cable as telling the Iranian ambassador: "Please give my regards to the shah and tell him we are ready to do anything he wants. We are on your side.

And the late Nelson Rockefeller wrote a letter to the shah telling of his respect for the "courageous, wise and statesman-like decision which you have taken" to form a coalition government. The letter was signed "With high esteem.

The Justice Department probably is right; no one would believe that a Ribicoff or a Rockefeller would sell out for a few tins of caviar. But these gifts from the shah violated the law. If minor government functionaries should be stopped from taking gifts of over $100 in value, then the law should be enforced against the high mucka-

Footnote: A State Department protocol official responsible for handling gifts to the White House confirmed that the Christmas caviar had been received. A spokesman in Mondale's office said that all gifts of foodstuffs to the vice president are turned over to the Secret Service for disposal. In this case, the Secret Service destroyed it. Sen. Ribicoff did not respond by the time we went to press.

There is no moralor political difference between the Soviet Union using its own troops or using Cuban, East German or Vietnamese proxies. So far as the Soviets are concerned, it is only a matter of convenience. Afghanistan is adjacent to their border so there was no reason to use proxies.

The real significance of the Afghanistan invasion is that not even our world champion self-deluders can pretend any longer that the Soviet Union really does not mean what it says. These characters cling so desperately to their illusions, however. that they are now trying to peddle the story, without any evidence, that some mythical hardlines made the decision while the kind, moderate Mr. Brezhnev was ill. Sometimes I think our foreign policy gurus are on dope.

Anyway, we are not going to war over Afghanistan nor, for that matter, Pakistan. I doubt seriously if we would go to war if the Soviets move on into Iran, which is a possibility. We are not buying any Iranian oil and our allies who are, West Germany and Japan, would no doubt prefer to make a deal with the Soviets than go to

I am assuming in all of this that Mr. Carter is following his customary procedure of running off at the mouth with no regard for what he really intends to do, as when he declared war on energy and then left for a vacation.

Now am I minimizing the seriousness of the situation. Soviet aggression is the logical consequence of our self-imposed military weakness and foreign policy bumbling. You will see more of it and the next few years will be full of genuine danger.

What we need to survive is a very tough and very smart leader who can rally the American people and our allies, and at the same time outmaneuver the Soviets while we rebuild our strength. It will be touch and go Obviously, Mr. Carter is not that leader. His idea of boldness is to ask the United Nations to pass a resolution which didn't even name the Soviet Union as the aggressor.

The most dangerous thing he is doing it not defining our vital interests. He had better decide what they are and spell them out in detail before the Soviets attack them. Wars can very easily start when one side doesn't know where the other side is going to draw the line, and if we don't know where it is, then certainly the Soviet Union doesn't either.

I am one of those who would prefer to be dead than Red, but if we are going to fight a war, I'd rather that we picked the time and place and not just blunder into it.

INSIDE REPORT:

Carter using old architects to shape new designs

Novak

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — President Carter has dismantled most of three years' foreign policy accumulation in reaction to the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, but a private intercession by a recent White House guest pointed up his problem: He is using the architects of the discredited old policies to shape drastically different new de-

The intercession, clearly heard by more than a score of former high officials of past administrations invited to the White House on Jan. 8, came from James R. Schlesinger. Schlesinger has special credentials as an expert in national security and Cabinet member under Presidents Nixon, Ford and Carter. When Secretary of State Cyrus

Vance told the former high officials that the Soviet invasion was "a test" of whether "the international community" could muster the strength and fortitude to prevent such Soviet conduct. Schlesinger rose and said, in effect: Cy, that's not the test. It's the leadership of this nation that's being Schlesinger's intercession obliquely addressed a question being heard as the new foreign policies forced on Jimmy Carter become visible: Can the same principals who sponsored and carried out the now discarded and flawed policies of the first three Carter years switch in midstream and look good on a reverse course?

This is not a case of changing horses in midstream but of changing streams without changing horses.

Four other guests of Carter voiced agreement with Schlesinger: John J. McCloy, the establishment Republican who goes back to Harry Truman's and Dwight Eisenhower's adminis-trations; Donald Rumsfeld, defense secretary under Jerry Ford; Joseph J. Sisco, long-time State Department Mideast expert; Professor Sam Huntington of Harvard, close friend of national security adviser Zbigniew

That many of the most cherished policies Carter brought to the White House have been jettisoned, at least for now, is spectacularly clear. The long effort to discourage arms sales to Third World nations is down the drain, flushed there by Pakistan's dire need; the policy of refusing all arms to states suspected of building nuclear weapons has met the same fate for the same reason; so has the president's sometimes self-defeating emphasis on human rights.

Yet, officials responsible for carrying out all the old policies remain in place. A symbolic case in point is the new head of the Voice of America (VOA), Mary Bitterman. She was named only weeks before the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan elevated the VOA to new importance as the carrier of news about Carter's toughened foreign policy. But Bitterman is an unlikely head of VOA to perform that new mission. Presidential aides say she was picked for only two reasons: her political clout in Hawaii, where she has headed public radio broadcasting; and her avid support of George McGovern in the 1972 presidential campaign.

The Bitterman decision symbolizes the striking changes in U.S. policy before and after Afghanistan. "She wouldn't have been considered for the job if the Soviets had made their move at that time," one official told us. "It was just a job then, but now it's one of Carter's most important."

The same is true of posts throughout Carter's national security bureaucracy essential to his success in carrying out his toughened new policies. But the president so far has shown no awareness that these new policies may need new principals to run them - men and women not ideologically committed to a world that the Soviets have obliterated by taking over Afgh-

Many politicians of both parties while applauding Carter's belated moves against Soviet expansion, believe the president's long lack of awareness is a portent of deep problems ahead. They worry that Carter himself, despite strong talk, has missed the full import of the Soviet invasion.

If he has not, they ask, what makes him stick to his old mentors? These were the very officials in control for the three years during which, by his own testimony, he was so completely misled by the Soviet Union.

Don Wall said he saw them near his rural Jefferson County home about midnight Wednesday. Don Taylor saw them as he was driving near Rend Lake on his way to Old Ben No. 26 mine in Franklin County. Other miners on the midnight shift said they had seen them.

Wall said he saw two bright, green lights in the middle of an object that was possibly 100 feet wide. Two dimmer lights burned at the ends of the object, he

"They were twice as bright as a car headlight and woke me up when they shined through the windows," he said Thursday. Taylor saw a 50-foot-wide object with a light something like that on the front of a helicopter. As it came toward him it seemed to explode "like a big jet airliner blowing up," he said.

Mount Vernon Police said they had one call about the object. The sheriff's departments in the two counties had no reports. Scott Air Force Base officials near Belleville said their 60-and 200-mile radar scans showed nothing unusual in the sky all night. A Scott spokeswoman said one airplane was landing at the base about the time of the UFO report, but pointed out the base is miles from the Texico-Benton areas. Duty Officer Benjamin Herr of the Federal Aviation Adminstration Air Traffic Division in Kansas City said a control center near Olathe, Kan., reported a "brilliant light from the north-northwest" at about 8:35 p.m. The light, Herr said, was seen from Salina, Kan., to Ft. Nichopoulos, Presley's physician for 11 years before the singer died at his mansion in 1977, is charged with overprescribing dangerous drugs for 16 patients, including Presley. The cause of Presley's death was officially ruled heart disease, but there have been reports that it was drug-related.

If found guilty, Nichopoulos could lose his medical license. Lawyers for both sides said testimony will probably end today. The board's consideration of the charges will be conducted in public, probably

The doctor's attorneys spent most of Thursday calling Nichopoulos' colleagues and members of the Presley entourage who testified about the medication given the singer. Letitia Henley, a nurse who lived with her husband at Presley's mansion, told the board she administered drugs to the singer under Nichopou-harmless placebos in place of drugs.

Part of the state's case against Nichopoulos is based on his dispensing of addictive or dangerous drugs to some patients without checking to see when he last prescribed the medication.

Hoffman's testimony supported Nichopoulos' claim that he frequently was unable to obtain patient charts to check on previous medication. Hoffman said for many months, the charting system was in disarray and many entries were not made because of a shortage of personnel and construction that forced storage of records away from the office. Two of the physicians who testified Thursday for Nichopoulos had consulted with him in the treatment of Presley, and one said he and Nichopoulos once had a spirited discussion with the singer about his drug depen-

Dr. Lawrence D. Ruble, a gastroenterologist and medical professor at the University of Tennessee, said, however, that he never saw the singer when he appeared to be under the influence of drugs.

We knew he was being overtreated by doctors out west," Ruble said, adding that he and Nichopoulos had discussed Presley's intake of medication received from other sources.

Ruble, who said he avoided prescribing drugs whenever possible, said Presley demanded mood elevators to prepare him for his shows and sedatives to help him rest afterward.

Cuba shakeup gives power to old hands

WASHINGTON (AP) - The sweeping bureaucratic shakeup carried out last week in Cuba is seen here as an attempt to ease growing economic and social problems by giving greater authority to old trusted hands of the Communist Party

As interpreted by U.S. officials, the losers in the reorganization were many young technocrats named to high government posts in the last decade as a means of "institutionalizing" the revolution.

Cuban President Fidel Castro had sought to ensure the survival of the revolution after his departure by removing some of the powers of his inner circle and conferring greater authority to leaders of the younger generation. Now that process has been reversed.

Last Friday, Castro appointed key aides to five ministries and assumed personal control of the defense, interior, public health and culture

The status of Raul Castro, younger brother of the president, was unclear, although American officials described as premature suggestions in the U.S. press that Raul had been purged.

Raul Castro was appointed a "collaborator" with his brother in the running of the interior and armed forces ministries. He previously had been listed as head of the defense ministry

Bombs kill three Irish, one Arab

LONDON (AP) - Bombs exploded in Northern Ireland and London, killing three Irishmen and a young Arab. There was speculation that the explosions were premature and the bombers were among the victims.

Three persons were killed during the rush hour Thursday evening when an incendiary bomb gutted two cars of a commuter train outside Belfast. Officials said two of the dead were believed to be members of the Irish Republican Army on their way to explode the bomb in Belfast's central railway station.

Earlier in the day, a bomb exploded in a fifth-floor room of London's 702-room Mount Royal Hotel, killing a 22-year-old Arab student from the Persian Gulf sheikdom of Bahrain and injuring three other persons.

The BBC reported a telephone caller in Beirut said the hotel bomb was intended by a Palestinian organization for Israeli intelligence agents in London. Scotland Yard said the dead man, Mohammed Soltani, was very close to the bomb when it exploded but the Yard did not know yet whether HOUSTON (AP) - Four black ministers in Tehran trying to see the American hostages say they still have no word on whether they will be allowed into the American Embassy or meet with the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

Freighter knocks down bridge

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) - Six cars and a truck plunged more than 100 feet into the water early today after a Norwegian-owned freighter traveling in fog slammed into a bridge off the west coast of Sweden and the mid-section of the bridge collapsed, authorities said. Frogmen were searching for survivors.

Trucker Jan Rosenberg, who drove onto the Almo bridge, told reporters he suddenly realized it ended in "a big nothing."

"I hit the brakes and stopped 10 meters (33 feet) from the edge," he said. "I just sat there for a minute, staring. I went outside and saw two headlights coming up on the opposite side. Suddenly, they dove and disappeared."

Police said they did not know how many people were traveling in the cars and truck believed missing in the strait connecting Tjorn Island with the mainland, 30 miles north of Goteborg.

Yugoslavia's Tito rejects amputation

Broz Tito, the 87-year-old patriarch of anti-Stalinism and the non-aligned movement, has rejected his doctors' recommendation that they amputate the lower part of his left leg because of a circulation blockage, Yugoslavian sources say.

Officials Thursday refused to confirm the report that Tito's eight-member medical team had recommended amputation, but an official medical bulletin said the leg was "in gradual deterioration" following unsuccessful surgery last weekend to relieve the vascular blockage.

Thursday's brief medical communique gave no indication of how the doctors planned to deal with the ailment. It said Tito's general condition was improving and that he spent a peaceful night at the Ljubljana hospital where he went for surgery last Satur-

"Temperature, blood pressure and his pulse were within normal limits," the report said.

Before resorting to surgery, doctors tried for a week to relieve the blockage with medication. Tito has been suffering from circulatory problems for about two years. Yugoslavian sources said his condition was aggravated late last year by a diabetes-like

Devout hijacker surrenders in Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - A devout teen-ager desperate to find Lebanon's lost Shiite Moslem leader hijacked a Lebanese jetliner today and ordered it to head for Iran, but he surrendered a short time later when the plane landed here, authorities report-

The youth had threatened to blow up the Middle East Airlines Boeing 707 with a hand grenade if it did not take him to Tehran.

The plane, carrying 72 passengers and a crew of nine, was commandeered over the Mediterranean some 25 minutes after it took off from Beirut airport on a flight to Larnaca, Cyprus, in mid-afternoon, Lebanese authorities said.

They said the hijacker, identified as Fuad Hamadeh, a Shiite Moslem from the southern Lebanese village of Khirbet Silm, told the captain and passengers he had taken command of plane in a new attempt to determine the fate of Imam Musa Sadr, the spiritual leader of Lebanese Shiites who disappeared mysteriously more than a year ago on a trip

Lebanese Shiites have been urging Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, who heads Iran's Shiite sect, to intervene with the Libyans and find out what happened to the missing Sadr.

The hijacker wanted to go directly to Tehran, apparently to appeal personally for Khomeini's intervention, but he was persuaded to allow the plane to land back in Beirut for refueling, authorities

After it touched down here, Lebanese Communications Minister Butros Harb negotiated with the youth via the control tower radio, and within an hour he agreed to give up the plane and his hostages, an airport spokesman said. He said most of the passen-

Reporters then saw the young man being whisked away from the airport by police.

The official Tanjug news agency has released few details of the circulatory blockage for which Tito, 87, underwent surgery Sunday. Officials, including Tito's team of eight doctors, said only that Tito's leg was "in gradual deterioration" after the surgery. Yugoslavian sources have said Tito's malady is usually treated with bypass surgery, and if the operation failed, amputation would be needed. Sources said Thursday that Tito's doctors were trying to persuade him to have the lower left leg removed, but Tito will not permit it. This could not be independently confirmed. Heart specialist Dr. Michael DeBakey, the only American doctor known to have examined Tito recently, has been unavailable for comment. But other doctors said some specifics of the case could be guessed at, based on the scanty information available.

Mass production process for anti-tumor drug developed

HOUSTON (AP) — A newly-developed process that allows mass production of an anti-cancer feron studies at University of Texas M.D. Anagent has been called "something we've all been waiting for" by an American Cancer Society official.

"It's extremely important that we don't overpromise anything," said Dr. Fank J. Rauscher Jr., ACS senior vice president for research, "but personally, I'm as optimistic about interferon's potential for treating cancer as anything else I've seen.'

Interferon is a rare body protein that provides defense against infections. Only about 1,200 persons have been treated with the anti-tumor agent thus far because of the limited supply and high cost - as much as $40,000 per patient.

Rauscher's statement came Thursday after it was announced that a team of Boston scientists had developed a method for making interferon from a bacteria. Currently, supplies are obtained from human blood samples.

"We're barely over the 50-yard line in our efforts to assess (interferon's) full anti-tumor effects alone," Rauscher said, "and we need to test it in combination with other drugs.

Dr. Jordan Gutterman, who supervises interderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, said he was "enouraged by results so far" in using interferon as an anti-cancer agent.

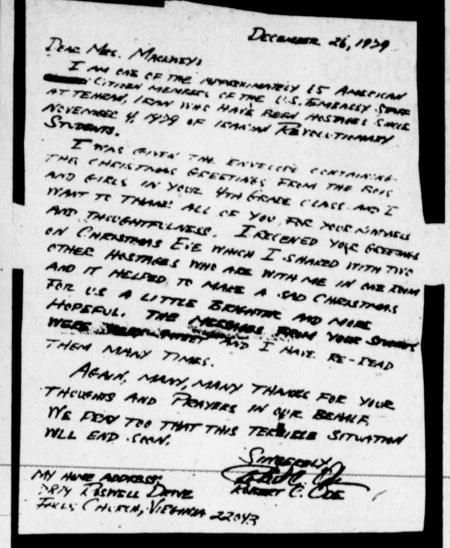

"We could move faster in assessing interferon's effectiveness for different types of cancers if we had cheaper and more plentiful sources of the material," Gutterman said.

The hospital is treating 65 patients for various types of cancer. Gutterman said at least half of those treated had partial or complete remission

But he added that brief remissions cannot be compared with long-term survival, saying "considerable" clinical work remained to be done.

Rauscher said even though it is realistic to expect interferon can eventually be made "in buckets," that it would be two or three years before it could be available for widespread patient use. Both men said the interferon used to date in cancer research has been "remarkably nontoxic," and no bad side effects had been ob-

"I was just shocked. I couldn't believe it,' Lena Agnew said of the hand-written letter on torn paper she and her husband Charles received Thursday from Marine Sgt. John D. McKeel Jr. of Balch Springs, Texas.

"We are all fine except for the great loss of weight and some times we feel like we're going insane but we have (the) Lord looking after us,' the letter said.

The U.S. State Department said the message was one of about two dozen received in the United States since the hostages were taken Nov. 4 in Iran's capital

Clements hasn't decided to approve Hayes' parole

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says he has been studying recommendations by the state Board of Pardons and Paroles and will decide in a week or so whether former Dallas Cowboy great Bob Hayes should be paroled from prison.

The state Board of Pardons and Paroles recommended Jan. 3 that Hayes be released from prison, where he is serving two concurrent five-year prison terms for delivering cocaine to

He entered prison in March 1979. Asked on Thursday if he was going to parole Hayes, Clements replied, "I don't know yet. We are studying it. After consulting with members of his staff, he said, "it will be the latter part of next week or the week after. I'll make a decision in the next week or 10 days."

Hayes could be on the streets by March if the governor grants the pa-

Woman wins cancer suit of $800,000

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) -Four years ago, Helena Blanchfield was told by her doctor that she would die of cancer within the month. But it seems she didn't have cancer after all, and now a jury has ordered her former physician to pay the woman $800,000 in damages.

The money was awarded after the jury heard eight days of testimony, including statements that Mrs. Blanchfield never had cancer in the

According to testimony during the trial, Mrs. Blanchfield was treated at Doctor's Hospital in Lanham, Md., in February 1976 after complaining of vision problems. After her release, Dr. Lewis H. Dennis of Silver Spring, Md., asked her to come to his office for a consultation.

At the meeting, on March 23, Mrs. Blanchfield was informed she was suffering from multiple myeloma - a maligant tumer of the bone marrow.

Mrs. Blanchfield, then 48, was told by Dr. Dennis to return to her Laurel home to get her affairs in order. She testified the doctor told her she had one month to live.

Mrs. Blanchfield, a widow, quit her $12,000 a year job and broke off her engagement to her fiancee. What she believed was her remaining time was spent taking painful chemotherapy treatments, making funeral arrangements and in preparing her 13-yearold daughter for life without her.

In August, six months after Dr. Dennis had told she would die within 30 days, Mrs. Blanchfield sought a second opinion at the Memorial Sloan Kettering Center in New York.

On Sept. 8, after 20 days of tests, the doctors at Sloan Kettering told her she not only did not have cancer, she never had any bone cancer and should not have been placed on chemothera-

Dr. Dennis said he was both "crushed" and "outraged" by the verdict. "It was because I'm a rich physician. This woman has no injury," he said after the verdict.

Elderly need a new image

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Elderly people are not treated fairly on prime-time television, says a Syracuse University specialist on aging who feels the networks have a long way to go in picturing the aged in a more realistic and positive light.

Neal Bellos, associate professor in the All-University Gerontology Cen-ter, says that, in spite of some changes, the elderly are still not accorded the treatment they deserve on television.

"I think I'd like to see the elderly portrayed as they are, not as one segment of the population that is ill or senile or beset by problems," he says. "The elderly are a group of varying individuals, some of whom are quite vigorous and active and making a contribution to society.'

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements ment of Human Resources does not says he may go to court to challenge Attorney General Mark White's "illconsidered" legal opinion upholding "hidden" appropriations by the Leg-

"We may have to go clear on to the (Texas) Supreme Court to test this opinion," Clements told a news conference Thursday.

White ruled Tuesday, for the second time, that Clements did not have authority to veto a special provision in the 1979 appropriations bill to construct a new $40 million headquarters building for the Department of Human Resources from federal

"This was hidden in this rider (special provision) to keep me from vetoing it," Clements said.

He said White's opinion would "sanction a subterfuge by the Legislature to thwart gubernatorial veto power over appropriations ... The opinion circumvents the checks and balances system."

He stressed he was not asking for more power or authority for the governor than the constitution already provides.

He said the suit probably would be filed by a private citizen against the state to uphold the governor's veto power, and White would have to defend the Legislature's action. "I won't have any trouble getting someone to file the suit," he said.

White said the first opinion given to Clements Aug. 31, 1979, "concerning his authority to veto certain provisions of the General Appropriations Act was fully explained to him at that time. That opinion was based upon well-established case law which has been upheld as recently as 1975 by the Supreme Court of Texas.

Before court recessed for the weekend, Clark, a retired Florida carpenter, estimated the Pinto was traveling at about 30-35 miles per hour and the van at 40-45 mph when the collision occurred.

"The force was not all that terrific as far as I could tell," he said Thursday, acknowledging under crossexamination it was "impossible to know what their speeds were. I wasn't driving their vehicles.

more difficult the case," said prosecutor Michael An earlier ruling by Judge Harold R. Staffeldt stymied prosecution efforts to show that the impact of the crash was not great enough to cause traumatic injury to the victims. Staffeldt ruled inadmissible evidence or testimony that did not relate directly to the cause of the crash or the manner in which it occurred. As a result, some testimony was given while the jury was seques-

Shop building destroyed

Fire swept through a shop building owned by Ron Truex late Thursday evening, totally destroying the structure before firemen could bring the blaze under

According to fire department reports, the shop building was located one-half mile east of Fairgrounds Road.

Four units from the Midland Fire Department responded to the fire call at 9:40 p.m. and spent two hours battling the blaze. They used 2,500 gallons of water extinguishing the fire.

Cause of the fire could not be immediately determined, according to reports.

companies can compete internationally. "We've got to be more export minded," he said.

There are very few American companies that are truly oriented for the export trade, and they'd better be if we're going to take care of the balance of payments and the dollar."

The senator said American companies should be allowed to consolidate projects abroad wihout fear of violating domestic anti-trust laws

A way should be found to administer the Corrupt Practices Act internationally so that foreign companies currently not subject to the act do not have an edge on U.S. companies, Bentsen said.

He said the JEC, which he chairs, will issue a report on Far East trade in the spring.

There was a willingness in the four nations he visited to purchase more U.S. products and reduce the balance of payments deficit.

South Korea is doing an incredible job to cut it down," Bentsen said, mentioning a major contrct for U.S. telecommunications equipment.

He said the trip was suggested by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the State Department.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market headed lower today, faced with uncertainty over the Soviet Union's plans in the Middle East and a prime rate increase at a major bank. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials slipped 3.16 to 860.41 by noontime. Losers took a 3-2 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed Iranian officials were quoted today as saying they were investigating reports of a Soviet military buildup along Afghanistan's border with Iran. Meanwhile, the First National Bank of Chicago raised its prime lending rate from 15 to 151/4 percent. Traders had several other news developments to consider, including the government's report that the economy expanded at a 1.4 percent annual rate, after adjustment for inflation and seasonal factors, in the fourth quarter of last year.

The gold price climbed to the neighborhood of $825 an ounce in European markets, against $450 about a month

Ralston Purina topped the active list, up 1/4 at 111/2. A 100,000-share block traded at that price. The NYSE's composite index lost .19 to 63.61. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .39 at 263.34. Volume on the Big Board came to 19.80 million shares at noontime.

Bell processor improves service

Most Midland telephone customers won't know the difference. They won't realize how efficiently the calls are processed. Nor will they notice that a large percentage of those calls are completed on the first attempt. What's behind the unrealized improvements in Midland's telephone service? Primarily a $1.7 million machine called a 1A processor.

According to Johnny Wise, Southwestern Bell network maintenance-ESS manager, "the new machine is the ultimate in electronic switching equipment." Several weeks ago, the company installed a new machine in the Midland office to help handle the more than 1.1 million local and long-distance calls processed daily. But, said Wise, the 1A processor has not replaced Midland's original electronic switching system ma-

"Today we are operating with the most sophisticated switching equipment in the United States. We couldn't possibly replace this machine. We can only update and improve.

"That's what we did by adding the 1A processor.
The old processor was not capable of handling the increased call volumes caused by Midland's rapid growth. Not only can the new machine handle the calls, it also requires less machine handle the calls, it also requires less maintenance," Wise

"When a customer requests a new number or a number change, it normally takes only minutes to enter the information into temporary memory. This way the customer has immediate service.

"But to maintain this information, for a number of years, it must later be transferred into permanent memory. That's where the new machine really shines," he said.

"With the old processor, it took about a day to transfer the records from temporary to permanent memory. But the new equipment requires only 40 minutes to complete the job. That leaves our people more time for other tasks. It increases productivity in the office," Wise said.

The old equipment processed a call in a microse-cond — one-millionth of a second, Wise said. The new machine, which has four times the call capacity of its predecessor, will process a call in a nanosecond one-billionth of a second. "Not only will this new equipment allow for growth, but it will help prevent overload conditions which mean busy signals to the customer," Wise said. "It's these overload conditions that occasionally cause our equipment to fail." The machine should have a life-span of about 40

Museum must have more support here

The Museum of the Southwest needs more than just funds to ensure its cultural role in Midland.

"What I'm asking you for is...continued and stronger support — money," Joan Hellen, museum director, told members of the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday noon in the Midland Hilton. "We also need philosophical support," Ms. Hellen aid. She noted that Midland is growing and that the resources of this town" contribute to the museum. which should be viewed as "a fun place to go, rather than a serious place."

Currently, the museum is featuring four exhi-

-The Amodio Collection of late Renaissance through 19th-century paintings by the Old Masters, such as Thomas Gainsborough, Joseph Mallord Wil-liam Turner, Hans "The Younger" Holbein and Sir Joshua Reynolds. Also on exhibit, but not part of the collection, is a Rembrandt.

-"The Woman's Side of Pioneer Life," which tells her side of the story, so to speak," said Ms. Hellen. "We think of the rough frontier as being male-oriented."

-"Ceramics: New Definitions." "It'll be different," she said. "I'd like to hear your comments." -Lalique and Steuben glass.

Upcoming museum shows and events include the Frank Armstrong photographic exhibit, which depicts man's mark on nature, in March; a student art festival in April; a juried area art show in May and June; a watercolor exhibit in early summer, and the annual Septemberfest, which is the museum's primary money-raising event of the year.

Irrelevant Finesse

By Alfred Sheinwold

Study, but don't imitate. today's "irrelevant finesse," a play that gives your opponents an extra chance to defeat the contract but does nothing to help your cause.

South took an irrelevant finesse at the first trick, losing to the king of diamonds. South won the spade return, drew trumps, took the ace of hearts and continued with the jack of hearts for a finesse.

South continued hearts, discarding a club on dummy's king. He then cashed the ace of clubs and led two more trumps, but no squeeze developed and there were no miracles. Down one.

TAKE ACE

South should put up the ace of diamonds, draw trumps and try for four heart tricks. If the attempt succeeds, declarer can discard a diamond on the fourth heart. He gives up one club, making the slam.

The heart guess is South's only real problem. If he makes four heart tricks he doesn't need the diamond finesse. If South loses a heart, he will be down even if he has succeeded in a diamond finesse.

Hearings 'baffle' ex-NTSU prexy

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Former North Texas State University President C.C. Nolen, who sat silently as House committee investigators produced damaging evidence against him, says he is "baffled" by the hearings and has never stolen state Nolen, who invoked the Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination 109 times this week, broke his silence Thursday after the House General Investigating Committee hearings concluded.

The four days of testimony included evidence that complicated financial transactions resulted in state money being misspent — with some of it winding up in Nolan's salary supple-

"I have absolutely nothing to hide." said Nolen, reading a prepared statement and refusing to answer reporters' questions.

"I have done nothing wrong. I have not received any money for anything at any time other than that which was authorized." he said. "Not a dime."

The investigators, however, submitted evidence alleging Nolen misused private foundation money for personal political donations, allowed state money to be used for attorney's fees for a Denton group seeking to start a television station, and was involved in other financial misdeeds.

Committee counsel Bob Shults said financial records show some of Nolen's political donations were reimbursed by the private NTSU Educational Foundation, which is barred from political activity. Nolen's income tax returns indicated he listed the donations as deduc-

The donations included gifts to former Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Sen. Betty Andujar, R-Fort Worth, and Rep. Charles Evans, D-Hurst.

Nolen also refused to answer questions about funds raised for a student choir trip. Some $8,000 raised for the trip was transferred to the educational foundation for Nolen's salary supplement, according to records produced by investigator Bob Shults.

A Nolen memo to another NTSU official carried the hand-written message, "Since (NTSU vice president John) Carter can find a way to cover most of this we will be able to use the funds ... for the salary supplement."

throughout the inquiry that began in April. Nolen left his NTSU post shortly after the inquiry began.

cooperated with investigators

The former president said he had

"This has been a very difficult few days for me," he said.

'Just three hours before the hearings began Monday. I was advised that I was apparently going to be the focal point of the hearings," he said.

SECT

Nolen complained he was barred from the hearing room, while other witnesses were allowed to stay. Shults, who presented much of the damaging evidence, was on the committee staff and was allowed to remain in the room.

"It didn't take long after I testified for the first time for my attorneys to determine that I was in the position of being an accused," he said. "I'm really baffled by these proceedings. I'm hurt that allegations are being implied about me personally. And I'm saddened that a cloud is being cast over the fine reputation of North Texas State University.

Committee Chairman Richard Slack, D-Pecos, said a report will be issued after the transcripts have been reviewed.

Whacky 5-4A chase continues tonight with three teams in title contention

By BOB DILLON Sports Writer

The District 5-4A log jam will be broken tonight.

No less than three teams - Midland, Midland Lee and Odessa Permian currently are tied for first place in the first half of the boys basketball race, but the loser of the Permian-Lee confrontation in the Permian Fieldhouse tonight will drop out of the tie, unless, of course, Odessa High upsets the Midland Bulldogs in the Chaparral Center.

Sound far fetched? Well now, Odessa High beat San Angelo, 52-51 and then the Bobcats turned right around Tuesday and knocked off defending 5-4A champion Midland, 66-58.

Anyway, while the two Odessa and Midland rivals are squaring off at each other, Abilene, San Angelo and Abilene Cooper, all 2-2 and only one game awy from the three leaders are also in action. Cooper tries Big Spring and Abilene takes on San Angelo. Radio Station KBAT will do the play-by-play of tonight's big Lee-Permian game with tip-off set for 8 p.m. Midland will be at the Chaparral Center and chomping at the bit after that loss to San Angelo Tuesday.

Brad Kerley, who scored 26 points in Permian's 94-91 victory over Cooper, still leads the 5-4A scoring parade with 101 points in four games for an average of 25.2 per outing. Next comes Charles Bishop with 98 points and a 24.5 average. His 27 points were instrumental in the Bobcats' win over Midland's Bulldogs. Cooper has the next two scorers in Woody Martin and Ken Henry. Martin is averaging 22.7 per outing and Henry 22.5. Henry ripped the cords for 32 points against Permian Tuesday.

Young Chaps survive close shave with FPC

By Ted Battles Sports Editor

Midland College's young Chapar-rals were introduced to the facts of Western Junior College Conference life Thursday. Namely, that a No. 4 national ranking and 25 cents might get you a cup of coffee, if you remember to say please.

The Chaparrals won, but it took a whirlwind finish to pull out a 61-57 victory over Frank Phillips College of Borger after the Panhandle Plainsmen had led most of the way.

The win kept the Chaps tied for first place with a 6-0 WJCC record and upped their season's record to a glow-

Coach Jerry Stone fretted before the game, "I just hope we can get through this one so Chucky McGill and Kevin Willingham (both injured) have a chance to get better for next week's games with Odessa College and Western Texas, but this is a good team and I remember how they upset us last year, too. I just hope we're

As it turned out, Stone had good reason to worry. FPC came into the game 3-1, a close loss to Odessa College, and it was obvious from the outset that they were no one's patsy, jumping to an early 11-4 lead and the Chaps spent most of the evening trying to catch up.

As it turned out, Jeff Ray and Ernie Tate, a couple of unlikely hero candidates going into the game, combined to pull it out. Ray, a freshman at 5-9 was the smallest guy on the court, and Tate, at 6-7, 212, looks like he should be playing shoulder-to-shoulder with L.C.Greenwood and Mean Joe Greene, hadn't played in five months and this was only his third game for

"It was easily Ernie's best effort," praised assistant Coach Archie

MC had managed to trim a 53-46

Frank Phillips lead to 55-52 with just over three minutes to go and Charles Johnson, another who came through in the clutch, narrowed it to 55-54 with a tip in. That's when Tate and Ray took over, as the Plainsmen came across midcourt, Tate deflected the ball and Ray scooped it up on the dead run and beat a defender to solo in for the go-ahead layup with 1:32 left.

"I thought he was going to get creamed when he went for the shot," Stone said later.

Then it was Tate, who was shoving shots back into the faces of Plainsmen much of the night with an awesome blocking display, who came up with a rebound with 55 seconds left, passing off to Ray, who was fouled converted both shots to virtually tuck it away. Derrick Wilson would add a free throw and Robert Tate a layup to make it 61-55 before the Plainsmen got a final basket.

Ray had entered the game just moments he made the big plays, "He handles the ball well and can run the four-corner better than anyone we have and I wanted to go into the four-corner as soon as we got ahead," Stone explained, "I substituted Derrick Wilson later, because they could shoot over Jeff when we went into our Mostly, Stone was just relieved to escape alive. "They did a good against with the zone-press, better than anyone we've played and it bothered us.

The Chaps turned the ball over seven times as FPC raced to an early 11-4 lead and then just when it seemed they had things under control with a 31-24 lead with 2: 28 left in the half, the Plainsmen came back.

First Bobby Allen hit a basket and then the visitors converted eight straight free throws for a 34-31 halftime lead. It was the last time MC was to see the lead until Ray's midnight ride, although the scored was tied at Kenneth "Big Time" Young came up with a couple of baskets and five second half rebounds while Robert Tate with 15 and Tim Shelby with 12 points were the only Chaps in double figures. It was the lowest point production of the season for MC.

Six-five Grant Dalton led Frank Phillips with 18 while John Ard, all in the first half, and Curtis Adams had

The way Frank Phillips capitalized on first half free throws while Midland was encountering difficulties at the line, blowing three successive one-on-ones, it looked like the Chaps were in serious trouble when the Plainsmen, leading 47-46, went into a one-on-one situation, with 9:09 left in the last half while MC never reached the bonus foul. And although, FPC did build up a 53-46 lead, MC came back with Ernie Tate scoring from inside, Shelby registering on a feed off a Wilson steal and then Tate again curling inside for a two-pointer.

Lee girls capture first go-round

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Sports Writer

Old habits are hard to break, and not even the feared "Mojo" jinx has caught on among the girls of District 5-4A basketball.

In short, Midland Lee's barn storming Rebels own this loop and they are halfway over the hump of putting their third straight 5-4A trophy on the mantel after whipping Odessa Permian's Panthers Thursday, 60-49, at the Lee gym.

The victory gave the Rebels the first half cage title with a 6-1 record and a 19-6 season mark. Permian, which was shooting for a first half tie with the Rebels, fell from contention with a 4-3 first half reading and 11-11 on the year.

Shoot, Lee is the only girls team to ever win the district title. Still in its infancy, 5-4A girls basketball has been dominated by Shirley Stephenson's Rebels. Now all Lee has to do to win their third title is to win or tie for the second half crown. And the way they played Thursday, it could be another Sunday stroll regardless of what Stephenson says. "We are certianly glad to get the first half behind us without a tie, but the second half could be a different story. This league is much more balanced than it has been in the past.'

Just don't tell Permian that, Shirley. After all, they have old "Mojo" on their side and that's good enough for football, but not girls basketball. The Rebs aren't doing much to help the myth live on. When things are on the line, the Rebels look to Gale Wilson and Leshia Watkins for the knockout punch. And it's good strategy. Wilson canned 24 points while Watkins dumped in 15 along with three steals, four blocked game with nine points. shots and 11 rebounds. Wilson had thers are still dizzy from the results. Midway through the third period, Permian cut the lead to two points at 29-27, but by the time Tanna Parrish hit a layup with 2: 30 left in the period, Lee was up by 10 points at 39-29 and the win was in the bag.

Lee hit only 27 of 67 shots from the field, but they get a lot of opportunities to shoot with the twin W's underneath. Lee also got some help from Parrish with 11 big points. And pintsized Judy Taylor got three insurance layups in the fourth quarter to end the

Tyler's only shortcoming: His love of chili

Unknown Sullivan leads at Phoenix

PHOENIX (AP) - Mike Sullivan, who won the biggest check of his career last Monday, fired a 6-under-par 65 Thursday and took the first round lead in the $300,000 Phoenix Open golf tour-

Sullivan, in the next-to-last group on the golf course, finished off his solid, no-bogey effort in the gathering gloom of late afternoon and held a one-stroke lead over a starry threesome of J.C. Snead, Jerry Pate and Andy Bean, tied at 66.

The group at 67 included Bruce Lietzke, Hubert Green and Dan Pohl. Defending champion Ben Crenshaw and U.S. Open king Hale Irwin matched par 71 over the 6,726 yard Phoenix Country Club course. Masters titleholder Fuzzy Zoeller shot a 73 in his first competitive round of the season and must improve Friday if he is to qualify for the final two Sullivan, 25 and starting his fourth year on the PGA Tour, tied for second in the rain-delayed Bob Hope Desert Classic that kicked off the 1980 season. He won $24,200, the best he's had - and it's all his.

"A three-year agreement with my sponsors ended at the start of the year and I came out on my own," said Sullivan, who has yet to take a tour title. "I was a little apprehensive, but it hasn't been Sullivan didn't even come close to making a bogey in the mild, partly cloudy weather.

He holed a couple of putts in the 10-15 foot range early in the round, ripped a couple of irons to within 5-feet of the flag and made the turn four under par.

He scored a two-putt birdie-4 on his 10th hole, dropped another birdie putt from about 10 feet and had a chance to pull well away when he reached his 16th hole, a par 5, in two. But he promptly 3-putted for par. Pate, a former champion here, holed a 15-foot putt for eagle-3 on his final hole. "It just made my day," Pate said. "I don't know what it is, but I always seem to play well here. I won it three years ago, was second the next year and then fourth last year.'

Snead also closed with a rush, making birdies on his last three. 'That always helps," he said. "I was kind of discouraged last week, but at the start of the year it just kind of takes some time for your nerves to settle down.

Lackluster showing still gives pair skate crown

ATLANTA (AP) - Less than their best was good enough for Tai Babilonia and Randy Gardner to win their fifth consecutive U.S. Figure Skating championship. But less than a golden performance tonight from favorite Linda Fratianne might jeopardize her Despite several errors on lifts and spins, the world champion California couple still skated with their usual strength, athleticism and beauty to clinch the national pairs title and the top slot on the U.S. Olympic team.

Fratianne's mistakes might be more costly. She fell twice during her short program Thursday night something she hasn't done in competition since 1973.

The pert 19-year-old, who has won the ladies national the last three managed to maintain her lead after Thursday's segment, worth 20 percent, with 7 ordinals and 70.24 points.

But her two falls, combined with a better short performance by Lisa-Marie Allen, brought Allen up from third place to a threatening second, with her best event, the free-skate, set

"I'm really mad at myself," Fratianne said about her falls, which she called "dumb mistakes" and said possibly stemmed from the intense pressure of the Olympic year.

"But usually when I get mad at myself I go out and skate better," she added, looking toward tonight's four minute free-skate

Joining Babilonia and Gardner in Lake Placid will be the brother-sister pair of Caitlin and Peter Carruthers of Burlington, Mass., who skated their best-ever five minute program to place second.

A crowd of 14,280 at the Omni witnessed the dramatic rise of the Carruthers, the teen-agers who finished in seventh place last year.

Knees buckling, Forrest Fezler grimaces as his birdie attempt lips the cup on the 12th hole in Thursday's opening round of the Phoenix Open. He finished with a 70, five strokes behind firstround leader Mike Sullivan. (AP Laserphoto)

"I'm going in there with an open mind. I hope with my presence they (the Rockets) will continue to play well," said Paultz, who had been averaging 10 points and seven rebounds per game with San Antonio.

Flyers end streak, then try another

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Flyers' record 35-game unbeaten streak ended recently but now they're going after another National Hockey League mark.

The Flyers trimmed the Chicago Black Hawks 5-1 Thursday night, stretching their home undefeated string to 24 games, 10 short of the record (28-0-6) set by the Montreal Canadiens from Nov. 1, 1976-April 3, 1977.

'The Flyers are better than I ever remember them," said Chicago center Tom Lysiak. "They never let us out of our own end."

ELSEWHERE, the Boston Bruins trounced the Edmonton Oilers 7-1, the New York Islanders outlasted the Toronto Maple Leafs 9-6, the Atlanta Flames defeated the Colorado Rockies 4-1 and the Hartford Whalers whipped the Pittsburgh Penguins 7-1. Paul Holmgren scored two goals for the Flyers, who have lost only once in the friendly confines of the Spectrum since March 11, 1979, although the Black Hawks had won two of their last three games in Philadelphia.

Holmgren opened the scoring at 12: 30 of the first period, blasting a slap shot from the right faceoff circle past goalie Mike Veisor. Bob Dailey made it 2-0 just 2:06 later, scoring Philadelphia's 11th short-handed goal of the season, a league high, with Holmgren in the penalty

"We were well aware of their record against us," said Flyers Coach Pat Quinn. "We didn't want to let them get ahead. I think the key to the game is that we were able to trap their forechecking game."

GRANT MULVEY scored for Chicago early in the second period but Holmgren netted his second goal a few minutes later. Dennis Ververgaert and Reggie Leach, with his 30th goal, finished the scoring while goalie Pete Peeters extended his undefeated string this season to 21 games.

"We knew we would have to get on them early," Holmgren said. "Whenever they score first, we are in a lot of trouble. We straightened them out early tonight.' 'If I were to pinpoint the best things to come out of this game," said Flyers forward Bill Barber, "it would be the third period (when Philadelphia outshot the Black Hawks (19-8). We took care of our own end. There is a tendency in games like this where you want to go out and score goals. That's not the sign of a good hockey team."

But that was the sign of the Islanders, who roared to an 8-2 lead over Toronto after two periods as Bob Nystrom, Billy Harris and Mike Bossy scored two goals apiece but were outshot 20-8 and outscored 4-1 in the final stanza. Nevertheless, the Islanders posted their first three-game winning streak of the season.

"The third period was horrendous," Nystrom said. "We were going for goals and not trying to help Chico (goalie Glenn Resch) get his goals-against average down. You're supposed to have a killer instinct, but that works at both ends of the ice and we only had it in the offensive end."

TORONTO Coach Floyd Smith thought the Maple Leafs 'worked hard, even though nothing went right. We didn't play well, but another 10 minutes and we would have tied

Not so, said Arbour. "If the game had lasted another five minutes it would have been tied.'

Bruins 7, Ollers 1 Stan Jonathan tallied twice as Boston scored all seven goals in the second period after being held to just three shots in the first stanza. Move grows for boycott, but athletes still train

While political pressure mounts for the United States to boycott Cympic Games in Moscow this summer, two groups of rican athletes are preparing to depart for the Soviet Union in the next few days despite a request from the State Department to cancel the trips.

According to a spokesman for the Amateur Athletic Union, a U.S. wrestling team will leave for Russia on Saturday and a group of boxers will depart next Tuesday unless officially barred by the State Department.

Pete Cava, director of the AAU's press information department, told The Associated Press that his organization is going ahead with plans to send the two squads "as long as it goes no farther than a request (by the State Department) not to go. It's just wait and see," he said.

Meanwhile, the movement to boycott the Summer Games, scheduled for Moscow from July 19-Aug.3, gained momentum as the Carter Administration considered setting up a rival set of games and the 32 members of the Muhammad Ali Amateur Sports Club voted not to participate in any event "where Russian athletes are involved."

AT THE SAME TIME, Don Hull, the AAU's executive director of boxing, said the State Department had raised the possibility that visas for Soviet track athletes due in the United States next Tuesday would not be granted.

"That's the same day our boxers will go to Russia," Hull said. "The Soviets already have issued visas to our men, so there is no problem from our end.

However, a U.S. official in Washington, who asked not to be identified, indicated that the State Department would make further attempts to get the AAU to change its mind. He said, however, that the administration probably would not go so far as to lift the passports of the American athletes.

There were more suggestions that the Olympics be moved out of Moscow or be canceled in retaliation for the Soviets' invasion of Afghanistan. But Lord Killanin of Ireland, president of the International Olympic Committee, said, "The Olympics cannot be moved and they cannot be canceled."

THEY CAN, HOWEVER, be boycotted. Saudi Ar .oia has announced its intention to do just that and has asked other Moslem nations to join it.

"Right now, all systems are go ... from now to the Olympics, including the Games," Cava said. "We really can't plan otherwise. There isn't any choice. We're in sports, not politics, strange as that may seem to some people in this day and age. "It's a sad day for everyone when you open the sports pages and you see the spillover from what's on the front page. Sports used to be a haven from all that." The upcoming boxing and wrestling matches are not part of the Olympics, but the AAU's decision to send the two squads might be interpreted by amateur sports organizations as a sign of resistance to a boycott. Cava said the only official AAU position is that the teams will compete next week. "Anything now is speculation," he said. "No telling what the Soviet reaction would be. Who knows? The feeling was that the Soviets would do everything to make the (Olympic) Games a success. That's really why this (invasion of Afghanistan) is so Another AAU spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said the AAU has commitments and contracts with the Soviet organizers and warned that any boycott "could have a long-range impact on amateur sports." Ollan Cassell, the AAU's executive director, said he had "no

People want to Czech-out Martina

She's on top of women's tennis

By MARK HEISLER The Los Angeles Times

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. - The No. 1 woman tennis player in the world flew into Southern California a day after mopping up the last vestiges of opposition in Washington, and awoke at 7:30 the next morning to start a day of being interviewed. At 8:30 Wednesday, there was an appointment with a reporter. At 10:30, a news conference to promote the Avon tournament here next month. In the afternoon, another press conference in San Francisco. The best woman tennis player in the world is no longer Chris Evert

Lloyd and not yet Tracy Austin, and if the reigning No. 1 has her way, it isn't going to be Tracy Austin for some time. The current No. 1 is Martina Navratilova, 23, two-time Wimbledon champion and one-time irreverent little butterball out of Prague, Czechoslovakia. In Washington, she blew away her latest challenger, Austin, 6-2, 6-1. Austin said she'd never seen Navratilova play as well. Actally, when Navratilova thought it over at breakfast, she decided she'd never seen herself play as well, either.

As she ate, she was shown the latest media guide for the Avon tour, complete with her picture on the front. Lloyd's was there a year ago. 'Funky looking picture," Navratilova said with a little smile.

Navratilova defected to the U.S. in 1975, at 19, and her first season of tennis was something of a struggle. She now thinks that it was unfair, that she was characterized as a chunky bumpkin just in from Prague, who was consumed by American junk food, designer everything and Beverly Hills in general and who won a lot of matches on sheer strength but hadn't lived up to her potential because she choked in important matches.

Aside from that, she was still considered an up-and-coming prospect. Now, having come all the way and having won just under $2 million in her career, Navratilova notes she was already fairly plump the day her plane landed in New York; she already liked jewelry, and long before she heard there was a Del Taco, she was already into Czech junk food. She has since said she considers herself a Czech at heart and hadn't wanted to leave. She didn't go because the Communists were making it tough on a bourgeois capitalist - she was then being allowed to retain 80 percent of her earnings, of which she then paid 30 percent in taxes. She wishes she had as good a deal today. She said she was also being hassled (her word) by the Czech tennis federation, which told her, she said, where she could play, what she was supposed to do (set a good example for Czech youth) who she was supposed to mixed with offcourt (Czech tennis players and coaches), who she wasn't supposed to mix with (everyone else), and what she was supposed to say and wasn't supposed to say to western writers (Gee, it's nice here in the West). What Navratilova told western writers, of course, was, in essence, Gee it's nice in the West.

She left and settled first in Beverly Hills. In her first American campaign she sprained a wrist, sprained an ankle, missed her family, lost more matches than she was used to losing and began to wonder if she'd done the right thing. Since then, she has healed every way there was to heal. Her mother became the firt member of the family to see her play in person last summer at Wimbledon.

"In Czechoslovakia they told me they didn't care if I was No. 20 or No. 1, they just wanted me to behave myself," Navratilova said. "I always wanted to be the best one.

"The drive is still the same. I wanted to be the best and I want to be recognized as the best.

"I always knew I was a better athlete than most of them, that there was more talent, potential in my game. I thought it might take longer to develop.

"They used to say I had a 'thing' against Tracy, a 'thing' against Chris. I never had a 'thing.' They were just better. I never did choke.' Navratilova now lives in Dallas and has become a maniac Dallas Cowboys fan. She is president of the Women's Tournament Association, and has formed a company to handle her business dealings. She named it

Brat Inc She bought her family a house within walking distance of hers and they are now all attending classes in English. They spent Christmas together in Dallas and had the traditional Czech meal of fish and potato Navratilova then flew off to Washington and went into the final against Austin, the U.S. Open champion, then trailing Navratilova only 6-5 in their matches in 1979. If Austin could win this match, the No. 1 ranking, which was disrupted the year before, would still be in dispute.

What's the real story on Clyde the Glide's rides?

By DAVE KINDRED The Washington Post

If you read the sports pages, you learn a lot about life in these times. College kids today drive nice cars. Clyde Austin, a basketball player at North Carolina State, certainly does. He owns a 1980 Cadillac Seville and

A two-car star.

Clyde the Glide, as he is called by the aficionados in Raleigh, is a wonderful basketball player capable of magic on the court.

But even Clyde the Glide can't drive two cars at once.

So he uses the Seville.

And a friend drives the MG. It wasn't long ago that a college kid begged mom and dad for $400 to buy a junker that started only in months without an "r."

Clyde the Glide's cars are worth about $20,000.

Both are registered in his name, as the owner, but Austin says he can't afford to pay for them. His athletic scholarship pays his room, board and tuition. That's all. He has no job.

So his fiancee is making the payments on the Seville, while another friend is paying off the MG, he said. What a warm and sweet person Clyde's fiancee must be.

She is a bank clerk in Raleigh. You would think a bank clerk in Raleigh would have a hard time making payments on a 1980 Cadillac Seville. Over a three-year period, those payments might be near $500 a month.

That doesn't leave Clyde's fiancee much money.

By the time Uncle Sam takes his share of a bank clerk's salary bankers say a clerk gets about $650 a month - well, Clyde's fiancee likely takes home just enough to make the Seville payment.

What a warm and sweet person she must be, to pass up movies that way, to never go to the beauty shop, to never throw away the car money on food and clothes.

Newspapermen in Raleigh must had bought the Trans-Am. never have met anyone as warm and sweet as Clyde Austin's fiancee. Those newspapermen think Clyde is giving his girlfriend too much credit. They think that someone else is paying for those cars. That would be against NCAA rules, of course, and heaven knows nobody She always wanted her grandson to Southern Methodist recruited a great running back.

Instead of running to the campus, he drove up in a brand new Trans-Am.

grandson a college education. Grandma, a warm and sweet person, then bought her grandson the Trans-Am. The pennies were burning a hole in her purse. That's what the running back told the NCAA.

And the running back is now running for SMU, which means the NCAA could find no evidence that grandma was telling a big one.

A story in the paper the other day said, "In 1895, there were two cars in the state of Ohio. They collided." What the story didn't say was that one car was driven by the Ohio State quarterback.

Not really. At least, I don't know that for sure. It wouldn't be much of a surprise, though, because of all the illegal stuff that goes on, a lot of it goes on with four wheels. The monster defensive end of the late 1960s, Bubba Smith, drove around the Michigan State campus in a new Buick Riviera. In case anyone didn't know whose wheels those were, BUBBA was painted on each door. I once wrote a bleeding heart story about a college basketball player whose life had fallen apart. Kicked off the team, he cracked his dodo wife over the head with a chair. I painted a melancholy scene of a life gone

"Am I to understand that you, a high-scoring All-America basketball player, spent four years of ol' State U without anyone ever making your car payments or giving you a discount at the best clothes store in town or taking you and your girl friend to dinner?"

My informant smiled and said let's talk baseball.

The Atlantic Coast Conference commissioner, Robert C. James, said his office will investigate how a player at one of its league schools can afford $20,000 worth of cars.

The investigation will begin, the response to a request by N.C. State Coach Norm Sloan, "just as soon as we can get it underway," James

USC's Budde gets Lombardi Award

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - Southern California romped to a Rose Bowl victory over Ohio State behind the running of Heisman Trophy winner Charles

White and now it can be told--a Lombardi Award winner led him. Trojan offensive guard Brad Budde, who threw key blocks for White last season, earned his own personal reward Thursday night as the winner of the 10th annual Vince Lombardi Award as the nation's outstanding collegiate

And in a classic case of role reversal, Budde gave all the praise to his running back. Running backs normally laud their offensive linemen for giving them running room.

'It may have looked like a good block cleared the way for Charles but that wasn't the case," the 6-5, 253-pound senior said. "A lot of times it was all Charles White. I wouldn't be here tonight if it weren't for Charles BUDDE, THE FIRST four-year starter in the history of Southern Cal, was the last to arrive for Thursday night's $125 per plate ceremony in honor of the former Green Bay and Washington coach who died of cancer in 1970. But he was the first to stand when Houston Mayor Jim McConn announced the winner.

'I never knew the man (Lombardi) but I had great respect for him," Budde said. "The real award goes to the people who are here tonight. They know where it's at.

Dinner officials said 830 tickets were sold for the dinner and final proceeds, which go to the American Cancer Society, would push the total 10-year contribution from the dinner over $500,000.

Budde, son of former Kansas City all-pro guard Ed Budde, won the honor over three other finalists, North Carolina State's Jim Ritcher, earlier named winner of the Outland Trophy; Pittsburgh defensive end Hugh Green and University of Texas defensive tackle Steve McMichael.

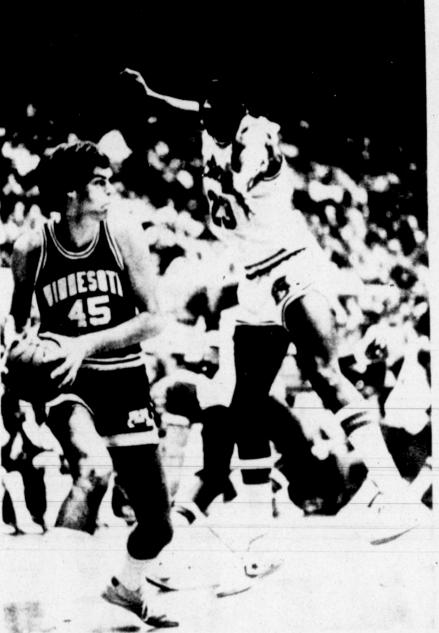

BUDDE WAS introduced by USC offensive line coach Hudson Houch, who predicted a bright future for his prize pupil in the pros.

"He wasn't so talented that he could just walk in and take a starting job at Houch said "We have some very talented athletes at USC. But from the start, I think he walked in and said it would be nice to have that starting job and he worked for it. 'His attributes of hard work, dedication-those are the values that carried him through. Brad never missed a workout and he never missed a game. I'm glad we didn't have a rule that said freshmen couldn't play. I think he'll take the same approach when he gets into the pros.

Budde was only the fourth Lombardi winner who had not earlier won the Outland Trophy as the nation's outstanding interior lineman. He was only the second offensive lineman to earn the Lombardi award. The other was Ohio State's John Hicks in 1974. Last year's winner was Penn State's Bruce Clark.

Rebuilder Rogers accepts Arizona State job

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) - Darryl Rogers, Michigan State football coach, huddled several hours with Arizona State officials Thursday, and emerged from those meetings as ASU's new football coach.

Thomas' presence felt as Hoosiers reject Hawkeyes

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

For some time, the Big Ten Conference was hardly a league of gentlemen, known more for rough and ready big guys than anything else. Guards went about their business largely unnoticed.

Recently, however, the image changed drastically with such lightfingered backcourt players last year as Magic Johnson at Michigan State, Kelvin Ransey at Ohio State, Ronnie Lester at Iowa ... and this year's star-spangled addition of Isiah Thomas at Indiana.

"Thomas," says Iowa Coach Lute Olson, "has unbelievable leadership about him. He's a born leader."

OLSON MADE HIS superlative assessment after getting to see the Hoosiers' brilliant freshman first-hand Thursday night, during an 81-69 loss

The game between the 13th-ranked Hawkeyes and 19th-ranked Hoosiers was one of a handful of important Big Ten games Thursday night. In others, second-ranked Ohio State defeated Minnesota 75-70 in overtime and Purdue turned back Northwestern 68-63.

ELSEWHERE, NO.4 Oregon State beat Washington State 65-63; No.6 Kentucky whipped Florida 76-63 and No.20 Tennesee turned back Mississippi 70-61.

Along with Thomas, Indiana got strong performances from Ray Tolbert and Butch Carter. Tolbert scored 18 points and Carter, 17. The Hoosiers had a 38-29 halftime lead and the Hawkeyes never came closer than nine points in the second half. Lester did not play for Iowa because of an Ransey and Herb Williams scored all 11 of Ohio State's points in overtime to key the Buckeye victory. Williams scored 26 points overall and Ransey, scoring in double figures for the 76th straight game, had 13. "I didn't like being behind," said

Williams, whose Buckeyes overcame a 12-point deficit in the second half. "It gives you butterflies. We must start getting a lead early and putting both halves together.'

DRAKE MORRIS scored a careerhigh 29 points and Joe Barry Carroll claimed Purdue's career rebounding record as the Boilermakers defeated Northwestern.

Carroll, who had his 55th straight game in double figures, scored 19 points and pulled down 13 rebounds. His last rebound gave him a career mark of 959 - one more than Terry Dischinger's old record.

Ray Blume led five players in double figures with 13 points as Oregon State beat Washington State. The Beavers blew most of an 18-point lead before recovering in time to win their 16th game in 17 this year. "I have nothing good to say," said an obviously displeased Oregon State Coach Ralph Miller. "I don't think we got what we deserved. We played a walking defense and didn't play with FRED COWAN scored 16 points to lead Kentucky over Florida, getting the Wildcats back on the right track in the Southeastern Conference. Joe Hall's highly-touted team had lost two conference games already "I thought we played awfully well," said Hall after the game on Florida's tough home court called "Alligator Alley." "In the early part of the second half, I felt we played better than we have in a long time.' Kentucky opened a 17-point lead late in the first half, and smashed out a hefty 60-39 advantage with 11 minutes to go.

Reggie Johnson led a 15-0 surge midway through the second half to trigger Tennessee past Mississippi State. Johnson finished with 16 points.

NCAA officials enact measures for more safety

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) - New tiebreaker rules adopted this week by the National College Athletic Association for the post-1980 football season may find little support among officials of post season bowl games, the head of the group's rules committee The new rules for Division 1-A also are expected to raise scheduling problems for television networks providing live coverage of the games, committee chairman Hal Lahar said Wednesday.

"It does raise an interesting question about how the broadcasting companies will handle it if they have to go to another game," Lamar said. And whether or not individual bowls decide to use the new system "will be an interesting question," he

tion would decide whether to use it. If two teams are tied at the end of regulation play, the official will select one side of the field and place the ball on the 15-yard line. The team that wins the coin toss will decide whether to play offense or defense. Each team will be given four plays in which to score. Play will go back and forth until one team finally emerges as the winner at the end of a set. A team can't score defensively under the new rules. An interception or fumble recovery simply ends the offensive series. "It really is very easy for a team to score," said

David Nelson, Rules Committee secretary. "Actually, if a team doesn't score it is in trouble. The committee, which concluded its four day conference in Biloxi Wednesday, also attacked the problem of player injury. The committee ruled out the "chop block." Under the new rules, a lineman may not block an opponent below the knee when the opponent is in contact with

An expansion of the face mask rule prevents the grabbing of an opponent's helmet.

An adjustment in the blocking rules makes the use of clenched hands legal in blocking.

"We taught them everything they know," a high-ranking Treasury offi-cial joked recently. "They learned it all from the Texas Railroad Commission," the agency that used price-setting tactics when Texas dominated the oil market.

Of greater concern than the cost of oil is its availability - at any price. Events in Iran and Afghanistan and, to a lesser extent, in Saudi Arabia have raised serious doubts about the security of Middle Eastern oil fields.

Thus, it is a fact of life that the economic future of 222-million Americans is tied to events in the Persian Gulf. The names of Ayatollah Khomeini, Iran's new ruler, or Sheik Ahmad Zaki Yamani, the Saudi oil minister, are better known in many American households than those of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Great Britain or President Valery and they have a right to charge what U.S. reserves are about 28 billion

Saudi Arabia is the world's largest oil exporter at 9.5 million barrels a OPEC officials say price increases day. Of this, the United States buys 1.2 million barrels, or 20 percent of its daily imports.

It doesn't matter so much whether it's the United States or some other country, such as Japan, which buys the oil of a specific country. The important thing is that there be sufficient oil available to meet total world demand and at a price that won't bankrupt those who must have it.

Oil trade created a severe economic shock for the industrial world in 1973 when OPEC raised prices by 300 percent. At virtually the same time, Arab producers clamped an embargo on exports to the United States because of U.S. support for Israel in its 1973 war with Egypt.

The one-two "price and supply" punch pushed the U.S. economy into its worst economic downturn since the Depression, and the economy still hasn't fully recovered; another recession is thought imminent.

The reason OPEC had such an impact on the American economy was that the United States, once self-sufficient in oil, had become dangerously dependent. American consumers and industry, accustomed to cheap energy and plenty of it, was demanding 1973. more at a time the nation was producing less.

The Arab actions should have come as no surprise. In a 1973 issue of Foreign Affairs magazine, James E. Akins, then the U.S. ambassador to Saudi Arabia, wrote: "In 1972 Arabs in responsible or influential positions made no less than 15 different threats to use oil as a weapon against their 'enemies.' Almost all of them singled out the United States as the prime enemy. The OPEC countries "for the first time, began to recognize and discuss openly the fact for that their reserves were exhaustible and should be conserved," he wrote, addding that in the long run, "the only satisfactory position for the United States ... must be the development of alternative energy sources." But alternative sources have not been developed. The United States in 1979 was importing 44 percent of its oil needs, or about 8 million barrels of oil a day, at a cost of more than $60 billion. The cost is expected to rise to $80 billion in 1980.

On the supply side, the turmoil in Iran last year provided clear evidence of how instability in the region can threaten U.S. supplies. The loss of 2 million barrels a day of Iranian production prompted long gaslines in some parts of the United States. And only after Saudi Arabia agreed to step up production did the shortage abate.

But now the Saudis are near what is believed to be their maximum sustainable output, and there is no one else that the United States could count on to pick up the slack if there is another major cutback in production somewhere else.

The recent attack in Mecca by several hundred armed dissidents on the Moslem world's major shrine showed that the Saudis also face internal problems. American officials shudder at the implications for the American economy if Iranian-type turmoil should strike Saudi Arabia.

While the industrial world made some progress in 1979 in reducing oil consumption, new competition for oil is expected later in this decade from The average price for oil - $23 a the Soviet Union. Though Russia is

American Economic Machine imperiled by upheavals now self-sufficient, intelligence reports say it could need to import oil for its European satellites as early as Against this background, the Soviet move into Afghanistan, bordering Iran, raises suspicions about Russia's longer-term intentions. While the rest of the world adapts to high oil prices and uncertain supplies, the wealth accumulates in the Per-

Earnings exceeded expenditures for all OPEC countries last year by an estimated $45 billion, with most of the surplus concentrated in the Persian Gulf nations, especially in Kuwait and Saudi Arabia. The surplus is expected to increase to $69 billion in 1981.

U.S. officials say candidly that a major problem for the 1980s will be to find sound investments for oil surpluses, because without a secure place to put their money, OPEC nations may be reluctant to produce oil for earnings they don't need. Both the Saudis and Kuwaitis already have made known their desire to cut production, and in the meantime, oil-rich nations are thought to be buying gold and sending its price to the roof.

NEXT: Part V - "U.S. Scrambles for Influence"

- the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries - may be as well known as the United Nations.

Aside from oil, there is little the United States would need from the nations of Saudi Arabia, Iran, Iraq, Kuwait or the United Arab Emirates. Because it is their only resource, these countries guard it jealously.

"All they have is land, oil and people, and there aren't many people," Treasury Secretary Miller said after his recent trip.

A visitor can fly for hours over the vast desert of the the Arabian peninsula and see nothing but sand and the sporadic flaming of natural gas fires sending black smoke into a cloudless blue sky - evidence of occasional oil installations. There are no Texas-style drilling towers or grasshopper pumps on the desert. Oilmen joke that the oil is so close to the surface that if you stub your toe into the sand it will come bubbling to the surface. Saudi Arabia is the most important of the Persian Gulf nations for the United States because it has the most oil, proven reserves of 165 billion barrels and probably much more.

The Soviet Union is next, with proven reserves of about 70 billion barrels, followed by Kuwait, 66.2 billion; Iran, 59 billion; Iraq, 32.1 billion, and the United Arab Emirates, 31.3 billion.

TAX TIPS

Computing own tax return can be easy

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of tax tip articles provided by the Permian Basin Chapter of the Texas Society of Certified Public Ac-

Computing your own income tax return can be easy. And, if you're eligible, doing the work yourself can also mean an early refund from Uncle

You can learn to quickly and accurately complete your tax return by attending the Taxpayer Education course offered Feb. 5 and 7 from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Allison Fine Arts Building at Midland College and at Wilkerson Hall, Room 108, Odessa College.

Taxpayer Education is a public service program jointly-sponsored by the Permian Basin Chapter of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants and the Internal Revenue Service. Certified public accountants volunteer their time to assist taxpayers in filling out the revised 1040 and 1040A tax forms.

In addition to receiving instruction, participants will have an opportunity to ask questions reagarding specific circumstances. The two-night course is available to the public at a charge of $1 per person to cover administrative costs. Each registrant will also recieve the IRS publication, "Your Federal Income Tax," and a 200-page booklet which details many tax deductions, forms and filing requirements. If you've already gathered your financial records for reporting purposes, you've got the job half done. And, if you're not itemizing deductions, you've really got a head start. So, why not join millions of individuals who will compute their own tax the Taxpayer Education program is that you'll promptly receive any refunds due you. According to the IRS, returns mailed early are processed in four to five weeks. Those mailed in April are not processed for 10 weeks

To register for the program, send your name, address and location preference to Taxpayer Education, P.O. Box 870, Midland 79702. The registration fee is $1 per person or $1.50 per couple. The mailing deadline is Feb. 1, 1980. You may also pick up registration forms at the Administration Building, Room 156, Midland Col-

Price surge has golden touch on U.S. reserves

By The Associated Press

The spectacular price surges on the gold market have had a golden touch on United States government reserves locked away at Fort

There are 147.3 million 'fine ounces of gold" at Fort Knox, and officially $42.2222 a troy ounce. But current market prices are nearly 2000 percent higher, making the Fort Knox bullion actually worth billions. At last Tuesday's closing price in New York of $602.50, the gold was worth $88,748,250,000. By Thursday, when gold closed in New York at $792 an ounce, its worth rose to $116,661,-

600,000. That closing price was recorded at Republic National Bank in New York. William Humbert, chief of internal audits at the U.S. Bureau of the Mint in Washington, D.C. - and the man who releases information about the gold at Fort Knox said "there has been no effort made to adjust it (the value) to market prices.

Bob Mudwilder of Merrill Lynch in Louisville said the $42.2222 valuation has not been changed since trading in gold was barred years ago. President Nixon made it possible for U.S. citizens to purchase gold in 1975.

When congressmen and reporters were allowed to tour the gold depository at Fort Knox in 1974, it was estimated that there were 400,000 gold bricks.

"We don't measure the gold in bricks. We just go by the number of fine troy ounces," Humbert said. "Maybe since then, it is valued at only there have been insignificant amounts removed for assay verification, but that's all that's been taken out of there."

He said the United States also stores gold at the Mint in Denver, the United States Assay Office in New York, and a small amount in San Francisco and at the Federal Reserve Bank in New York. The U.S. government has retreated to the sidelines during the current price spiral. The price of gold has more than doubled since the last Treasury Department gold auction on Nov. 1, when gold sold for $372 an ounce.

The United States has the world's largest official government reserves of gold, with holdings of 262 million ounces.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa., scored in "the deficient range of intelligence" on a recent mental test, a psychologist says. But federal prosecutors have suggested that the ailing congressman's mind may have been dulled by drugs when he was tested.

The prosecutors also questioned the accuracy of Dr. Mary Reidy's psychological evaluation when she testified Thursday, the third day of Flood's Reidy, a clinical psychologist who tested Flood twice in the last two years, said her results showed the 76-year-old lawmaker would not be able to testify accurately at a trial, nor could he help select a jury.

"He just does not have the type of recall that is exact enough to testify at a trial," said Dr. Reidy, who also observed Flood when he took the witness stand earlier in the week

Flood's personal physician has admitted under cross-examination that at least one drug the congressman was taking two months ago could cause The drug in question was cimetidine, a pain-killing barbiturate that may cause central nervous system disorders and head pain. But Small said Flood's current mental state is not affected by drugs. He said that for the last two weeks he has been giving Flood placebos, or sugar pills, instead of barbiturates that could cloud Flood's mind. Flood, who has resigned his House seat effective Jan. 31, is charged with taking more than $50,000 in bribes as chairman of a House appropriations

Northern Tier pipeline three years away

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter's decision to back a $1.23 billion all-American oil pipeline from Port Angeles, Wash., to the upper Middle West won't bear fruit for at least three years.

If the pipeline project gets needed private financing and government clearances, however, crude oil from Alaska, California and other western points could begin flowing to refineries in the Plains States and upper Midwest by 1983.

Carter gave Northern Tier Pipeline Co., a private consortium, one year to arrange financing for the two-year construction project that would string 1,491 miles of pipe from Port Angeles to Clearbrook, Minn.

If Northern Tier is unable to obtain financing within 12 months, a White House announcement said, Carter will give his support to a $574 million alternative proposed by Trans Mountain Oil Pipeline Corp.

Trans Mountain would build a line from Low Point, Wash., to Edmonton. Alberta, where it would link up with existing pipelines to the U.S. Mid-

Carter's decision Thursday followed recommendations by Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus, who told reporters the move has "met with a great deal of acceptance" in all the states along the Canadian border from Washington to Ayked if Northern Tier would have difficulty raising the needed money, Andrus replied: "I would not even speculate on that. It would be up to the company and its bankers.

Rejected were two rival pipeline plans: one for an overland route across Canada from Alaska, which was strongly favored by the Canadian government, and a second for a pipeline from a Canadian port to Edmon-

The importance of the pipeline project to Midwestern states has been underscored by Interior Department estimates that refineries in Montana. North Dakota and Minnesota will begin to run out of crude supplies by 1985 unless the line is built.

Carter was said to favor the Northern Tier route because: -It would be situated entirely within the United States, providing Americans with more than 5,500 pipeline jobs and expanding local tax -Since pipeline operations would be wholly under U.S. control, there would be no national security problems.

-No Canadian permits would be needed, which would eliminate a po--The Northern Tier line would carry more oil than its proposed rivals and, in addition, could take supplies from California and from the Williston Basin and Overthrust Belt in the Rockies as well as from Alaska. "Notwithstanding avproval by the president," the announcement said, Northern Tier must comply with the state and local laws and procedures of the jurisdictions in which the pipeline is located." The Northern Tier route would have an initial capacity of 709,000 barrels a day, which could be expanded to 933,000 barrels.

The Trans Mountain line would involve 721 miles of new pipe carrying 500,000 barrels a day, expandable to 630,000 barrels.

Technically, Carter declared the Northern Tier project to be in the national interest, making it eligible for accelerated regulatory handling.

Conferees may junk work on 'windfall profit' legislation

By JIM LUTHER

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate and House conferees are debating whether to junk several months of work and start from scratch on a new, simpler 'windfall" tax on the oil industry.

The aim and price tag of the new tax would be the same: to take from the industry about $227 billion of the extra $1 trillion consumers will pay for fuel over the 1980s as a result of President Carter's decision to phase out controls on the price of U.S. crude

But instead of a separate tax rate for nine or more different types of oil, the new proposal would have only one perhaps two — tax rates.

The new plan is being developed by Reps. James Jones, D-Okla., and Henson Moore, R-La., who still are awaiting computer estimates on just how it would work. The broad outline of the idea was greeted with enthusiasm Thursday by the Senate-House panel that is considering the windfall

Because the windfall bills passed by the House and the Senate are so complex, Moore said, the oil industry will there is more than one rate, Lubick have to pay lawyers and accountants added, "we'll be right back where we handsomely to figure just how much tax is owed. "Those dollars would be better spent on finding oil," Moore said. The Carter administration's initial reaction to the proposal was unenthu-

Donald Lubick, assistant treasury secretary, noted that if there were only one rate of tax on oil price increases - whether from new fields or old — the industry would be denied the incentive it says is necessary to discover more oil in the future. But if

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House conferees, questioned whether the conference had authority to consider such a shift away from the windfall tax. Rep. James Corman, D-Calif., suggested the plan might bring a new bonanza to the oil industry as foreign oil producers continue sharply raising the price of their oil.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., head of the Senate delegates, seemed receptive to the Jones-Moore proposal, as did Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., who could be the "swing" vote on whatever tax is finally approved. Moore and Jones estimated that to pick up the same $227 billion in revenue over the next 11 years, their tax would have to be at a rate of around 20 percent. That is, it would take 20 cents out of each dollar of crude-oil price increases above current levels.

Staff aides also were working on another version, which would have a tax rate of 10 percent on oil to be found in the future but perhaps 30 percent on other production. Before the Jones-Moore idea was discussed, the conferees made three tentative and relatively minor decisions on the windfall tax:

-Old oil (discovered before 1973) and new oil (found between 1973 and 1978) would be taxed at a rate between 65 and 70 percent. The Senate had voted a 75 percent rate and the House opted for 60 percent. -The tax on new oil would be computed on price increases above $12.80 a barrel. The House had approved a $12.75 figure while the Senate settled on $13.

-A House-approved provision reducing the tax on new oil starting in 1986 would be eliminated.

In order to reach the $227 billion figure agreed to earlier, the conferees will have to boost the Senate-passed tax by $50 billion.

Gold fever may be sweeping the world, but pious meditation goes on in the Bangkok temple of this golden Buddha, 5.5 tons of 18-carat - 75 percent pure - gold fashioned seven centuries ago. A revered religious image, the golden Buddha was encased in concrete until 1955, when the true nature of the statue was discovered. Though Thailand's deeply religious Buddhists wouldn't think of selling the image, the gold alone would be worth more than $100 million at Friday's price of more than $800 an ounce. (AP Laserphoto)

Witches' trial delayed

PLAINVIEW, Texas (AP) - The absence of a juror has caused an unexpected delay in the Loy Dean Stone murder trial.

After nine days and 64 interviews, attorneys finally had selected a panel of 32 - plus an additional prpospective juror as insurance against unforeseen crisis.

But Thursday afternoon court employees notifying potential jurors to appear today discovered one of them was in Oklahoma and would not return until tonight.

State District Judge John T. Boyd, who had planned to add another "emergency" juror or two and then begin opening arguments today, was forced to postpone the start of testimony until Monday.

He said attorneys still would pick some additional panelists today. Stone and his wife Louise, both high

The Stones, both 49, said they never heard the shots and have pleaded innocent to the charge. Boyd granted a motion to separate Mrs. Stone's trial last week The slaying raised a furor in the town's Hispanic community that forced the trial to be moved to Plainview, 45 miles away. If convicted, Stone could serve five to 99 years, or life, in prison. Although Boyd had told the potential jurors to be available, he did not tell them to remain in town.

"I'm going to give him the benefit of the doubt," the judge said of the missing juror. "I don't think he's trying to run off and hide.

"For the juror to be excused both state and defense attorneys would have to agree to dismiss him," said Boyd. He said lawyers have not con-

"There's nobody more anxious to begin the trial than I am, and I think the lawyers on both sides would like to begin the trial at this point.'

He said consent of the state and defense is required to excuse jurors expect in illness and hardship cases. Each side will strike 10 names from the panel, leaving a jury of 12 and at least one alternate. Because of the sensitive nature of the case, attorneys questioned the prospective jurors closely, some for more than an hour. Their questions were designed to detect bias for or against witchcraft, Hispanics or law enforcement officers - whose testimony will comprise much of the evidence of the trial. Of the 33 panelists, 16 are men and LONDON (AP) - Gold opened in Europe above $800 an ounce for the first time in history today after spectacular new rises in New York and Hong Kong.

Trading opened in Zurich at $810 an ounce, and the price quickly moved up to $820.50, a $90 advance on Thursday's closing price.

The opening price in London was $815, and by midmorning the price had risen to $825, a record for Europe and $65 above Thursday's high.

In Hong Kong, meanwhile, the price soared to a world record of $832.97 an ounce, then settled back to close at

The Soviet military intervention in Afghanistan at the end of December added to the upward pressure.

One dealer in New York described trading there Thursday as "absolutely nuts." The price rose $100 an ounce, from $715 to $815, before closing at a record $802. Some dealers attributed the jump to rumors of a Soviet invasion of Iran.

The effect of the New York price was immediately apparent when trading opened today in Hong Kong, the Far East's chief gold market. The opening price was $798.62 an ounce, up $70.20 from Thursday's close. The price rose steadily until the last hour of trading, when profit-taking set in.

The U.S. dollar continued to hold firm, with only slight gains and losses, despite the gold boom. In past years, a rush into precious metals usually meant a lack of confidence in the dollar, the world's benchmark currency for international trade. But this time the panic is caused not by the state of the American economy but by the crises over Afghanistan and Iran and their effect on Soviet-American detente and international political stability.

Four of five don't understand First Amendment

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Nearly four of five Americans don't know what the First Amendment is all about, according to a special Gallup poll measuring public attitudes toward the press.

George Gallup Jr. told 285 delegates to a two-day First Amendment Congress here Thursday that 76 percent of a national sample of 1,523 adults drew a blank when asked to define the amendment. It guarantees freedoms of religion, speech and assembly; the right to petition the government for a redress of grievances and a free press.

The congress, sponsored by 12 national news organizations, was held at the First Bank of the United States, near Independence Hall, where Congress adopted the 10 amendments known as the Bill of Rights 189 years ago.

Gallup said 37 percent of those interviewed feel present curbs on the press are not strict enough, while 17 percent felt they are too strict. Thirty-two percent felt they are about right and 14 percent had no ordinion.

In a similar study in 1958, 58 percent disapproved tighter reins on the press, Gallup said.

A further erosion of the public's faith in the press is indicated by a 23 percent drop in those who believe their newspapers are accurate, compared to the 1958 study, Gallup said. A third of those polled in December felt their newspapers were inaccurate, Gallup

But to dom," Barron said. bark at everything suspicious," Rather said. "And no, we're not always right."

Rather charged that since the early '70s, a pattern of court decisions has narrowed journalits' watchdog role. On the heels of Watergate, the attack on press freedoms is "one of the more astounding historical ironies," he said.

"This is not to say the Supreme Court is the root of Lewis, twice winner of the Pulitzer Prize, in his our problems." Rather said, pointing to rulings-concluding remarks.

SPECIAL SALE FOR A SPECIAL REASON. YOU!

A lot of businesses always seem to be having sales. But are they really sales? Are you, as a customer, getting quality at a good price...from people who want to serve you? Well, we're having a sale and it's a special one. We're having a sale for a totally different reason...YOU! Every car and truck will be specially priced: factory-fresh 1980's, brandnew 1979 models, all our used cars-everything! It's our way of saying "thanks" to you, our valued customers, for your continued trust and patronage. Our "Special Sale For a Special Reason...You!"

DO YOU STILL NOT UNDERSTAND THE MIDLAND HOUSING AUTHORITY BOND MONEY?

There is simple English that describes the requirements. If you and your spouse combined, made under $30,000 taxable dollars in 1978 and had a combined gross income of $17,000 or more in 1979, you should gulaify for the funds and still be able to build a home with the funds available to you through the program. If you still have questions call and if I don't have all the answers, I know someone who will on the high side. The ceiling on 1978 income remains the same. But the skies the limit on 1979 gross income. $75,000 is the maximum loan but could represent and percentage of construction price. You may qualify, Call
