Carter's tough speech draws quick support

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress release 50 American hostages held in appears ready to back President Carter's tough new doctrine aimed at containing the Soviet thrust toward the oil lifelines of the Middle East. But reaction to reviving peacetime draft registration is decidedly Carter used the annual State of the Union address to reverse much of the foreign and military policy established in the first three years of his administration. He drew support from many Republicans as well as from leaders of his own party.

But some long-time advocates of bolstering the nation's military defenses were openly skeptical about the president's determination to fully develop his new approach.

Many Republicans claimed Carter is exploiting the foreign policy challenge posed by the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan to quell criticism of what they said are the overall failures of his administration.

The president's speech Wednesday night before a joint session of Con gress was interrupted repeatedly by

The loudest and most sustained ovation came when Carter said neither he por the American people will support sending an Olympic team to Moscow while Soviet occupation troops remain in Afghanistan.

The president also confirmed that the Soviet action in Afghanistan has caused him to shift his strategy in the continuing effort to persuade Iran to Tehran since Nov. 4.

He said the United States now will attempt to persuade Iranian leaders "that the real danger to their nation lies to the north from Soviet troops in Afghanistan and that the unwarranted Iranian quarrel with us hampers their response to this far greater dan-

The sharpest divisions in initial reactions to the speech came over the president's proposal that the Selective Service System be revitalized and that peacetime draft registration be revived.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the step is essential and will properly lead to renewal of the draft itself.

Nunn, a member of the Stennis committee, said reviving registration will enhance national security, permit the nation to mobilize rapidly in case of emergency and "demonstrate a degree of will that has been lacking in this country since the Vietnam war." He said the all-volunteer Army is not working.

But the proposal drew much criticism, particularly from congressmen who opposed U.S. involvement in "Hysterical voices calling for a return to registration and the draft are further evidence of the bankrupt foreign policy of this administration. said Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore. "It threatens to hold hostage the freedom said Carter outlined "a clear contain- of millions of young men and provide ment doctrine and if it means what it a limitless manpower pool for any implies, it is the strongest statement that any president in recent years has boys to fight half a world away in still another foreign war."

Most Midlanders agree with Carter

By SUSAN TOTH Staff Writer

President Carter's firm stance on foreign policy Wednesday night struck a responsive note in most Midlanders who listened to the broadcast State of the Union address.

Most Midlanders contacted in a random telephone survey this morning agreed with the steps the president outlined and, if anything, wanted more action than the chief executive promised.

Echoing the attitude of many in the survey, Rita Buckley said she approved of the tone of the speech. "I'd like to believe him. I just hope he's going to do what he says.

"I think he could have been a little sterner.

The president's call for an American boycott of the Olympics also met with her approval. "I feel sorry for the children, but it's about time we realized we have to sacrifice something. We've got to start realizing it's going to be a pretty tough road," she

Ms. Buckley said she had watched the American image deteriorate abroad when she took high school students on summer European tours beginning in 1970.

"I saw our respect in Europe decline. People would walk across the street to laugh at us," she said.

"I'm really glad to see somebody finally stand up and do something. One Midland woman, who preferred to remain anonymous, also agreed with the new tough posture taken by the president, especially in reinstating draft registration for young men 18 to 26.

"I have two sons, one in the Army and one not. I felt they never should have dropped the draft in the first

She sounded a note of caution however, adding, "I don't want it to snowball into a war, but I always felt it was foolish to think the Russian people care about detente.

Midlander Ronald Weaver took the tone of the speech as a positive sign. "The president probably took a firm stand for the first time in three years," he said, "but I have some doubts in my mind about how effective it will be." Reinstating draft registration, he said, is "not going to make any difference. If they're going to have a draft, they ought to have a draft. "Just registering people will only

By JOE SALMAN Oil Editor

Afghan president thanks

Soviets for their 'help'

"Its a shame that $60 billion will be going into the sticky, wasteful federal hands and not to the petroleum industry for all-out exploration and produc-

That is the viewpoint of A. W. Dillard, president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Assocation, on the compromise plan on "windfall profits" legislation approved Tuesday by the House-Senate Conference Committee.

Dillard, who is in his second term at the head of the 1,500-member independent operator association, said the profits bill, as approved by the committee, is not as bad as it could have been but nevertheless is not in the best interest of the industry, the Permian Basin or the nation. "It only prolongs complex price controls on domestic crude oil and deprives the oil and gas industry of needed capital to finance increased exploration and development that was expected to follow decontrolled Dillard, in a news conference Wednesday afternoon, predicted the House-Senate Conference Committee version would pass the House and the Senate under a full vote. While some exploration and development programs may be deferred as a result of passage of the excise profits bill, Dillard does not expect the bill will have any negative impact on the present high level of prosperity and activity in the Permian Basin. Dillard said he believes the bill will provide some extra capital, and activity should remain high throughout the Permian Basin as oil producers plow back increased profits interexploratory and development drilling programs and into new secondary recovery projects.

"But it is a shame that $60 million in capital will be going into the sticky, wasteful federal hands and not to the industry for an all-out explorationproduction drive to make America energy independent of foreign blackmail," he said. "The money will go to old programs not related to the oil industry that have proved inefficient and to some new ones that are sure to be started.'

Dillard called the real benefactors of the bill the thousands of new lawyers and accountants that will be needed to interpret the pricing and taxing complexities of the bill. "It is too bad that we got the 'Lawyers and Accountants Relief and Retirement Act of 1980' in lieu of a viable energy policy for the U.S." he added.

Under the proposals of the bill, tiers 1 and 2, which formerly were old oil and new oil, will be taxed at 70 percent (for sales above a set base), while new oil, which formerly was new, new oil, tertiary and heavy crude, will be taxed at 30 percent, Dillard explained.

'Independents would receive a slight break in that the first 1,000 barrels of oil per day of production from tiers 1 and 2 would be taxed at 50 percent rather than 70 percent, and stripper oil from wells making less than 10 barrels of oil per day would be taxed at 30 percent," Dillard said.

He added that independents would pay an estimated $22.5 billion in taxes to the government, with major oil companies paying $27.5 billion. 'The Permian Basin Petroleum Association will make every effort to get the bill defeated in both the House and the Senate but right now it looks as if the bill will get through," Dillard said.

The tax base price, according to the compromise will be $13 per barrel for tiers 1 and 2, and $16.55 for new, tertiary and heavy oil.

More nuclear accidents forecast by NRC panel

WASHINGTON (AP) - Investigators hired by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission warned today that nuclear accidents like the one last year at Three Mile Island "could have happened in a lot of places.

Moreover, there's nothing to keep similar accidents from occurring elsewhere in the future, the panel said, adding that new nuclear plants should be at least 10 miles from cities to reduce the small but worrisome risk of accidental radiation expo-

The Three Mile Island plant came within 30 to 60 minutes of a "meltdown" of its radioactive fuel, an event that would have required "at least the precautionary evacuation of thousands" of residents from the surrounding area near Harrisburg, Pa., the "Special Inquiry Group" said after its seven-month investigation of the accident.

The special inquiry was headed by private attorney Mitchell Rogovin. Although his law firm was hired by the NRC, it delivered the same unwelcome advice President Carter's "Kemeny Commission" had submitted earlier: Abolish the five-member

NRC and replace it with a single administrator. But the Rogovin report said a fivemember commission is incapable of managing a comprehensive nuclear safety program. "If ever an argument is needed to convince someone of the lack of management in the NRC," it said, "one need only attend one of these commission meetings. ... It appears that the structural problems in the NRC's management persist in the wake of

The Rogovin panel also:

-Urged the NRC not to take up construction applications for new nuclear plants until it considered major reforms in the licensing process. No moratorium was recommended on operation of existing nuclear plants or licensing of those under construc-

-Reaffirmed earlier reports that a stuck-open valve leaked cooling water from the Three Mile Island reactor for more than two hours until someone belatedly closed a back-up valve. Even then, plant operators did not realize the reactor was severely overheated and damaged. Had the leak continued another 30 to 60 minutes, the radioactive fuel would have started melting.

-Said if meltdown had occurred the reactor building probably would have held in the radioactive materials, but not certainly. Evacuation of the immediate area would have been a necessary precaution and must be treated as a real possibility in future

-Proposed that future reactors be located at least 10 miles from population centers, and said existing reactors that are too close to cities may have to be shut down unless adequate safety measures can be guaranteed. -Said a government-chartered utility consortium or even a government corporation should take over operation of nuclear power plants owned by utilities too small to meet increased safety requirements alone.

-Observed that, despite all its recommendations for improvements, the Three Mile Island accident did not release enough radioactivity to endanger public health "even in the long run," and the power plant's safety systems worked well enough to bring it under control, despite a series of mechanical and human failures. -Noted that improvements have already been made, but added that unless fundamental changes take place in construction, operation and licensing, "similar accidents - perhaps with the potentially serious consequences to public health and safety that were only narrowly averted at Three Mile Island - are likely to

Why do grocery stores sometimes put two prices on items? It is very disgusting, almost as disgusting as not being able to find any price on

ANSWER: According to the manager of a major grocery supermarket, the two prices reflect the dealer's price and the local store's price. The store price is what the purchaser pays.

It also was noted that "it is a labor problem," when items are not marked for the prices.

My wife and I are planning on buying a new house that is presently under construction. The builder promised us he'll complete the house in 90 days if we'll sign the purchase contract. How can we protect ourselves and make sure he keeps his promise? - John K.

ANSWER: The State Bar of Texas says a promise for a particular completion date should be included in the written purchase contract.

Further protection can be achieved by insisting that a damage clause be included in the contract, to provide for alternatives in the event he failed to meet the completion deadline.

Your lawyer could draft a damage clause to either give you the option of rescinding the contract or collecting damages for the contractor's breach

Congress will probably support Carter's stand on the Olympics

By TIM AHERN

WASHINGTON (AP) - The congressional resolution in support of President Carter's stand on the 1980 Summer Olympics is nearing a vote - and probable approval - in the full House

The resolution was approved Wednesday with one dissenting vote by the House Foreign Affairs Committee and sent to the Rules Committee, which arranged to make the issue its first order of business today.

The full House cleared its calendar to hasten action on the measure. which the Foreign Affairs Committee chairman, Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., predicted would win speedy approval.

The resolution backs Carter's proposal that the Games be moved, cancelled or boycotted by U.S. athletes unless Soviet troops withdraw from Afghanistan by Feb. 20.

Approval by the Foreign Affairs Committee came after USOC President Robert Kane told the panel Carter's boycott proposal was ill advised, unpopular with other nations and would leave America "out there alone, swaying in the wind." Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin said his nation would back the U.S. stand, however, and several other nations have affirmed the need for some action against the Soviets. Carter said Sunday that the Moscow Games, scheduled to begin in July, should be moved to another nation or canceled unless Russia pulls back its 85,000-man Afghan occupation force by Feb. 20.

Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher, restating the administration's position before the Foreign Affairs Committee, said Americans don't want "to see our athletes participating in games in Moscow at the same time the Soviet soldiers are crushing the independence of a free nation.'

As a last resort, Carter has said, U.S. athletes should boycott the Games. In his State of the Union speech Wednesday, Carter made only spite USOC opposition to a boycott, said, "I can't imagine that we would ever be in a position other than in accord with Congress."

Kane told the committee that no nation contacted by the USOC has agreed to boycott the Games, although he said countries such as Australia and Great Britain favor moving the competition. Kane told the panel he does not oppose Carter's proposal to consider moving the Games. He said the USOC executive board will discuss that possibility at a meeting this weekend.

- In a letter to The Times of London, a Soviet journalist said President Carter's boycott proposal would violate human rights, "the rights of thousands of young American sportsmen to compete in the world's greatest athletic event." The letter, signed by Spartak Beglov of the Novosti Press Agency in Moscow, also said the proposal "poses a threat to the Olympic movement and every other form of international cooperation."

- Alexander P. Potemkin of the Soviet consulate in San Francisco said the 1980 Summer Olympics will be held in Moscow regardless of U.S. action. "It is not a political thing for us. It (the Games) belongs to the whole world," Potemkin said during a reception for an Olympic exhibit.

Solon wants ABC out of fuel business

AUSTIN (AP) — One of the Texas House's leading gasohol cheerleaders says the state's Alcoholic Beverage Commission should be taken out of the alcohol fuel permit process.

Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, said Wednesday the Texas Department of Agriculture should handle the licensing. He complained about ABC's successful efforts to block a gasohol plant planned for the Rio Grande Valley. The legislator said Texans would be paying up to

Air travel is 'up'

It may have surprised some Midlanders, but it shouldn't have - the fact that boardings at Midland Regional Airport set a new record in 1979.

As Midland's director of aviation, Col. Wilson Banks, put it, 1979's boardings "exceeded our master plan forecast by 124,720 passengers."

In all, more than 444,000 passengers boarded planes at Midland Regional Airport last year.

The yearly "new record" in boardings has become almost a tradition. The boardings figures have been climbing steadily now for a number of years.

Facilities at the airport have been expanded, renovated and improved in recent years to accommodate the increasing number of air passengers.

The improvements at the airport most likely will spur more Midlanders - and other Permian Basin residents - to take to the air for their traveling needs.

That's good. Adequate transportation is extremely important to any area whether it be in the form of air transportation, rail or highway. In the wide expanse of the Permian Basin that availability of transportation becomes even more important.

Trends of growth in Midland and throughout the Permian Basin in the past few years point toward continued expansion of the population; thus, a greater need will exist for reliable transportation.

Midland Regional Airport is helping to fill that transportation need. It's a facility for which all Midlanders should be proud.

Is it winter or not?

Only in Texas and, most particularly, only in the Permian Basin recently can the weather indicate on one day that spring is on the way for sure and on the next that winter may never end.

If you don't believe it, just ask any Midlander after the experiences of this week.

Last Friday any Midlander would have told you that picnic time certainly was only around the corner.

The weather was springlike; ideal for strolling about in slacks and shirtsleeves or short dresses. In fact, more than a few Midlanders probably were wondering if it really is January.

But don't turn your back on the weather in the Permian Basin or it'll change on you.

That's exactly what happened Monday night. Midlanders awoke to find snow on their cars and pickups

Monday's high temperature had only reached 45 degrees - a sharp change from the previous Friday's springlike 68. And Tuesday morning dawned cold and snowy; 32 degrees with white stuff fall-

It was winter again! But that seems to be the trend for this winter season in the Permian Basin.

One thing's for sure, this type of weather won't bore anyone.

ART BUCHWALD Roundballers won't play until Soviets 'play ball'

WASHINGTON — The big question Americans are faced with is whether we should or should not participate in the Moscow Olympics. Unfortunately, everyone has made this an "eitherproposition. I believe there is room for compromise which would show the Soviets we mean business and at the same time leave the door open in case they want to change their

Why couldn't we tell the Russians that we intend to go into the Olympics on piecemeal basis depending on how they behave in the next few months?

For starters, President Carter could inform the Kremlin that if Russia gets out of Afghanistan we will send our track and field team to Moscow. The Soviets are very big in track and field and are expecting to take all the gold medals in these

Then, if they get their surrogate army of Cubans out of Angola, we would agree to send over our wrestlers and weightlifters.

We would also advise them that if they promised not to round up their dissidents and railroad them out of town during the games, we would enter our swimming and water polo

The President would agree to allow Americans to compete in the gymnastic events in exchange for a written document from the Soviets that they would not go into Yugoslavia. This bomber we would throw in our archery, canoeing and field-hockey up to the Helsinki Accords, we would leyball, rowing and yachting.

It seems to me that this compromise would show the Soviets that the United States will not permit politics to interfere with the games. At the same time it will let them know that we're not sending over our boys and girls en masse while they believe they can do anything they want to endanger the world peace.

The ball will then be in the Soviet court. The countries behind the Iron Curtain will exert tremendous pressure on the Russians, because developing athletes whose sole job in life is to beat the Americans where it

You may be asking what do we do

Quite simple. We don't field a basketball team until the Soviets move their navy out of the Indian Ocean. Will they do it? I have a feeling they will. The Russians were defeated in basketball by the United States and Yugoslavia in 1976 and they'll do anything to beat the pants off us this

TEACHERS ARE THREATENING TO GO ON STRIKE IF SOMETHING ISN'T DONE ABOUT VIOLENCE IN THE SCHOOLS

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

State failed to heed experts' advice

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - The crisis in Southwest Asia was preceded last February by the kidnapping and killing of U.S. Ambassador Adolph 'Spike" Dubs in Afghanistan, followed hours later by an assault on the U.S. Embassy in Iran. Then in November, the same embassy was overrun by militants who seized the American diplomats as hostages. This was followed by an attack on the U.S. Embassy in Pakistan, with two left dead in the smoldering wreck-

All these critical incidents might have been prevented if the State Department had listened to its own security experts and had taken adequate steps to protect American personnel. This is the conclusion to be drawn, at least, from an examination of secret State Department cables and interviews with U:S. officials in Washington and overseas.

This is not just Monday-morning quarterbacking about mistakes that cannot be undone. State Department insiders have told my associates Gary Cohn and Jack Mitchell that Foggy Bottom's striped-pants bureaucrats apparently haven't learned the lessons of Tehran, Kabul and the other disasters that have occurred at U.S. Embassies in Asia and Africa, Unless security measures are considerably beefed up, they warned, our diplo mats abroad will be sitting ducks for terrorists around the world.

After all, Ali is now a good anti-

It was evident as early as last February - when armed attackers stormed the Tehran embassy and held more than 100 persons hostage for nearly two hours - that there were serious security problems at the huge embassy compound. Yet this ominous dress rehearsal for the November takeover brought no substantial changes in security from U.S. officials - including Charge d'Affaires .. Bruce Laingen.

In March, my sources report, Foggy Bottom was warned specifically of the possibility that mob action and the taking of hostages might result if the ex-shah gained sanctuary in the United States. The tragic results show that the proper measures were never taken.

On Aug. 2, a cable designated "secret and sensitive" was sent from Henry Precht, head of the Iranian desk at the State Department, to Laingen in Tehran, stating bluntly that "the danger of hostages being taken in Iran will persist" were the shah admitted into this country.

Then, implicitly acknowledging that a decision about the shah had already been made, he added: "Secondly, when the decision is made to admit the shah, we should quietly assign additional American security guards to provide protection for key personnel until the danger period is considered over."

Still nothing was done, and the result of this inaction became gruesomely clear in November

Months before Ambassador Dubs' death in Kabul, the embassy had received a direct warning from Afghan terrorists that there would be an "armed attack ... on American citizens in Kabul." The warning was taken seriously by the embassy's security officer, and a list of stringent precautions was issued to all American personnel.

But as time went by and no attack materialized, the precautions were ignored. Dubs was in an unescorted car, with a chauffeur but no bodyguards, when he was seized on a Kabul street by terrorists. He died when Afghan police stormed the downtown hotel where he was being held captive.

Worse yet, U.S. officials on the scene made no attempt to seek intervention by the Soviet ambassador in the Russian-dominated city, despite the possibility that he might have dissuaded the Afghan police from staging the sudden shootout in which Dubs was killed.

Thomas Paine's quote still true

Staff Writer

What political agitator Thomas Paine wrote in his seen a single problem solved. pamphlet in 1776 applies to the nation today: "These are the times that try men's souls," said modern-day final, conclusive resolution to any major problem," energy advocate, Sarah Robbins.

Ms. Robbins, a Midland geologist who said she "is very deeply concerned about the direction and future of America" and energy crisis, said that Americans must become more politially involved - not apathetic - to help pull the nation out of its crises - from inflation and taxation to energy development and encroaching socialism.

And the solution to the domestic oil crisis seemed to be one of Ms. Robbins' main concerns.

And Ms. Robbins said government-imposed price controls have adversely affected "both our energy situation and the national economy.

... The unrealistically low price of domestic oil has encouraged consumption...and defeats efforts to promote energy conservation," Ms. Robbins told members of the Midland Downtown Lions Club Wednesday noon in the Midland Hilton.

The federal government, which imposed price controls on crude oil in 1973, has set up a system whereby the American producers are allowed "an average of about $9.50 a barrel for their oil," while "the world price of crude oil is about $25" per

She argued that price controls "have discouraged domestic production of oil" because the cost of replacing oil the producer sells "far exceeds the amount of money he is allowed to receive for it Replacement cost, she contended, is $19 per barrel.

In 1977, the United States bought $45 billion of imported oil, and that out-going money contributed to a major minus - a $25 billion trade deficit in the nation's balance of trade. Without the imports the U.S. would have registered a $20 billion surplus in the trade deficit, she said.

"The imbalance due to imports weakens the dollar abroad and adds significantly to inflation here at home," she said.

"This is an issue that will have a significant impact on you, as consumers and taxpayers," Ms. Robbins said.

At this critical junction, Americans must decide if they're willing to pay the price of seeking energy ndependence, she said.

"... You must decide if you're willing to pay for domestic energy in order to reduce imports or whether you would prefer to suffer the consequences of imports on our economy and inflation." Too, she said Americans will have to choose between increasing governmental controls and the free-enterprise system.

"You'll also have to think about whether you want the government to handle the matter through taxes and regulations or whether you would prefer to leave it to the free-market system (and) trusting that competition will help keep price rises within rea-

Earlier in her talk, Ms. Robbins switched from one hero to another - from revolutionist Paine to reformer Howard Jarvis, who, like Paine and the plain-spoken Harry S. Truman, "have left their mark" on society. She cited Jarvis' crusading to get "exorbitant property taxes" reduced via Propo-

"Proposition 13 was a message from the voters that they wanted lower taxes and less government...and this is a dramatic example of the democratic system at work.'

Sakharov defies Kremlin, asks sportsmen support boycott

MOSCOW (AP) -- Andrei Sakharov today defied the Kremlin's attempt to gag him by asking "sportsmen and lovers of sports" to demand the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Afghanistan. It was seen as an effort to win support for a boycott of the Moscow Olympics.

Dissident sources said Sakharov telephoned Maria Podyapolskaya, a friend in Moscow, from his banishment in Gorky to expand on a declaration condemning the Soviet military intervention in Afghanistan. The original declaration, signed by Sakharov and several other Soviet dissidents earlier this week, was addressed to the Soviet and world pub-lic, workers, businessmen and religious believers. In his phone call today, the sources said Sakharov asked that "sportsmen and lovers of sport" be added. In his first message from exile on Wednesday, Sakharov said, "Everything all right." But the government accused the leader in the fight for human rights in the Soviet Union of spilling state secrets to Westerners. Relatives of the 58-year-old nuclear physicist and his wife received two telegrams Wednesday from Gorky, the industrial city 250 miles east of Moscow to which he was banished on Tuesday.

"Everything all right. Warm but cold on the street. Just unfamiliar. Feel well," said one message. The other said, "Frost, sun, taking walks." The relatives said they believed the messages were authentic because they were signed "Lyusya," Mrs. Sakharov's nickname. Sakharov, one of the developers of the Soviet hydrogen bomb and the winner of the 1975 Nobel Peace Prize because of his fight for human rights, had escaped arrest for more than 13 years of dissident activity. But on Tuesday he was taken into custody, stripped of his official honors and exiled from Moscow to the Volga River city of Gorky, which is off limits to foreign reporters.

Sakharov's wife, Yelena, was allowed to accompany him.

The Danish Communist Party newspaper's Moscow correspondent reported that Sakharov was given a choice between deportation to Vienna and the West or exile within the Soviet Union. He chose Gorky because he felt he was 'needed in the Soviet Union and not in the West," the paper said.

The government newspaper Izvestia charged that Sakharov "stepped onto the path of direct betrayal of the interests of our motherland." It said he "blurted out things that any government guards as an important secret" and was used "as a channel for intelligence services of imperialist powers to worm out important state secrets of the Soviet Union. "It became impossible to tolerate further sabotage by the renegade and apostate," said the commentary.

Izvestia's charges raised the possibility that Sakharov would be brought to trial and sentenced to prison, as Anatoly Shcharansky was two years ago, or expelled from the Soviet Union as writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn

Although Sakharov had for years freely attacked the Soviet government in interviews with Western reporters, Soviet officials speculated privately that the government finally took action to muzzle him because of an American TV interview with him last week.

In the interview he called for the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Afghanistan, expressed sympathy for a boycott of the Summer Olympics in Moscow because of the intervention in Afghanistan and said he supported the U.S. economic sanctions ordered by President Carter in retaliation for the action in Afghanistan.

The officials said such a public stand in support of the U.S. government at this time was too much for the Soviet leadership. Foreign criticism of the punishment of Sakharov mounted, and the Italian, French and Spanish Communist parties joined in: "These measures are a violation of human rights and of democratic liberties," said the Spanish party. The French party said "the measures taken against Sakharov can society and which considers pathologic and irretrievable everything that is different."

In Washington, a White House statement said Sakharov's punishment was 'a blow to the aspirations of all mankind to establish respect for human rights" and "a scar on their system that the Sovlet leaders cannot erase by hurling abuse at him and seeking to mask the truth.'

Stepchildren fear for parents

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) - The stepchildren of detained Soviet scientist Andrei D. Sakharov say they fear for their father's life because of his heart condition and for their mother's damaged eyesight.

'We fear for his diseased heart and vessels," they said in a statement, following reports Wednesday that the dissident scientist and his wife, Elena Georgievna, were exiled Tuesday to the city of Gorky. "We fear that his wife, a disabled World War II veteran, will lose the rest of her eyesight, having no access to her medication which is available only from

The statement was read to The Associated Press by Tatyana Yankelevich, Sakharov's stepdaughter, on behalf of her husband, Efram, and her brother,

'We are quite doubtful they are in Gorky," Mrs. Yankelevich said.

There is no news coming from them. There are some people in Gorky and Gorky is not that far away. The city, off-limits to foreigners, is 250 miles east of Moscow.

'We appeal to all who are not indifferent," the statement said, "to demand information about him from Soviet authorities, to insist on a personal visit or a

Squatters evicted from Sand Island

HONOLULU (AP) -- State police have arrested 19 persons for refusing to get out of the way of bulldozers moving to level more than 100 waterfront shacks on state property earmarked for a park.

There was no violence related to the arrests Wednesday of seven women and a dozen men, most of them residents of the line of shacks built over the past six years on Sand Island, which is across Honolulu Harbor from this city's downtown area.

The island was created with material dredged from the harbor. Those arrested were charged with interfering with government operations and released on $25 bail each, police said.

The state began moving last Fall to rid the island of the squatter's shacks, but ran into resistance from a hardcore of about 40 squatters, many of them native Hawaiians who proposed they be allowed to stay as part of a living Hawaiian cultural park.

The residents lost their legal fight in the state courts and Friday, the Hawaii Supreme Court denied a motion to stay the evictions, pending

Several hours after three residents were arrested as the first demolition work got underway just after dawn, 16 other residents joined arm-in-arm in a line, held a Hawaii State Flag and sang the Hawaii State

After the arrests, the bulldozers moved in and began smashing the shacks, after a state official checked each to make sure it was unoccupied and all personal belongings had been removed.

Pinto fire blamed in girls' deaths

WINAMAC, Ind. (AP) - Two pathologists say a pair of teen-age sisters killed in a fiery Pinto car crash would be alive today if not for the burns they sustained when their car exploded in flames.

Dr. Robert J. Stein, a Cook County, Ill., medical examiner, and Dr. James A. Benz, chief of pathology at Indianapolis' Wishard Hospital, testified Wednesday in the trial of Ford Motor Co. that Judy Ulrich, 18, and Lyn Ulrich, 16, suffered only minor injuries when their 1973 Pinto sedan was struck from behind.

No autopsy was performed on the third victim, Donna Ulrich, 18, the sisters' cousin.

Ford is charged with reckless homicide in connection with the August 1978 crash. Prosecution attorneys have been trying to establish through medical testimony that the force of the crash was insufficient to cause traumatic injuries, and therefore it was the car's fuel system that caused the auto to explode

Stein said Judy Ulrich, who lived for eight hours after the crash, suffered burns over 95 percent of her body but had no evidence of any external or internal injuries. "No injuries were sustained," he said. "If this mishap had not oc-curred, Judy Ulrich would be alive." Benz, who specializes in autopsies on burn victims, said Lyn Ulrich, who was sitting in the back seat, suffered no neck or back injuries, which he said are "very common" in such ac-

Attorneys for both sides disappeared into closed meetings after Wednesday's testimony to strike a deal the prosecution hopes will allow it to introduce key documents about the fuel system in Pinto subcom-

Two MHS students attacked Wednesday

Two Midland High School students reportedly were attacked Wednesday afternoon on Big Spring Street by several males.

According to police reports, Harvey Cogdill, 17, of 3529 Wadley reported the attack to police at 4:30 p.m. Cogdill said he was a passenger in a vehicle being driven by Nho Nguyen and that they were being followed by two cars.

In the 2500 block of North Big Spring Street, Nguyen pulled off the road to see why they were being followed, and when Nguven and Codgill stepped out of the car they were attacked by several males carrying pipes and baseball bats, Cogdill told

Nguyen told officers he had been struck on the head with a baseball bat, and Cogdill reported that he had been hit on the head with a metal pipe. Cogdill also told police he had been struck on the arm and hand with

LENORAH - Talk about the cotton gin office transcended dirt farming and eeking out a living on the home place

Rambling chatter rose above "who plays the best game of dominoes," the price of cotton, the unpredictable weather and the uncertain dollar The farmers were talking about the stuff that glitters, makes the stock market players bullish and causes them to gamble ("invest"), groan, sigh and cry "Eureka!" or shout "Damn it!" Gold and silver

'Most of the farmers out here are not interested in farming," jested J.C. "Smoky" Greenhaw, who runs the Lenorah Gin here. "They're interested in the money market."

And how to turn 55-cent cotton into gold. Speculation about the gold-and-silver market seemed to stir more interest than did cotton, which was being ginned and baled here and readied for the marketplaces and textile mills.

More cotton sold could mean more gold and silver bought and more dollars socked away by the farmers.

"YEAH," SAID Greenhaw. "The price of gold and silver dropped again." It had been flying high.

The precious metals had dipped to $655 and $35, respectively, an ounce. "Yeah, I'm glad I don't have to get married and buy a wedding ring," said Greenhaw's 23-year-old son, Mark. But his comment was purely academic; he's already married ring or no ring.

Small change Dub Chandler, who farms around Lenorah, said a business tycoon was "taking delivery" on 300 million ounces of silver. That should cause the market to quiver and make Chandler's investment look like a mere mite.

WHILE HIGH FINANCE was going on elsewhere, the farmers, though given to high hopes, pretty well were contented with the 49- to 63-cent price cotton was bringing on the pound. Average price was about 55 cents a

Cotton, and not glitter and vain hopes, was what counted on the farm

Sam Yates is reconciled to that. He farms in the "neck of the woods" called Lenorah and Tarzan northwest of Stanton in Martin County.

He and his son, Jody, 23, brought in another trailer load of cotton. Such as it was, it wouldn't buy much gold, though. The haul was just another load, but "dang not enough," said the amiable

Sam Yates, "Not near enough." More and more cotton, converted to dollars and gold, would be just fine, Nevertheless, what Yates brought in for ginning was representative of a bumper cotton crop in Martin County. It was sort of a windfall, which wasn't diluted too much by an early July hail storm that thinned out some cotton.

GREENHAW WEIGHED in the Yates' load of cotton, which was hauled to the waiting line. The gin, one of two in Lenorah and among the 12 in the county, has turned out about 7,000 bales of cotton since Nov. 9. And the equivalent of 11,000 bales, compacted in boxcar-size modules and lined in rows over a section of land, are waiting to be ginned. The raw cotton is in about 900 compacted modules; each one represents about nine or 10 bales of cotton and umpteen pounds of cottonseeds. Greenhaw's gin, which he expects to be running 12 hours a day, six days a week through May, turns out about 125 or so bales per 12-hour workday. Other Martin County gins, including the nearby Four Way Gin, are running around the clock.

IF GOLD WAS NOT on Sam Yates' mind, then silver was in his pocket.

Blaze damages landmark

 A blaze which raged out of control for three hours wiped out six stores in a 200-year-old business landmark in this historic North Shore town, authorities say.

Five firefighters were treated for minor injuries and smoke inhalation after the Wednesday fire, and damage was unofficially estimated at about $500,000.

The fire started at about 4; 45 p.m. in Hill's men's clothing store and spread to five other stores while nearly 100 firefighters from Ipswich and surrounding know, he's right. They've worn out many a pair of Levis. Actually, there wasn't much to-do at the gin office. The farmers in the fields had finished their harvesting and were either plowing in readying for the planting time this spring, were making repairs, spinning yarns or just sitting around the home place (or gin) for awhile.

"This is a busy place in the summer," said Yates. "They (the farmers) are either busy or retired."

ALONG CAME JOE Sawyer, a Lamesa fellow who hauls baled cotton for the gin. And with his coming somebody got the notion for a game of dominoes in the back room. And, like eating Cracker Jacks, playing one game led to another. Sawyer and Sam Yates teamed up against the younger men, Mark Greenhaw and Jody Yates. They shuffled, considered their hands, played and commented sparingly.

Wait a dad gum minute," idly said a player. "I can't make a nickel," lamented another.

Social Security head needs salesman's skills

WASHINGTON (AP) - William J. Driver sold insurance in his college days and recalls how difficult it was to convince people that "the nickels and dimes ... they were paying every month for an insurance policy were going to come back to them.'

'That's why I guess insurance companies always have to prey on your sympathies: 'Think of your wife and your children in the event of your death.' It's really remarkable the job they've done because this country has really believed in insurance over the years," he says.

The 61-year-old Driver will need sales skills in his new job. He became commissioner of Social Security three weeks ago. Driver, who ran the Veterans Administration from 1965 to 1969, sees one of his biggest tasks as convincing Americans their Social Security taxes are a good investment. "We've got to work harder to explain our benefits," he said in an interview. "We've got a good product to sell. The return on investment is pretty enormous if you put it all down.' Driver said Social Security does not need to prey on people's sympathies, but he said a major asset "is the peace of mind you get from knowing, in the event of disability or death, you've got protection for your own needs and your families' needs."

'When you add to that a very healthy pension return benefit guaranteed against the vagaries of the economy, it seems to me that you've got a Driver claimed that will hold true even for current workers, some of whom will pay more Social Security taxes in the next six years than any employee paid over the last 40 years combined.

Driver succeeds Stanford G. Ross, who had the shortest and probably the most controversial tenure of any commissioner. Ross, who quit after 15 months to open a law firm, argued that benefits are not sacrosanct and said Congress should consider trimming some to keep taxes in line. Ross also attacked the Social Security "mythology" that styles taxes as 'contributions" and benefits as "earned rights.

Driver said he is very comfortable with the traditional terminology. 'This is, in the best sense, an insurance policy ... a down payment on your future economic security, a guarantee against the slings and arrows of disability or early death," he said.

But Driver said he is not averse to changing the benefit structure. 'Congress can change the law. Whether it's expedient to do so or not, I just don't have a feel for that," he said. "If you were to change the law to terminate a benefit because the program has served its purpose, I wouldn't quarrel with that. We had (cutoff dates for benefits) in the Veterans Administration.

"I don't think you can just say all these things are forever and ever stuck in cement. I think it has to change," he said.

Driver, a decorated military administrator in Europe during World War II, rose through the ranks in 21 years at the VA. He headed the Manufacturing Chemists Association from 1969 to 1978, and spent the last year "just kind of enjoying life," traveling with his family to Russia and vacationing on a Mississippi River tugboat. The job offer from President Carter led him to put aside plans to practice law.

Eyewitness testifies at witches' trial

PLAINVIEW, Texas (AP) - Prosecutors presented an eyewitness to a shooting death while defense attorneys attacked the way the shooting was investigated at Loy Dean Stone's murder trial.

Stone, a self-professed witch, is charged in the Halloween 1977 shotgun killing of Roxanne Casas, 15, in the driveway of Stone's home.

Four other Dimmitt High School students were in the truck that night and one of them, Carlos Garza, took the stand late Wednesday.

Prosecutor Jimmy Davis asked Garza if anything unusual happened while he and the others were at the Stone house that night.

"They killed Roxanne," he re-

"Yes, sir," said Garza. Davis did not pursue the line of questioning, saying he would bring Garza back to the stand another day,

Rhoten fined, on probation

A five-man, seven-woman jury found Robert Jay Rhoten, 21, 3200 Travis Ave., guilty Wednesday of possession of methanphetamines.

Rhoten was sentenced to three years probation in lieu of five years in the Texas Department of Corrections. He also was assessed a $1,000 fine by 238th District Judge Vann Culp, in whose court the case was tried.

He was arrested by Midland police Nov. 1, 1979 and charged with the unlawful possession of methanphetachell said.

'That was the extent of Sheriff Martin's questioning?" asked defense attorney James Doores

Hermit pleading insanity in deaths

WINNEMUCCA, Nev. (AP) - Desert hermit Ronald Gress was either a dangerous killer or a frightened man seeking only isolation, according to opposing attorneys in his trial on three murder charges.

Special prosecutor Mills Lanehsaid Wednesday that a psychiatrist described Gress as "the most dangerous man" he ever examined. He told the jury he would prove Gress shot and killed an elderly prospector and a gold-seeking couple in June 1978, then went about tending his garden 150 yards from where the bodies lay in the heat of the barren Black Rock Desert

State deputy public defender Tom Perkins defended his client as "a classic tragedy" of "a paranoid schizophrenic who ran from society to a remote desert home ... in a desperate ... but intelligent attempt to isolate himself.

Gress has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the charges, but Lane said he would prove that the deaths were premeditated. He said he also would show that Gress had attacked, assaulted or threatened four other persons who wandered near his home, a cluttered two-room dugout in the desert northeast of Reno.

Perkins did not deny that Gress was "a suspicious and fearful man." But he said "the essense of the tragedy is that no man can separate himself completely from society.

Gress, 44, who prefers to be called "Bristlewolf," is accused of killing 75-year-old miner and rancher Pete Cachenaut and Richard and Judy Weese of Longmont, Colo., June 16, 1978.

Their decomposed bodies were found eight days later by two rock collectors exploring the hot springs near Gress's home. Gress was arrested the following evaluation and has been judged competent to stand trial. But he has refused to discuss the case with his attorney or to tell anybody what happened the day of

WT dog show set Saturday

ODESSA - The West Texas Kennel Club annual winter all-breed dog show scheduled Saturday in the Ector County Coliseum has attracted 851 entries, including 153 champion dogs.

The show, which is free to the public, will run from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. with judging beginning at 8: 30 a.m.

The entries represent 109 different breeds, ranging in size from tiny chihuahuas, miniature pinschers and Yorkshire terriers to giant Irish wolfhounds, great danes and Newfoundlands. Rare breeds entered include ibizan hound, pharoah hound and Tibetan terrier.

Judging will begin with 26 doberman pinschers, 29 great danes, a rottweiler, 15 black cocker spaniels, a lakeland terrier, a pointer and six obedience dogs. Judging times for other breeds can be obtained by calling 684-7959.

Dogs compete in two basic categories, conformation and obedience.

The 826 dogs in the conformation category will be judged against a verbal description of the ideal dog of that breed. known as a breed standard

The 33 dogs in the obedience contest will be required to perform exercises such as heeling, sitting, jumping hurdles

Boy's deformities blamed on drug arguing a $10 million suit against the maker of a popular drug used to overcome the morning sickness of pregnant women say they'll call 60 witnesses to prove that Benedictin caused a woman to give birth to a deformed boy.

Lawyers were delivering opening arguments today in the suit filed in behalf of Elizabeth and Michael Mekdeci, whose son, David, was born four years ago with a flipper-like arm and a sunken breastbone.

The suit was filed in June 1977, and names Richardson-Merrell, Inc., the Connecticut manufacturer of Benedictin, which for more than 20 years has been widely prescribed to pregnant women who suffer nausea.

The suit charges that Richardson-Merrell failed to fully test the drug on monkeys and other higher animals resembling man. Lawyers for the Mekdecis said their witnesses, mainly doctors and pharmacists, will link the drug to birth defects.

A six-member jury and four alter-nates were seated Wednesday and warned that the trial could take 10

One of the Mekdecis' attorneys Arthur Tifford of Miami, said Wednesday the suit could open the floodgates for thousands of similar actions by parents of deformed children whose mothers took Bendectin during pregnancy.

Midlanders once again will be able to choose their favorites from among shortbread, thin mint, peanut butter sandwich, assorted sandwich creme, peanut butter patties, granola and sesame wheat crackers.

The cookies are made with 100 percent vegetable shortening and are absolutely free from artificial preservatives, according to Pat Bell, field executive with the Permian Basin Girl Scout Council at Odessa.

Local Girl Scouts will be knocking on doors taking orders beginning Friday through Feb. 3. The cookies will be delivered Feb. 29-March 17.

Besides filling the great American cookie jars, proceeds are used threefold to develop a quality program for

On living violently

By ERMA BOMBECK

Remember back in the '70s when our children used to sit around and watch all that violence on television? Well, thanks to electronic games, violence on television is a thing of the past. Now the kids are living it firstmake Cain and Abel look like Donny and Marie Osmond. The whole experience starts off innocently enough. They position themselves on the floor in front of the set and freeze. All that is heard is the beep beep and an occasional ping ping as they sit with their eyes frozen to the set - their bodies poised to strike.

Then a voice. "You push my elbow once more and they'll have to tow you into a body shop!"

"Oh, yeah? I could answer the phone and come back and still beat you. You don't have the coordination to cough and breathe at the same

"You should talk. Who couldn't tie his own shoes and had to wear loafers until he was 15?"

I told my husband, "Those kids take games too seriously. It's ridiculous. They're supposed to be having a good time, relaxing, but they're not. They're tense, pressured, irritable when they lose and the other day they played a game for four hours under a blanket so they could see the game board light up. Look at them. They death march."

"You know how kids are," said my husband. "They're immature. How about you and I playing a game of Sink the Sub?"

I sat down and put the control in my hand. Within minutes, my husband had sunk three of my subs. He laughed about it.

"I don't see anything humorous about three subs being sunk, but I suppose that's the traditional macho, male, militaristic attitude.

"You'd be great in a battle situation," he said. "What are you waiting for? A bellhop to carry your torpe-

Memories of a country breakfast

By MERLE ELLIS

Breakfast was the meal of my day when I was a kid meal. There were mountains of fried potatoes with fresh fried or scrambled eggs. (I always ate three.) Ham, bacon, pork chops, steak or sausage water or chicken stock to make up that amount. (sometimes more than one) was the meat of the Bring the broth to the boiling point and slowly morning. Always there were stacks of toast or add 2 cups of cornmeal. Cook the mixture until it is a punch. hotcakes or both, and plenty of homemade jams and jellies and apple butter. Toast, spread thick with apple butter and covered with fresh milk was my Grandfather's standard dessert after the heaping platters of everything else had been consumed.

We had big appetites at an early hour in those days and there was good reason for it; we worked hard at an early hour. Well, I didn't, not really; I was too young, but my Grandfather did. He was up and out well before dawn feeding livestock, milking cows, currying his much loved team of horses for their day in front of a plow, or cultivator, or wagon, depending you like. upon the needs of the season.

I did my share of early morning chores but it was lighter work. Carrying a kettle full of hot water out to prime a frosty pump so that I could pump pails full of icy water out of the well to carry back to the house, breaking the frozen surface of the water in the horse tank so the livestock could drink, gathering eggs.

Now, that was work. There was one old hen . . . I easier to make than the kind with the pig's head. hope I ultimately ate her for all the pecks she gave me defending her eggs. Only after all that was breakfast ready, and after all that, we were ready for breakfast.

One of my favorite breakfast dishes on a cold winter morning was scrapple. Scrapple was made at "hog killin' time," from the pig's head. It was simmered in a big pot until the meat fell from the bone. The meat was then chopped fine, put back into the broth in which it was boile thickened with cornmeal and seasoned with spices and herbs. When the "mash" was the consistency of thick mush, it was put into loaf pans and cooled, later to be sliced and fried crisp for breakfast, served with

Quick-fix a meal with mucho gusto

NEW YORK, N.Y. - You say you've had it with today's so-called lifestyles. You say you can't stand the crazy hours. You say you've got no time to cook a decent meal for yourself, let alone prepare party fare for a group-but it's your turn to do it. Well, friend, your troubles are over. Tell you what I'm going to do.

I'm going to tell you how to fix no-hassle chow you'll flip over. It's the old soup-and-sandwich theme-with SOME DIFFERENCE. Forget the diner-style, watery vegetable soup, the slabs of bread glopped up with a blah spread. Start living it up foodwise. Get out the canned tuna, the tacos, a few other pantry staples, some salad stuff, and you're in business. Next get your tastebuds ready for a treat: a zesty, almost-instant Mexican Bean and Chili Soup and easy-fix, terrific Taxco Tuna

The soup's a cinch. Just open cans of pork and beans (or just plain baked beans), tomato juice and green chilies, and spoon the food into a saucepan. Add seasonings, heat and serve. Simplicity personified. Right?

As for the Tuna Tacos, you'll have to spend a few minutes chopping onion, green pepper and tomato. But after that it's all downhill. Just mix the vegetables with tuna, cheese and seasonings, and heat. Then arrange the tacos on a platter, spoon the filling into the shell, and garnish with salad stuff. If you have time, garnish the platter with sieved hardcooked eggs. (But no one will complain if you

Actually, the important ingredient is the tuna filling. Tuna's loaded with all 22 amino acids that make it one of the most complete protein foods available. # Diplomats say Carter can do little about Sakharov case

By THOMAS KENT

MOSCOW (AP) — The banishment of dissident leader Andrei D. Sakharov from Moscow is a new Kremlin challenge to President Carter, and Western diplomats here say the American leader can't do much about

The steady deterioration in relations between Moscow and Washington has created an ideal climate for a crackdown on Soviet dissidents, the diplomats believe.

They say that since Carter has played his strongest cards short of war in retaliation for the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, the United States has little muscle in reserve to protect Soviet human rights activists.

Soviet officials told Western journalists privately last week that their government would not "give in to provocations" by responding tit-fortat to Carter's actions against it. Rather, they said, the Kremlin would follow up its action in Afghanistan with model conduct in world affairs, attempting to portray Washington as the real spoiler of detente.

But the move against Sakharov amounts to a direct Soviet challenge to the president, who after his inauguration sent the scientist a highly unuşual letter of support, telling him, "I wish you well."

Since then, Sakharov has visited the U.S. Embassy frequently, and the Embassy closely monitored his welfare.

Western diplomats believe that the bases of Soviet policy have not changed substantially in recent months. But they believe that the ruling Politburo has become increasingly angry with the American president.

The Carter administration claims that its recent anti-Soviet actions were in response to the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan last month. But the Soviet government claims Washington is continuing an anti-Soviet policy that it began several months earlier.

The Soviet news media claim this change of American policy was demonstrated before Russian troops moved into Afghanistan by foot-dragging on the ratification of the SALT II agreement, increases in U.S. military spending and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's decision to station new medium-range American nuclear missiles in Europe.

In addition, the United States had told the Soviet Union repeatedly that if it did not take-draconian measures against dissidents and permitted more Jews to emigrate, it would receive the trade advantages denied it. Yet last year, when the Soviet government allowed 50,000 Jews to leave the country and left many dissidents alone, the Russians say they received nothing in return from the United States.

In such a situation, diplomats here say, the Soviet leaders may have been unable to resist the temptation — or demands from hardliners among them — to take strong action against the persistent problem of the dissidents.

In recent months, the police have arrested some of the most vocal dissidents. They included the Rev. Dmitri Dudko, a Russian Orthodox clergyman who has regularly antagonized the authorities; the Rev. Gleb Yakunin, another leading religious activist; Tatyana Velikanova, a longtime associate of Sakharov, and Viktor Nekipelov, a member of the Moscow Helsinki human rights group.

At first, Western diplomats and dissidents believed they were being rounded up to get them out of the way before foreign visitors poured in for the Olympic Games this summer. But in recent weeks, foreign observers here have linked the grackdown to the decline in U.S. Soviet relations. They predict more action against dissidents or other targets unless relations with the White House improve.

Taxpayers may cheat themselves if they fail to observe instructions

By GLENN RITT

WASHINGTON (AP) - Many people may cheat themselves, and not the government, when they file their income taxes this year. This is particularly true of low-income workers and senior citizens.

Many people still aren't aware of the "earned income credit," a cash payment of up to $500 that may be available, even if you had no taxes withheld in 1979. To qualify, you must file jointly as a married couple and earn no more than $10,000. All your income must come from wages, salaries, tips or anything else of value you received from your boss for actual services performed.

In response to double-digit inflation, Congress this year increased the credit from $400 to $500 and raised the income you can make to qualify from $8,000 to $10,000.

In addition, people who qualify for the credit now can get advances on the money from their employers. This change is designed to increase workers' take home pay In 1978, 4.9 million taxpayers claimed the credit, the Internal Revenue Service reported.

Senior citizens, meanwhile, are frequently not aware of the special tax credits they qualify for, as well as the earned income credit, the IRS cau-

Senior citizens have many tax advantages EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh in a series of tax tip articles provided by the Permian Basin Chapter of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants.

The fact that you are 65 or older may be an advantage when filing your federal income tax return this

To qualify for a federal tax break, you need not be rich or poor, employer or employee, homeowner or renter. You just have to be 65 or older.

There are several tax breaks for senior citizens, one of which concerns the requirement to file a return at all. Single persons 65 or older whose income for 1979 was less than $4,300 are not even required to file. Married couples 65 or older filing joint returns can earn up to $7,400 before they must file a return.

However, the only way to obtain a refund is by filing a return. If you have had any tax withheld from money you received in 1979, you should file for a refund.

There is an additional tax break for persons 65 or older. It involves an additional $1,000 exemption, in addition to the regular $1,000 personal exemption to which every taxpayer is entitled. Couples who are both 65 receive an automatic reduction to income of $4,000 through their personal exemptions

These and other questions concernwered in the Taxpayer Education program. This public service course, sponsored by the Permian Basin Chapter of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants and the Internal Revenue Society, will be offered Feb. 5 and 7 from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Allison Fine Arts Building at Midland College and at Wilkerson Hall, Room 108, Odessa College.

To register for the program, send your name address and location preference to Taxpayer Education, Box 870. Midland 79702. Registration fee is $1 per person or $1.50 per couple. Mailing deadline is Feb. 1. You may also pick up registration forms at the Administration Building, Room 156, Midland College.

Pitt students hit Bell jackpot, make toll-free telephone calls that anyone could dial any place in the country," Halper said. The first indication of trouble

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Students at the University of Pittsburgh took advantage of a communications mix-up and made hundreds of dollars worth of long-distance "toll free" telephone calls.

But Bell of Pennsylvania said Wednesday it has corrected the problem and has launched an investigation to recoup some of its lost revenue.

"Some of the kids will be getting a bill," said Noah Halper, a Bell spokesman.

He said about $300 worth of the calls already have been calcu-lated and the figure could dou-

Students stumbled upon the windfall in late November when they discovered lobby phones in dormitories completed calls to numbers outside the university. Normally the phones are restricted to campus calls.

"It was like some guy hitting the jackpot from the coin return slot," said a student. "Pretty soon, everybody in the dorms knew about it."

Halper said Bell was making changes in the phone system when the mix-up occurred. "Because of human error, five

BOSTON (AP) — Life-sustaining kidney dialysis treatments for Earle N. Spring, whose treatment was stopped by court order, resumed early today after the state's highest court agreed to consider whether the 78-year-old man's death-with-dignity case should be reopened. But permission for the treatment lapses today when the full Supreme Judicial Court begins hearing arguments in the case that some have said raises the specter of euthanasia - mercy killing. Spring's wife and son contend the elderly former pharmacist, who was ruled mentally incompetent a year ago, would choose to stop the treatment if he were rational and should be allowed to die.

But Mark Berson, Spring's court-appointed attorney, and J. Owen Todd, a lawyer representing a nurse who has cared for the Montague, Mass., man, contend the patient is competent to decide his own fate and wants to live. The case, which has gone through months of appeals, has become a rallying point for right-to-life advocates and has taken on political overtones. Affidavits have been provided by Lyndon LaRouche, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Supreme Court Justice Francis Quirico, at a one-justice hearing Wednesday, ordered today's hearing and allowed Spring to receive dialywis treatment

Spring was taken Wednesday night from the Holyoke Geriatric Center to the Western Massachusetts Kidney Center in Springfield and given the five-hour dialysis treatment, according to Dr. LeRoy Shear, who has treated Spring at the kidney center in the past.

"If Earle Spring dies tonight for any reason at all, my name is going to be on the front page of the Boston Globe as a murderer," Shear told the Spring has incurable kidney disease and must have thrice weekly dialysis treatments to live. Without the treatments, doctors say, he will die in a Shear testified last week that Spring was no longer mentally competent. But nursing home administrator Frederick Mues said Spring "is not a vegetable" and compared him to many other patients.

Spring's wife, Blanche, 75, and his son, Robert, 49, went to court to end the treatment so Spring could die with dignity.

The treatments were ordered discontinued by Franklin County Probate Judge Sanford Keedy last week after an appeal to the state's highest court. At that time, Berson said he did not plan to appeal.

Since the Thursday decision, four persons, including a doctor and three nurses, have said they spoke with Spring. They say he seemed rational and said he did not want to die.

Keedy held a hearing Wednesday on a motion to reopen the case, but rejected a review after the attorney for Spring's family warned it could turn the case into a "three-ring circus."

Richard Rowlands, coordinator of the Massachusetts Association of Older Americans, called Keedy's decision Wednesday "a big step toward euthan-

Senate against subsidies idea

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate has rejected a proposal that would have given some employers subsidies for training Vietnam veterans after hearing warnings the program might lead to abuses.

The plan offered by Sen. Larry Pressler, R-S.D., would have authorized $220 million over four years for job training and employer subsidies for Vietnam veterans. Pressler, himself a veteran of the war in Vietnam, said the nation has an obligation to those who served in Southeast Asia.

But his proposal was rejected, 56-37, after Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., charged it would benefit employers more than veterans. Cranston, who is sponsoring legislation to improve veterans benefits, said some employers might fire Vietnam veterans and then rehire them in order to claim federal subsidies of up to $370 a month.

Money squeeze strikes Kennedy's campaign for the presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) - Some aides on Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's presidential campaign are being asked to skip next week's paychecks to conserve badly needed cash, according to one Kennedy campaign official. 'There is a squeeze, obviously," the official, who asked not to be identified, said late Wednesday. "I think people who can afford to (skip a bi-weekly check) have been asked to

It was not clear how many members of Kennedy's campaign staff had been asked to forego pay. Tom Southwick, press secretary to the Massachusetts senator, could not be reached for comment.

Meanwhile, former President Gerald Ford, still insisting he won't run for the Republican nomination, has criticized President Carter's foreign policy for the first time since the Iran and Afghanistan crises began. Carter's foreign policy "slides from crisis to crisis," Ford told a Binghamton, N.Y., news conference. But he still insists he won't seek the nomination, although he said he would accept a draft.

Kennedy, seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, suffered an overwhelming defeat Monday at the hands of President Carter in the Iowa caucuses. "Every campaign that loses something comes up flat broke,' one campaign worker said.

The official said Kennedy intends to leave next week on a cross-country fund-raising trip and hopes to raise $1 million. The money would be used to keep his campaign afloat through the Feb. 26 New Hampshire primary.

"I assume if he wins (in) New Hampshire, the spigot (of money) will turn on again," the aide said.

In the wake of his landslide defeat in Iowa, Kennedy said Tuesday he must beat Carter in their next two encounters - the Feb. 10 Maine caucuses and the New Hampshire primary - if he is to keep alive his White House campaign.

Morris Dees, Kennedy's chief fundraiser, said earlier in the week the defeat would make it more difficult to raise money. He said he would turn first to about 15,000 people who have contributed previously to the Kennedy campaign. Most of those haven't yet given Kennedy the full $1000 allowed under federal law, Dees said, and therefore presumably are able to give more. Dees said Kennedy has raised about $3 million since announcing his candidacy and has received an additional $1 million from the federal government in matching funds.

The move to trim payroll costs came on the heels of a decision to cancel the Kennedy campaign's longterm lease on a chartered jet that carried the senator and his entourage around the country on campaign trips. Southwick said the decision will save the campaign $125,000 through the New Hampshire primary.

As a result of the economy move, when Kennedy departs Washington Friday on a four-day trip to New England, it will be aboard a commercial aircraft.

In other campaign developments

Wednesday:
—Ronald Reagan told a Chicago news conference he doesn't plan to change strategy in New Hampshire, despite his upset by George Bush in the Iowa caucuses.

-Bush, campaigning in New Hampshire, said he is against establishing permanent U.S. military bases in the Mideast. He predicted the Soviets "will launch a peace offensive this summer," but gave no more details.

Meanwhile, Charles Snider, the national campaign director for George Wallace in 1972 and 1976, joined the Bush team as a southern states director. Snider said Bush had recently visited the former Alabama gover-

Civil War memories still rampant in Georgians

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) - Jimmy Carter's Georgians harbor searing memories of the War Between the States and Union Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman's scorched-earth march through Georgia is, even now, a cause celebre.

This became evident after a fellow White House habitue tried to play a prank on press secretary Jody Displayed prominently near Powell's desk is a framed montage of portraits of "Leaders of the Rebellion," headed by the president of the confederacy, Jefferson Davis.

The prankster found a head-and-shoulders likeness in March? of the hated Sherman and surreptitiously pasted it over the visage of the sainted Davis.

Two days later, Powell discovered the alteration. ripped down the offensive picture of Sherman and, cussing mightily, consigned it to the roaring flames other things, "the continuing crisis in Iran."

President threatens import fees

By R. GREGORY NOKES

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has set a firm celling on 1980 oil imports of 8.2 million barrels a day, the same as last year, and says he will enforce it with import fees if necessary.

The limit means Americans should have access to about the same amount of oil this year as they did in 1979, barring any serious cutback in foreign produc-

But Carter said in his State of the Union address Wednesday night that in the event of a serious oil shortage, "I will not hesitate to impose mandatory gasoline rationing."

Carter said the crises in Afghanistan and Iran have dramatized "a clear and present danger to our national security" stemming from U.S. dependence on imported oil. The nation imported about 44 percent of its oil needs last year, or about 8 million barrels a day, which was below the 1979 ceiling.

He said he expects actual imports during 1980 also will be below the ceiling. And he offered to negotiate even lower import limits with the nation's allies.

"I am prepared to lower our imports still further if other oil consuming countries will join us in a fair and mutual reduction," he said. Carter is expected to make new proposals for joint efforts to reduce oil imports at the seven-nation economic summit conference in Italy

"We must take whatever actions are necessary to reduce our dependence on foreign oil — and to reduce

Although he threatened to impose fees to keep oil imports under the ceiling, Carter made it clear that he doesn't think that move will be necessary.

The administration has previously considered imposing a fee of $5 on each barrel of imported oil. although Carter didn't mention an amount in his address. The purpose of such a fee would be to discourage consumption by driving the price of oil

The 1980 import ceiling is well below the self-imposed limit of 8.5 million barrels a day Carter had already pledged will never be exceeded. The U.S. imported 8.5 million barrels daily in 1977, the peak year.

In his address, Carter also said the 1980s should be used "to attack the basic structural problems in our economy, through measures to increase productivity. savings and investment."

He said he will continue efforts to reduce the budget deficit and attain a balanced budget, although he didn't set a deadline. Carter pledged during his 1976 campaign to balance the budget by fiscal 1981, a goal he has now abandoned.

The 1981 budget he will send to Congress Monday is expected to propose spending $615 billion, with a deficit of $15 billion for the fiscal year beginning Oct.

Carter said rising oil prices are the biggest single cause of the increase in inflation - up from 4.8 percent in 1976, the year before he took office, to 13 percent last year. On a television news program Sunday, Carter had said oil prices hikes were reponsible for all of the increase in inflation.

He told Congress that Americans are making progress in conserving energy because oil consumption was down 8 percent last year and gasoline use dropped 5 percent. But he said more needs to be done.

"As individuals and as families, few of us can produce energy by ourselves," he said. "But we can all conserve energy - every one of us, every day of our

Automatic increase seen

Arab federation, declared today that oil prices will "increase automatically," by the middle of this year.

"The instability and imbalance in the oil market will exert great pressure on prices and this will force all oil producers, irrespective of whether they are members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Abu Dhabi, United Countries or not, to raise Arab Emirates (AP) - their prices," Oteiba Mana Saeed Oteiba, oil said in an interview with minister of this oil-rich the newspaper Al-Fajr.

Attorney charges financier's wife involved in unlawful land transfer

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The wife of financier C. Arnholt Smith has given land worth $4 million to her son since a jury recently ruled she owes $7 million to former stockholders in her husband's bank, say the attorneys who first took her to court.

The land deal was brought to the attention of U.S. District Judge William B. Enright by attorneys for minority shareholders of the United States National Bank, which failed in 1973. Enright ordered a hearing for

In a recent trial before Enright, a jury decided that Smith, his wife and other majority shareholders in the bank owe a total of $29.9 million in damages to those whose minority stock turned out to be worthless.

The attorneys said Smith's wife,

Helen, later sold nine acres of land in La Jolla to a limited partnership, J.A.H. Ltd., of which she is the only limited partner and her son, Joseph T. Alvarez, the general partner. An appeal bond of totaling $15 million was ordered requiring Mrs.

Smith to put up $3.3 million. In a petition Tuesday, the minority attorneys asked that her bond be increased to the full $6.9 million the jury said she owes.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I know that mumps can cause serious complications in men. Does the same hold true in regard to women? - Nancy.

Dear Nancy: Mumps does not discriminate between the sexes. The disease can result in a variety of problems, including impaired hearing and inflammation of the brain. These complications can occur in women as well as men. While a number of people are aware that mumps sometimes causes inflammation of the testicles in men, there is less awareness that it can also cause inflammation of the

Dear Dr. Solomon: Has any doctor ever received a heart transplant? - Mr. J.M.

Dear Mr. M.: Yes, a physician who is himself a surgeon has received a heart transplant. Dr. C. Thomas Bombeck, the 42-year-old head of the gastroenterological-surgical service at the University of Illinois, has become the first M.D. to get a new heart. He had previously experienced two heart attacks and a number of heart failures.

The operation apparently was a success. Dr. Bombeck is quoted by Medical World News as saying that he is able to do everything he could before the operation except that he doesn't do as much of it. He performs surgery, teaches and supervises a re-suffering they deal with every day without being personally affected by it. Do doctors and nurses develop some kind of immunity, or are they able to turn off their emotions? - Myra.

Dear Myra: I would suspect that doctors and nurses have the same range of emotions as any other segment of the population. The main difference may be that they try not to reveal their feelings.

Medical personnel are affected by their day-to-day activities and their constant confrontation with illnesses and death, and this does take its toll. In fact, it is not unusual for a physician to move from one specialty to another in an effort to reduce the pressure he is experiencing.

The M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

at Houston recognizes the problem. It now employs a psychologist to help its medical staff cope with their feelings about the cancer patients they deal with every day. His job is to help keep the doctors and nurses from "burning out." Similarly, the National Cancer Institute requires physicians in training in its pediatric-oncology branch to attend weekly social-psychiatry seminars.

This gives them an opportunity to ventilate and share their feelings about the stressful situation in which they work.

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Variation of a Coup

By Alfred Sheinwold

In a coup invented more than 150 years ago in an English spa, a player with A-J-x would refuse to capture the lead of the king. Continuation of the suit would yield a trick to the jack.

Colonel Bill Roney, of Hon olulu, shows in today's hand that the Bath Coup may be executed with lower cards and thousands of miles from

Roney took the ace of clubs, ruffed a club, drew trumps and led a diamond. East took the ace and returned a diamond. South took his last diamond and led

TAKES ACE

Houses for Sale 80

Wall-to-wall carpeting, new dishwasher, range/oven, garbage disposal, washers and dryers, plus a fireplace.

Extraordinary Value

With home prices spiraling, Idlewilde Village is a great value, affordably priced, within the budget of most homebuyers. If your income was less than $30,000.00 in 1978 or 1979, you may be able to buy under a unique mortgaging program.

Featuring

. 95% financing . Approximately 91/8% interest . 30 year loan

Apartment dwellers paying as little as $225.00 per month may be surprised to learn that they may be wasting over $600.00 per month by renting, instead of buying.

Don't Delay

Stop by our office at 4501 W. Wadley for a free computerized personal budget analysis, or write P.O. Box 5185, Midland, Texas 79701.

Duplex ownership gives many people the opportunity to buy their first home, with the tenant helping pay the mortgage.

...But Hurry, these homes will not be available for long!

Tonight the two teams tangle again at 8 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum and while there is something at stake in the national rankings with WTC No. 1 and MC No.5, what counts is how the game will go into the Western Junior College Conference standings.

Both the Chaparrals and the Westerners are 6-0 in WJCC play and each has had its share of close calls in advancing this far unsullied. For the season, WTC is 19-0 and Midland is

Final decision on Oakland looking good

OAKLAND (AP) - A final decision on whether the Oakland Raiders will stay here is expected by the first week in February, and the latest offer looks promising for Oakland, negotia-

Speaking at a news conference alongside Oakland Mayor Lionel Wilson, Cornell Maier, president of Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., said Wednesday that he believes the negotiators' latest offer may persuade the Raiders to sign a new lease with the Oakland Coliseum.

Although he declined to release details of the offer, Maier said, "We believe it does meet the requirements of the Raiders. "The Raiders need a modern facility - a facility suitable to the 1980s with appropriate boxes, locker rooms, sound systems and so forth ... All these things are covered in the pack-

Maier confirmed that his company has pledged $2 million as part of the offer and announced that the Clorox Company has offered $500,000. The total package is estimated at around $8 million, including a $4 million loan for the construction of luxury boxes which the Raiders would not have to guarantee.

Al Davis, Raiders' managing general partner, has also been negotiating with representatives of the Los Angeles Coliseum and has reportedly been offered a $17 million package to move the team there.

tory over Odessa College while Western Texas College handled Frank Phillips College with ease (104-60) Monday. FPC gave Midland a fit a week ago and the Chaps were forced to come from behind to win.

The Westerners' 101-point per game offense is led by Greg Stewart, averaging 14.9 points per game, and Paul Pressey, 13.1. Robert Tate's 18.4 points per outing leads Midland.

Offensively, the Chaps face a problem in Pressey, Stewart and David Brown, who have 32, 22 and 23 blocked shots, respectively, to rank among the WJCC's top five. In other statistical categories, MC's Charles Johnson is sixth in rebounds with 9.9 per game while Pressey has 7.9 per game for WTC. Pressey's quick hands have accounted for 58 steals, second only to 78 by OC's Craig Ehlo. Midland's Robert Tate has converted 39 of 46 free throw attempts, an .848 percentage that tops the WJCC. And while OC's Kelly Kitchens leads in assists with 7.5 per game, MC's Tim Shelby, 5.4, and Jeff Ray, 5.4, are tied for

Midland, Lee girls square off tonight in Chaparral Center

The Midland Lee and Midland High girls seem to be going in opposite directions in the District 5-4A girls basketball race this year, but Lee's Rebels better not take anything for granted today when the two teams meet at 8 p.m. in the Chaparral Cen-

Lee won the first half championship with a 6-1 record. Midland High was out of the running with a 3-4 mark. Lee owns a seven-game winning streak after defeating Abilene High, the only team to beat Lee in the first half. Midland High is on a four game losing streak after losing to Abliene Cooper, a team they defeated in the first half.

Yes, it's opposite directions all right, but fans in this city should know by now that anytime Midland Lee and Midland High meet on the same court, there are going to be fireworks. This one should be no exception.

Lee wants to win because they don't want to worry about a district playoff possibility that could occur by being beat out in the second half by another team. Midland High wants to win because they still entertain hopes of putting it all together for a run at the second half title. And they aren't going to do it by losing to Lee. Besides all that, it is a matchup of cross town rivals, and everyone can identify with

Odessa Permian is another team hoping to rebound tonight. The Panthers were upset by San Angelo Monday. Permian made a strong run at the first half title and they want to get back on the right track against Odessa High, who is unbeaten in the sec-

Abilene High is already behind its pace from the first half after losing to Lee Monday. They will try to rebound against Cooper, who is off to a fast second half start after beating MHS.

In short, everyone is chasing Lee at this point and everyone wants a shot at them. That's the life of a winner in the league, however, and it's also the position every team would like to be

Missouri hammers Colorado, 78-45

By The Associated Press

JoJo Hunter scored all of his team's points in the first half Wednesday night, an achievement to be proud of. Except that the Colorado Buffaloes scored only four points during those 20 minutes.

In the meantime, 10th-ranked Missouri reeled off 29 points to take an embarrassing 29-4 lead at intermission. The final - 78-45 - wasn't any

'At halftime, I told them I thought we ought to score more points. Looking back on it, the slowdown hurt us. But yes, I'd do it again?"

THE COLORDAO slowdown was partially responsible for the low halftime numbers, which set records for least points r opponent for Missouri and the fewest scored in a half for the Buffs. Colorado's 2-for-15 shooting helped even MISSOURI, 15-2, grabbed a quick 4-0 advantage before Colorado, 12-5, went into a stall. Hunter hit a 15-foot jumper at 9:15 and scored the other Colorado points a minute later. The Tigers then blitzed to 18 consecutive points while Colorado went scoreless the final 91/2 minutes of the half.

Ricky Frazier led a balanced Missouri attack with 17 points.

Elsewhere on a busy night that saw 10 ranked teams play, No.3 Duke was upset by No.17 Virginia 90-84; fifthrated Kentucky downed Mississippi State 89-67; No.8 Notre Dame eased by Canisius 84-63; No.11 Louisiana State beat Mississippi 72-66; No.12 Clemson topped Furman 85-67; No.13 North Carolina defeated Wake Forest 73-61; 15th-ranked Maryland took North Carolina State 66-62 to remain atop the Atlantic Coast Conference, and No.19 Tennessee was upended by Georgia 55-54.

DUKE MIGHT be ranked third in the nation but it's only fourth in the ACC with a 4-3 mark. Overall, the Blue Devils are at 15-3, same as Virginia, which used its Big Three to win at Durham. Jeff Lamp had 27 points, Ralph Sampson scored 23 and Lee

"I knew he was a good shooter," said Duke center Mike Gminski, who scored 20 but saw the 7-foot-4 Sampson hit 11 of 17 shots and grab 13 rebounds, "but I never saw him have a shooting night like that before."

Lamp hit on half of his 22 shots from the floor in what he called "as much a must-win for us as anything we've played this year."

KYLE MACY had 20 points as Kentucky routed Mississippi State, which reportedly has been split by dissension recently. The Bulldogs' problems hardly would have mattered as the Wildcats, 15-2, played what Coach Joe

"We played better as a team, we moved the ball better, we spotted the open man. That's the best we've run the offense,"noted Hall.

Spike Dykes returns to West Texas

Spike Dykes. Now there's a name you can hang your hat on. If a would-be author were to sit down to create a novel of football fiction, Spike Dykes would be the coach. It's a natural.

You just know Chip Hilton would score a lot of touchdowns for a Spike Dykes. A Spike Dykes could be an assistant coach for Knute Rockne. A Spike Dykes has to be the stuff that legends are made of. And if there really is a Spike Dykes, you would make him the head football coach of a West Texas high school football team - where the real heart of high school football is in this country Ah! The stuff football fiction is made of. I wish we had a Spike Dykes for a football coach. It would be a

And no sooner than the dream crossed the mind, a Spike Dykes came rolling into town Monday to be the new head football coach at Midland Lee. After all, nothing else would be right. Maybe a Chip Hilton is on the horizon, and maybe he will be able to play for Midland Lee for years just like in his fabled

If Dykes has another name other than Spike, he's not letting on. "Spike is my real name," he says with a wry, but infectious smile. So to all his new friends in Midland, Spike it will be. We wouldn't change it if we could.

And Spike is ready to go to work after being reunited with former coaching partner Gil Bartosh, the new athletic director. The two coached together at the University of New Mexico three years ago.

Dykes comes to Midland from Mississippi State where he was an assistant coach under Emory Bellard. That was nothing new either because he was one of Bellard's assistants at San Angelo in the early 1960s. He was also head coach at Coahoma, Ballinger and Big Spring. So we, in District 5-4A, have always known a Spike Dykes. And he has come home, so to speak.

'Yes, we (his wife Sharon and three children) feel like we are coming home. We have life long friends in West Texas and are excited about coming to Midland," Dykes says. "Of course, we had mixed emotions about leaving Mississippi State and most especially Emory Bellard. The college experience has been enjoyable and I enjoyed every minute of it, but my gut feeling is to return to high school coaching. It's not something you can put your finger on, but the time came in my life when I wanted back in the high school ranks.'

Dykes must feel like he is going in seven directions at once right now. There is a lot to do. "I am going to have to find out what the routine is around here first of all," was the way he put it. "I want to get to know our players, coaches, administration and people involved with our program first. And that alone is going to take some time.

Of course, one of the first dumb questions he faced from a sports writer was, "Coach, what kind of of admiration for all three. I would like to think I have a offense do you plan." And the good thing about number of their coaching philosophies. I listen when-Dykes is that he can answer the dumb questions with ever I get a chance to meet with those men.

"That's easy," he replied. "I hope we run a we dream of the legend - and Chip Hilton.

winning offense. Seriously, I don't know what type of offense we will have. I will have to evaluate our players first. I don't have anything in particular in mind right now. I think the runees will dictate But Dykes has had an opportunity to evaluate the situation at Midland Lee and seems to like what he sees at first glance. "I'm really impressed with the coaching situation here. I've known Gil (Bartosh) for a long time and he knows what it takes to have a top flight program. From what I've seen so far, it looks like the program is already in pretty good shape. And I think the school officials have made a strong commitment for strong athletic program." Dykes also doesn't seem overly concerned with the situation of declining enrollments in the two local high schools

'Maybe it's one of my weaknesses, but I've never worried too much about numbers before. Only 11 can play at a time," Dykes stated. "I think declining enrollments are prevalent throughout Texas, but we have enough to compete. I coached at Big Spring and we were at the bottom of the enrollment cutoff line every year. Since being in college, I've recruited all over the state and Houston Stratford won a state championship with an enrollment of 2,000 in the top four grades. I think that is indicative that numbers are not the only thing that matters.'

According to Dykes, he has had some pretty good teachers over the years, and he views his philosophies as a combination of his teachers.

"I've been lucky to coach under men like Darrell Royal, Emory Bellard and Bill Mondt. I have great

Winter fishing next

By KENNY REDIN

Now that most hunting seasons in Texas have finished and quail and waterfowl seasons are winding down, many outdoor sportsmen turn their attention to fishing once again.

So, it's time to preview some of Texas' finest winter fishing lakes and inform you on what's been happening recently on some of these fine lakes.

TOLEDO BEND — This famed reservoir, situated on the Texas-Lousiana border is noted as one of the finest winter fishing lakes in Texas. Anglers come from all over the world to try some wintertime fishing on this East Texas impoundment.

Mike Carmichael, owner and operator of Carmichael's Marina told us in a recent telephone conservation that bass and crapple fishing are absolutely fabulous on Toledo now.

'Our guides have been going out with their bass fishing customers and bringing in a limit of two to six pound bass quite frequently," Carmichael said. "Most bass that are being taken now are being caught on jugs, spoons and worms over deep holes in 20 to 30 feet of water. The weather has been perfect for the most part, and if it holds, we should run into some spring-type fishing before spring weather actually arrives.

As for the crappie fishing, the months of January and February are ideal times for catching a nice basket full of slabsides. Recent reports from crappie fishermen have indicated to us that nice strings of crappie have been taken in 15 to 30 feet of water, just off old creek channels. Best baits seem to small, live minnows and tiny white and yellow crappie jigs.

A group of Dallas fishermen, four anglers, fished out of Carmichael's last Wednesday and in three hours caught over 400 crappie on live minnows. Reports say that this group had several crappie up to 2½ pounds.

LAKE SPENCE — Four you folks in the Midland-Odessa region, late reports find striped bass fishing perking up. A report from a Lubbock trio found them catching seven stripers to six pounds last Saturday. And their report also said they lost two monster stripers at the boat.

A 25-pound striper was the largest striper weighed in last week. And, so far this week, a 16 pounder is the largest reported from this lake, situated near Robert Lee.

Most striper catches are coming from the dam area on Spence. Large 3/4 ounce white bucktail jigs are accounting for most of the striper catches. Trolling large hellbender lures have also taken a toll on Spence

Fin & Feather LAKE AMISTAD - Stripers are the thing at Amistad now. Stripers, ranging from four to 14 pounds have been coming in each and every day. Days that allow fishermen to scout the huge Texas-Mexico reservoir properly will usually find anglers bringing in a mess of striped bass. The best fishing areas recently have been in the Castle Canyon region, Devil River's arm and Rio Grande arm. Also some nice striper catches have been reported taken near the dam.

Methods of catching stripers will vary, depending on weather conditions. On those windless, warm days, hunting for schooling stripers has proven the most effective method of limiting out. But on thos no-so-good days, fishing creek channels with white slabs and jigs are the most promising method.

Black bass fishing is reported good on warm winter days. Most black bass catches have been coming from 15 to 25 feet of water. Best baits are smoke and green-colored plastic grubs.

FALCON - This south Texas lake is producing white and black bass by the hundreds. Recent fishing reports find anglers catching limits of blacks on spinner baits, topwaters and small crank baits. Last week, a reportedly 8½ pound bass topped a string of 20 bass, with the smallest going just over the 21/2 pound mark. The fish were taken on chartreuse spinner

White bass have also been cooperating. Boatloads of "sandies" have been coming into various Falcon marinas each day. Early of morning and late of evening white bass have been schooling like mad, chasing the threadfin shad schools. Watching for diving birds and surface disturbances are by far the most popular means of filling the cooler with white bass fil-

TEXOMA - If you are in mind for a Texoma fishing trip, stripers are the specie to catch now. Carl Parker once again told us that striper fishing has been just fabulous on this Texas-Oklahoma border lake. Catches have been coming from the Preston Point area of Texoma and near the dam in a region called "striper alley". Large maribou and Book criticism catches

Landry likes Pro Bowl

Wanting to go to New Orleans next

HONOLULU (AP) - He spent a year aiming for the Super Bowl and landed two victories and 2,500 miles off target. But the Pro Bowl is still a football game and that's what keeps Tom Landry's juices flowing.

"I enjoy coaching and being with outstanding athletes. That's really a treat for a coach - going out and watching the best there is in professional football, getting to know them better, having a better understanding of each player,' Landry said. "It's really an enjoyable time.'

Landry's Dallas Cowboys were almost everyone's pick to return to last Sunday's Super Bowl as the National Conference champions. But they were shot down by Los Angeles in their first playoff game and Landry was detoured from Pasadena, Calif., to Hawaii.

Well, if you have to do something after losing out on the Super Bowl, this is just about as good a thing to do as anything," Landry said Wednesday before putting the NFC stars through another light workout for Sunday's game against the American Conference.

Preparing for this game is vastly different than preparing for any Cowboys game, of course. No flex defense. No multiple-set offense. Nothing fancy.

'Basically, you have to make it fairly simple because you have less than a week together and you work only an hour or two on the field each day,' Landry said.

'The most difficult thing is eliminating the numbers so you don't have confusion among players from different teams. You do everything with basic descriptions. You know, 'Anderson run right,' or 'screen pass left,' so everybody won't get mixed up by numbers.

"What it comes down to is I'm just out there to direct traffic, not much else," added the Cowboys' tactical genius.

The Anderson he referred to is Ottis Anderson, the sensational rookie running back of the St. Louis Cardinals who rolled up huge chunks of yardage in each of his games against the Cowboys in 1979. Being able to coach him once, Landry said, won't help him to slow down Anderson next season.

"I don't think you can defense that much talent," Landry said. Besides, I already know how good he is, but knowing it and doing something about it are two different things.

"The nice thing is finding out what kind of a person he is. All year you go by a player's num-ber, by the way he looks in a uniform. I wouldn't even recognize most of these guys if I met them on the street. Until this week I didn't know what most of them looked like. So it's nice to have a little more personal rela-tionship with them for a change.

It's Landry's fifth Pro Bowl and his first since 1974. His counterpart with the AFC, Don Coryell of the San Diego Chargers, is making his Pro Bowl coaching debut.

"These Pro Bowl games are nice and all that and I'm sure next year's, wherever it is, is going to be a lot of fun. But next year I plan to be somewhere Where?

NEW YORK (AP) The defending league champion Seattle Super-Sonics, shut out in fan balloting for the starting Western Conference team, will be represented by guard Dennis Johnson and center Jack Sikma in the National Basketball Association All-Star game.

Johnson, the Most Valuable Player in last season's championship series, and Sikma were added to the West team Wednesday as reserves by the conference coaches. The team will be coached by Sonics pilot Lenny Wilkens.

Joining the two Sonics as reserves will be forward Scott Wedman and guard Otis Birdsong of Kansas City, and forward Walter Davis and guard Paul Westpha of Phoenix.

The fans, in balloting want him to know that it's going to that ended earlier this month, selected as starters for the West forwards Marques Johnson of Milwaukee and Adrian Dantley of Utah, center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of Los Angeles, and guards Earvin "Magic" Johnson of Los Angeles and Lloyd Free of San Diego.

Darryl Stingley in the 1978 exhibition Rookie forward Larry Bird of Boston was named a reserve for the East along with his Celtic teammates Dave Cowens, a center, and Nate Archibald, a guard. Forwards Elvin Hayes of Washington and Dan Roundfield of Atlanta, and guard Michael Ray Richardson of New York also were named Eastern Conference reserves for the game to be played Feb. 3 at Capital Centre in Landover, Md. The East's starters will be forwards Julius International 107-79 behind Craig Erving of Philadelphia and John Drew of Atlanta, center Moses Malone of Houston, and guards George Gervin of San Antonio and Eddie Johnson of Atlanta.

Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia will coach the East team.

Silas triggers San Antonio with 32 points

By The Associated Press Who's that masked man riding shotgun for George Gervin?

Why it's none other than Paul Silas. Oops, make that James Silas. Oh, well, that's the way it goes when you play in the same backcourt with Gervin. "He (Silas) is almost a forgotten man," San Antonio Coach Doug Moe said Wednesday night after the Spurs trounced the Indiana Pacers 144-130. "He's had 10 straight games over 20 points and nobody hardly knows he's even in there. Silas popped in 32 points against Indiana but Gervin, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer, erupted for a season-high 55.

'I had a lot of lucky rolls," Gervin said. "I think Silas and me are the two hardest guards in the league to match up against."

Elsewhere, the Philadelphia 76ers crushed the Denver Nuggets 118-93, the Boston Celtics flattened the Detroit Pistons 131-104, the Seattle SuperSonics edged the Atlanta Hawks 98-96, the Houston Rockets nipped the San Diego Clippers 111-110 in double overtime, the New York Knicks downed the Phoenix Suns 119-109, the Milwaukee Bucks shaded the Golden State Warriors 104-102 and the New Jersey Nets beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 117-103.

The Spurs, playing without their No.2 scorer Larry Kenon, shot 59 percent in winning their third straight game. They had a 21-point lead whittled to eight early in the third period but John Shumate led a 19-6 burst that signaled an end to Indiana's four-game winning streak

'They really had a great offensive night," raved Pacers Coach Bob Leonard. "They all really shot well. They can do that when they really get it going. Nobody in the league could have beaten them tonight. Gervin was simply amazing. When he gets it going he'll shoot the lights out on you. There's no one guy in the league that can handle him or his sidekick, Silas.

76ers 118, Nuggets 93

Henry Bibby came off the bench in the second quarter to spark a 34-13 burst that powered Philadelphia over Denver. The Nuggets, who trailed by 13 midway in the first quarter, took a 32-31 lead early in the second period but the 76ers ran off the next nine points and opened a 65-45 halftime advantage. The 76ers were led by Julius Erving and Steve Mix with 24 points apiece. Bibby collected 14 of his 15 during the second-quarter flurry.

Celtics 131, Pistons 104 Rick Robey, starting his first game of the season because of an injury to Dave Cowens, scored 24 points and grabbed 19 rebounds as the Celtics remained one-half game behind Philadelphia in the Atlantic Division. After a 54-54 halftime standoff, Boston outscored the Pistons 29-10 in the first eight minutes of the third quarter behind Larry Bird's 10 points and eight by former Piston M.L. Carr. Both finished with 21.

SuperSonics 98, Hawks 96 Gus Williams capped a 35-point game with a 28-foot, three-point field goal with six seconds left as Seattle won its eighth game in a row and handed Atlanta its fifth consecutive setback. The Hawks' managed only five field goals in the final 181/2 minutes. It was Seattle's 15th triumph in their last 20

Rockets 111, Clippers 110

Moses Malone scored 31 points and grabbed 12 ers. rebounds while Calvin Murphy hit for nine points in the two overtime periods. Murphy hit Houston's final two baskets of the second overtime shortly after Coach Del Harris was ejected with his second technical foul. Lloyd Free led the Clippers with 33

Knicks 119, Suns 109

Bill Cartwright scored 30 points and Michael Ray starts. Richardson added 22 as New York broke a sevengame losing streak by building up a 20-point lead and then holding off a Phoenix rally. They pulled within gale said, and then, three points with 5:38 left but Richardson hit his a three-point basket. Paul Westphal, who had 27 points, cut the margin to two with 3:40 left but the Knicks reeled off 10 straight points.

Bucks 104, Warriors 102 Junior Bridgeman's 20-foot jump shot with 30 seconds left put Milwaukee ahead 103-102. Dave said. "I was pull-hooking Meyers led the Bucks with 25 points and Bridgeman or duck-hooking everyand Sidney Moncrief scored 20 apiece. Wayne Cooper and Sonny Parker had 27 and 26, respectively, for Golden State.

Nets 117, Cavaliers 103

Mike Newlin scored 30 points and John Williamson, playing for the first time in 21 games, added 19. Williamson sat out the last 20 games with a weight problem. He rejoined the team five games ago after he reduced from 225 to 215 pounds. His bank shot with 11:08 remaining in the game enabled him to surpass hitting the ball. It's fun Julius Erving as the Nets' all-time scoring leading. New Jersey broke it open in the second quarter with a 17-2 spurt that opened a 55-38 lead.

NHL suit greeted with shoulder shrug

Hockey League official says the filing of a $7 million damage complaint against the NHL, the Boston Bruins, nine of their players and a host of others is not expected to affect any prospective discipline of the players by the league itself.

'I don't believe anything the league does is admissible in court if the issue is whether someone attacked someone else," said Gil Stein, NHL vice president and legal counsel. NHL President John Ziegler is expected to announce Friday the results of the league's investigation of the Dec. 23 incident during which Bruins players went into the Madison Square Garden stands to grapple with four fans after a 4-3 victory over the New York Rangers.

The spectators, claiming "severe mental and physical distress" and attacks "without provocation" by Boston players, filed their suit in District Court Tuesday. They held a news conference Wednesday, complete with press releases and biographical information on the complainants, evoking a strong reaction from Bruins President Paul Mooney - yet another of the 23 defendants.

Mooney issued a statement that said in part:

"A suit of this nature is totally frivolous. The plaintiffs have sued everyone from the players to the president of the league.

"It is apparent to me the entire exercise is nothing more than a publicity stunt. Prior to today, I have never heard of a publicity release being handed out on legal stationery at a press conference announcing a

"Unfortunately, any time an incident reaches such a proportion that a lawsuit is filed, we have to take it seriously. We have our legal staff handling the case as of this moment," the statement said.

Appeals court reverses decision against O'Hair

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A state appeals court has reversed a $45,000 slander judgment in a suit against atheist leader Madalyn Murray

The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals remanded the lawsuit to a trial court in Austin district court for a new trial.

Susan Strobel, who had worked at the American Atheist Center here, won the original verdict, contending Ms. O'Hair and her Society of Separationists Inc. slandered her by filing a police complaint alleging Ms. Strobel had stolen two computer tapes from company offices.

The appeals court on Wednesday reversed the verdict, claiming State District Judge Hume Cofer failed to have a different judge consider Ms. O'Hair's motion to remove him as judge in the case. He had denied the

Hedy Lamarr sues paper

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A story and accompanying photograph of a two-headed goat named Hedy Lamarr has resulted in a $10 million libel suit against the San Francisco Chronicle and others by actress Hedy Lamarr.

The 65-year-old actress filed suit Wednesday against the newspaper, its publisher, Richard Thieriot; reporter Michael Grieg; the late goat's owners, Robert and Patricia Costa; and commercial photographer John Miss Lamarr alleged the defendants "maliciously" intended to destroy her reputation and her "image as the very personification, essence and epitome of beauty" by associating her with "a two-headed freak and creature of ugliness, thereby slandering her and libeling her.

Officials at the Chronicle were not immediately available for com-

Alf Landon suffers dizziness

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) - At 92, Alf M. Landon says he's "drilled too many dry holes" to be concerned about a little dizziness.

The 1936 Republican presidential nominee was admitted to Stormont-Vail Regional Medical Center Wednesday after experiencing dizziness when he awoke, but a hospital spokesman said his condition was "nothing to be alarmed about."

A family spokesman said Landon's physician suspected a problem in the inner ear was affecting his equilibrium.

It was not known how long he would be hospitalized.

Ex-Beatle held 'incommunicado'

NEW YORK (AP) - Entertainer Paul McCartney, jailed in Tokyo Jan. 16, is being held "incommunicado" and only his wife and brother-in-law can see him briefly each day, says the ex-Beatle's father-in-law.

Manhattan lawyer Lee Eastman told the New York Daily News McCartney's incarceration for allegedly bringing 7.7 ounces of marijuana into the country has created a "highly tense situation."

"You know things are different there," said Eastman. "He has no charges against him so he can't be released on bail. Linda (McCartney's wife) and their four children are being very courageous... Japanese authorities have declined to comment on the eventual outcome of the case, but Hidehiro Marui, an expert in Japanese drug law, said he believes the 37-year-old rock star will be deported within a few weeks. McCartney has been ordered to remain in detention until Monday for questioning.

Pageant director says no

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) - Johnny Carson is coming to town in the middle of March, but Albert A. Marks Jr. says there's "no way" he'll debate the popular entertainer over his firing of Miss America Pageant

Carson, who has been leading a nationwide campaign to have Parks returned to the pageant, is scheduled to bring his nightclub act to Resorts International Hotel Casino on March 14 and 15.

His appearance has led to speculation that Carson would meet Marks to publicly plead his case for the 65-year-old Parks. But Marks, 67, chief executive officer of the pageant, said he wouldn't go against the entertainer.

There's no way I would do it," Marks said. "Mr. Carson is a polished professional and I know my limitations. That's the fact.'

Marks two weeks ago stopped commenting on his decision to fire Parks after 25 years as the pageant's television host. He says the pageant will announce Parks' replacement soon.

Tito shows improvement

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) - Yugoslavia's state-controlled news media today released pictures of a smiling President Josip Broz Tito, and there were indications the 87-year-old leader was recovering rapidly four days after the amputation of his left leg.

A highly placed Yugoslav official told Western reporters that Tito was recovering so rapidly he might be able to resume some of his official duties in "a couple of weeks.

The official, who asked not to be identified, added: "If everything goes on, in a couple of weeks, we shall again be solving problems with Yugoslav television and all major newspapers today carried pictures of Tito meeting with his sons, Zarko and Miso, in the intensive care ward of a Ljubljana hospital where the operation was performed Sunday. Tito, smiling, was shown sitting in a wheelchair.

'Poet' terrorizing branding victim

He mails rambling verses, including death threats, to Ruth Finley. He has kidnapped her and stabbed her - and he knows of the time 34 years ago when she was branded on both thighs with flatirons.

Police Capt. Mike Hill says The Poet is "a virtual psychopath," adding "we think he's locked into playing this game of harassment of the victim."

The first hand-printed letter arrived at Mrs. Finley's home two years ago. Since then, more than two dozen have found their way into the department's inch-thick file on the case.

The unsigned letters arrived infrequently until last month but are now coming almost weekly, and police say the investigation has been stepped up. Hill declined to comment on how Mrs. Finley is being protected but says the case is his top priority.

Friends say Mrs. Finley, 49, is frightened. The Finleys refuse to talk about the threats for fear of jeopardizing the investigation.

Officials believe the threats and attacks can be "one of the worst instances of sadism to occur here in him.

State song labeled musical Rebel yell

By DAVID GOELLER

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — As official state songs go, "Maryland! My Maryland" doesn't pussyfoot around. Honest Abe Lincoln is a "despot" and Yankees are "Northern scum."

Its nine sabre-rattling stanzas urge Marylanders to secede from the Union and join the Confedera-"Better the fire upon thee roll,

"Better the blade, the shot, the bowl,

"Than crucifixion of the soul,

"Maryland! My Maryland."

It was written in 1861 by James Ryder Randall, a Marylander who was teaching school in Louisiana when Union troops passing through Baltimore were attacked by Confederate sympathizers.

Most everyone knows the melody - it's the same as "Oh, Christinas Tree" - but few people are familiar with the lyrics. Sen. Howard Denis, R-Montgomery, wasn't until recently. One reading prompted him to draft legislation to end its 41-year reign as the state song.

"It's nothing more than a rebel yell set to music," he told the Senate Consitutional and Public Law Committee on Tuesday. "We probably have the only state song in the country that calls for the violent overthrow of our government.'

"It was used as propaganda for the South," the Brooklyn, N.Y., native said as he asked the committee to support his bill.

"I think our state song should be humane, singable and appropriate," added Denis. "The impression the song gives is that Maryland was a slave state." Officially, Maryland was a free state that remained in the Union. But 20,000 men fought for the Confederacy and it was Maryland where John Wilkes Booth sought refuge after killing Lincoln. Some Maryland businessmen made money off both sides, and historians say that only the arrest of pro-South legislators prevented a secession vote by the General Assembly. Supporting Denis was Treasurer William S. James, one of the foremost historians and preservationists among Maryland's officialdom. 'Frankly, I was shocked by the words," James said. "The only stanza you can sing in good con-science is No. 3. It's a song of hate. It's offensive to anyone whose family fought for the Union.' Denis and James said there should be a competition among poets to produce new lyrics for "Mary-land! My Maryland."

The only person testifying against the Denis bill was William F. Fronck, a real estate salesman from Hyattsville who said changing the state song would amount to changing history.

Inflation wields growing impact

By GLENN RITT

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the Woolco store shut its doors in Niles, Ill., village officials took the hint and laid plans to improve their downtown, hoping to make it more attractive to shoppers and store owners.

But the plan is being strangled by inflation.

Double-digit inflation, the economic disease that assaults the budget of American families, is also exacting a heavy toll on local government. Across the nation, officials say the declining power of the dollar is forcing them to delay work on roads, dams and bridges and to postpone improvements to water and sewer facilities.

The National League of Cities estimates that the federal aid dollar of 1972 is worth only 62 cents today; revenue raised locally - through property taxes, for example — has also shrunk in value.

Thus, many local officials are forced to practice a version of fiscal triage, choosing between a summer youth program or water project, a mental health clinic or new street curbs.

"FOR THE FIRST TIME, we have to set up priorities and decide which ones to give money to — from mosquito control to motor vehicles," says Patrick O'Connor, a Dade County, Fla., administra-

In Niles, a suburb of Chicago, the downtown "facelift" was to have cost $3.4 million, the money earmarked for street and curb repair, new gutters and sidewalks, planting trees and adding parking spaces. But already the pricetag has jumped to nearly $6 million.

"The cost has nearly doubled, and we aren't even talking about putting up new facades on our stores," says village manager Kenneth Scheel, adding: "Unless we can find the money to improve Milwaukee Avenue, we'll lose more merchants. If the stores are empty, we'il lose more revenue and be further

Dade County, where Miami is located, was recently hit by an 80 percent increase in health insurance premiums. County workers also must pay four-fifths more if they wish to cover family members; that boost alone exceeds their recent cost-of-living

POLICE IN SHAWNEE, Okla., are parking their squad cars more and cruising less. With diesel fuel rising 75 cents per gallon in four years, the small community has also cut back its road mainte-

Throughout the nation - from the tiniest village to the largest city - double-digit inflation is eroding the ability of governments to maintain parks and li-braries, or to build roads, sewers and bridges.

While many local officials say they have managed to stay one step ahead of the inflation rate, they fear time may have run out. They cite arrival of the economic slowdown recession - that is expected to reduce 1980 government revenues from sales and income taxes. At the same time, counties and states will have to spend more on unemployment and social welfare pro-

MEANWHILE, RAISING property taxes to keep up with inflation is becoming increasingly difficult as the taxpayer revolt matures. And direct federal aid has been on a downslide.

Some grant programs have been cut in size or abandoned and the dollar value of those that remain is being blunted by inflation. Revenue sharing, an important source of funds for many localities, has been hit hard. The $6.85 billion spent last year was worth only $4.23 billion in 1972 Ominously, the inflation rate - currently running at more than 13 percent — is not expected to subside in the near future.

"Our budget is up 3 percent without social services, and 9 percent with them," says Westchester County (N.Y.) executive Alfred Del Bello. "Either way, it's below the inflation rate and that means we're swallowing an awful lot of expenses.

'That can go on only so long. We're almost down to the bare bones, so pretty soon, inflation will hit us

Dade County is trying desperately to hold off its replacement of bulldozers, tractors and heavy highway equipment. It's also deferring all but one bridge

"MACHINERY CAN'T complain when it's cut back," says O'Connor, a county administrator who adds that Dade's cutbacks eventually will lead to deteriorating highways and roads. Many communities, not just the large cities, are letting their roads deteriorate at a frightening pace, says Bernard Hillenbrand, executive director of the National Association of Counties. Many localities depend heavily on money from gasoline taxes and highway user fees to maintain their roads and bridges. But as gasoline prices skyrocket, people are driving less - dealing another setback to government money managers. The cost of public works - diesel fuel, asphalt, patching material, cement, reinforced steel and labor - are way up, says Hillenbrand. Contracts are rising 1.5 percent a month on public works jobs, he

Galloping building costs and interest rates combine to paint a gloomy picture for public construction this year. In 1980, governments will spend an estimated $47.5 billion on construction, but the money will buy less than 60 percent of what it did just 12 years ago, according to the Commerce Depart-

LOCALITIES ARE EXPECTED to spend onesixth less in real dollars for sewer projects this year than in 1979. Water supply projects will fare as badly, according to Commerce. Commerce officials say that many communities are unwilling to underwrite sewer and water construction costs even with federal grants because they can't find the money locally to handle daily operating expenses.

This retrenchment goes far beyond big-ticket pub-lic works projects. Hillenbrand predicts that within two years no community will collect trash twice a week. "They'll be lucky to collect it once every two weeks," he says.

Roy Bahl, a Syracuse University economics professor, says many cities have warded off financial crisis not only by deferring construction projects but also by delaying salary and wage boosts for employ-

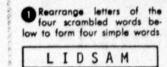

For example, between 1977 and 1978, annual wages and salaries of state and local workers rose 5.9 percent, while those in the private industry went up 7.4 percent.

Ms. Moore gets NOW APPEARING second chance

NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Tyler Moore, whose first Broadway bid bombed, is trying again in "Whose Life Is It Anyway?"

on Broadway

The original play centered on a man paralyzed from the neck down in a car crash.

"I'm looking forward to it," Miss Moore said. "Some say it is not as important for a woman to lose her sexuality as it is for a man. But of course, that's not true.

"I look at the character as being a very aggressive, sexually active person. And that's the way I'll play her."

Midland College to host young artist competition

Spring, Odessa and Fort Stockton are among the 77 gifted young musicians who will be participating in the 1980 National Young Artist Competition here this weekend.

The event will begin Friday morning in the Allison Fine Arts Building on the Midland College campus and continue through Saturday.

The upcoming compe tition is the 18th annual event sponsored by the Midland-Odessa Symphony and Chorale. The competition alternates yearly between Midland and Odessa.

Competition is divided into two segments: College division and secondary schools division. Categories of competition in each are piano, strings and woodwinds. In the college division, there is also a voice category.

In addition to the three contestants from this area, other Texas students who have been accepted for competition are from such points as Houston, Dallas, Lubbock, Aamrillo, Hereford, San Antonio, Austin, Gainesville, Del Rio, Lockney, Corpus Christi, Fort Worth, Kenedy, with the Odessa College

FORT WORTH - A memorial exhibition of photographs by famed New Mexico photographer Laura Gilpin continues on view through the end of January at Fort Worth's Amon Carter

Ms. Gilpin died in Santa Fe last Nov. 30. She had spent over 60 years as a photographer and had long been recognized as one of the nation's foremost practitioners of photography.

She had lived in Santa Fe since 1947. In the spring of 1978, during a retrospective exhibition of her works at the Amon Carter Museum, Ms. Gilpin announced the gift of her entire photographic collection to the Carter Museum. Marni Sandweiss, curator of photographs for the museum, has called the gift "one of the most important and complete collections of work by a single photographer to be housed in an American museum."

The current exhibition surveys Ms. Gilpin's entire career, from an early platinum print made in 1917 to a mid-1970s shot of Arizona's spectacular Canyon de Chelly.

When she died, Ms. Gilpin was at work on a book on Canyon de
