

Economy sinking into recession, new figures show

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy was sinking rapidly into a recession in the first quarter of 1980, new figures showed Friday, but officials sought to assure the public that the downturn won't be severe.

Even a mild recession could hurt President Carter's re-election chances, but a severe downturn could prove disastrous to his aspirations, some top government officials have said privately.

The Commerce Department reported Friday that the nation's economy grew at a sluggish 1.1 percent in the first three months of the year, as measured by the gross national product. This is down sharply from the 2 percent growth in the final three months of 1979.

While overall growth for the quarter was above recession levels, the GNP figures showed that a recession may have started in February, said Courtenay Slater, the department's chief economist.

"The statistical picture is one of an economy which peaked in January and then began a slide into recession," she said. "While new or revised data may change this picture, it would be difficult to interpret currently available information any other way."

Meanwhile, several major banks lowered their prime lending rates to 19 1/2 percent Friday amid the evidence of a recession that would reduce the demand for money.

Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, the nation's fifth largest bank, cut the rate from 20 percent and was quickly joined at the lower rate by several other banks, including San Francisco's Bank of America, the nation's largest.

But Citibank of New York, the nation's second largest bank, cut its rate only to 19 1/2 percent.

The prime rate, which banks charge on loans to their most credit-worthy corporate customers, reached the peak of 20 percent early this month.

President Carter said at his news conference Thursday that a recession probably has begun, although he predicted it will be "mild and short."

Ms. Slater used the word "moderate" in her forecast of the recession, but said it would not be nearly so severe as the steep 1974-1975 downturn when unemployment hit 9 percent.

"We are not looking at pervasive weakness everywhere in the economy — either by industry or geographical sector," she said. She declared that the energy exploration and aircraft industries are strong and predicted an upturn in housing and good export growth.

The administration is forecasting that unemployment will hit a peak of 7.2 percent in the fourth quarter of this year, with an additional increase to 7.3 percent in 1981. However, one top government official says privately he thinks the jobless rate will hit 8 percent this year.

While economic growth slowed in the first quarter, inflation worsened to an 11.4 percent annual rate, up from 9.4 percent in the fourth quarter of 1979. This is according to the so-called fixed-weighted price index that is part of the GNP report.

The GNP inflation index measures price changes at all levels of the economy, rather than just at the consumer level, which is the function of the Consumer Price Index. Consumer prices rose at an 18 percent annual rate in January and February.

The consumer price report for March will be released next Tuesday.

The gross national product measures the total output of goods and services in the economy. Total GNP crossed the $2.5 trillion mark in the first quarter to $2,520.3 billion, at an annual rate, before adjusting for inflation.

While the recession may have started as early as February, Ms. Slater said, the actual GNP statistics that would confirm the slide won't be available for many months. A recession is commonly said to occur when the GNP declines for two consecutive quarters.

Ms. Slater said it is "quite likely" that total GNP will decline in the second quarter and that it could continue to decline until sometime in the fourth quarter.

She also said she thinks the new recession will be typical of post-war recessions, of which there have been six so far.

While the recession is bad news, Slater said there will be some good news on inflation. She said Carter's statement Thursday that the rate of increase in consumer prices could drop to below 10 percent after mid-year, barring new shocks to the economy, "is certainly a reasonable assumption."

Export ban leaves supplier less Levis

By DAVID MINTHORN

BONN, West Germany (AP) — WANTED — 17,150 pairs of blue jeans, Western style, for Moscow Olympics workers. Bids urgently sought by Adidas sporting goods company.

President Carter's ban on exporting U.S. goods and technology to the Moscow Olympics has left West Germany's famed athletic supply house in a bind.

As prime contractor of uniforms for Soviet games personnel, Adidas has to replace 17,150 pairs of blue jeans that were to have been supplied to the Russians by American subcontractor Levi Strauss and Co.

"We're looking for a new partner, but things are very difficult at this stage," Adidas spokesman Klaus Mueller said Friday in a telephone interview. "We're negotiating but we have nothing definite yet."

Mueller said Helmut Schmidt pledged that West German companies will not take advantage of the Olympic supply embargo ordered by Carter to protest the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan. Presumably this would also include clothing suppliers.

But West German television reported this week from Moscow that unnamed German companies are stepping in to replace U.S. firms on a variety of Olympic deals. The report could not be confirmed in West Germany. Mueller said he has no idea where the missing jeans will come from. "It may even be an African supplier," he said.

"The Russians may have to re-evaluate their request for jeans if we can't get another supplier. They are usually very tolerant in such matters," Mueller added.

That could prove a major disappointment for some slated to receive the denim outfits. Blue jeans, and especially U.S. made jeans, are a prized possession for modish young Russians and a hot item on the Soviet black market.

Adidas signed a contract with the Soviets in 1976 to outfit 30,000 Olympic workers — everyone from stadium vendors to competition officials and top managers.

"We were surprised by the size of the contract after outfitting only 8,000 personnel at the 1976 Montreal Olympics and 7,000 at the 1972 Munich Games," Mueller said.

He said Adidas subcontracted with its French subsidiary, Arena, and with Levi Strauss for many of the uniforms, and Adidas clothing has already been shipped to Moscow.

But Levi Strauss made clear last month it would comply with the presidential decree and withhold the jeans.

Mueller said Adidas might consider taking legal action for breach of contract if the Levis are not delivered.

Colombian guerrillas refuse offer, won't free hostages

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — With a shout of "Victory or death!" a leftist guerrilla negotiator on Friday signaled her group's refusal to accept a Colombian government plan to free 20 hostages held in the Dominican Republic Embassy.

"The M 19 maintains its position. We will not cede," she shouted to reporters at the end of an 85-minute session with government negotiators. The first face-to-face meeting since Tuesday.

For the hostages, 18 diplomats including U.S. Ambassador Deike Ascencio and two Colombian citizens, Friday was their 52d day as prisoners of the guerrillas.

The government has refused a demand that seven jailed M 19 leaders be freed, but offered to give them a speedy trial and said it would allow international human rights groups to monitor the legal proceedings.

A communique issued by the government after the latest meeting said only that the negotiators had discussed "ideas" dealing with the human rights commission of the Organization of American States.

A commission member said the group would not visit the embassy hostages but would investigate the cases of some 300 suspected left-wing guerrillas held in Colombian jails.

Military authorities announced later that eight prisoners suspected of being M 19 guerrillas had been freed, and government sources said it was because of lack of evidence. The eight were not identified, but it was believed they were not among the M 19 leaders and did not include the seven named by the embassy invaders.

President Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala summoned his top civilian and military advisers to a conference at a presidential retreat on a military base outside Bogota. He has said the government would not use force against the embassy guerrillas unless the hostages' lives were endangered.

Practice makes perfect

San Francisco ready for next quake

By GAYLE FISHER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Helicopters ferried gored "victims" children crouched beneath their desks and radios cracked with news of disaster Friday as San Francisco, leveled 74 years ago, rehearsed for the next great quake.

The exercise, called Cal Medex 80, was the largest in California history. It began at 5:23 a.m. when officials said an earthquake hit registering 8.3 on the Richter scale. That was the same time the earthquake of April 18, 1906, jarred the city into flaming rubble.

Much of the action — involving some 2,500 people, including about 900 National Guard members — took place at some of the city's hospitals, where triage, a system for choosing and treating those with a chance of survival who need treatment most urgently, was practiced on Guard members in dramatic makeup.

During the day, 315 "casualties" were reported, and a score of survivors were "treated" at 20 area hospitals, which "lost" some 750 hospital beds in the mock quake.

Four state helicopters shuffled the injured in and out of casualty centers, including a huge area in Golden Gate Park. Telephones were avoided, simulating expected trouble with phone lines. Radios crackled with messages from medical crews evaluating the hordes of injured in ghoulish makeup.

Mayor Dianne Feinstein said the drill was mostly successful. Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. said he was "impressed" and promised the state would do "everything it can to help San Francisco prepare for a major disaster."

City officials say the test was desperately needed, because experts insist another big quake is on the way.

One of the most ominous predictions comes from Dr. Bruce Bolt, head of the University of California's seismograph station at Berkeley. He says there is a 50-50 chance that a paralyzing temblor will devastate San Francisco before the '80s pass, leaving thousands dead and much of the city in ruins.

Dr. Donald Trunkey, chief of surgery at San Francisco General and a member of the state's Office of Emergency Services medical team, says flatly that the city is not prepared to face a major quake.

"It would be a disaster," he said. "It's that simple. We're not prepared."

Planners admit they are just beginning to fill the gaps in the city's emergency plan. They expect at least 5,000 deaths, thousands of injuries and acres of destruction, including falling buildings, buckled roads, fires, failed water supplies and a host of other major and minor problems when the great quake hits.

The exercise was guided from the main fire station, where Tom Jenkins, an architect with the Office of Emergency Services, directed activities.

In a real disaster, Mayor Dianne Feinstein and Phil Day, a retired Army colonel who now is director of emergency services, would run the show. They both traveled around the city Friday, viewing the action.

"The first priority is to set up radio communications," said Jenkins at the command post, a small office crowded with half a dozen radios and large maps on the walls and easels marked with hospitals, helicopter landing pads and casualty collection points.

More allies join Carter's offensive on Iran

By The Associated Press

More U.S. allies lined up Friday behind President Carter's economic offensive against Iran, but a lone American mother defied Carter's travel ban and set out for Tehran, hoping to meet her son, one of the hostages in Tehran.

In Washington, Carter disclosed he has received word from Tehran quoting Iranian strongman Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini as saying the 50 American hostages will not be freed until after the November U.S. presidential election is over.

Khomeini "does not want the hostages released" and opinion among Iranian authorities is divided over when they might be freed, Carter told reporters of the Westinghouse broadcasting system in an interview taped at the White House.

"I've had several reports lately that he (Khomeini) says the hostages will not be released until after this election year is over in the United States," Carter said.

Iranian leaders continued to belittle the threat of the U.S. campaign of economic pressure.

President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, reacting to Carter's hints that he might order a blockade or mining of Iranian ports, told Iran's news agency, "We shall provide the means of resistance." His foreign minister, Sadegh Ghotbzadeh, sounded a tougher note, saying Iran "will fight" if blockaded.

But at the same time their government was facing a new volatile situation domestically. After the ruling Revolutionary Council ordered a crackdown on leftist groups at Iranian universities, clashes were reported between Moslem and leftist students in the northern town of Babolsar.

On Thursday Carter announced further economic sanctions against Iran, barring Iranian imports and financial transactions with Iran, and facilitating American claims on Iranian funds in the United States.

The first U.S. ally to join in the U.S. campaign was Portugal, whose government Thursday announced a total ban on Iranian trade. Australia and Denmark signaled Friday that they are ready to close ranks with Washington, and other allies are expected to decide to support the United States early next week.

In Canberra, officials said the Australian government on Monday would probably decide on at least a partial ban of exports of machinery, iron and steel to Iran. The Australians have already withdrawn their ambassador and trade mission from Tehran.

In Copenhagen, Prime Minister Anker Joergensen announced after meetings with other government officials that "we are ready to do everything to support U.S. efforts." He said the Danish actions would be taken in coordination with the eight other members of the European Common Market.

The Common Market foreign ministers meet Monday in Luxembourg and European observers predict they will approve some kind of anti-Iranian steps.

London's Financial Times said Britain proposed that as first steps the Common Market members reduce their embassy staffs in Tehran and the number of Iranian envoys in their countries, reintroduce visa controls and impose a formal prohibition of arms sale. It said further measures could include a recall of ambassadors and a complete trade ban, but the freezing of Iranian assets was specifically excluded from the proposals.

As part of his new sanctions package, Carter also banned travel by Americans to Iran, except for journalists.

But Barbara Timm of Milwaukee, Wis., mother of Tehran hostage Kevin Hermening, a Marine sergeant, took off Friday from Paris, saying she would try to meet with her son in Tehran. Iranian authorities have said such visits by relatives of the hostages, in their 167th day of captivity, might be allowed.

Mrs. Timm boarded a West German Lufthansa flight to Frankfurt, West Germany. A reliable source in Frankfurt said she switched to a connecting Lufthansa flight that took off for Tehran.

Officials in Washington said the Carter administration fears that visiting relatives might be "very cynically used and manipulated by the Iranians."

The Soviet news agency Tass denounced Carter's new economic reprisals as "crude pressure" and said Washington had "openly decided to begin plundering" Iranian assets frozen in the United States. It accused Washington of "pursuing a policy of economic blackmail and preparing to use military force" and said sanctions should be applied against United States instead of Iran.

Motion filed

HOUSTON (AP) — Lawyers for SEDCO, Inc. filed a motion Friday in federal court that attempts to put any blame for damage from the Ixtoc 1 oil spill on Petroleos Mexicanos (Pemex) and Perforaciones Marinas Del Golfo S.A. (Permarco).

All three firms were named in more than $371 million in suits that were filed after the well blew out June 3, 1979 and later stained Texas beaches with crude oil.

SEDCO filed the motion after Thursday receiving permission from U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor to seek any damages awarded because of the oil spill from Pemex and Permarco.

A fair site?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commerce Secretary Philip M. Klutznick announced Friday that the United States will nominate New Orleans as the site of the 1984 World's Fair.

Klutznick said the U.S. delegation to the Bureau of International Exhibitions will push the nomination at its meeting in Paris on June 12. The final decision is up to the bureau.

Exhibitors from 25 countries are likely to participate in the exhibition, which the Commerce Department said is expected to draw 15 million visitors. The theme of the exhibition is "the world of rivers — fresh water as a source of life."

Klutznick said both New Orleans and Anchorage, Alaska, made excellent proposals in bidding for the fair and the selection of New Orleans was a close call.

Oilman escapes

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — A kidnapped U.S. oil company executive escaped from his captors Friday when they arrived at the Nicaraguan consulate and asked to speak to the ambassador, a consular official reported.

A spokesman for the Texaco oil company in New York had reported earlier that the kidnap victim, Arnoldo Quiros, was free and unharmed. Police said he was abducted by four men Thursday when he left a hotel in San Pedro Sula, 160 miles northwest of Tegucigalpa.

Quiros, 40, is a vice president of Texaco Caribbean Inc.

Begin flies home

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin returned Friday from talks with President Carter in Washington and said Israel stands firm on three major issues blocking the negotiations on Palestinian autonomy.

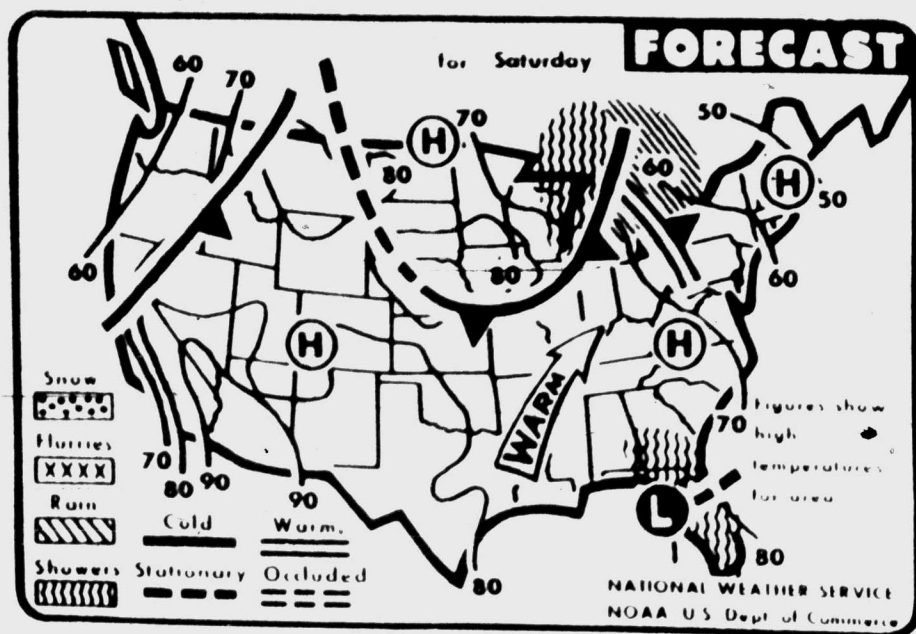

Speaking to reporters on arrival at Ben Gurion Airport, Begin said Israel's position was unchanged on the status of Jerusalem, the retention of Israeli control of security in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River, and limitation of the powers of a Palestinian autonomous council.

Midland doctor files third in series of suits

A legal round robin has involved Midland Memorial Hospital, a Midland doctor and a local couple in a series of malpractice and negligence suits in district court here.

In his answer to the hospital's suit, Dean alleges Mrs. Thomas' injuries, if any, "resulted solely from acts on the part of the agents, servants and employees of Midland Memorial Hospital."

Moreover, the suit alleges, hospital officials failed to comply with their own rules and regulations, failed to report the alleged malpractice to any medical peer review committee and failed to notify Dean any review was being done.

Veterans, their families lobby for life of Texas commission

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Closing down the Texas Veterans Affairs Commission would deny ex-GIs, their families and widows a friend who treats them as people and not numbers, the Sunset Advisory Commission was told Friday.

The Sunset Commission is studying 29 state agencies and will recommend to the 1981 Legislature whether they should be continued, abolished or forced to change their way of doing things.

The commission staff recommended continuation of the veterans commission, saying Texas veterans and their families would suffer a "substantial decrease in services" from the U.S. Veterans Administration without it.

No hearing date has been set on the suits or counter-filings.

New mortgages confusing, risky

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Would-be homebuyers are finding new ways to finance their houses with unconventional mortgages.

The new mortgages can be confusing. They also can be risky; in some cases, you may end up paying more than you expected.

Despite the drawbacks, however, the unconventional mortgages offer hope to people who cannot find or afford traditional housing loans.

The latest entry on the market is the renegotiable rate mortgage, dubbed the RRM and recently approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. Other options include the variable rate mortgage, or VRM, and the graduated payment mortgage, or GPM.

The RRM, the VRM and the GPM have one thing in common: an end to the fixed monthly payment. Other conditions vary, however. Here is a guide to some of the basics:

RENEGOTIABLE RATE MORTGAGE

The RRM — sometimes called a rollover mortgage — features an interest rate that is renegotiated every three to five years. The rate can rise or fall by a maximum of half a percentage point a year. The total increase or decrease during the life of the mortgage is limited to five percentage points. Increases and decreases are based on an index linked to average mortgage rates.

Jim Kendall of the U.S. League of Savings Associations predicted that the RRM will be "a very, very successful instrument."

The rollover mortgages have been available in a few states for years. The bank board has now said that all federally regulated savings and loan institutions can offer the RRM. The bank board also said that the S&Ls can offer the rollover mortgages exclusively; they do not have to continue offering fixed-rate mortgages as well.

Some consumer groups criticized the RRM. They said homeowners would find it hard to pay the higher monthly payments that could result from a renegotiation. Board officials countered that the rollover mortgage can help protect consumers from having to pay today's high interest rates for the entire life of a loan. In approving the RRM, they also included a provision that allows borrowers 90 days before each renewal to shop around for better terms.

VARIABLE RATE MORTGAGE

The VRM is similar to the RRM, but there are important differences. There is no fixed renewal date. After the first year of the mortgage, the interest rate can be raised or lowered once a year. The maximum increase is half a percentage point a year or two and a-half percentage points over the life of the mortgage. There is no limit on decreases. Rates are tied to the Federal Home Loan Bank Cost of Money Index which reflects the amount the banks have to pay for funds.

The bank board authorized federally regulated savings and loan institutions to offer the VRMs beginning last July 1. Several states allowed the variable mortgages even before that.

The VRMs were not a success in most parts of the country, partly because the board said that any institution which offered variable mortgages had to offer conventional mortgages as well. Borrowers preferred the security of a fixed-payment system. Kendall said the RRM will "probably be much more popular," explaining that because the interest rate on the rollover mortgage is tied to market conditions rather than to the cost-of-money index, "it's a little more likely to go down."

GRADUATED PAYMENT MORTGAGE

The GPM is designed for young families who expect their income to rise. The most widespread use of the plan is with mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

Monthly payments during the early years of a GPM are lower than they would be with a conventional mortgage. They rise gradually, according to a fixed schedule, over five to 10 years and then level off. Payments during the last years of the mortgage are higher than they would be with a conventional arrangement. The overall cost of the GPM is more than that of a traditional mortgage.

Justice cites his experience in campaign for re-election

Experience is his primary qualification for being re-elected for another six-year term on the Texas Supreme Court, said Justice Sears McGee on Friday during a brief campaign stop in Midland.

His only Democratic opponent is Lawrence Bergman of Garland. He has passed the state bar exam, but McGee claimed his opponent has no judicial experience.

Since there is no Republican candidate for the office, the race essentially will be over with results of the May 3 primary.

McGee, 62, has served in the Harris County Court of Law and District Court. The past 11 years he has been on the Texas Supreme Court.

"My opponent has no judicial experience," claimed McGee. Straw polls taken among various bar groups in Texas show McGee to be a strong first in the race, he said.

Despite that, he is campaigning to avoid a situation that happened a few years ago when Judge Charles Barrow was defeated by unknown Houston attorney Don Yarbrough. Yarbrough later was indicted for perjury and forgery and resigned.

McGee suggested that party lines be dropped in campaigns and the candidates allowed to run against each other. He is opposed to justices being appointed rather than elected.

The State Supreme Court hears only civil cases, he pointed out.

A native of Houston, he holds a bachelor's and law degrees from Rice University and The University of Texas.

Despite problems, funds transferred from food stamp program to AFDC

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Board of Human Resources voted Friday to transfer money from the food stamp program to Aid to Families with Dependent Children even though there is a "funding crisis" in food stamps.

Commissioner Jerome Chapman of Human Resources also informed the board the governor's office is conducting an open-end investigation of the Texas food stamp program.

Chapman said if Congress does not raise the national spending limit of $6.18 billion for food stamps by May 15, the U.S. Department of Agriculture will be forced to suspend or reduce benefits temporarily, effective June 1.

An additional $2.5 billion is needed to keep the program operating.

Texas gasoline supplies at most abundant level

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas gasoline supplies now are at their most abundant level in 12 months, according to the American Automobile Association.

The AAA also reported Friday motor fuel prices increased only moderately and diesel prices actually declined in the past month.

The AAA's monthly Fuel Gauge Report based on a survey of 398 Texas service stations also indicated 8 percent of the stations now are operating 24 hours a day compared with 5 percent a month ago. The report said this is the highest level for such operations since last May.

Gasoline price averages have increased from 1 to 2.5 cents a gallon since the mid-April report. January-February increases had averaged 8 cents, those in February-March 5.5 cents a gallon.

Current statewide averages ranged from a low of $1.14 a gallon for self-service regular, up from $1.13 a month ago, to $1.26 for full-service premium unleaded, up from $1.25.

Other full-service averages were regular $1.178, up from $1.159, unleaded $1.217, up from $1.197, and premium $1.226, up from $1.208.

Other self-service averages were unleaded $1.184, up from $1.169, premium $1.192, up from $1.179, and premium unleaded $1.227, up from $1.217.

The statewide diesel average dropped from $1.10 to $1.094 a gallon.

Houston had the highest full-service averages $1.194 for regular, $1.248 for premium, and $1.235 for unleaded. Amarillo had a low of $1.129 for regular and $1.17 for unleaded, while El Paso had a low of $1.195 for premium.

El Paso had the lowest self-service averages, $1.096 for regular, $1.142 for premium and $1.138 for unleaded. Waco had the highest averages for premium, $1.222, and unleaded, $1.202, while Austin had the highest for regular, $1.159.

DOE official expects increase to reach gas consumers soon

HOUSTON (AP) — A Department of Energy official said Friday she expects the 10-cent-a-gallon increase in gasoline prices resulting from President Carter's oil imports fee to be passed on to motorists "quite quickly."

Doris Dewton, an assistant administrator in the Economic Regulator Administration, also said she is "optimistic" that Congress will replace the temporary fee with a permanent ad valorem gasoline tax.

The $4.62-a-barrel imports fee imposed by Carter's April 2 proclamation is to be shifted entirely to gasoline.

"As to when it will appear at the service station pump, the persons who incur the obligation to purchase the entitlements will be able to pass it on as of May 15," Miss Dewton said.

"We expect that passthrough to the retail level to be fairly quick, particularly since retail price regulations pertain to the last delivery a retailer has received. Generally the costs are reflected quite quickly."

Under the program, importers of crude will pay the fee to the federal government and then be reimbursed by gasoline marketers by selling entitlements to all gasoline refiners.

Miss Dewton and other DOE officials were in Houston for a briefing of representatives of all segments of the industry affected. A similar briefing is scheduled Tuesday in Washington.

Mrs. Dewton told a news conference there will be adjustments in the 10-cent-a-gallon price increase resulting from time-to-time. "There will be month-to-month variances based on the volumes of oil imports and domestic gasoline production," she said.

She said the conservation fee is expected to reduce gasoline and diesel consumption and imports by 100,000 barrels a day this year and up to 250,000 barrels a day by the end of the third year.

The direct effect will raise overall consumer prices about one-half a percentage point, she said, with most of it to be reflected in May and June.

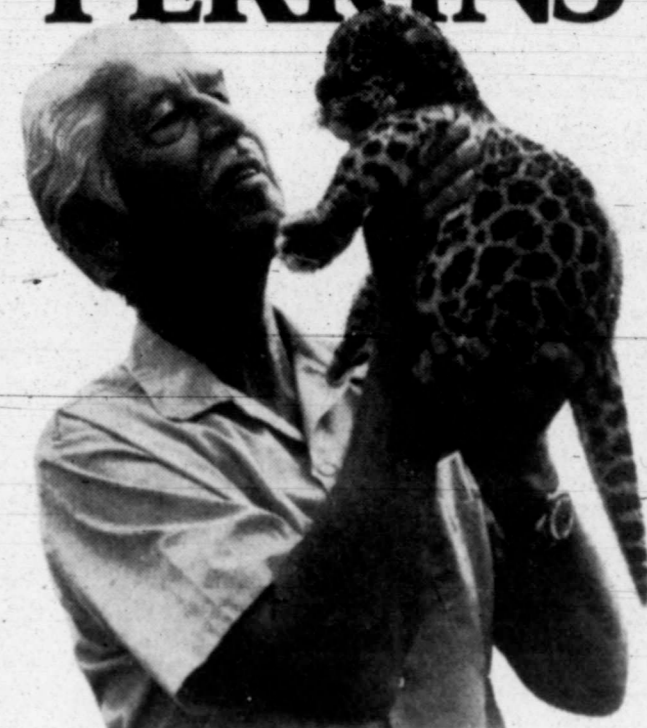

"Over the following year, additional, but much smaller, indirect effects will be felt."

You can win over $1,000 in prizes FREE! during the... Spring Shopping Spree

Visit the wide variety of shops and boutiques in San Miguel Square and fill your shopping list with an exciting array of jewelry, sporting goods, clothing, ...anything you'd like. You could win all the merchandise on your list absolutely free!

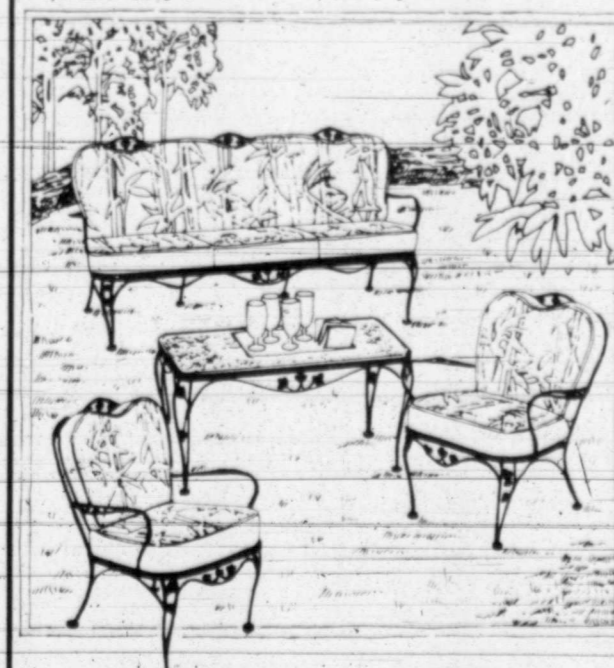

Here's how to play:

- Pick up an official "Spring Shopping Spree" list from any of the friendly merchants in San Miguel Square. No purchase is required to participate. You must be 18 years of age or older to be eligible.
- Browse through the Square and choose ten articles of merchandise (one from each of ten different stores) that you would like to win. Enter the merchandise, name of store, and retail cost for each item in the blanks provided on the official shopping list. Then ask a salesperson in each shop to initial your list next to the item chosen in their store. IMPORTANT: Any list missing the salesperson's initials beside any item of merchandise will automatically be disqualified.
- After you've selected ten items from ten different San Miguel Square shops, have a merchant total your shopping list and deposit it in the official entry box located by the cash register in every shop in the Square. REMEMBER: You may enter as many shopping lists as you like during the month long "Shopping Spree." All shopping lists must be deposited in an entry box before 1:00 p.m., Saturday, April 26, 1980.
- On Friday, March 28, 1980, the President of the San Miguel Square Merchant Association selected a random amount between $1,000 and $1,500, and sealed it in an envelope. At 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, April 26, 1980, that envelope will be opened, revealing the sealed amount in dollars and cents. The shopping list whose total amount is closest to the selected amount entitles that participant to win all items listed, absolutely FREE! In case of a tie, the shopping list with the earliest date will be declared the winner.

Many Hispanics answer Census

By MICHAEL A. CHIRAK
Associated Press Writer

Mexican-Americans in the Southwest and on the West Coast appear to have answered the census in large numbers, leading many Hispanic leaders to voice optimism that a big publicity campaign aimed at Hispanics will succeed in avoiding an undercount.

Initial mail-in returns in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California showed high return figures in heavily Hispanic areas. Among the most notable figures was an area-leading 77 percent return from East Los Angeles, which has a high concentration of Mexican-Americans.

In another heavily Hispanic area, Garden Grove and Santa Ana southeast of Los Angeles, a 95 percent initial mail-in return was reported, highest in California.

"It's very encouraging," Ralph Hurtado, a spokesman for the Mexican-American Legal Defense Education Fund in California, said Thursday.

"There is still the potential for an undercount of more than 20 percent because of the non-returns," Hurtado said. "But we are encouraged."

The high returns came despite concerns among Mexican-American leaders that Hispanics might not respond because they did not believe promises that census information would be kept confidential.

The concerns were heightened when the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service conducted illegal-alien raids in Phoenix in mid-March, leading Mexican-American groups to say that would discourage a good response.

The groups have urged Hispanics to respond to the census, calling it a "political count" and saying that a high and accurate count of Hispanics will help ensure "millions of dollars in federal funds" sent to cities on the basis of minority and overall populations.

Despite the raids in Phoenix, the census bureau reported an initial 85 percent return there.

"I think it's real encouraging that the response is good," said Carlos Castro, counsel for Chicanos por la Causa in Phoenix. "We had 24 workers organized through the mayor's office. They went door to door."

"Although... Hispanic community leaders objected to the INS raids, they encouraged cooperation with the census," Castro said. "I believe it did some good."

He said there are efforts under way to get an extension beyond July 1 for a Department of Justice order to the immigration service to ease up on illegal-alien raids.

After the raids, state Sen. Alfredo Gutierrez, a Hispanic and minority leader of the Arizona Senate, called the immigration service racist. "However, we refuse to be cowed by INS and we will continue to support the census," he said.

Albuquerque, N.M., had an initial return rate of 76.6 percent, the census bureau reported, and there a community and media campaign was generally credited for the success.

The most pessimistic reaction came from San Diego Mexican-American leaders, who said the Phoenix immigration raids caused problems. No return figure was available for the area, but Herman Baca of the Committee on Chicano Rights said the effects were adverse.

"My understanding is that the response this year has been very, very minimal here," Baca said. He said the Phoenix raids "sent a shock wave of fear into a lot of Chicano communities."

Teresa Brown, 18, has been chosen as the Junior Lioness of the week by the Downtown Lions Club. She is a senior at Lee High School and is the daughter of Douglas and Phyllis Brown, 2610 Fannin Ave. Miss Brown has been named to Who's Who in music, Who's Who Among American High School Students, the state orchestra and AAUW Outstanding Girl. She hopes to become a physical therapist.

Women ask resignation of Resources chairman

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Women incensed over a comment about sterilization by Chairman Hilmar Moore of the Texas Board of Human Resources compared him Friday to Hitler and demanded to his face that he resign.

"No more, Hilmar Moore — throw the racist out the door," chanted a group of approximately 50 men and women as they confronted Moore at a board meeting.

"Hitler," shouted a woman, pointing her finger at Moore as he sat with his arm cocked over the back of a chair listening to the demonstrators, who had interrupted the meeting.

"We'll accept it (Moore's resignation) now," yelled another woman.

"I hate to disappoint you but you're not going to get it," responded Moore, who aroused emotions with a remark two months ago that poor people give up their right to have children when they cannot support them.

In what he claims was an off-hand comment, Moore told a radio-reporter after the Feb. 26 board meeting, "I've always felt when you cannot support yourself or your family that you give up certain rights. One of those is to bring in more children.... I think it's a right you give up. If you don't want to give that up, get a job and get off welfare."

Betty Anne Duke of the Women's Action Group distributed a statement Friday saying Moore's comments "make him unfit to be in a decision-making position regarding the treatment of poor people in this state."

"The primary targets of sterilization programs have always been Third World women," the statement said, citing Puerto Ricans, American Indians and blacks.

The board administers the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program, which Ms. Duke said provides $33.41 per welfare recipient.

"You spend more than that on a good bottle of wine," a woman told Moore.

The demonstrators formed in the parking lot and filed past an armed security officer into the meeting room, chanting and carrying a banner that said, "Forced Sterilization equals Genocide."

Moore agreed to allow the demonstrators 20 minutes to stage their protest but apparently intended to make them wait until the end of the lengthy agenda. The demonstrators, however, interrupted the meeting after it appeared several reporters were leaving.

The group was made up predominantly of white females. There were some blacks and Hispanics and about 10 men but the women did the talking.

"Someday," one said, "you're going to be naked as a jaybird on Judgment Day."

"Sterilize him," snapped another demonstrator after the group had completed its protest and was quietly walking out.

After the group had left, Moore said, "I apologize to those of you here on state business that my personal remark off the top of my head caused this demonstration."

The demonstrators indicated they would continue their protest at the board's next meeting, May 14 in Beaumont.

Carter attacks Kennedy as 'biggest spender in history of Senate'

By MERRILL HARTSON
Associated Press Writer

While Sen. Edward Kennedy rested, President Carter unleashed a fierce verbal attack against his Democratic challenger Friday, accusing Kennedy of being perhaps the biggest spender "in the history of the United States Senate."

Acknowledging that Tuesday's Democratic primary in Pennsylvania "looks very close," Carter told Pennsylvania broadcast interviewers he feels Kennedy also has advocated positions harmful to the nation's strategic interests.

The president sounded off as Rosalynn Carter was telling voters in Philadelphia that her husband's political critics are "playing on" the frustrations of Iran, Afghanistan and the economy.

Carter was sticking with his stay-at-home campaign strategy, but found time to grant interviews to Pennsylvania broadcasters and newspapers. Mrs. Carter stumped for votes in Philadelphia, the state's largest city.

In his interview with Westinghouse Broadcasting System, which has several outlets in Pennsylvania, Carter delivered what may have been his sharpest attack yet against Kennedy.

In labeling his challenger a big-spender, Carter said: "The only reductions in expenditures that I know he (Kennedy) has advocated have been in the defense budget."

And, calling attention to the crises in Iran and Afghanistan, the president added: "This is exactly the wrong time to cut our nation's ability to defend itself."

It was the strongest words Carter has used since he rallied against Kennedy during a nationally broadcast news conference in February. At that time, Carter decried Kennedy's second-guessing of his handling of the Iranian hostage crisis, and said the senator's campaign rhetoric wasn't "helpful" to the nation.

With the Pennsylvania primary only four days away, Kennedy returned to Washington for a brief campaign respite. The Massachusetts challenger learned he had won the backing of Jewish community leaders in Pittsburgh as he looked for an upset over Carter in the Tuesday faceoff.

Former U.N. Ambassador George Bush had Pennsylvania to himself as Republican presidential front-runner Ronald Reagan sought votes in Texas and Rep. John Anderson continued his campaign hiatus. Sources said Anderson was certain to announce next week a decision to bow out of the GOP race and seek the White House as an independent.

Mrs. Carter acknowledged that Americans are frustrated over such things as Iran, Afghanistan and the economy. But in defending the president, she said that "our opponents play on these frustrations, yet they don't have any responsibilities."

"But Jimmy Carter has responsibility and the people trust him and I hope they vote for him."

The first lady seemed to acknowledge the tough campaign Kennedy has waged in Pennsylvania by observing: "We don't underestimate our opponent. Pennsylvania is important to us. We have a real attachment to this state."

It wasn't immediately known what

Carter told the Pennsylvania Journalists. The president had granted similar interviews to five New York television stations on the Friday preceding that state's March 25 primary, which he lost to Kennedy.

Carter carried 65 of the state's 67 counties in the Democratic primary of 1976, getting 37 percent of the vote against a host of presidential contenders, including Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

Speaker's race 'needs reviving,' candidate says

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas speaker's race needs something to revive it, Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, said Friday as he recommended that future House speakers be limited to two terms.

Bryant also told a news conference that future leaders of the Texas House should have to live within a budget approved by other state representatives.

Bryant, finishing out his third two-year term from a Dallas district, is the only announced opponent to Speaker Bill Clayton for the 1981 Legislature.

Clayton is running for an unprecedented fourth term as speaker. He also is under investigation by a Houston federal grand jury in connection with an FBI "sting" investigation. Clayton has acknowledged receiving a $5,000 cash "campaign contribution" during a discussion of bidding for the state employee group insurance contract. But he said he meant to give it back.

"I have no idea how this is going to turn out," Bryant said. "I know that Clayton is still a candidate, and as I understand it, I am the only announced candidate against him."

Rep. Bill Caraway, D-Houston, however, has announced against Clayton and claimed 31 pledges of support.

Bryant said he has 64 pledges from incumbent representatives to support him for speaker even if Clayton is a candidate. Another six incumbents would vote for him if Clayton is not a candidate, Bryant said. He said he also had numerous pledges of support from candidates who are challenging incumbents or seeking "open" seats.

Bryant said that in 144 years only six out of 78 speakers of the Texas House have been elected to more than one consecutive term and only one, Clayton, has ever sought more than two consecutive terms.

"It is not only appropriate, but also essential that the power of the speaker over the affairs of state be given some reasonable boundaries," he said.

Bryant also said that the speaker's office "is one of the few offices of state government, if not the only one, which has no specific ceiling on spending."

He noted that the House approves at the beginning of each regular legislative session a resolution setting limits on expenses for each representative along with maximum salaries that a representative may pay an employee. Currently representative's expenses are limited to about $4,500 a month with a limit of $1,300 a month for employees.

"Unlimited spending has not only been wasteful of tax dollars, but also contributes to the politicizing of the office," Bryant said. "The current speaker has some 25 personal employees on the state payroll, considerably more than twice the number employed by his predecessor."

He said Clayton "has cost the state and its taxpayers something in excess of $300,000, or about three times more than his predecessor's entire annual budget."

Remote Brazilian uranium find threatens primitive Indian tribe

By PETER EISNER

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — A primitive Indian tribe that lives along the remote jungle frontier between Venezuela and Brazil may be marked for extinction because it has the modern-day misfortune of living on top of a uranium mine.

Anthropologists and international groups supporting Indian rights say that unless the government acts soon to protect the Yanomamo Indians, the once-fierce tribe of forest dwellers will surely die.

Since 1975, when a Brazilian government-backed study said there were reserves of uranium ore, tin, gold and even diamonds on Yanomamo land, anthropologists say hundreds of Indians have been killed, either in skirmishes with prospectors and highway builders, or by diseases the outsiders transmit, for which they have no immunity.

Specialists say there are 8,000 Yanomamo living in dozens of villages in the isolated northern Brazilian territory of Roraima and the state of Amazonas with another 8,000 across the ill-defined Venezuelan border.

"In 10 years, I'm not sure how many of them will be left," said one Brazilian anthropologist based here. "There are people in the government who view the Indians as an obstacle to economic growth. They wouldn't mind letting them die."

The plight of this one tribe, scientists say, is typical of the fewer than 200,000 members of 125 indigenous tribes scattered through the vast interior of this continent-size nation of 120 million people. The Indians, who numbered about 1 million in 1900, are unwitting pawns in Brazil's drive to develop its last frontier. The story is striking in its similarity to the Western expansion that decimated the Indian population in the United States a century ago.

Last year, a group of Indian-rights advocates presented to the Brazilian government a plan that called for creation of a 25,000-square-mile national Indian park that would protect the Yanomamo land. Such a park, equivalent in size to the state of West Virginia, would define Yanomamo property and regulate mining activities there.

Groups in Britain and the United States have rallied to the cause. The Boston-based Anthropological Research Center has organized petitions asking the Brazilian government to accept the plan.

The National Indian Foundation, FUNAI, empowered to protect Brazil's indigenous population, says it has already decided to establish the huge park.

But critics say FUNAI has links to some of the mining enterprises it is supposed to regulate. And they say that even if well-meaning officials in Brasilia, the nation's capital, claim that a Yanomamo Indian park has been established, they may lack the authority and manpower to enforce its boundaries.

"Saying the park exists is an empty gesture," said Peter Silverwood Cope, a British anthropologist based here, who has visited Yanomamo villages and worked for FUNAI for two years.

"The problem is terrific to guarantee a park of this size. You could stretch the whole Brazilian Army hand-to-hand and you wouldn't be able to guarantee this piece of jungle."

Dengue confirmed in Mexico

ATLANTA (AP) — A surveillance study in Mexico has confirmed an outbreak of dengue fever at Tampico, a Gulf Coast city about 300 miles south of the Texas border, the national Center for Disease Control said Friday.

The CDC warned last month that outbreaks of the influenza-like disease were moving through Mexico and could spread into the southwest and southeast portions of the United States.

The mosquito-borne disease causes chills, headache, muscle pains and a rash. Although it has caused deaths in the Far East, particularly among children in Thailand and Burma, it has caused no deaths in the western hemisphere, the CDC said.

Dengue fever entered Mexico from Guatemala and Belize in November 1978, and some outbreaks were recorded in southern Mexico last year, the CDC said in its Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report.

The CDC laboratories at San Juan reported earlier that there were more than 3,000 cases of the disease in Mexico last year.

The disease is spread by the Aedes aegypti mosquito.

Bank planning annual fee for charge cards

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The president of the world's largest commercial bank says if people don't want to pay a $12 annual membership fee for credit cards, they should quit using them.

Eugene B. Moranville announced Thursday that Bank of America will charge the annual fee for its 5.1 million Visa and MasterCard accounts beginning June 5 as an alternative to raising the monthly interest rate above the current 1.5 percent level.

"A membership fee is, in our view, much more equitable," the bank president said. "Since it is an across-the-board fee, all cardholders will pay the cost, rather than just those who extend their payments."

Moranville said he doubted customers would stop using the cards because of the fee. But he said those who want to avoid it can do so by not using their cards after June 5 while continuing to make their monthly payments.

Otherwise, he said the fee will be pro-rated for the remaining months on cards already issued and the charges will be shown on customer bills.

Moranville blamed the need for the fee on cost increases.

THE NEWSPAPER BIBLE

Who is this who heals?

So for the second time they called in the man who had been blind and told him, "Give the glory to God, not to Jesus, for we know Jesus is an evil person."

"I don't know whether He is good or bad," the man replied, "but I know this: I was blind, and now I see!"

"But what did he do?" they asked. "How did he heal you?"

"Look!" the man exclaimed. "I told you once; didn't you listen? Why do you want to hear it again? Do you want to become His disciples too?"

Then they cursed him and said, "You are his disciple, but we are disciples of Moses."

We know God has spoken to Moses, but as for this fellow, we don't know anything about him."

"Why, that's very strange!" the man replied. "He can heal blind men, and yet you don't know anything about Him!"

Well, God doesn't listen to evil men, but He has open ears to those who worship Him and do His will.

Since the world began there has never been anyone who could open the eyes of someone born blind.

If this man were not from God, He couldn't do it."

"You illegitimate bastard, you!" they shouted. "Are you trying to teach us?" And they threw him out.

When Jesus heard what had happened, He found the man and said, "Do you believe in the Messiah?"

The man answered, "Who is He, sir, for I want to."

"You have seen Him," Jesus said, "and He is speaking to you!"

"Yes, Lord," the man said, "I believe!" And he worshipped Jesus.

Then Jesus told him, "I have come into the world to give sight to those who are spiritually blind and to show those who think they see that they are blind."

The Pharisees who were standing there asked, "Are you saying we are blind?"

"If you were blind, you wouldn't be guilty," Jesus replied. "But your guilt remains because you claim to know what you are doing."

Rev. Harvey Southwest's first Anglican Bishop

The Rev. Robert Condit Harvey, 64, former rector of St. Timothy's Anglican Church in Charleston, S.C., will be consecrated the first bishop of the Diocese of the Southwest of the Anglican Catholic Church today at 10 a.m. at King of Glory Lutheran Church in Dallas.

Rev. Robert Condit Harvey

The new bishop will serve as chief pastor for some 3,500 Anglicans in 15 parishes and mission in cities throughout Texas. He is the seventh bishop in the traditional Anglican Catholic Church which has six dioceses in the United States and one in Canada.

Harvey, a native of New Jersey, is a former Episcopal priest who translated to the Anglican Catholic Church when it was organized by traditionalist Episcopalians at the "Continuing Anglican" Congress in St. Louis in September of 1977.

Many of those he will serve as chief pastor to are disaffected Episcopalians who left the Episcopal Church in protest to that church's decision to ordain women to the priesthood as well as changes made in the historic Book of Common Prayer and the general liberal trend they felt the church had experienced in recent years.

World Hunger Bike-A-Thon being sponsored by OC, MC

ODESSA — The Baptist student unions of Odessa College and Midland College are sponsoring a World Hunger Bike-A-Thon today from OC to Midland Regional Airport and back to OC, a distance of 26 miles. The Midland students will be riding from MC to the terminal and then on to OC.

Each student will secure sponsors to raise money to fight hunger through the efforts of a nutrition clinic in Antofagasta, Chile. The Chilean clinic provides a well-balanced meal to local children each day, in addition to teaching parents how to provide nutritional meals using locally available food sources.

The bikers will meet at the Region 18 Education Service Center at the terminal for a ceremony honoring the students who have raised the most in pledges. Participating in this ceremony will be State Rep. Jay Gibson, newly-elected Odessa Mayor Bob Bryant and Doris Halbert, mayor pro-tem of Midland.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Evangelism emphasis set at St. Luke's

Sunday has been designated by St. Luke's United Methodist Church, 3011 W. Kansas Ave., as its evangelism emphasis day with a visitation seminar scheduled from 4 to 6 p.m. This is the beginning of an intensive look at the ways this church can be more effective in church participation and growth.

Guest speakers for the seminar will be Rita Crowell, associate director of the Northwest Texas Conference Council on Ministers, and the Rev. Norman W. Grisby, senior pastor of First United Methodist Church in Odessa.

Ms. Crowell, a consecrated diaconal minister, is a certified director of Christian education and served a number of churches in that capacity before coming to the conference office in Lubbock. She received her master's degree in Christian education from Scarritt College for Christian Workers in Nashville, Tenn., and has done post-graduate study at The School of Theology at Claremont, Calif.

Grisby received his degree from West Texas State University in Canyon and Perkins School of Theology. He leads a successful ongoing membership training program for adults and conducts divorce recovery workshops.

Under his leadership, the downtown church in Odessa, which had shown several years of decline, has had four consecutive years of growth in attendance.

Rita Crowell

Laymembers present views

The United Methodist Church is currently holding its 1980 General Conference in Indianapolis, Ind.

Four concerns for the state of the church and four special calls for action were expressed as laymembers, for the first time in the church's history, formally presented their views on the church to the conference.

Although positive in tone, the Laity Address expressed the concern that the church is not prepared to meet the needs of rapidly changing human situations nor is it ready to handle the divisions within itself or its declining membership.

The 25-page document was prepared by a 17-member team of youth, women and lay leaders from across the nation.

St. Ann's 2nd 'Super Sunday'

The parish of St. Ann's Catholic Church will hold its second "Super Sunday" May 4 when its 2,000 or more parishioners gather at Midland Memorial Stadium for special religious services. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. with Mass at 10 a.m. followed by a parish procession and crowning of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Parishioners and guests are encouraged to bring refreshments and lunch. There will be singing and games.

The whole thrust of the day is to bring families together into the larger family of God. This is within the context of a larger movement within the Catholic Church which has designated 1980 as the year of the family.

The public is invited to attend.

Musical performance scheduled

A musical performance will be presented Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of First Presbyterian Church, 800 W. Texas Ave.

This concert will include three works, Concerto in D Major by George Philipp Telemann, Brandenburg Concerto No. 1 in F Major by J. S. Bach and the Gloria by Antonio Vivaldi. Performing will be the Chancel Choir of First Presbyterian, members of the Trinity Presbyterian Church Adult Choir, members of the Midland-Odessa Symphony and a local vocal soloist.

Tom R. Roberts will be conducting this performance and the public is invited to attend.

Jehovah's Witnesses back home

Jehovah's Witnesses are resuming their weekly meetings and ministerial activities after having attended their circuit assembly in Carlsbad.

Saturday's portion of the program had an attendance of more than 1600 people. In response to one of Jehovah's requirements on obedience, 16 individuals underwent water baptism, after previously having studied the Bible for at least six months.

Those in the community interested in attending are cordially invited to the weekly meetings held in the Kingdom Hall, 505 W. Parker St.

Finalizing plans for the spring trimester of the Word of Faith Bible College set to start in Midland April 28 are, from left, Tom Wood, director of the West Texas branch of the college; Bill Kaiser, director of Word of Faith in Dallas; Bob Tilton, president of Word of Faith; and Curtis Courtney, board of director member of the West Texas branch.

Faith Bible trimester April 28

The West Texas Branch of the Dallas-based Word of Faith Bible College, 100 W. Oak Ave., will begin its spring trimester April 28.

The school uses videotaped programs with such Bible teachers as Kenneth Copeland, Valerie Owens, Bob Buess, Robert Tilton, president of Word of Faith, and others. This college is an inter-denominational school and was designed to help laymen and ministers.

The director, Tom Wood, attended Christ for the Nations Bible Institute in Dallas and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

Those submitting their registration fee before Friday will receive a discount. Registration and selection of classes begin Monday. More information may be obtained by writing Word of Faith, West Texas Branch, P.O. Box 4301, Midland, 79701 or by calling 682-9841.

Churches welcome speakers

First Christian

The First Christian Church, 1301 W. Louisiana St., will hold its spring speaker series Sunday and Monday with the Rev. Charles Sanders the featured guest speaker.

Sanders is senior minister of the First Christian Church in Denton. Prior to this position, he served as director of the Pastoral Care training Center at Texas Christian University for six years. He received his bachelor of divinity and master of theology degrees from TCU and his doctorate from North Texas State University in Denton.

His two-day seminar will concern "Anger." Sunday's 7 to 8:30 p.m. session is "Origins of Anger - Coping" and Monday's 7 to 8:30 p.m. is "Anger: Realistically-Biblically."

The sessions will be conducted in the church parlor and are free. The public is invited to attend.

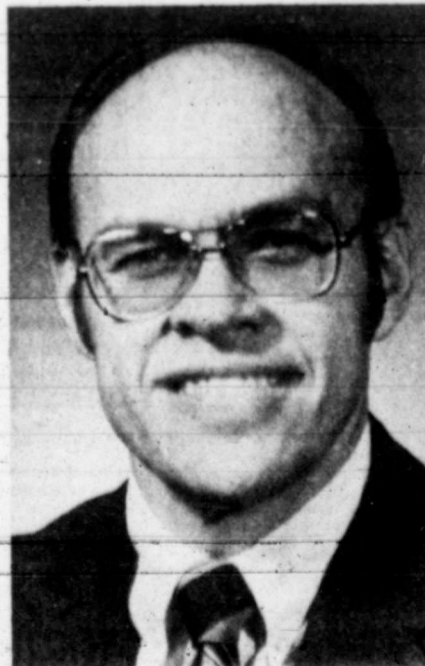

Dr. Charles Sanders

St. Paul

St. Paul United Methodist Church, 4501 Thomson Drive, is hosting an Old Testament seminar today at 11 a.m., 12:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. and Sunday at 8:30 a.m. and 10:50 a.m. The featured speaker is Dr. John N. Oswalt.

Oswalt is a professor of biblical languages and literature at Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, Ky. He is also a writer, lecturer, evangelist, Bible teacher, Old Testament scholar and Bible translator.

Oswalt holds degrees from Taylor University, Upland, Ind., and Asbury Theological Seminary and Brandeis University, Waltham, Mass., where he received a doctorate in Mediterranean studies. His special interests are the Hebrew language and the formation of Hebrew religion against the background of the Ancient Near East.

Dr. John N. Oswalt

Deanry to be held on Monday

ODESSA — A special invitation is extended to all Catholic women to attend the spring Deanry meeting at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Odessa Monday at 9 a.m. The registration fee is $2, with the luncheon costing $3.

Braves race for basement

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Braves are racing at a whirlwind clip to their fifth consecutive National League West basement finish, and although Manager Bobby Cox is not ready to give up, apparently some fans have.

When the Braves returned to Atlanta Thursday night for their home opener after six consecutive road losses, a welcoming banner was placed above the scoreboard: "Wait Till Next Year," it read.

Cox, however, in his third season as manager and starting to hear rumors of his impending dismissal, refuses to give up on the 1980 edition of the Braves.

"We're trying to start the season over right now," Cox said before the Braves went out and dropped No. 7

Thursday night, a 4-1 decision to the Cincinnati Reds, who have reeled off eight consecutive triumphs.

"The team is playing poorly, the defense, hitting and pitching has all been poor. Those are the three big things that have happened to us and you're not going to win many games like that," he said.

In Atlanta's first seven games, the Braves are hitting below .200, have made 16 errors and the pitching staff is allowing nearly six runs per game.

"The team is pressing and it's frustrating," said Cox. "I feel badly that they're playing this way. I know we're a better club than that but to convince the fans, we're going to have to reel off some wins."

Ted Turner, the millionaire sportsman who owns the Braves, is just as frustrated as his players.

"It hurts," said Turner, who watched Thursday night's loss. "I'm about as disgusted as you can get. You know, we thought we had a fairly decent team when this all started."

But, Turner said, he isn't sure what to do about the problem.

"What do you do?" he said. "Fire the team? I don't know what to do. At least it's been a team effort. There have been very few standouts."

Only 15,742 showed up Thursday night in near-perfect spring weather and the crowd's biggest cheer came during the seventh and eighth innings when a bearded, barefoot fan, dressed in a monk-type robe danced at the Atlanta dugout.

During the rest of the evening, the crowd appeared content to boo the Braves, particularly Bob Horner, the NL's rookie of the year two seasons ago, and Atlanta's leading hitter and runs batted in man a year ago.

Chisox' schedule not for the weak

CHICAGO (AP) — When Manager Tony LaRussa looked at the baseball schedule last December, he didn't think the Chicago White Sox were fortunate in opening the 1980 season with 32 games against teams compiling the best records in the American League a year ago.

And despite the Sox best start in three years, he's still not convinced.

"It's been a very exciting seven games, but we've still got too many to go against them," LaRussa said when asked if it might be to the Sox advantage to play the top contenders before they hit their stride.

"When I looked at the schedule in December I didn't think we got a break and I still don't think so," said LaRussa. "Going in to everyone of these series, we have the chance of being blown out. We very well could be 0-7 right now," instead of 5-2 going into Friday night's game.

The White Sox opened with a four-game series against the defending league champion Baltimore Orioles and followed it up with three against the New York Yankees. They are in Baltimore this weekend for three more games before moving on New York for three.

Upcoming are six games against Boston, seven with Milwaukee and three each with Kansas City and Texas. On May 16, Chicago meets its first lower division team, Seattle.

"If we make it through and win most of our games, I'll be happy that we don't have to play them later, but I still don't see that we've got a break," LaRussa said.

At any rate, the Sox start is the best since 1977 when the team went on to win 90 games and set home attendance records.

It's still early, but LaRussa insists that he won't be surprised if the White Sox hang tough among the AL West Division leaders.

"I believe in our ability. I have said all along that we have better ability, but that I'm concerned about our youth and our inexperience," said LaRussa. "But they haven't been a problem so far. These guys have responded to pressure well."

LaRussa said he can't attribute the team's quick start to any one thing, but that improved defense is definitely a factor. He cited the emergence of Greg Pryor as the No. 1 shortstop and the improved catching provided by Bruce Kimm and Marv Foley as examples.

Also instrumental has been outstanding pitching provided by a youthful corps of starters, including left-handers Ross Baumgarten, Ken Kravec, Steve Trout and Britt Burns and right-hander Richard Dotson.

And the bullpen, with Ed Farmer, Mike Proly and Richard Wortham, is improved too.

MC net squad divides matches

LAS CRUCES, N.M. — The Midland College women's tennis team divided matches Friday afternoon with Idaho State and Utah in the opening round of the Las Cruces Invitational Team Tournament.

The Chaparrals thumped Idaho State 5-1, but then dropped a 6-0 decision to a strong Utah squad.

This morning, the Chaps meet Oral Roberts University and in the afternoon face University of New Mexico.

Tetens paces Frogs

TYLER, Texas (AP) — John Tetens eagled the 472-yard par-5 14th hole and finished with a 3-under-par 69 Friday for a one-shot lead after the first round of the Southwest Conference golf championship at Briarwood Country Club.

The TCU junior led the Horned Frogs to an 8-shot lead over Texas A&M after the first round. The 54-hole tournament continues through Sunday.

Tallahassee Open has three-way links jam

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Mark Pfeil, seeking his first PGA tour victory, fired a 66 Friday to move into a three-way tie with Bill Rogers and homesteading Rex Caldwell for the second-round lead of the $100,000 Tallahassee Open.

Pfeil's 6-under-par round tied Bobby Wadkins, coming off a first-round 76, for the day's best score. Caldwell added a 68 to his 67 and Rogers shot a 67 for a 135 total.

The trio held a 1-shot lead over tour rookie Tom Jones and first-day leader Bob Murphy. Steve Melnyk was at 138, with six golfers bunched at 5-under-par 139.

Pfeil, who turned pro in 1974, shot seven birdies and one bogey. He blew a five-foot putt on the final hole to lose a chance for the uncontested lead.

"I wanted that one," he said. "I wanted the lead. I'm playing well and I'm excited because I'm taking advantage of good rounds, making the shots."

Caldwell, the home pro at the par-72, 7,027-yard Killbuck Country Club course, said, "I'm relaxed, sleeping in my own bed at night."

"I want to win here in front of my friends," he said.

Baylor, Tech still in fight

By The Associated Press

Gene de los Santos hit his 12th double of the season and scored on Fritz Connally's eighth homer of the year to give Baylor a 2-1 victory over Arkansas Friday in a Southwest Conference baseball game.

In other SWC games, Texas Tech defeated TCU, 5-2, and Rice beat Houston, 10-5.

That's the most doubles ever hit in a season by a SWC player.

Lee Tunnell scattered six hits for the win, raising his record to 7-3. He benefited from the 2-0 lead in the second and had little trouble until Ronn Reynolds led off the Arkansas seventh with a home run.

Scott Tabor, also 7-3, allowed only five hits, two of them to Santos. Kenny Rogers had a double and a single for Arkansas.

Baylor improved its record to 9-10 in SWC play, 22-17-2 for the year, while Arkansas fell to 10-8 and 33-15.

Baylor is tied with Texas Tech for fourth place in the battle for a SWC tournament position.

Texas Tech scored four unearned runs in the fourth inning Friday against error-plagued TCU and won a 5-2 victory to remain in contention for a Southwest Conference tournament berth.

The Red Raiders remained tied for fourth in SWC play with Baylor.

Pat Moore, Bobby Kohler and Larry Selby singled in the first inning against loser Greg Meyer, 4-6, who gave-up all five Tech runs. All the runs were unearned, as the Horned Frogs committed six errors.

Rick Kelley survived a shaky start, including a leadoff home run by Houston's Terry Byrum, to hold the Cougars to five hits and lead the Rice Owls to a 10-5 victory over Houston.

Rice stands 14-23 for the year.

The Cougars are 4-14-1 in SWC action and 13-24-1 for the season.

Midland freshmen capture net title

ODESSA — Midland Freshman School's Julie Crain and Nancy Ware won the ninth grade girls doubles title here Friday in the Odessa Junior High Tennis Tournament.

Lee Freshman School's Gary Fitting and Jay Ramsey took second place in the ninth grade boys doubles as did the San Jacinto seventh grade doubles teams of Stacey Owens-Kelly Ennon and Terry McFadden-Grady Gilliland.

Goddard eighth grader Miles Boldrick advanced to the boys singles finals in a match to be completed today and San Jacinto seventh grader Scott Yeager is still alive in the semifinals. Yeager will also complete action today.

Tom Watson stretches T of C lead

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — Defending champion Tom Watson finished a 6-under-par 66 with a birdie on the last hole and stretched his lead to two strokes Friday in the second round of the $300,000 Tournament of Champions.

The official name of the tournament is the MONY Tournament of Champions. It is sponsored by Mutuel of New York.

Watson, a two-time winner already this season, put together a 36-hole total of 131. That's 13 strokes under par on the 6,889-yard La Costa Country Club course and was by three strokes the best two-round total on the pro golf tour this year.

Only heady veteran Lou Graham could keep the game's most outstanding player within sight. Graham, who hasn't made a bogey in this tournament, shot a 67 and was at 133.

"Well," drawled Graham, "I shot 66 yesterday and I was behind. I guess when you shot 67 you have to figure to be one more behind."

Noone else was within six strokes of Watson, who led from wire to wire last year and now has set the pace in this tournament for six consecutive rounds.

"Usually at the Tournament of Champions, two or three players spreadeagle the field," Watson said. "It looks like it's happening again this year."

Doug Tewell, a rookie in this elite event, pieced together from the winners of pro golf tour titles from the last 12 months, was a distant third at 137 after shooting a 68 in the mild, hazy, breezy weather.

The group at 138 included Lee Trevino, Larry Nelson, Jim Colbert, Craig Stadler and Ed Flori. Trevino, Nelson and Flori shot second-round 68s. Stadler had a 69 and Colbert a 71.

Seve Ballesteros, the young Spaniard who won the Masters last week, could do no better than a 71 and was 10 shots back at 141. PGA champion David Graham of Australia shot 70-142 and U.S. Open titleholder Hale Irwin was 73-145.

"I'm playing with a lot of confidence," Watson said. "I hit the ball well. I may not have played quite as well as I did yesterday but I still made eight birdies."

He now has 16 birdies in two rounds and has failed to birdie only five holes on the usually tough course.

TEE TIME

New golf nine ready for play

By REX WORRELL
Hogan Park Golf Pro

The HPMGA will have a two-man best ball tournament April 26. The tournament will be fought by total handicap. Entry fee is $30 and the deadline for entry is Thursday, April 24.

The Hogan Park Women's Golf Association's 18-hole division will hold its annual Handicap Tournament Tuesday through Thursday.

Thursday the Hogan Hazards division held a Throw Out Worst 3 Holes event with John McLain and Betty Reimers taking first place honors with a tie score. Mary Davis won second place in a playoff from a three-way tie. The Hazards will play a String Tournament event this Thursday with the following pairings:

Hazard Pairings: Frances Stahl, Jeanne Allen and Dorothy Hutchins; Jean Connor, Peggy Matlina and June McLain; Betty Cope and Margy Cartwright; Lida Gosholt, Mary Davis and Bess Lee Cook; Wilma Allenson, Pat Frisell and Nancy Cox; Margaret Moore, Barbara Larsen and Gerry Semine; Peggy Parkins, Rita Bow and Carol Gittchee; Jeanne Fister, Dorothy Koonce and Carmen Phillips; Margaret Rhee, Leah Sutcliffe and Rosemary Niesberger; Ruby Pennington, Betty Williams and Joan Dumm.

It is important to sign up early this year. At the annual meeting, it was decided that after the first tournament of the new year a member would have to be in good standing with the association 14 day prior to a tournament to be eligible to play in that tournament.

Rookie shocks veterans with error-free pace

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Tour rookie Carolyn Hill, maintaining a nearly error-free pace, shot a second straight 3-under par 70 Friday to take the second-round lead in the $100,000 Florida Lady Citrus Open.

Hill, a California native who played for the highly ranked University of Miami and Tulsa University golf teams, had only one bogey on the 6,200-yard Rio Pinar Country Club course. She also posted four birdies for a 140 total.

That enabled her to take a 1-shot lead over Janet Coles, another Californian. Coles, a former UCLA basketball player, posted a 1-under 72 by shooting birdies on three of her final five holes to finish the second round at 141.

"This was an easy day on my nerves. I was close to the pin all the time, and had an easy, two-putt par round," said the 21-year-old Hill.

Six players were tied at 142, including defending U.S. Open champ Jerilyn Britz, first-round leader Marlene Floyd, veterans Sandra Palmer and Midlander Judy Floyd, who entered the day with a 2-shot lead, had a 2-over 75. Palmer fired a 69 to surge into contention.

MHS net duo falls in semis

LUBBOCK — The Midland High doubles team of Karin Farquhar and Caroline Kirwan was defeated in the semifinals Friday of the Region-1 girls' tennis tournament here.

Farquhar and Kirwan will meet Lubbock Coronado's Susan Mangum and Maggie McNamara in today's consolation match to determine state meet alternates.

Farquhar and Kirwan, seeded fourth, lost to top-seeded Kristi Gruber and Beth Nickels of Lubbock Coronado, 6-2, 6-1.

In first round action, Farquhar-Kirwan breezed past Yolanda Ortega and Soledad Montes of El Paso Ysleta, 6-1, 6-0. In the quarterfinals, Farquhar-Kirwan had a tougher go, stopping El Paso's Andrea S. Roman and Elva Roman, 7-5, 4-6, 6-1.

Midland High coach Pete Barizon was quite pleased with the play of his tandem. "Overall, I thought the performances were excellent by the girls. It's really good to reach the semifinals," he said.

Next weekend, Barizon will be taking singles standouts Richey Houdeke and Lance Armstrong to the boys' Region 1 meet at Texas Tech.

My Kids Trouble finds victory lane

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. (AP) — My Kids Trouble ran 350 yards in 19.97 seconds Friday to clock the top qualifying time for the upcoming $250,388 Sun Country Quarter Horse Futurity.

The gelding, son of All American Futurity winner Mr. Kid Charge, is owned by William Gahlberg and Joseph Marconi of St. Charles, Ill.

My Kids Trouble returned $4,800 to win, $4 to place and $3.60 to show.

The results:

First — Easily Smashed 4.0, 2.00, 2.30; Robert Fever 2.40, 2.00; Hurry On Now 2.00, T — 15.00.

Second — Mavro Deck 3.00, 4.30, 3.00; Easy Myrah 2.40, 2.40; Perfect Mark 2.00, T — 15.14.

Quintile — $42.00.

Third — Easy Moon Maiden 11.00, 5.00, 5.40; Hiss Bold Ruler 10.00, 7.00; Motion Picture 6.00, T — 15.43.

Longhorns win

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas' Keith Creel tossed a two-hitter as the Longhorns beat Texas A&M 5-1 Friday night to stretch their Southwest Conference lead over the second-place Aggies.

Creel, 11-1, had a no-hitter until the eighth inning when third baseman Harry Francis dribbled an infield single over Creel's outstretched glove.

The Longhorns scored five runs in the first two innings, including four on only two hits in the second inning.

Boycott movement support growing

By The Associated Press

In the wake of the U.S. Olympic Committee's vote not to attend the Summer Games in Moscow and President Carter's prediction that the decision would have positive effects on his Olympic boycott movement, there was some indication of support for the United States' position from several western allies Friday.

In his strongest pro-boycott stance yet, Prime Minister Trudeau of Canada called for non-aligned nations, as well as western governments, to protest the Soviet Union's invasion of Afghanistan by boycotting the Moscow Olympics this summer.

An Olympic boycott "must be designed to bring them (non-aligned countries) along," Trudeau said at his weekly news conference Friday. "We are working on it."

On the boycott, he said: "It is important vis-a-vis the Soviet Union to indicate the weight of the world opinion is pressing against it."

THE CANADIAN government is under pressure to back the boycott from major allies such as the United States, West Germany and Japan and also from the Olympic Trust, which allocates the money to send a team to Moscow.

Trudeau said he couldn't promise a decision before the visit Wednesday of U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance but he hoped to decide before next weekend's annual meeting of the Canadian Olympic Association.

Trudeau's comments lent credence to reports that the Canadian government would announce next week support for the boycott, which Carter has championed to punish the Soviet Union for its invasion of Afghanistan.

The U.S. Olympic Committee endorsed that position last Saturday, voting by a 2-1 margin not to send a team to Moscow.

The 11-member board of Norway's Sports Federation (NIF) voted 8-3 Friday to recommend to its national convention to order a Norwegian boycott of the Moscow Games.

The Norwegian Olympic Committee voted in favor of participation, but the NIF convention has the power to overrule that decision. NIF, the ruling body for sports in Norway, could make a decision by Sunday, the final day of its four-day convention.

In Australia, acting Prime Minister Doug Anthony believes he has been able to persuade the Australian Olympic Federation to defer deciding on Saturday whether to send a team to the Moscow Olympics.

"I think the AOF executive understands the national security considerations much closer than they did before," Anthony said Friday.

THE ITALIAN Olympic Committee withheld for another month any decision on a boycott and asked Italian athletes to keep training.

Committee President Franco Carraro, who favors sending a team to the Games, called for a May 12 meeting in Rome of representatives of European Olympic Committees to establish a common stand among those nations.

On Thursday, Carter predicted at his news conference there would be a "strong rush of support" next week by European allies for a boycott.

Among the countries Carter apparently is counting on to stay away from Moscow are Canada, Italy and Great Britain.

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher Thursday reiterated her appeal to her country's athletes to stay away from the Summer Games. Thatcher told the House of Commons that "the situation has changed since the British Olympic Association took its preliminary decision" last month to attend the Games.

In the midst of this anti-Olympic feeling, Lord Killanin, president of the International Olympic Committee (IOC), said Friday there is no proposal "at this stage" to cancel or postpone the Moscow Games.

But at its executive board meeting in Lausanne, Switzerland next week, the IOC will examine possible ways of keeping the Games alive.

One plan calls for a change of rules to allow athletes to compete in Moscow as individuals, even if their national Olympic committee has not entered them.

ANOTHER POSSIBILITY, favored by the National Olympic Committee of Italy, among others, is to ban national flags at the opening ceremon-

MCC golf course ranked among top 25 in state

DALLAS (AP) — The best golf course in Texas is in Fort Worth, and 10 of the top 25 are in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, according to a poll of golf pros around the state.

The poll, conducted by the Dallas Times Herald, asked 24 professional golfers to vote for the 25 best golf layouts in the state. The runaway winner was Colonial Country Club in Fort Worth with eight first-place votes and 535 total points. Midland Country Club also received first place votes.

The runner-up on the list was the Cypress course at Champions in Houston. Waterwood National at Lake Livingston received more first-place votes than Champions, but finished fourth on the list behind Preston Trail Golf Club in Dallas.

The poll gave 25 points for a first-place vote, 24 points for second, etc., and then ranked the golf courses based on total points.

Voters gave Champions 448 points to 426 for Preston Trail, 377 to Waterwood and 353 to Las Colinas Country Club in Irving.

Other courses receiving first-place votes were Horseshoe Bay Country Club at Marble Falls, Brook Hollow Golf Club of Dallas, Midland Country Club, Bent Tree Country Club at Addison and the Island Course at Kingwood Country Club in Houston.

Chaparral has third 500 entry

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Two cars for Indy 500 veteran Danny Ongais were among four last-minute entries received today for the 1980 Indianapolis 500-mile race.

The latest entries, all postmarked before the April 15 midnight deadline, boosted the official entry list for the 64th running of the auto racing classic May 25 to 96 and Indianapolis Motor Speedway officials believed it was complete.

It's the second-largest entry list in Speedway history, only four short of last year's record total of 100.

Ongais, of Costa Mesa, Calif., will have his choice of two Interscope Porsche race cars.

The Interscope cars are a 1980 Interscope P-01 and a 1975 Interscope P-6B, both powered by 6-cylinder Porsche engines of 161.7 cubic inch displacement.

Today's other entries were a 1978 Wildcat-DGS from Wyszard Motor Co., Fullerton, Calif., and a 1978 Lola Cosworth from Chaparral Racing Ltd., Midland, Texas, a team which had entered two Pennzoil Chaparral cars earlier this year. No drivers were named for either car.

Ongais, who has been a charger on the championship circuit for three straight years, finished fourth here last year.

Mechanical trouble prevented him from going the full distance as a rookie in 1977 and he also was eliminated by engine failure on the 145th lap in 1978, after qualifying at 200.122 mph and leading the pack for 71 laps.

Former Navy grid star dies

FITCHBURG, Mass. (AP) — A former star quarterback at the U.S. Naval Academy was among the crewmen killed in an American Samoa plane crash, the victim's parents confirmed Friday.

Paul A. Glenn of Fitchburg said the Navy informed him his son, Lt. Allen R. Glenn, 27, was one of six airmen killed Thursday morning when the four-engine Navy Orion clipped the cable of a tramway and slammed into the Rainmaker Hotel in Pago Pago.

Three civilians also were killed and a Japanese tourist seriously injured in the crash.
