Real Bobby Ewing witness in Midland court

By ED TODD Staff Writer

The real Bobby Ewing flew into Midland on Monday and, in the tradition of the fictionalized and "vindictive" J.R. Ewing of "Dallas" fame, lamblasted The Durango Kid look-alike.

"He'd sell his own mother's grave for a Cadillac...and a two-bit cigar," Ewing said with obvious bitterness.

Unlike J.R. Ewing and his brother Bobby Ewing of the weekly nighttime soap opera, this Bobby Ewing is not a character out of a television

He's president of Ewing Oil Inc. of Dallas. And on Monday, he was a defense witness in U.S. federal court in Midland on a motion for mistrial in the oil field fraud scheme allegedly devised by William Robert Cook, 53, of Dallas, and Charles Stafford "Staff" Jackson, alias Cal Stewart, 65, of the Dallas suburb of Garland.

Both men were found guilty years earlier on two counts of devising a scheme to defraud investors and prospective investors by selling "fractional undivided working interests in oil and gas exploration ventures" in Marion County, Texas, and Harding County, N.M.

Jackson and Cook each were sentenced to 10 years in prison. And Cook is fighting for a mistrial.

When the case against the two men was initiated by the government in mid-1970, prosecutors had suspected and were virtually sure that Jackson was really Charles Starrett, now 77, and a prolific Western actor who gained fame as the masked do-gooder. The Durango Kid, in the

The real Bobby Ewing's role in the scheme was unsuspecting. Ewing, now president of the real Ewing Oil Inc., testified that he was hired in the mid-1970s as a salesman to sell working interests in oil-and-gas ventures. He testified that he worked for the Midland-based Arcola Petroleum Corp., an oil and gas exploration company, which Cook and Jackson had

The government maintained that the defendants concealed their control of Arcola by causing others to hold positions as officers and shareholders and acted through Olympic Petroleum Corp.

Ewing, a middle-aged man about J.R.'s age and build and who was sporting a Western-ized black suit, thick spectacles and cowboy boots, testified that the venture was making money. He thought it was on the up-and-up. But "Staff" Jackson "was blowing it (the money).

"It's obvious the money was going somewhere," Ewing said in the court presided over by U.S. District Judge Lucius D. Bunton. "We weren't drilling any wells. To make the whole story short, it was dumped

He again lashed out at Jackson. "Jackson was always blowing all the money. I had that thing dumped in my lap." Hostility was in his voice.

Ewing was testifying on behalf of Cook to help him win a new trial. He said that Cook, to his knowledge, was not involved in the scheme to Even before testimony began in the George Mahon Federal Building here, the restless Bobby Ewing was pacing the floor, flashing folded $100-dollar bills and was wondering if Jackson would show up. He didn't. But Ewing said if he did, he would give the man a punch or two and use the folding money to bail himself out of jail.

After the hearing, he even lashed out at Wayne Speck, the federal prosecutor who initially handled the case against Cook and Jackson. He was obviously embittered.

'I'm going to see that that federal prosecutor winds up in the federal penitentiary," Ewing vowed. "He'll get his day."

The real-life Bobby Ewing said that it was "pure coincidence" that the "Dallas" television script writers had unwittingly used his name and that of his oil company. The real Ewing Oil was conceived in 1976 and was

After "Dallas" gained fame, Lorimar Productions, which produces the series, filed a $1.5 million suit against the real Ewing and claimed that he had infringed on Lorimar's copyright.

Bobby Ewing hired Houston attorney Racehorse Haynes and filed a $4 million countersuit for damages and infringement on his name and "It was just a bluff," Ewing said. But out-of-court settlement was made, and Bobby Ewing was the win-

Today, Ewing said, he finally is being recognized as the real Bobby Ewing, an oil operator who, indeed, does plan to build a Dallas office building and call it Ewing Oil.

Heretofore, when he introduced himself as Bobby Ewing, he would get this response "You've got to be kidding."

The real Bobby Ewing has capitalized on the fame which "Dallas" brought to his name.

"It's ungodly," he said of the wealth and potential wealth he's rea-

Food, housing, gasoline prices climb

WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumer prices climbed yet another 1 percent last month - a 12.5 percent annual rate - as the cost of food, housing and gasoline all rose substantially, the government said today.

November's increase in the Consumer Price Index matched the jumps for both September and October and brought inflation for the first 11 months of 1980 to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 12.2 percent, the Labor Depart-

Last year consumer prices rose 13.3 percent.

Most private economists expect consumer prices to register possibly larger monthly increases through most of the winter because of rising food costs and continued high interest rates.

Despite the persistent inflation, a worker's real spendable income inched up 0.2 percent in November, the department reported. Over the year, however, average weekly earnings - which deduct federal taxes and social security payment - are down 5.1 percent on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The Labor Department report for November said: -Food and beverage prices rose 1.1 percent, compared with a 0.7 percent increase the month before. Beef prices climbed 0.8 percent after declining 0.6 percent in October. Prices for pork, fish, seafood and eggs all registered substantial boosts as did fresh fruits and vegetables. Sugar shot up 7.9

-Eating out, meanwhile, cost 1 percent more than in October, while the price of alcoholic beverages went up 1.3 percent.

-Housing costs rose 1 percent, led by a 2.7 percent surge in mortgage rates and a 0.7 percent increase in the price of a home. Household fuels, however, fell

1.1 percent on top of October's 0.5 percent decline. -Financing an automobile cost 3 percent more in November because of ever rising interest rates. Meanwhile, new car prices rose slightly following a 1.5 percent decline in October. -Gasoline prices jumped another 0.9 percent after rising 0.3 percent in Otocber. Before then, they had fallen for five consecutive months.

Medical care costs increased 0,6 percent, the smallest rise since June -The cost of apparel and its upkeep increased 0.3 percent, following percent October boost. The Labor Department's Consumer Price Index last month stood at 256.2 before seasonal adjustment. That means that what cost $100 in 1967 sold for $256.20 in November.

Meanwhile, the Commerce Department reported Monday that people's incomes stayed barely above the inflation rate. The department reported Monday that personal spending rose 1.2 percent in November Economists say that jump, which followed a 1.7 percent rise in October, indicates consumers are relatively confident about the economy and are finding ways to cope with rising interest rates.

The consumer, said economist Robert Gough, "is in no immediate danger of succumbing to high rates of inflation and interest rates."

And another economist predicted in advance of the November Consumer Price Index report that inflation was likely to post 1-percent-a-month gains

Diplomats see three hostages

By The Associated Press

Two Iranians, a Protestant minister and a Roman Catholic priest, will celebrate Christmas with the 52 U.S. hostages, Swiss diplomats said today in Tehran. The diplomats also said they met with three hostages held at the Iranian Foreign Ministry and decribed them as being in good health.

Meanwhile, a leading member of Parliament's hardline Islamic party was quoted as saying he saw no chance for the hostages' release before Presidentelect Ronald Reagan takes office.

Swiss diplomats representing U.S. interests in Tehran said approval for the religious service was received during a meeting with government author-

There were indications the service would be held in Farsi, the Persian language, rather than in English, and that neither the Swiss nor any other foreign representatives would be allowed to attend. It was also unclear whether all of the hostages would be gathered together for the service and whether it would be held Christmas Eve or Christmas Day. The diplomats said the clergymen were Iranian citizens but that their identities were not immediately disclosed. The Swiss diplomats said they met earlier in the day with three of the hostages who have been held at the Foreign Ministry in Tehran. The whereabouts of the remaining 49 hostages, originally kept at the U.S. Embassy, has not been made clear by Iranian officials.

The three at the Foreign Ministry - Charge D'affaires Bruce Laingen, political officer Victor Tomseth and security officer M chael Howland — were in good physical condition and were aware of the latest Iranian demands and the negative U.S. response, the diplomats said.

In a report from Tehran, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said Hassan Ayat, a member of the hardline Islamic Republican Party in the Parliament, the Majlis, told the English-language Tehran Times newspaper he saw no "possibility at all for the hostages to be released before Jan. 21," a day after the Reagan inauguration.

Tanjug said Ayat, the party's defeated candidate for president in elections early this year, was also quoted as saying the latest Iranian terms for releasing the hostages were "definite" and there were no plans for the Majlis to debate their fate again.

Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai warned Monday the hostage issue would be returned to the Parliament for new decisions if the United States did not meet Iran's $24 billion demand for their release, according to a report carried by the Syrian news agency. Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie has called the Iranian terms "unreasonable."

Dr. Ayat, described by Tanjug as the chief ideologist of the radical wing of the IRP which blocked earlier efforts to free the hostages, was quoted as saying that after Reagan takes office and announces his policy on the hostage crisis "he will accept Iranian conditions promptly, because he will have no alternative."

The American people would put pressure on Reagan to solve the problem after realizing it was the U.S. and not the Iranian government that was delaying the release, he was quoted as saying. After the hostages were seized, some Iranian officials professed belief that Americans would rise up against the U.S. government to protest its past support for the deposed shah as some U.S. citizens had protested the Vietnam war.

Prime Minister Rajai today summoned the Vatican representative in Tehran to sharply protest indirect statements made by Pope John Paul II on the hostages' continued captivity, Tehran radio reported without elabora-

John Paul, in a plea clearly aimed at Iran, appealed for the release of hostages seized for "political retaliation" or ransom in his annual Christmas message to Roman Catholic cardinals delivered Monday. The pontiff said he prayed with "tears in my eyes" that hostage captors would take pity on their

Meanwhile, the official Pars news agency reported that Iran's public prosecutor Ayatollah Abdul Karim Mosavi-Ardabili escaped an assassination attempt in Tehran. The report said a bomb went off as the bearded chief prosecutor was crossing a Tehran street on his way to his office, "but luckily did not harm him in any way."

County plans to sue Odessa over Monahans Draw sewage runoff

By ED TODD Staff Writer

Midland County Commissioners today voted unanimously to file an injunction against the city of Odessa for allowing sewage runoff to run into Monahans Draw and to sue for monetary damages.

The action came this morning in a county commissioners special meeting, which was attended by members of Midland City Council. The commissioners were wrangling with the problem of effluent water being dumped into Monahans Draw, something that has been a thorn in the commissioners' side since the mid-1960s

Commissioner Durward Wright, who initiated the motion, said that bureaucratic means to stop the How of effluent water from Odessa have been thwarted. This leaves a lawsuit as the only means of recourse. "I don't know if this will get the job done, but it is the only arena left," said Wright About 30 persons who live in the Monahans Draw area were on hand this morning to protest Odessa's dumping of effluent water into the

The water allegedly is contaminating wells, serves as a large breeding ground for mosquitoes and is flooding range and cotton land.

'This water is pretty rank," said Lee Bell, who farms about 420 acres in the Monahans Draw area. Monahans Draw winds past Odessa's sewage treatment plant, goes easterly into Midland County and passes several miles south of the city.

"I know a lot of it is rain water mixed with Odessa's sewage," said Bell. He added that the runoff has gone farther east to around the Rankin Highway and has flooded range land belonging to J.D. Crawford and Louie Koonce. That land, said Bell, is about a 400-acre tract east of FM

Bell said he has seen "solid smoke" hovering over the lakes created by the effluent water. But the smoke turned out to be half-a-mile by half-amile area of solid mosquitoes.

"It is foaming; it does have an odor to it," Bell said. Commissioner Win Brown, who in 1 the mid-1970s fought the old Texas Water Quality Board's sanctioning of Odessa dumping effluent water into the draw, said, "I was shot down immediately" in trying to prevent Odessa's dumping into the draw. However, he said Odessa presented a "beautiful case." "The rails were already greased.

We were shafted," Brown said. The water board has been revamped and now goes by the name of Texas Water Resources Commis-

Weather won't be too exciting

The weatherman hasn't been able to whip up any exciting weather for Christmas Day. According to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport, forecast for Wednesday through Saturday calls for partly cloudy skies and cold temperatures

Low tonight should be in the middle 30s, with the thermometer warming up to the upper 50s on Wednesday. High on Christmas Day should be about 45 degrees, said the weather-

Winds should blow out of the north tonight at 5-10 mph.

High on Monday was 60 degrees, below the record high of 79 degrees set on that date in 1933. Overnight low was 32 degrees. Record low for the date is 13 degrees set in 1953.

No precipitation in the form of rain or snow is expected for the holiday weekend. So far, monthly rainfall total stands at 1.15 inches and the yearly amount at 17.76 inches. Area towns reported clear skies and cold temperatures early today.

Don't let holiday spirits get severely out-of-hand

By FRANCHELLE MOORE Staff Writer

"Tis the season to be jolly," - but just how jolly? This might be a question for holiday party-goers to ask themselves.

In Midland, there seems to be a continuous round of holiday parties, which usually are an unlimited source of cocktails for guests.

The holiday season is noted for causing an increase in the abuse of alcohol and other drugs. Unfortunately, it is also a time of year when there is a sharp increase in the number of violent crimes and traffic accidents and fatalities, many of which are related directly to the abuse of alcohol.

Reasons for these occurrences are not definitely known, but for some individuals it is a depressing time those without families to share the season, those who already are dissatisfied with their surroundings and those to whom being alone seems even more depressing. Many will turn to alcohol as a solution.

According to a spokesman with the Midland chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous, when asked if the holiday season is a particularly disturbing time for him, replied that he, as an active member of AA, has no interest in drinking anymore. He is acutely aware of the effects of alcohol abuse. He also noted that immediately after the holidays, there usually is an influx of persons attending AA meetings, but that very few remain with the AA program.

He also pointed out that alcoholism is a progressively terminal disease, but the alcoholic can halt the illness by not drinking.

"The only requirement for membership in the AAs is a desire, whether real or otherwise, to stop drinking," he said. "With an alcoholic, there is no 'social drinking,' it is only the continued use of an addictive sub-

"There are many reasons persons join AAs." the spokesman continued,

"and those who remain with the program can recover. The three-fold program, which is founded on spiritual conversion and dependence on

God for assistance, features fellowship. The quality of life improves and the AA member begins to have fun, learning to laugh at himself and 'at' other members.

Alcoholics Anonymous is "an organization without organization," the spokesman said. There is no money collected, and if any funds are donated, they are forwarded to the New York headquarters' office. A large amount of this money is used for the cost of printing "The Big Book" (the AA members' Bible) and other AA

Another interesting point brought out by the Midland AA member is that half of the alcoholics who come into contact and stay with the AA program of continuing spiritual and emotional growth continue their recovery pro-

The AA organization is the choice of the American Medical Association for treatment of alcoholics, because this group has the greatest recovery

There are, within the AA program, clubs for family members of alcoholics. It is estimated that for each of the 20 million alcoholics in the United States, there are four other members in the family who are ill.

U.N. building, cars attacked in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - A crowd of 300 Arab villagers protesting the failure of U.N. peacekeeping troops to halt Israeli raids in southern Lebanon attacked and set fire to a U.N. building and six U.N. cars here today, a United Nations spokesman said.

About 80 U.N. employees fled their offices and several women jumped from windows of the building, a security guard said, adding that several U.N. employees were beaten up but there were no serious injuries, Witnesses said the first floor of the building housing the U.N. observer force headquarters was set ablaze during the demonstration.

Syrian troops, who police Lebanon's four-year-old civil war armistice, were backed by four armored cars and two jeeps as they moved in to halt the protest.

None of the troops or demonstrators were reported injured.

'Flames and smoke could be seen from the first floor, and windows in the four-story building were broken,' said a witness, who declined to be identified.

A U.N. official confirmed the building was on fire but gave no details.

A 6,000-man, nine-nation U.S. Interim force in Lebanon has been stationed in the south as a buffer between Palestinian guerrllas and Israel since Israli troops ended a 91-day occupation of southern Lebanon in

The leftist As Safir newspaper said a demonstration had been planned today by villagers from southern Lebanon to protest "Israeli aggression."

Israeli forces have struck across the border into Lebanon more than 20 times this year, most recently last Friday when commandos hit Palestinian guerrillas positions killing at least eight guerrillas.

The U.N. spokesman said the Lebanese demonstrators, who carried banners, also wrecked furniture inside the four-story building, which also houses the U.N. Economic Commission for Western Asia

To that comment, Jack Ellison added, "I haven't seen any toilet paper out there for a while. But I have seen the 'brown snappers' (solid wastes).

Monahans Draw was not the only stream about which the commissioners quarreled. Jon Whisler and his wife, Ethel, said that treated sewage water from Midland is flowing down Midland Draw and is causing some flooding on their pecan orchard.

"On Midland Draw we have the same problem," said Mrs. Whisler. 'The city doesn't seem to be able to do anything about it. We have mosquitoes. This water sometimes is green, it stinks and we have seen raw sewage in the draw.

However, Jewel Smith, director of the City-County Health Department, said, "I think it is better quality than that of Monahans Draw.

Albert Stewart, county road and bridge superintendent, said water flowing from Monahans Draw and Midland Draw are washing out and deteriorating roads. Jim Brown, city manager, in countering the city's alleged act of allowing effluent water to run down Midland Draw, said, "We try to never dump (effluent water) unless we have a plant malfunction. Councilman Tom Sloan added, "It's my understanding that we don't have any permit to dump that water in Midland Draw

But Mrs. Whisler said that it (sew age water) keeps on coming. It's going to be like Monahans Draw. Said Bell, "It's going to be exactly the same problem real soon...just as bad as Monahans Draw. "It doesn't smell, it stinks," said

Lou Whisler, mother of Jon Whisler. County commissioners will file the lawsuit against Odessa immediately, but haven't decided if they will go through the county attorney or a private law firm.

Block named to Ag post

WASHINGTON (AP) - With today's formal selection of Illinois farmer John R. Block as secretary of agriculture, Ronald Reagan is down to one last Cabinet decision — finding an educator to head a department he wants to dismantle.

Block, 45, director of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, arranged to meet with reporters at a news conference today, 24 hours after the president-elect inadvertently disclosed that Block was his choice to head the U.S. Agriculture Department.

Reagan has now filled 15 Cabinet-level jobs, including agriculture and four other positions filled Monday.

The new additions to his Cabinet are former New York Supreme Court justice Samuel R. Pierce Jr. as secretary of housing and urban development, Georgetown University political science professor Jeane J. Kirkpatrick as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, conservative Colorado attorney James G. Watt as interior secretary, and former South Carolina Gov. James B. Edwards as energy secretary Pierce is the only black named to Reagan's Cabinet, while Mrs. Kirkpatrick is the only woman. She also would be the first woman to hold the U.N. post.

Now Reagan has just the Cabinet post of education secretary to fill - a task complicated by the unwillingness of some prospective candidates to accept a job that the president-elect has vowed to Reagan pledged repeatedly during his presidential campaign to do away with the department and return more control over education to state and local governments. The department was created last year at President Carter's urging.

Speaking to reporters near his Los Angeles home, Reagan said Monday that he had not yet made a decision on the education post, adding that he might not make up his mind before Christmas.

According to transition sources, two leading candidates still being mentioned for the post are Barbara Thompson, Wisconsin's superintendent of public education, and Edward Aguirre, an education official in Santa Clara County, Calif., who was U.S. commissioner of education in the Ford administration.

Reagan also must decide on his choice for special trade representative, a job that may be elevated to Cabinet-level rank. Among the candidates mentioned for this job is Republican National Chairman Bill Brock, who is expected to be replaced by a Reagan man, Richard Richards of Utah.

The president-elect, who is remaining home for the Christmas and New Year holidays, reportedly settled on Block for agriculture secretary late last week. But an announcement of Block's selection was being postponed until Tuesday because a routine FBI check into his background was not completed in time for him to be included with the other four announcements Monday.

However, on his way to a hearing examination Monday, Reagan the policy-making," he said.

told reporters that Block was, indeed, his choice for the agriculture job. He later said he didn't "want to jump the gun" and suggested reporters wait for the "regular announcement" today. But soon after Reagan's remarks reached transition headquarters in Washington, his press office confirmed Block's selection.

A West Point graduate, Block's family owns a 3,000-acre hog, corn and soybean farm near Gilson, Ill. A runner who has competed in the Boston Marathon, Block was promoted vigorously for the agriculture job by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan.

Reagan did not appear in person to announce his latest group of Cabinet choices, continuing a practice he began when his first eight nominees were announced Dec. 11.

Appearing with Pierce, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Watt and Edwards at Washington hotel were two men selected last week for the Cabinet: retired Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., secretary of statedesignate, and New Jersey construction executive Raymond Donovan, Reagan's choice for labor secretary

Haig defended himself from allegations of possible involvement in the Watergate scandal when he served as Richard M. Nixon's last White House chief of staff. Haig, who is sure to undergo extensive grilling from Senate Democrats during his confirmation hearings, said several government probes into his Watergate ties have not "indicated any culpability on my part. The former NATO commander also disclosed that he is receiving legal help in preparing his Watergate-related testimony for the Senate from Joseph M. Califano Jr., a prominent Washington lawyer and former secretary of health, education and welfare under President Carter.

Besides Haig, Reagan's most controversial Cabinet nomination is likely to be his choice of Watt to head the Interior Depart-Watt heads a legal defense foundation that has been fighting

Environmentalists oppose confirmation of Watt

- Environmentalists are planning to oppose confirmation of conservative Colorado attorney James G. Watt as secretary of the interior although conceding privately they are power- ceding they had no less to persuade a Republican Senate to re-

By contrast, energy in dustry spokesmen welcome Monday's nomination of Watt, calling him an advocate of what they consider balanced policies in the clash of environmental and energy development issues.

Zorinsky finds no takers for fun-in-the-sun

WASHINGTON - The best laid plans of mice, men and Sen. Ed Zorinsky often have trouble getting off the ground

For two years now, the Nebraska Republican-turned-Democrat has been trying to lure his colleagues on the Foreign Relations Committee into a tour of Latin America. But his siren song has fallen on deaf ears: To wary senators, nothing raises voters' eyebrows like an expense-paid congressional junket to the picture-postcard countries around the Caribbean.

In fact, there is some speculation that the freshman senator's public flirtation with his old political party is at least partially motivated by his desire to visit South of the Border. If Zorinsky decides to rejoin the GOP as he has hinted he might, it would enable him to hang onto the chairmanship of the subcommittee on the Western Hemisphere. This would give him a couple more years to arrange his long-cherished Latin American odyssey. For Zorinsky, by his own admission, is embarrassed. Since he took over the subcommittee that no one else wanted in 1977, he has shown such an interest in our hemispheric neighbors that he is known by diplomats as

'Mr. Latin America. Yet the only time he ever set foot in the area of his dedication was on two brief trips to Nicaragua after that country's revolution. And, as any travel agent can tell you, wartorn Nicaragua is hardly typical of a region that includes the sunny beaches of Jamaica and the cosmopolitan delights of Rio-by-the-Sea-o.

"It's humiliating and it's embarrassing when people ask me, 'Have you ever been to South America?' and have never been there," Zorinsky told my associate Howard Rosenberg. He insists that none of the itineraries

A senatorial visit, he explained, would show the Latin Americans that we consider them important. "Do we have to have a revolution or a war before we pay any attention to our southern neighbors?" he asked a bit plaintively.

Zorinsky proffered his travel plans several times this year. In June, he suggested a two-week circuit that included Mexico, the Dominican Republic, Barbados, Venezuela and Cuba, with senators' wives accompanying "at no additional cost to the government." There were no takers.

'Mention going to Cuba or Jamaica to senators and it's like asking them by the United States government.

Shortage in America

Maybe Zorinsky figures he'll have better luck in a Republican Senate if he joins the majority, that is. After all, he noted, with pride, "I voted with the Republicans 67 percent of the time." Then he added: "I'm the only Democratic senator who got a zero rating from the American Civil Liber-

IT'S A DOG (FACE)'S LIFE: While late-night television commercials tout the advantages of a career in our military services, a secret Pentagon report sums up the disadvantages in words that would chill a recruiting sergeant's heart.

'The military life has much to offer, but there are drawbacks," the report states. "Separations from families, long hours, the unremitting demand for self-sacrifice, the everpresent liability for combat, and mobility far beyond the norm of even the mobile U.S. society are some of the particular demands placed on servicemen.'

In return, the report notes, "Service members and their families expect a standard of living comparable to that which they would have enjoyed had they not chosen the military life Service members count on assured institutional benefits and a range of social, economic and psychic supports.

But the Pentagon report concludes that service men and women aren't getting what they might reasonably expect. "Today, the standard of living available to military people falls short of their expectations," the report concludes. "This shortfall considerably reduces the attractiveness of military service and diminishes the readiness of both Active and Reserve

WATCH ON WASTE: To encourage affirmative action hiring of women and minorities, the Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago devised an expensive way to create job openings: It offered older employees severance pay equal to a year's salary if they would take early retirement. The plan was approved by the Department of Energy, which provides about 95 per-short as the energy-crisis peddlers would have us believe, isn't it strange that the world has weathered the total loss of Iranian and Iraqi oil so well? Saudi Arabia may have increased its production some, but it has certainly not increased it enough to totally replace the oil from two of the world's biggest producers.

Another point. When you look at the relatively small areas from which oil is being presently produced, common sense tells you there is bound to be much more oil still in the ground. Since the great energy crisis began, two major oil discoveries have been made. One is the Mexican field. The other, more recent, is a new find in the Soviet Union, reportedly so rich that the Soviets will not have to look outside for oil for many, many shoots down a big prop in the oil shortage crisis theory. The Soviet Union, we were told, must soon begin importing oil so therefore the crisis was all the more ominous. As it is, the CIA's record of being wrong about the portion of the Alaskan North Shore is being tapped. Less than three percent of the Continental Shelf has been explored. Shale, tar sands and coal exist in fabulous amounts. Nuclear energy alone could make us independent. There is, in fact, no energy shortage.

I think when you look at the overall picture you will see the fine hand of the Fabian socialist at work. Convince the American people that private industry is greedily ripping them off and at the same time cannot supply their energy needs - do that, and what then becomes politically feasible? Nationalization.

There is no energy shortage, but there is a shortage of integrity and courage and our resolve. It goes without saying that the United States has suffered dearly during the past few years, losing the respect of many nations. Now it is time that we begin to reassert our influence. The opportunity for a fresh approach to the hostage dilemma will reach an all-time high when Reagan becomes president. He will be tested by the Iranians early during his term, literally on the day he becomes the chief executive. How Reagan responds to that test could well determine the course of the hostage situation and future dealings between this and other nations of the world.

The new president must be willing to demand the return of the hostages, alive and well, and, further, he must be willing to back up that demand with military force if such an act becomes necessary.

ABORTED SUPERCABINET Even before Reagan chief of staff James Baker publicly threw cold water on the notion of a five-member supercabinet, its critics felt that they had talked President-elect Reagan out of attempting this innovation. Transition officials, noting that the same plan was attempted by the Nixon administration in 1973, convinced Reagan it would be a serious mistake to create two classes of Cabinet officials. They also pointed out that David Stockman, expected to have a pivotal policy role at the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), would be excluded from supercabinet

Bridgetender taken to jail

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla: (AP) - A bridgetender who refused to lower a drawbridge during an annual boat parade was arrested and hauled off to jail by an off-duty policeman who wanted to cross, officials say. "The bridges are regulated by the Coast Guard, not the police department. And the Coast Guard said leave it up," said Velma Clifton, who was charged with failure to obey the lawful order of a police officer and spent Saturday night in Police said officer Don Wallace, off duty but in uniform and stuck in a traffic jam, ordered Ms. Clifton to lower the bridge so traffic could cross during a lull in the boat parade.

She refused, saying the Coast Guard told her not to, even though irate motorists had shouted insults and one had tossed a bottle at her.

Sgt. Frank Schueler of the police department said Ms. Clifton, 47, resisted arrest: She denied the allegation, contending Wallace pushed through a heavy screen over the bridgehouse windows and-shoved her to a concrete floor before handcuffing her.

Who

Ms. Clifton, who has worked as a bridgetender at the Oakland Park Boulevard Bridge over the Intracoastal Waterway since 1974, said she lowered the bridge several times early in the boat parade, but was told to stop.

Coast Guard officials said they didn't think such an order was issued, but James Kretchmer, district bridge administrator for the Coast Guard, said police violated a federal statute by causing the bridge to be left untended. He said the arrest of the bridgetender without giving her a chance to call a replacement was a peril to life and property.

The boat parade had ended before Ms. Clifton was taken away, and she left the bridge in a lowered position:

Ron Register, Broward County maintenance engineer, said incidents of abuse of bridgetenders have been common recently, resulting inthe installation of heavy screens over the windows on the bridgehouse

PLAN YOUR RETIREMENT BEFORE YOU RETIRE.

The time to realize that Social Security is not going to be enough to live on is not when you are 65 and about ready to retire!

Now is the time to begin preparing for your retirement with an IRA or KEOGH. Either account is as easy to open as a simple savings account . . . and if you are not participating in a company-sponsored plan where you work, then IRA and KEOGH may be the best plan for you.

With the First Savings IRA, a typical 35 year old employee regularly saving the maximum $1500 each year may retire after 30 years as a quarter-millionaire!

Setting aside $7500 each year in a KEOGH plan for 30 years allows a 35 year old self-employed businessperson to retire as a self-made millionaire! With either program, our 35 year olds will save thousands of tax dollars throughout the years because of the tax shelter both programs enjoy.

Consult a Retirement Specialists about IRA or KEOGH programs at either First Savings and Loan location in Midland ... downtown at 500 West Wall or in San Miguel Square.

Opposite sides of brain used by baby boys, girls

DENVER (AP) - Baby girls and boys apparently used opposite sides of the brain when listening to music and fairy tales during an experiment, a finding which may fuel controversy over whether behavioral differences between the sexes are biological or learned, a re-

A study of 3-month-old infants indicated that girls respond with mental activity on the left side of the brain, the area used by adults regardless of sex for language skills and analytical thinking, said Dr. David

The brain's response in the infant boys, listening to the same thing, came from the right side of the brain, which is involved in spatial relations, said Shucard.

He led the research for the National Jewish Hospital-National Asthma Center here.

The differences in brain response found in the infants apparently disappear as the brain matures, Shucard said, since there is no such variation in adult brain waves. The brain wave tests were conducted as each baby was being fed in the arms of its mother, who was seated in an easy chair. The babies wore lightweight headphones and had sensors taped to their heads. The electrical activity the sensors picked up was recorded on graph paper in another room. Shucard has not committed himself on whether behavioral differences are innate or learned through upbringing and other social forces. Some scientists believe men think and act differently from women because they are biologically different. Others argue that differences arise from upbringing, education and other environmental factors. "It could be that there are minimal differences between boys and girls at birth that are reinforced by their environment," Shucard says. "Researchers say male babies are handled more and female babies are talked to more. But the tests may indicate that "genetic factors may play a much larger role than assumed in cognitive interests," he added.

He and his wife, Janet, and two other researchers are now conducting the tests on 6-month-old babies.

Texas speed limit compliance passes

Texas motorists, thanks to a change in the way federal officials manipulate speed limit data, now meet the minimum compliance rate required to avoid a $7 million penalty. The state came into compliance Monday when officials plugged the numbers into the new formula sent down from Washington. Under the old formula the Texas compliance rate was 34 percent, below the required 40 percent.

However, those same numbers add up to a 43 percent compliance rate in the new formula, which takes into account possible speedometer error of 5 mph. The revised formula was passed down to the state by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the Federal Highway Administration

Public schools due $

AUSTIN - Texas public schools will receive an estimated $41 million in state funds during 1980-81 to strengthen their efforts in teaching the basic skills, said Alton O. Bowen, commissioner of education. These funds, a major portion of the annual $42.9 million state compensation allocation set by the Texas Legislature in 1979, are designed to help school districts improve local curriculum and instruction, Bowen says. The remaining $1.9 million will support ad-ministration and scoring of the Texas Assesment of Basic Skills, this state's annual testing program for students in third, fifth and ninth grades.

Allocation of state compensatory funds to school districts is based on the number of students who had qualified for free lunches in 1978-79 and other federal aid under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. "Not all Texas school districts qualify for federal assistance or choose to accept it because the number of their students who would qualify is so small," he points out. "For this reason, 992 of the total 1.099 districts will share state compensatory funds in 1980-81. The remaining 107 districts will not receive this extra state aid." Although state compensatory funds had been earmarked for educational assistance to disadvantaged students in the past Senate Bill 350 passed by the Legislature in 1979 changed the focus to basic skills in-

Two die in blaze next door to fire station

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) - Two young brothers, aged 1 and 3, died in a small apartment blaze while firefighters just next door struggled to open the broken doors of their station, officials said.

The electrically operated doors at the High Street station had been broken for four weeks and firefighters were using a manual pulley system to operate the garage doors, said authorities. That system also failed Monday

John Caufield, Newark fire director, said he did not think the broken doors were a contributing factor in the deaths of the two children. But Capt. John Dolak of the High Street Firehouse said he believed the seconds that firemen were "locked in our quarters" were critical. "I can't say if we could have saved them, but I just think maybe we could have," he said. "I don't know, we're pretty shook up around here.

The older boy used to play around the station all the time.' The bodies of Bashir Jackson, 17 months, and his 3-year-old brother, Ahamad, were found next to an apartment window. Deputy Chief Robert Miller said the boys probably died of burns. He said there would be no official word on what caused the deaths until an autopsy is performed. Several firefighters, frantic because three men were unable to hoist the

But one fireman, who wished to remain anonymous, said the hoses did not reach as far and were not as effective as they would have been if the trucks could have been pulled out of the station. He said the fire was small but was not brought under control until nearly an hour and a half

Capt. Edward Connolly said investigators believed the fire began in a faulty gas heater. He said the investigation would continue. e had wooden doors in here for ages that always worked," Dolak said. "I don't know who decided we needed these aluminum things."

Officer shot during argument

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) - Police were searching today for a suspect in the death of an officer shot during an argument with a man who was smoking on a commuter train in violation of the rules, authorities said.

Port Authority Police Officer William Perry, 32, of Roselle Park, was killed Monday when a bullet apparently ricocheted off his badge and struck him in the neck, said Port Authority spokesman Peter Monahan. Perry had been wearing a bullet-proof vest and civilian clothing.

Authorities said Perry was returning to Journal Square in Jersey City from a court appearance in Harrison when he noticed a passenger smoking on a train operated by the PATH system, which travels between New Jersey and Manhattan.

And he filled up their boots wit such presents galore, That neither could think of a single thing more When Buddy recovered the use of his jaws, He asked in a whisper, "Are you Santa Claus?"

"Am I the real Santa? Well, what do you think?' And he smiled as he gave a mysterious wink. Then he leaped in his buckboard; called back in his drawl, "To all children of Texas, Merry

Christmas, You'all.'

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus."

In 1897, the old New York Sun asked Francis P. Church, its veteran news editor, to answer a letter the newspaper had received from eight-year-old Virginia O'Hanlon, asking if her friends were right in telling her there was no Santa Claus.

Here is his classic reply.

"Dear Virginia,

our little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except what they see. They think that nothing can be that is not comprehensible to their little minds.

All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant in his intellect as compared with the boundless world about him as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole truth and knowledge.

es, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist. And you know they abound and give your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias.

here would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We would have no enjoyment except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

ot believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus.

he most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders that there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

ou tear apart the baby's rattle to see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived could tear apart.

nly faith, fancy, poetry, love and romance can push aside the curtain and picture the supreme beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

o Santa Claus! Thank God he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, · nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

"The Night Before Christmas in Texas That Is." We have some type program that Lisa has planned, stories and Christmas records. The first Christmas Eve a new daughterin-law attended, one of the others told her she would be expected to sing a solo. She had practiced and no one asked her. She was really relieved. We have recorded our programs and the singing, and we listen to them in later years.

My sister made Christmas ornaments with everyone's picture on a mirror several years ago and the children alays look for theirs. She also made Lisa a tablecloth of pictures in the book, "The Night Before Christmas in Texas That Is" and this will be the first year to use it.

From Kim Lanando, 710 W. Spence.

Italian tradition has its roots in the Christian faith, Catholicism. Christmas Eve many years ago was a time of fasting for Catholics. During this fast, the meals were smaller which consisted of much smaller portions and gifts from the sea. The count of Italy had an abundant supply of squid, octopus, eel.

As a result, generations later, many Italian families make a feast of pullo calanari, eel, mussels and dried codfish. Pullo is octopus fried in garlic and oil. Calanari is squid stir fried in garlic, sometimes with a tomato sauce covering. Eel was used many times to make a rich flavored stock for a good cup of soup. Baccala is dried codfish eaten with the other foods listed here and usually with a good shower of lemon juice.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What is wrong with me? I love to move! We've been married for 20 years, and I'm ashamed to tell you how many times we've moved. All in the same town, too.

I'm never satisfied. Once we're moved and settled I start looking for another house. My husband is very good about it and goes along with it just to please me.

We just moved into a nice house, and I'm already looking around. All this moving is very expensive. We have three teen-age children who were against all the moves, but we moved anyway

My husband helps, but I do most of the packing and unpacking. I just love hard work. Sometimes I wonder if I'm not a little crazy. Everyone I know hates to move, but I love it.

Have you ever had a letter like this? And do you think I should have my head examined?— LOVES TO MOVE

DEAR LOVES: No. I've never had a letter like yours, and it wouldn't hurt to have your head examined. It may not put an end to your moving, but at least you'll know why you love

Hot drinks

By TOM HOGE Writer

In the past I have helped usher in the new year with a variety of festive drinks, from creamy eggnog to that lethal mixture known as Fishhouse Punch.

Last year I decided that since New Year's Eve is usually pretty chilly, I'd serve a hot drink so that the guests would have more than the alcohol to warm

The libation, a Scotch toddy, was so well received that I plan to do a repeat this year with the classic Tom and Jerry.

Until I began browsing through the drink lists. hadn't realized that there are so many hot wassails to reduce the chill when icy winds howl

You can observe the occasion with mugs of spicy mulled cider or gather around a punch owl filled with steaming coffee laced with rum or other spirits.

There's the famous Irish Coffee, of course, and a host of other caf-feine-based drinks such as Cafe Brulot, in which strong, hot coffee is led to a mixture of brandy, orange and mon peel, sugar cubes, cinnamon and cloves and which has been set ablaze and allowed to slowly subside

Or there is not buttered rum where you blend a ent of butter with darkrown sugar, add nutmeg, cinnamon and a dollop of rum, then top dollop of rum, then top off with hot water, stir — and quaff.

If these drinks are too strong for your taste, you can serve mulled wine in which claret or burgundy is seasoned with orange and lemon peel, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and sugar, then simmered over low

As one sage put it, "A hot drink is as good as an overcoat." It is temporarily, at least.

Here's a recipe for Tom and Jerry which has fired holiday spirits in this country for generations. These drinks are best made individually, perhaps not a good choice if you're having many guests.

Appeals court denies motion for new hearing for McNew

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals has denied a motion for rehearing sought by W.J. McNew Jr., sentenced to 10 years in prison for theft over $200.

McNew was convicted of theft over $200 in Howard County and placed on probation. His probation was revoked, however, and McNew was given the prison term.

In his original appeal, McNew contended that deferred adjudication, a process by which a defendant is placed on probation and the entering of a final conviction is delayed during that probation, is unconstitutional.

The appeals court overruled that contention but McNew asked the court to reconsider his claim.

We conclude that deferred adjudication is a constitutional form of probtion' under the term of Article

'Bede Car' displayed

CLEVELAND (AP) - A former aeronautical engineer says he hopes to get financing to produce a fan-powered car which he says can get 117 miles per gallon at near-highway speeds.

J.R. Bede proved to observers Wednesday that his rocket-shaped "Bede Car" can move under the power of an engine-driven ducted fan in its rear. In a press conference, he sat behind the wheel of the 980-pound vehicle, drove it down a road 100 yards and back again. Bede and his cousin, James D. Bede, the president of Bede Industries Inc., said they hope they can obtain financing to produce the vehicle in kit form within two years and thus avoid meeting all federal

If it is mass produced to meet federal guidelines, James Bede said, the car could be marketed for about $8,000.

Bede Industries has devoted $300,000 to the project.

The midsize vehicle built of lightweight body materials uses a four-cylinder engine to power the fan in the rear. It runs on regular gas. There is no transmission, and its electric engine can move the car in slow-paced city driving or in reverse.

"There's no gimmick, no special little pill we've thrown into the gas tank," J.R. Bede said.

Wednesday, Dec. 24, 1980 YOUR BIRTHDAY TO-DAY: Life is not always easy for those born on this date, but you have tremendous potential and can make enormous contributions to your chosen field. Two other Christmas Eve babies were Ava Gardner and the late Howard Hughes! In the year ahead, try not to scatter your energies too widely. Instead, zero in on just two or three things that you would like to do really well. Your outgoing ways make you very popular with those in high places, and career opportunities will far exceed your expectations. In romance, you seek understanding as well as love.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Do not let the pressures associated with last-minute preparations undermine your patience, good humor. Social life accelerates but you probably prefer to stay close to home. Family member announces happy surprise.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Business plans are difficult to advance as everyone seems to be caught up in the social whirl. Go with the tide instead of trying to buck it. Tend to personal errands.

'LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Stress the benefits of teamwork if seeking loved one's assistance A cheerful, cooperative attitude is infectious now. Even if you are in a party mood, you would be wise to return home early.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept 22): A day in which favors are granted, and requests fulfilled. Forget business, shop talk when among friends. Good news arrives regarding a distant relative. Broken promises are best left unmentioned.

LSU coach sings the blues; Louisville's Crum just blue

By The Associated Press That was our worst game of the season by far," said Dale Brown, grabbed 13 rebounds as the Tar Heels coach of 10th-ranked Louisiana State. "We just weren't concentrating. Our concentration was lower than zero."

Sounds like a loser, right? You'd never know that Brown's Tigers had just raised their record to 7-1 with their sixth consecutive victory, a 78-62 decision over Xavier of Ohio Monday night. Durand Macklin led the Tigers with 25 points, all but one of them coming in the first half when he hit 9 of 10 field goal attempts. LSU led 44-38 at halftime, opened the margin to nine points early in the second half and won going away But obviously, Brown was not pleased.

'Are we that good that we can play that way and win?" he asked. "No, I don't think so. We were just lucky. Xavier Coach Bob Staak felt the Tigers were more than lucky. I think they will be a factor on the national scene," he said. "I wouldn't be surprised if I'm saying the same thing at the end of the season.

Five other nationally ranked teams were in action Monday night, and all

Fifth-ranked Virginia surpassed the 100-point mark at home for the first time since 1976 by overpowering Baltimore 103-62 to raise its record to 6-0. Ralph Sampson, the 7-foot-4 sophomore, led the Cavaliers with 24 points in 24 minutes and also contributed 15 rebounds and six blocked Virginia, leading 46-29 at halftime, hit 22 of its first 26 shots in the second half to pull away to an 80-43 bulge. The Cavaliers hit 78.8 percent of their shots in the second half and 69.1 percent for the game.

North Carolina, ranked sixth, got a career-high 30 points from freshman governors of the NBA, center Sam Perkins and beat Rutgers 71-64. Perkins hit 13 of 16 shots and raised their record to 8-1

Eighth-ranked Notre Dame, 5-1, coasted to a 32-18 halftime lead and went on to beat Valparaiso 69-56. Kelly Tripucka paced the balanced

Irish attack with 16 points. Unbeaten Arizona State, ranked 11th, won its seventh in a row by breezing past Illinois Wesleyan 88-65. Eleven different Arizona State players scored in the game, with Lafayette Lever the high man with 12

No. 17 Arkansas, 7-2, got 20 points apiece from Scott Hastings and U.S. Reed and defeated Southern Mississippi 76-68.

In other games, Duke defeated Penn 88-82, New Orleans beat Detroit 80-69. Virginia Commonwealth whipped Cincinnati 78-58, Missouri topped Brown 83-61, and Tulsa beat Purdue 90-76.

Louisville, the defending national champion, suffered its fifth loss in six starts, bowing to Minnesota 62-56 at Louisville's Freedom Hall.

Mustangs-Rebels stage WWI battle

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Sports Writer

The Andrews Mustangs and Midland Lee Rebels put on a World War I battle at the Lee gym Monday night with the AAAA power coming away with a heart throbbing 68-66 victory. But it was the scattered fans who showed up for this one who were the real winners

It was a trench war of the face-toface kind, one that was physical and pulsating. Each side took turns coming out of the trenches for sneak attacks only to fall back and let the other side take its turn. The only thing missing was the nerve gas and fixed

The Mustangs, now with a remarkable 12-2 record, scored in basket filling spurts to gain a 12-point lead in the first half and led by as many as 10 in the second half. Quickness is the name of their game and coach Frank Bice has his troops playing unselfish basketball. They always seem to find the open man.

Meanwhile, coach Paul Steuckler's Rebels played a hustling brand of ball that kept them in the game. The Rebels had to hustle because their shots didn't fall with a great deal of regularity, hitting only 40 percent from the field to Andrews' 46 percent. Still, Lee hustled from big deficits to make a run at victory and scored one more field goal than Andrews in the

The Andrews spark comes from small of stature Jerry Alaniz, who hit for 23 points - about his regular performance - with lightning quick moves and a seven of eight eye at the free throw line. Add to that the 19point performance of Keith Brooks yep, the all-everything quarterback at Andrews in the fall - and you have a one-two punch that can knock out the lights. Mike Murry added 10 to the

Alvin Dunson, who seems to be getting better with each passing game, hit for 16 points in the losing effort while Andre Van Buren had 12 and Olen Smith 10 in a three-pronged attack. Randy Pepper, who made the All-Tournament team in the Reese Christmas Classic over the weekend, hit eight points, seven in the second half to give the Rebels a surge.

The score was knotted four times in the first period before Andrews pulled away with a 20-16 lead at the end of the quarter. Alaniz went to work with his uncanny jumper in the second period as Andrews busted to a 33-21, 12-point margin, hitting six of 11 from the field. But Lee held on and trailed only by a 37-31 count at the half.

Lee came out gunning in the third period. Kenneth Brown, who played one of his best games with five blocked shots and numerous rebounds, got a three-point play to cut the margin to 37-34. Darius Berry followed with a bucket and a tip-in to knot the score at 38.

Then Andrews came out of the trenches with an all-out attack, running to a 50-42 lead in just seconds. Lee still held on and trailed only 52-49 at the end of the period.

The Mustangs broke quickly in the final period, racing to a 60-51 lead with Alaniz, Rick Jarvis, Jamie Gonzales and Brooks hitting quick baskets. That was really the spurt that did it because Lee was playing catchup the rest of the night. Dunson tried to bring Lee back with eight fourth quarter points on long range bombs, but when Lee scored right before the buzzer, Andrews still had that two-point lead.

Andrews ended its losing streak at one game, losing to El Paso Andress Saturday. Lee's losing streak now has reached three as the Rebs fell to 7-8 on the year. But Lee has lost its last three games by a total of seven meager points. Lee doesn't play again. until Monday when they face Lubbock Estacado at 7:30 p.m. in the Caprock ABC Holiday tournament in Lub-

Lee also dropped a tough decision in the junior varsity outing as Andrews took a 43-40 victory with Gonzales hitting 17 points and James Justice 11. Sylvester Johnson hit 10 for the Rebels. The Lee JV is also on a three-game losing streak.

Dan Fouts steers San Diego past Steelers, 26-17

By NORM CLARKE AP Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Rolf Benirschke kicked four field goals, and quarterback Dan Fouts steered San Diego on five straight scoring drives as the Chargers beat the Pittsburgh Steelers 26-17 Monday night to move into the National Football League

The victory gave San Diego, 11-5, it's second straight American Conference West Division title and the final perth in the 10-team NFL playoff

By virtue of the victory, San Diego drew a bye into the AFC semifinals Jan. 4 against the winner of Sunday's wild-card matchup between Oakland and Houston. Playing near-flawless football, the Chargers used ball control to hand the Steelers their seventh loss in 16 games. Running back Chuck Muncie rushed for a season-high 115 yards on 26 carries and scored an insurance touchdown of 10 yards with 3:22 femaining. Benirschke, who nearly died of a rare stomach disease a year ago, was flawless on his four field goal attempts, connecting twice from 33 yards and twice from 26 yards. He tied a club record for most field goals in a game and broke a team mark to most points scored in a season with

San Diego scored on six of its eight possessions in the game behind the play of Fouts, who completed 21 of 37 attempts for 308 yards and scored on a 1-yard run that gave San Diego a 16-3 lead early in the third quarter of the game that was witnessed by a sellout crowd of 52,000 and a national television audience.

Pittsburgh, playing only for pride after being denied a playoff berth for the first time since 1971, opened the game by marching to the San Diego 12, but Matt Bahr missed a 26-yard field goal attempt. The Chargers then drove 66 yards in 14 plays to set up Benirschke's first 33-yard field goal.

The Steelers tied it 3-3 on their next possession, going 81 yards to the San Diego 15 before Bahr hit on a 32-yard field goal. Pittsburgh drove 62 yards on its initial possession to the San Diego 12 but kicker Matt Bahr was wide left on a 29-yard field goal attempt. Quarterback Terry Bradshaw completed two of three passes in the drive, including a 26-yard gain to Theo Bell and a 12-yard advance to Lynn Swann. San Diego answered with a long drive of its own, going 66 yards in 14 plays before Rolf Benirschke put the Chargers ahead 3-0 with a 33-yard field goal

Benirschke's field goal gave him a club-record 107 points for the season, bettering the mark of 106 set by Dennis Partee.

The Steelers tied it at 3-3 by marching 60 yards to the San Diego 15 to set up Bahr for a 32-yard field goal less than three minutes into the second quarter. A 15-yard completion on third down from Bradshaw to Swann and a subsequent 15-yard penalty against ex-Steeler Glen Edwards was the key play on the drive.

San Diego went ahead 6-3 midway through the second quarter on a 26yard field goal by Benirschke, his 22nd of the season, tying another Partee record also set in 1968.

The drive started at the San Diego 11 after Bernard Jackson fumbled a short kickoff but recovered. Quarterback Dan Fouts connected on pass plays of 30 yards to Charlie Joiner and 15 to John Jefferson, and Mike Thomas had a 15-yard run and Chuck Muncie a 14-yard gain before the drive stalled and the Chargers called on Benirschke.

Another field goal by Benirschke, with two seconds remaining in the first half, gave San Diego a 9-3 lead. The 26-yard field goal capped a 13play, 74-yard drive that included four completions by Fouts - three of them to Kellen Winslow - for 51 yards.

The Chargers opened the second half with a lightning strike, Fouts hitting Winslow on a 59-yard pass play

Green to head Wildcats

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) - Northwestern University is expected today to name Dennis Green, 31-year-old Stanford University offensive coordinator, as its new football coach, according to widespread reports in the Chicago media.

If appointed, Green will work under Doug Single, 29, who was named Northwestern's athletic director last week. Single was associate athletic director at Stanford.

Green was an Iowa flanker and tailback in the early 1970s and a former assistant to San Francisco 49ers Coach Bill Walsh.

He would become the first black football coach in the Big Ten and would succeed Rick Venturi, who was fired after three years and a 1-31-1 record for the team during his ten-to the Steelers' 23-yard line. On thirdand-6, Fouts and Jefferson combined for a 14-yard gain to keep the drive alive. Four plays later Fouts rammed over from the 1 to put San Diego ahead 16-3 41/2 minutes into the third

The drive covered 82 yards in eight plays and was the fourth straight San Diego drive that produced points.

Pittsburgh roared back to score its first touchdown as Bradshaw fired completions of 32 and 35 yards to Bell and running back Sidney Thornton scored on a 2-yard run to make it 16-10 with 8:14 remaining in the period.

San Diego also scored on its fifth possession, going 59 yards late in the third quarter to the Pittsburgh 15 before Benirschke booted his fourth field goal in as many tries, a 33yarder, to give the Chargers a 19-10 lead going into the final period.

During that drive Fouts connected on crucial third-down pass plays of 13 yards to Winslow, 17 yards to Jefferson and 14 yards to Joiner.

Storming back, Pittsburgh drove to the San Diego 20, but on a fourth-down play linebacker Woodrow Lowe batted down a pass attempt by Bradshaw to halt the march.

San Diego tight end Kellen Winslow pulls the ball in as he leaves Pittsburgh defender Mel Blount in his wake on one of Winslow's ten receptions during the Chargers 26-17 win. (AP Lasarphoto)

They break out champagne bottles in losers' locker room

BY TED BATTLES

Leave it to Philadelphia to introduce a new way to grapple with defeat.

As the wait outside the Eagle's dressing room lengthened into a vigil, speculation began as to what might be taking place inside. It was obvious throughout the cold afternoon that Coach Dick Vermeil had been distraught, but the season was over, the die had been cast and couldn't recriminations over defeat wait until later in the week?

Then, at last, the electronically equipped horde was allowed through the narrow door and the sight that greeted them perhaps should have been anticipated, but, nevertheless, the tableau of half naked players and distinguished looking gentlemen in conservative business attire walking around genteely sipping from champagne glasses caught one off guard. They did lose, didn't

THE ONLY visible evidence of a defeat was the restraint of the celebration. No wild orgy of impromptu champagne shampoos for owners, coaches and heroes. It was all very dignified and sedate. Still, the distinct aura of a winners' locker room half, it probably felt like a victory. Dallas had jumped in front 21-0 and was only four away from the spread needed to grab the title in what, going into the game, looked like the surest thing since the 1919 World Series.

The Eagles, after falling behind 35-10 at one point in the third period, recovered to stave off the impossible. I can say we lost the battle, but won the war. Last year, felt we tied Dallas for the division, and they won it. Today, we tied them, but we won it," justified Eagles'

Coach Dick Vermeil.

WHEN asked, what he thought the turning point was detouring the Eagles from an apparent road to dipervaded, despite the 35-27 loss to Dallas. After the first saster, he responded, "When, after we would stop them, the officials stopped giving them a first down...In the first half, everytime we got the ball, it was inside our five," he exaggerated just a little. "That's damned

Then that 50-yard interception play we had was a joke," he warmed up, "On Robinson (Jerry's) return, they called holding on one of our guys and then couldn't even tell me who it was that held. Also, Dallas tackled our end down on that play.

Vermeil raged on, "It was very frustrating in the first half what with all the bad field positions and the horrible officiating. Yes, horrible officiating. Maybe I'll get fined, but I think it's time for coaches in this league to speak out."

VERMEIL WASN'T claiming the Eagles had been singled out for persecution. He was just offering a blanket indictment of the officiating in the NFL this year. "Frustrating, you bet it is. As I'm sure it was with Coach Landry when beat them up there and they don't get the pass interference call. Landry left the field in Philadelphia feeling the same way I feel now, only (he felt)

Over in the Cowboys' dressing room, Tom Landry aired his distaste of the system for settling divisional ties. Under any other circumstances, Sunday's game would have been a bore, but with Dallas needed a 25-point spread to wrest the NFC East title away from the Eagles, the final margin was more important than the outcome and the Texas Stadium fans predictably responded the Cowboys' fast 21-0 getaway.

LANDRY was less than enraptured. He thinks it's a poor way to settle such matters, preferring almost any other alternative, including a coin toss. "We were okay until we got the 25-point difference, then we lost our concentration. We didn't anticipate to be up by 25 points going into the game just like we didn't anticipte what happened against the Rams ... You start thinking about it and hope to hold the margin and then you start making and doing things you shouldn't be doing. Landry observed the Dallas locker room head-hanging. no champagne here, and said, "Right now the defense is down because they feel they let the 25 points slip away, but they helped set up those 25 points...It's hard to keep those points out of the back of your mind. When winning isn't the most important thing in a game, then something's wrong.'

In a crowded courtroom last week - his wife Kathy sitting in the audience with fingers crossed - the Texas Rangers pitcher faced a judge and came away with a second chance. Charges of unlawful possession of marijuana and hashish were dropped. He was convicted on a cocaine charge, but an exemplary career that included a history of public service saved him from a fine or imprisonment and a criminal record. He was given an absolute discharge.

Now, at 38, in the twilight of a big league career, which has seen him win 259 games, it was time for soul-searching. "I've learned a lesson,

Loughery surprises by walking off job as Nets' coach in final outburst

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - Kevin Loughery's final outburst as the fiery coach of the New Jersey Nets was to walk off the job he held for eight years.

Loughery surprised team members and officials Monday by phoning team owner Joseph Taub in Puerto Rico to quit his post.

Loughery said he made his decision over the weekend, after a four-hour meeting with Taub last Friday.

"I had the weekend to think about the tremendous difference of philosophy we have about the operation of the team," he said, refusing to give any specific examples of the dispute. However, he said his resignation had nothing to do with the performance of the team, which is in last place in the Atlantic Division of the National Basketball Association with

Last month, Taub was forced to apologize to a partner he wrongly accused of telling the media that Loughery's dismissal was imminent. Taub said he later learned he incorrectly had been led to believe the minority owner was the one who leaked a report that a movement was growing for Loughery's ouster. Taub, who declined to identify the partner, said none of the owners admitted spreading the story about Loughery and he did not explain how he discovered his mistake. But Taub made it clear at the time that Loughery's job was secure.

Loughery's decision came as a disappointment to veteran guard Mike. Newlin, the Nets' leading scorer with an average of 21.1 points a game.

"I lost a good friend in Kevin, Newlin said by telephone from India napolis, where the Nets meet the Indiana Pacers tonight. "He's the most impartial employer I've had in my life, in and out of basketball. He had high standards and he didn't compromise those standards.

'Kevin is a basketball genius. Newlin added. "He's a player's coach. I haven't heard one negative word about Kevin in my two years here. Kevin allows a professional to be a professional. He expects you to be one and gives you the freedom to

"It's a loss to basketball - hopefully only temporarily.

Loughery said he had "no idea" what he'll do now. "I only made my decision a little while ago."
"The resignation is effective immediately and head coaching duties will be assumed by assistant coach Bob MacKinnon. An assistant coach will be named at a later date," said Nets spokesman Ted Pase.

Loughery coached the Nets to three American Basketball Association championships when the club played at Nassau Coliseum in Uniondale,

Since the Nets joined the NBA, Loughery's team made the playoffs once in four years. Before taking the Nets job, he was a player-coach with the Philadelphia 76ers during the 1972-73 season. MacKinnon joined the Nets following one season as an assistant coach with the Boston Celtics. He previously coached at Canisius College, St. Louis of the American Basketball Association and the Buffalo Braves

Cowboys concentrating on paying back on a new debt

Patriots are out; Ron Erhardt still in

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

AP Sports Writer DALLAS (AP) - This week the Dallas Cowboys are concentrating on paying back a new debt.

We owe the Los Angeles Rams one," said Dallas wide receiver Drew Pearson not more than 15 minutes after the Cowboys had defeated Philadelphia 35-27 Sunday to earn the homefield advantage in the National Conference wild card game Sunday in Texas Stadium.

"Everybody broke into spontaneous applause and cheering," said linebacker Bob Golic. "Having him back is the best thing that could happen to this team - the absolute best.

Wide receiver Harold Jackson, a 13-year NFL veteran, said, "The man has done his job getting this team ready. But he can't do it all. He can't make field goals or catch tipped passes or not fumble the ball. That's up to us, and sometimes we didn't do

Erhardt claimed he never thought his job was in jeopardy.

We lost a couple; we were humiliated in San Francisco. But take away a blocked field goal, a tipped pass and a fumble and we're 12-4 and not even worrying about the Pittsburgh-San Diego game. We just lost some games down the stretch because of uncontrollable circumstances," he

In keeping with club policy, Sullivan declined to disclose terms of his new agreement with Erhardt. However, Erhardt, whose initial two-year contract provided an automatic renewal of an option to continue as coach next year if the club made the playoffs, joked: "It's not for more than 10 years and it's for less than eight years."

Sullivan also indicated that, although he controls the team, the players' rallying to the defense of Erh in the last couple of weeks had a part in the decision to retain him.

"The players' support certainly didn't hurt," Sullivan said.

Erhardt spent 23 years as a high school, college and assistant pro coach before being promoted to replace Chuck Fairbanks as field boss of the Patriots. Fairbanks quit the Patriots and bought out his contract in the face-of legal action late in the 1978 season.

In Erhardt's first year, the Patriots had a 9-7 record, slumping after a 6-2

NEWSPAPER BIBLE

Jesus said, 'Come out, you evil spirit'

WHEN they arrived at the other side of the lake a demonpossessed man ran out from a graveyard, just as Jesus was climbing from the boat.

This man lived among the gravestones, and had such strength that whenever he was put into handcuffs and shackles -as he often was-he snapped the handcuffs from his wrists and smashed the shackles and walked away. No one was strong enough to control him.

All day long and through the night he would wander among the tombs and in the wild hills, screaming and cutting himself with sharp pieces of stone.

- When Jesus was still far out on the water, the man had seen Him and had run to meet Him, and fell down before Him.

Then Jesus spoke to the demon within the man and said, "Come out, you evil spirit." It gave a terrible scream. shrieking, "What are You going to do to me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? For God's sake, don't torture me!"

"What is your name?" Jesus asked, and the demon replied, "Legion, for there are many of us here within this man." Then the demons begged Him again and again not to send them to some distant land. Now as it happened there was a huge herd of hogs rooting around on the hill above the lake.

"Send us into those hogs," the demons begged. And Jesus gave them permission. Then the evil spirits came out of the man and entered the hogs, and the entire herd plunged down the steep hillside into the lake and drowned.

The herdsmen fled to the nearby towns and countryside, spreading the news as they ran. Everyone rushed out to see for

And a large crowd soon gathered where Jesus was, but as they saw the man sitting there, fully clothed and perfectly sane, they were frightened.

Those who saw what happened were telling everyone

And the crowd began pleading with Jesus to go away and leave them alone So He got back into the boat. The man who had been possessed by the demons begged Jesus to let him go along. But Jesus said no. "Go home to your friends," He told him, "and tell them what wonderful things God has done for you; and how merciful He has been." So the man started off to visit the Ten Towns of that region and began to tell everyone about the great things Jesus had done for him; and they were awestruck by his story

If you have bonds, what do you have?

By LOUISE COOK

If you're one of the millions of Americans who own U.S. Savings Bonds, it might pay to review your investment to make sure you know exactly what you

Are you taking full advantage of the tax breaks available with bonds, for example? Do you have old bonds that should be cashed in? What should you do about the accumulated interest? Sales of savings bonds have been sagging as buyers turned to investments that offered higher interest rates. But the government estimates that one-third of all American families still own the familiar certificates. There are two types of Savings Bonds now being sold - Series EE and Series HH. They replaced the Series E and H bonds at the beginning of 1980, but all outstanding E and H bonds still earn interest. Series EE bonds are available in denominations from $50 to $10,000. They are sold at half their face value. Series EE bonds sold before Nov. 1, 1980 reach maturity in 11 years; those sold after Nov. 1 reach maturity in 9 years. Interest is paid when you cash in the bonds. The interest rate on bonds held to maturity was recently increased from 7 percent to 8

Series HH bonds are available in denominations from $500 to $10,000. They are sold at face value and have a maturity of 10 years. Interest is paid semiannually. The rate was recently increased from 6½ percent to 7½ percent. Bondholders must report the interest annually on their tax returns

Interest on Series EE bonds - and on the older E bonds - is exempt from state and local income taxes, however. And you do not have to pay federal income tax on the interest until you cash in the Stock market mixed

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market was mixed today, pausing after Monday's sharp rally.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up 21.59 on Monday, dropped back 2.90 to 955.89 by noontime today. Gainers outnumbered losers by about an 8-5 margin in the broad tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues The market got a big boost Monday from the decision by San Francisco's Wells Fargo Bank to cut its prime lending rate to 201/2 percent.

Chase Manhattan Bank of New York followed today by lowering its basic charge on blue chip loans to the same level.

The prime rate reductions, coming on the heels of steep declines in open-market money rates over the past several days, kept hopes alive on Wall Street that the long rise of interest rates since last summer might have passed its peak.

There was less cheery news on inflation this morning, however, when the government reported that the consumer price index rose 1 percent in November, maintaining the 12 percent-plus annual pace of the two previous months

Federal National Mortgage led the active list, up 3/4 at 121/4. Blocks of 553,000 and 105,000 shares changed hands at 12.

The NYSE's composite index dropped .25 to 77.69. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off 2.79 at 350.60.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 20.88 million shares at noontime, down from 27.30 million at the same point Monday.

Auto industry losing sales force

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - Already dangerously weakened by foreign competition, customer resistance and the rising costs of oil, materials and money, the automotive industry is bit by bit losing its sales force

The situation could become as damaging as any of the others, because it was through their widespread dealer systems that the giant, distant, impersonal automobile companies interfaced with local com-

More dealers closed their doors in the 1980 model year than ever before in 18 years of record-keeping, according to Automotive News, which compiled figures showing a loss of 1,643 for the model year.

The trade publication said the losses left Big Four manufacturers - General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American - with 21,945 dealers, or 7 percent fewer than the 23,558 dealers in the 1979 model

It contends that "This is the lowest total since the infant days of the auto industry when the manufacturers were beginning to build their dealer organiza-

Interest rates, to which dealers are especially sensitive, have risen sharply since the figures were compiled, likely adding many additional closings to the list. Moreover, buyer interest has been only

The loss of dealers has many ramifications beyond diminishing the selling power of the Big Four.

Dealers in Japanese cars, for example, have been faring relatively well, and could be in a position to take an increasing share of the market, thus worsening the U.S. imbalance of foreign payments.

With fewer domestic dealers, how will we cope with imports - pass a law?" asks Albert Sindlinger, whose firm closely monitors the automotive market and provides marketing data to the Big Four.

Sindlinger's firm, based in Media, Pa., predicts a prime interest rate of 25 percent or more sometime after inauguration day, leading to many more dealer bankruptcies and adding to the financial crises of the big manufacturers, who lost $3.5 billion in the first nine months of 1980. Even short of bankruptcy, high interest rates have an immediate and markedly negative impact on dealers, "When rates are high dealers cut their inventories," says Marina Whitman, GM's chief

Said Ms. Whitman, "If we get no relief (from rising rates) it will hurt us and the economy." If the country suffers a double-dip recession, she said, "it will be because of interest rates.'

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Amniocentesis can be done safely

in late pregnancy Dear Dr. Solomon: Everything I read about am-niocentesis emphasizes that it should be done early in pregnancy. But suppose a woman is having some difficulty during the latter stages of pregnancy. Is it possible for an amniocentesis to be done safely then? - Ms. L.B. Dear Ms. B: The findings of a six-year study done in France suggest that amniocentesis can be done safely during late pregnancy. The researchers base their conslusions on more than 2,000 procedures performed in more than 1,000 women between the 32nd and 42nd weeks of gestation. None caused injury to

Dear Dr. Solomon: I read your book "Dr. Solomon's High Health Diet & Exercise Plan," particularly the part about exercise and cholesterol, and found it very helpful. I started jogging several months ago because my doctor told me it might help me lose weight and bring down my cholesterol level Now I run three miles a day, every other day. Is this enough to lower my cholesterol, or would you suggest I increase the distance I run? - Murray

Dear Murray: To answer the last part of your question first, the amount and kind of exercise in which you engage should be a subject for discussion between yourself and your doctor. While those who read my book will appreciate the importance I attach to exercise, it is obvious that not everyone could or should even attempt to run a marathon. For me people, in fact, their participation in any kind of exercise may have to be rather limited. I have no idea of your medical history and do not even know your age. An exercise program should be tailored to a person's individual needs, and this cannot be done from a distance.

As for the other part of your question: You will recall that in the book I distinguished between high-density lipoprotein (HDL), the good cholesterol, and low-density lipoprotein (LDL), the bad cholesterol. There is evidence that HDL is associated with a decreased risk of coronary heart disease, and exercise does appear to be an important factor in maintaining it at a high level.

Additional proof of these relationships comes from a study done by researchers at the Baylor College of Medicine and the Methodist Hospital in Houston. They studied the effects of exercise on HDL in marathoners, joggers and men who were not active. All subjects were between 35 and 66 years of age.

The results of the study indicated that exercise is a significant factor in determining HDL, with the distance run that best predictor of both total cholesterol and the ration of HDL to total cholesterol. in other words, those who ran longer distances had higher ratios of HDL to total cholesterol, and lower total cholesterol levels.

As I noted earlier, however, whether you should increase the distance you run depends on a number of factors that I know nothing about.

Witness says satanic cult killed Beret's wife, kids

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) - A woman who claimed a loss of memory when called as a defense witness in Dr. Jeffrey MacDonald's murder trial now says the deaths of his wife and daughters were deliberate acts of vengeance by a satanic cult, the Fayetteville Times reported today.

The former Green Beret was con-victed of the killings in 1979, but the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overturned the conviction this year.

The witness, identified as Helena Stoeckley, 27, signed a statement acknowledging she was present when MacDonald's wife and two daughters were slain in 1970, the newspaper said in a copyright story.

Quoting an unidentified source, the Times reported Ms. Stoeckley said the attack on Collette MacDonald, Kimberly, 5, and Kristen, 2, was deliberately planned by the "Black Cult" to which she belonged.

MacDonald has maintained that four drug-crazed intruders, chanting "Kill the pig" and "Acid is groovy. had broken into his home, stabbed his wife and daughters and injured him.

After the military declined to press charges, a grand jury eventually indicted him and he was tried nine years later.

The appellate court, in overturning his conviction, ruled that he had been denied access to a speedy trial.

U.S. Attorney James Blackburn of ruling to the Supreme Court, declined to comment on the reported state ment by Ms. Stoeckley. MacDonald's lawyer, Bernard Segal of San Francisco, also declined comment.

In Washington, Justice Department lawyer Brian Murtagh, who has dealt with the case since 1971, would not comment except to say: "This isn't the first time Helena Stoeckley has confessed. If you put everybody in that room who confessed, there would hardly be room in there for Jeff (MacDonald)."

Ms. Stoeckley told private investigators she had wanted to tell the truth at the trial, but changed her mind when a man accosted her in a Raleigh motel and warned her not to talk, the source told the Times.

Ms. Stoeckley described her involvement in the slayings only after private investigators promised her protection, and she now is believed to be hiding on the West Coast, the source told the newspaper.

The source revealed these details about Ms. Stoeckley's story: The 13-member "Black Cult" to which Ms. Stoeckley, then 17, belonged decided to "punish" MacDonald for his attitude toward drug use by certain cult members.

She found out when he would be home, and a sacrificial raid was set for Feb. 16, 1970.

Ms. Stoeckley, along with many others in the cult, had taken drugs that night, including LSD and mesca-

The group found the doctor on a living room couch, asleep over a book with the television on His pregnant wife awakened and catted out, "Jeff, who are these people? Why are they doing this to

As MacDonald tried to rise, four men began hitting him and Ms. Stoeckley cheered, "Acid is groovy.

Ms. Stoeckley then left the living room to see what was happening in the rest of the house and saw some of her friends strugglipg with a woman on a bed. A child lay nearby, motionless. She later spotted another child.

She saw MacDonald slump to the floor in the living room and chanted, 'Kill the pig.

His face and pajama top were bloody, and she thought he was

She talked nonsense to a telephone caller when the group elected her to answer the phone. And then she wiped the handpiece with her blouse.

The encounter had not seemed real, but then the blood began to scare her. When she tried to revive Mrs. Mac-Donald, the others laughed, according to the report.

Trapp Lodge was not inspected in 16 years

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — The Trapp Family Lodge, home to the Sound of Music" family until it was destroyed by fire, had not been inspected for fire code violations in sixteen years, state records indicate.

The landmark lodge was last inspected in 1964 by state fire safety officials, and code violations were turned up at that time, according to the records. State officials said they did not know if those violations had been corrected.

Jiang defiant in dock

PEKING (AP) - The widow of Chairman Mao Tse-tung, defiant in the face of charges that could cost her her life, today denied allegations that she persecuted more than 2,600 artists and writers during China's Cultural Revolution, Chi-

Jiang Qing was arro-gant and unyielding and 'denied the charges against her, argued and used tricky arguments" to shift the blame to others, the sources said.

It was the seventh time the alleged mastermind of the Gang of Four appeared in the dock at the Supreme People's Court where she and nine codefendants are on trial for their lives.

During the morning session, Jiang argued with a woman prosecutor, Wang Yao Qing, who accused her of framing and hounding famous cultural figures during the 1966-76 Cultural Revolution, the sources

While she spoke out defiantly against her accusers, the sources said, Jiang did not cause the uproar that led to her being physically ejected from the court room during her last appearance on Dec. 12. At that time, she denounced the court as "criminal and outrageous" and called witnesses liars and "renegades.

Also on the list which doesn't say which of the 12 is most watchable of all - were singers Pat Boone and Wayne Newton, talk show host Phil Donahue, NBC's "Today" show fire safety program, said the state has three fire inspectors and some 40,-000 buildings to inspect. He said the state has

Meanwhile, state Po-lice Cpl. John Prentice, who is investigating the fire, said arson had been all but ruled out. Prentice said over 50 wit nesses had been interviewed and an on-scene investigation continued. Lodge officials said a faulty oil burner was the likely cause of the fire.

Lodge operator Johannes von Trapp, son of Baroness Maria von Trapp, said there were. no sprinklers in the wood-frame building. The lodge was equipped with smoke alarms, but some guests said they did not hear any alarm.

The three-story lodge was originally a farmhouse, with additions made in 1942. The von Trapp family, which inspired the hit musical 'Sound of Music" settled there after fleeing Nazioccupied Austria in 1938.

The lodge was about to undergo major expansion and renovation, von Trapp said. The building was insured for $600,000.

Georges Bank lawsuit dropped

By JAMES SIMON

BOSTON (AP) - A longstanding court challenge by environmentalists to offshore drilling in New England's Georges Bank has been settled, increasing the chances that oil and natural gas exploration could begin late next summer in one of the world's richest fishing grounds.

"They may not do a good job drilling in the Georges Bank, but they surely will know that a lot of people will be looking over their shoulder," Douglas Foy, executive director of the Conservation Law Foundation of New England, said Monday.

Moments earlier, his group dropped its suit against the federal government in return for government pledges to improve safeguards against oil spills.

The agreement ends three years of litigation brought by the foundation, Massachusetts Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti and other parties to block drilling 63 to 157 miles southeast of Cape Cod. The lawsuit never went to trial, but the CLF succeeded in delaying the sale of exploration leases for almost two years. The lease sale finally took place in

Spokesmen for Mobil, Getty, Texaco and several other oil companies said Monday that oil rigs could be moved into position by August for the start of drilling on some of the 63 tracts

But Gulf spokesman S.J. Mattina predicted the long process of getting permits would push the start of drilling back into 1982. An industrywide shortage of drilling rigs also could delay the start of drilling, he Foy said that under the agreement, environmentalists will gain access for the first time to preliminary and final government biological studies on the impact of drilling. The CLF also will have a role in the drafting of an environmental impact statement on the Georges Bank, and oil companies will be forced to use the best and safest technology in drilling.

Foy said a final provision, forcing the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration to reconsider its decision against classifying the Georges Bank as a marine sanctuary, may be the most important part of the settlement. "It's a simple distinction: as a marine sanctuary, the Georges Bank would be regarded first and foremost for its fishing capacity, which could reach 1 billion pounds a year if managed properly," he said. "Oil and gas would be allowed to proceed, but not at the expense of Government geologists estimate that 123 million barrels of oil and 850 billion cubic feet of natural gas are buried in the fishing grounds.

The federal government is scheduled to sell drilling rights for another 540 tracts in the Georges Bank in

"After three years, we're just glad it's over," said Justice Department attorney Michael W. Reed.

Japan now world's largest auto maker

TOKYO (AP) — For the first time, Japan has outstripped the U.S. in annual automobile production and emerged as the world's largest car maker, the Japan Automobile Manufacturers Associa-

Association officials said in a report that Japan's automakers turned out 10.1 million motor vehicles between January and November, and were expected to produce 11 million unitsby the end of this year. Last year's total was 9.6 million units. That compared with 7.4 million units U.S. automakers produced tween January and Nov. 29 of this year, down from 10.9 million

duced units in the first three quarters of 1979 and a total production of 11.4 million units last year.

Aithough the Japanese statistics do not include those for December, officials of the associaton, a trade group representing 13 automakers, said it's certain that Japan has outdistanced the United States since only one month of production remains.

One official cautioned, however, that the comparison isn't quite

"It's like comparing a sick man and a strong, healthy man competing in long-distance running," he said, referring to the present depression in the U.S. auto industry.

The official noted that the United States may move to the forefront in car making again when its auto industry regains

The association official pointed out that U.S. automakers have and trouble in gearing production to small, fuel-efficient cars in accordance with a shift in consumer demand. As a result, he said, they had to lay off a large number of workers and close a string of assembly plants, thus seriously hurting production. Production in the first 11 months of this year represented an increase of 15.1 percent from the same period a year earlier. Output of passenger cars in the 11 months was 6,447,703 units. a 14.4 percent gain.

Truck output came to 3,588,930 units, up 15.9 percent, and buses,

82,620 units, a steep 46.5 percent rise. At the same time, association officials said production in November stood at 895,106 units, a 1.2 percent decline from the same period a year before and the first such drop in 20

Production of passenger cars in the month totaled 566,301 units, down 3.3 percent from the year before. Output of trucks totaled 320,314 units, up 2.1 percent, and buses 8,491 units, a sharp 26.7 percent rise

Demand in the domestic market in November was 409,843 units. a considerable 13 percent fall from the same period last year. It was the largest drop this year.

Production of motorcycles, meanwhile, was 566,226 units, up 28.5 percent from the year before and a record, surpassing the previous record of 487,429 units in 1977.

Motorcycle production in the first 11 months of this year was 5,825,298 units, up 44.9 percent from the comparable period last

GM is optimistic about sales for 1981 By The Associated Press

Smith.

Although General Motors is optimistic that car sales will go up ext year, Chrysler Corp. says production of its compact front-teel drive "K-car" will be cut by 21 percent in January. In an annual year-end prediction, GM Chairman-elect Roger B.

Smith said Monday he expects a 13 percent increase in domestic and imported car and truck sales in the 1981 calendar year, for a total of "more than 10 million cars and over 2.7 million trucks."

However, Chrysler spokesman Bob Heath confirmed that "Kproduction will be cut when workers return to their plants on Jan. 12 after an extended Christmas break.

Outgoing GM chairman Thomas A. Murphy last year forecast sales of 10.6 million cars and 3.2 million trucks in the 1980 calendar year. Actual sales will be about 9 million cars and 2.5 million trucks.

Though imports will win a record 26 percent share of sales for cars and 20 percent for trucks this year, Smith made no prediction on their share of next year's sales.

The Chrysler slowdown will mean more cuts in a workforce already slimmed by previous indefinite layoffs at two plants. Worker rolls will be slashed by 780 at the Jefferson assembly plant in Detroit and by 2,100 at a Newark, Del. plant. The two plants were building 2,240 cars a day, and production will drop to

The "K-cars," the Plymouth Reliant and Dodge Aries, had been used as a key to helping Chrysler make a profit in the fourth quarter of this year, but sales ran at about half the projected rate of 490,000 cars a year after their October introduction. Sales improved recently, but Chrysler still had a 98-day supply of K-cars on hand in December, while a 60-day to 65-day supply is considered normal.

Chrysler Chairman Lee A. Iacocca said last week the company made too many cars loaded with expensive options at first, but he has also blamed high interest rates for forcing consumers to postpone buying.

On Monday, the United Auto Workers union agreed to discuss a $600 million wage freeze Chrysler is seeking as it tries to qualify for $400 million in federal loan guarantees. The General Motors forecast is predicated on "an easing in short-term interest rates" and growth in the gross national production of about 2 to 3 percent after inflation, according to
