Refiners expect no strike effect on consumer price

HOUSTON (AP) - Refiners affected by a walkout of more than 20,000 Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union members in Texas and Louisiana say there will be no short term effect on consumers.

The union, with more than 60,000 members nationally, stopped work Tuesday in a dispute over higher wages and an improved medical plan. Plants in Texas and Louisiana produce seven million of the nation's daily output of 17.4 million barrels of oil. "As far as the consumer is concerned, we would expect, certainly on the short term and possibly on the long term, that they will see no effects of this strike," said Bill Gibson, a spokesman for the Shell Oil refinery at Deer Park.

Supervisory personnel started taking control of the plants throughout the area Tuesday when the strike started and in most cases the transition was smooth.

Wayne Tiller, a spokesman for Amoco Chemicals, said the plant was under full operation by supervisory personnel one half hour before the scheduled 4

"They got their transition over with early," Tiller said.

Within minutes after 4 p.m., the strike quickly spread to the huge Texaco and Gulf Oil refineries in Port Arthur and Shell Oil and Atlantic Richfield plants on the Houston Ship Channel.

Strikers at the Texaco plant in Port Arthur used hammers and rocks to shatter windows on some of the 17 catering service trucks that drove past the pickets and into the plant Tuesday night.

Texaco spokesman Larry Bingaman said the vehicles were not strike breakers, but catering service trucks were sent to feed the technical and supervisory personnel operating the facility. He said one catering service employee sustained a minor injury from flying glass. Port Arthur police said there were no arrests and that they did not intend to step up security at the refinery. The incident was the only confrontation between the companies and strikers

"Pickets are up at the gates and everything is quiet," said Dean Baxter at the 363,000 barrels per day ARCO refinery where 1,800 workers were affected.

There had been hope earlier Tuesday that the strike could still be averted. But Kirk Vogeley, a Gulf spokesman, said a meeting with federal mediators and OCAW president Robert Goss. broke up with no indication of progress. The only Texaco facility shutdown in Texas by the strike was the 127-employe

Council OKs specs for $221,000 facility

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

Remodeling the abandoned Circle Drive Fire station into a senior citizens center will cost the city of Midland about $221,000.

But Midland City Council approved Tuesday specifications for remodel-ing the building and advertising for

The architect's plans show that a circular drive at one side will be added, as will smaller rooms. Inside the building will be a main room with a stage, kitchen, offices, a ceramics room, an area for a kiln with rest rooms and snack areas. Sale of bonds to begin some projects was approved by the council. The March 1 sale will include $3 million in general obligation bonds for street improvements, $1.85 million for improvements to the water system and $2.65 million for an expansion to the sewage treatment plant.

In conjunction with that sale, bids will be accepted on work to the sewage treatment plant. John Lowe. director of utilities, said cost of the project has been estimated at $3.4 to "If it (bid) is higher than that, then there are things we can take out to drop the price," Lowe said. Starting the project in April still should allow enough time for construction before the current plant becomes overloaded, he added.

Although only $2.65 million in bonds will be sold for the project, Robert Massengale, director of finance, said the city has some funds to add to the amount until remaining bonds can be sold next year.

A contract with Harry Hill, architect for Midland Regional Airport, was approved for work in repairing the building's damage incurred during a fire recently. The council was advised it may have some trouble with the insurance company in getting payment for the work. But the council decided to authorize Hill and his firm to get started on the re-

Creating a Transportation Commission and naming its members was deferred until Jan. 22. John Ingram, president of the MidTran board, suggested the six members already on the board remain while two City Council members and an at-large member are added

Completing detail work to get Mid-Tran started is on schedule, and plans still call for a Feb. 4 rolling date, according to Ingram.

Brochures which listed rate schedule and other information about Mid-Tran were distributed to council members. Within city limits, subscription service for a month is $18. This includes a round trip each weekday

(such as to and from work). Dial-aride will cost 75 cents per person, or 25 cents for handicapped people. Sub-scription service will be available during the hours of going and coming from work. Dial-a-ride hours will range from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. For subscription service, interested persons may purchase monthly passes at Chamber of Commerce, 211 N. Colorado St.; Teraco Inc., 2080 Commerce Drive; Midland City Hall, 300 N. Loraine St.; and Texins Association, located at Texas Instruments in the Midland Regional Airport

In other action, the council urged further study of fees to be charged out of town residents for use of Parks and Recreation Department facilities, adopted the 1979 building code and 1978 electrical code and reviewed more plans for relocating the Pliska airplane at Midland Regional Air-

Carter to make Soviets 'suffer'

Carter is formally setting in motion a series of measures against the Soviet Union in retaliation for what he calls 'the greatest threat to peace since the Second World War.'

Carter said Tuesday night that these measures will make the Soviet Union "suffer," but he acknowledged they probably will not force the Kremlin to withdraw its forces from Afghanistan.

Speaking to about 100 members of the House and Senate invited to the White House for a report on the situation in Southwest Asia, Carter said there was nothing the United States could have done militarily to block the Soviet action. Carter admitted that the retaliatory cations are pending, Commerce Department officials said.

The suspension of the sale of 17 million tons of grain to the Soviet Union has prompted a chorus of pro-tests from Republican presidential candidates who claim that the administration is asking the American farmer to bear the brunt of its anti-Soviet measures.

In response, the administration announced Tuesday a boost in government support rates for wheat and corn. The wheat rates were pegged at $2.50 a bushel from $2.35 while corn supports were boosted to $2.10 per bushel from $2. This supplements a series of other actions already an-

If the Soviets suffered no adverse consequences, they would have been tempted "to move again and again until they reached the warm-water ports" or gained control of world oil supplies, Carter said.

The day after the Dec. 27 Sovietsponsored coup in Afghanistan, Carter had compared the Soviet ac-tion to the Kremlin's use of armed force to put down uprisings in Hun-gary in 1956 and in Czechoslovakia in

But Tuesday, he said the intervention in Afghanistan was cause for greater concern because the target was a non-aligned state rather than nations that had long been in the Soviet sphere of influence.

Carter explained the rationale for his cutbacks in Soviet-American commercial and diplomatic ties this

"We hope that we have laid down a marker and let them (the Soviets) know that they will indeed suffer now and in the future.'

Tuesday's measures included: -Formal notification to the Soviets that they will not be allowed to open a planned consulate in New York and a directive that the 17 officials assigned to staff the consulate are to be sent home expeditiously. The Soviets also were informed that the United States will not open a consulate in Kiev and that the seven officials assigned there will be withdrawn.

—A directive to the Soviet airline Aeroflot to limit its roundtrip flights between the United States and the Soviet Union to two a week. Aeroflot had been allowed four such flights in summer weeks and three weekly the rest of the year.

-The dispatch of three Coast Guard cutters to Alaskan waters to enforce limitations on Soviet fishing in U.S. waters. Carter had announced Friday that the Soviet catch in U.S. waters would be limited to 75,000 tons, compared with an expected catch this year of 435,000 tons.

-The adoption of licensing controls on the sale of agricultural exports to the Soviet Union and the suspension of licensing for high technology items. The latter action could affect the sale of $155 million in U.S. manufactured goods for which export license appli-spokesman Hodding Carter said there is "hardly a sector of American society" that is not arguing it should be exempt from the costs of the administration's retaliatory program.

He said critics of the program have tended to separate one aspect of the package and attack it as if it stands alone. Rather, he said, the package of U.S. actions - affecting farmers, businessmen and scholars interested in cultural exchange - should be viewed as a single unit.

One of the congressmen invited to the White House, Rep. Michael Barnes, said afterwards that Carter's remarks about the gravity of the situation were "acceptable political hy-perbole and an effort to galvanize the international community in a way that didn't occur in the aftermath of the Soviet intervention in Czechoslo-

In Washington, Rep. Charles Wilson of Diboll, Texas, says the Afghanistan situation has pushed U.S.-Soviet relations back to the Cold War era.

"I think that we just have to face it, that we're right back to 1946 and weakness on our part can only make it worse," the Texas Democrat said at a news conference.

He called for U.S. support of Afghan rebels "to the best of our ability" supplying them with arms through the government of neighboring Paki-

"With their Muslim religious fanaticism, I think they're hellacious fighters," Wilson said of the rebels.

The East Texas congressman frequently has criticized U.S. foreign policy as being too passive.

At Tuesday's session in his Capitol Hill office, he said that the Soviet action would serve to "strengthen the people in the United States government who have consistently maintained that the Soviet Union was the greatest threat to freedom all over the world, including our own, and that now we're going to regard them as administration believes the Iranian militants holding the American embassy in Tehran are Marxists who may be beyond the control of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. This conclusion has reinforced the administration view that the adoption of mandatory global economic sanctions against Iran is the best hope for the eventual release of the 50 American hostages, government officials said Tuesday One official, who asked not to be quoted by name, said the militants are operating in a sea of support from the Iranian government and The administration believes it can

"separate" the militants from that support through United Nations-imposed economic sanctions, he said. The U.N. Security Council is expected to act on the sanctions question later in the week

At the White House, press secretary Jody Powell said the militants adhere to "a rather radical and certainly Marxist line.

But an Iranian embassy spokesman denied Powell's statement.

"We will be glad to have a public debate with anybody, including Mr. Powell, to prove that the students are Moslems and not Marxists," he said.

Powell and the other administration officials did not elaborate on the basis for their analysis, offered just two days after President Carter received a lengthy briefing from U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim about his three-day visit to Tehran

Powell said the militants may be attempting to foment chaos in Iran to promote their own political ends. "It is time for those in Iran who do care about their country" to ask themselves whether they want their destiny to be determined by a "small group," he said. In another development, California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. accused Carter of operating behind a "wall of silence," and demanded a congressional investigation into the origins of the Iranian crisis. Brown made the demand after a two-hour State Department briefing that he said left "serious unanswered questions" about how the United States became involved in the stand-He said a probe should center on why the United States agreed to admit the deposed shah, Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, without first evacuating its embassy at Tehran. He also asked whether the shah could have received medical treatment in a country other than the United States. With his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination failing to catch fire, Brown's demand was seen as an attempt to put Carter on the defensive.

Brown said an investigation should be launched now, not after the hostages are released,

Cotton compress strike slows down production

ALTUS, Okla. (AP) - Production slowed at the Oklahoma Cotton Cooperative Association's compress here when about 100 workers went on strike and company officials began advertising for new workers.

Picket lines went up at the facility about 4:30 a.m. Tuesday after members of the Labor's International of North America, Local 495, went on strike in Jackson County.

John Wallace, international representative of the union, said the strike began after negotiations with the firm failed to end in a contract at their last meeting on Dec. 18.

He said the three main points of contention in the contract talks are wages, dues checkoffs and mandatory union membership. Wallace said only six of the union's 100 members went to work Tuesday morning. The company is continuing to be run with supervisory personnel.

But the strike doesn't have as big an impact as it would have earlier in the cotton season, which began last fall, because the plant "is on the downside of receiving," said company spokeman Malcolm Magar. The firm bales raw cotton from about 60 gins in Oklahoma and Texas.

What in the world is an "actuary?" - Mrs. K. L.

P.O. Box 1650, Midland 79702

According to the American Council of Life Insurance, an actuary is the technical expert in the mathematics of insurance.

He or she calculates premium rates, benefits, employee benefit costs, pension plans, annuity programs and every other type of insurance product in the country, both for private industry and government.

To become an actuary requires many years of education, training and work experience, and, not surprisingly, there are fewer than 10,000 actuaries in the world

If his son marries now, before his 19th birthday, would my husband still be required to pay the child support?

Also, is it true my husband's ex-wife doesn't have to change her last name even though she has remarried? — Mrs. R.P.

ANSWER: The State Bar of Texas says that if your husband has agreed in writing to continue to pay support despite the marriage of the child, or if the divorce decree specifically states that he must do so, payments must continue until the 18th birthday.

The decree may specify that payments stop on emancipation. The answer should be found in the precise words of the support order. School trustees postpone change in '81 graduation requirements

By SUSAN TOTH Staff Writer

The Class of '81 got a reprieve Tuesday from the Midland school board.

School trustees agreed at their regular meeting to push back for one year the addition of a free enterprise course to the already-high graduation requirements.

Board members had added the course requirement as an afterthought in a back-to-basics flurry last June when they also restricted senior privilege - the practice of allowing seniors with enough credits to graduate to leave campus after only four classes instead of the normal six.

their ruling would have on students and costs to the district - trustees agreed to defer the requirement for next year's seniors.

Seniors graduating after 1981, however, will have to take the course.

Requiring the course next year, school district staff members explained, upset three-year plans for graudation drawn up in the ninth grade for more than 300 students in the high schools. Those students already had planned to take six courses - many of them all honors classes and would have to drop one to make room for free enterprise.

By moving the requirement back a year, students affected by the new to be taught at Midland College A six-week short-course in automotive tune-up begins at Midland Col-lege Jan. 19. Offered through the Department of Community Services headed by James Bramlett, the course is designed to acquaint students with general testing equipment and the procedures for tuning car

"We are holding these classes on Saturday for the convenience of those who are unable to participate during weekdays," Bramlett noted. "Classes will meet between 9 a.m. and noon."

Limited to 15 students, the course will be taught by Ernest Beck, and the fee is $22.

Those interested in taking the course should preregister now in room 156 of the MC Administration Building. The office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays including the lunch hour.

Students should report to room 156-A 15 minutes before the start of the

After hearing a report on the effect ruling would have known about it throughout the three years of high school and could plan to take it without making last-minute changes.

Since few seniors have taken the course so far, another drawback to requiring the course next year aside from the increased number of seniors who might not graduate because they failed free enterprise was the cost of hiring more teachers to handle the extra 1,000 seniors thrown into the social studies departments by the rush to fill the require-

Giving students three years to take the class would relieve that last-minute crush, officials said.

Students may be exempted from taking the course by passing an advance placement exam, an option many students might choose, according to Dr. Doug Brown, assistant superintendent.

Free enterprise education is part of several classes from the second grade up, Brown said. Extra emphasis is started in the eighth grade, and the Project Business program offered to some students in the ninth grades as a joint project of the school district and Junior Achievement gives them an extra grounding in the American economic system, he noted.

Board members Tuesday also aproved the hiring of "Spike" Dykes of Starkville, Miss., as head coach at Lee High School.

Dykes will replace Gil Bartosh who was promoted to Athletic Director earlier this year when Sam Cox asked to be reassigned for health reasons.

The board also approved the appointment of Edwin Nixon as assistant athletic director. Nixon will deal primarily with scheduling and business management activities, according to Schools Superintendent Dr.

James Mailey.
Nixon, 52, has been with the Midland schools for 30 years, the last 28 as cross country and track coach at Midland High School.

In other business, trustees got some unexpected good news on bids for audio-visual equipment.

Slack sales and end of year inventories added to reduce expected costs for the equipment, which will be used throughout the district, by about 30 percent, school officials said.

Trustees had budgeted $57,199.25 for the purchases, based on estimates and inflation factors. The low bids totaled only $43,225.04.

The reduced costs came from increased competition in bidding, the desire to reduce inventories at the end of the year and slack audio-visual sales last year, officials explained.

The school board also renewed the appraisal contract for mineral deposits in the district with Pritchard and Abbott and renewed its service fee with Texas Association of School

The board also agreed to change the date of its next meeting to Jan. 24 at

Two men charged with gun conspiracy

HOUSTON (AP) - Two men have been released on personal recognizance bonds after being charged in a conspiracy to buy machine guns and silencers. One of the men, William S. Brooks, 59, said he understood the weapons were to have gone to the Iranian government.

The FBI said a third man charged in the case, Reza Sedigh, 43, is being held in Washington on misdemeanor complaints of making telephone threats to do bodily harm to Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and an aide.

Brooks, an official of an oil storage tank manufacturing firm, and Michael H. Colton, 33, a heavy equipment operator, appeared Tuesday before U.S. Magistrate H. Lingo Platter on the conspiracy warrants issued in New Orleans.

The New Orleans complaint alleges Brooks, Colton and Sadigh conspired between Oct. 12 and Nov. 28 to obtain the machine guns and silencers in violation of the 1968 Gun Control Act. Colton, the complaint charges, met with a federal undercover agent in New Orleans and Slidell, La., to negotiate acquisition of silencers and all three men later met with the agent in New York to talk about the purchase of guns that could be modified to use

The complaints allege five types of guns, including four equipped with silencers, were later examined in Metairie, La., and test firings were held Nov. 25 in

16-year-old pleads innocent on stabbing death charges

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - While police sought other suspects, a 16-yearold black student pleaded innocent to a charge of murder in the stabbing death

The student, who was not identified because of his age, pleaded innocent Tuesday to the charge stemming from the death of 17-year-old Anthony M. Colosimo. The student was ordered to undergo pyschiatric testing. Colosimo died after a fight Monday among three whites and three blacks at Cambridge Rindge & Latin High School. At least one school official called the incident "racially motivated." The school, the only public high school in this city of 100,000 across the

Charles River from Boston, closed Monday in an attempt to head off any further trouble among the 2,900 students. The juvenile was placed in the custody of the Youth Service Board by Judge James J. Nixon of the Cambridge District Court, and the case was continued until Jan. 18. Meanwhile, another white youth injured in the fight, 18-year-old William Graham, was in critical but stable condition at Cambridge Hospital with a stab wound. Graham was a graduate of the high school.

Alice Wolf of the School Committee said officials hoped to open the school Thursday. She said the decision probably would be made today after a discussion with student leaders about security arrangements, including the posting of police and weapons searches. But school administrators recommended reopening Jan. 16 to keep students at home during Colosimo's funeral Friday and the Martin Luther King Jr. Day holiday Jan. 15. "The key to peace in the school will be a meeting Saturday between black student leaders and white students from East Cambridge," said School Superintendent William C. Lannon, who said earlier that the fight appeared to be racially motivated.

East Cambridge, where the school is located, is a predominantly white neighborhood of families of Portuguese and Italian descent.

We feel very strongly that the issue centers around the kids from East Cambridge," said Lannon. "If they choose to control their anger and work with us, then things will be all right."

Former clown Jack Thum dead of cancer at age 54

CHICAGO (AP) - Jack Thum, a clown who gave his farewell performance in October on a day named in his honor by Mayor Jane Byrne, died early today after a two-year battle with cancer. He was 54.

His doctors had told Thum he probably would not live past the coming spring, but Thum replied, "I'm gonna fight it and I'll fight it as long as I can maybe I'll get a year."

Thum, brought up as an orphan, and his wife, Shirlee, raised 36 children from broken homes. They had a daughter, their only child, and their 15-year-old granddaughter will carry on as "Jackie The Clown." She had been working with Thum since she was eight. For 23 years, Thum played the clown at benefits, club meetings and at hospitals. In July 1978, doctors told him lung cancer had spread out of

"I'm going to spend the time I have left making people laugh, like I always have," he said then. "And I want to go out laughing. As a kid I spent 17 years alone. No one came to visit. No one made me laugh. I decided at 19 that I would make laughter my life's work.'

Several weeks ago, Thum entered Mount Sinai Hospital for further treatments as the cancer spread throughout his body. Mrs. Byrne declared Halloween "Jack Thum Day," and in his hospital room, his wife made up his clown face with grease paint, applied his red, bulbous nose, and helped him into his baggy clown suit and big shoes. Then they wheeled him to the stage of the hospital auditorium where he gave his last performance to an audience of 400 children: Funeral services will be Friday.

Saudi governments executes Moslems who seized Mecca

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) -The Saudi government today executed 63 Moslem militants who seized the Grand Mosque in Mecca, Islam's holiest shrine, in a long and bloody siege seven weeks ago.

Officials did not give the method of execution, but the traditional Saudi way is by public beheading.

They said the executions were carried out in eight cities, apparently to make as wide a public display of them as possible in order to dispel suspicions the mosque attack had weakened government authority. The Interior Ministry at the same time issued updated casualty figures for the mosque attack and recapture: 244 militants and security-force members were killed, twice as many as previously reported. The 80 other militants captured by authorities have been sentenced to prison terms or found to be innocent. or were women and children who have been put in corrective institutions, the ministry said,

It announced that the commander of the mosque attack, identified as Juseiman Bin Mohammed Bin Saif, headed the list of those executed, and that those put to death included 41

Mild weather to continue

The mild winter West Texas is famous for is holding true to form this year. The weatherman is predicting a high Thursday in the mid-70s after an overnight low near 40 degrees.

Added to that, though, is the usual West Texas wind that should be blowing 20 to 30 mph and gusting, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

High Tuesday was 68 degrees, not too far from the record 81 degrees set in 1969. Overnight low today was 31 degrees, a scorcher compared to the record 7 degrees set in 1967.

No precipitation has been recorded this month, leaving the year void of rainfall so far.

Area towns reported morning readings in the high 30s and low 40s with clear skies.

Saudis, 10 Egyptians, six South Yemenis, three Kuwaitis and one each from North Yemen, Sudan and Iraq. The bulk of the attackers were said to be from a dissident Saudi tribe that opposed the monarchy. Fifteen of the executions were carried out in Mecca, 10 in Riyadh, seven each in Medina, Dammam, Bridah and Abha, and five each in Hayil and Tabouk, the ministry said. The announcement said the executions were in accordance with the punishment prescribed by the Koran - Islam's holy book - and that the interior minister, Prince Navef Bin Abdul Aziz, was ordered to carry them out by King Khaled, "following the confessions of the criminals who attacked the Grand Mosque."

It also said the executions were in accordance with an edict by Saudi religious leaders. There had been no announcement of any trial preceding the executions, but earlier announcements said a full investigation was conducted.

The Grand Mosque is inside a 38acre compound housing the Kabaa, which Moslems believe was built by the prophet Abraham.

It was seized Nov. 20 by several hundred militants whose spiritual leader was Mohammed Bin Abdullah Al Qahtani. The government said he described himself as a mahdi, or messiah of the Shiite branch of Islam, whose appearance on Earth is believed to coincide with the end of the Qahtani was killed in the protracted battle that followed when Saudi troops besieged the occupied mosque in an effort to chase the militants out. Many of his followers held out for two weeks, however, fighting the Saudi troops in the tunnels under the mosque, before they were either killed or captured.

The government's earlier reports said Saudi forces captured 170 extremists, killed 60 others and suffered 60 dead themselves.

But today's report said 117 militants and 127 members of the security forces were killed, and 143 militants were captured.

Exciting, unusual project begun

Midland will soon have amusement park

By LANA CUNNINGHAM

"It's the most exciting project I've ever been associated with," said T.J.

And it may be one of the most unusual projects undertaken in Mid-Wild River Canyon, a recreational park-lake area, was outlined Tuesday by Melton before Midland City Council as part of a request to remove the 12-acre tract from the fire district. "Following the fire codes and requirements would destroy the aesthetics of the park," Melton said. He added that plans call for including fire equipment at the park and training personnel to use it. The fun park - similar to one designed by Len Bryant at Padre Island is being built between Idlewilde Drive and Holiday Hill Road.

Melton explained the tract already was zoned for such a proposal. Wild River Canyon grew out of a large caliche pit which was in the middle of the piece of land owned by Melton.

"All I could think to do (with the caliche pit) was fill it up with water and call it a lake," Melton said. "I got hold of Len (Bryant) and he came up with the idea for the development. He had done something similar at Padre also was told to write an ordinance which would put the park develop-

Planning began last fall, and the actual digging out began recently, he

People will enter the park through a main building which will have a game arcade and food stands. They can pay for going to one attraction or buy one ticket for all attractions.

One of the central features will be a river ride, which Melton described as water running down a hill in three separate chutes. The rider will lie on a rubber raft and slide down the 300-foot chutes into a landing pool Other features of the development include a one-acre swimming lake, lakes for fishing and bumper boats and a canal for paddle boats, a children's playground, outdoor movie amphitheater, miniature golf course and a small train running on a track encircling the canyon wall

"The whole project was based on well-planned surveys involving interviews with more than 2,500 people here," Melton told the council. Of that number, 80 percent "strongly supported it," while the other 20 percent were too old or couldn't swim, he said.

The park should employ 75 to 100 persons year-round. "And it should help to silence the cry that there's nothing to do in Midland," Melton Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr., instructed the city staff to study the project and report their recommendations at the Jan. 22 council meeting. The staff ment outside the fire district.

Rail companies propose merger

NEW YORK (AP) - The Union Pacific and Missouri Pacific railroads, joining a merger binge brought on by the belief that energy problems will be good for the rails, have proposed a nearly $1 billion marriage that would create the nation's largest

The announcement Tuesday stunned the rail industry and seemed certain to provoke strong opposition from competing railroads, who fear the business muscle of such a line.

"The move will firmly position the two railroads for the future and create a strong central core to the nation's rail system," said Union Pacific Chairman James H. Evans.

The merged line would stretch from the West Coast to Chicago and the Gulf of Mexico and would replace the Burlington Northern as the largest railroad in the country.

Approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission would be needed for the merger, a process expected to take at least two years. Competing

The deal was the latest manifestation of a merger fever that is sweeping the rail industry, which sees rising energy costs as helping it compete with trucks and planes and believes larger railroads can benefit from economies of scale.

In other proposals pending before the ICC, Burlington Northern is seeking to acquire the smaller Frisco line and Seaboard Coast Lines is trying to merge with the Chessie System.

Under the deal, Missouri Pacific shareholders would get Union Pacific stock with a market value estimated by analysts at $60 to $63 a share, or a total value of $945.6 million to $992.9 million.

The Union Pacific's basic main lines connect Salt Lake City to both the Pacific Northwest and Los Angeles, and then extend east to Omaha, Neb. The Missouri Pacific operates in a 12-state area bounded by Chicago, Omaha, El Paso and New Orleans.

The two lines connect in Kansas City, St. Louis and Omaha, noted Dennis Enright, an analyst with Bache Halsey, Stuart Shields. "It gives the Union Pacific a direct link to Memphis and most of the major Gulf ports, which is a big, big, plus," he

Wright announces plans to run for re-election

Durward Wright, Midland County commissioner of Precinct 1, announced Tuesday he is a candidate for re-election this year.

Wright, who is completing his third term, said, "Midland County has experienced rapid growth during my terms of office and I foresee an even greater trend in the years to come. "It is important that Midland County maintain experienced leadership for the next few years with stable input on matters of taxation, expansion of county services and general growth. I would like to be a part of that anticipated growth and expansion," Wright said. He added, "I feel that I am capable, qualified and experienced and earnestly request the support of the people of Precinct 1 in my re-election campaign.'

The county commissioner said his campaign slogan for this year is "Do It Right, Re-elect Durward Wright." When Wright first ran for office in 1968, his slogan was "Do It Right, Elect Durward Wright." In making his announcement, Wright stressed that the county must continue work for the completion of the loop road in conjunction with the city and state governments. "This project is vitally important to the stabilization, diversification and continued growth of our city and county,' Wright said.

Wright also noted his belief that Midland County Library needs to expand its facility "to bolster the continuing education program of its residents and their growing needs, when finances become available" and that a new courthouse annex is needed "to take care of the huge crunch caused by rapid growth of county business since the mid-70s.

The commissioner concluded by saying, "Other items of significance will be coming before the Midland County Commissioner's Court in the next few years that will require judicious consideration, and the experience and level headed approach of a

Only five of the 256 delegates present opposed the recommendation to ratify the new contract, according to UAW President Douglas Fraser.

Fraser said he had expected more dissent and was "very optimistic" that workers would ratify the agreement. But, he added, "You can't rest on your oars vet.'

The council is made up of officers from 93 locals embracing 184 bargaining units in 65 cities. Canadian representatives were absent, having declined earlier to share the new concessions.

Chrysler, the 10th largest industrial corporation in the United States and employer of 110,000 UAW members, is trying to arrange loans under $1.5 billion in guarantees signed Monday by President Carter. The company expects to report a loss of $1 billion for ROMULUS, Mich. (AP) - The sur- tract concessions. The UAW share is $446 million, of which $203 million was given already.

About 90 percent of the additional benefit to the company comes from the elimination of 17 paid ays off scheduled for 1981 and 1982 under the contract approved in October. The rest comes from delaying wage increases and dropping a pre-Christmas bonus.

The union is mailing a letter to all Chrysler members, something it had not done in last fall's ratifications at any of the auto companies, saying its signers "strongly urge you to exercise your democratic right to vote on the agreement.'

The letter was signed by Fraser; Mark Stepp, vice president for Chrysler matters; and Joe Zappa, chairman of the negotiating commit-

The letter said that had the union "any option other than to make these concessions, your negotiating committee would have refused."

"We cannot assure that Chryser will return to health in the future with absolute certainty," it said. "We can be certain, though, that unless the modified contracts are ratified, Chrysler will be gone and so will Chrysler workers' jobs."

Whoops: $3 million sent to Michiganders by mistake in federal funds aimed at helping low-income Michigan residents pay winter heating costs has been sent to people who don't pay heating bills,

In Michigan, energy assistance checks were sent to all SSI recipients except those in nursing homes.

'This is a huge boo-boo on the part

Joyce Sylvester, who runs a home for 13 mentally handicapped men in Antrim County

'Those checks should be recalled by the federal government. They don't have any heating bills to pay. These checks are supposed to be for heating bills, not an allowance for them to spend on candy and pop. I don't care if I get it or not. I just don't think taxpayers ought to have to pay

Robert J. Peterson, Detroit manager for the Social Security administration, said agency officials in Washington believed it would have been too costly to check which SSI recipients had fuel bills to pay.

"With the exception of those SSI recipients in nursing homes, the checks were mailed regardless of the individual's responsibility for paying utility bills. It is true that in some cases, the checks will not go to energy costs," Peterson said.

Philip Michael, the state Department of Social Services official coordinating Michigan participation in SSI, said that other SSI recipients include disabled children, rooming house and hotel residents and people living with relatives who are not responsible for their own heating bills.

The program has caused "chaos and confusion," said Robert Stein, general counsel of the statewide Association of Residential Care Facilities which represents about 2,800 adult foster care homes.

U.S. woman held on drug charges

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) - Turkish authorities have arrested a young American woman on drug charges less than two weeks after freeing another one on bail.

Police arrested 28-year-old Barbara Livingston of Northport, Mich., and two other women in a raid on a house in Istanbul, in which they found five ounces of heroin and 11 pounds of hashish. Miss Livingston, Carmela Ponti of Italy and Helena Anastasia of France, were charged with selling drugs. The narcotics were found in the French woman's house, said Attila Aytek, chief of the Turkish Narcotics Department.

The three were brought to a jail in Ankara, Turkey's capital, but no date for court hearings was set.

In her defense, Miss Livingston told police she had been invited to the house to watch television and knew nothing about drugs, Aytek said. He said a Turkish man caught with hashish in his possession in Ankara led to the capture of the women. The man pointed to a house in Istanbul, occupied by the three, as the place where he purchased the narcotics and police raided the house and discovered the drugs, Aytek said.

Aytek said Miss Ponti had once spent four months in an Italian jail on Loretta Dooley, 18, of Tracy, Calif. was released on bail here Dec. 27, after five months in prison awaiting trial on charges she had one-third of an ounce of hashish in her posession.

She was released on bail and returned home after a judge found there was no evidence she intended to sell the hashish.

Turkey, U.S. agree on defense

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) - Turkish and American negotiators reached agreement on a new defense cooperation pact today, a Turkish Foreign Ministry spokesman said.

The contents of the agreement were not immediately known, but the conclusion of the talks indicated a major hurdle in past negotiations, the scope of U.S. military assistance to Turkey, was overcome

The Turks had been demanding $500 million in military equipment yearly, over a period of five years, and an equal amount in economic Informed sources said assistance to Turkey in the coming year could be up to $1 billion because of the crisis in Iran and Afghanistan. The Turkish government today extended for 45 days a temporary arrangement under which the U.S. military installations in Turkey

PEKING (AP) - Defense Secretary Harold Brown's visit to China is producing little more than words to counter the effect of the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan. China has the longest border of any nation with the Soviet Union, but its governments should respond to the Russians in a "down to earth way," Wu said China at this time wants to isolate the Russians international-What the Chinese fear most is that the Soviets will consolidate their position in Afghanistan and then move on neighboring Pakistan, a nation with which Peking maintains close ties. The Chinese say the Kremlin plans not only to menace Pakistan but to thrust south to the Persian Gulf where it could strangle the oil routes to the Western industrialized world.

Rated Purple Pack blasts Big Spring

Sports Writer

It was a cake walk Tuesday night for Midiand. Coach Jack Stephenson's state-ranked Bulldogs, stormed to an easy 84-40 rout of the Big Spring Steers in a District 5-4A basketball game in Chaparral Center.

Midland, ranked third in the state in Class AAAA circles, zoomed out in front by a score of 23-9 at the end of the first period and led at halftime, 51-21 to chalk up its 20th victory of the season in 24 games, but more important, brought its league mark

Midland is rated third by the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches and 11th in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram weekly poll.

STEPHENSON USED 12 players and all got into the scoring column with Herbert Johnson paving the way with 16 points. Anthony Carroll was next with 13 points while teammates Justin Morett and Steve Henry followed with 12 each. Perry Bolger, who turned an ankle in the second period, scored eight as did Horace Brown.

Big Spring only had one player in the double figures in Robert Rubio who collected 12 as the Steers were dropping to 0-2 in 5-4A competition and 5-12 on the year.

It was simply 'no contest as the Bulldogs held on to a 64-31 lead going into the final minutes against the outmanned Steers.

free throws and hit 33 field goals while the Steers hit 12 of 15 charity tosses.

The Bulldogs jumped out in front, 10-0 before the Steers finally scored with 4:10 left in the first period and that basket was made by Rubio.

Bolger's sprained ankle was not believed to be serious, but the Pack will need the services of the senior playmaker and sharpshooter when they travel to Abilene Friday night for a key game with the Abilene

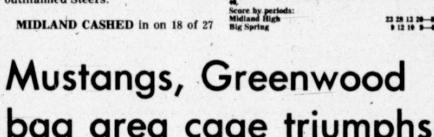

Midland made it a clean sweep for the evening in winning both the sophomore and junior varsity games. In the sophomore contest, the Bulldogs posted an 87-61 victory with Scott Louderback and Jim Gunnels paving the way for Coach Eddie Shirley's five with 21 and 20 points respectively. High for the Steers were Dawdy and Armedariz with 19 and 10. The win gives the MHS Sophs a 10-1 season mark.

Shirley's gifted JVs took an 85-68 win with four players hitting in the double figures for the Bullpups who stand 19-3 on the year.

Mike Velasco tallied 16 points for the Pups while Preston Robertson added 15. Wade Johnson and Bruce Philpy followed with 13 and 10 points, respectively.

Aggies' inside game too much for surprising Tech

By CHARLES RICHARDS AP Sports Writer

Texas Tech held the league's second-leading scorer to 2 points, but that wasn't enough in the Red Raiders' battle with Texas A&M for the undisputed Southwest Conference basketball lead.

The Aggies grabbed a slim lead, went into a delay game and got 6-for-6 free throw shooting from senior David Britton and 17-for-19 at the line from the team as a whole to hold off Tech 63-60 Tuesday night.

The win, which came despite the bad night by top scorer Vernon Smith. put the Aggies alone atop the standings with a 3-0 record. Texas A&M got good inside play from 6-11 sophomore Rudy Woods for the second game in a

In other games Tuesday night, Scott Hastings 23 points gave Arkansas a 70-58 victory over Texas Christian, Brad Branson poured in 25 points and SMU made 32 free throws in a narrow 78-72 decision over Baylor, and John Danks' torrid early shooting pushed Texas to a 99-73 rout of Houston

The Aggies, the only home team to win Tuesday, are alone at 3-0, although Arkansas is also unbeaten at 2-0. Texas and Texas Tech are 2-1, Rice 1-1, Houston and SMU 1-2, Baylor 0-2 and TCU 0-3.

Texas Tech coach Gerald Myers was pleased the Raiders were able to shut down Smith, who was averaging 18.2 points a game.

We were able to play good defense on them for a while, but it caught up with us. They were just too tough for us inside. We made a lot of mistakes. They controlled the ball real well and handled the ball real well," Myers observed.

Aggie coach Shelby Metcalf

'Vernon Smith just had an off night, but Woods played his second straight good game. We got a lot of defensive help inside from Rudy, Claude Riley and Rynn Wright. We always want to get the ball inside, and we did a lot of it in this game," Metcalf said.

Draft reveals nobody wants to play for A's

By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - It was one thing when star players left Oakland's sinking ship searching for greener pastures anywhere else as free agents. But as a sign of how far down the A's have gone, high school and college players - amateur free agents - are now saying they want out of Oakland even before they have a chance to get there.

Tuesday's secondary phase of the amateur draft, which was for players picked before but still unsigned, was a re-auction of former Oakland selections. On the first round, nine of the 26 picks were once chosen by the A's, including the No.1 selection.

The Boston Red Sox took advantage of Oakland's past failure, opening the secondary phase by choosing Juan Bustabad, a slick-fielding shortstop from Miami Dade North Community

Oakland's first selection in last year's June draft, Bustabad had a short but not very sweet relationship with A's owner Charlie Finley. "Finley didn't come close to Juan's demands," said Jay Rokeach, sports information director of Miami Dade.

According to Rokeach, Finley spoke to Bustabad once by phone last year. The preliminary negotiations were Bustabad told Finley he had an agent, draft.

Henry Owens, Juan's brother-in-law. "What's his phone number?" Finley barked.

'I don't know," Juan said. Click went Finley's phone.

Later in the day, a representative of the A's contacted Bustabad but the offer wasn't close to what Juan and his family wanted. So Bustabad enrolled in Miami Dade last fall with the understanding that he might sign with not going well, Rokeach said, when a major league club after the January

NEW YORK (AP) - The results are guarded until the very last moment, but you can be sure that when the names of this year's Hall of Fame choices were released today, most of the candidates on the ballot were still nothing more than candidates.

And some of them weren't even that anymore. The latest Hall of Fame ballot contained 62 names, the largest roster in history. Besides favorites like slugger Al Kaline, eligible for the first time, and Duke Snider, who fell just 16 votes short of election last year, the ballot included a host of players with far less impressive credentials.

Under rules adopted by the Baseball Writers Association of America, every player who completes 10 major league seasons earns his way on to the Hall of Fame ballot at least once. Thus 41 new players, retired for the required five years, became eligible in 1979 and were listed for considera- following the 1979 vote.

percent of the votes cast. Last year, the only candidate to make it was Willie Mays, who received 409 of the 432 votes for the highest election percentage in Those candidates mentioned on less than five percent of the returned ballots will be dropped from future Hall of Fame ballots. So, this could be the one and only shot for many of the fringe players who swelled this year's ballot.

Players who receive representative support remain on the ballot for 15 years. At that point, if not elected, they are turned over to the Oldtimers Committee, provided they have received 100 or more votes in at least one BBWAA election. They then wait five more years before the Oldtimers group can consider them. Enos Slaughter fell into that category

Kaline's bid to become the 10th player elected in his first year of eligibility was backed by impressive To be elected, a player needed support by 75 statistics. He batted .297 for 22 seasons with the Detroit Tigers, hitting 399 home runs and completing his career with 3,007 base hits.

Signed off the sandlots of Baltimore in 1953, he never played a game in the minor leagues. When he led the American League by hitting .340 in 1955 at age 20, he became the youngest batting champion in

Snider, who has been eligible for Cooperstown since 1970, received his highest vote total last year with 308, finishing second behind Mays. He batted 295 with 407 home runs in 18 major league seasons, most them with the Dodgers in Brooklyn and Los

During the 1950s, Mays, Snider and Mickey Mantle gave New York City three of the game's premier center fielders. Mays and Mantle have already advanced to Cooperstown. Snider hoped to join them

Spring training isn't that far away, and for members of the hapless New York Mets, workouts are starting quite early. Among the Mets getting an early start on things was pitcher Pat Zachry, who went through his routine recently at Shea Stadium. (AP Laserphoto)

Taiwan struggles for Olympic life...

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Taiwan's legal battle to keep its past Olympic status yet still participate in this year's winter and summer games at Lake Placid and Moscow finally reached the courts Tuesday. Taiwan's lawyers urged a Swiss judge not to enforce "a total loss of identity" on the island"s sportsmen.

"No country has ever had to suffer this kind of treatment," Swiss lawyer Alain Wurzburger told a Lausanne court, referring to a demand by the International Olympic Committee that Taiwan change its Olympic name, flag and anthem to make way for Mainland China's re-entry into the Olympic movement.

Such treatment, Wurzburger argued, violated the Olympic charter and would make Taiwan alter statutes it had guarded dearly since the communist take-over in 1949.

Accusing the IOC of "bowing to the demands of Peking," Wurzburger told court president Pierre Bucher that since the IOC ruling, "the flag of Taiwan has fluttered peacefully at sporting events in several coun-

The 4½-hour hearing followed a request by the Taiwan Olympic Committee for a "provisional measure" in the Swiss courts allowing Taiwan to compete at Lake Placid and Moscow under former conditions, thus temporarily setting aside the new IOC formula for Peking's participation.

No decision was taken in court, with lawyers on both sides predicting it would be at least another 48 hours before Bucher makes a ruling on Taipel's request and in doing so possibly eliminates any chance of Peking's athletes taking part in the Olympics for at least another four

Francois Carrard, counsel for the IOC, said that to grant Taiwan's request would constitute a "catastrophic precedent" for the Olympic The IOC, he stressed, had tried in every possible way to bring athletes from both Chinas into the games and that the Taipei request had to be judged on merely political grounds. He said that to allow the Taiwan National Olympic Committee to continue to use the flag and anthem of pre-revolution China would have "grave consequences for the future of

If Bucher were to grant the provisional measure, carrard said, the decision would be "immediately exploited worldwide."

If Taiwan, and not the mainland, were to compete, Carrad added, other states might also consider pulling out of the event.

By SHIRLEY POVICH Special to The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - In 1977, the mayor of Moscow proclaimed his nation's pride in the International Olympic Committee's decision to have the Soviet Union host the 1980 Games. Vladimir Promoslov said, "It is a welcome recognition of the Soviet Union's notable contributions to the promotion of peace and international friendship.

Recently, the Soviets made their latest "contribution," as Soviet tanks, attended by a committee of 50,000, paid a call on the folks in bordering

But President Carter said in a speech last week that it was not the act of a good neighbor, an angel of peace. He said it was an outright armed invasion by the Soviets and contemptible, and the United States was taking a very serious view of it. He would crack down on the Soviets in many ways, and one possibility was that the United States would pull out of the 1980 Moscow Olympics and ask other nations to do the same. And that's what the United States should do: pull out of the Olympics. It would be no great cause for heartbreak. The games aren't as important as self-perpetuating Olympic officials think.

THE OLYMPICS HAVE long been overrated as a festival of international harmony that would make the whole world just peachy in future years. The Games have bred more ill will than good will. Their image of friendly strife is a hoax and the amateurism of the athletes, particularly in the Soviet bloc, a complete sham.

Olga Korbut was bankrolled by the Soviet Army. Their super weightlifter, Vassily Alexyev, used to get $1,500 from the minister of finance for every record he broke, and one night he broke eight.

The 1936 Berlin Olympics were used by Hitler as a showpiece to glorify the Nazi party, with displays that exceeded all previous pageantry. He had already invaded the Rhineland, was meddling in Spain and had Austria and Czechoslovakia in mind. The Olympics were supposed to give him some kind of international dignity.

And now 44 years later, the Games are being given over to another totalitarian tyranny, which already has begun to get its dissenters off the Moscow streets and into hiding, while trying to showcase itself as a worthy member of the family of nations.

They should have called off the 1972 Olympics at Munich after masked Arab terrorists climbed the fences at dawn, snuck into the Israeli compound with Soviet-made guns, and murdered 11 Israeli athletes. But at a memorial service the next day in the huge Olympic stadium, the late Avery Brundage brushed off the shocking massacre of Israelis with a mere 28 words in a long speech that in the main defended his position on the attempt to oust Rhodesia from the Games. The Olympics must go on, after a one-day haitus, he ruled in the best tradition of obsessed Olympic

ON THE LAST DAY of those Olympics the Soviets won the basketball gold medal by browbeating timid officials into putting two more seconds onto the game clock after the United States team walked off the winner in regulation time.

They went on and the Games finished in an armed camp atmosphere. Four years later at Montreal security was so heavy it seemed a war was about to begin, rather than another Olympics.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Are snacks and desserts bad

Dear Mrs. A.A.: As long as they don't replace nutritious foods or add unneeded calories, snacks or desserts aren't "bad" for chlildren (or adults).

BUSINESS MIRROR Economic war hurts everybody

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) - Economic warfare is costly, no matter how or against whom it is practiced against the Iranians for having taken Americans hostage or the Soviet Union for its involvement in Afghanistan.

The grain and high technology embargo against the Soviets may hurt an already weakened dollar, which depends on exports to regain strength.

It can disrupt domestic markets, costing those involved as much a $300 million dollars, according to Agriculture Secretary Bob Berglund.

It may result in lost federal revenue and at the same time raise the level of government financing ... which in turn could raise pressure on money markets and force domestic interest rates higher. It may force authorities into making gasohol as an expedient to absorb excess grain rather than as part of a well-conceived and well-financed long-range energy conservation and production plan. Conceivably, it could invite economic retaliation in some form from the Soviets, or perhaps lead to the loss of markets to other industrial nations that might be inclined to fill the technology void. Many Americans and their congressional representatives will be asking detailed questions over the next few days about who gets the better of the bargain, in view of the potential damage to the domestic economy.

While Berglund stated that when they reopen there's no reason for markets to change much from last Friday's close," experience suggests that such an assumption is based solely in hope and not on

Closer to reality would be the assumption that markets will react wildly, as those holding contracts for future delivery seek to unload and potential buyers, having time on their side, bide their time. Even if the federal government makes good on its plan to buy up much of the grain, the commodity apparently will stay in the United States, continuing to overhang the market and affecting prices from farmer to retailer, including all the traders and contractors in between.

In technology, some producers have been furious at export restrictions even before the latest administration tactic. Control Data Corp., a producer of computer hardware and software, has been especially disturbed, having been denied sale to the Soviets of a sophisticated meteorological computer. The government said it had military uses too.

One problem with restrictions on technology is that the United States no longer has a corner on the market. Licensing agreements have put much American technology into the factories of Europe and Japan, and these nations also have developed their own competitive technology.

Overall, some analysts ask if the U.S. economy is sufficiently strong these days to be used as a weapon. The dollar's value as currency and respect as a storehouse of value has dropped precipitously of

Coast Guard talks spill strategy

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) - If runaway Mexican oil returns to Texas waters this spring, efforts to fight it would resemble the battle against last summer's onslaught, says a U.S. Coast Guard official.

"We will try to contain it in certain areas in a defensive campaign," said Lt. Harry Vaughan. "Primary lines of defense would be the channels leading into the Laguna Madre."

Oil-fighting strategy was one topic of a meeting today between Coast Guard officials and scientists of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

NOAA officials have said the messy ooze from the Ixtoc I well off the Yucatan Peninsula could repeat last summer's oiling of Texas beaches if the well is not shut off soon. Seasonal Gulf currents will change in March and could draw floating oil onto shore.

Capt. Gerald Hinson, on-scene-coordinator of the federal anti-spill team, called the meeting to get the latest information on oil movement and the critical offshore currents

Recent survey flights show oil safely away from Texas below a line extending from Tampico, Mexico. Although the meeting today was closed, Hinson and others scheduled an afternoon news conference.

PEMEX, the Mexican national oil company, claims workers have reduced the daily flow from the blown out well from 30,000 barrels to 2,000 barrels. But U.S. officials say the figure could be as high as 50,000 bar-

More than 100 million gallons of crude oil has poured into the Gulf since the well spewed out of control June 3. Approximately 140 miles of South Texas beaches caught a grimy coating of thick sludge, but backwater wildlife habitats escaped harmful effects of the pollution.

The interagency team created to fight the spill has spent $6.5 million and has an additional $500,000 available under congressional appropriation. If the oil makes a comeback, another $1 million will be requested, said Vaughan.

Operators announce wildcat projects in scattered Permian Basin counties

Jed Miller of Odessa has filed application to drill a 9,000-foot rank wildcat in Lamb County, 3/8 mile north of a 3,999-foot failure, four miles northwest of Srpinglake.

The operator's No. 1 Hinson Farm is located 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 54, block 1, W.E. Halsell subdivision. Ground elevation is 3,714 feet.

TERRY REPLACEMENT SITE

RK Petroleum Corp. of Midland announced location for the No. 1-X Carter-State, a replacement test for the No. 1 Carter State, as a 12,900-foot wildcat, 3/8 mile northwest of Corroco, Southeast (Devonian) production, five miles southwest of Gomez.

On last report the No. 1-X Carter-State was drilling below 3,350 feet. Ground elevation is 3,396 feet. Drillsite is 736 from south and 543

Heavy bidding pushes U.S. crude oil price close to $40

By STAN BENJAMIN

WASHINGTON (AP) - In a sudden surge of bidding, oil companies have pushed the price of oil produced by the federal government close to $40 per barrel, the Energy Department said Tuesday. Dobie Langencamp, deputy assistant secretary for resource development and operations, said in an interview that the administration, despite its efforts to persuade oil companies to restrain prices, is required by law to sell oil from its own Elk Hills Petróleum Reserve in California to the highest bidders.

Langencamp said Elk Hills oil has been auctioned this way since 1976, usually bringing prices equivalent to. or slightly below, comparable com-mercial prices for California crude

In 1979, he said, some Elk Hills oil sold at prices one or two dollars higher than the commercial "posted prices," but the premiums, officially called "bonuses," averaged only 10 cents higher than posted prices over the entire year.

But when the department auctioned off 127,465 barrels-a-day of Elk Hills oil last month, companies bid anywhere from below-posted price to $11.12 above it. The latter bid was by the Phillips Petroleum Co.

Langencamp said the latest posted prices, in December, averaged about $28.50 per barrel.

Thus, Phillips would pay about $39.62 per barrel if the posted price remained constant throughout the sale, covering the first six months of

In fact, Langencamp said, the actual price will vary, rising or falling with the commercially posted prices from month to month while the bonus" on top remains constant.

Wayne Glasgow, Phillips' North American crude oil supply director, said in a telephone interview from the company's headquarters in Bartlesville, Okla., that Phillips offered its high bid because it thought that to obtain the oil it needed to.

Glasgow said the second highest bid was $9.66 by another company, and Langencamp said there were a number of bids offering bonuses of $4 to $5 on top of posted prices.

Langencamp estimated the bonuses

WITH A WANT AD! DIAL 682-6222 in the December auction would average about $5 per barrel.

Glasgow agreed that high bids by the companies might encourage the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to raise its official prices, which could then stimulate still higher company bids in the competition for tight supplies, continuing the upward price spiral.

Glasgow said the spiral could be halted only by a combination of energy conservation to cut demand and increased U.S. energy production to reduce dependence on OPEC's pricefixed oil.

Langencamp said the bids from the December sale were still being reviewed by the department and formal decisions to accept or reject them were expected later this month.

While bids could be rejected on technical grounds, Langencamp said the 1976 Naval Petroleum Reserve Production Act requires that the oil be sold to the highest bidders and does not allow the department to limit the Langencamp said the department's system of auctioning Elk Hills oil by bidding on bonuses linked with commercial oil prices was dictated by the pattern of California's oil market in which contracts traditionally are renewed, and prices adjusted, on a month-to-month basis:

He said the department's method provides the competitive bidding required by law, while allowing the actual prices to track the monthly fluctuations in California's commercial oil market.
