U.S. hostages may be moved from embassy

By The Associated Press

The American hostages probably will be transferred from the U.S. Embassy in Tehran to a new location Saturday in hopes "they will be treated better," and as soon as they are moved the U.N. commission will be allowed to see all of them, Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh

He also said the three American diplomats held at the Foreign Ministry will be allowed to rejoin the other hostages if they wish, and that the U.N. panel had already visited the three - Charge d'Affaires L. Bruce Laingen, political officer Victor Tomseth and security chief Michael Hol-

Asked by The Canadian Press correspondent in Tehran whether the hostages would be moved from the 27-acre embassy compound seized Nov. 4 he replied, "Most probably Asked how soon he responded, 'Probably tomorrow.'

'As soon as the hostages are transferred, the meeting (with the U.N. commission) will be held," he said. But he declined to say where the hostages would continue to be held by the Iranian government. "Let's do it first and then we'll announce it," he

"I hope they will be treated better," he added, without giving any indication of their current living condi-

Ghotbzadeh added that he is heading a special commission set up by the ruling Revolutionary Council to take over responsibility for the approximately 50 Americans, who began their 125th day in captivity today. Ghotbzadeh said the special commission began meeting today to arrange for the council to take custody of the hostages. He said the captives had not been told of the new arrangement but they would be informed soon. But he also indicated the conditions for their release were unsaid Col. James B. Adams.

The militants, in a telephone call placed by The Associated Press in Bonn, West Germany, said they had not been contacted yet by the Revolutionary Council and new nothing of the council's plans.

The militants announced Thursday they would deliver them to the ruling council because of pressure put on them by the Iranian government.

The announcement was critical of the ruling body and brought a crowd of 2,000 to the embassy gates Thursday night. The demonstrators burned an American flag, shouted slogans in support of the militants and called on the government not to compromise with the United States.

There was no indication that the ruling council, after taking control of the hostages, would speed up the mechanics of their release prescribed by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the leader of the revolutionary regime.

Khomeini said the new Parliament elected next month would decide their fate, and the secretary-general of the Revolutionary Council said the legislators wouldn't get around to the matter before mid-May.

After two weeks in Tehran, the members of the U.N. panel were preparing to leave for New York Thursday when the militants made their announcement. They unpacked their bags to stay for two or three more

The Carter administration reacted cautiously to the promised change in the status of the hostages. "We're watching," said National Security Adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski. Other officials in Washington refused to comment, saying they didn't want to "blow the whole thing."

Relatives of the hostages also were wary. "All I can say is 'Praise the Lord,' but we've had our hopes up before," said Grace Nasci of Caruthersville, Mo., mother-in-law of captive Marine Staff Sgt. Michael E.

BIG SPRING - A fire, fueled by creosote-treated railroad ties and posts made into a cattle ramp, dock and fencing billowed heavy smoke and charred the dock and fence line along the Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. track in northeast Big Spring Thursday afternoon before firemen could extinguish the blaze and curtail

"It could have been a lot worse." said David Poe, who manages the Big Spring Livestock Auction Co., where the two-hour fire of undetermined origin struck. C.A. Rees is owner of the auction company, where a sale of some 400 head of cattle had been held the day before. "It would have been a helluva lot worse had it been on Wednesday,' Poe said.

John Borchardt, a state meat in spector, was at the nearby Hubbard Packing Co. plant when he first noticed the heavy, dark smoke around 1:30 p.m. Thursday "That old stuff (ties and telegraph poles) is soaked with creosote, and it's just like gasoline," he said. The dock, which belongs to the railroad, hasn't been used since the early 1970s, when cattle started being shipped by truck instead of railroad car, Poe said. Fire Marshal Jim Ryals, on hand at the fire fought by Big Spring Fire Department and the rural Jonesboro Volunteer Fire Department firefighters using two pumpers and a booster, said cause of the fire had not been pinned down.

Speculation was the blaze may have been triggered by a welding torch or by cinder and/or sparks from a passing freight train.

"Somebody said they were doing some welding somewhere around here," Ryals said. And he noted an hour or two hours had passed since the train, a 105-car freight train pulled by three diesel locomotives en route from El Paso to Fort Worth, had steamed by the livestock dock.

Although the hint of a train-started fire was present, Missouri Pacific Trainmaster L.W. Henley said the fire was not set off by a passing

The train "has gone by a hot-box detector," which cleared the train of any connection with the fire, "and I cannot believe that the train started the fire," Henley said. He said the freight train, which was inspected prior to its departure from Big Spring, had passed by the livestock dock at 11:55 a.m., and the fire was not reported until 1½ hours later.

The trains are equipped with spark arresters to prevent train-caused fires, Henley said.

While firemen were extinguishing the blaze, two Mo Pac freight trains flanking the fire were stopped.

Safeway Stores Inc. and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. Inc. two of the nation's largest supermarket chains - say they are freezing prices on some products in response to a plea from the Carter administration for help in fighting inflation.

About 50 of the nation's largest food chains were asked to participate, but few had announced their decisions by Thursday.

Company officials said prices on private label products were frozen for 30 days, effective immediately at the 2,500 Safeway stores and 1,500 A&P groceries nationwide.

Ford says he still needs a push before entering campaign waters

By the Associated Press

Former President Gerald R. Ford says he still needs a push from his friends before taking another plunge in the Republican presidential campaign waters, but old foe Ronald Reagan thinks the former president is already wading in the wings. "He really has more than his toes in the water," Reagan chided after a day that saw the unveiling of a national draft-Ford committee and a welling of other activity pointing to an almost inexorable if not imminent declaration of candidacy. Ford himself was virtually begging to be begged. Winding up a golfing and speechmaking visit to Florida, he allowed that if enough people "put their names up front" and ask him publicly, "I'd have a hard time saying

Arafat reportedly due invitation from Giscard

KUWAIT (AP) - French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing has promised Kuwaiti leaders he will give full recognition to the Palestine Liberation Organization and invite PLO leader Yasser Arafat to Paris, a Kuwait newspaper reported today.

Quoting "high ranking Kuwaiti officials," the daily Al-Siyassah said the French president's pledge was regarded here as one of the outstanding results of his visit to Kuwait last weekend

The officials were quoted as saying Giscard d'Estaing "prefers Arafat's visit to Paris to take place as part of an overall political action so that the visit will have more positive repercussions and benefits to the Palestine question than if it were a courtesy

French officials have insisted there are no plans for such a visit.

Giscard d'Estaing came out in support of Palestinian demands for selfdetermination in a communique issued last Monday at the end of his visit to Kuwait. Both Al-Siyassah and the daily Al-Anbaa quoted well-informed Kuwaiti and French sources as saying Giscard d'Estaing was "personally supervising plans for an international summit conference on major world problems, including the Middle

In addition to the French president, the conference would be attended by President Carter, West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev, the reports said.

The sources said Giscard d'Estaing was establishing contacts with Carter and Schmidt and that he would be sending an envoy to Washington when he returned from his current Middle

Four killed in airplane crash that went unnoticed 5 hours

OCALA, Fla. (AP) - Four persons were killed and a fifth was critically injured in the crash of a light airplane, an accident that went unnoticed for more than five hours, authorities say.

The single engine Piper Warrior crashed in heavy fog Thursday just off the end of an Ocala airport runway. Ocala police spokesman Morey Dean said the crash was not spotted until at least 51/2 hours later when a student pilot happened to glance down as he flew over.

Three of the five occupants were dead when rescuers arrived and a fourth died on the way to a hospital, according to authorities

Foreign reporters who traveled as far north as Mazari Sharif, 25 miles from the Soviet border and 200 miles north of Kabul, reported that the main Soviet-Afghan highway has been clogged for the past three days with Soviet military trucks traveling south into Afghanistan.

CONVOYS OF HUNDREDS OF TRUCKS, presumably earrying food, fuel and ammunition, were escorted by Soviet tanks and armored cars, the reporters said. Some of the Soviet trucks in the long convoys bore battle scars, their cabins and bodies pierced by bullet holes.

Hundreds of additional tanks and armored personnel carriers were parked at strategic points along the highway, guarding bridges, tunnels and narrow defiles in the mountain

Some of the tanks sit stationary with their hatches closed, while other crews kept a lookout for possible rebel attacks by constantly revolving their gun turrets. Some tankers were seen sitting half out of their turrets, braving the icy cold to keep watch over the snow-covered terrain.

A half-dozen burned out Soviet military trucks as well as the wreckage of a tank and a helicopter were spotted at widely scatterd points along the highway, apparently the result recent successful rebel at-

'Nightmare odyssey' ends for Stayner, but not for Parnell

By JOHN HOWARD Associated Press Writer

He roamed the West in a nightmare odyssey, bitterly lonely and tortured by a past of imprisonment, masochism and homosexual rape. When Kenneth Parnell sought the love of children to warm his home, authorities say, he kidnapped them.

Parnell has been accused in two abductions seven years apart — the kidnapping of 5-year-old Timmy White on Feb. 14 in Ukiah, Calif., and the 1972 Merced, Calif., abduction of then-7-year-old Steven Stayner.

The balding 5-foot-7 Parnell pleaded innocent Tuesday to kidnapping White and was held on $12,000 bond. Authorities said they would file charges against Parnell in Stayner's abduction. They also said a second man was being sought in the abductions.

Sandwiched between official records — medical reports, court reports and hospital documents — are the still-mysterious gaps in Parnell's life that investigators are trying to piece together.

But the records show Kenneth Eugene Parnell — abandoned by his father at the age of 5 in Amarillo, Texas — lived a twilight existence for much of his 48 years, an existence that saw a journey through mental institutions and prisons.

"HE HAS SHOWN A PECULIAR TENDENCY to search for trouble and punishment," reported Dr. Richard D. Lowenberg, a psychiatrist who examined Parnell in 1951 at the behest of the Kern County Superior Court.

Lowenberg, now deceased, was appointed to paint a pyschological profile of the then-19-year-old Parnell, who was sent to San Quentin Prison for three years for the one-day abduction and sexual molestation of an 8-year-old Bakersfield boy.

The attack on the youngster occurred only four days after the birth of Parnell's only daughter by a teen-age girl he had married two years earlier. The marriage ended in divorce four years later, said his mother, Mary Parnell, because his wife "found someone else."

Parnell's life was a litany of tragedy and self-hatred, extending from his years as a Texas waif through his adolescent bouts with the law and beyond, according to Lowenberg.

At the age of four, Parnell tried to yank out four of his own teeth with his fingers although they were not loose, Lowenberg said. At 8, after he came to California and three years after his father, a cook, deserted him and his mother, the youth shined a bright light into his eyes for so long he required treatment. At 9, Lowenberg reported, the boy was "considering suicide monthly."

ONCE, THE BOY SHOT HIMSELF in the abdomen in an apparent suicide attempt, Lowenberg reported, while in another incident he jumped off the roof of a barn onto a large plank with nails jutting up.

"The end is only a step away," the report says Parnell yelled before jumping. He escaped, however, with only a single nail wound.

At 13, in an incident still clouded in mystery, Parnell was the victim of a

At 13, in an incident still clouded in mystery, Parnell was the victim of a homosexual rape. Two years later, he was accused in an arson fire, allegedly torching some grass on the outskirts of town.

Parnell, a registered sex offender who lived in various parts of Northern and Southern California, escaped twice from a state mental hospital.

Lowenberg said Parnell had developed "an attachment to a younger boy with whom he had no affair, but for whom he felt a real liking." Following one of his escapes, that attachment drove Parnell to seek out the boy and enabled authorities to apprehend him.

DURING THE MID-1960S, PARNELL served six years in Utah State Prison on robbery and grand larceny convictions. When he was released from the Utah penitentiary on March 21, 1967, he was given 24 hours to leave the state in what authorities there said is routine procedure for inmates who come from outside Utah.

Since the Merced abduction, Parnell and Stayner lived in various parts of Northern California, according to authorities.

Their whereabouts from 1972 to 1975 are unclear, but on Sept. 2, 1975, Stayner — renamed Dennis Parnell — was registered in a Fort Bragg elementary school where he attended the fourth grade.

Authorities said the youth's parents were listed as Kenneth Parnell and Barbara Parnell. The latter name was apparently fictitious, investiga-

Barbara Parnell. The latter name was apparently fictitious, investigators said.

Later, the two moved on to Comptche, Calif., where Stayner took the bus to a middle school in nearby Mendocino to attend the fifth and sixth grades.

IN 1978 AND 1979, THE BOY went to upper level school in Mendocino, then transferred to high school in Point Arena. From there, the pair moved to Manchester near Ukiah.

It was at a sheep ranch 11 miles east of Manchester that Parnell lived with Steven Stayner and Timmy White when the abductions were discovered.

Authorities said Parnell did not mistreat or molest the boys. Some Authorities said Parnell did not mistreat or molest the boys. Some people who knew Steven as "Dennis" said the boy who called Parnell "Dad" never gave a hint of being held against his will or wanting to leave.

"I thought it was a father and son all the time," said Leslie Stornetta, who owns the sheep ranch. "They came in here as father and son and got along well."

"It seemed he (Parnell) wanted to build a family for himself without going to the trouble of getting married," said Mendocino County District Attorney Joe Allen.

And Timmy's mother, Angela White, said she believed that Parnell had no malicious intent, that he just "wanted a little boy."

Veterans proposing Vietnam memorial

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Vietnam War veterans, backed by congressional support, is proposing construction of a "rustic" memorial to honor the 57,661 Americans who died in Vietnam.

The memorial would be located in a grove of trees within easy sight of the Lincoln Memorial — where thousands of demonstrators gathered often during the 1960s to protest U.S. involvement in Indochina

The proposed memorial, described by proponents as more of a landscaped park than a traditional monument, would be the first in Washington to specifically honor those who died in Vietnam.

"We are planning it as a rustic garden retreat," said John P. Wheeler, one of four Vietnam veterans serving as directors of the effort to raise money and seek support for the project.

attacks. mates of losses "It is not going to be a big block of granite," said Wheeler, a lawyer and West Point graduate.

At a news conference, Wheeler said the memorial would include a listing of the names of all 57,661 who died in Vietnam.

Jan C. Scruggs, director of the Vietnam Veterans

Memorial Fund, estimated the memorial would cost

2 million, all of it to be raised through private contributions.

Scruggs said it would be appropriate to locate the memorial near the Lincoln Memorial because it was Lincoln's goal as president to encourage a spirit of reconciliation after the Civil War.

Congressional approval would be required to set aside land now under control of the Park Service.

About 100 House members and 56 members of the Senate have agreed to sponsor a resolution setting aside two acres along the Mall next to the Constitution Gardens.

Supporters cross a broad political spectrum from Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., who vigorously opposed the war, to Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who at one point urged strong military action against North Vietnam.

"This will begin the process of healing and reunification," said Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., a principal House supporter of the project.

The authors of legislation setting aside the land are Rep. John P. Hammerschmidt, R-Ark. and Sen. Charles Mathias, R-Md.

Among non-congressional members of a sponsoring committee are comedian Bob Hope, Veterans Administration chief Max Cleland, Rocky Bleier, who was wounded in Vietnam but returned to become a star running back for the Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers, sports commentator Howard Cosell, and James Webb, author of the Vietnam novel "Fields of Fire."

Don't double for the sake of increasing the penalty by 50 or 100 points. The information you give away could prove costly if an experienced declarer is at the helm.

West's double was excessively greedy, for he certainly couldn't expect more than a one-trick set. Sitting South was Gabriel Chagas of Brazil, one of the world's great players. He realized that West's double had to be based on the expectation of making two trump tricks, so he planned the play on that assumption.

If clubs were 5-0, or if West held the king of spades as well as a trump stack, there was little hope for the contract. Therefore, declarer ruffed the opening lead, entered dummy with a heart to the nine and immediately took the spade finesse. When that succeeded, things began to look up Declarer cashed the ace of spades and ruffed a spade low. He returned to his hand with a diamond ruff and ruffed his last spade with the eight of trumps. His cardreading was vindicated when East discarded on this trick.

Only one more hurdle had to be cleared guessing West's red suit distribution. Chagas guessed right by cashing two heart tricks, ending in dummy. That reduced his hand and West's to nothing but trumps. Now he simply led a red card from the table and took care to ruff with the jack of trumps. Whether West overruffed or not, he could score only one trump trick.

Had West abstained from doubling and been satisfied to collect only a small profit, Chagas would certainly have gone down. With three discards available on dummy's red winners, the slam would have been safe if he lost only one trump trick. Whether he won the opening lead in dummy and finessed in trumps or simply led a club to his ace, he would have had to lose two trump tricks for

White Rhodesians urged to stay

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) -Former Prime Minister Ian D. Smith today urged white Rhodesians not to flee the country because of the election of Robert Mugabe as prime minister. He said there is "some hope" as long as Mugabe lives up to pledges made during the campaign.

"You never solve a problem by running away from it," said Smith, who led Rhodesia's unilateral break from Britain 15 years ago to avoid black majority rule. "Therefore, I urge you to resist hasty action without careful and mature consideration." In his first public statement since Mugabe's landslide victory in the country's independence elections was announced Tuesday, Smith said Mugabe had been "forthright and responsible" during a meeting between

In a remark apparently directed at Mugabe, Smith said participation by whites in the Cabinet "would have the effect of giving confidence to white people," especially because Mugabe's avowed Marxism has scared many whites.

"Everybody has accepted, including the prime minister-elect ... That it was vital to retain the white man in this country ... We all know in many other parts of the world where the white man has left prematurely those countries have descended into chaos and bankruptcy," Smith added.

After Smith declared Rhodesia independent, Britain and the United Nations imposed strict economic sanctions on the rebel colony.

The guerrilla war, which began in 1972 and cost an estimated 21,000 lives, eventually forced Smith and his Rhodesian Front Party to agree to majority rule by the country's seven million blacks. Rhodesia has a quarter million white population, which has ruled the country for 90 years.

Chicago fire strike talk resumed

CHICAGO (AP) — As four young children died in a fire, negotiators for the city and striking firefighters sat down together for the first time in 13 days in talks mediated by the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

The deaths in the Thursday blaze on the city's South Side brought to 22 the number killed in fires since the strike began 22 days ago.

Meanwhile, the Chicago Sun-Times reported that Mayor Jane Byrne "has virtually decided not to grant striking firemen a full collective bargaining contract" because she is "convinced that binding arbitration of unresolved economic issues could prove too expensive to the city in the future."

The newspaper said Mrs. Byrne acknowledged her position even as negotiators met to discuss the strike, but added, "I don't want to undercut their efforts.

The strike began Feb. 14 as the union pressed for a written contract to replace traditional handshake agreements with the 4,350 firemen in the nation's second-largest city.

"I think the period of no talk obviously created some strain but we are beyond that," Jackson told reporters Thursday after talks recessed for the night.

Jackson, head of Operation PUSH, black self-help group, served as a messenger between two rooms occupied by union and city officials. Federal and state mediators later joined Jackson in shuttling messages between the rooms, and as the session ran into the evening, negotiators for the city and union moved from room to room for their first face-to-face meetings since Feb. 22.

Pope fights flu, cancels audiences

VATICAN CITY (AP) Pope John Paul II is suffering from the flu and canceled his private audiences today on the advice of doctors, the Vatican announced.

The brief statement did not say if the robust, 59-year-old pontiff was bedridden, but cancellation of his audiences led observers to believe he was compelled to rest.

The announcment said a visit by the pope to a parish church in Rome on Sunday also was canceled.

It was the first time since his election as pope in October 1978 that John Paul was reported ill.

The pontiff was expected to be back at work Monday. He is scheduled to preside at a memorial Mass on the first anniversary of the death of Cardinal Jean Villot, the Vatican's former secretary of state, and to receive Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere.

The Vietnamese are moving from the border to Khao I Dang, seven miles inside Thailand as fast as they arrive, although the border has now been closed to most Cambodians, and then are sent to begin processing for resettlement in the West. Very few Cambodians have begun to move from Khao I Dang to the

Le Dinh Thiem, a former Boeing 747 pilot for Air Vietnam, said he fled by car, bicycle and on foot after being caught and imprisoned for six months for

traveled by truck, by bicycle, by ox cart, by horse and by foot on a seven-day journey across Cambodia to the Thai border, where he was captured by the "Free Khmer," beaten, robbed, tied to a tree and finally escaped into

"People ask why only Vietnamese can come into the camp, but nobody can answer," one Cambodian refugee said. "People ask why Vietnamese can go to another camp and go to the West, but nobody answers, so they do not ask

Stock market loses

NEW YORK (AP) - Stock prices tumbled for the second straight session Thursday, driving the Dow Jones industrial average down to its lowest level since the first week of the year. Oil stocks, the market's strongest group of late, bore the brunt of the selling pressure. Analysts said the accumulation of inflation and interest-rate worries that has been battering the bond market for some time appeared to spill over into the stock market. Dow Jones' average of 30 blue chips fell 16.81 to 828.07, its lowest close since it stood at 828.84 on Jan. 4. The average took an 11.60-point drop Wednesday: With Thursday's decline, the Dow completed the process of wiping out all its gains in the rally of January and early February that took it as high as 903.84 on Feb. 13. The daily tally on the New York Stock Exchange showed more than eight losers for every stock that gained ground, with 1,491 issues in the minus column and only 175 on the plus

Multi-point losers in the oil group included Mobil, down 71% at 82% as of the 4 p.m. close in New York; Standard Oil of Indiana, off 61/8 at 104%; Texaco, down 2% at 37%; Standard Oil of California, off 23/4 at 781/4. At the American Stock Ex-

BUSINESS MIRROR Not everyone hurt by inflation

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) - Not everyone is hurt by inflation. A person can obtain a $1,000 credit card loan here and then invest it for six months in a unit trust at a rate exceeding 15 percent a year.

True, the gain will be diminished so long as inflation exceeds 15 percent, but a person still will benefit from the spread, which results from the inflation-induced confusion the marketplace. Holders of home mortgages also are benefitting.

Some homeowners hold mortgages on which they pay as little as 7 percent. With inflation at least double that, they actually get paid for borrowing.

Borrowing costs, moreover, are tax-deductible. Every bit of interest on loans is deductible, meaning the return of $340 for every $1,000 of interest paid by a borrower in a 34 percent tax bracket. It doesn't matter that, because of inflation, the mortgage borrower is effectively paying no interest. Those who devise the tax laws never have dealt with that illusion, or with a few others either. If the property is income-producing, for instance, the owner may also deduct for depreciation. An $80,000 property (excluding the lot), for instance, might provide depreciation of as much as $8,000 a

That $8,000 is deductible on the owner's tax return, just as are costs of doing business, even though the market value has soared, because of inflation, rather than fallen, as in Internal Revenue Service theory. Many other examples of inflation's benefits can be listed, but as the pace of price increases turns higher the list grows smaller. Fewer and fewer people are now benefitting than was the case in the mid-1970s. At that time, with inflation still down in the single digits, millions of Americans were able to raise their incomes at a fast rate. If inflation was 7 percent, they were able to get pay raises of 9 percent. In fact, the existence of inflation became one of the strongest arguments for substantial pay raises, and unions never let management forget it. Why, they asked, should workers work for less than before? Last year inflation simply rolled over labor, rising by 13 percent. Take-home pay of hourly workers fell by about 6 percentage points. Living standards fell, and they're falling more this year.

No wonder, is it, that many workers sought relief at the loan window. Why not? They needed cash; they could borrow it with few questions asked and repay with cheaper dollars; and get a tax deduction

Who paid for it? Anyone with a savings account knows the answer to that. Inflation, and the factors and forces responsible for it, raided the value of savings accounts, bonds, insurance policies and

They were the first to be hurt, but now they are joined by millions more. As inflation spreads like a prairie fire, the numbers of refugees grows, but the there is less and less refuge and security for them. Workers, of course, can't keep pace. Businesses that once passed on costs are finding consumers haven't the means to pay. Landlords hit by rising fuel bills find tenants unable to pay an equivalent rent increase. Even free-spending politicians are

As inflation grows the number who benefit shrinks and the number who are hurt grows. And perhaps that is why, belatedly, the battle against inflation might finally begin.

House panel discovers difficulties in drafting spending cuts in budget

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Ways and Means Committee, which has jurisdiction over 43 percent of federal spending, is living proof that Congress will have a tough time balancing next year's budget.

Despite mounting pressure for spending cuts as a weapon against inflation, the committee said Wednesday that it wants to increase its share of the spending in 1981 by $801.7 million.

The panel was unable to envision sizable cost savings in most of the programs under its jurisdiction, which range from Social Security, foreign trade and health to the national debt. In some cases, the lawmakers went even further and proposed to expand some existing programs. The decisions were made as the panel prepared a formal report to the House Budget Committee on its spending and taxing plans for fiscal 1981, which begins next Oct. 1. Carter's $616 billion proposed budget included about $262.2 billion to be spent for programs under the committee's jurisdiction. Ways and Means subcommittees proposed to raise that by $2.2 billion - to $264.2 billion - but the committee's action Wednesday would hold the total to $263 billion, an increase of $800 million.

The committee's spending plan would be even more out of line with Carter's except for what Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., called "a little sleight-ofhand. The committee achieved what looked like a $715 million saving by lopping off a planned increase in money to help low-income Americans cope with higher energy costs. In fact, the panel simply decided that program is not in its jurisdiction — and shifted the cost to the Education and Labor Commit-If other committees of Congress followed the lead of Ways and Means, balancing the 1981 budget would be impossible. But panel members insisted they were handicapped in many cases because Carter's budget was unrealistic. For example, the president's budget assumed Congress would impose mandatory controls on hospital costs, which would save an estimated $680 million. But Congress has rejected that proposal twice and the committee refused to budget the $680 million saving. Instead, it anticipated that voluntary controls will save $340 million.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) —

Mexican crews have cut the flow from a blown-out offshore oil well to 400 barrels a day and, at that rate, the United States will probably escape a repeat of last summer's blackened beaches, Coast Guard officials said Thursday.

At the same time, Coast Guard Capt. Gerald Hinson said reconnaissance flights this week spotted a 40-mile long ribbon of brown oil, 200 yards wide, about 78 miles, south of U.S. waters.

The sighting caused concern, but "I don't view it as an immediate threat to the coast because we still have a fairly strong southerly current offshore."

Hinson said the team monitoring the spill will remove heavy tar deposits lying just offshore whenever new oil no longer threatens the coast. The "tar mats" collected after oil on the beach was washed out with the tide last summer.

48 Iranian students arrested in Louisiana

MONROE, La. (AP) - Forty-eight persons were arrested Thursday night at Northeast Louisiana University when demonstrators, identified by authorities as Iranian students, tried to break up a speech by the former Iranian ambassador to the United Nations, school officials said.

The disturbance occurred as Fereydoun Hoveyda was speaking to about 400 persons at Brown Auditorium, police said. Hoveyda was ambassador during the regime of the deposed Shah Mohammad Reza The first sign of protest came when a member in the audience challenged Hoveyda's claim that Iran's gross national product grew from $2 billion in 1972 to $56 billion in 1977.

When the student began shouting, "That man is a murderer. His brother killed my father," about 25 police officers standing outside the auditorium entered the room, police said. Campus authorities were reinforced by Monroe city police, state police and Ouachita Parish deputies. After a second interruption, police escorted Hoveyda out of the auditorium where some 40 protesters stood, demanding the release of the demonstrator arrested during the speech. When the demonstrators refused to disperse, more arrests were made, police said.)Tom Murphy, dean of students at Northeast, said only nine ranians are enrolled at Northeast. Captain A.L. Moore of the Monroe Police Department said 35 students were taken into custody. "When they wouldn't disperse, we had to take some of them into custody," he said. "We arrested 35 of them. They aren't students at Northeast; they're from different places." Officials later revised the arrest figure and said 48 persons had been taken into custody. Moore said all were being charged with trespass, but that additional charges of resisting arrest were lodged against a number of them who refused to give any information to officers. Last month, an address by Hoveyda was interrupted at Columbia College in Columbia, Mo. There were no arrests and no injuries reported in that incident.

Contrary to the United States, where the railroad was a part of the conquest of the West, rail transport in France developed to connect established towns inside existing borders. It thus became an integral part of French life early on. By 1900, the 21,875-mile system was essentially com-

Emphasis now is on speed. The SNCF is laying 1,000 yards of track a day for what will be the country's "train of the future," a 165-mph run between Paris and Lyon, France's second-largest city. The new line will cut traveling time almost in half, from three hours and 45 minutes to about two hours.

The intervening 142 years have done little to change that view, and France now possesses one of the finest rail systems in the world.

"The railroad is, and must remain, an essential factor in our system of transportation," says Transport Minister Joel le Theule. "The government, for its part, believes in the future of the railroad and shows it by its enormous subsidies.

The state-run railroad, the Societe Nationale des Chemins de Fer Francais, commonly known as the SNCF, had total operating expenses in 1978 of $8.35 billion.

The government picked up the tab for some fare reductions and to continue service on some unprofitable lines. It also pays for the railroad's huge retirement program. That comes to an additional $3.75 billion in subsidies.

IN FACT, France spends as much on the railroads as it does on building and maintaining

When a Frenchman thinks of going somewhere, particularly if it is more than 300 kilometers, it is sure he will think of the train," said Jean Albertini, an SNCF official. "In each town there is a station, and the railroad is something that is always there, with
