Oil-producing states reaping windfall from higher prices

WASHINGTON (AP) - Governments of oil-producing states in this country are reaping a continually increasing harvest of revenue because of rising oil prices.

Treasury Department figures indicate that since 1973, state revenues based on oil and gas production have almost tripled, increasing by more than $2 billion a year.

And the department estimates that future price increases — oil prices will be freed from federal limits next year — will add about $127.6 billion to state revenues over an 11-year period

From 1973 to 1979, foreign oil prices soared tenfold, from around $3 per barrel to about $30. Oil produced in the United States during that time remained under price controls which let its average price quintuple to about $15 per barrel, according to Energy Department figures.

Similarly, natural gas prices, despite interstate federal regulation, also went up fivefold, from an average of 21.6 cents per thousand cubic feet in 1973 to $1.14 per thousand in 1979, the Energy Department says

Thus, the effect of federal regulation and price controls in the United States has not been to freeze oil and gas prices, but only to restrain their rise to five times the 1973 level while the world price multiplied 10 times.

State governments have traditionally raised revenues — often large proportions of their total budgets — through taxes, rents and royalties on the production of oil, gas and other mineral resources.

And those revenues, particularly severance taxes and royalties, often rise and fall in proportion to the value — the price — of the resource The Treasury Department reports that such revenues, mainly from oil and gas production, totaled just over $1 billion in 1973 in six states: Alaska, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, and Wyoming.

In 1979, those revenues totaled more than $3.1 billion, about triple the 1973 level. And those states will receive even more money as federal price controls are removed.

In 1977, Congress passed a law ending oil price controls on Oct. 1, 1981. The prices were to be gradually increased through May 1979, and it was up to the president to get the prices up to prevailing world prices by October 1981. President Carter chose to raise oil prices in stages rather than freeze them at 1979 levels and then hit the nation's economy with one big leap.

Carter also proposed a "windfall" tax on oil company revenues generated by the removal of controls, a measure nearing final passage in Congress. The Treasury Department estimates that from 1379 through 1990, rising oil prices will increase state and local taxes and royalties by some $127.6 billion if the windfall tax is adopted. Without a federal windfall levy, it said, state and local revenues might rise some $136.7 billion.

Sometimes called a "windfall profits" tax, the levy would not be on company profits per se, but on that portion of gross income resulting from removal of federal price controls on oil.

The $127.6 billion estimate covered all oil-producing states, not only the six states whose mineral revenues were reported separately. Those six states alone would get an estimated $92.3 billion over 11 years as a result of

Russian dissident 'silenced,' according to his sister-in-law

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) - A Moscow court has sentenced Soviet Jewish dissident Igor Guberman to five years at hard labor in what his sisterin-law said today was an attempt to silence him. Mrs. Nina Patla told Israel radio that Guberman, a writer for the underground Moscow journal Jews in the Soviet Union, was convicted on a charge of buying stolen icons, sacred figures. Mrs. Patla said she learned of the conviction Tuesday night in a telephone conversation with Moscow "This was a trial against the whole Jewish movement" Mrs. Patla said. She said she was told the courtroom was packed with KGB agents who had conducted searches and interrogations of Guberman and other writers for the Jewish journal. The agents found a collection of antiques in Guberman's apartment, including keys, samovars, paintings and icons, the sister-in-law said. But Mrs. Patla claimed the criminal charge was only to avoid the embarrassment of an overtly political trial.

Carter, Reagan llinois winners

CHICAGO (AP) — Ronald Reagan took a giant stride toward the Republican presidential nomination with a Jr. 39,717 or 3 percent. convincing primary victory in Illinois, while President Carter trampled Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's Democratic challenge. Their victories were matched by landslide leads as votes were counted today in competition for national convention delegates.

Reagan's easy win over Rep. John B. Anderson, with former U.N. Ambassador George Bush a distant third, left the former California governor with no formidable challenger in view. "They'll find someone," Reagan smiled. He said he wouldn't claim the nomination just yet for fear he'd iinx himself.

Carter was rolling in the same dinedy by a margin of more than 2-to-1. The Massachusetts senator promptly pronounced the New York primary next Tuesday to be the big test which is what he used to say about Illinois.

The president now has defeated Kennedy in 17 states, losing twice. But Kennedy said "I will continue," even if Carter beats him in New York

Tuesday's Illinois primary was a two phase contest, with presidential candidates competing for popular votes while supporters ran separate races for seats at the Republican and Democratic conventions.

In returns from 88 percent of the precincts, Carter led with 164 delegates and Kennedy had 15.

Actually, 152 delegates were elected Tuesday, with 27 more to be named at the state Democratic convention. Under party rules they are to be apportioned to candidates in line with the outcome of Tuesday's competi-

On the Republican side, 89 percent of the precincts had tallied delegate votes. Reagan led for 42, Anderson for 24. Rep. Philip Crane for 4, Bush 2, and 20 were uncommitted.

The Republicans elected 92 delegates, with another 10 to be chosen at their state convention. Reagan entered Illinois with 167 delegates; Bush was second with 45. It takes 998 delegates to win the nomination.

With 97 percent of the Illinois precincts counted for the Democrats and 96 percent for the Republicans, the popular vote read;

The Associated Press count of delegate commitments showed Carter came to Illinois with 313 of the 1,666 votes he needs to win nomination, while Kennedy had 168. Powell claimed the president had more than that, saying 496 delegates already were in his column.

Kennedy somberly accepted the Illinois defeat, saying that his is still a viable candidacy. He already was campaigning for the New York pri-mary, which will award 282 Democratic delegates next Tuesday.

"I believe that we can make a very strong showing here in the state of New York," he said. But he said he will go on, whatever the New York

Largest OCAW local rejects Gulf's newest contract offer

PORT ARTHUR, Texas (AP) — Members of the Oil. Chemical and Atomic Workers largest local have ignored their national leadership and unanimously rejected a contract offer made by Gulf Oil Co.

"There's no problem with the issues that caused the strike," OCAW District Four Director H.J. "Mac" McClain said Tuesday, adding that members rejected the offer because they were angry at alleged "disciplinary" action taken by Gulf.

There are some problems with matters that came up during the strike," he said, "that we've got to get worked out before the people come back to work.' McClain said Gulf had sent letters of termination to two striking union members and wanted to suspend or fire about 12 more. "We feel strongly that this issue of disciplining the (striking) workers be cleared up before a contract is ratified," he said. "We're very sincere when we say our members were provoked." Gulf spokesman Kirk Vogeley said the company was "hopeful that the union membership separates the issue of disciplinary cases from the issue of contract terms by ratifying the contract and returning to work. In rejecting the offer, which covers about 3,500 OCAW members, the Port Arthur workers ignored the recommendation of the OCAW policy-making board and OCAW president Robert Goss.

Goss had said he hoped the Gulf offer would set a national standard, while the policy board had already A similar offer by Cities Service Corp. in Lake Charles, day, three more major oil firms - Texaco, Mobil and Atlantic Richfield — made similar offers. The OCAW's national bargaining committee is expected to approve the Gulf offer this week. The strike began Jan. 8 and effects about 60,000 workers at more than 100 oil companies. More than 20,000 of the workers are located on the Gulf Coast.

In Denver, contract offers from 11 oil companies are still being considered by the national policy committee of the striking Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union meeting there.

The two latest proposals came late Tuesday from Shell

Oil Co. and Exxon Corp. But OCAW president Robert Goss said talks would continue on the offers today.

Union spokesman Jerry Archuleta confirmed the two latest offers from Shell and Exxon. Archuleta said the companies involved in the latest two offers employ an estimated 25,000 union members.

Hostages' fate not 'priority,' Iranian says

By The Associated Press

An Iranian diplomat who met with Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini said today the U.S. Embassy hostage issue will not be resolved before May 15. He said he was told the Americans' fate will not be a "priority" item on the agenda of the new Iranian Parlia

The 50 Americans at the embassy were spending their 137th day in captivity, and Iran's ambassador to Kuwait, Ali Shams Ardakani, said they face at least 67 more days in the hands of their young captors.

Ardakani, just returned from Tehran, told the Kuwait newspaper Al-Siyasseh, "There will be no solution to the hostage question before

"I understood during my meetings with Imam Khomeini and President (Abolhassan) Bani-Sadr that all issues relating to political questions including the problem of American hostages will not be dealt with until the completion of the Consultative Council (Majlis) election and formation of a new government.

The second round of elections for the new, 270-seat Parliament are scheduled for April 4

The vote count from last Friday's first round was continuing today. The Islamic Republican Party, whose leaders back the embassy militants' demands for return of Shah Moham mad Reza Pahlavi and his fortune to Iran in exchange for the hostages' freedom, has won 34 of the 79 seats decided so far. Supporters of Bani-Sadr, who wants to resolve the hostage issue without delay, have won 16 seats, while independents and minorparty candidates have 29. In the other 191 districts, the results are incomplete or the outcome must be decided by runoff in the second round.

Allison Professor of Journalism appointed by MC

Jim Patten, currently professor of journalism at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, has been appointed by Midland College to assume the post of Allison Professor of Journalism, an endowed professorship at the two-year comprehensive community

Power, speed, ease, economy, The 1979 WANT ADS! 682-6222

The appointment was to be made Tuesday during a meeting of the Board of Trustees of Midland College. It becomes effective with the 1980 fall

"The selection committee closely examined the backgrounds of more than 130 applicants for this outstanding position and unanimously selected Jim Patten as the person most qualified to fill this position," commented Dr. Al G. Langford, Midland College president, in recommending the appointment. "He has a unique blend of practical experience and distinguished teaching experience in one of the finest journalism schools in the

An endowment of $750,000 was made to Midland College in September, 1979, by Mrs. Helon Y. Allison of Midland to establish the Allison Chair of Journalism. The gift was made in memory of James N. Allison Sr. and James N. Allison Jr., late publishers of The Midland Reporter-Telegram and the Plainview Herald. James N. Allison, husband of Helon Y. Allison, died in 1975, and James N. Allison Jr. died in 1978

"MRS. ALLISON CONCURS that Jim Patten is the ideal person for the Allison Chair of Journalism. We feel he can create an excellent journalism department at Midland College, training young people as skilled journalists who will be responsible and responsive to the community they serve," Dr. Langford said.

Notified of his selection, Patten said, "This appointment represents an honor and a challenge. I intend to try very hard to live up to both.

'I found Midland, the town, a pleasant, bright and shiny place. I am looking forward to living there and contributing to it. I found Midland, the college, delightful. Everyone there seems excited about Midland College. I think the school is going places and I am thrilled to be part of

Hard pill to swallow

President Carter has anplan, designed to bring this nation's escalating inflation rate into check

The president's plan includes some unhappy news, some unpleasant visions of tightening the belt to regain some of our financial security.

Included in Carter's outline, presented to the public Friday, are plans to curtail federal spending and to create the first federal budget surplus in more than 30 years. That's a commendable step and one that's long overdue.

Already Carter has acknowledged that his $616 billion budget for fiscal year 1981 — submitted to Congress only six weeks ago includes deficit funding that would feed the inflationary fires gripping the United States.

So what the president has proposed is a virtual rewriting of the 1981 budget to remove that deficit spending.

But there's more.

Going hand-in-hand with the budget trimming proposal will be a move to limit consumer creditand to increase gasoline prices by 10 cents a gallon through means of a tax on imported oil — a move the president hopes will make the gasoline consumers of this nation cut back on their thirst for gasoline and, thus, foreign oil.

If the full plan is put into effect, the results will not be immediate. Carter acknowledged that in his address, saying inflation likely nounced his new inflation fighting will remain high for several months before the steps being taken can start reducing it.

> The fact of the matter is there are no easy roads out of the economic pains now being experienced. We did not get ourselves into this situation overnight and we cannot get ourselves out of this situation in that period of time.

Fortunately, Mr. Carter is moving in the right direction by striving for not a balanced budget this time around, but a budget in the black. For too many years now this nation has plodded along spending money it didn't have and printing more, less valuable, money to pay for the purchased goods and services.

The bill was bound to come due and payable - and now it has.

So for awhile we must all suffer the consequences for our freespending ways.

There was another bright point, in a manner of speaking, to Carter's address. His plan leaves defense spending virtually untouched. In light of the recent developments in Afghanistan that is a wise move. We have found that we are on the verge of being sur- They also say that advocates of the passed militarily by the Soviet Arab cause surround the president. Union and are taking steps to

Carter didn't get roses for his foul-up candor

WASHINGTON - The reason President Carter has been staying in the White House is to take care of the Rose Garden. The Rose Garden, as everyone knows, is in bad shape, and until he's able to rectify this, Mr. Carter has no plans of campaigning for the Presidency.

The other day, the White House landscaper presented the President with a resolution for the Rose Garden. Mr. Carter looked it over and said, "It looks all right to me, except take out all references to dandelions.

The President thought he had the problem resolved and went off to Camp David for the weekend.

While he was away, the landscaper told the gardener to replace all the roses with dandelions. The gardener argued this might be a mistake, but the landscaper said that was what the President wanted. The gardener was also instructed to say, if anyone asked him, that although they were replacing the roses, this did not mean the White House was changing its rose

Well, when Mr. Carter returned from Camp David and saw all the rosebushes gone and dandelions in their place, he was absolutely furious and demanded to see the landscaper immediately

What did you do the Rose Garden?" he demanded.

"You told me you wanted dandelions instead," the landscaper said.

"I did not. I told you to take out all the dandelions and, if the gardener would not do it, to leave the Rose Garden as it was.

'I'm sorry, sir. It must have been a foul-up. I thought you said you wanted

'Do you realize what this will do to me politically?" the President said. "The rose growers all over America will be furious. Is it too late to tear the dandelions out?

We can't do that, sir. The dandelion lovers will say you bowed to the pressure of the rose lobby.'

In the meantime, Teddy Kennedy got word of the Rose Garden fiasco and, in a major address to the Men's Auxiliary of the Garden Clubs of America, denounced the Carter backvard blooper.

All the Republican candidates said they were appalled.

Carter met with Vice President Mondale and Robert Strauss to discuss the political implications of the

Both men reported the heat was on, and rose supporters all over the country were angrily calling the White House. Strauss thought the blunder could cost Carter New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois. Mondale said even Minnesota rose growers were up in

The President decided there was only one thing to do. And that was to issue a statement saying that he had made a mistake, and due to a communications problem between himself and the landscape department, all the rosebushes had been torn up.

The explanation was issued but did not placate anyone. The rose growers couldn't believe that Carter hadn't deliberately changed his policy on the roses, and the dandelion lovers said he had changed his mind for political expediency.

What depressed the President the Carter's recent United Nations gaffe first ordering a vote against Israel, then disavowing the vote - has been attributed to the ineptitude that has characterized his leadership.

But there may have been a deeper cause. Sources with access to the Oval Office have heard Carter privately express annoyance with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

Mrs. Stapleton was careful to disassociate her views from those of her brother. "My brother knows I travel and am interested in politics," she said. "Early in his presidency, he reminded me that I was not appointed as his private ambassador to the world.

Nonetheless, she had private audiences with several Arab leaders who spoke to her about the Palestinian problem. She communicated their views to the president by overseas telephone. He responded to the call, she said, by reassuring her: "You really did the right thing, and I'll

However, the president's former banker and budget director, Bert Lance, reportedly has discussed Arab issues in the Oval Office. It is also known that some Arab friends tried to help bail Lance out of a financial jam two vears ago.

An Arab oil millionaire, Ghaith R. Pharaon, came to the rescue and purchased Lance's bank stock at a generous price. Pharaon happens to be the son of Saudi Arabia's top adviser on American affairs. Within the White House, Carter is

At the State Department, anti-Israel, pro-Arab elements appear to have gained the ascendancy. Although he was carefully exonerated by the White House explanation of the U.N. vote, Ambassador Donald McHenry's role in the fiasco did not surprise the Israelis, who have long regarded him as a staunch advocate of the Palestin-

On his recent trip to Israel, McHenry conferred with Arab mayors from the West Bank who told him, "You're negotiating with the PLO. We are the PLO." McHenry told the mayors that the Camp David accords were failing "because of the settlements issue," and later complained to an aide that "our failure to make some progress on the settlements issue is draining our reserve of good will with these people."

At the same time, McHenry showed no great concern for Israeli good will. On four separate occasions, the U.S. Embassy asked McHenry to lay a wreath at Yad Vashem, the memorial to the 6 million Jews who died in the Nazi holocaust. McHenry refused this traditional diplomatic gesture on grounds that he was afraid of Arab reaction.

With advisers like these surrounding the president, it's small wonder that the White House story of a "mistake" on the U.N. vote has found few SICK TRANSIT: Former Energy Czar James Schlesinger evidently finds it hard to give up the perks that he enjoyed for years in high government posts. Twice last month he checked into the emergency room at the National Naval Medical Center in Bethesda, Md., for treatment of undisclosed ailments.

Both Schlesinger and the hospital staff were under the impression that their illustrious patient was entitled to free treatment as a former secretary of defense. After a couple of calls from my office, however, the Navy researched the matter and came to a different conclusion.

"Upon further checking, the center determined that former secretaries aren't automatically designated to receive such care," a Navy official explained a bit sheepishly. "Dr. Schlesinger will be billed for the services he received."

American Jews should exercise 'gift of sweet reason'

WASHINGTON - Every election season, all presidential aspirants seem to protest too much in declaring their undying support of Israel. It's like being for paved roads, free milk in the schools and health care for Currently, Jimmy Carter, the Rose Garden candidate, catches hell from all manner of Jewish groups, though it was his dogged persistence that brought Israel the best news in its history - the peace treaty with Egypt. The now-celebrated U.S. vote for the United Nations resolution condemning Israeli settlement policies was the lance which burst the festering boil. And no matter how valiantly Jewish supporters of Carter, stalwarts like Commerce Secretary Philip Klutznick or campaign chairman Robert Strauss, try to explain that Administration blunder, organized Jewry and many a rank-and-filer won't believe Indeed, New York City Mayor Edward Koch, who should know better, now screams that Carter harbors an "anti-Israel" Gang of Five, namely, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, U.N. Ambassador Donald McHenry, his predecessor Andy Young, Assistant Secretary of State Harold Saunders and Zbigniew Brzezinski, National Security Council adviser.

The American Jewish Committee (recently it did a puff interview with those patriots, Jane Fonda and Tom Hayden), other Jewish organizations, a gang of presidential aspirants, most markedly, Sen. Kennedy in search of votes in Illinois and New York, have been crying bloody murder since your homework a little better." This Administration, and every one before it, has been unabashedly pro-Israel. Put aside the trite rationale about that little bastion of freedom in the Middle East and the guardian of our strategic interests in an explosive area. There is only one good reason for U.S. support of Israel: to protect the Jewish people. The United States has taken that responsibility and should live up to it.

We can live up to the responsibility and still conduct a foreign policy serving the national interest. That's why four U.S. Presidents and their Administrations have supported U.N. Resolution 242 which calls for "withdrawal of Israeli armed force from territories occupied in the recent (1967) conflict."

Ambassador McHenry, a first-rate diplomat and American, was doing just that when he voted for the controversial resolution condemning Israel for allowing Jewish settlements of occupied territory. The United States has been saying that for a long time. Nothing new in it. The question of including Jerusalem is another matter. While East Jerusalem is occupied territory, Jerusalem itself is no longer a divided and strife-torn city, and the United States wants it to continue that way. So the mistake was in not including this U.S. reservation in the resolution. The bottom line here is that U.S. policy is to promote peace in the region by ensuring Israeli security while working for Palestinian justice. Many, many Israelis share these same goals.

The best thinkers in Israel know that the West Bank and Gaza cannot continue indefinitely with Israeli soldiers lording it over the Arabs. Those are Arab areas and the whole world knows it, no matter what Prime Minister Begin argues. The goal is to grapt autonomy to these Arab areas and work so that one day Arab and Jew can live side by side on these historic lands. Jewish settlements, in such a situation, might be welcomed instead of resented as a provocation. However much enlightenment, independent thought and common sense are found among Israelis, the Begin government seems bent on showing itself as the Prussia of the Middle East. To taunt the restive Arabs on the occupied West Bank, sometimes abusing them; to audaciously seize Arab land east of Jerusalem for Jewish interests; to appoint a one-time terrorist and always hawk, Yitzhak Shamir, as foreign minister to succeed Moshe Dayan, who wanted to make peace with the Arabs - well, Begin is asking for the disfavor Israel now receives from most nations. Begin's political opposition, the Labor Party, said Shamir was the wrong man in the wrong place at the wrong time, adding: "When government policy is in shambles, it is a grave error to appoint a foreign minister with such extremist views that even Camp David was too much for him." (Shamir refused to vote for the Camp David accords.)

American Jews don't have to back every Israeli policy any more than, as American citizens, they had to back the Vietnam War or the Great Society or Gerry Ford's "Operation WIN." It is understandable that fears about Israel and painful memories of persecution make it difficult for many American Jews to overcome their emotional feelings in making judgments about candidates. But it is just as important for American Jews, who are first-rate citizens in fulfilling their duty to vote, to exercise the power and gift of sweet reason.

UKIAH, Calif. (AP) — Marijuana will rank with grapes, pears and redwood lumber when Mendocino County compiles its crop report this year, a county agriculture official says.

"Just because it's illegal doesn't mean it's not an agricultural crop and part of the county's economy," said County Agricultural Commissioner Ed Eriksen, in explaining why the 1980 report will include marijuana for the first time.

Eriksen said he'll talk to Sheriff Tom Jondahl soon to help him determine the value of marijuana in the county, whose southern border is about 90 miles north of San Francisco.

"It's at least several million dollars, a substantial amount" that can't be ignored, Eriksen said.

Maybe a giant 'snowball' did hit Siberia

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A gigantic snowball — really a comet from the far reaches of the solar system — may indeed have crashed into a rugged Soviet forest 72 years ago with the force of 10 million tons of TNT, two geophysicists say.

Thomas J. Ahrens and John D. O'Keefe of the California Institute of Technology were to outline their research on the comet theory today at a Lunar and Planetary Science Conference in Houston.

Oil dumped on street

PARIS (AP) - Fuel oil was dumped on the street outside President Valery Giscard d'Estaing's Elysee Palace offices this morning in an apparent-protest over the latest oil pollution of the north Brittany coast.

Several garbage can loads of the heavy, sticky oil were spread by a group of men who were aboard a truck registered in Brittany. Five were immediately arrested. The wreck of the tanker Tanio off the Brittany coast earlier this month has coated some 60 miles of shoreline with heavy oil. More than 1,300 troops are cleaning the shores by hand.

The Brittany coast was the scene of the world's worst oil pollution accident two years ago when the supertanker Amoco Cadiz went aground, dumping 1.5 million barrels of oil.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - A California-based dealer of gasoline options has been ordered to shut down business in Oklahoma until a temporary injunction hearing next

The Oklahoma Securities Commission requested the temporary restraining order against Co-Petro. Oklahoma County District Judge Harold C. Theus scheduled an April 21

Co-Petro has advertised in local newspapers offering investment opportunities in gasoline. The ad claimed an investor could buy gasoline at current market value and resell the fuel at the going price at a future date.

The commission alleges Co-Petro is making false statements to potential investors or is omitting important information.

Co-Petro owner Harold Goldstein, of Los Angeles, was sentenced in 1973 to 15 years in federal prison after pleading guilty to three counts of mail fraud. Goldstein was sentenced three years later to serve seven years in federal prison after pleading guilty to securities and mail fraud charges, and conspiracy. The ad says Co-Petro operates a chain of "coast" gasoline stations around the country but the commission contends there are no gasoline stations by that name.

The firm purported to sell gasoline at the "then quoted" spot price, without saying where the "quoted" price was obtained, making the term anbiguous and misleading, the commission contends Co-Petro is charged by the commission with violating state laws govern-

Stock market rallies

NEW YORK (AP) - Recently-battered oil and other blue-chip stocks rallied Tuesday, pushing the Dow Jones industrial average back above the 800 level after Monday's steep decline Precious metals stocks also recouped a little of their heavy losses of late. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off 23.04 Monday to a 15-month low, rebounded 12.97 points to But advances just barely outnumbered declines in the daily tally on the New York Stock Exchange.

The four most actively traded NYSE issues as of the 4 p.m. close in New York were all oils: Mobil, up 51/2 at 73%; Gulf Oil, up 3% at 42%; Texaco, up. 21/2 at 351/2, and Exxon, up 11/4 at 58%

The American Stock Exchange market value index posted a 4.07 gain to 253.27. The price of gold managed a gain of about $15 an ounce in New York markets, to around the $485 level, at least temporarily halting a slide from around $875 two. months ago.

Several large banks raised their prime lending rates to 19 percent. its second straight gain, and some stocks that are sensitive, like bonds, to interestrate and inflation prospects also moved up. American Telephone & Telegraph rose 1 to 473/4

Big Board volume increased to 47.34 million shares from 37.02 million Monday

The NYSE's composite index rose .87 to 59.09.

Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrials was up 2.24 to 118.05, and S&P's 500-stock composite index gained 1.84 to 104.10.

In the over-the-counter market, the NASDAQ composite index clossed at 138.92. off .78.

BUSINESS MIRROR Business must pay bitter price

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - True or false: Since the administration has concluded that government outlays beyond income can produce inflation, the newly revised 1981 budget proposals will reduce federal False. Federal spending will rise. The revised budget proposal would increase outlays by at least $42 billion, from $568 billion to $569 billion in fiscal 1980 to $611 billion to $613 billion in 1981.

If you thought federal spending was to be cut you may have failed to distinguish between the President's proposals to spend, which are to be cut, and actual spending, which will not. The cuts are in proposals.

The distinction has been blurred, but so has much nore of the new set of budget proposals.

Puzzling many people is how higher oil taxes, borrowing costs and wage guidelines can be anti-inflationary. And, in the short run, they cannot be. Many economists now look toward even worse inflacut the rate of price increases. That is, if oil taxes reduce consumption, if interest rates discourage borrowing, and if wage increases encourage produc-

However, the three items shouldn't be grouped at

The oil tax is aimed at raising revenues as much as it is intended to cut consumption. Higher wage guidelines are meant primarily to ease the burdens of inflation rather than to lower it. Only the higher interest rates are aimed solely at cutting inflation-government whose debts have risen from less than havbe it does take nerve, but statistical evidence for concern. Americans now use

22 percent of take-home pay just to cover installment debts. That's a third more than some think it It doesn't mean a thing when you point out that the federal government is in a lot worse shape, because you and the government differ in a very major way:

It runs the printing press. And it has taxing power. It has used those powers too. In spite of promises to cut bureaucracy and spending, federal expenditures in fiscal 1981 are likely to account for more than 22 percent of the Gross National Product. That's up a percentage point. Stated differently, the rest of the economy as a whole, made up of local and state governments and private enterprises, is relatively weaker. Federal government is the growth industry; its budget has jumped from $188.4 billion in 1971 to more than $600 billion in 1981. Is it true, as has been said, that budget restraint won't have a major impact on inflation? Over a short period of time it might be true; over an extended period, perhaps three years or more, it is patently

The only way the federal government can continue to spend more than it receives in revenues is to dilute the value of existing dollars; that is, to transfer money to itself from others via inflation.

problem has been not so much with the private sector, which is slated to pay a bitter price, but

The winner, John J. Truden, of West Springfield, Mass. weighed in before Sunday's con-test at 482 pounds. Truden has claimed the distinction of being the fastest "big boy," as the resort calls the competitors -winning four times in 11 years.

Truden compared himself to heavyweight boxx Muhammed Ali, who is training to make his fourth comeb ack from retire-

"I've done it, so now Ali can do it," Truden s aid, waving his poles and skis in victory after his second and final run down the 10-gate, dual slalom course.

But Ali might find the training regimen at Suggarloaf a bit unorthodox.

To help cornpetitors shape up for the event, the resort throws a "Heavyweight Banquet" the night before and an "eat-in" the morning before the race.

Then the contestants are weighed - on cattle scales - to determine their handicap. The heavier the competitor, the higher the handicap.

Last year's champion, who weighed in at 372 pounds, placed second with a combined time of 35.5 seconds. Truden made it in

Lotta flu 'still goin' around'

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID

WASHINGTON (AP) - Millions of Americans will not be surprised to learn that there's a lot of flu being reported — they've already had a case of "it's going

There's that weak and achy feeling, fever, cough, sore throat, runny nose and general muscle aches that are the prime symptoms of this malady.

Most patients recover completely within a week, although some continue to feel unusually tired for some time, according to experts at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

And they say flu is nothing to be taken lightly. For the elderly and chronically ill it can be deadly. In fact, when coupled with pneumonia, it's the fifth leading cause of death in the United States. The flu is caused by a virus that changes slightly eac year, complicating the process of developing a vaccine

But vaccines are only preventive anyway. Once you've got the disease, a vacine can't help. Physicians usually advise flu victims to go to bed, drinl plenty of fluids and take aspirin to relieve some of the aches and pains. Antibiotics are usually administered for respiratory tract. To help you further understand this all too common sickness and what's being done to control it, the depart ment has put together a booklet called "Flu." It sells fo 35 cents and can be purchased from the Consumer Infor mation Center, Dept. 136H, Pueblo, Colo., 81009:

Clifford, the former defense secretary and adviser to presidents for 30 years, said Tuesday the U.S. response to Soviet aggression in the area could come anywhere in the world and could use any weapons in the U.S. arsenal.

"There is just no limitation to it if they engage in an act of war against the United States," Clifford told the Senate Foreign Relations Commit-

Many committee members say Clifford and the Carter administration have reacted correctly to meet a serious Soviet challenge, but other persons say the Carter administration seriously overreacted.

Official administration policy, spelled out in President Carter's State of the Union address, is that if the Soviets move toward the Gulf, the United States will repel them by any means, "Including military force." Clifford, who holds no

Assistant At t_{01} ney General Michael Neal has asked Chancellor D.J. Alisandratos to he ar arguments March 31 on a motion to remove his protective order from the autopsy report.

Alisandratos hast year ordered County Medical Examiner Jerry Francisco, Bapti st Hospital and the University of Tennessee Center for the Health Sciences to turn over copies of the autopsy report to the Chancery Court clerk for safekeeping.

He said the rep orts would be kept in a vault at an undisclosed bank until he ruled in a suit brought by ABC-TV against Francisco for the release of the reports. Pre sley's autopsy report has never been made public and ABC filed suit in September contending the report is a public docu-
