Carter turns screws on Iran, threatens U.S. military action

By The Associated Press

President Carter tightened a few more economic screws on Iran and promised military action if the American hostages aren't freed. Portugal set an example for the richer and more powerful European allies by cutting off all trade with Iran. And Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini again defied them all.

Carter banned U.S. imports from Iran Thursday, ordered the freeing for U.S. use or sale of impounded military equipment purchased by Iran, said he would seek congressional authority to pay reparations to the hostages and their families out of more than $8 billion in Iranian assets he froze in November, barred financial transactions with anyone in Iran, except those involved in journalism, and prohibited Americans other than journalists from traveling to Iran without U.S. government permis-

He told a news conference in Washington he was considering banning shipments of U.S. food and medicine to Iran and blocking its use of Intelsat, the international communications satellite. And he warned that if non-military action did not result in the freeing of the 53 American hostages held in Tehran, "then the only next step available that I can see would be some sort of military action which is the prerogative and the right of the United States under these cir-

While America's nine allies in the European Common Market continued to delay, their representatives in the European Parliament urged the nine governments to consider breaking diplomatic relations with Iran, as Carter did April 7. A decision on allied action is expected Monday, when the foreign ministers of the nine countries meet in Luxembourg.

But Khomeini, the leader of the Iranian revolutionary regime; and Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh scoffed at Carter and the U.S. allies. They said Iran would counter any sanctions or naval blockade. Khomeini urged the Iranian people to be ready to defend the country if at-

Rhodesia now Zimbabwe

Grenade, jailbreak mar celebrations

SALISBURY, Zimbabwe (AP) -Rhodesia became independent Zimbabwe today in celebrations marred by a grenade explosion that killed two persons and injured 27 and a jailbreak by some 60 prisoners from Salisbury's central prison. The grenade was thrown into a group of black youths in Mufakose Township, six miles west of the city.

"I can't give you any further details about this because we're too busy chasing bloody escaped prisoners,' said police spokesman Seamus Power.

The prisoners, some of them considered highly dangerous, broke out shortly after the arrival of independent at midnight Thursday for the second time in 15 years. Some of the prisoners were recaptured quickly, and police scoured the city and suburbs throughout the day while a spotter plane flew overhead.

The official celebration went off smoothly, marked by dancing African tribeswomen, British pomp and a plea for reconciliation.

Prime Minister Robert Mugabe, who led the largest black guerrilla faction in seven years of bloody civil war for majority rule, brindcast an appeal for unity to the white minority, saying: "If yesterday I fought you as an enemy, today you have become a friend and ally with the same national interest, loyalty, rights and duties as myself. If yesterday you hated me, today you cannot avoid the love that binds me to you.'

At midnight, a British army sergeant lowered the Union Jack on Britain's last African colony. A wild cheer erupted from the 40,000 spectators, mostly black, crowded into Rufaro soccer stadium to hail the formal end of nine decades of white domination.

Prince Charles, the heir to the British throne, handed over power to President Canaan Banana, who swore in Mugabe as prime minister.

Replacing the British flag, a former guerrilla raised Zimbabwe's fivecolor banner - black for the nation's 6 million blacks, white for the 250,000 whites, green for the earth, yellow for minerals and red for the 20,000 who died in the civil war.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, attending the ceremonies, sent Mugabe a letter anticipating that a Zimbabwe would join the world orga-nization and offering U.N. assistance to overcome the ravages of the civil

New post office branch scheduled for Midland

Midland is on the books for a new Post Office to replace the evercrowded facility at 2309 W. Louisiana Ave.

The U.S. Postal Service has announced it is looking for a site to construct a new Village, Station Post Office, according to David Holster,

A site is needed in an area bounded by West Golf Course Road, North Big Spring Street, West Wall Street and Powell Street. Necessary for the structure is a site 130,000 square feet or a lot with a minimum dimension of 250 by 300 feet, said Holster.

Property owners should submit their site offerings by May 16 to Robert J. Blaes, realty management and acquisition specialist, Field Real Estate and Buildings Office, U.S. Postal Service, P.O. Drawer 239, Dallas, 75221; or telephone 214-767-5492. Holster explained the Village Station was built in 1952 and the character of the city in that section has changed. "The location is good and it (the station) has more than served its purpose," he said. However, it has become too small for that section of Midland and parksite will be three to four times larger than the location on Louisiana.

The area under consideration is large, he admitted, but the new Postal Station has to be there and the area already is built up. Final decision on the site will be and will be based upon location, accessibility, price and suitability.

"The land must lend itself to construction of a post office," said Holster. "For example, a triangular piece of land won't work.' He expects the final decision within 30 days of May 16. The U.S. Postal Service will pay the owner for the Service will pay the owner for the land with the price based upon the current market price per square foot in that area, said Holster. "We will try to get the best buy," he added.

The postmaster said he hopes the new building will be completed within two years, but coupled that thought with "We (Postal Service) don't move as quickly as we would like to."

Village Station currently is being leased and the contract should expire in a year or two. At that time it will go back to the owner, said Holster.

Portugal supported Carter Thurs-Administration sending help to housing industry

experts say.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration is coming to the aid of a crippled housing industry, but it's not enough help to please homebuilders and realtors who are calling for additional emergency action.

The administration announced Thursday that it is supporting legislation to extend mortgage interest subsidies to more low- and middle-income homebuyers than currently qualify. The move could prompt an additional 100,000 housing starts this year, President Carter said.

Moreover, the Department of Housing and Urban Development will help builders obtain lower-cost loans to finance houses, built, but not sold, because people can't afford sky-high real government spending, while the mortgage program involves an outlay in fiscal 1981 of $75 million.

The help for builders will entail no

Builders have been calling for $5 billion to $10 billion in emergency aid to subsidize low-interest mortgages through a different program that proved highly successful during the last housing downturn in 1974-75.

This kind of large-scale program, however, has been termed inflationary and budget-busting by Carter aides and officials of the Federal Reserve Board.

The administration's more modest actions came a day after the Commerce Department reported a 22 percent plunge in housing starts in March to an annual rate of 1.04 million units — the lowest level since the 1974-75 recession

The housing market is suffering the effects of anti-inflationary policies by the Federal Reserve Board and Carter, which have pushed mortgage rates to record levels ranging from 15 percent to 17 percent.

Those rates have effectively killed off demand for housing. Moreover, builders must pay 20 percent to 22 percent interest on construction

The National Association of Homebuilders said the administration's moves Thursday were a "step in the right direction.'

A poor showing in the census could result in higher taxes and fewer services for West Texans, panel members said. Panel member Joe Collins of San Angelo said such vital West Texas issues as

West Texas "will show up as a 'cold spot' on the census map. The 'hot spot' will be Houston and Dallas. Those are the focal points of political and economic power," said Richard Brown, Texas Municipal League's executive director

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A high ranking woman executive of the Texas Aeronautics Commission was passed over for its top position Thursday after she questioned some TAC members' commitment to outstanding performance.

Joan Whitworth, chief of the carrier regulation division and interim executive director, promptly quit in

The commission hired Harry Rodgers, who worked in Mrs. Whitworth's division, as interim executive director in her place.

"I hoped that I would be (hired as permanent executive director) because I was concerned about the agency and its program. All I can presume is they (the TAC commis-sioners) would not accept the terms I offered," Mrs. Whitworth said.

Begin refuses to yield on issues

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) - Prime Minister Menachem Begin, just returned from a Washington summit, said today Israel refused to yield on three major issues blocking autonomy talks - Jerusalem, security in the West Bank of the Jordan River and the powers of an autonomy council for 1.2 million Palestinian Arabs.

Begin said he had firmly rejected proposals that would lead to any redivision of Jerusalem or allow Jerusalem Arabs to vote for the autonomy council. He said Israel would remain responsible for security in the occupied territories and that powers of an autonomy council would be limited "so it cannot turn into some kind of parliament" leading to a Palestinian

Begin and President Carter agreed on marathon autonomy talks due to start April 27 in Israel to strive for settlement of key issues on a form of self-government for Arabs under Israeli rule. But Begin's tough stance on three vital issues indicated there would be extreme difficulty in reaching agreement before the May 26 target date.

Begin has insisted that Israel stick to the Camp David accords. In a meeting with Carter prior to Begin's trip to Washington, President Anwar Sadat of Egypt had raised the idea of Arab sovereignty in East Jerusalem, which is predominantly Arab.

Begin said Carter had spoken of Jerusalem Arabs voting for the autonomous council that is to govern Arab affairs in the occupied terri-

Begin rejected both proposals. He said, "We left no shadow of a doubt that there can be a redivision of Jerusalem" and that Israel would not agree "under any circumstances" to allow Jerusalem Arabs to take part in the autonomy plan.

He said Jerusalem was not Egypt's problem. "The problem is ours, a Jewish one. Not yours, an Egyptian

On the question of West Bank security, Begin said Israel would only discuss security arrangements on condition that Egypt accept the principle that Israel remains responsible for West Bank security. He said to take security out of Israel's hands would lead to "a bloodbath ... not only people would be killed but peace would be murdered."

On the third issue — the powers of the autonomous council - Begin rejected Egyptian proposals that the council have executive, legal and legislative powers. "That is a Palestinian state in all but name," Begin said. "That's what we told President Distr

Low-interest plan in limbo

Midland County residents may not know until late summer or later if they will have more low-interest mortgage money available to buy housing, County Judge Bill Ahders said Thursday. The Midland County Housing Finance Corp. has done everything that can be done so far to be able to issue bonds for low-interest mortgages, Ahders said in a prepared statement

Thursday. "However, at this time, we do not know when or if we will ever actually be in the housing business," he said. A bill that would block the county from issuing tax-exempt bonds to provide mortgage money for low- and moderate-income families has passed the U.S. House of Representatives and is pending before the Senate. "It is our understanding that changes will be made by the Senate. If this is true, the house bill will be referred to committee for compromise and then re-submitted to both houses," Ahders noted.

A final decision on the bill may not be known until late summer or even later, he said, and until that decision is made, the county mortgage program will remain in limbo.

"The County of Midland will do all in its power to aid the citizenry of Midland who need and are legally eligible for housing assistance," the statement concluded.

Buddy Temple, campaigning for a 6-year-term on the Texas Railroad Commission, Thursday charged that RRC Chairman John Poerner has failed to lobby for the benefit of the oil-and-gas industry and for the people of Texas and lacks the "necessary leadership" and aggression to fight for Texans and the state's causes.

Steelworkers on top

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers union says its new three-year pact with the nation's biggest steelmakers will keep mill workers "at the top of the economic ladder.

And while the financially strapped industry won't say how much the settlement is going to cost, its chief bargainer admits it's "expensive.

Union Vice President Joseph Odorcich and chief industry negotiator J. Bruce Johnston of U.S. Steel Corp. officially signed the new agreement at a press conference Thursday, two days after the union's ratifying committee voted 333-42 to accept it.

Johnston declined to say what the contract will cost the nine signatory companies who employ 286,-000 workers. About 200 smaller companies employing 170,000 workers will pattern their contracts after the master agreement.

"That's almost impossible to assess," said Johnston, who also wouldn't speculate on the contract's effect on steel prices. Pricing decisions, he said, are up to individual companies.

Johnston estimated wage increases including costof-living provisions could range from 30 percent to 37 percent, depending on the rate of inflation.

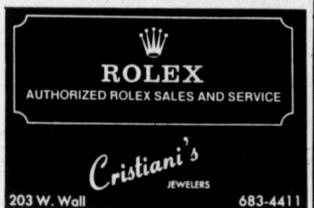

Under provisions of the Carter administration's anti-inflation standards, the wage increases will amount to about 22 percent during the three-year period, or "well within guidelines," Johnston said. The percentage figures differ because of what Johnston called "guideline math," which exempts some cost-of-living provisions.

"This is a very competitive settlement ... It is an expensive agreement, but I have not seen any agreement in our inflationary society that has not been expensive in major industries," he said.

Johnston called a published figure of a $5 billioncost to steelmakers "pure speculation." But a union source who asked to remain anonymous said he believes the figure is conservative.

"We have a good agreement. It is a responsible agreement," said Odorcich, who replaced Lloyd McBride when the union president was hospitalized earlier this month.

The talks were held under the Experimental Negotiating Agreement (ENA), which banned a nationwide strike in favor of binding arbitration of unresolved issues.

But in return for the no-strike pledge, the companies guaranteed the USW a 3 percent wage increase before the talks even began, continued cost-of-living protection and a $150 bonus to each covered work-

ENA was established in 1973, but some steel companies are unhappy with it because inflation has made it so expensive. Talks on the future of the ENA will reconvene shortly, Johnston said. The contract provides 60 cents an hour in wage increases and about 24 cents an hour in pay differentials. The average steelworker now earns about $11

The cost-of-living formula, which provides 1-centan-hour for each 0.3-point rise in the consumer price index, is expected to yield another $2.60 an hour assuming an annual inflation rate of 11 percent, the union said. Since 1977, the formula has added $1.86 an hour to steelworker wages.

Automakers' layoffs decline

DETROIT (AP) - Layoffs among U.S. auto production workers will take a small dip next week, as the industry braces for large cutbacks announced earlier in the week by the two biggest companies. Layoffs among the five major U.S. companies will fall from more than 205,000 to more than 192,000, the companies said Thursday. It is the second week of In the totals, the number of workers on open-ended layoff will rise from 163,250 to 169,550. Recalls in plants on week or two-week shutdowns will bring the number on temporary furlough down from 41,900 to

On Tuesday, Ford Motor Co. announced it would let go about 15,000 workers, 6,100 of them from the white collar ranks, and close three plants. General Motors Corp. followed a day later with an announce-

GM disclosed Thursday that it had laid off 2,100 white-collar workers for an indefinite period recently, almost all of them idled in connection with assembly plant cutbacks. GM has idled three plants until the new model year and has dropped shifts from 21 plants since July.

Temporary production layoffs announced by the No. 1 producer totaled 10,000 in three plants next week compared with 16,950 this week. GM said its indefinite layoffs had risen from 80,000 to 82,000.

Ford said its short-term layoffs would fall from 19,150 from eight plants to 7,650 in three, but its indefinite furloughs had risen from 41,000 to 43,200. Chrysler Corp. will idle 1,700 briefly, down from 5,800. Chrysler's open-ended layoffs rose from 39,900

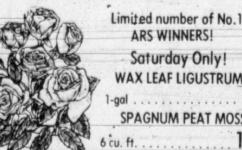

American Motors Corp. had no change in its 2,350 indefinite layoffs but said it would shut a plant for a week, idling 3,500.

Volkswagen of America had no layoffs. Here are the plants affected and their layoffs:

Clements urges leaders to boost Mexico relations

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements says businessmen and local government leaders in Texas border cities should help forge a "strong and lasting new relationship with Mexico." Clements has met recently with Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo

United States and that is not what we are trying to do," Clements told a symposium Thursday on U.S.-Mexican business ventures. 'But we do think that we can contribute to the development of a strong ands lasting new relationship with Mexico."

Clements' remarks to South Texas businessmen came at the end of a two-day visit to border cities. "This new stance (of equality) toward Mexico is one that must be assumed by all Americans - not just the federal government and foreign policy experts, but by state and local governments and the private sector as well," Clements told the gathering at Pan American University. Clements also addressed 300 businessmen at a luncheon. Several

The ambassador told the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in San Angelo Thursday that the United States is its own worst enemy in efforts to 'America looks forward, focuses on the future while Mexico looks to the past, remembers it very vividly," said Krueger. Mexican officials, he said, remain unconvinced that poor relations are a thing of the past. Krueger cited two recent Mexican newspaper articles that quoted high-level Mexican officials warning the United States might takeover Mexican oil fields "I know that is absurd, but the Mexican officials obviously were not convinced," said Krueger.

Bandits take $300 in lounge robbery

BIG SPRING - Three armed men robbed the Paper Moon Lounge near Big Spring Thursday night of about $300.

The three, armed with shotguns, entered the lounge in Howard County about 11:05 p.m. Thursday, according to Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard, and demanded the money from the cash

No one was injured in the incident, and the three white male suspects were still being sought early

Howard County may get new development board

BIG SPRING — A county development board for Howard County may be in the offing if the county commissioners approve the program for funding an industrial development board.

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce is asking the county to fund the program.

Change of venue sought

BIG SPRING — A hearing for a change of venue for Rolgelio Monje, charged with manslaughter in the 1978 pistol-slaying of Joe Garcia, was to be held today in Stanton.

Defense attorney Bob Moore said he requested the motion due to excess pre-trial publicity in Stanton, where the case had been set.

Prosecuting the case will be Midland County District Attorney Vern Martin.

Military court convicts eight magazine execs

TAIPEI, Taiwan (AP) - A military court today convicted eight executives of a former opposition magazine and sentenced them to prison terms ranging from 12 years to life for sedition and plotting to overthrow the Nationalist Chinese regime.

During their trial last month the defendants admitted seeking to replace Taiwan's one party rule with a multi-party system, but denied plotting to forcibly overthrow the Kuomintang, which has ruled Taiwan since communists took over the mainland in 1949.

They were arrested when a demonstration sponsored by their Formosa magazine in the southern city of Kaohsiung on Dec. 10, 1979, turned into a riot which injured 183 police and soldiers.

Dissident leader Huang Hsin-Chieh, whose immunity as a member of parliament was revoked after his arrest, was sentenced to 14 years in prison, the military command announced. It said the five judge military tribunal sentenced another key figure in the case, Shih Ming-Teh, to life

The judges gave 12 year sentences to six others: Yao Chia-Wen, Lin Yi-Hsiung, Chang Chun-Hung, Lin Hsng-Hsuan, Miss Lu Hsiu-Lien and Miss Chen Chu.

A civilian court today ended three days of questioning of 20 other people involved in the December riot. Security forces arrested 152 people at the time of the demonstration, including the eight sentenced today. The court did not indicate whether further trials would be held.

The official, Carlos Aguilar, said only one plane, a DC-8, left San Jose for Havana Thursday night and that it was likely it would be the only one returning to San Jose today. But he said the Cubans have agreed to two flights daily through Tuesday and he hoped they would raise the number to four.

He said another Costa Rican airliner flew to Lima. Peru, Thursday night carrying 97 refugees, part of the 1,000 Peru agreed to take. The United States has agreed to take 3,500 and Costa Rica 300.

Aguilar said 50 other Cubans left Havana on a scheduled Iberia Airlines flight directly for Spain on Thursday and that it was possible the Spanish government would send a chartered plane to Havana us lies and feeding us propaganda. today to pick up 250 more. The Peruvian Foreign Ministry also denied the charge that it had not granted visas to the Cubans. The ministry said a list of 500 persons who had been given visas was presented to the Cuban Foreign Ministry on April 13. "The Cuban Foreign Ministry did not accept this procedure and submitted a list of 600 persons ... who had received their travel documents," the Peruvian Foreign Ministry said. ### Officials to consider prison site

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - State officials will meet in emergency session here Tuesday to consider buying a 5,292-acre Lower Rio Grande Valley farm for a prison. Starr County officials, however, say they will fight having the new prison in their county.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong confirmed Thursday the three-member Approval Board which must OK purchases of land for a prison will meet Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. - hours before the April 23 deadline set by owners of the La Casita Farm.

THE APPROVAL Board - Armstrong, Gov. Bill Clements and State Board of Corrections Chairman James Windham — will meet a half-hour after the prison board considers the purchase.

Armstrong said the General Land Office appraised the property at $7.5 million, including $550,000 in farm equipment. He said two outside appraisals were done at Clements' insis-

Windham said the prison board is considering other sites, but Armstrong said his office was asked to appraise only the La Casita site.

THE STARR COUNTY farm was also the only one visited by two Texas A&M agricultural economists, who gave it high marks.

Armstrong said his appraisal and the two independent appraisals were within $300,000 of each

"There are no red flags," he said, after discussing problems which killed a 1978 deal to buy a farm in the Edinburg area, about 30 miles away from La Casita

"I checked and Meyer Lansky's name does not appear," Armstrong joked. The land considered in 1978 was traced back to a man who had connections to Lansky, a purported organized crime leader.

'This is a certified, producing farm,' said Armstrong.
NOTICE OF THE Approval Board meeting specifically named the La Casita site. The prison board meeting notice, however, did not name the site; saying only "the property will not be available after April Starr County Judge Blas Chapa said Thursday he was upset he had not been told about the negotiations to buy the farm in his county. He said he is organizing local officials who don't want the border prison.

Chapa said La Casita is one of the county's largest taxpayers. Starr County records show the farm, whose president lives in Opelousas, La., paid $6,652 in taxes last

IF PURCHASED by the state the land would be taken off the tax

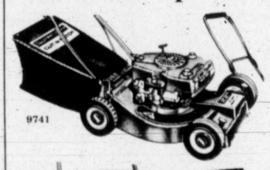

The judge also said the impoverished county would miss the jobs at La Casita, especially during harvest season.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No.2 were lower at midday dealings today. The average price for strict low middling 1 & 1-16 inch spot cotton advanced 151 points to 81.67 cents a pound Wednesday for the nine leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday prices were 80 cents to $2.90 a bale lower than the previous close. May 86.65, Jul 83.65 and Oct 78.26. TODAY'S ANSWER

Stock * market

By CHET CURRIER

AP Business Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, still in the grip of recesssion worries, recorded its fourth straight loss in a relatively quiet session Thursday.

Forest products, auto, air-line, steel, and similar groups considered vulnerable in a business slowdown showed broad losses. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 2.39 to 768.86, extending its loss since the start of the week to 22.69 points.

New York Stock Exchange volume slowed to 32.77 million shares from 39.73 million Wednesday. A reduction in the prime lending rate from 20 to 19% percent by New York's Chase Manhattan Bank gave the market a brief lift Wednesday.

But stock traders' attention soon turned back to signs of a developing business slump. General Motors announced 12,000 layoffs, and the government reported that housing starts fell 21.8 percent in March. GM shares showed a loss at 42½ as of Thursday's 4 p.m. close in New York, while Ford dropped 1 to 25%. In the paper and forest-products group, Weyer-haueser was down 1/4 at 281/4; Union Camp 1 at 37½; Louisiana-Pacific ½ at 18¾; International Paper % at 31%, and Boise Cascade 1% at 291/2

In the airline sector, Delta was down ¼ at 31½; UAL ¼ at 15¼, and Trans World 1/4 at 10.

Among steel stocks, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic all posted fractional declines. Pullman fell 2 to 20 on top of a 41/2-point slide Wednesday, when the company reduced its dividend and reported lower quarterly earnings from continuing operations.

Elsewhere, the bond mar-ket stabilized after Wednesday's sharp rally, the dollar gave ground against most major foreign currencies, and the price of gold edged up slightly in New York. Most markets closed before President Carter announced new economic sanctions against Iran.

The daily tally on the NYSE showed about four losers for every three stocks that gained ground, and the exchange's composite index lost .26 to 37.45.

Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrials was down .63 at 113.06, and S&P's 500stock composite index dropped .49 to 101.05.

Homestake Mining rose 1% to 42%. The company said Wednesday it expects to report record first quarter earnings.

Thursday's Answer

Fantasies out of Fantasy Land

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Something weird, something wonderful has happened to this TV set.

I don't know whether to kick it or pinch myself.

As best I can describe it, a benign spook has taken up residence in the picture tube and the speaker system has gone out of sync and suddenly begun to spout some sense.

I keep hearing things like:

"Because nothing violent, depressing, unsavory, nasty or inflationary happened anywhere in the world today, no mass murders, no hijackings, no hostages taken, there will be no 7 o'clock news

"The president's news conference, scheduled for this hour, has been pre-empted to bring you an important Laurel and Hardy Film Festival which will be shown without commercial interruption."

"Frankly I can't see any difference between these two detergents. Both of them did a pretty gritty job on my husband's longjohns.'

"Tell us Muhammad, at your age and all too obvious flabby condition, can you still consider yourself The Greatest?"

"Actually, Howard, I never considered myself the greatest. That was all media hype. Norton hits harder. Tate picks punches better. Holmes has the quicker jab. Frasier had more firepower in either glove. I've just been lucky, I guess.'

"Some people may find the upcoming show objectionable. It contains no foul language, no nudity, no violence or vulgarity and may even be suitable for family viewing. "The following commercials have been edited for television .. .

"Our network computer has just given us a printout saying it will not forecast a winner in tonight's Wyoming primary but will wait until all the votes have been counted.'

"Because of a disagreement with the FCC over commercialization of a certain brand of swimwear, the contestants in tonight's Miss Cosmos Contest will appear without their bathing suits."

'No way did the better college emerge victorious here tonight at the arena. If that illiterate pack of goons whom Coach Lobo is trying to foist off as students spent as much as one hour in a classroom or knew at which end of the campus the library is located, I'll eat my entire squad's SAT scores.
"Our radar scanner and weather satellite picture show no storm clouds anywhere east of the Rockies. Our telephone operators are standing by ready to receive your calls on why the hell it's been raining buckets all day long."

"In protest against the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, radical students chanting 'God Bless America' surrounded the U.S. Embassy in Belgrade today."
"Instead of the inane, witless, imbecilic game show usually seen at this hour, we are substituting a selection of old Army training films."

"Test drive the new El Bombo Grande. If you don't think this chromium-plated gas guzzler is the biggest lemon you've ever been stuck with, we'll pay the towing charges. Our participating dealers stand behind every car, ready to help-push them off the

"In the interests of picking up a couple of stray votes somewhere, Sen. Homer Bluph has canceled tonight's paid political broadcast and a first run movie, paid for by his party, will be shown in-

"Let's go down to the field now for some closeup shots of those unbelievably stacked cheerleaders and not waste any more time on this dull one-sided

"Since this is my all-time favorite movie coming up and only this afternoon the station let me know my contract wasn't being renewed, I'm gonna skip all the commercials and show it without a break."

"Coming on a talk show like this gives an actor a chance to level with his audience. I can honestly say my latest movie is the biggest turkey my agent stuck me with in my 23 years in Hollywood."

"Don't bother standing by for these announcements. You have four minutes before our feature film resumes to get yourself a cold beer and a

"Due to conditions beyond our control, tonight's live energy crisis debate between Dr. Howe T. Deeyus and Sen. Gordian Knott will be broadcast at a date later to be announced. The senator has withdrawn because his briefcase containing his adlibs and idiot cards was lost in the taxicab he was poured into at the airport." "No, Johnnie, I can't say I'm vulnerable or an intensely caring, very private person. Actually, I'm as tough as a bale of barbed wire and would stomp my stiletto heels into the eyeballs of any pretty-faced ingenue who got in the way of my career."

"For those of you who don't give a hoot about the mating cycle of giant sea turtles in the Galapagos, there's pretty good western starting on Channel 6

Family moves into 'slime house' garage

RIO GRANDE, N.J. (AP) - The neighborhood kids call it "the slime house." But the Buonocores call it home.

Eugene and Ona Buonocores moved back into the garage of their $62,000 "dream house" in Cape May County this week as the oily slime began to spread throughout their neighborhood. A king-size bed, some chairs, a table, a refrigerator, a television, a telephone and carpeting have been added to the Eugene and Ona Buonocores' freshly-painted garage, which for eight years housed only a car and a truck. Bottles of fresh drinking water stand in a corner. The Buonocores have been warned not to drink water from their well. The couple moved back into their home from a Wildwood Crest motel this week, saying they could not meet their mortgage and other bills in a motel as state and county officials complete their investigation into the mysterious goo. The Buonocores' problem began three years ago when they first noticed dark, oil spots on their walls. During the winter, the problem intensified to the point that everything, including furniture and the family dog, became coated with a greasy residue. The couple moved out of the house in February after officials declared it uninhabitable, in part because the ooze gave out a strong odor that caused headaches.

Geologists from the state Department of Environmental Protection discovered a large quantity of refined oil underneath the Buonocores' property. But they cannot determine its source or why the house is acting like a wick pulling it from the ground.

This week, the streaks suddenly appeared in nearby homes owned by Harrison Roach and Robert Mollenkof. Both homes are directly west of the Buonocores' rancher.

William Keene, who lives next door to Mollenkof, is afraid he may be next.

"I've looked on the rafters," Keene said. "They've turned sort of black, but it might be mildew. But I check it every night. I just don't know if I'm next."

All of the houses on the street have electric heat and were built in the 1970s.

Preliminary reports from consultants hired by the state and Atlantic Electric have ruled out leakage from two fuel tanks owned by the utility about 800 feet south of the Buonocores' home. State officials are awaiting test results of oil samples to determine exactly what type of petroleum product has leaked into the water table. A DEP geologist said recently the Buonocores could be victims of a leaking gasoline or home heating oil tank. He said leaking storage tanks are becoming a problem in the state as tanks age and deterioriate

Juror wipes away tears during closing argument at Lance trial

ATLANTA (AP) — While a juror wiped away tears, the lawyer for former federal budget director Bert Lance said a conviction on bank fraud charges would ruin "the reputation, the life and the character of one of the South's finest men."

Defense attorney Nickolas Chilivis' finished his closing argument in the 14-week trial on Thursday with an appeal for acquittal on all 12 counts against Lance, President Carter's longtime friend and first budget officer.

Attorneys for three co-defendants were presenting their final arguments today before prosecution re-buttal. U.S. District Judge Charles Moye Jr. planned to charge the jurors, then send them home for the weekend. Deliberations are to begin Monday.

"You have within your power to restore some measure of honor and dignity" to Lance and his family, Chivilis said. "If you find Mr. Lance guilty of anything ... you will have ruined the reputation, the life and the character of one of the South's finest verdicts of guilty for each defendant on each count in which that defendant is charged," the Justice Department attorney said.

Lance is charged in two counts with submitting a false financial statement to the Atlanta-based Trust Company Bank and in 10 counts with misapplication of bank funds in loans to family and friends.

Co-defendants Richard Carr and Jack Mullins were the borrowers in seven of the loans. In those counts ,they are charged as aiders and abettors. With Thomas Mitchell, they are each charged singly with making false statements to banks. In all, there are 19 counts for the jury to consider.

The alleged wrongdoing took place between 1974 and 1976. Lance became U.S. budget chief in January 1977, serving eight months before stepping down under pressure from revelations about his personal finances and practices as head of banks in Atlanta and Calhoun, Ga.

Tomko urged the jurors to look carefully at the thick folders of bank records that will go into the deliberations room with them.

"Look at the entire picture," he said. "Look at each and every document. Look at each and every transaction. Look at the bottom line.

Chilivis recalled Lance's testimony that his financial statements were accurate and the loans made in

"Mr. Lance has made hundreds of loans and he has record he can be proud of, that can stand up to anyone," he said. "The government cannot prove that he lied or cheated or tried to hurt anybody,

Carter, Reagan win out West

By The Associated Press

President Carter and Ronald Reagan scored more victories in party skirmishes in the West, but as politics goes, it also was a day with something for everyone. Well, almost, Carter came out on top Thursday in the Idaho Democratic caucuses, and Reagan won at North Dakota's state Republican convention. That added to their large delegate leads over party rivals.

But Reagan's chief GOP rival, George Bush, also picked up some delegates in Arkansas.

And John Anderson's supporters got the go-ahead to put him on the ballot in Massachusetts as an independent, with the Illinois congressman clearly leaning more and more toward making a run outside the two-party system.

And Edward M. Kennedy? Well, President Carter's chief opponent got to hear the famous fable of how the tortoise, by dint of perserverance, finally passed by the rabbit who, perhaps grinning, took an early lead in the race but then pooped out.

Kennedy grinned himself as he sat cramped in a tiny desk listening to the moral of the story in a Philadelphia elementary school classroom. He later told an interviewer: "I didn't get into the race to lose."

Lose he did, however, in Idaho's district caucuses. Carter gained 48 percent of the vote to Kennedy's 30, with 22 percent uncommitted. That would give Carter eight of Idaho's 17 delegates to the Democratic National Convention, and Kennedy five. Four would go as uncommitted delegates.

Reagan picked up 12 delegates at the North Dakota state Republican convention, with one going to Bush and four uncommitted.

At the same time, Bush gained the support of six Arkansas delegates to the Republican National Convention who previously had been uncommitted or pledged to candidates no longer in the race. Their switch gave the former U.N. ambassador eight of that state's 19 delegates. Reagan has nine, and two still are uncommitted.

One of those who switched, incidentally, was Ada Mills, the so-called $11 million delegate. She was the one delegate former Texas Gov. John B. Connally won before he ended his costly quest for the presiden-

Another Republican hopeful, Rep. Philip Crane of Illinois, dropped out of the race Thursday, which will likely benefit fellow conservative Reagan. Crane said he would campaign for the former Calilfornia governor as a "mainstream conservative candidate."

Reagan also picked up the endorsements of 36 more House Republicans, bringing his total of GOP members to 67. Sixteen senators previously had endorsed Reagan.

Both Reagan and Carter were far ahead in the races for their party's nomination's even before the delegate skirmishes.

Reagan had 372 of the 998 needed for nomination, to 72 for Bush and 57 for Anderson. Rep. Anderson told reporters, meanwhile, that while he hadn't made a final decision to drop out of the Republican race, he was "leaning strongly" toward an indepengent run for the presidency.

Carter had 925 of the 1,666 required to nominate a Democrat, and Kennedy 470. While Carter's numbers sound impressive, Kennedy delegate hunter Richard Stearns began talking Thursday about the possibility of a rules change at the convention that would free all delegates from commitments to any candidate.

This is envisioned in a scenario in which Carter would have the numbers on his side as the August convention nears, but would look like he had little chance to win in November if inflation still ran high and Americans were still hostages in Iran.

Kennedy, busy campaigning in Pennsylvania, insisted again that he could still win enough delegates before the convention to defeat Carter for the nomi-

Carter, at the White House, drew attention Thursday by announcing new sanctions against Iran, including a ban on travel to the country by Americans and on financial dealings with the country by anyone in the United States.

Reagan responded that these steps were fine but should have been taken five months ago when the hostages were captured. Kennedy also said he couldn't disagree with the steps, but said they were 'small indeed" and questioned whether they would be effective without the backing of European allies.
