Pentagon denies airplanes exchanged fire

By The Associated Press

Iran claimed two carrier-based U.S. fighter jets "started to shoot" at an Iranian patrol plane over the Gulf of Oman today in the first U.S.-Iranian military confrontation since the American hostages were seized nearly six months ago. The Pentagon denied there was any shooting.

In Washington, the Defense Department said: "Two F-14 aircraft from the aircraft carrier Nimitz made a routine intercept of an Iranian C-130 aircraft near the Strait of Hormuz. The U.S. aircraft escorted the Iranian plane back to Iranian air space. It was a routine intercept. There was no firing of weapons.

Washington officials said the Iranian airplane came within approximately 50 miles of the Nimitz and the two F-14s were launched to look it over. The Nimitz is one of about 30 U.S. warships stationed in the Indian Ocean following the takeover of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran last Nov. 4 by Iranian militants and the December Soviet thrust into Afghanistan.

The official Iranian news agency Pars quoted the Iranian army joint staff as saying the two American planes started to shoot at the Iranian plane but four Iranian jets were sent up and they "warded off the attack." Pars quoted the army as saying the U.S. planes "changed their direction as the four Iranian jetfighters escorted the patrol plane" back to Iran.

Tehran Radio reported the Iranian army joint staff has warned the armed forces to "expect extensive action by the U.S. Army" in the wake of last week's abortive attempt to rescue the American hostages in

The Gulf of Oman, 350 miles long and 200 miles wide, lies on the southern shore of Iran and separates the Arabian Sea from Persian Gulf. Iran has two major ports on the Gulf of Oman, Jask and Chah Bahar, and must use this body of water in exporting its oil.

Meanwhile, Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh escaped unharmed from what appeared to be an assassination attempt in Kuwait, Iran's army mobilized for a major offensive against Kurdish rebels in Sanandaj, and a controversial churchman arrived in Tehran to take charge of the bodies of the U.S. commandos killed in the abortive U.S. hostage rescue.

Kuwait's news agency said a hail of bullets fired from at least two cars hit a motorcade taking Ghotbzadeh to a meeting with Kuwait's ruler at Assaif Palace, slightly wounding a Kuwaiti security guard. The palace is the home of Sheik Jaber Al-Ahmad, Kuwait's ruling emir. The Kuwait Interior Ministry said police located two cars used in the attack, but made

The Iranian news agency Pars said one of the cars was found outside the Iraqi Embassy in Kuwait and claimed "the passengers of the car left the vehicle and entered the Iraqi Embassy." Pars also said two suspects had been taken into custody. There was no Kuwaiti confirmation. Iran and Iraq have been having a dispute along their border in recent weeks.

Ghotbzadeh arrived in the oil-rich Persian Gulf emirate Monday on a tour to try to improve his regime's relations with Arab governments. The Kuwaiti and other governments in the region are worried by Iran's attempts to export its Islamic revolu-

The Kurds have been battling Iran's central government for autonomy off and on for months, and over the weekend hundreds of guerrillas and troops were reported killed in fierce fighting in Sanandaj and Saqgez, 90 miles to the northwest.

Eight American commandos were killed in the failed hostage rescue mission, and Greek Catholic archbishop Hilarion Capudji arrived in Tehran today and said he would accompany the bodies "to another country and hand them over to the International Red Cross for delivery to their families.

Iran's defense minister, Mostafa Ali Chamran, said today the American hostages should be released once U.S. "misdeeds" have been exposed to the world. In an interview broadcast by Tehran Radio, he said the 53 hostages were seized originally "to put U.S. foreign policy in the dock."

Chamran, a member of the Iranian parliament, said the hostages "should be released at the appropriate time because they are not our target. Our target is U.S. colonialist policy.'

The nine U.S. allies in the European Common Market completed a twoday summit meeting in Luxembourg and issued a statement reaffirming their governments' previous decision to halt exports to Iran May 17 unless 'decisive progress" is made toward freeing the hostages. They made no mention of the rescue operation, which they had not been consulted about, or Secretary of State Cyrus Vance's resignation because he opposed the mission.

Washington rally draws opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) - Tens of thousands of people, filled with the spirit of repentance and singing gospel songs joyfully, gathered in sight of the Capitol today, raised their hands to heaven and were told, "We're going

It was like a giant tent revival, 50,000 to 60,000 people gathered in the dawn freshness on the grassy national Mall for a day of prayer, singing and

Rally organizers hoped for 200,000 to 500,000 by the end of the day, but rainy weather the last two days and the threat of more today was expected to hold the number below that.

'There are clouds over the Capitol, but beyond is the sunshine," said David Shock, pastor of the Bethany

Chapel in Long Beach, Calif. The day-long rally, called "Washington for Jesus" has been criticized by some organized churches for its conservative political overtones. But planners said it was an attempt at 'calling the national leadership back

Not long after dawn, as the sun cast the Capitol's long shadows over the Mall, the crowd sang "Jesus is our Redeemer," a wistful melodic prayer. Thousands lifted their hands skyward, waving their bodies in time with the music, symbolizing an outreach to heaven.

"People ask me what are you protesting," said the Rev. William Wilson, pastor of Faith Temple in Rochester, N.Y. "I said, 'we are not protesting anything. We are just going down there for Jesus...we are going back to God. We are not going for politics, we are going as a church.'

"We have not come here to protest.

We have come here to repent. His words were greeted with shouts of "Hallelujah" and "Glory."

Nearly every Christian denomination in the world was represented, with fundamentalists predominating. There were blacks and Hispanics; there were clusters of people holding hands, speaking in tongues.

"Let us repent of the sins of our overnment and our leaders, said Vinson Synan, assistant general superintendent of the Pentecostal Holiness Church. "Lord, we believe the judgment of the Lord is on us in Iran and on these hostages because of the sins of this nation. The rally has been spearheaded by some of the leading television evangelists in the country.

Houston speech opens Bush's Texas campaign

HOUSTON (AP) - George Bush opened his Texas campaign with a get-tough speech in his home city, saying it is time for President Carter to be out of the White House and if Ronald Reagan wins the Republican nomination, the GOP has little chance of winning in November. He was scheduled to fly to Dallas later today for a string of speeches and a private fundraiser. Bush opened his five-day Texas tour by calling Carter "too weak and too vacillating with our allies.'

During a city hall rally and a civic club speech, he said repeatedly that the United States "should stop apologizing to anyone, especially the Soviet Union and Iran, and act like the nation we once were.

Bush told about 700 people at a city hall rally "It is important that I turn things around in Texas. This country is looking for an alternative to Ronald Reagan and Jimmy Carter, and I am that alternative.

Bush is hoping for another win against Reagan in Texas' Saturday primary.

"I know I am locked in a tough political battle here. I have a long, long way to go. But I think that with the help of all Republicans and independents and disenchanted Democrats, we can win Texas," he said Bush was introduced at the rally by Leon Jaworski, former chief counsel for the Watergate inquiry, who said he had to leave the Democratic party "in despair and I seek someone in the Republican party who I can support. Ronald Reagan is an extremist. Ronald Reagan has no experience on a national level or in foreign areas.

"I don't want to vote for someone in May who can't win in November;'

Jaworski said. The GOP presidential hopeful told a noon luncheon audience that President Carter had let the Iranian hostage situation simmer "for six months and then, at last, decided to take some action.

"I think his efforts for a rescue attempt were right and were correct," Bush said. "His weakness and inexperience, however, led to the situation. We are all hostages. His effort to save the hostages was not wrong. It was just too late.

Bush also criticized the president for economic policies that he said "have left us in ruin."

Bush said that the display of the bodies of the men who died in the aborted Iranian rescue attempt was

Vance's resignation draws questions on foreign policy

WASHINGTON (AP) - Some congressional leaders say the resignation of Secretary of State Cyrus Vance means President Carter's foreign policy will now take a more belligerent and strident tack, but others says it's too early to make that judgment.

Some administration critics said Monday that Vance's abrupt resignation after his disagreement with Carter's decision to use military force to try to rescue the American hostages in Iran confirms their feeling that U.S. foreign policy is in disarray and has no coherent direction. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, thrown off course by the failure of the rescue effort and Vance's resignation, scheduled a meeting today to discuss the situation and chart a plan of action.

Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, canceled, at least temporarily, plans for the comittee to investigate whether Carter violated the 1973 War Powers Act by not consulting with Congress in advance of the ill-fated commando raid.

Meanwhile, House and Senate panels readied investigations into the helicopter failures that caused President Carter to cancel the rescue mis-

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said the Senate Armed Services Committee will look into workmanship of the helicopters as well as maintenance, training, equipment performance, supplies and the conditions under which the mission was performed. Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., said his House Armed Services subcommittee will conduct a similar investigation.

Ambassador carries Carter campaign to Basin

Ambassador-at-Large Bob Krueger upheld President Carter's decision last week to go ahead with a mission to rescue the 50 American hostages in Iran during a press conference Monday in The Midland Hilton.

Krueger, who was out stumping Texas for President Carter before the Saturday primary, wound up the news conference by discussing Mexico-U.S. relations. The Texan has served as U.S coordinator for Mexican affairs since his appointment by the President in June 1979.

The general feeling of the populace as it looks around at the candidates, began Krueger, is that of objection to the candidates. As a result, people are talking of remaining uncommitted until the national convention.

Krueger criticized this attitude saying, "Carter couldn't remain uncommitted in his decision to rescue the hostages. There is not an option to remain uncommitted. The world has to have committments.

People, in their criticism of the presidential candidates, are looking "for a savior, not a president," Krueger charged. What is needed is a person with the "best overall capacity to lead this country.

When it comes to the Democratic National Convention, Krueger said the winner will be Carter. And when the general election rolls around in November, people will go for Carter.

Taking a shot at Republican candidate Ronald Reagan's recent mistakes concerning various policies, Krueger said, "Carter knows the difference between Indochina and Indonesia and he knows about parity.'

While Carter is criticized for his energy policy and the windfall profits tax. Krueger supported the president's stand. "It was (Dwight) Eisenhower who vetoed deregulation of natural gas. (Richard) Nixon started the price controls and (Gerald) Ford continued them.

Carter, on the other hand, is lifting those controls, Krueger contended. Because the Democrats don't have a binding presidential primary, the ambassador pointed out the importance of getting Democrats to the polls Saturday and then to the precinct meetings afterwards.

Of the economic sanctions on Iran imposed by Carter and adopted by several other countries, Krueger doubted if Mexico followed suit.

The relationship between U.S. and Mexico "is a bilateral one. One million people cross the border each day to work inside the U.S.," he said, referring to the approved work

Trade between the two countries is increasing, although he admitted much of it is in the form of petroleum. But Mexico feels that it didn't become important in the eyes of other countries until the discovery of large petroleum reserves in that country.

"Mexico may feel like the senorita who has been ignored for a long time. She suddenly gets the oil and now is being serenaded at her window,' Krueger explained. 'My belief is that we would have given more attention to Mexico because the U.S. is focusing on this hemisphere," he said.

Ten journalists trapped in Cuba

MIAMI (AP) - Ten American journalists, trapped in the Cuban port of Mariel without visas or press credentials, have been confined to a Havana hotel and are not being allowed to cover the boatlift of refugees to Florida, their employers say.

Executives of Time magazine, The Miami News and two Florida television stations said they expected their news crews to return to the United States in the next few days, as soon as arrangements for a charter flight can be completed.

We are not in any emergency situation," said executive producer Dick Moore of WPLG-TV in Miami. "The crew is not in any danger. It's just a procedural matter."

All of the journalists had arrived at the Cuban port of Mariel by boat from Key West late last week. They were supposed to stay on their vessels, but got caught in the thousands of boats waiting to pick up refugees and went ashore for unknown reasons, the news executives said.

There they were detained by authorities of Cuban President Fidel Castro's government and taken to a hotel in Havana, where they have been awaiting money from the United States to pay their expenses, officials

"We're not sure what we owe Fidel for - the hotel room, some kind of ransom or what," said Miami News Executive Editor Howard Kleinberg.

"I'm not worried for their safety, I just think this ... is a bunch of bureaucratic garbage that the Cuban government is doing to intimidate the American press," Kleinberg said. WTSP-TV in Tampa, said his crew's gear was confiscated for 12 hours and the videotapes were not returned.

Carter gave no immediate indication of what he intended to do in response to Vance's resignation but several officials, who asked not to be identified, said it was logical Christopher would be tapped for the job. Unlike other potential candidates.

Christopher is so well versed after three years as Vance's top deputy he needs no on-the-job training, the officials said. Christopher was named acting sec-

Characters could prove Mormon bible

By RON BARKER

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - "Reformed Egyptian" characters Mormon church founder Joseph Smith Jr. says he copied directly from golden tablets given to him by an angel in preparing the church scripture have been discovered in an old family Bible, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints says.

The single page containing about two dozen characters arranged in vertical columns was found this month by a Utah State University student and is believed to be the earliest sample of Smith's handwriting, the church said Monday.

Smith claimed to have translated the Book of Mormon into English directly from the plates with the help of divine inspiration.

The characters on the newly found page, according to a note on the back, were samples made to challenge unbelieving scholars to see if they could translate "reformed Egyptian" without divine help.

Church historian Dean C. Jessee renewed Smith's 150-year-old challenge on Monday, asking linguists to compare the characters with Egyptian. "It adds one more opportunity to test the credibility of his story," he

The Book of Mormon, accepted as scripture by the church, unfolds a religious history of the Americas, including a visit to ancestors of the American Indians by Jesus Christ following his resurrection.

Smith said he returned the plates to the angel after the book was translated. Twelve followers said they, too, saw the plates. Jessee, a senior associate in the church's historical department, said he could not translate the characters or link them with any passage in the Book of Mormon However, he said he is convinced a statement on the back of the document was written and signed by Smith, who founded the church 150 years ago this month. With misspellings characteristic of Smith's other writings, it says: "These caractors were difligently coppied by my own hand from the plates of gold and given to Martin Harris who took them to New York Citty but the learned could not translate it because the Lord would not open it to them in fulfilment of the prophecy of Isaiah written in the 29th chapter and 11th verse." It is signed "Joseph Smith Jr."

Smith, who said he received the golden tablets in September 1827, apparently sent the document to Professor Charles Anthon and Dr. Samuel L. Mitchell of New York in February

New York, Jessee said.

The notation on the back apparently was placed there after Harris, one of Smith's supporters, returned from

This holds true with your students. There are those who are regular in attendance at all functions of the Youth Center, and are the "dependables." DEAR ABBY

Viewing childbirth: Why not hire a band?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When APPALLED IN K.C. wrote that she was dismayed that her married daughter was going to let her 3-year-old son and 19-yearold unmarried sister witness the birth of her second child, you said, "It should be a fascinating and educational experience.

My wife and I are contemplating having a child. I would like to invite her 11-year-old nephew and members of his Little League team to witness the CONCEPTION of the child. I also think it would be a "fascinating and educational experience" from the neighborhood kindergarten class to watch. My wife is appalled at this you please tell her that she is a prude—that the best way to learn about the miracle of life is to witness it from its very beginning?

Signed...AS CRAZY AS YOU. DEAR ABBY: Surely you weren't serious when you approved allowing a 3-year-old to watch his mother give birth! I am a registered nurse who has assisted in at least 5,000 births, and every time one of those supportive husbands scrubs and dons a gown to be with his wife during childbirth, I hold my breath for fear he will faint. Men in the delivery room are a pain in the neck. The bigger they are, the harder they fall. Abby, please don't encourage making childbirth a family affair. We don't need fainting daddies and hysterical kids while mama is panting, puffing and pushing .-

MARTHA AT ST. JOHN'S. DEAR ABBY: When I was 9, my mother gave birth prematurely to my brother. I was the only one presentnot counting my little sisters who were 4 and 6 at the time. It took me years to get over it. I'm not sure I ever did. I am now 36 years old, married, but...NO CHILDREN IN

CANADA DEAR ABBY: Allowing a 19-yearold unmarried girl to witness the birth of a baby might cause her to go on the Pill for the duration. But a 3-year-old child! Abby, that's sick!

According to the Bible, Elizabeth hid herself for five months before John was born. Births should be sacred and private-not a sideshow.-M. S. F. IN BELPRE, OHIO.

DEAR ABBY: I think that a young expectant mother who wants to let her 3-year-old watch a new life come into the world is out of her mind. And so are you for agreeing with her. If it's such a great "learning experience," why not invite the toddler's nursery school class, and serve icecream and cookies? Better yet, why not hire a hall and sell tickets?-MAC IN PASADENA.

DEAR ABBY: I've read and reread that letter 17 times, and still can't believe my eyes. Abby, as a nurse and mother of five, I think even a normal birth is not for the eyes of a 3-year- old. Can you guarantee that the birth will be quick, quiet and uncomplicated? Seeing his mother moan, scream and yell could be traumatic for the youngster. And heaven forbid there should be complications! To expose a child to these facts of life at such a tender age could give him psychological problems for life. This is child abuse! Where were your brains on this one, Abby?—R.C. IN RICHMOND, VA.

DEAR ABBY: I'm all for youngsters learning about the miracle of life through family discussions, school films and pictures, and even seeing animals giving birth, but I don't think they should witness the actual delivery of a child until they are old enough to place the order!-A (obstetres and surgery) for 3 years, MOTHER IN BENBROOK, TEXAS.

Stock market rallies

NEW YORK (AP) -Merger candidates and special situation stocks were the standouts Monday as the broad market faded in the final stretch after a mild rally early in the session:

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks closed with a gain of 1.88 at 805.46. The blue chip index had posted a gain of more than 6 points earlier in the session before that eroded in the afternoon.

Newton Zinder, an analyst with E.F. Hutton & Co., said declining interest rates helped give the market its early push.

But buying interest fizzled when it became apparent that the market's rally wasn't powered by very much volume, said Zinder.

Monte Gordon of Dreyfus Corp. also said uncertainties about a number of economic developments still have to be resolved in traders' assessments of the longer term outlook.

Among them, he said, are the depth and length of the recession which is widely believed to be underway.

Morgan Guaranty, the nation's 5th largest bank, Monday lowered its prime business lending rate to 181/2 percent from 191/2 percent. But only a fewer smaller banks followed suit.

Among actively traded issues, Orion Capital Corp. gained 34 to 101/2. Company officers said in an advertisement published Monday they would actively solicit acquisition offers. Pullman, up 3% to 28%, was another big gainer in active trading. A spokesman said he knew of no reason for the trading activity. Pullman gained more than 4 points last week despite reporting sharply lower first quarter earnings. International Business

Machines declined 3/4 to 54 1/8 as the most active issue. The company reported slightly higher first quarter earnings at its annual meet-General Motors rose 11/2 to 44% rebounding from lows last week. Ford was unchanged at 23%. After the 4 p.m. NYSE close, Ford reported a $163 million loss in the first quarter. Diamond International rose 31% to 34% after a delayed opening. Trading in the stock was halted Friday after a French holding company, Generale Occidentale, which owns 5 percent interest proposed buying additional shares at an unspecified price. Gold stocks dropped as the price of bullion fell sharply on international metals markets. In New York, the price of gold for delivery in May fell $30.50 an ounce to $508 on the Commodity Exchange Inc. The dollar was also lower against most foreign currencies.

Among gold mining stocks, Dome Mines dropped 1¾ to 61¼; Homestake fell 11/4 to 47; ASA lost 1 to 41%; and Hecla slipped 1/2 to 28.

Big Board volume came to a relatively slow 30.6 million shares, up from 28.59 million on Friday, which was also a slow day

Gainers outnumbered losers by a 9-5 margin on the New York Stock Exchange. The NYSE's composite index rose .28 to 60.01. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .55 at 249.86.

The NAS-DAQ composite of over-the-counter trading gained .62 to 138.54. Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrials rose .60 to 118.73. S&P's 500-stock composite gained .48 to 105.64

Prime lending rate falls slowly

NEW YORK (AP) - While interest rates in the nation's money markets are plunging, the prime lending rate charged by major banks is moving down much more slowly.

Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, the nation's fifth-largest commercial bank, cut its rate a full percentage point Monday from the 191/2 percent rate it posted just pl days ago.

Most other major banks did not follow Morgan Guaranty's lead, maintaining their 19 to 191/2 percent rates. The prime is the rate charged by banks on loans to their most credit-worthy corporate custom-

"They are using the high prime as a way of pricing themselves out of the loan market," said Mark Biderman, an analyst for Oppenheimer & Co. Inc., a New York investment firm.

Biderman said banks are keeping their rates high in order to discourage business borrowing. Other analysts said banks also are looking for ways to boost profits, which suffered when interest rates rose sharply.

Banks want to hold down the growth in loan volume because the Federal Reserve Board told them on March 14 to limit loan growth to between 6 percent and 9 percent for the year.

Other short-term rates have fallen rapidly in recent weeks, reducing the cost of funds for banks. Large 90-day bank certificates of deposit, for example, were quoted in early April at 18 percent but have fallen below 14 percent in recent days.

Financial figures resigning posts

CHICAGO (AP) — In a major shake-up at the nation's ninth largest banking organization, the top two executives of the First Chicago Corp. are step-

A. Robert Abboud, one of the most powerful financial figures in Illinois, is resigning as chairman and chief executive officer, while Harvey Kapnick has resigned as deputy chairman and director, it was announced Monday.

First Chicago is the parent company of the First National Bank of Chicago, the second-largest bank in Illinois with $21 billion in deposits.

Last week, First Chicago Corp. reported a 44 percent decline in first-quarter earnings, causing some stockholders to question Abboud's leadership. However, a director of the parent company said management differences prompted the departures.

TULSA, Okla. — Some natural gas producers may lose incentive prices unless they react quickly to a provision

John L. Wilson, manager of extractive industry regulating services for Arthur Young & Co., today said producers of certain types of natural gas are confronted by similar but conflicting provisions of the ciation in Midland pointed out today that, although dated April 7, the order was received here only Monday. He added that copies of the order and the form producers would need are available at the association's office, 104 Western United Life Building.

'Producers must make the election before May 2 or the date the well was spudded, whichever is later," Wilson said, "and the election can be on a well-by-

The potential loss of incentive pricing is precipitated by the interaction of Section 231 of the Crude Oil Windfall Profit Tax Act of 1980 and Section 107 of the tight formations. These producing formations are de-

Section 107 (d) of the NGPA provides that the NGPA Section 103 price) applicable to tight formation gas, and deregulated prices applicable to geopressured brine, Devonian shale and coal seams shall not apply to the sale of natural gas to which a tax credit is allowable unless an election has been filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

"In other words, a producer can charge and collect incentive or deregulated prices for the natural gas only if an election is made," Wilson said, "otherwise, the producer must take the tax credit as permitted under Section 231 of the Crude Oil Windfall Profit Tax

According to Wilson, the tax credit available for qualified natural gas is generally $3 per barrel but phases out as the average price of unregulated domestic crude oil rises from $24.50 to $29.50 per barrel and terminates thereafter.

Because the average price of deregulated crude oil was reported by the FERC as being over $33 per barrel in December 1979, most of alifying natural gas under section 231 will not be eligible for a tax credit," he said, "therefore, a gas producer not making a timely election will not be eligible to charge incentive or deregulted prices for his gas."

.. The election requirement applies to all taxpayers who have an interest in qualifying natural gas production from geopressured brine, Devonian shale, coal seams, and tight formations. Wilson said producers of qualifying nonconventional energy sources should examine Section 231 of the windfall profit tax act carefully to determine if the tax credit or the pricing provision of the NPGA is in their best interest or the incentive or deregulated pricing provisions of the NGPA.

prices continue rising toward $2 a

The Lundberg Letter, a Californiabased oil publication, put the average price of all gasoline at nearly $1.24 a gallon in late March and early April. President Carter's oil import fee is expected to add another dime to the retail price of gasoline by mid-May.

Agriculture Department spokesman George Holcomb said the study's figures were based on 1979 grain prices. With prices lower now, the cost of ethanol production could be even less, he said. The study was commissioned to provide the government as well as private investors with guidelines in deciding whether to invest in fuel alcohol production facilities. The Farmers Home Administration has about $10 million to lend small farmers for ethanol production if they can't get credit elsewhere and $100 million for loan guarantees to busi-

And David said a large, efficient, on-farm still can produce 190-proof alcohol at a net cost of about $1.13 a gallon, using only about 40 percent of the energy required to distill the highgrade alcohol

David cautioned, however, that all cost estimates in the 220-page study depend on the efficiency of the distillery, its management, the price of corn or other alcohol stocks and the value of by-products yielded in the California Angels catcher Tom Donohue in a broken double-play attempt in third inning of Monday

'Kong' can play defense

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

Dave Kingman didn't hit any home runs Monday night but he was a big man for the Chicago Cubs anyway... and not just because he stands 6-foot-

The tall left fielder, known for his towering homers and wild-swinging strikeouts, threw out St. Louis speedy Garry Templeton trying to score from second base on a single by Keith Hernandez in the third inning.

That preserved a 1-1 tie and it remained that way until the ninth when Kingman slapped a pitch from Bob Sykes into center field for a tie-breaking RBI single that triggered a threerun uprising as the Cubs defeated the Cardinals 4-2.

"He's the complete ballplayer now," Manager Preston Gomez said of Kingman. "He beats you with his bat, he can run, he can throw and he

Only three games were played in the majors while four were rained out Atlanta-San Diego in the National League and New York-Baltimore, and struck out four.

Boston-Chicago and Kansas City-Toronto in the American.

In AL action, the Oakland A's made it 5-for-5 over California by blanking the Angels 8-0 while the Seattle Mariners defeated the Minnesota Twins

As usual, Kingman wasn't available to the media but other Cubs didn't mind talking about him.

"When the game's on the line and he's up, you better watch him," said relief ace Bruce Sutter, who picked up his sixth save. "When he first came up, he used to swing at everything. He's cut down on his strike zone. He knows what he wants up there now.'

Ivan DeJesus opened the Cubs' ninth with a walk and Bill Buckner bunted safely before Kingman singled. Jerry Martin then greeted Donnie Moore with an RBI double and Tim Blackwell added a sacrifice fly. A's 8, Angels 0

Tony Armas, Dwayne Murphy and Dave Revering homered Monday night to support the Rick Langford's seven-hitter. Langford, 2-0, was making only his second start of the season

Armas homered with the bases empty in the second inning to give Oakland a 1-0 lead. Murphy added a two-run homer in the fifth to make it 5-0 and Revering homered off Jim Barr in the seventh.

It was the A's fifth consecutive victory over the Angels this season. They swept a four-game series in Oakland earlier in the month from the defending American League West

Mariners 6, Twins 4

The Twins committed seven errors and two of them by pitcher Terry Felton and left fielder Ken Landreaux led to a five-run Seattle fourth inning. Willie Horton began the big inning by drawing a walk against Felton. One out later, Bill Stein singled and Felton's error on a tapper back to the mound loaded the bases. Larry Cox's squeeze bunt scored Horton, Joe Simpson walked and John Verhoeven replaced Felton. But Jim Anderson singled to make it 3-0 and three more runs scored when Landreaux, who hit a two-run homer in the seventh, dropped Dan Meyer's liner.

Eric puts on Show for Sox

Righty tames Cubs with late relief help

By TED BATTLES Sports Editor

When the Midland Cubs began an eighth inning rumble, Amarillo pitcher Eric Show couldn't help but wonder if it weren't going to be the same old story all over again. The righthander from Riverside, Calif., had a 4-0 lead and was working on a two-hitter going into the eighth when Midland broke the shutout on an infield hit by Tom Hall and a double against the fence in center by catcher Mike O'Berry, producing the Cubs'

So when Manager Eddie Watt called Floyd Chiffer from the bullpen, Show had a feeling of deja vu. "Three times earlier this season when I left the game leading and I wound up without a decision.

This time, thanks to eighth inning relief help from Chiffer and a saveearning rescue by lefthander Daniel Boone in the ninth, Show finally broke into the win column with a 4-2 vic-

"I didn't have as good stuff tonight as I did when I pitched against Amarillo," said Show, who was 13-9 at Reno last year after signing of the University of California-Riverside campus in June. "I threw harder the first time and had a quicker slider."

SHOW GAVE up just three hits the Cubs got only four - and two were by O'Berry.

'I made two mistakes against him," Show admitted, and both wound up against the fence in center. one for a triple in the third and the other the run-scoring double in the eighth.

"Each time I got behind and got a fast ball high," Show continued, "But he earned the hits. He's a better hitter than he gets credit for."

A single by Todd Fletcher moved O'Berry to third in the eighth and Javier Fierro's fly to left plated the run. Then, in the ninth, after Chiffer walked lead off batter Tom Grant and threw two balls to Midland's Joe Hicks, Watt brought in left hander Daniel Boone

If the name sounds familiar, it should. He was a pain in the neck to the Cubs for two years with the El Paso Diablos before being promoted to Salt Lake City last year where he was 9-2, the kind of performance that got him his release. "I guess they figured I wouldn't be going to the big leagues and they wanted to lefthanded relief spot in Salt Lake to somebody else, so..."

BOONE got Hicks to ground into a force play, but then Todd Winterfeldt doubled to put runners on second and

Local nines need wins

By BOB DILLON Sports Writer

The last time Midland and Midland Lee squared off with the two Abilene schools, it was a disaster.

Today, they try again with the Rebels entertaining the Abilene Eagles at the Lee diamond and Midland traveling to the Key City for a big confrontation with the Cooper Cougars at 4 p.m.

In other District 5-4A action, Odessa Permian is at San Angelo Central and Big Spring faces Odessa High in Odessa.

Lee, Cooper and Abilene all share first place in the second half of the 5-4A race with 4-1 readings while Midland and Odessa High are 3-2 going into today's action.

Cooper downed Lee, 5-3 and Abilene took a 9-4 win over MHS when the two Tall City teams tried the Abilene outfits earlier.

Alan Koonce will get the call for Lee today even though he pitched against Permian Saturday in winning, 8-1. Pitching for Abilene will be Mack Rogers who has an 8-0 record and is one of the top strikeout pithers in the league this season.

Lee takes a 14-10 season mark into the game with the Eagles while Abilene is 12-7 on the year. Lee beat the Warbirds 8-7 in eight innings the first time around while Midland lost to Cooper, 7-5 in a closely fought game in the Tall City. The Bulldogs sport a 10-10 season mark while Cooper, the defending district champion, has a sparkling 16-5 mark and won the first half of the race with a 6-1 record.

Jerry Zachery will be a welcomed player back in Abilene today to takehis cuts against Cooper's Kyle Stuard. He missed the 7-2 loss to OHS Saturday, because he was running in the hurdles in the Class AAAA regional track meet in Lubbock. His bat was missed as OHS' Junior Cobos threw a one-hitter at the Pack.

The regular season winds up Saturlay when Lee plays Midlar Memorial Stadium diamond.

third. That's when Boone got busy. He fanned Fierro and got Hall, the first lefthander he saw, on a grounder to second to end the game and picked up his sixth save. "No, righthanders don't bother me," Boone explained, "In fact, I'd rather pitch against them since it gives me an extra pitch, my screw-

While the Cubs were losing their fourth straight, there was a silver lining, righthander Henry Mack's best outing of the year. The Winchester, Ky., Rifle became the Cubs first route-going pitcher and walked only

His downfall came in the second when the Gold Sox scored three runs, two unearned. With one out, Mack walked Gary Ashby and Greg Pastors and Javier Fierro, a bit shaky in his first game at short, bobbled John Alvarez' grounder, losing the double play, but getting the force out at second. John Flannery then singled to right for one run and another came in on when Fierro booted a grounder by Doug Gwodz. Hicks followed with a singled to score Flannery and Jerry Johnson also singled, but a bullseye throw by rightfielder Tom Grant got Gwodz trying to score from second for the third out.

The series resumes 7:30 p.m. tonight with Gary Pickert, 3-0, going for Amarillo while Jon Perlman, 1-2, is due to start for Midland.

CUB PAWS - Mark Thurmond. who joined the Gold Sox last year out of Texas A&M, will pitch for the Sox in Friday's series finale. Thurmond, when asked how many University of New Mexico students it takes to exchange a light bulb, quickly answered, "One...but four get credit for

SMU's Russ Potts sees major changes in college sports

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

Sports Writer Russ Potts, the athletic director at Southern Methodist University, is given most of the credit for creating 'Mustang Mania" and again putting people in the seats when SMU takes to the gridiron. The revival of college football in Dallas has been noted nationwide, and Potts has been hailed across the country while giving hope to schools that have had similar attendance

Potts was in Midland Monday to meet with SMU backers, and he was quick to point out that miracles can go just so far in a time of rising infla-

While being the darling of the football-minded nation, Potts has also come under criticism for recent moves to cut back in some of the lesser sports. Boys golf and baseball are two of the sports that have gotten the SMU scholarship axe by Potts.

"The nation's economy is in an inflationary period right now, and it will affect intercollegiate sports as we have come to know it," Potts said. "We will have to find ways to cutback just like every business, and there are going to be some painful decisions to be made.

"Football and basketball, of course, won't be affected because they are revenue producing sports, but they can't carry the whole load. We have increased our football attendance dramatically, but there are only so many people you can put in the stands and there is only so much you can charge for a ticket.

"I think people all across the country are going to be shocked in the next two or three months when they see the deficits some of our colleges are going to have during this school year. People in this area seem to think that only SMU is having problems, but you will see just how bad it is. Potts noted, "I think it is a sign of the times when schools such as Alabama, which has gone to bowl games for 20 straight year, has to drop wrestling. USC has dropped wrestling. And when you think of Michigan, you think of 100,000 people at a football game, but that school has had to ban all air travel except for the football and basketball teams.

Potts says that colleges are going to have to specialize in the lesser sports in order to keep going. "I don't think schools can try for national championships in 10 sports. It's not realistic in today's world. We are going to compete at the highest level possible. For instance, SMU may concentrate on soccer and swimming where we have had a lot of success. Wake Forest may concentrate on tennis and Texas at baseball, but those decisions are coming. Football and basketball can't carry the load anymore.

"At SMU, we are going to compete where we think we can do well, but we will not spread ourselves too thin," Potts said.

Potts also said that high schools across the country are experiencing problems. "It probably hasn't hit Midland yet, but I heard last week that a boy from Jacksonville, Fla., wasn't allowed to go to the state track meet that he qualified for because the school didn't have the money. It isn't an isolated case."

Potts, however, doesn't see an end to intercollegiate athletics any time soon. He is aware that college football and basketball are as popular as ever. The decisions to be made will come in the non-revenue producing sports, and if Potts is right, there will be some changes seen.

Kriek wins WCT match

DALLAS' (AP) - John Sadri's serve has been timed at 129 miles per hour, but Monday night most of his bullets either whistled into the net or came back at him.

Sadri, a 23-year-old from Charlotte, N.C., was outreturned, outserved and outhustled by 5-foot-7 Johan Kriek of South Africa in a 7-5, 6-4, 7-5 World Championship of Tennis quarterfinal match that opened the $25 million Reunion Arena.

Kriek's serve has never been timed by a radar gun but it was more effective than Sadri's, who had only eight aces to 10 for Kriek.

'Johan can serve," said Sadri "He's not tall but he can crank it. I don't know what it was but I felt sluggish for some reason. I was always off-balance. Maybe the court was slower than I thought. He just ran down all the balls. I guess it was just

Kriek has a reputation as perhaps the speediest player on the WCT

"I'm not sure how fast I am," said the Naples, Fla., resident. "I just hope it keeps up until I'm 60 or 70."

Kriek seemed surprised that he had such an easy time with Sadri's famed "I never played anybody who could serve like that," said Kriek. "I just had a short swing on every ball and I anticipated well. Kriek will play the winner of Thursday night's match between defending champion John McEnroe and Heinz Gunthardt of Germany Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia was to meet India's Vijay Amritraj tonight in another quarterfinal match.

Jimmy Connors meets Bill Scanlon Wednesday night. Opening night ceremonies went off with just a few minor hitches in the 17,000-seat (for tennis) arena. The $1 million overhead scoreboard failed to function.

Plugged Nickle, a prime contender for Saturday's Kentucky Derby, works out at Churchill

Downs Monday with Buck Thornburg, the regular rider of the horse, aboard. (AP Laserphoto)

Trainer Jolley likes chances of Genuine Risk

LeRoy Jolley is a fellow who knows a lot about preparing horses for thoroughbred racing's most prestigious outing - the Kentucky Derby. By the same token, he also knows a lot about the pitfalls. Jolley saddled 1975 Derby winner Foolish Pleasure, than saw Honest all. Pleasure, the 1976 favorite, finish second to Bold Forbes.

Jolley stepped squarely into the Kentucky Derby limelight this year when he arrived at Churchill Downs over the weekend with his prize filly, Genuine Risk. It is owner Bert Firestone's announced intention to start the filly in Saturday's 106th Kentucky Derby, marking the first time since 1959 that a filly has challenged colts in Silver Spoon ran fifth in the 1959 run in ... the less horses, the less Derby as the last of 30 fillies to try the chance of being banged up."

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - Trainer 11/4-mile race. The only filly to win the Derby was Regret back in 1915.

"Any time you're going to do something unusual - and we all agree that running a filly in the Derby is a little unusual — you have to look at all the aspects," Jolley said, in explaining why Genuine Risk is in Louisville at

The filly ran an impressive third to Plugged Nickle and Colonel Moran in the 11/4-mile Wood Memorial on April 19, but Jolley said a few minutes after the race he saw no reason to take her to Louisville

'At that point, there were 20 horses in the Derby," Jolley said. "Now, it appears there will be 12. There's a whole world of difference between 20 and 12. I think that as the field got smaller, it became more attractive to Jolley's is a realist when he looks at Saturday's race. Unlike others, he thinks that likely co-favorites Rockhill Native and Plugged Nickle are the best of the lot and will be hard to beat. He sees Genuine Risk as "a legitimate third or fourth choice."

"The Derby is a tough job for a filly, we know that," Jolley said. "But she has a great deal of determination and is willing to fight it out. I don't think giving up is in her book."

The choice to go in the Derby may be an expensive one for Jolley, Firestone and Genuine Risk. By coming to Louisville, Jolley admits that he will eliminate her from the New York Triple Crown races for fillies. But the trainer is philosophical about that.

"Well, nobody guarantees you're going to win the filly Triple Crown either, if you don't run here," he

Los Angeles looks for rich draft crop

NEW YORK (AP) - It's another case of the rich getting richer and the poor getting ... well, who's to say?

The rich are the Los Angeles Rams, the second-best team in the National Football League (not by their record but by virtue of their trip to the Super Bowl) and the team with the most choices in this year's college player draft. Barring any trades, the Rams, selecting next-to-last, ahead of Pittsburgh, will make 16 picks in the 12 rounds.

Conversely, the San Francisco 49ers, who shared with Detroit the league's worst record at 2-14 in 1979 and will be preceded in each round only by the Lions, will come away with only nine players in the 12 rounds, again presuming they don't make any late deals.

The number of selections of the other 26 teams teams are: New York Jets with 15; Atlanta, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh with 14; Baltimore, Detroit, Miami, Minnesota, Oakland, St. Louis and Seattle with 13; Buffalo, Denver, Green Bay, New England and New York Giants with 12; Chicago and Dallas with 11 and Kansas City with 10; Houston, New Orleans, Philadelphia, San Diego and Tampa Bay with 10, and Cleveland and Washing-

Wheeling and dealing is, of course, an integral part of the NFL draft. Super franchises can be built with judicious selecting. Witness the Steelers, unquestionably the worst team in the league barely a decade ago.

In 1969 they selected Joe Greene, Jon Kolb and L.C. Greenwood. The next year's draft yielded, among others, Terry Bradshaw and Mel Blount. In 1971, Jack Ham, Gerry Mullins and Mike Wagner signed on. In '72 it was Franco Harris and Steve Furness. After slim pickings in 73, Pittsburgh resumed its extraordinary selecting in '74 with Lynn Swann, Jack Lambert, John Stallworth and Mike Webster.

In other words, in those five drafts, the Steelers picked up 14 of the 22 starters who have built Pittsburgh into the only four-time Super Bowl

Few teams have prospered as well from the draft. Others, most notably George Allen's Washington Redskins, dealt away a portion of their futures for instant gains, trading picks for vets. In Allen's case, the investment paid instant returns as the 'Skins became immediate contenders, reacing the Super Bowl on one occasion. But the combination of a paucity of picks and wholesale departures by aging players left a void in recent years.

Which brings us the the Rams and the 49ers. Los Angeles has stockpiled three extra selections. Here's how:

The Rams gave their second-round and fifth-round picks to Washinton and received the 'Skins' third-round pick in the deal for safety-kick returner Eddie Brown. They got Washington's second-round pick for guard Dan Nugent, got San Diego's second-round pick in the deal for tight end Bob Klein, Oakland's third-round pick in the cornerback Monte Jackson trade, New England's fourth-round choice in the wide receiver Harold Jackson trade and Green Bay's fifth-round choice in the deal that sent center Rick Nuzum to the Packers. In another trade late Monday, the Rams sent tight end Charles Young and two Tuesday choices to the 49ers in exchange for one of San Francisco's Tuesday picks and a future selection.

Jimmy Zachry adjusts well to college

LUBBOCK - In baseball circles, a lot of attention is focused on players who don't look great in the box scores, but do dazzling jobs on the playing field. At Texas Tech, baseball coach Kal Segrist has a player who not only looks good in the box score, but also looks like a gem defensively.

Freshman Jimmy Zachry has emerged from the pack of third base candidates at Tech and has gone from just a good hitter and just a good fielder to an all-around good player.

"Jimmy has been more than a pleasant surprise for us this season,' comments Segrist. "He played shortstop at Midland High and after we tried some other people at third, decided he deserved a shot. He has done a tremendous job." There was little doubt about

Zachry's ability to hit. In his first collegiate doubleheader he went 5for-8 with four runs batted in. The 5-11, 180 pounder from Midland hasn't missed a game since. His five-hit debut against Houston's series put him atop the list of Tech hitters and he still leads the team in hitting 21 games later.

"When I first got to Tech, my goal was to make the traveling squad," Zachry says. "Getting to play as much as I have as a freshman has really satisfied me.'

Segrist thinks Zachry may have the makes of one of the top all-around third basemen in college. "Jimmy had some adjustments to make when he came here and started to play every day," Segrist recalls. "Certain pitches gave him trouble and making the change to third base gave him some problems. But he has worked at improving and after a year or so, he could be as good as any third baseman in college."

Zachry came to Tech with impressive credentials, playing strong safety on the Midland High football team and shortstop in baseball. He made all-District 5-4A in both sports and all-state in baseball. Zachry was named Most Outstanding Athlete at Midland as a senior.

He participated in the Texas High School Coaches All-Star baseball game at Houston's Astrodome last summer.

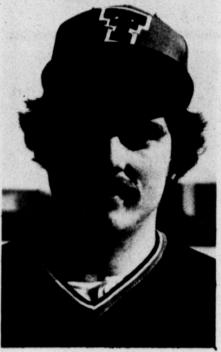

"One thing I noticed about college basebal as opposed to high school ball is the fact everybody is pretty good. In high school, pitchers would throw you what they throw best best and in college they'll throw what they can get you out on, once they do it

Segrist may think Zachry will blossom soon, but Zachry thinks it may take a while.

"Everybody's got their pitch and when I don't get mine, I'm in trouble. That's what I hope to work on the next three years. I just hope I can continue to play at my present pace and improve at a comparable one." It seems that when Zachry rolls, so does Texas Tech. And Tech has been assured of its first ever berth in the post-season SWC tournament May 16-19 in College Station. Other members of this year's Tech squad from Midland are Pat Moore, Rusty Laughlin and Terry Willis.

Gaudy feats are common in majors

But it's hard to find a match for Metzger

By JIM MURRAY Los Angeles Times

Around the major leagues, the headlines this season have been pointing to various gaudy accomplishments. At Philadelphia, Keith Hernandez got five hits in five times up, drove in three runs, scored one, stole two bases. Ken Reitz padded his league lead in batting with three hits and ended the week near .400. Reggie Smith got his 25th and 26th hits of the season. Pete Rose was starting a new consecutive-games hitting streak.

But probably the most significant achievement was summed up in the line in the box score which read "Metzger, SS, 2-0-0-0," as the San Francisco Giants lost at home to the Cincinnati Reds Sunday

Roger Metzger had gone 0-for-2, had not scored, driven in a run, or even been on base. Roger Metzger has not had a hit in 1980. He's 26 behind Reggie Smith, and will probably end the season 100 or more in arrears. Roger Metzger is not a candidate for most game-hits in succession. His accomplishment is in games played in succession.

ROGER METZGER'S right hand viewed cursorily looks like something that might be pinned to the sleeve of a snowsuit. It's not a hand, it's a mitten. It looks as if it had fallen off a snowman on the lawn.

Shortstops, like point guards in basketball, are usually easily spotted by the fact they have these long, supple fingers with which they are able to pluck a baseball out of a glove's webbing with two fingers and zip a low, 100-mile-an-hour-trajectory throw 125 feet to first base accurately. They have 3.5 seconds to do this. Any longer and it's back to the bus leagues, or the gas station. Roger Metzger was one of the world's best at it. One year (1976), he set a National League record of 59 consecutive games without an error, 269 chances handled flawlessly. Any time a ball was hit down near Metzger, the official scorer would chalk up another 6-3 or even 6-4-3 before the ball stopped rolling.

BUT THAT WAS when Roger Metzger had all 14 knuckles on his right hand, and fingernails and fingertips. On Nov. 29 last year, Roger Metzger was cutting a piece of wood for a playhouse he was building for his children at his home in Brenham, Texas, when the radial saw jumped the groove and instead of the wood, sliced through the end of Roger's hand. Fingertips flew all over the garage, blood spurted, and Roger, numbed, walked into the house, opened the refrigerator, took the ice bucket out, thrust his hand in it, and got a friend to drive him to the local emergency hospital. Later, as he was transferred to surgery in Houston, his father and a friend collected the remnants of Roger's right hand.

"If you sew the tips back on what will that do?" Roger wanted to know. "Well," the doctors said dubiously, "the hand will look nice. But you'll have to be careful shaking hands." "Will I be able to play baseball?" continued Roger. "What position?" the doctor wondered. "Shortstop," said Roger. The doctor mused. "You mean where you have to pick up a rolling ball and throw it 100 feet?" he asked. "In a hurry," assented Metzger. "Not with the tips on," the doctor advised, "you wouldn't be able to bend the fingers."

So, Roger Metzger ordered the hand stitched up sans the top knuckles. He wanted to be able to make the double play again. "Roger Metzger, with half a hand, is better than some guys in this league would be with three,' the Giants' general manager boast-

ALMOST BEFORE the scar tissue had formed, Roger was fondling a baseball again. At first, it felt as if he were lobbing a cannonball, he says. But, gradually, feeling returned. So did the throw. The balls had something on them, even if the hand didn't.

They never kept Roger Metzger around for his bat, anyway. His job was always to prevent runs, not score them. You'd look down Roger Metzger's line in the team statistics today and you find no hits, no runs, but you also find no errors.

Keith Hernandez may win the batting championship again, Reggie Smith may have 250 or more hits, and Roger Metzger will be nowhere in the MVP balloting at season's end. But there should be some kind of an award for a guy playing shortstop in a pennant race with a hand he couldn't deal cards with. And Roger believes, all things considered, he's actually lucky. "If I lost one more inch, I'm a left-hander," he says ruefully. "I'm at the bare minimum right now." Even with stubs, his coach, Jim Lefebvre, insists, "It's still not a good idea to hit the ball down around shortstop with Roger there. You're better off going to second or third, if you can help it. Roger will get you even if he has to do it with his teeth. And no one will have done more with less in baseball this season, I'll promise that easy to do. Kansas also faces a potentially poor revenue year in football this year, partly because of heavy travel costs for away games against Oregon and Syracuse. The 1980 football budget for the Jayhawks shows travel costs expected to be up $52,000 from 1979.
