Excited Cuban refugees wave toward land at a pier in Key West, Fla., as they arrived aboard an ocean-going tug boat, "Dr. Daniels," Tuesday afternoon. More than 700 people were aboard, making this the largest single load of refugees since the boatlift began more than two weeks ago. (AP Laserphoto)

Refugees 'elbow-to-elbow' and in need of help

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — With more than 4,000 refugees a day arriving here aboard the "Freedom Flotilla" — most straight from Cuban prisons — another 300 National Guardsmen have been dispatched to Key West.

Elbow-to-elbow crowds swamped makeshift cafeterias and dormitories here and at a "tent city" in the Florida Panhandle, and relief workers pleaded for donations of food and clothing as the unrelenting flood of arrivals swelled past 20,000.

"These people come over here soaking wet from being at sea, the babies have raspy breathing and they need dry clothes," said Red Cross volunteer Anne Hernandez.

Meanwhile, federal officials said supplies and personnel were on the way after President Carter declared a state of emergency, making $10 million available. But volunteer coordinator Arturo Cobo said the federal help was "very slow." The National Guardsmen were to help keep peace and order among the milling refugees.

Prisoners or ex-convicts accounted for four of every five refugees arriving this week aboard small boats from the Cuban port of Mariel, immigration officials estimated. On Tuesday, the first time in the 16-day-old boatlift, the inmates included women.

"I kissed the ground when I arrived here," said Rita Ramos, 24, who had been jailed for putting up anti-government posters. "I don't have the words to explain how I feel ... It's freedom."

Federal officials said 122 "hard-core" criminals had been sent to a prison near Talladega, Ala.

Tempers occasionally have flared under the sizzling Florida sun, but there have been "no major problems at all," said National Guard Col. Richard Capps.

Round-the-clock airlifts have carried 3,600 emigrants to Eglin Air Force Base, where they are housed in an overflowing "tent city," hangars, barracks and a gymnasium. Officials said they hoped to begin sending Cubans to sponsors today.

"We're going to have a total of about 10,000 people here in two more days and it's going to take two more weeks to build enough tents to put them in," said Maj. John Toner.

In Miami, two abandoned NIKE missile sites are being readied to relieve overcrowding at Eglin, federal officials said.

Immigration and Naturalization Service officers processed 4,005 refugees Tuesday, including more than 600 from the 150-foot salvage ship Dr. Daniels. Reports from still-jammed Mariel say an even larger vessel, the Americas, would soon return with as many as 900 refugees.

All but a few dozen passengers aboard the Dr. Daniels were from prisons or on parole. The Cuban-Americans who chartered the ship said they weren't allowed to take the 158 relatives they set out to retrieve.

The Coast Guard called the Dr. Daniels "grossly unsafe" and said it may charge the operator with criminal negligence for not carrying sufficient life vests and safety equipment.

One arriving prisoner, Elsa Hernandez, said she had been sentenced to four years in jail for being "anti-social" after she unknowingly criticized Cuban President Fidel Castro to a member of his secret police.

Maria Napoles, a 28-year-old mother of six, said she had been in and out of prison for nine years, labeled a "dangerous element."

Our country faces some difficult but necessary choices and priorities.

The reasons, he added, are compelling.

"We need stability in the Middle East to avoid another round of war between the countries in that area, and to prevent the possibility of a major confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union," he said.

Haynes said the United States must continue to face a number of specific important issues.

"To help bring about a peaceful resolution of the Arab-Israeli conflict, the United States must recognize the absolute necessity of resolving, in an equitable manner, the long-standing grievances of the Palestinians," he said.

"Just as we must continue to support the Israelis' right to exist and to self-determination, there must be an acceptance of the Palestinians' right to exist and to self-determination."

Carter issues plea for help in dealing with refugees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with a stream of Cubans arriving in uncontrollable numbers, President Carter has no alternative but to grant them all at least temporary refuge in the United States, White House officials say.

"There are questions about the ultimate resolution of this that can't be answered yet," White House press secretary Jody Powell admitted Tuesday.

In the meantime, he made clear that it is unrealistic to set a limit on how many refugees will be accepted.

"We are dealing with a real world situation," Powell said. "If you mean do we plan to tow them back to Cuba, the answer is no."

He issued a plea for help from Latin American countries, saying Carter regards it as an "international problem."

To ease the financial strain on Florida, where most of the Cubans are landing, the president declared a state of emergency in portions of the state Tuesday and made $10 million available immediately from a special refugee fund.

Carter's action came a day after he promised to welcome tens of thousands of Cubans fleeing the regime of President Fidel Castro. And it followed a meeting with Florida congressmen who pleaded for federal help in handling the boatloads of Cubans arriving each hour.

The influx of refugees deposited at Key West, Fla., edged past 20,000 persons Tuesday as food and clothing supplies at a nearby shelter ran short. Security investigations delayed resettlement attempts, which may begin today.

Immigration officials at the scene said many Cubans were simply ordered out of their country, some of them from jail. "These people aren't emigrating, they're being deported," one commented.

Powell assailed Castro for "calculated and cynical exploitation," including jeopardizing lives, charging "exorbitant" fees for water, and forcing Cuban-Americans to transport unrelated Cubans to the United States when they arrive to fetch their relatives.

"Small boat owners are also exploiting the situation through charging exorbitant fees for the chartering of their boats and also chartering boats which are grossly unsafe and unfit," said Powell.

He served notice that "grossly unsafe" boats chartered to transport refugees may be confiscated.

Victor Palmieri, U.S. refugee commissioner, said the administration is considering air and sea lifts to bring the refugees into the United States.

"It's happened before," he said at a White House briefing. "It's clearly feasible. Everything is being discussed."

Palmieri predicted "it's going to take months" before the complicated processing of refugees is completed. "I think there are going to be a lot of problems," he added.

Bill Williams, a spokesman for the Federal Emergency Management Agency, said the emergency declaration for parts of Florida was "the first one ever" for such a purpose. It normally covers such things as snow removal.

The declaration will enable the federal government to reimburse the state for "extraordinary costs." Williams said he had "no idea" how much money ultimately will be involved.

The decision to grant $10 million immediately originally was announced last week. Powell said it will go primarily to voluntary and charitable organizations helping the effort.

After meeting with Carter, Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., told reporters: "It's very, very dangerous what Castro is making happen here. We are trying to see that those who have no family connections (in Florida) are relocated elsewhere."

An estimated 60 percent of the refugees have no relatives in Florida.

Two Florida Republicans, Reps. Richard Kelly and L.A. Balfalls, urged that the exodus be stopped.

"If we are going to accept these people, we have to do it on the basis of a rational plan," Balfalls said. "We have laws in this country and the problem I see is that we are being held hostage again."

Eugene Eldenberg, deputy assistant to the president, described the situation as "very tender."

"For the U.S. government to use force to interfere with families' attempts to reunite would be very difficult," he said.

Iranian gunman shoots Anglican bishop's son

By The Associated Press

An unidentified gunman ambushed the 24-year-old son of Iran's Anglican bishop and killed him with four shots through the head and neck, it was reported today. The young man worked as an interpreter for foreign reporters in Tehran.

Meanwhile, Ayatollah Mohammad Beheshti, a top Iranian revolutionary leader, said the end of the Iranian Embassy siege in London would not speed release of the American hostages. He said a parliamentary debate on the fate of the Americans would not be held at least until mid-June.

In another development, an alleged American woman spy who was arrested two days ago and has not been publicly identified was reported transferred to the custody of the Iranian Foreign Ministry.

Bahram Deghani Tafti, an Oxford graduate, was ambushed Tuesday night as he drove to a hotel in central Tehran from a college in the north of the city where he was a lecturer, according to reports reaching London. The gunman reportedly forced Tafti out of the car before shooting him.

The night before his death, Tafti told foreign reporters his apartment had been broken into and that he was worried about his safety, British newspapers reported.

The British Embassy in Tehran confirmed that Tafti, who held dual Iranian-British citizenship, had been found slain.

Tafti's father, Bishop Deghani Tafti, heads Iran's 4,000-strong Anglican community. Since Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolution 15 months ago, he, his family and his employees have been targets of violence.

The bishop left Iran after escaping an assassination attempt last October and now resides in Cyprus. A week ago, the bishop's Scottish secretary, Jean Waddell, was shot and critically wounded when gunmen broke into her Tehran home. Last year, the bishop's English-born wife, Margaret, was shot in the hand when gunmen broke into their house in Isfahan, 210 miles south of the Iranian capital.

Informed sources told a Western reporter in Tehran today that an unidentified American woman arrested Monday night and accused of working for the Central Intelligence Agency had been turned over to the custody of the Foreign Ministry.

The militia-like revolutionary guard claimed it had documents proving that the woman worked for the CIA.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said today the department still had no confirmed information on the case. The Swiss Embassy, handling U.S. affairs in Tehran, said it had asked the Foreign Ministry for information but thus far had received none.

Beheshti, secretary of Iran's Revolutionary Council and justice minister, spoke with Western reporters in Tehran.

He rejected a suggestion made Tuesday by Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher that the Iranian government might be persuaded to release the American hostages more quickly because of the British success in freeing the Iranian hostages in London in a commando raid Monday.

Carter, Reagan keep winning Challengers insist better days coming

By The Associated Press

President Carter and Ronald Reagan are three-quarters of the way to rival nominations for the White House, and while their challengers insist they still can find openings, the time and the numbers are running out fast.

Democrat Carter and Republican Reagan made big leads bigger with triple landslide victories in Tuesday's Indiana, Tennessee and North Carolina presidential primary elections.

Sen. Edward Kennedy and George Bush both said they have better elections days ahead. But unless those days come soon, they won't matter.

Kennedy and Bush won in the District of Columbia primaries. Kennedy easily outpolled Carter. Reagan wasn't even entered in the Republican election.

All in all, Carter gained 161 delegates Tuesday, running his total to 1,306 of the 1,666 it will take to win renomination. Kennedy picked up 62, for a total of 721.

Thus, Carter needs 360 of the 1,264 delegates still to be chosen in order to fashion a majority.

Kennedy said he has no thought of dropping his challenge to Carter.

"I never thought it was going to be easy," he said. "We realize we are the underdogs. But that's going to make us work a little harder, and that's what we intend to do."

In Tuesday's Republican competition, Reagan won 108 delegates, Bush 32. That gives the former California governor 744 votes for nomination, while Bush has 170. It will take 998 to win.

Reagan must win 254 more delegates from 930 still to be contested. "I'll still keep on campaigning," Reagan said in Los Angeles. "I want to see that final figure."

He said he wasn't going to press Bush to withdraw as a candidate, although he already has suggested that his rival is close to the point at which there will be no mathematical excuse to keep going.

Reagan said he might soon start thinking about a vice presidential running mate. Bush said he wouldn't accept if asked. Senate Republican leader Howard Baker said he would.

Carter collected 67 percent of the Democratic vote in Indiana, 70 percent in North Carolina and 75 percent in Tennessee to win — as expected — in all three states.

Reagan gained similar runaways. He had 74 percent of the Indiana GOP vote, 67 percent in North Carolina, 74 percent in Tennessee.

Rep. John Anderson of Illinois, a Republican embarked on an independent presidential campaign, was nonetheless on the GOP ballot in all four primaries. Anderson gained 29 percent of the vote in the District of Columbia, where he and minor candidates were the only opponents to Bush. Anderson got 10 percent of the Indiana vote, 5 percent in North Carolina and 4 percent in Tennessee.

At the White House, Press Secretary Jody Powell said it was all over for Kennedy. He said Carter and Reagan will be the nominees, and suggested that choice may affect the judgment of voters in the 16 remaining primaries.

Powell also said "there is very little doubt" that Anderson's independent campaign would help Reagan.

In Indianapolis, Tim Kraft, deputy manager of the Carter campaign, said the president can count on enough delegates now to be "a little over 200 shy of the number needed to nominate." Kraft said that should give Kennedy second thoughts about continuing the contest.

Donald Michael, a Carter backer who serves as Indiana Democratic chairman, said it would be best for the party if Kennedy quit and worked for unity behind a Carter ticket.

In Reagan's behalf, Senate Republican leader Baker had a similar message for Bush: "The longer he stays in, the longer it'll postpone the day when we can all rally behind the man who, barring extreme unforeseen circumstances, is going to be the Republican nominee."

Bush's campaign manager, James Baker, insisted there was still time for a comeback.

"We've been buried three times in this campaign," he said. "We fully expect to be back."

Oil executive says Palestinian rights must be met

HOUSTON (AP) — The head of Standard Oil Co. of California says resolution of the Arab-Israeli conflict requires acceptance of the rights of Palestinians to exist and to self-determine.

"Our nation's strategic interests in the Middle East can be served only by restoring peace and stability to this vital area of the world," Chairman H.J. Haynes said at Tuesday's annual meeting of shareholders.

"And this long-sought goal can be achieved only by resolving the Arab-Israeli conflict on terms which allow the United States to retain its integrity and the respect of all parties."

While seeking such a solution, he said, "Our country faces some difficult but necessary choices and priorities."

The reasons, he added, are compelling.

"We need stability in the Middle East to avoid another round of war between the countries in that area, and to prevent the possibility of a major confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union," he said.

Haynes said the United States must continue to face a number of specific important issues.

"To help bring about a peaceful resolution of the Arab-Israeli conflict, the United States must recognize the absolute necessity of resolving, in an equitable manner, the long-standing grievances of the Palestinians," he said.

"Just as we must continue to support the Israelis' right to exist and to self-determination, there must be an acceptance of the Palestinians' right to exist and to self-determination."

Socal is a member of the Armanco group that developed Saudi Arabia's oil resources and now holds an operating arrangement with the Saudis. Also in the group are Texaco, Exxon, and Mobil.

Haynes said a vital area of concern is the United States should fully appreciate its long-standing special relationship with Saudi Arabia. He said Saudi Arabia not only is the nation's largest oil supplier but "has been cooperative in oil pricing and production."

"The significance of our relationship goes far beyond oil," he said.

On the Palestinian issue, Haynes called for support of United Nations Resolution 242 which advocates Israel's withdrawal from territories occupied in the 1967 war.

He said Jerusalem, central to the faiths of Islam, Judaism, and Christianity, "must be administered so that persons of all three faiths can come to and worship freely."

Extended forecasts

Friday Through Sunday

West Texas: Chance of thunderstorms north Friday otherwise considerable sunshine most sections into the weekend. Warmer most sections Friday. Highs 70s north to 80s central and south except 90s Big Bend valleys. Lows mainly 50s and 60s except 40s in southwestern mountains.

North Texas: Partly cloudy and warm with a chance of showers Friday. Highest daily temperatures will be in the 80s and lows will range from the middle 50s northwest to upper 60s southeast.

South Texas: Mostly dry through the weekend with warm days and mild nights. Highs in the 80s and 90s. Lows in the 60s and 70s.

More rain possible

Following a brief, but heavy thunderstorm in the Midland area Tuesday night, the weatherman is calling for a 50 percent chance tonight of more heavy thunderstorms for the Permian Basin area.

The chance for rain and thunderstorms will continue through Thursday, although it drops to a 30 percent chance for Thursday.

About .39 inch of rain was recorded during Tuesday night's storm at the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport. Tuesday's storm brought May's rainfall total up to .91 inch and the yearly total to 2.55 inches.

Midland apparently escaped any damaging wind or hail Tuesday night, although there were some reports of hail falling near Greenwood.

In areas around the Tall City, there were varying reports of precipitation amounts occurring in Tuesday night's showers. Lamesa reported receiving .10 inch, Stanton .60 inch, while Big Spring and Garden City had .80 inch each. Most of Tuesday night's rainfall in those areas occurred between 8 and 10:30 p.m.

Tuesday's high of 82 fell far short of the record high for that date of 103 degrees set in 1947. The record low for today is 42 degrees set in 1933, compared to last night's low of 54 degrees.

Winds tonight should be easterly at 10-15 mph.

Midland man injured in mishap

A 46-year-old Midland man was treated and released from Midland Memorial Hospital Tuesday afternoon for injuries he sustained when the truck he was driving overturned in Martin County.

According to Department of Public Safety reports, Hugh Lavern Blair, 4700 Pleasant Drive, was injured about 2:50 p.m. Tuesday less than a mile east of mile marker 150 in Martin County.

Investigating troopers said Blair was driving the truck east on the south service road of Interstate 20 at that location and was turning left when he apparently ran off the right side of the road, overcorrected and the truck rolled onto its right side.

Blair suffered broken ribs in the accident, according to a hospital spokesperson.

Iranians will seek extradition of lone London embassy survivor

LONDON (AP)—Iran's revolutionary government said it will ask for the extradition of the only survivor of the terrorists who held the Iranian Embassy and most of its staff for six days, but Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher was reported determined to resist the request.

The first hostage to talk publicly about the seizure, Simeon Harris, 34, of the British Broadcasting Corp., said several of the female Iranian captives refused to identify the gunman to the police because he was "a good-looking boy" and had been nice to them.

"One or two of the older female hostages were saying things like, 'He's a nice boy and he had been quite pleasant to us.' They wouldn't positively identify him as a terrorist," Harris, a TV soundman, claimed in a BBC interview.

"I shouted out, 'There is no doubt. He is a terrorist.' He then got carted away from the rest of us." The terrorist, whose identity police have not revealed, was being held under special armed guard at a London police station. Quoting a spokesman for Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council, Radio Tehran said today that as soon as his name was announced, the Iranian Foreign Ministry would ask for his extradition.

But the newspaper The Guardian said any such request will "fall on deaf ears." Home Secretary William Whitelaw told the House of Commons Tuesday the surviving terrorist will be "subject to the due processes of law in this country." Police sources said he will be tried in Britain for murder and kidnapping.

Meanwhile, firemen using a truck-mounted ladder gingerly made their way through the fire-guttered embassy today and brought out three bodies wrapped in green plastic bags.

Scotland Yard, which earlier put the death toll at four terrorists, one hostage killed before the assault and one Iranian man who might be either a hostage or a terrorist, still had no final count.

Two hostages remained in a hospital. One, Akmed Dadgar, was reported still in serious condition with gunshot wounds. The other, Charge d'Affaires Gholam-Ali Afrouz, was said to be in satisfactory condition.

The terrorists, who claimed to be members of the Arab ethnic minority in southern Iran, seized the Iranian Embassy off Hyde Park and 25 hostages last Wednesday and demanded the release of 91 other Arab-Iranians imprisoned by Iran's Persian government. The terrorists released five of their hostages, but the Iranian government refused to negotiate with them. Monday night, after they murdered one of their captives and threatened to kill another one every half-hour, British commandos stormed the five-story embassy and rescued the 19 remaining hostages.

Harris, the TV soundman who acted as go-between for the police and the gunmen before their negotiations broke down, said the terrorists by Monday had reduced their demands to one thing — a plane to take them out of the country. But the British refused.

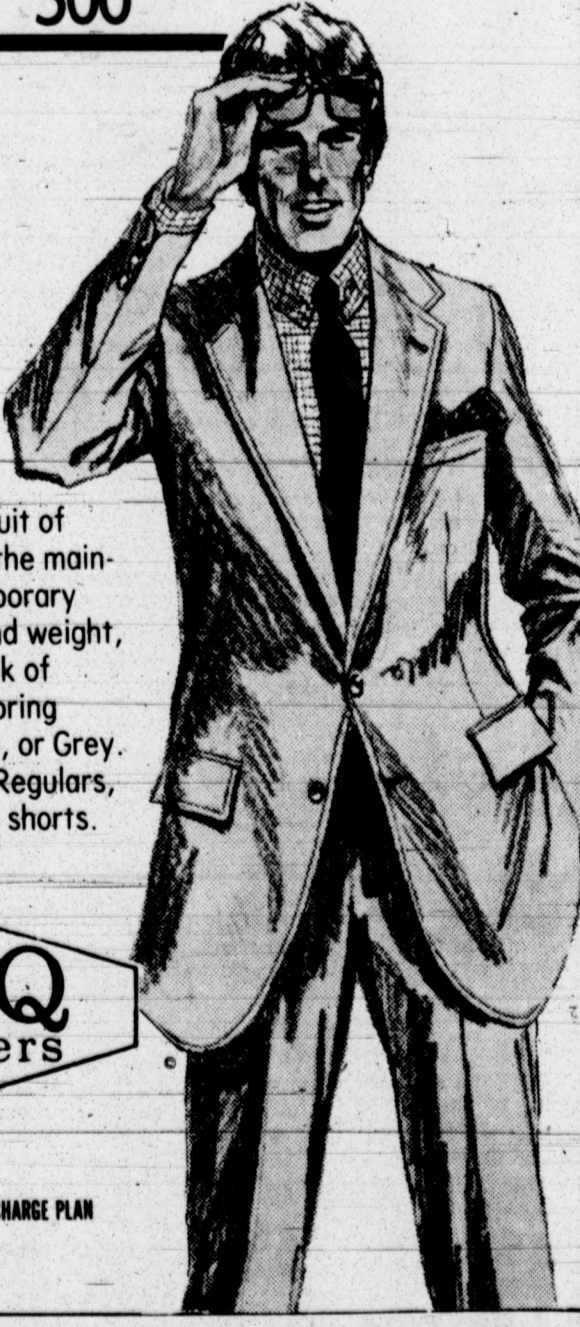

Then the terrorists demanded that he and Constable Trevor Lock, another British hostage, get assurances from the police that they would not invade the embassy.

Harris said all the hostages were "overwhelmed" by the rescue and asked him to thank the British commandos for them.

"They never believed such an operation could be carried out," Harris said. "It's the kind of thing you see only in films."

Accident specialist says cycle mangled by beating, not crash

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The motorcycle Arthur McDuffie was riding the night he was fatally injured was battered by blows, not wrecked in an crash, an accident specialist says.

William J. Fogarty, a University of Miami professor, testified Tuesday in the trial of five fired Dade County policemen charged in McDuffie's beating death. Prosecutors say police pounded the black insurance executive unconscious, then turned their nightsticks on his bike and later falsified reports to make it appear he had been injured in a crash.

'Newcomer' asks recount of 9th district primary vote

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP)—A bus company manager who had never made a political race before was not satisfied with second place in his Democratic primary contest against a 14-term incumbent.

W.L. "Bubba" Pate requested recounts of Saturday's vote in three counties of the 9th Congressional District and made plans to seek a recount in the fourth county.

Pate garnered an unofficial 42.88 percent of the vote while incumbent Jack Brooks collected 50.25 percent.

Theft investigated

Midland police on Tuesday were investigating the theft of a money bag containing $518 in assorted bills.

The theft was reported to police Tuesday by L.F. Green, 1700 N. H St.

In addition to the money bag and the money it contained, thieves also apparently took a ladies navy blue purse, according to Green.

Defense attorneys claim the officers on the scene used only the force necessary to subdue the struggling McDuffie, who had run a red light.

Fogarty said the powerful 140-mph Kawasaki was struck by nine different blows, not rolled in a crash following a high-speed chase in Miami on Dec. 17.

Fogarty said he determined that by scrape marks and dents on the cycle.

Police seeking robbery suspect

ODESSA—Police here are searching for a person who robbed the Woodcrest Apartments office at gunpoint about 2:40 p.m. Tuesday.

According to an Odessa Police Department spokesman, one person — brandishing a short-barreled pistol — walked into the apartment office Tuesday afternoon, demanded money and then left after Dorothy Michand, the manager, handed over money.

Ms. Michand told police she could not determine the sex nor the race of the robber because the robber had a coat collar turned up to obscure the face.

The robber fled on foot, she said. The amount of money taken in the robbery was not disclosed.

Thief investigated

The Texas Election Code requires a court order to recount electronic card ballots, but party officials can order a recount of lever-machine totals on request from a candidate, according to Smith.

Party official Donald Glover estimated it would take 5 to 10 days to complete a manual recount of the electronic punch cards.

His testimony corroborated that of an earlier witness, Edward Whittaker, commander of the Dade County Public Safety Department crime laboratory.

On trial are Alex Marrero, charged with second-degree murder; Michael Watts and Ira Diggs, charged with manslaughter, and Herbert Evans and Ubaldo Del Toro, charged with trying to cover up the incident.

The state was expected to wrap up its case this week.

In graphic illustration for the six-member jury, Fogarty stretched McDuffie's blood-stained blue jeans over the black vinyl seat of the squeaking, damaged bike as it sat on the center of the linoleum courtroom floor.

One by one, he pointed out the damaged areas to the jurors — the tachometer, the speedometer, license plate, turn signal, fuel tank, spark plugs, the fin area, front fender and a portion of the left side — maintaining they were struck by a hard tubular object.

He said there was no evidence that the bike struck a curb or rolled at any speed.

Earlier, Whittaker, who spent 23 of his 25 years with the department as chief of the crime lab, said he found no evidence that the bike had been in any kind of accident.

Under cross-examination, however, he acknowledged that the marks on the bike could have been made if it had slipped over and slid on its left side at less than 5 mph, damaging the handlebar, side-view mirror, the kickstand, the roll bar, the shaft and the foot peg.

But Whittaker said he felt the damage was more in line with the theory that the bike fell over, rather than being pushed over in a collision with a car.

Boycott of Florida by ERA backers draws officials' fire

By BILL KACZOR

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Tourism officials say it smacks of blackmail and opponents say it won't work, but backers of the Equal Rights Amendment are asking vacationers to stay away from Florida until the Legislature approves the ERA.

The National Organization for Women announced on Monday it would expand its Florida boycott from conventions to all tourism, and it delivered 4,000 cards from around the nation in support of the boycott to Gov. Bob Graham's office.

"When somebody pulls this kind of nonsense, it smacks of blackmail and I don't like it," said Warren Erickson, executive director of the Miami Beach Convention Bureau. He said Miami Beach has lost $15 million in tentatively booked convention business and millions in potential business from the previous stage of the boycott.

But the new tactic won't make much of a dent in the state's $16 billion tourism industry or in the Legislature, contends Senate President-designate W.D. Childers, a Pensacola Democrat.

"People who want to come to Florida to go to Disney World are going to come," he said.

"I think it will just go unnoticed as far as the Legislature is concerned. We are not going to vote based on tactics like that. The issue is not going to be decided on squeeze plays," Childers said.

In 1978, Missouri — also the victim of a convention boycott over the ERA — filed a suit against NOW, claiming the boycott was a restraint of trade specifically designed to bring harm to Missouri residents. In its arguments, the state said Kansas City and St. Louis had lost $19 million in convention business because of the boycott.

The 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals found the boycott to be legal.

The ERA has been ratified by 35 state legislatures, but four have voted to rescind that approval. Congress must decide whether the reversals are valid, the Justice Department has said. A total of 38 states must ratify the amendment by June 30, 1982, for it to become part of the U.S. Constitution.

"The state of Florida has lost millions of dollars in convention business since the boycott began a few years ago," Florida NOW President Genece Minshew said.

"However, the current boycott has not prevented certain senators in the Legislature from switching votes on the ERA after being elected to office. The ERA has become a political football in Florida and is even more of an economic issue than before," she said.

ERA supporters are confident the amendment can win in the Florida House, where it has been passed previously. But ratification has been blocked by the Senate, which last defeated it 21-19.

President announces new envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter announced Tuesday he has chosen a mountaineer, Phillip R. Trimble of New York City, to be U.S. ambassador to mountainous Nepal.

Trimble, former deputy mayor of New York, was one of three nominees to fill four vacant ambassadorships in Africa and Asia.

C. William Kontos, director of the State Department's Sinai Support Mission since 1976, was nominated to succeed the resigned Donald C. Bergus as ambassador to the Sudan.

To be envoy to both Kenya and the Seychelles, replacing the resigned Wilbert Le Melle, was William C. Harrop, deputy assistant secretary of state for African affairs since 1977.

Chevron energy report:

Profits

Reinvestment

More energy

Chevron's first quarter profit will keep this formula working for America's energy independence.

Profit makes it possible to invest in energy development. For example, Chevron's domestic Capital and Exploratory investments in the first quarter of 1980 were 62% higher than the first quarter of 1979.

Moreover, worldwide investment plans for 1980 have now been increased by an additional $400 million over the record high program announced in January.

Chevron's energy investments have already produced dramatic results in North America recently, such as:

➔ The Tuscaloosa Trend, Louisiana — Huge reservoirs of natural gas — first discovered by extremely deep exploratory drilling by Chevron.

➔ The Overthrust Belt, Wyoming — Potentially the largest natural gas reserves in the lower 48 states — plus oil deposits that could total several billion barrels.

➔ The Santa Barbara Channel, Off-Shore, California — Exploratory drilling continues to expand the potential of these fields which are expected to begin yielding substantial new supplies of oil and gas later this year.

➔ The Hibernia Field, Off-Shore Newfoundland — The first major oil discovery off the east coast of North America. This is the most exciting discovery in North America since Alaska's North Slope Prudhoe Bay field.

In addition, Chevron is involved in a number of exciting alternate energy investments, including coal, oil shale, tar sands, solar, uranium and geothermal.

Profit per Dollar of Petroleum Sales	5.7¢
Profit per Gallon of Crude Oil and Petroleum Products Sold	4.0¢

MOVE trial finally ends verdict is expected soon

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Edwin S. Malmel was cursed and threatened during the five-month trial — the longest criminal trial in Philadelphia history. Today, he was pondering his decision on the fate of nine MOVE members accused of killing a police officer.

The members of the radical, back-to-nature group — who often were barred from the courtroom — are charged in the August 1978 shooting of Patrolman James Ramp, a shooting that climaxed a year of confrontation between the city and MOVE members.

Police arrest two at Rome airport

ROME (AP) — Customs police said they arrested two Yemenite-born Americans with two bags bound for Yemen that were filled with arms. Ten rifles, ammunition and 17 pistols were recovered.

Police said the pair, tentatively identified as Nagi Hamed and Mohammed Fadel, were arrested at Leonardo Da Vinci Airport after they arrived aboard a TWA jetliner from New York. They were to have flown to Sana, Yemen's capital, later today, authorities said.

Hamed, 22, and Fadel, 48, were charged with weapons possession and taken to Rome's Regina Coeli (Queen of Heavens) prison.

Their current addresses were not released.

Malmel, who under state law must render a verdict today or Thursday, presided over the trial without a jury, and for the most part without the defendants present in the courtroom.

The defendants were barred for several months for their repeated outbursts and refusal to abide by normal courtroom procedure. Originally acting as their own attorneys, they denied their court-appointed lawyers' efforts to present a defense.

"Only a MOVE member can speak for MOVE," said Delbert Orr Africa, 30, before his ejection.

On Tuesday, the 67-year-old judge, who has been threatened by the defendants, again denied defense pleas for a mistrial.

Prosecutor Wilhelm Knauer asked Malmel for a verdict of first-degree murder, contending the defendants "were embarked on a conspiracy. They participated in a series of events in which the killing of a police officer was a natural consequence."

"There was no malice, there was only passion," insisted defense attorney Bruce Franzel. "And that passion resulted in self-defense."

The defendants include Orr; Edward Goodman, 29; Charles Sims, 24; William Phillips, 27; Jeanene Phillips, 23; Michael Davis, 23; Debbie Sims, 22; Merle Austin, 29; and Janet Holloway, 28.

The defendants all use the surname Africa after the sect's founder, John Africa, now a fugitive. MOVE, which is not an acronym, signifies action, the group maintains.

Pope made symbolic chief by giant crowd in Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Pope John Paul II was made a ceremonial tribal chief today, donning African gear and beating on a drum to the delight of hundreds of thousands of Kenyans.

The pope drew exultant whoops from the crowd when he put on a black and white monkey-skin hat shaped like a bishop's miter, grasped an African shield and the staff of a tribal chief, and beat on the drum.

Despite his white robes he took on the appearance of a tribal elder. Kenyans show their appreciation of a foreign visitor by making him a symbolic chief.

The crowd then entertained the Polish-born pontiff by beating out on a drum the Polish song, "May He Live 100 Years," and John Paul responded, "I love you! I love you!"

The pope, on the third stop of a six-nation tour of black Africa, said Mass at an altar constructed in Freedom Park in central Nairobi, and in his homily urged Christians to be political activists for good.

He spoke to a crowd that residents described as the largest ever assembled in Kenya. Unofficial estimates ranged upwards from 250,000. Catholic leaders had expected about 500,000.

The pontiff spoke in English. His message was later read in Swahili, the dominant local language, while African choirs sang and hundreds took communion. The faithful sat on benches, stood in ankle-deep mud left by days of heavy rain around a lake and overflowed on a distant hill.

Many carried umbrellas as protection against the sun during the three-hour service. The crowd included two presidents, Daniel Arap Moi of Kenya and Godfrey Binaisa of neighboring Uganda.

Nearby stood a Masai husband and wife, their two young children and two goats to contribute to the service offering. The pope patted one of the goats on the head. Other offerings included the products of rural Kenya — oak wood, coffee and honey.

Traditional Catholic chants and the vibrant rhythms of African songs echoed across the silent city, where a public holiday had been declared.

In his homily, the pope, who is "opposed to Catholic clergy holding elected office, urged Christians to take part in politics as activists for good.

Jesus did not give the Church an economic or political mission but "it would be a mistake to think that the individual Christian should not be involved in these areas of life," John Paul said.

He said Christians "are called by God to be involved in the world in order to transform it according to the Gospel.

"In the State, citizens have a right and duty to share in the political life. The duties of the good Christian citizen involve more than shunning corruption, more than not exploiting others. These duties include positively contributing to the establishment of just laws and structures that foster human values."

Last Sunday, aides of Rep. Robert F. Drinan of Boston, Mass., the only priest presently in Congress, revealed he had lost an appeal of a decision by Jesuit authorities ordering him and other Catholic priests not to seek elected office. Drinan announced Monday he would not seek a sixth term and was accepting the directive "with regret and pain."

John Paul, in today's homily, also reiterated Catholic belief in the family as "the first and vital cell of any society."

The pope also repeated Catholic opposition to abortion, speaking of "the dignity and worth of human life from the moment of conception."

John Paul's emphasis on Christian political duties followed remarks to diplomats Tuesday night in which he said Africa needed to win economic and ideological freedom, as well as the political independence it has gained from former colonial powers.

"The State must reject anything unworthy of the freedom and of the human rights of its people, thus banishing all elements such as abuse of authority, corruption, domination of the weak, the denial to the people of their right share in political life and decisions, tyranny or the use of violence and terrorism," the pope told the diplomats.

Agent Orange mystery may be solved within two years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veterans Administrator Max Cleland says GIs exposed to the herbicide Agent Orange in Vietnam should have a good idea within two years whether their health is likely to deteriorate as a result.

Cleland, who is convinced he was exposed himself, says his hunch is that studies just getting under way will establish what no one now can prove: that Agent Orange has no lingering effects to debilitate a veteran years after he brushed against it.

In an interview in his office overlooking the White House, the Jefferson and Washington monuments and the Pentagon, the triple amputee who heads one of the biggest agencies in government said the Agent Orange mystery has become a vexing aftermath of Vietnam.

The reason: a common suspicion among Vietnam veterans that his government is "sticking it to him again."

Cleland said that by 1982 he expects at least some of the answers to be in from an exhaustive study, ordered by Congress, that will compare the health of thousands of Vietnam veterans and thousands of other men who did not serve there. Bids are to be received Thursday and a contract to be awarded by June or July for the study.

Cleland disclosed that the Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta will undertake a study to see whether Vietnam veterans are more likely to sire babies with birth defects than other men.

Based on hundreds of hours of discussion, Cleland said, "I still have to go along with what the National Academy of Science said in 1974 — that the chance Agent Orange would provide a negative health effect on Vietnam veterans was 'highly remote.'"

Agent Orange contains 2,4,5-T, which the government has banned for most uses because a byproduct is dioxin, a poison so deadly a teaspoonful could kill millions.

Some veterans claim to be suffering from numbness, skin rashes, liver disorders, cancers, and mood changes, physical weakness and the loss of sex drive as a result of contact with dioxin.

So far, 10,000 have complained of such ailments or sought information at VA hospitals. In a recent month, the VA received 472 Agent Orange-related requests for medical attention and 456 requests for information.

Expelled Libyan diplomats refuse to leave U.S. today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Libyan diplomats refused to leave the country today after they were expelled by the United States. They remained at the Libyan mission building here, the U.S. State Department said.

State Department officials said the four apparently were awaiting instructions from the Libyan government. Richard Shadyac, the lawyer for the Libyans, said the four men want "the allegations against them be spelled out."

Last Friday, the four diplomats were declared "persona non grata" by the United States and were given 72 hours to leave the country.

In addition, the United States ordered its skeleton staff of two diplomats withdrawn from the U.S. Embassy in Tripoli. But the United States is not breaking diplomatic relations with the North African nation.

The U.S. actions came because of what the State Department called the "intimidation activities" against Libyan dissidents in this country that were taken by the four diplomats. But there was no elaboration.

State Department spokeswoman Sondra McCarty said today the visas of the four diplomats were invalidated.

Senate's approval of Muskie expected to come 'by sundown'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is expected to give swift and overwhelming approval to the nomination of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, one of its own members, to be the 58th secretary of state.

The choice of Muskie has proved almost universally popular and there were predictions the one-time presidential contender would be approved by the committee and confirmed by the full Senate "by sundown" today.

The 66-year-old Maine Democrat, who was to undergo formal questioning by the committee today, was tapped by President Carter last week to succeed Cyrus R. Vance in the nation's top foreign policy post.

Vance resigned after disclosing he had disagreed with Carter's decision to send a team of commandos to Iran in what turned out to be an unsuccessful attempt to rescue the U.S. hostages.

Questioning was expected to concentrate on the extent to which Muskie can outmaneuver national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski, who was widely viewed as the winner in a struggle with Vance for control of foreign policy.

But senators also were expected to question Muskie on the extent to which he is prepared to consult in advance with Congress and U.S. allies on major decisions, ask him about U.S. policy on the hostages and Iran now that the rescue attempt has failed, and seek his assessment of U.S.-Soviet relations, especially in light of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

There have been suggestions American foreign policy was confusing to other nations and was being relayed with more than one voice because of the Vance-Brzezinski relationship.

"The president has left no doubt in my mind that I will be the foreign policy spokesman for the administration," Muskie said after his appointment.

The president also has made clear he will continue to seek and receive foreign policy advice from Brzezinski.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chairman of the committee, and Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., its ranking Republican, both complained after disclosure of the secret Iranian rescue mission that no one in Congress had been informed of it in advance.

But Church has said he is satisfied with personal assurances from Carter since then that the president will consult in advance on any future military operations and will work more closely with the foreign affairs committees of the Senate and House.

Muskie, 66, a former governor of Maine, will take over the State Department after 22 years in the Senate.

He has been a member of the Foreign Relations Committee for six of those years, although his recent duties as chairman of the Senate Budget Committee have forced him to limit his activities in the foreign policy field.

Muskie dealt with foreign policy issues as the Democratic vice presidential candidate in 1968 and in his unsuccessful try for his party's presidential nomination in 1972.

CIA spy charter alive again today after being killed in secret meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed charter to spell out duties and restraints for the Central Intelligence Agency has been partly resurrected by some senators a week after it was thought to be dead and buried.

The 171-page charter was killed last week in a secret meeting of the Senate Intelligence Committee.

But committee members have revived and rewritten a crucial provision — the one ordering President

Carter to share all spy secrets with Congress — and they gave 11-0 approval Tuesday to that section.

After the vote, Sens. John Chaffee, R-R.I., and Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., reopened debate on charter provisions wanted by the CIA — including one to protect agents' identities. And Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., brought up his amendment to tell the CIA to keep its hands off journalists, clergy and academic professionals.

The committee was scheduled to consider those proposals — and others that may be offered — in a meeting late today.

Several members pushed hard Tuesday for passage of the overall charter, calling it a good balance between provisions to make things easier for the CIA and proposals to prevent any recurrence of CIA legal abuses uncovered in the mid-1970s.

But Americans are now more concerned about CIA capabilities abroad than about possible abuses at home, those senators have concluded, dooming passage of a bill with significant restraints on CIA activities.

They want to save the CIA-requested provisions for next year because, as Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., said, without them, "there would be little impetus" to pass a comprehensive charter with restraints.

Chaffee, Stevenson and several other Republican members of the committee will fight it out with Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the committee chairman, and other committee liberals on that matter.

There was no disagreement Tuesday as the committee voted to require the CIA to keep members of the House and Senate Intelligence committees "fully and currently informed of all intelligence activities."

Sen. Walter D. Huddleston, D-Ky., said "I guarantee that Carter or a successor will keep some major undercover operation secret, claiming executive authority under the constitution."

But Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., said that the possibility of inciting a constitutional confrontation between Congress and the president shouldn't keep Congress from setting out guidelines for getting secret information to select members of Congress.

Such legislation, as embodied in the current proposal, would tell a president, "Here's a road map; ignore it at your peril," Jackson said.

Two women suspects uncooperative today

PARIS (AP) — Police said two of the five West German women arrested as terrorist suspects insulted their parents today and spat at police technicians trying to establish their identity.

Police said the two were linked to anarchist circles but had no record of terrorist activity.

They were arrested Monday at a Left Bank apartment along with Steglind Hoffmann and Ingrid Barabass, wanted in Germany in connection with the murder of a banker and an industrialist.

The two women were identified today with the help of their parents as Karol Huettmann, 31, born in Gerlgen, and Karin Muennichow, 36, born in Minden, police said.

Miss Hoffmann and Miss Barabass were in Fleury-Merogis Prison pending extradition proceedings requested by Bonn. Miss Huettmann, Miss Muennichow and Regina Nicolaj, the fifth suspect, were still being questioned by police.

They are likely to be held on suspicion of possessing cartridges and false documents, police said.

Miss Hofmann was carrying a gun, police said, and the apartment where the women lived contained munitions and an apparatus for forging identity papers.

Police said none of the women was cooperating with the investigation. A detective said that during identification proceedings Miss Huettmann and Miss Muennichow "behaved like furies. They insulted their parents, threw themselves on the ground, refused to confirm their identity or answer any questions."

Lee Marvin's ex-lover has found new way of life after court battle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One year after her landmark court battle with lover Lee Marvin, Michelle Triola Marvin says she has found a new life as author, lecturer on women's rights and — most important — "survivor."

"I'm not over it by any means," she said of last year's "palimony" trial which involved her in often lurid testimony.

"But one of the things Lee loved about me is I'm a very positive person. I have a reasonably calm center."

"It didn't take me long to recover because I'm a survivor," she said and whispered again, "I'm a survivor."

But scars remain, she said. "About a month after the trial, I was brushing my hair and realized my hair had turned gray around the hairline. That really told me something. I turned gray from that trial."

Ms. Marvin now lives in a small, cozy apartment with a pet poodle. There is a new man in her life, but she declined to discuss the relationship.

She says her bills with fees from lectures and a large advance she received on her autobiography to be published in 1981 by New American Library.

She insisted she has come to care more about the principle of the Marvin vs. Marvin case than about the money involved. She had sought $1.8 million and was awarded $104,000, which is being appealed by the actor.

"I don't think I ever noticed the thing about dollars and cents," she said. "That wasn't the point with me...I wanted everyone to understand why I was in court, and I don't think they do, even now."

"I was there because I felt that it was unfair that a woman — any woman — that had a relationship such as mine did not share in the profit of it. I still believe that."

Ms. Marvin's case, filed by celebrity lawyer Marvin Mitchelson, was the first in which the California Supreme Court ruled that unmarried persons living together may claim property rights when they split. Previously, only married couples in California could seek legal division of property.

The precedent of Marvin vs. Marvin has since led to similar suits across the country.

"I do feel that I helped," Ms. Marvin said. "I got the subject of people living together out of the closet and right down at your dinner table. Women and men now talk about it openly. They discuss what they want out of a relationship."

Ms. Marvin, 47, a former singer, lived with actor Marvin for six years and legally changed her name to his. When they split, she won his promise of temporary support. When he refused to pay, she went to court, seeking half of his multi-million-dollar fortune.

She conceded she was not prepared for scathing courtroom attacks on her character.

"I didn't know until it was happening to me that this was what was going to happen," she said. "I was offended by the kind of sexist testimony they brought in. I hope my trial didn't scare women away or stop them from fighting for what they believe in."

Asked whether she regretted filing the suit, Ms. Marvin answered, "No, of course not."

"When I first filed," she said, "I thought I was dealing with a man who was no longer in love but had been in love."

On the witness stand, Marvin said he had never loved her.

"There were times during the trial when I had to contain myself from walking up and slapping Lee's face," she said, fighting back tears. "If that man didn't love me, what the hell was I doing there?"

She has fought bitterness, she said, but still resents Superior Court Judge Arthur Marshall's decision which awarded her funds for "rehabilitation," suggesting she should become something other than "companion of a motion picture star."

"I detested the language in that decision," she said. "I was offended by it and confused. I still haven't been able to read it all the way through...I thought the judge could have said it so much more proudly."

She said she feels her award was a legal triumph but wishes it had been more clear cut.

Chagra in custody at Kansas prison

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Convicted drug dealer and bail jumper Jamiel A. "Jimmy" Chagra is in custody at the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., today.

Chagra was moved Tuesday from La Tuna Federal Correctional Institution, a low security facility near El Paso where he had stayed since March 1.

La Tuna spokesman Roger Benfel says U.S. marshals moved Chagra on Tuesday to the higher-security institution at Kansas.

Chagra was convicted and sentenced last month to five years in prison for bail jumping. He received a 30-year term without parole and a $125,000 fine March 28 for continuing criminal enterprise.

During the criminal enterprise trial last summer in Austin, Chagra was convicted of smuggling large amounts of cocaine and marijuana from South America to the United States.

Chagra jumped bond after that trial and avoided authorities for six months. He was arrested by federal drug agents Feb. 21 while driving a car on the Las Vegas, Nev., strip.

Chagra's lawyers say they plan to appeal both convictions.

Chagra's brother, Lee, a prominent lawyer in drug-related cases, was shot to death in December, 1978, during a robbery at his El Paso office.

Clements to fight spread of pornography is state

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says he will support new measures to fight the cancerous spread of pornography in the state.

"Pornography is as much a cause of the moral breakdown in our society as it is a symptom of that breakdown," he said.

Clements spoke Tuesday night at a meeting of Morality in Media of Texas Inc.

He said recently enacted state anti-pornography laws designed to give enforcement officers "tools to work with and to get results with" were long overdue.

"And I will not hesitate to support other anti-pornography legislation that will help us battle this cancer," Clements said.

Planes have 'close call' at O'Hare

CHICAGO (AP) — An American Airlines DC-10 and a Britt Airways plane had a "close call" during a six-second air traffic control computer failure at O'Hare International Airport, investigators say.

The Federal Aviation Administration was investigating the incident, in which the two aircraft came within 1 1/2 miles of each other as they approached the airport Tuesday.

"On a scale of 1 to 10, the close call ranks as about a 5 as far as near-things are concerned," said an FAA official.

The agency said American Airlines Flight 184 was descending Tuesday afternoon to land on runway 32 Left and the Britt Swearingen twin-engine turboprop was also inbound.

"I do feel that I helped," Ms. Marvin said. "I got the subject of people living together out of the closet and right down at your dinner table. Women and men now talk about it openly. They discuss what they want out of a relationship."

Ms. Marvin, 47, a former singer, lived with actor Marvin for six years and legally changed her name to his. When they split, she won his promise of temporary support. When he refused to pay, she went to court, seeking half of his multi-million-dollar fortune.

Asked whether she regretted filing the suit, Ms. Marvin answered, "No, of course not."

"When I first filed," she said, "I thought I was dealing with a man who was no longer in love but had been in love."

On the witness stand, Marvin said he had never loved her.

"There were times during the trial when I had to contain myself from walking up and slapping Lee's face," she said, fighting back tears. "If that man didn't love me, what the hell was I doing there?"

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed proposals addressed to the Mayor and City Council of the City of Midland, Texas, for the construction of approximately 1,300 linear feet of concrete curb and gutter, 6.58 square yards of 6" caliche base; 179 square yards of 1-1/2" HMAC surfacing and 3.618 square yards of double penetration surfacing will be received at the office of the City Secretary, City Hall, Midland, Texas, until 2:30 p.m. on the 20th day of May, 1980, and publicly opened and read aloud at 3:00 p.m. on the same day. Any bid received after closing time as stated above will be returned unopened. Bid envelopes shall be plainly marked "Proposal for Project No. 176".

Complete copies of plans, specifications and contract documents may be examined and/or obtained at the office of the City Engineer, City Hall, Midland, Texas.

A bid bond or proposal guaranty is to accompany the bid, whereby guaranteeing the good faith of the bidder and that the bidder will enter into the written contract. The guaranty is to amount to five percent (5%) of the total bid and must be in the form of cash or certified check, issued by a bank satisfactory to the City of Midland, or a bid bond. If in the form of cash or certified check, it is hereby expressly understood and agreed that the City of Midland is given the right to retain such as liquidated damages if the bidder withdraws its bid anytime after the right to bid is opened and before official rejection of such bid and, if successful in securing the award thereof, such bidder fails to enter into the contract and furnish satisfactory performance bond and payment bond. If a bid bond is submitted, it shall be executed on forms contained in these contract documents by a corporate trustee authorized to do business in the State of Texas, and acceptable to the City of Midland. The City of Midland, Texas, reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals or bids, to investigate tenders, to make any waiver, technicalities, necessary concerning the bidder's ability to perform the work covered by the plans and specifications, and to accept what in the judgment of the Mayor and City Council is the most advantageous bid.
